
THE LIBRARY OF CONGRESS
1800

Scanned from the collections of
The Library of Congress

Packard Campus for Audio Visual Conservation www.loc.gov/avconservation

Motion Picture and Television Reading Room www.loc.gov/rr/mopic

Recorded Sound Reference Center www.loc.gov/rr/record

FM 1-42-20
DO NOT REMOVE

MOTION PICTURE HERALD

3 JUN 5
Copy
1941

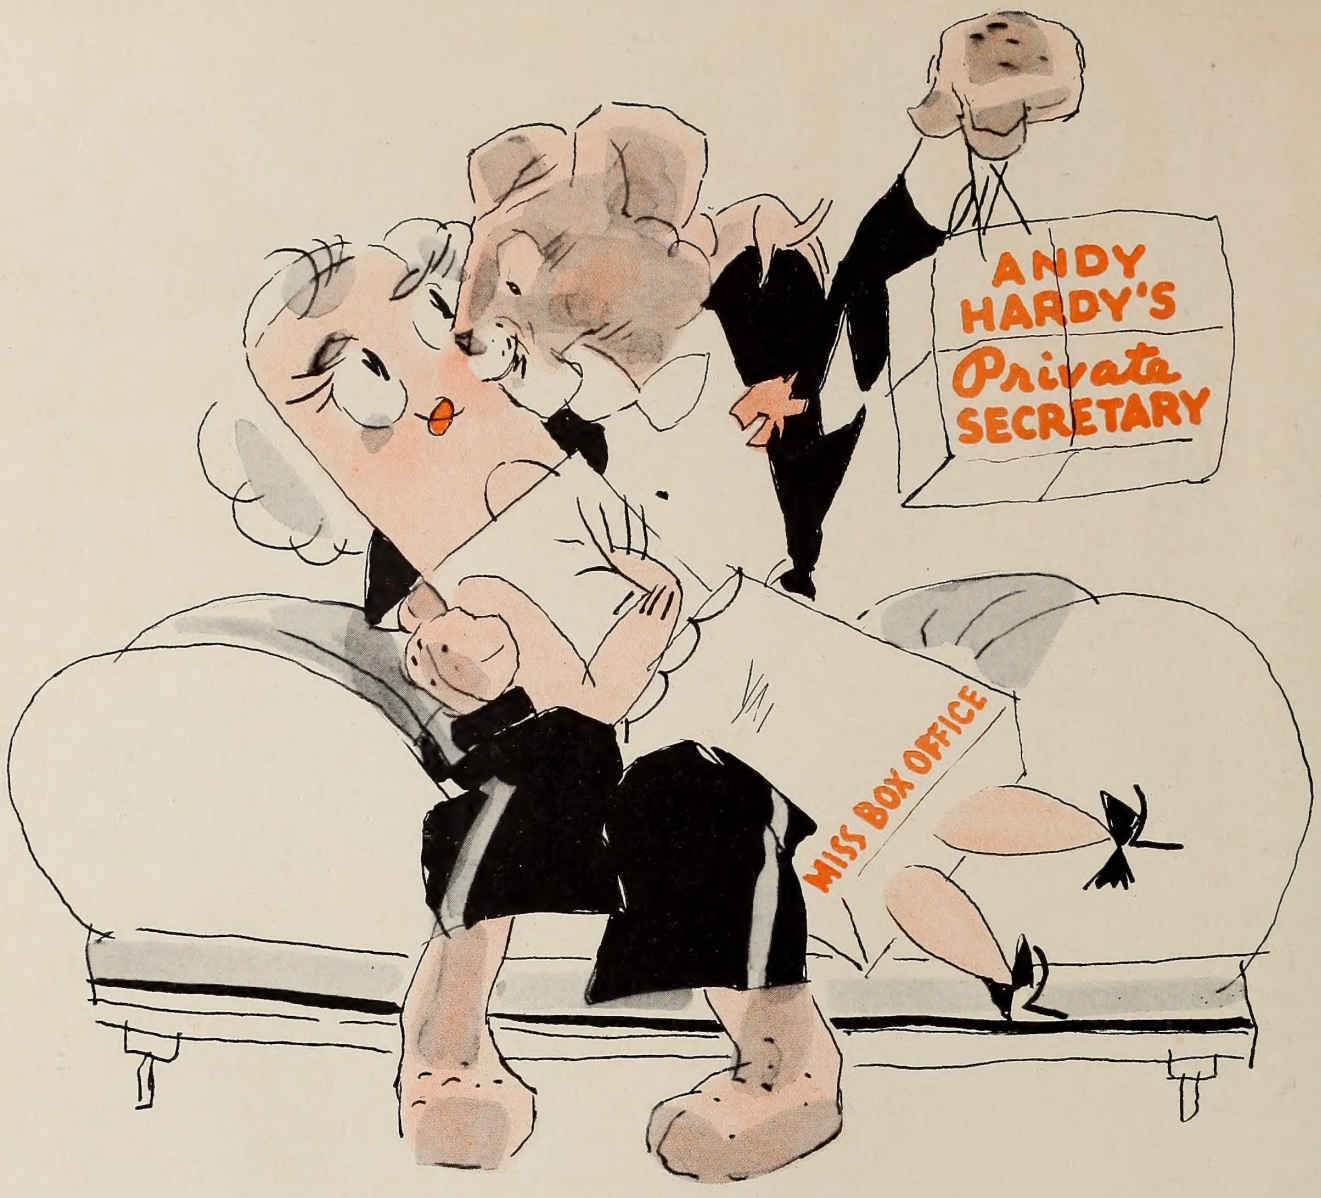
FEATURES REVIEWED:

Tobacco Road
Nice Girl?
Ellery Queen's Penthouse Mystery
Prairie Pioneers
It Happened to One Man
Outlaws of the Rio Grande
Lady Eve
Father's Son
Blondie Goes Latin
The Hard-Boiled Canary
Flying Wild
Dream of the Butterfly

SHORT SUBJECT REVIEWS
RELEASE CHART

MOTION PICTURE PROD. &
DIST. OF AMERICA,
28 W. 44TH ST.,
NEW YORK,
N. Y.

Pictures



HIGHER VALUE ON STARS IN BLOCKS-OF-5 SELLING
REPUBLIC ANNOUNCES SIXTY FEATURES FOR 1941-42
COLUMBIA WILL NOT SELL ANY BLOCKS-OF-5
LOEW'S TO SELL 'BEST' FILMS WHILE THEY'RE 'HOT'
CHAPLIN'S 'DICTATOR' GENERALLY RELEASED MARCH 7th
WARNERS CALL PRODUCT POLICY CONFERENCES

Decree

NO ARBITRATION CLEARANCE RELIEF UNTIL 1941-42
CONGRESS ASKED TO PROBE THE FILM INDUSTRY
U.S. AND SCHINE SPLIT OVER TRUST SETTLEMENT
NORTHWEST 'BATTLEGROUND' FOR BLOCKS-OF-5 ISSUE
FIRST ANTI-TRUST ATTACK IN N.Y. SINCE DECREE
IOWA OWNERS ASK U.S. TO INVESTIGATE CIRCUITS

VOL. 142, NO. 9 MARCH 1, 1941

Entered as second-class matter, January 12, 1931, at the Post Office, at New York City, U. S. A., under the act of March 3, 1879. Published weekly by Quigley Publishing Co., Inc., at 1270 Sixth Avenue, Rockefeller Center, New York. Subscription prices: $5.00 a year in the Americas, $10.00 a year Foreign. Single copy, 25 cents. All contents copyright 1941 by Quigley Publishing Company

HIT!

"TOPS FOR HARDY SERIES"

says Film Daily as All Critics Cheer!

"Socko entertainment for all audiences; tops to date for Hardy series. Metro hits a new peak for the tremendously popular Hardy series with this release, the best to date in every respect. Exhibitors should do a land office business with the film as it is right down the alley as entertainment for all types of audiences. Metro should, by the same token, derive a heavy gross return. The cast is excellent from top to bottom. Metro parades a new discovery in the picture, Kathryn Grayson, who should go over with a bang with audiences. Mickey Rooney outdoes himself. Lewis Stone's portrayal of Judge Hardy could not be improved on and all the other members of the cast give sterling support to the principals. An expert directorial job is turned in by George B. Seitz."

—Film Daily

"Chalk up another winner in the ever-lengthening list of 'Hardy Family' box-office tonics. Swell entertainment for the entire family, anywhere, anytime. Human, likeable, intensely natural and tops in entertainment values. There is a newcomer, Kathryn Grayson, definitely worthy of special mention and billing attention on the part of the exhibitor. She is possessed of charm and a highly appealing personality, plus a really splendid singing voice, which she demonstrates most effectively. Miss Grayson certainly looks like a 'find.' Under the customarily able direction of George B. Seitz, it all adds up to grand entertainment which should tell its own story on the black side of the exhibitor's ledger."

—Motion Picture Daily

"Hilarious . . . and notable because it marks the debut of Kathryn Grayson, youthful actress and singer who looks to be of star calibre."

—Box Office

"Notable not only for sustaining the high note of entertainment sounded by the series, but also as marking the screen debut of a talented newcomer, young Kathryn Grayson, whose singing ability is matched by her ease in handling her first acting assignment. A press audience of both sexes laughed and even sniffled a bit in all the right places and they were plentiful."

—Motion Picture Herald

"This is one of the best of the Andy Hardy pictures. Should equal or better the others in this series in appeal. Will make you alternately laugh and cry. Box Office slant: Typical Hardy business—and more!"

—Showmen's Trade Review

" 'Andy Hardy's Private Secretary' crowns the popular M-G-M series. And it can wear its crown with regal distinction, for it's gloriously entertaining; even better than the wildly-cheered 'Love Finds Andy Hardy' of fond remembrance. There should be many cheers for the latest 'Hardy' and Kathryn Grayson, and it, and she, richly deserve them all."

—Hollywood Reporter

"ANDY HARDY'S PRIVATE SECRETARY" with Lewis Stone · Mickey Rooney Fay Holden · Ann Rutherford · Sara Haden · Ian Hunter and Kathryn Grayson Screen Play by Jane Murfin and Harry Ruskin . Based on a Story by Katharine Brush · Directed by George B. Seitz · A Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Picture

TAKES THE CAKE!

TOPS IN $$$ TOO!

IN FIRST 6 ENGAGEMENTS THE BIGGEST BOX-OFFICE HIT OF ALL "HARDY" PICTURES!

Look at the Record!

"Andy Hardy's Private Secretary" leads all 9 other Hardy pictures from 10% to 30%!

•

In BRIDGEPORT it's topping "Test Pilot" and "Philadelphia Story" too! (and you know that box-office "Story"!)

•

In WATERBURY it's ahead of "Boys Town" and "Strike Up the Band"!

•

IN HARTFORD, NEW HAVEN AND SAN FRANCISCO IT HAS ROLLED UP ALMOST $4,000 MORE THAN "ANDY HARDY MEETS DEBUTANTE" IN 4 DAYS!

"Andy Hardy's Private Secretary" is a Box-Office Sweetheart!

The World Premiere early

AT 2 THEA

IN NEW Y

THE RIVOLI THEATRE and THE HOLLY

Continuous at Advan

March
RES
ORK
OD THEATRE
d Prices

FRANK CAPRA'S PRODUCTION FOR 1941!

GARY COOPER · BARBARA STANWYCK

in

MEET JOHN DOE

with

EDWARD ARNOLD · WALTER BRENNAN

Spring Byington • James Gleason and Gene Lockhart

This Screen Play, as were most of the major successes of Frank Capra, is by

ROBERT RISKIN

Directed by Frank Capra

Distributed by Vitagraph, Inc.

Produced at the Studios of WARNER BROS.

Howard Barnes, first string critic of The New York Herald Tribune, who writes this appraisal of all the merits of TOBACCO ROAD, is recognized as one of the finest critics of the cinema in this country.

It is interesting to note that Mr. Barnes has maintained not only a high artistic standard which is reflected in all his writing in The Herald Tribune, but has been most accurate in estimating the boxoffice interest of motion pictures. He follows well in the tradition of The Herald Tribune, which has just recently led in Variety's box score for dramatic critics.

We reproduce Mr. Barnes' review of TOBACCO ROAD in its entirety not only because of its importance and interest to the industry, but because we believe it so truthfully represents the sincere effort that went into the making of the year's most anticipated motion picture.

NEW YORK HERALD TRIBUNE, FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 21, 1941

ON THE SCREEN

By HOWARD BARNES

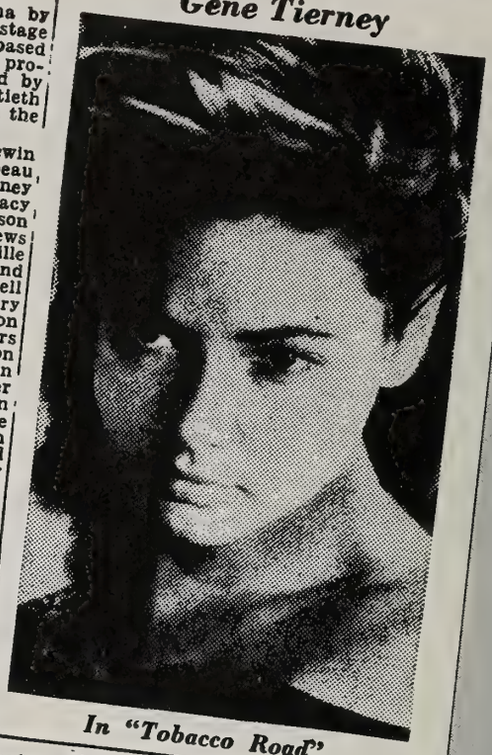
"Tobacco Road"—Roxy

"TOBACCO ROAD," a screen drama by Nunnally Johnson, adapted from the stage play by Jack Kirkland which was based on the novel by Erskine Caldwell, produced wby Darryl F. Zanuck, directed by John Ford and presented by Twentieth Century-Fox at the Roxy Theater with the following cast:

Jeeter	Charley Grapewin
Sister Bessie	Marjorie Rambeau
Ellie May	Gene Tierney
Dude Lester	William Tracy
Ada Lester	Elizabeth Patterson
Dr. Tim	Dana Andrews
Peabody	Slim Summerville
Lov	Ward Bond
George Payne	Grant Mitchell
Grandma	Zeffie Tilbury
Chief of Police	Russell Simpson
County Clerk	Spencer Charters
Teller	Irving Bacon
Mr. Lester	Charles Waldron
Auto Dealer	Harry Tyler
Mayor	Charles Halton
Rector	Charles Trowbridge
Garage Man	Erville Alderson
Man on Road	Francis Ford
Clerk	George Chandler

ALL that "Tobacco Road" might have been on the stage, all that it should have been to justify its record-breaking run, is brilliantly realized in the screen adaptation at the Roxy. The trio responsible for "The Grapes of Wrath" last year has combined courage and artistry again to achieve a masterpiece. John Ford's superlative direction, Nunnally Johnson's tough and knowing script and Darryl Zanuck's uncompromising production have resulted in a memorable motion picture. It will be a great year on the screen if 1941 turns up another film as fine as this one.

The temptation to merely photograph the Jack Kirkland play has been valiantly resisted. Instead of being a slapstick account of moral degeneration among the hillbillies, "Tobacco Road" on the screen is a savage and compelling study of what the human spirit can be reduced to by unproductive soil and hunger. The Jeeter Lester of the film is not only a comic, lecherous reprobate but a tragic old man, struggling to keep some contact with the only constant he knows in human experience—the earth. The show is leavened with ribald humor and the crazy doings of people too desperate to have anything to lose by them, but it is always an honest dramatic document, rather than a glorified peepshow.



To accomplish this, the script has drawn far more heavily from the original Erskine Caldwell novel than from the play. As one who found the latter a meretricious compound of sly come-ons, this seems to me the height of good sense. As the film stands, Johnson has fashioned a true and eloquent continuity which is essentially tragic, even with an after-thought happy ending. You can read just as much significance into the work as you wish to. It is all there. Meanwhile, Ford has done one of his most triumphant pieces of staging in keeping the motion picture engrossing as well as full of meaning. In terms of integrity or craftsmanship the screen has shown up the theater in no uncertain manner.

Many film-goers will undoubtedly be anxious to know how Hollywood censorship has affected the enterprise. Some of the sexy horse-play of the drama has been muted, and the scene where the Lesters spy on the consummation of Dude's and Sister Bessie's wedding is out. In this instance, taboos have helped rather than hurt a screen offering, I think. There is still a strong undercurrent of moral depravity in "Tobacco Road," as there should be, but it does not distort the true central theme of sheer hunger and its demoralizing effects. The film has a sound social and economic fabric as well as Rabelaisian accents, and it is the most stirring sort of human drama.

While Ford has determined every inflection of the offering in his masterful direction, the acting is exceedingly good. Charley Grapewin plays Jeeter with pathetic dignity as well as shifty connivery. A real person, rather than a caricature, emerges as he pulls himself together when threatened with eviction from his barren acres, even trying to sell Dude's new car to get rent money. Marjorie Rambeau as the lusty, hypocritical Sister Bessie, buying a young husband with an automobile, is superb, and William Tracy is properly hysterical as Dude.

Then there is Gene Tierney, giving a sensitive and beautifully modulated portrayal of Ellie May, who has lost her harelip in the film, but is too old to marry at twenty-three. Ward Bond as Lov, who is deserted by Ellie May's sister, although all he did was tie her up and throw sticks and stones at her, is coarsely persuasive, and all the other players turn in the honest and convincing performances that "Tobacco Road" demanded. Here is a film which is a hundred times better than its theatrical prototype—a challenging reminder of the screen's vast potentialities as well as a fascinating entertainment.

Gene Tierney

In "Tobacco Road"

MOTION PICTURE HERALD

MARTIN QUIGLEY, Editor-in-Chief and Publisher

Vol. 142, No. 9 March 1, 1941

LOOKING UP

PERHAPS this is not an hour for exultation, but, anyway, there are some positive indications that the motion picture industry, all conditions considered, is not doing too badly.

There is the direct dollar indication in some recent corporation statements, recorded in the news pages of the Herald, for instance in the issue of February 15th. There is also the less statistical, but almost as obvious, atmosphere of assurance that appears to pervade the production community of Hollywood. There, again, the air is full of ambitious announcements, pretentious and expensive plans. Assuredly Hollywood does not expect a stringency.

The alarms of the not-so-long-ago, with fears about impending debacle for production and production standards with the loss of foreign revenues, seem to have been quieted. Meanwhile, continental Europe has been lost, and the British situation is laden with all the uncertainties of war and a war economy. Also that much discussed and promised flood of new business in the Latin Americas has not materialized, and in fact has been revealed to have been mainly conversation from distracted foreign sales departments whistling in the dark. With all that the scene still looks encouraging.

It was ventured on this page a long time ago that there would seem a reasonable probability that the American home markets might well be expected to support an art and industry of such competency and such potential efficiency as the screen has demonstrated itself to be under various pressures at various times.

It is emphatically apparent that there is a large category of costs in the motion picture business which is conditioned entirely and solely by "what the traffic will bear". When it bears less, those special costs can be less—without disturbance of the operation of the mechanism. It is probably not correct to assume that a creative worker, or executive, can do twice as good a job for $5,000 a week as for $2,500.

But there's no economy talk in Hollywood now. There does seem to be a new intensity of attention to both product and selling of product.

ALSO contributing to the pleasant aspects of the scene, came the Bureau of the Census report, published in the Herald of February 22nd, showing the motion picture theatre doing 67.4 per cent of the nation's amusement business—paying, incidentally, 58.4 per cent of the amusement payroll of the land. That would indicate that it takes a lot of hired hands for even a mechanized art.

There is also uplift in the showing that the amusement business increased its number of establishments by about 22 per cent between 1935 and 1939, and that meanwhile the receipts went up nearly 44 per cent. That means more business, and better business.

To the statisticians in and marginal to the industry there is special significance and satisfaction in the fact that federal count finds that in 1939 there were in the United States 15,115 theatres. This will be a relief to those who have been trying to justify and document the frequent, careless statements made from high places about "those seventeen thousand screen theatres."

AN interesting reflex of the film-international situation, if it is a situation, became manifest this week with reports from both Wall Street and Washington that important motion picture financial interests and affiliates were tossing their influence into support of the Lend-Lease bill with specific intimation that it would be expected that this same support should be made a consideration in future negotiations for getting American motion picture earnings out of Britain. It was being urged and pointed out that other American industries, serving Britain, conspicuously those in armament operations, were not having earnings impounded.

△ △ △

"TOBACCO ROAD"

THE now unfolding screen career of "Tobacco Road" is an excitingly interesting adventure in the merchandising department of showmanship.

The approach is to the wide public curiosity about both the play and about "what'll they do about it in the movies."

Essentially, as anyone could have discovered in the last eight years, on the stage it is a tale of life, love and lethargy in a hill-billy slum of the sort so long pictorially portrayed by Mr. Paul Webb in Esquire. Its Broadway stage career began by the selling of shock, in language and slight action, some three thousand-and-odd nights ago. Its fame grew, from a $3.30 top as a shocker, until it has become, and continues, "something to see" in New York, like Chinatown, or the Absinthe House in New Orleans. The fact is that if you haven't seen "Tobacco Road" you haven't been to the big town. It is said that about eight and a half millions of persons have seen the show on the stage, with the New York run and road companies.

"Tobacco Road" in the course of production between stage script and screen production underwent many a cleaning, many a revision, including one after a Pasadena preview where it is said about sixteen minutes of "realism" went into the cutter's barrel. Pasadena is not Broadway, neither is America.

So it has come that the merchandisers of the picture arrived at a selling approach capitalizing until the last hour—mystery. "What did they do about which and how?"

For New York, at least, the answer is out in the array of reviews from the lay press—extracts in the review section of this issue—which had about as many answers as reviewers. All were intensely interested, but variously entertained. The "social consciousness" boys took it the biggest, trying to find it in a category with "The Grapes of Wrath," while the rest mostly found a comedy, discussed as a translation, but meaning a derivative.

The showman's major concern is what to sell, and that seems to be curiosity. That is box office bait, too.

—Terry Ramsaye

This Week in the News

Production Costs

OVER $215,000,000 was spent in the production of American motion pictures in 1939, the last year for which figures have been completed, the U. S. Census Bureau announced Wednesday in Washington. In the past two decades production budgets increased nearly 300 percent, it was pointed out, rising from $77,000,000 in 1921.

The Government said more than $93,000,000 was paid out in executive, supervisory, clerical and star salaries, representing nearly 50 percent of all production costs. The Census Bureau also said the wages paid to skilled and unskilled manual labor amounted to less than half of the sums paid to executives and creative talent.

A total of 493 black and white and 27 color feature subjects was included in the survey. At the end of 1939 $38,301,356 was tied up in unfinished productions. Approximately $6,000,000 was expended for short subjects in the same year, it was said. Newsreels received $4,500,000 and $6,415,573, the Census Bureau said. Other figures announced were $2,100,000 for industrial films, which compares with $855,782 two years earlier and a rise from $320,000 to $825,000 in the production cost of educational pictures.

Census Bureau officials said this week that they were working on a system to show the extent of motion picture theatre business in the various states without breaking the law by disclosing the operations of individual circuits or theatres. The Government's figures in 1933 and 1935 were criticized on the ground that it was possible, in some cases, for certain companies to learn the gross of their competitors. To avoid this the Bureau has decided to publish data covering several adjoining states jointly and individual figures will be given for only the more important states.

New Stage Pact

THE new basic agreement between the Dramatists Guild and the legitimate theatre producers is to take effect Saturday, and run for five years. The present agreement expires Friday. The Guild council formally approved the new pact Tuesday. The approval is necessary also of individual stage producers, all expected to sign because otherwise they will not be allowed to produce shows written by Guild members.

A feature of the new agreement is the provision that film company may purchase in advance the picture rights to a play it is backing. Another new proviso requires membership of foreign playwrights in the Guild, before their plays may be produced. The League had objected to this.

STAR BORROWING record shows studio realization of talent value in new order of selling Page 12
ARBITRATION clearance decisions do not apply until new season; AAA names new arbitrators Page 13
MAJOR DISTRIBUTORS hit by first attacks in U. S. courts and Congress since decree Page 14
REPUBLIC, second to hold convention, announces 60; Columbia will not sell blocks-of-five Page 23
PREMIERE dates include "Meet John Doe" for March 12th; "Dictator" release March 7th Page 24
MINNESOTA a battleground for Decree vs. State Rights; legislature gets nullifying bill Page 26
AWARDS OF MERIT planned by Loew circuit for "best films" Page 27
CHILDREN'S weekend show plan gets cooperation of 300 theatres Page 29
WASHINGTON warns of further admission tax increase Page 30
ASCAP to allow flat or "per program" payment basis for royalties Page 49
BRITISH ODEON circuit rebuilding as fast as they are bombed Page 51
CONGRESSMEN thank stars of the "magic city" for visit Page 54

SERVICE DEPARTMENTS

Asides and Interludes Page 35
British Studios Page 50
Hollywood Scene Page 38
Release Chart Page 75
Reviews Page 36
What the Picture Did for Me Page 62

Effectiveness of motion picture theatre exploitation in bringing unprecedented attention to national defense preparations was brought into the spotlight with the swearing-in of a recruit to the U. S. Navy on the stage of the Lucas & Jenkins Paramount theatre in Atlanta, Ga. How Manager Earle Holden otherwise attracted public notice is further told in this week's Managers' Round Table which also details added box-office activities of merit reported by other managers. Page 67

ASCAP 'Revolt'

"A SUBSTANTIAL number" of exhibitors have retained Samuel P. Halpern, Minneapolis lawyer, "to contest claims of ASCAP for royalties and license fees, and have stopped making payments pending outcome of any litigation which may result."

So telegraphed Mr. Halpern, Wednesday, from his law offices in the McKnight Building, in Minneapolis, reporting that theatres in the northwest had challenged ASCAP's royalties, of from five to 20 cents per seat, annually, in payment for reproducing on their screens the music from pictures, as originally written by ASCAP members.

Although the first stage of the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers-broadcasters music fight was ended this week by ASCAP accepting a Department of Justice consent decree and the way was prepared for direct negotiations between the networks and the society, Broadcast Music, Inc., continued to play for exhibitor support of its catalogue. See page 49. BMI has not attempted to license theatres but if and when it decides to do so it will, like ASCAP, derive its authority for collecting royalties from the U. S. Copyright Act.

"All objectionable practices (of ASCAP) have been resolved by the decree," Thurman W. Arnold, assistant U. S. attorney general, announced in a statement issued Wednesday. "The only matter remaining for adjustment is one of price between ASCAP and the broadcasters," he added. It was reported that the Department of Justice would intervene in the event that the Society and the radio interests failed to reach a quick agreement.

Neville Miller, president of the National Association of Broadcasters, remarked, "We hope that the Department of Justice is right. . . ."

$435,000 for 2 Plays

PARAMOUNT is said to have paid $150,000 for the motion picture rights to "Louisiana Purchase," B. G. (Buddy) de Sylva's current Broadway musical. This makes a total of $435,000 spent within a month by the company for two story properties. Paramount admitted a few weeks ago that it had paid "substantially more than $275,000" for the rights to "Lady in the Dark."

Gallup Says "Boom"

WHILE the electors of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences, in Hollywood, Wednesday, were counting the ballots for the Academy Awards of 1940, for announcement Thursday night at the annual Academy banquet, Dr. George Gallup, of the American Institute of Public Opinion, from his headquarters at Princeton, N. J., was circulating to the country's newspapers his Institute's "survey of the best-liked picture of 1940," which awarded the laurels to "Boom Town."

The following pictures also were named in Dr. Gallup's "sample" poll which was restricted to films released between January 1st and November 30, 1940: "Knute Rockne," "Rebecca," "Northwest Passage," "Strike Up the Band" and "The Fighting 69th." The findings, with slight variations, were listed according to frequent and infrequent theatregoers and according to the vote of men and women. Men leaned toward action, women toward romance.

Meanwhile President Roosevelt was to address the members of the Academy and the American public over the three major networks Thursday night.

"Citizen Kane"

"IT'S terriffic," says the national advertising campaign of "Citizen Kane," opening in "Look," first to reach the news stands, February 25, dated March 11, with Orson Welles in 60 point and "An RKO Picture" below in 10 point.

Neither in the advertising nor anywhere else was it to be discovered just when or where the much discussed "Citizen Kane" was to be revealed to the public. The feature release schedule issued by RKO to its exchanges, a mimeographed matter, carries a release date of February 28, Production Number 118 for "Citizen Kane" with a parenthesis in red "(special handling see note.)" The note says: "Do not accept dates for 'Citizen Kane' until advised because it may be roadshown." That sheet was as of February 6, and there is no subsequent order. Meanwhile there is no synopsis, no statement.

Mr. Orson Welles has had a deal to say of his picture in "Friday," a most "socially conscious weekly," and "Friday" has had a deal to say about Mr. William Randolph Hearst. It has been somewhat more than intimated, and abundantly denied, that the story of the picture had some reference to the career of Mr. Hearst.

It was recorded in THE HERALD quite a while back that it all started in an issue as to whether Hollywood belonged to Hedda Hopper or Louella Parsons, who chances to be the picture editor of the Hearst papers. Now the issues have gone rather beyond that. Miss Hopper is or is not to put a serial story of the life of Mr. Orson Welles on the air, and Hollywood, for reasons of its own, does or does not like the idea.

Meanwhile it is to be observed that maybe Mr. Hearst, in person, does not like something because of the fashion in which his papers, both east and west paid heed in large headlines to a rather minor suit against RKO and George Schaefer, president. The suit is over. Meanwhile it has been often stated that Mr. Welles, with a personal twenty-five percent interest, is a belligerent, demanding release and exploitation of the picture.

Nothing seems clearer than that all is confusion. PM, presumably Miss Ager, says "If 'Citizen Kane' ever is shown, it'd better be good."

Now It's Features

PRODUCERS of documentary films, who, up to now, have confined their cinematic efforts to short subjects, are about to engage in feature production, through the new Film Unit, Inc., which is reported to have $200,000 budgeted for the first, plus the contributions of the time and talent of cooperative executive operation.

Principals are Sidney Kaufman, head of Realfilm Productions, New York, producer of documentaries and commercials, who, previously, was with MGM's publicity department in New York; Hans Burger, cameraman and co-producer, with Herbert Kline, of "The (Czech) Crisis"; Louis Lantz writer, variously, for stage, screen and radio; and, Georges Freeland, former film editor at Pathe Cinema Studios, in Paris. Sources of finance were not divulged.

Meanwhile, in New York, the nation's first avowedly "documentary theatre" may soon be a reality, with the Documentary Theatre Corporation, a creation of writer, cameraman and explorer Harold McCracken, awaiting incorporation by New York's Secretary of State. A lease has been drawn, for the Belmont Theatre, long a home of foreign film oddments.

Promises No Censorship

NO general censorship of radio or the press (and presumably motion pictures) is contemplated by the Administration, even in the event of war, Lowell Mellett, Director of the Office of Government Reports, told a Congressional committee in Washington, Wednesday.

Appearing before the committee to testify regarding a $1,500,000 appropriation requested by President Roosevelt for support of the Government Reports Office, Mr. Mellet told the Congressmen there was no basis for recently circulated rumors that censorship was almost immediately to be imposed.

"My belief is that no censorship is contemplated, either now or if this country should become involved in war," he declared.

Case Dismissed

THE first anti-trust suit against the majors to be dismissed since the court ruled favorably for the majors in the Westway, Baltimore (Homand) case in January, 1940, was dismissed Wednesday in Madison, Wis., by Federal Judge Patrick T. Stone who ruled that La Crosse Theatre Company, Inc., had not made a case in its $350,000 triple damage suit against Paramount, Twentieth Century-Fox, United Artists, Wellworth Theatres of Wisconsin, Inc., the Minnesota Amusement Company and Ed Ruben.

The La Crosse action was filed in July, 1938. Conspiracy to divert product from the La Crosse houses to new theatres built by Wellworth was charged. The trial opened in October, 1940, but was postponed. On February 17th the trial resumed before Judge Stone and a new jury.

A motion to allow evidence was denied.

QP Awards

THE Showmanship Awards of Quigley Publications for 1940 will be made at a luncheon on March 18th in the Florentine Room of the Beverly Wilshire Hotel in Hollywood. Walter Wanger will preside.

Studio executives, producers, directors, stars, and their representatives, will witness the presentation of the Grand Award plaques to E. C. Callow, of Warner Brothers Theatres, Philadelphia, and to J. R. Wheeler, of Balaban & Katz' Granada theatre in South Bend, Ind. Both showmen will be in Hollywood as guests of Quigley Publications.

NSS & Casanave

NATIONAL Screen Service, Inc., on Wednesday filed a suit in the New York County Supreme Court through Herman Robbins and Toby Gruen, directors, against Charles L. Casanave, vice-president and general manager of National Screen's subsidiary, National Screen Accessories, Inc., and also against the latter company, seeking an accounting of alleged secret profit made in a stock purchase and manufacturing agreement between National Screen Accessories and the American Display Company, Inc.

A summons has also been served in an action in the Westchester County Supreme Court at White Plains by Mr. Casanave against Mr. Robbins, Mr. Gruen and Elliot E. Pearlman, officers of National Theatre Service; and on Harry A. Samwick and Murray Heilwick, officers of American Display; and on National Screen Accessories, American Display and Advertising Accessories, asking for declaratory judgment setting forth that the contract between Mr. Casanave, National Theatre Accessories and American Display is valid.

MOTION PICTURE HERALD, published every Thursday by Quigley Publishing Company, Rockefeller Center, New York City. Telephone Circle 7-3100. Cable address "Quigpubco, New York." Martin Quigley, Editor-in-Chief and Publisher; Colvin Brown, Vice-President and General Manager; Watterson R. Rothacker, Vice-President; Terry Ramsaye, Editor; Ernest A. Rovelstad, Managing Editor; James P. Cunningham, News Editor; Chicago Bureau, 624 South Michigan Avenue, C. B. O'Neill, manager; Hollywood Bureau, Postal Union Life Building. William R. Weaver, editor; Toronto Bureau, Ste. 811, 21 Dunas Sq., Toronto, Ontario, Canada. Alister Grosart, representative; Montreal Bureau, Press Bureau, 224 Canada Cement Building, Montreal, Canada. C. A. Haworth, representative; London Bureau, 4, Golden Square, London W 1, Hope Williams Burnup, manager; cable Quigpubco London; Paris Bureau, 21 Rue de Berri, Paris 8, France, Pierre Autre, representative, c/o Monsieur Autre, chez Madame Erable, Les Mathes, Charante Inferieure, France; Melbourne Bureau, The Regent Theatre, 191 Collins St., Melbourne, Australia, Cliff Holt, representative; Sydney Bureau, 17 Archbold Rd., Roseville, Sydney, N.S.W., Australia. Lin Endean, representative. Mexico City Bureau, Apartado 269, Mexico City, James Lockhart, representative; Buenos Aires Bureau, Corrientes 2470, Buenos Aires, Argentina, Natalio Bruski, representative; Rio de Janeiro Bureau, Caixa Postal 3358, Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, L. S. Marinho, representative; India Bureau, Post Office Box 147, Bunder Road, Karachi, India, G. A. Thakur, representative; Montevideo Bureau, P. O. Box 664, Montevideo, Uruguay, Paul Bodo, representative, cable Argus Montevideo; Amsterdam Bureau, 87 Waalstraat, Amsterdam Z., Holland, Philip de Schaap, representative. Member Audit Bureau of Circulations. All contents copyright 1941 by Quigley Publishing Company. Address all correspondence to the New York Office. Other Quigley Publications: Better Theatres, Motion Picture Daily, International Motion Picture Almanac, and Fame.

THIS WEEK IN PICTURES

By Staff Photographer

By Staff Photographer

DISCUSSION. Why the Government and the Army do not pay union wages and maintain a union shop was an unheralded audience question asked at the New York City meeting of the SMPE eastern section by Charles Downs, above, business agent of Local 644 of the Photographers Union. Emphasizing a point, at left, is Lt. Col. Melvin E. Gillette, head of the Army units producing training films.

By Staff Photographer

By Staff Photographer

CONGRATULATORY TELEGRAM is read, above, to Herman Robbins, president of National Screen Service, by Gynia Gray, singer, at the 20th anniversary luncheon given him by AMPA in New York. Leon Bamberger, right, AMPA chief executive, is listening. The guest at left is Martin Smith, ITO of Ohio president.

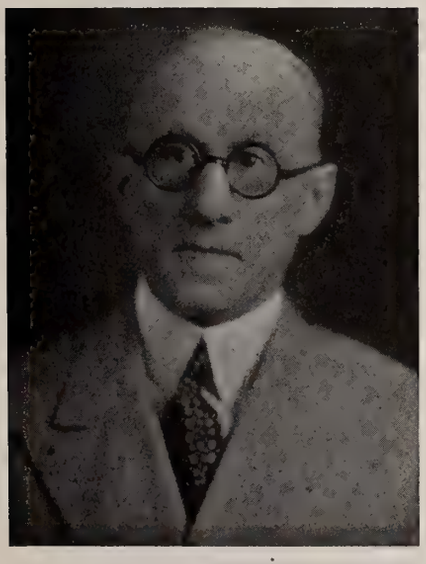
LATIN-AMERICAN managers for Paramount, left, met in Panama early this month at a company sales convention. Reading across they are: A. L. Pratchett, Mexico, Cuba, Central America; Henry Gordon, Panama; J. D. Rappaport, Havana; Salvador Carcel, Venezuela; Robert L. Graham, Mexico; Alvaro Reyes, Colombia; L. Constantine, Trinidad; John W. Hicks, Jr., J. P. Donohue, John B. Nathan, S. E. Pierpont, Pedro Germano, Juan Oliver, Osvaldo Urrutia, Ramon Coll.

By Staff Photographer

GUESTS at the annual Columbian's annual dinner-dance at the Waldorf Astoria in New York, above, are Mr. and Mrs. Louis Nizer. Below are Mr. and Mrs. Louis Schine of upstate New York's Schine circuit.

By Staff Photographer

SPECTATORS at the Columbian dance, above, are Gus Eysell, Music Hall assistant managing director, and Jack Cohn, vice-president of Columbia Pictures.



By Staff Photographer

KARL TICHELLI, below, Swiss distributor of independent American films, visits the Managers' Round Table. He reports the Swiss like westerns; that some of the German dialogue, dubbed here, is ill-fitted, and that about eight per cent of the Swiss population, mostly the lower classes, attend motion picture theatres regularly. He owns two theatres in Brig.

By Staff Photographer

JACOB UNGER, right, through his Hillside Amusement Company of Hillside, N. J., has filed the first anti-trust suit against the major distributors since the consent decree was signed. Story on page 14.

HARRY M. DUNSBAUGH, left, is beginning his 34th term as president of Youngstown, O., Local 86 of the American Federation of Musicians.

By Staff Photographer

WILLIAM LE BARON, center above, with William Goetz and Darryl Zanuck after signing to produce for Twentieth Century-Fox.

HOLLYWOOD PLACES GREATER VALUE ON STARS IN BLOCKS-OF-5 SELLING

Studios Increase Borrowing to Dress Up Blocks and Change Casting; See Difficulties Due Under After Decree Deadline

Spurred by impending consent decree regulations as they will affect the selling of feature product in blocks of five with more attention to individual features, and by such problems native to Hollywood as a scarcity of leading men, major studios have been doing an intense amount of borrowing of name players in the last six months.

Those six months, which represent the first half of the 1940-41 selling season, have seen Hollywood, with characteristic headlong flight, rush into the business of acquiring stars and still more stars, whether by creation through schooling and publicity, by contract or by borrowing. For stars, as a commodity, will be the basic ingredient in selling "blocks of five" to even greater extent than they were in selling a full season's output of product.

The borrowing of a player, of course, is but another manifestation of the Hollywood desire for name values in pictures. One such, that of doubling and tripling, even quadrupling, the normal complement of stars in a picture, was reported in MOTION PICTURE HERALD of November 23rd. Similarly, the early setting of plans for leading box office stars was reported in the HERALD of January 11th, and the increase in garnering new talent in the issue of February 15th.

All of these allied activities stem from the Hollywood conviction that the consent decree will make the borrowing of stars and featured players far more difficult than in the past. Each studio, it is believed, will be striving desperately to retain and even expand its own contract list in order to make its small blocks of pictures attractive. In addition, it will be attempting to infuse new blood into the system through the use of another studio's acting property in, perhaps, a different type of casting; as well as seeking a particular player to play a "tailor made" part, in line with usual custom.

Thus, studios are in the main ceasing to be identified with a star or group of stars, as they are lent to other producing companies. The one exception is Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, which, with the largest roster of stars and featured players in the industry, some 25 in the former and 80 in the latter category, has borrowed to less extent than any other plant.

Indicative of the common realization among the majors of their desire for each others' wares has been the fact that borrowing is currently easier to arrange than formerly, this in turn giving every indication of a lull, before the storm of the consent decree tightens the situation.

In addition to the stars listed at right Globe Productions (UA.) borrowed James Stewart from MGM and Paulette Goddard from Paramount for "Pot o' Gold," and Loew-Lewin (UA) borrowed Glenn Ford from Columbia for "So Ends Our Night."

The Star Borrowing Record

COLUMBIA
Ingrid Bergman	Selznick-International	Adam Had Four Sons
Rosalind Russell	MGM	This Thing Called Love
Susan Hayward	Paramount	Adam Had Four Sons
Richard Denning	Paramount	Adam Had Four Sons
Robert Shaw	20th-Fox	Adam Had Four Sons
George Brent	Warners	They Dare Not Love
Martha Scott	Sol Lesser	They Dare Not Love
John Hubbard	Hal Roach	She Knew All the Answers
Joan Bennett	Walter Wanger	She Knew All the Answers
Jane Withers	20th-Fox	Her First Beau
Jackie Cooper	Paramount	Her First Beau
Martha O'Driscoll	Paramount	Her First Beau
Rita Quigley	MGM	Howards of Virginia
Martha Scott	Sol Lesser	Howards of Virginia
Richard Carlson	Selznick	Howards of Virginia
Ann Miller	RKO	Show Business
METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER
Ingrid Bergman	Selznick	Rage in Heaven
		Dr. Jekyll & Mr. Hyde
Robert Cummings	Universal	Free and Easy
Jack Carson	Warners	Love Crazy
Ronald Reagan	Warners	Bad Man
Donald Crisp	Warners	Dr. Jekyll & Mr. Hyde
PARAMOUNT
Don Ameche	20th-Fox	Kiss the Boys Goodbye
Jon Hall	Goldwyn	Aloma of the South Seas
Wayne Morris	Warners	I Wanted Wings
Anne Shirley	RKO	Little Miss Muffet
Henry Fonda	20th-Fox	The Lady Eve
Billie Burke	MGM	One Night in Lisbon
Olivia de Havilland	Warners	Hold Back the Dawn
RKO RADIO
Robert Montgomery	MGM	Mr. & Mrs. Smith
Dennis Morgan	Warners	Kitty Foyle
George Sanders	20th-Fox	"Saint" series
Joan Fontaine	Selznick	Before the Fact
George Murphy	MGM	A Girl, a Guy and a Gob
		Tom, Dick and Harry
John Carroll	MGM	Sunny
Alan Marshal	Selznick	Tom, Dick and Harry
Robert Cummings	Universal	Devil and Miss Jones
Victor Mature	Hal Roach	No, No, Nanette
TWENTIETH CENTURY-FOX
Dorothy Lamour	Paramount	Chad Hanna
Patricia Morison	Paramount	Romance of Rio Grande
Robert Young	MGM	Western Union
Rita Hayworth	Columbia	Blood and Sand
John Hubbard	Hal Roach	Murder Among Friends
Anthony Quinn	Warners	Blood and Sand
UNIVERSAL
Rosalind Russell	MGM	Hired Wife
John Wayne	Republic	Seven Sinners
Virginia Bruce	MGM	Invisible Woman
Walter Brennan	Goldwyn	Nice Girl?
Robert Preston	Paramount	Lady from Cheyenne
Edward Arnold	MGM	Lady from Cheyenne
Robert Montgomery	MGM	Unfinished Business
Preston Foster	Paramount	Unfinished Business
Tim Holt	RKO	Back Street
Leon Errol	RKO	Six Lessons Madame Lazonga
WARNER BROTHERS
Gary Cooper	Goldwyn	Meet John Doe
Edward Arnold	MGM	Meet John Doe
Walter Brennan	Goldwyn	Meet John Doe
Rita Hayworth	Columbia	Strawberry Blonde
Jane Darwell	20th-Fox	30 Days Hath September
Gary Cooper	Goldwyn	Sergeant York
Walter Brennan	Goldwyn	Sergeant York
Andy Devine	Universal	Torrid Zone

ARBITRATION CLEARANCE DECISIONS DO NOT APPLY UNTIL NEW SEASON

Attorneys Point Out Rulings Cannot Become Effective Until After Sept. 1st; AAA Names Additional Arbitrators

With clearance complaints predominating in independent exhibitors' petitions for arbitration hearings filed to date, it was pointed out this week in New York arbitration and major company legal quarters that decisions made by arbitrators on clearance do not become effective until the next contract is signed or 1941-42. Also awards made before the new season probably can be reopened in the new season on the grounds that the blocks-of-five selling system will change existing conditions in practically every exhibition situation.

At midweek 15 arbitration cases had been filed in the 31 arbitration tribunals administered by the American Arbitration Association. Nine of these involved clearance, four involved the "some run" clause, one was concerned with both clearance and "some run" and one charged overbuying.

The office of the appeal board, headed by former Judge Van Vechten Veeder, will be opened formally March 12th with a reception by the AAA.

Appointments of additional arbitrators were also announced this week by the AAA. A number of the men previously asked to serve as arbitrators under the motion picture system have been forced to decline on account of the press of defense work activity, it was reported at the AAA headquarters. New appointments were:

NEW HAVEN

(Arbitration district—Connecticut)

WARREN C. ALLEN, credit manager, Second National Bank, 135 Church St.
W. C. ARMSTRONG, Secretary-Treasurer, Rockvestos Production Co., 285 Nicholl St.
VERNAL W. BATES, President and Treasurer, L. C. Bates Company, 205 River St.
MILTON P. BRADLEY, Treasurer, Morris Plan Bank, 128 Temple St.
M. R. DAVIE, Professor of Sociology, Yale University, 133 Hall of Grad. Studies.
JAMES FLEMING, JR., Yale University Law School, professor of law.
A. G. GULLIVER, Dean, School of Law, Yale University.
HENRY W. JONES, JR., President, American Tube Bending Co., 5 Lawrence St.
HERBERT S. MACDONALD, Lawyer, Parmelee & Thompson, 205 Church St.
OSCAR MONRAD, Secretary, New Haven Chamber of Commerce, 152 Temple St.
GEORGE P. MURDOCK, Professor of Anthropology, Yale University, 130 Sch. of Grad. Studies.
MAURICE C. RESNIK, lawyer, 865 Chapel St.
DAVID M. RICHMAN, lawyer, Richman & Silver, 157 Church St.
NATHAN G. SACHS, lawyer, Chamber of Commerce Bldg.
PHILIP R. SHIFF, lawyer, 42 Church St.

SEATTLE

(Arbitration district includes northern Idaho and all but five counties of Washington.)

FRANK S. BAYLEY, SR., Lawyer, 759 Stuart Bldg.
G. H. BUCEY, lawyer, Hayden, Merritt, Summers & Bucey, 840 Central Bldg.
HENRY BURD, Professor, University of Washington.
CARL DAKAN, Professor, University of Washington.
FORD Q. ELVIDGE, lawyer, 910 Dexter Horton Bldg.
WILLIAM E. FROUDE, lawyer, Northern Life Tower.
TRACY E. GRIFFIN, lawyer, 1107 American Building.
W. C. MORSE, Hydraulic Engineer & Superintendent of City of Seattle Water Department, 323 County-City Bldg.
ROBERT PEEL, Secretary-Manager, Intermountain Association of Credit Men, Utah Oil Building.
O. B. THORGRIMSON, lawyer, 2000 Northern Life Tower.

$10 FILING CHARGE HALTS COMPLAINTS

A number of Oregon exhibitors have called at the local office of the American Arbitration Association, in charge of J. P. Nelson, in the Pittock Building, Portland, and inspected the demand for arbitration, the submission agreement and some of the other 26 legal forms, but all gracefully withdrew without filing a demand when they learned a check for $10 must accompany each petition for arbitration.

All parties concerned with the consent decree —distributors, exhibitors, the American Arbitration Association officials and Department of Justice men—are now learning more about the physical workings of the decree document which was signed November 20, 1940, by Federal Judge Henry W. Goddard ending the Government's anti-trust suit against the five theatre-owning majors.

Already a number of working points have arisen which are not definitely and clearly explained in the decree. Some of these matters have been decided, others will be left to the individual arbitrator handling the particular case and still others will be determined after the appeal board sets precedents.

It has been understood generally that no arbitration proceedings involving blocks-of-five, trade showings, local selling and a better run can be instituted until September 1, 1941, because those sections of the decree do not become operative until after August 31st. But five matters can be arbitrated now: cancellation for cause, some run, withholding prints, forcing and clearance. A majority of the cases filed to date concern clearance.

Decisions Have Little Value

However, this week distributor lawyers pointed out that a decision of an arbitrator on clearance might have little or no practical value since such awards do not go into effect until the next contract is signed and may be reopened if conditions change, as is expected under the blocks-of-five system. Some quarters had overlooked this point.

Section VIII of the decree (clearance) states, when defining the power of the arbitrator in such matters, that if it is decided that the clearance is "unreasonable" the arbitrator may make an award fixing the maximum clearance between the theatres involved which may be granted in licenses thereafter entered into by the distributor defendant which is party to the arbitration." The word "thereafter" means the next contract entered into which would be the one for the next season. The only exception to this rule is that a clearance arbitration award concerning theatres holding a franchise does not have to wait until the franchise has expired before becoming effective. This exception, however, does not limit the powers of the distributors in dealing with their affiliated theatres in any manner they wish.

Additional arbitration demands were filed this week by exhibitors in New York and Detroit.

In New York last week Herbert Scheftel, head of the Esquire Theatre Corporation, operator of the Squire theatre at Great Neck, Long Island, filed the second demand reaching the New York tribunal. He named the five consenting companies, Paramount, Vitagraph (Warner Brothers), RKO, Twentieth Century-Fox and Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer and the Playhouse theatre, Great Neck, operated by Skouras Theatres Corporation. It was asserted that the 30-day clearance granted the Playhouse was unreasonable.

Two arbitration demands were filed in Detroit by Julius D. and Milton London, owners of several neighborhood houses in that city. "Unreasonable" clearance was charged. The first demand named Warner Brothers (Vitagraph) and Paramount and was brought on behalf of the Booth theatre. Also named were the following theatres: Del. DeLuxe, Whittier, East End and Co-operative theatres of Michigan. The second complaint named Paramount, RKO, Warners (Vitagraph) and Twentieth Century-Fox. The Whittier is operated by the Komer and Goldberg company and the East End by De Lodder; De Luxe, by the Steffes estate. The second complaint was made for the Midtown theatre. Other theatres named as possible interested parties were: Coliseum, Jack Krass; Mayfair, Cohen Brothers; Majestic, Schreiber circuit and Globe, William Schuttenhelm.

Wisconsin Case Filed

The first Wisconsin arbitration case was filed this week by the Evansville Theatres, Inc., operator of the Rex theatre in Evansville, Wis., against Paramount. The Jeffris theatre in Janesville, affiliated with the Saxe Amusement Management, Inc., Milwaukee, was named. The complaint grew out of a clearance and print dispute reported in the February 15th issue of MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

The Garbose Brothers, operators of the York and Capitol in Athol, Mass. submitted the second arbitration demand in the Boston district. The five consenting distributors and all their affiliated theatres in Boston and Fitchburg, Mass., were named. It was asserted that the York and Capitol are outside the competitive area for houses in Boston or Fitchburg and should have simultaneous run with the larger cities.

In Washington on Monday the arbitration demand of the Westway theatre, Baltimore, against Loew's, Vitagraph (Warners) and Twentieth Century-Fox was filed. Unreasonable clearance is charged and the Edgewood, Alpha and Irvington theatres are named. See MOTION PICTURE HERALD, page 12, issue of February 22nd.

A list of 10 names has been sent from the Washington AAA office to the parties involved in the first complaint, filed by the Walbrook Amusement Company, Baltimore, against Vitagraph and Twentieth Century-Fox for nominations for arbitrator.

The case involves a seven-day clearance granted the Ambassador, Forest and Gwynn Theatres, operated by the Durkee circuit, over the Walbrook, which it was claimed for years had 21 days subsequent run clearance after first-run houses. Of the three theatres named, the Forest has filed notice of intervention.

Legal experts of the American Arbitration Association have decided to let the arbitrator selected rule on whether or not a demand for arbitration can be made under the decree for a theatre which is to open March 15th and does not replace one in existence before the decree was signed. The demand (No. 1—Cleveland) was filed by Louis Israel for the Ellet theatre, Akron. Some run is required and the five consenting distributors and the Co-operative theatres of Ohio were named. Such theatres may arbitrate all points in the decree except a request for a "better" run (section X). The matter will be left to the arbitrator.

MAJORS HIT BY FIRST ATTACKS IN CONGRESS, COURTS SINCE DECREE

Schine-U. S. Consent Decree Negotiations Suspended as Attorneys Fail to Agree on Future Theatre Expansion

The two most threatening attacks on the major motion picture companies since the "Big Five" agreed to the Government's consent decree settlement of the "key" New York anti-trust action—and which settlement is supposed to pave the way for a "new order" in major company operation, came unexpectedly Monday, from two fronts, in the Federal Courts and in Congress.

The first independent exhibitor's trust suit against the majors to be filed in the New York area since the decree was signed last November 20th was started by Jacob Unger's Hillside Amusement Company, operator of the Mayfair theatre, Hillside, N. J., demanding $900,000 triple damages. The eight majors and the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America were named in the action.

At mid-week Government sources in New York said negotiations for a consent decree settlement of the Government's anti-trust suit in Buffalo against the Schine circuit and some distributors had been discontinued and it was not expected that further discussions would be had. A court battle will decide the issues, it was reported.

The Congressional attack came when Representative Lyle H. Boren (Dem., Okla.), asked for an investigation of the motion picture industry. The scope of the survey would not only be the business affairs of the industry but also the influence of films upon our social life.

In a resolution introduced in the House of Representatives, Monday, February 24th, Congressman Boren asked the appointment of a special five-man committee to investigate the "practices and methods of doing business which prevail in connection with the production, sale, leasing, distribution and exhibition of motion picture films and the use of motion pictures as a medium for influencing economic, political and social patterns of American life."

Last year Congressman Boren, a member of the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee which held hearings on the Neely bill, took an active interest in that measure. His resolution for an investigation of the industry was referred Monday to the House Rules Committee.

New Jersey Theatre Charges Conspiracy

Basing a great part of its complaint on the Government's original charges in the key anti-trust action the Hillside Amusement Company which operates the Mayfair theatre at Hillside, N. J., filed Monday in the United States District Court in New York City an anti-trust suit seeking $900,000 triple damages against the majors and the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America. Monopoly and conspiracy in restraint of trade were alleged.

It was asserted that the Warner Brothers Circuit Management Corporation, on account of the alleged conspiracy, had obtained a virtual monopoly in northern New Jersey and has had restraints imposed on independent exhibitors in the same area.

The plaintiff claimed that "unjust, unreasonable, unconscionable, and oppressive limitations, both as to time and area, regarding run, protection, clearance and zoning" had been imposed on the independent operators in that section. It was further charged that the Mayfair had been relegated to an inferior position in relation to Warner houses.

General charges were also made including one that the ownership of theatres by producer-distributors violates the Sherman anti-trust laws and that coercive selling methods are imposed on unaffiliated theatres throughout the country.

Paramount, Twentieth Century-Fox, RKO, Loew's, Inc., and Warner Brothers were charged with "extorting large sums of money from the plaintiff" for score charges on the alleged representations that the money was for royalties to such companies as the Radio Corporation of America, Western Electric and Electric Research Products, Inc. (ERPI). It was claimed that the alleged statements were false.

The Mayfair also claims that it had been required to pay unreasonable and discriminatory film rental charges. Attorneys for the plaintiff are Hays, Podell and Shulman.

Schine-Government Decree Talks Are Discontinued

The Department of Justice has given up hope of reaching a consent decree settlement of the anti-trust suit against the Schine theatres in Buffalo, it was reported this week. All parties were said to be preparing for the trial.

Negotiators failed to agree on provisions which would enable the circuit to expand in the future, it was asserted. The Government was said to want some form of absolute restrictions while the circuit wished to be able to develop naturally and in keeping with its best business interests. Under some circumstances the chain wished to be able to acquire new theatres.

Two weeks ago Federal Judge John Knight in Buffalo said, "There is a good chance that the Government's anti-trust suit against Schine Theatres will go to trial." The five companies which have signed the New York decree have not yet been dismissed from the Buffalo case but it was said that this would be done shortly.

Columbia has filed a number of interrogatories in the Schine case, seeking specific details and information about points charged by the Government. It was asked that answers be given by March 13th.

This week it was also reported that there would be no consent decree settlements of the Crescent Amusement Company action in Nashville or the Griffith Amusement Company case in Oklahoma City.

Objections to the Government's recent interrogatories in the Schine anti-trust suit have been filed in federal court in Buffalo by Willard S. McKay, attorney for J. Myer and Louis W. Schine, John A. May and the half dozen Schine enterprises.

On the ground that they seek disclosure of matters outside the issues raised by the pleadings and of personal financial transactions in which defendants may have engaged, which are not involved in the issues of the case, Mr. McKay asks that the court grant an order striking out the interrogatories and excusing defendants from answering them.

Mr. McKay asserted that the compilation of information sought by the Government would be "unduly burdensome and expensive to the defendants, except as to Mr. May, who has never participated in negotiation of any contract for the exhibition of feature pictures. As to J. Myer and Louis W. Schine, the interrogatories are 'vague and unclear.'" Mr. McKay further alleges the interrogatories seek to disclose "confidential and business secrets not involved in the case's issues," and in the case of Schine enterprises, in some instances, seek information concerning "matters of public record."

Under one of the subdivisions of the interrogatories, according to Mr. McKay, defendants would be required to furnish the name and other information regarding from 250 to 350 motion pictures annually for a period of 10 years for between 125 and 150 theatres.

Dismissal Motion Made In Nashville Action

Federal Judge Elmer Davies in Nashville on Monday took under advisement the motion made by Columbia, United Artists and Universal to dismiss the Government's amended complaint in the anti-trust suit against the Crescent Amusement Company and distributors. The five companies which consented to the decree in the New York case were dismissed from the Nashville action some time ago.

Louis D. Frohlich, of Schwartz and Frohlich, argued for the motion on behalf of the "Little 3." Government representatives spoke against the dismissal application. Judge Davies indicated that his decision would be made known shortly.

Also on Monday counsel for the Crescent circuit made objections to certain of the Government's interrogatories which sought detailed information about the company's assets, liabilities, operations, contracts and affiliated theatres.

According to the new Federal Rules of Procedure the appeal of the Gary Theatre Company, Gary, Ind., from the dismissal of its anti-trust suit against the majors must be dismissed by the Circuit Court of Appeals in Chicago, the brief submitted by the Warner Brothers Circuit Management Corporation asserted. It was argued that it was not necessary to consider in detail the evidence before the action is taken by the court.

"VIRGINIA" PUBLICITY STUNT BACKFIRES

A promotional stunt for "Virginia," scheduled to open March 15th at the Capitol theatre in Madison, Wis., failed to jell entirely for Edward J. Benjii, manager of the house. Mr. Benjii was instrumental in securing the introduction of a resolution in the Assembly and Senate inviting Fred MacMurray, whose home town is Beaver Dam, Wis., to visit Madison during the showing. The resolution was passed by the Assembly without a hitch but was shouted down by a voice vote in the Senate. It was reported that the Senate's action was taken to prove that pass privileges did not influence legislators.

RED HOT
Paramount
Pictures

PARAM

WHICH HAS PRODUCED IN

"ARISE, MY LOVE"

"NOR MOUN

AND

"VIRG

OUNT

UCCESSION HITS SUCH AS

H WEST
ED POLICE"

"SECOND CHORUS"

OW...

"
INIA"

in Technicolor!

TURN CAREFULLY... these pages are HOT!

HOT FROM
The HOTTEST director on the screen gives you the year's VEXIEST picture!
BARBARA STANWYCK · HENRY FONDA
in
"THE LADY EVE"
with
Charles Coburn • Eugene Pallette • Martha O'Driscoll • William Demarest • Eric Blore Written and Directed by PRESTON STURGES
BING
CROSBY ★
"ROAD
ZA with Una Merkel • Eri
"THE ROUND UP"
LAS VEGAS NIGHTS"

HOLLYWOOD

ome these new Paramount Smashes!

en's HOTTEST trio in TTEST musical laugh
you can remember!

The HOTTEST thrill spectacle ever caught on film!

DOROTHY
E ★ LAMOUR
TO IBAR"
re • VICTOR SCHERTZINGER
Directed by

"I WANTED WINGS"
starring
Ray Milland • William Holden
Wayne Morris • Brian Donlevy
Constance Moore • Veronica Lake • Harry Davenport
Directed by MITCHELL LEISEN and don't forget "THE HARD-BOILED CANARY"

PARAMOUNT

Joel McCrea
Ellen Drew
in
"REACHING for the SUN"
with
Eddie Bracken • Albert Dekker • Billy Gilbert
Produced and Directed by WILLIAM A. WELLMAN

Bob Hope
Dorothy Lamour
in
"CAUGHT IN THE DRAFT"
with
Eddie Bracken • Lynne Overman
Directed by DAVID BUTLER

Mary Martin
Don Ameche
in
"KISS THE BOYS GOOD-BYE" with Raymond Walburn
Jerome Cowan • Oscar Levant and "Rochester"
Directed by VICTOR SCHERTZINGER

Madelei
Fred M
"ONE
IN with Billie Bur
Dame May Morison • Produced and Directe

"THE S
OF T
John Way
Harry Ca
James Bart
Marjorie HEN

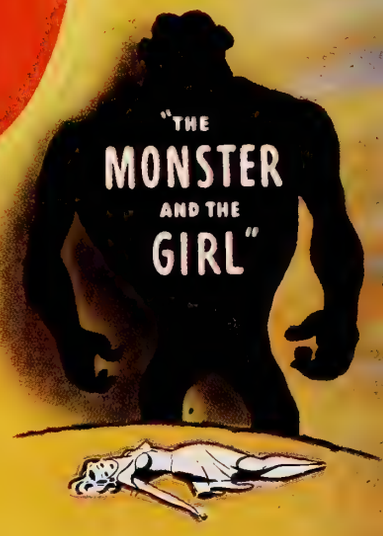
"POWER DIVE"

SPRING and



PROMISES A

Carroll
Murray
GHT SBON"
ohn Loder
• Patricia Tamiroff
ARD H. GRIFFITH

HNICOLOR
PHERD HILLS"
g Betty Field
h Beulah Bondi
muel S. Hinds
• Directed by AWAY

Dorothy Lamour
Jon Hall
"ALOMA of the SOUTH SEAS" with Esther Fernandez • Lynne Overman
IN TECHNICOLOR

IN TECHNICOLOR
Cecil B. DeMille's
"REAP THE WILD WIND"
Produced and Directed by
CECIL B. DEMILLE with a big-name, big-boxoffice cast!

You can always BANK ON PARAMOUNT!
We promised "N. W. M. P." last year... and we delivered! Now we promise every one of these HOT HITS including "REAP THE WILD WIND" this year! and we'll deliver!

Paramount Pictures

SUMMER!

and

HOTTEST

of all will be

PARAMOUNT'S ANNOUNCEMENT*

for 1941-1942

* A plan of providing exhibitors everywhere with a dependable source of supply! Watch for this announcement!

Printed in U. S. Amer

REPUBLIC PROMISES 62 FOR '41-42, AT $15,000,000, UP 5 MILLIONS

Republic Second with Product Announcement for New Season; Col., Warners, P. R. C. Have Product, Policy Plans

Republic Pictures, in annual sales and product conference in Hollywood, on Monday came forth with the second production announcement for 1941-42, following Universal's of two weeks ago, and committing its studios to 62 features, four serials and 12 short subjects, on a budget of $15,000,000, which, the management declares is five millions more than this season's.

In a wire to Republic's home office in New York, on Tuesday, James Ross Grainger, president of the company, presiding, with Herbert J. Yates, at the convention in Hollywood, disclosed certain budgetary allotments, as follows:

Six "De Luxe" productions, on a budget of from $750,000 to $1,000,000 each.

Fourteen "Anniversary Specials," at from $250,000 to $500,000 each.

Two Gene Autry "Specials," at a minimum allotment of $500,000 each.

Ten "Jubilees," at $150,000 per picture.

No budgets were disclosed on the 30 westerns.

Sales Quotas Increased

Mr. Grainger, at Tuesday's session, told the sales force that all sales quotas for 1941-42 would be increased in accordance with the production budget increase.

While not revealing titles in the new program, Mr. Grainger let it be known that it would include the following: Six De Luxe productions; two Special Premiere films, starring Gene Autry, with Smiley Burnette and Mary Lee; 10 Jubilee productions; 15 Anniversary specials; eight Historical Westerns, starring Roy Rogers and George Hayes and Sally Payne; eight Three Mesquiteer productions starring Robert Livingston, Bob Steele and Rufe Davis, with eight Action Westerns featuring Don "Red" Barry. Two of the serials will be in 15 episodes and two will be 12 episodes. The shorts, to be released one each month, will be Harriet Parsons' series, "Meet the Stars," a Hollywood reel.

Other speakers at the convention were Herbert J. Yates, head of Consolidated Film Industries, controlling Republic; and M. J. Siegel, president of Republic Productions.

Attending the meeting were J. T. Sheffield, franchise holder in the Northwest, and the following branch managers: Ed Walton, Seattle; J. H. Sheffield, Portland; Gene Gerbase, Denver; E. M. Loy, Butte; G. S. Pinnell, Salt Lake City; Sid Weisbaum, San Francisco; Francis Bateman, Los Angeles.

The second meeting was to be held in Kansas City on Thursday and Friday. These managers were to attend: Lloyd Rust, Dallas; Nat Steinberg, St. Louis; F. R. Moran, Des Moines; C. F. Reese, Omaha; with R. F. Withers, franchise owner in Kansas City; Gilbert Nathanson, franchise owner in Minneapolis, and Sol Davis, franchise owner in Oklahoma City.

The third meeting will be held in Atlanta next Monday and Tuesday. Attending will be: A. C. Bromberg, franchise owner of the Southern division, and Managers L. V. Seicshnaydre, New Orleans; W. M. Snelson, Memphis; Henry Glover, Atlanta; J. H. Dillon, Charlotte, and H. V. Laird, Tampa.

The fourth meeting will be held in New York next Thursday and Friday. The following will attend: Managers Arthur Newman, Albany; Jack Bellman, Buffalo; Morris Epstein, New York; M. E. Morey, Boston; Sam Seletsky, New Haven; Max Gillis, Philadelphia; Sam Seplowin, Detroit; Jake Flax, Washington franchise owner; J. H. Alexander, Pittsburgh franchise owner; Nat Lefton, franchise owner in Cleveland and Cincinnati, and managers Sam Gorrel of Cleveland and George Kirby of Cincinnati.

NATIONAL THEATRES' ANNUAL CONVENTION

Spyros Skouras, president, of National Theatres, and other executives of the circuit will leave New York for Los Angeles late this week to attend the circuit's annual meeting of division managers, which will start March 6th.

Product deals for the 1941-'42 season and other matters will be discussed by 30 executives expected to attend. Winners in the Spyros Skouras drive will be disclosed.

The home office group, besides Mr. Skouras, will include Dan Michalove, Edward Zabel, Aubrey Schenck, William Powers, Harry Cox and Pete Lundgren. Others attending will be Charles Skouras, Larry Kent, Elmer C. Rhoden, Lon Cox, Rick Ricketson, Arch Bowles, Frank Newman, Al Finke, H. J. Fitzgerald, Ed Alperson and Dave Idzal.

"No Blocks-of-Five for Columbia"—Cohn

Jack Cohn, vice-president of Columbia Pictures, asserted in Chicago, while on his way to New York last week, that Columbia would not adopt the "blocks-of-five" selling provisions of the consent decree.

Columbia this week announced that, on Saturday, it would begin a "Columbia Exhibitors' Good-will Campaign," to continue until May 30th, this being the name this year of its annual sales and billing drive. Slogan of the campaign is "Good will is the best asset of any business." To be released, or currently ready, during this campaign, are such films as: "Penny Serenade," "Adam Had Four Sons," "They Dare Not Love," "Texas," "Blondie Goes Latin," "She Knew All the Answers," "Senate Page Boys," "Her First Beau," "Bedtime Story," "Our Wife," "Time Out for Rhythm," "Doctor's Husband," "The Lone Wolf Takes a Chance," "Ellery Queen's Penthouse Mystery," "Outlaws of the Panhandle," and "North From the Lone Star."

Consolidated Advances $1,000,000 to P. R. C.

In a joint statement last week, Consolidated Film Industries, processing company and controller of Republic Pictures, and Producers Releasing Corporation, comparatively new producing and distributing company, disclosed an agreement whereby the former has advanced to the latter $1,000,000 for the completion of its present season and its 1941-42 picture schedule, amounting to 63 pictures, 26 of them westerns.

Under the agreement, Consolidated's Hollywood, and Fort Lee (New Jersey) plants are to handle the complete negative developing, printing, titles, and insert business of P. R. C., and RCA is to do all its recording.

This week, George Batcheller, production head for P. R. C., said that the first picture under the new pact, "Federal Fugitives," had been completed, and that an additional three pictures and two westerns were to begin work in this month.

Production unit heads for the picture company are John T. Coyle, Jed Buell, T. H. Richmond, E. B. Derr, and Sigmund Neufeld, the latter in charge of westerns.

O. Henry Briggs, company president, was expected to leave Hollywood next week, for a tour of exchanges in Dallas, Charlotte, Atlanta, Washington and Philadelphia, before returning to the New York home office.

William A. Guinan has been added to the sales staff of the St. Louis exchange. He had been with Republic and Grand National.

The company has closed a contract with British Empire Films, Ltd., for distribution of P. R. C. films in Australia, New Zealand, and adjacent British territory.

To Determine Warner Sales Policy Soon

Jack L. Warner, production head of Warner Brothers' studios, asserted in Chicago Tuesday, en route to New York, that the company's new season product and selling policy will be determined shortly at conferences to be held at the Burbank studios, and that Harry Warner, himself, Hal. B. Wallis, S. Charles Einfeld, and Gradwell Sears will be the conferees.

Norman Moray, Warners' short subject sales manager, left New York Wednesday on his annual tour of the company's exchanges, at which he will discuss new shorts and mull opinions of exhibitors and salesmen, to guide in setting up the new shorts production schedule.

Paramount Adding Ten for Shorts

Ten salesmen who will exclusively sell short subjects will be added shortly, Paramount announced last week, noting the extra attention needed by short subjects under the selling provisions of the consent decree. The company statement added that the forthcoming program of shorts will be the strongest in its history, and that each short will be advertised and exploited extensively.

J. J. Curry, former branch manager for the company in Oklahoma City, has been made sales representative in the Los Angeles area, for the newly formed short subject and newsreel department of the company.

"Hedda Hopper's Hollywood" is the title of a new series of six short subjects to be made independently for Paramount release by Herbert Moulton, formerly in charge of trailer production for the company. Miss Hopper will appear in the films, and narrate.

Rufus LeMaire, formerly assistant to Pandro Berman at RKO, has been appointed by Paramount to handle special assignments under B. G. DeSylva, head of production.

Select Attractions announced last week it would have 15 features for the 1941-42 season, to be produced by Myron C. Fagan, Paul L. Stein, and Merrick-Alexander Productions.

Budget Flexibility for Theatre Ads Urged by Robbins

"Flexible advertising budgets" were proposed to exhibitors by Herman Robbins, president of National Screen Service, speaking at a luncheon observing his 20th anniversary with that company, given by the Associated Motion Picture Advertisers, at the Hotel Edison, New York, on Thursday of last week.

Mr. Robbins said, "Each exhibitor must be made conscious of his power to swell receipts." The average exhibitor, he remarked, is bound too rigidly by his budget and thinks he must keep to a certain figure no matter what picture is being played. "This," Mr. Robbins said, "is not showmanship."

National Screen Service and its affiliates has a staff of some 1,600 persons to aid in promoting the sale of pictures, and services about 14,000 theatres, Mr. Robbins said. He said he had always been a believer in Nicholas Schenck's statement of many years ago that there was nothing wrong with the industry that good box office pictures would not cure.

Trailers "Miniature Productions"

The business of making trailers has evolved through the years and they are now "miniature productions," Mr. Robbins said. "Trailers, like pictures, today, are far, far better than in previous years. All of us have left behind the era of hysterical phrases. We have left gigantic, colossal, terrific and other super-super superlatives, to the radio.

"Advertising must have news value," he continued. "We feel that the trailer is nearer to pure news than any other form of advertising. We are selling emotion, an appeal to the senses. The purpose of the trailer is to give the audience news about the feature. We are constantly striving not to exaggerate. We want the exhibitor to believe in them. We want the paying customer to believe in them."

Commenting on the special lobby display activities of his company, Mr. Robbins said that over five years ago an interest in a small company serving 500 theatres was acquired. Now the National Screen affiliate serves about 7,000 theatres with special lobby display service, Mr. Robbins said.

"The average exhibitor seems to have fallen very hard for that word 'budget,'" Mr. Robbins said. "He makes up his mind that he is going to spend so much on advertising every week and come hell or high water, big picture or sensation, the advertising budget stays put. Now we know that's now way to establish records. We know that that isn't showmanship. We know that that isn't ringing the bell. The exhibitor must go back to some degree of old time showmanship when every time he played a picture he had to go out and plaster the town with its virtues.

"Advertising is the medium that will bring patrons to the theatre," Mr. Robbins continued. "I know, you know, everybody knows that the retail merchant has taken a page out of our book and used our stuff to make his store the glamour spot. Think of the thousands and thousands of dollars spent on window displays. The theatre lobby is the show window of our business. But it's being wasted in a great many places."

On the consent decree Mr. Robbins said, "Within a few months our industry will embark on a revolutionary plan of marketing its product in accordance with some of the requirements of the consent decree. This new selling plan will entail new responsibility to keep pace with the new order of things. Many pictures from now on will really get individual specialized attention from you and from the exhibitor."

Mr. Robbins was introduced by Maurice "Red" Kann, editor of Boxoffice. Those on the dais included George Dembow, Charles Casanave, Vincent Trotta, Toby Gruen and Harry Samwick. Leon Bamberger, head of AMPA, presided and introduced the speakers and others including Paul Benjamin, Milton Silver and Ed McNamee.

It was announced that William F. Rodgers, general sales manager of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, would be the next guest speaker at the next open AMPA meeting, March 6th.

RELEASE LLOYD'S FIRST RKO FILM

"A Girl, a Guy and a Gob," Harold Lloyd's first production for RKO, has been set for March release. This picture marks his return to the screen in the role of a producer after three years. He does not appear in the film. In 1938 he produced and appeared in "Professor Beware," Paramount. In the past decade he has made five pictures, four for Paramount release and one for Fox.

P.R.C. Announces Two

Producers Releasing Corporation has added two more pictures for production this season, according to an announcement by George Batcheller, supervisor of production for the company. The pictures are "The Confession," containing a semi-religious theme, and "South of Panama," a spy melodrama to be produced by T. H. "Ted" Richmond.

Labor Shorts Planned

Labor Pictures, Inc., of Miami, Fla., formed by the Union Label Trades Division of the American Federation of Labor, in addition to producing a feature in Hollywood based on the life of Samuel Gompers, will also make a series of short subjects for theatres and schools, according to I. M. Ornburn, secretary-treasurer of the company.

MGM Will Remake Two Films

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer has acquired the screen rights to remake two films from RKO. The pictures to be remade are Edna Ferber's "Cimarron" and "Rio Rita," the latter a musical.

Equipment for Edison Studio

According to an announcement from Leon Levy, vice-president of the Edison Motion Picture Studio in New York, new color photography equipment and cameras have been installed.

Paramount Books "U"

Universal Pictures reported in New York Tuesday that Deanna Durbin's "Nice Girl," in which she has assumed the character of an adult actress for the first time, has been booked into the New York Paramount theatre for an indefinite run to begin March 26th, the first Universal production to play this Broadway house for over ten years ("The Boys from Syracuse," which played the Paramount last July was a Mayfair Production, released through Universal.)

'Dictator' Release Set for March 7; 'Doe' March 12

Charles Chaplin's United Artists' release, "The Great Dictator," will begin its general release run next Friday, March 7th, at popular prices, both in cities in which the picture has been shown at advanced admissions and in localities in which it has not played at all.

Among the cities in which the film will play for the first time at popular prices, are Detroit, Cincinnati, Akron, Richmond, Norfolk, Nashville, Evansville, Wilmington, Albany, Philadelphia, Stamford, Scranton, Harrisburg, Reading, Camden, Canton, Trenton, Toronto, and London (Canada).

In New York City's Astor Theatre, the film on Tuesday began its 20th week. .

5,500,000 for "Wind"

Last week, the MGM home office claimed 5,500,000 patrons had seen "Gone With the Wind" at popular prices, in 580 theatres. More than 25,000,000 persons saw the picture's road showings last year. The popular price policy began January 14th. The company expects 5,000 to 6,000 bookings before this year ends.

The picture, at popular price and advanced price, has played to 3,000,000 persons in the New York area alone, the company asserted.

Next Thursday, "GWTW" is scheduled to begin its popular price run in the Loew New York circuit.

Warner Brothers' "Meet John Doe" will have its first showing at any theatre in the world on the evening of March 12th, at the company's Hollywood Theatre, in the city of that name. Seats will be reserved, and top price will be $2.20. The company claims a record number of exhibitor inquiries about the film's availability.

The Hollywood premiere of the film will be extended one day after its opening at the theatre of that name, to the Downtown Theatre, continuing thereafter at both. In New York, the premiere will be on March 13th, at the Rivoli and 51st Street theatres.

In both cities the openings will be in motion picture style: lights, celebrities, and microphones.

MGM's "Philadelphia Story," second-run at the Loew's State, New York, chief vaudeville house of the circuit, brought the largest single day's business in the theatre's history, on Saturday, Washington's Birthday. It had played six weeks—a record run—at the Radio City Music Hall, same city. On Saturday it attracted 20,198 persons to the State, which has a seating capacity of 3,327.

Simultaneous world premieres of the Harold Lloyd RKO release comedy, "A Girl, a Guy and a Gob," will be held next Wednesday evening at the Golden Gate Theatre, San Francisco, and the Hawaii Theatre, Honolulu. Mr. Lloyd and members of his cast will appear at the former theatre.

Walt Disney's "Fantasia" will open next Wednesday evening at the Fulton Theatre, Pittsburgh, with two performances daily, reserved seats.

Paramount's "The Hard-Boiled Canary" will be given a reserved seat Southern premiere next Saturday evening, at the 3,800-seat State Auditorium, Dallas. There will be stars' personal appearances, and proceeds will go to British war relief.

Warner Brothers' Strand Theatre, New York, garnered the greatest day's business in its history Saturday, with 20,234 persons seeing the company's "Strawberry Blonde."

ARTHUR MENKEN world-famous Paramount
News camera-reporter!

EXCLUSIVE!...ART MENKEN IS FLYING TO

PARAMOUNT NEWSREEL SCOOPED THE WORLD WITH THESE EXCLUSIVE NEWS RELEASES...FIRST SINGAPORE...THE HOTTEST SPOT ON EARTH...

ACTUAL GREEK WAR FILMS...EXCLUSIVE!...FIRST ACTUAL PICTURES BRITISH INSIDE LIBYA

TO COVER THE WAR FRONT FOR PARAMOUNT...

...EXCLUSIVE!...FIRST TIME SHOWN! PORTO RICO SEA, LAND AND AIR ACTIVITIES...EX-

THE EXCLUSIVE NEWSREEL!...YOUR PUBLIC

CLUSIVE! CIVILIAN AIRCRAFT SPOTTERS AID NATIONAL DEFENSE...EXCLUSIVE!...THE WINDSORS

WANTS THE LATEST WAR NEWS...AND THEY

IN BAHAMAS...EXCLUSIVE!...UNITED STATES ON WATCH AGAINST SUBVERSIVE PROPAGANDA

SEE IT FIRST IN PARAMOUNT...THE EXCLUSIVE

...EXCLUSIVE!...SANTO DOMINGO PRESENTS POSSIBLE WAR REFUGEE SOLUTION AT SOSUA...

NEWSREEL!...MAKING HISTORY TWICE A WEEK!

EXCLUSIVE!...SMILING IT OVER...FIRST YEAR-END REVIEW IN CARTOON STYLE...EXCLUSIVE!

NORTHWEST A BATTLEGROUND FOR BLOCKS-OF-FIVE DECREE DISPUTE

Allied-Sponsored Bill to Nullify Decree Introduced; Iowa Independents Petition for Investigation of Circuits

The Minnesota legislature may become the battleground of the "blocks of five" sales issue, it was indicated in Minneapolis this week, with the filing of Northwest Allied's long-threatened bill designed to contravene that consent decree provision, in the Minnesota legislature.

Independents elsewhere this week attacked majors on other fronts. In New York the first anti-trust suit to be filed since the "big five" settled the Government's suit by consent decree was instituted in Federal Court by a New Jersey exhibitor. See story on page 14.

In Iowa independents asked the Department of Justice to investigate two major circuits for violation of the Sherman anti-trust act. Bills similar to the Minnesota measure may also be proposed by Northwest Allied in North and South Dakota.

Public Hearings Planned

The Minnesota bill, introduced by Representatives Harry T. Nonnemacher and Arthur T. Gibbons, of St. Paul, was referred to the House judiciary committee. The sponsors and Allied are exerting pressure for early consideration. Battle over the attempt to nullify the decree selling provisions is expected to begin when the bill reaches public hearings. The measure is based on a consent decree provision which permits state legislatures to set up regulation of motion picture business within their state borders.

Sponsors say the bill is required in the interest of public welfare and public policy "by reason of arbitrary terms and conditions enforced by motion picture producer-distributors." They charge that conditions imposed by the distributor-producers subject independents to unfair disadvantages, but claim that "the long established practice of licensing feature motion pictures for a full season (one year) is essential to the best interests of the producer-distributors, exhibitors, and the public."

The Allied measure provides for the block-booking of a full year's feature product, permits cancellation of a minimum of 20 per cent of the pictures, and prohibits the conditioning of features sales on short subjects, westerns, newsreels or other product. Provision for a fine not exceeding $1,000 and one year jail terms applicable to individual officers of companies convicted of violations implements the act.

The preamble of the bill alleges that in the past independents have been: "(a) compelled as a condition precedent to licensing feature motion pictures, to also license short subjects, newsreels, trailers, serials, re-issues, foreign and western pictures far in excess of his needs or requirements; (b) unable to cancel feature motion pictures injurious and damaging to his business, and therefore compelled to play pictures undesirable and harmful to the public."

It requires that hereafter no distributor shall license pictures to an exhibitor unless the contract provides "that all the feature motion picture films, which such distributor will license during the exhibition season or the unexpired portion thereof shall be included."

The cancellation provision specifies: "that the exhibitor shall have the right to cancel a minimum of twenty per cent of the total number of feature motion pictures included in such license. Such cancellation shall be made proportionately among the several price brackets, if there be such price brackets in the license agreement. Any number of cancellations, to which an exhibitor is entitled, may be made from the lowest price bracket at the exhibitor's option. The right to cancellation shall not be effective, unless the exhibitor exercises such right by giving notice thereof, to the distributor, within fifteen days after being notified of the availability of a feature motion picture. The right to cancellation may be waived by the exhibitor before or after the making of a license agreement but such waiver shall be in writing."

The Minnesota legislature was also a spearhead of the attack against slot machine motion pictures, with a bill pending which would ban them from establishments selling beer or liquor. It also prohibits "free" operation of the machines with chips or tokens, and is described as effectively restricting the use of coin-operated picture machines throughout the state. The Minnesota divorcement bill introduced several weeks ago by Representative L. E. Berg, of West St. Paul at the request of independent exhibitors remains far down on the calendar of the House general legislation committee.

NEBRASKA BILL APPEARS DEAD

The theatre divorcement bill written by the Nebraska legislature's E. M. Neubauer, probably will never receive a committee hearing, observers at that state's capital, Lincoln, predicted this week. They added the Senator did not appear anxious to press his bill, and noted two others of his had been killed recently: a bill to tax all admission tickets 10 per cent; and another to license, via the railway commission, all distributors at $1,000 each annually.

Ask G-Men to Probe Iowa Circuit Practices

Independent exhibitors in Iowa have asked the Department of Justice to investigate Tri-State Theatres Corporation, and Central States Theatres Corporation, both of Des Moines, the Attorney General's office in Washington revealed this week. The independents allege violation of the Sherman anti-trust act. The group has also protested the erection of a new theatre in East Des Moines by Tri-States, charging that it violates expansion agreements in the New York consent decree.

Robert L. Wright, special assistant to the Attorney General, and chief of the motion picture unit of the Department of Justice set up subsequent to the New York decree said that the Department had the complaints under advisement in Washington.

Illinois Allied Opens Decree Advice Bureau

Allied Theatre Owners of Illinois at its annual meeting in Chicago last week considered a proposal by Jack Kirsch, president that it set up a central complaint bureau to instruct members in arbitration procedure and advise them of their rights under the consent decree.

Mr. Kirsch in his annual report told members that the Chicago police censor board had indicated that it will insist that all slot motion picture machines be reviewed by censors, and that a special coin machine motion picture license may be enacted by City Council.

Subordinate officers of Illinois Allied were all re-elected. Mr. Kirsch's three-year contract has two years to run. Those renamed to executive posts were Van Nomikos, vice president; Richard Salkin, secretary and treasurer; and Harry Nepo, sergeant-at-arms.

Iowa Independents Weigh Legislation

Legislation affecting the motion picture industry will occupy the lead spot on the agenda of the Independent Theatre Operators of Iowa and Nebraska at their annual meeting in Des Moines on March 10th and 11th. Leo F. Wolcott, of Eldora, president of the association; W. B. Franke, of Humbolt, vice president; and W. A. Dutton, of Manchester, are preparing the meeting's program.

Eckhardt Heads Chicago Bookers

Jack Eckhardt, of Twentieth Century-Fox in Chicago, has been elected president of the Film Bookers Club in that city, succeeding Harry James of United Artists. Other officers chosen are Sam Traynor, Baily Enterprises, Princeton, Ill., vice-president; Frank Williams, Warner Brothers Theatres, secretary; Jack Wohl, Great State Theatres, recording secretary; Jack Friedman, Capitol-Monogram Pictures, treasurer, and Al Raymer, Indiana-Illinois Theatres, sergeant-at-arms.

Cummins Loses "Ecstasy"

Samuel Cummins and his distributing company, Eureka Productions, Inc., last week last possession of "Ecstasy," the Czech film in which Hedy Lamarr stars, and which had been playing the Miami Theatre. Award of the film, and a judgment for accounting and profits was given the plaintiffs, Michael Wyngate, Inc., and Max Weingarten, by the New York Supreme Court. Fitelson and Mayer represented the plaintiffs.

Pusseguer Manages Four Theatres

P. R. Pusseguer, head office official of the Southern Amusement Company in the Lake Charles territory, has assumed management of the four theatres operated by the company in and around De Ridder, La. The four houses are the Uptown theatre in De Ridder, the Vernon at Leesville, the Crystal theatre at Many, and the Rio at Zwolle. Jimmy King, former manager of the Uptown theatre, will replace Mr. Pusseguer at Lake Charles.

CBS Loan Interest Reduced

According to information filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission, the interest rates charged the Columbia Broadcasting System, Inc., by the Bank of Manhattan and Brown Brothers Harriman & Co., on the $600,000 unpaid balance of loans for $1,000,000 contracted in 1938 and 1939 have been reduced. The interest rate ranging from 2½ to 3 per cent has been reduced to a scale ranging from 1½ to 2½ per cent.

LOEW CIRCUIT TO SELL 'BEST FILMS' OF THE YEAR WHILE THEY'RE 'HOT'

Circuit Chiefs To Give "Award of Merit" and Special Ad Attention to Outstanding Films; "Miss Bishop" First Chosen

The Loew Circuit promotion and picture merchandising departments in the home office in New York and in the field are about to undertake the selling of "the best pictures of the year" as they are released—basing selections on the circuit management's and bookers' advance estimates, instead of waiting until the end of the season for outside determinations of the year's "best." Extended attention will be given through newspapers, radio, commercial displays and tie-ups, in trailers, lobby displays and accessories, emphasizing the keynote: "Loew Award for 1941," and stressing the nature of the award to the public.

It was explained that the usual "ten best" lists are made up at the end of a year, or, at least, after a picture has had its normal run; so that the theatre-goer, in those instances, has never had the opportunity to be guided by the choices, except to see a selected picture as a reissue or in a last run house.

"Bishop" Selected

Noting that in 1940 the Loew circuit had played six of the generally accepted ten best films of the year, Loew officials feel their judgment has not been bad. In fact, in the words of a publicity release from the home office—"the circuit feels rather qualified to pick the good ones as they are shown."

The best films, to be given the "mark of merit," will be chosen by the company's regular bookers and operating officials, seeing the films several weeks before theatre display, in the projection room of the New York home office.

Richard Rowland's "Cheers for Miss Bishop," United Artists, is the first film to be given the accolade. It is expected to begin playing the circuit at the end of this month. No other films have been thus selected.

The Rowland picture stars William Gargan and Martha Scott. Loew officials, in inaugurating the new policy, said this week that such a film, with admittedly small drawing power in star names, would not receive deserved attention without the "mark of merit."

In connection with the award, Oscar A. Doob, advertising and publicity manager of the circuit, wrote his managers, thus:

"Every few months, we find ourselves with an exceptionally good picture on our hands—but a picture without star-power to sell it. Unless we have plenty of time (which we seldom do), we get less money with such pictures, than their merit deserves. Subsequent runs do a much bigger proportionate business."

After referring to the "mark of merit" plan, Mr. Doob added: "If we use careful judgment, some day the public will believe this 'sterling mark,' and respond."

Loew officials this week asserted pictures which did not receive the merit award would not suffer, because they would receive the usual careful exploitation from the chain's advertising department and its managers. They also added that the fact that the first picture given the award had no great star names, and the fact that the circuit hoped to point up such pictures, should not lead to the inference that only such pictures will be chosen. Pictures will be selected, they explained, for their entertainment values, regardless of names—and regardless of producing company, they also emphasized.

Explaining the new merit system to the circuit's managers, Mr. Doob said, "The idea must be built up; it must be supported by honesty on our part; it must prove itself to the public." He asked the managers to give the system "an all-out trial."

Booklet Details Plan

In a special booklet to house managers, explaining the merit awards, and the attendant publicity, Loew's included a sample newspaper advertisement with which it will tell the public why it has chosen "Cheers for Miss Bishop." The film industry trade papers were to carry, shortly, an insert from United Artists, in which this advertisement is reproduced.

The "emblem of merit" appearing in the newspaper ads of the "best film" series will be in all national ads, managers of the circuit have been told. They are asked by the chain's officials, to use it in all local ads, in any heralds, and, in fact, on any printed matter. And they are instructed to use it for all pictures designated for the award by the home office.

The campaign for pictures bearing the merit emblem embraces other factors than newspaper advertising. It also includes comment cards for patrons, radio 'plugging,' newspaper publicity, and trailers.

Blowups of the newspaper ad mentioned are being sent to Loew houses for lobby display. Managers have been told to add to their own posters for "Miss Bishop" the line: "We pick this as one of the ten best pictures of 1941."

Comment cards are also being given the theatres. They are to be handed to audiences during the first two days of the run. Those filled out by patrons, and adjudged best by the manager, are to be used for poster display in front of the theatre, and for publicity stories.

They also carry boxes in which the patron may check "Yes" or "No," and blank spaces in which he may explain why he checked one box.

In the new Loew publicity portfolio to its managers are also carried sample newspaper publicity stories, amenable to revision for local situations; and the managers are told that "it is important that the plan get serious consideration, and as much publicity as possible—to give it weight and prestige."

Managers have also been instructed to attach special trailers, after necessary deletions, to the regular National Screen trailer which is to be shown, as usual, a week in advance of playing, and to re-assemble the special short trailer, after use alone and with the National Screen trailer, for return to the New York office, which will then reissue them to the Loew New York houses.

FAR EAST BUSINESS BETTER, SAYS WARN

Theatre business throughout the Far East, including the Federated Malay States, Straits Settlements, New Zealand and Australia, has shown remarkable increase during the past few months, said R. E. Warn, assistant manager of the Western Electric Company in Australia, upon his return to New York after a five-year assignment in the Orient.

Equipment business there, he reported, has more than doubled in many regions, particularly in the Netherlands East Indies. New theatres are going up in both Batavia and Madan. Thailand, despite political reorganization, has also felt the increase and in Bangkok a new deluxe house, the Patanakorn, will open soon.

Warners, MGM at Hearing on Publicists

Hearings before the National Labor Relations Board on the petition of the Screen Publicists Guild to be named collective bargaining agent for the advertising and publicity employees of all major motion picture companies were opened with the examination of Warner Brothers and Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer before Dan Baker, trial examiner, Wednesday, in New York.

Testimony in the action concerning other film companies was concluded last Monday after a series of hearings lasting 15 days, starting January 23rd. The companies appearing at these hearings were United Artists, Columbia, Twentieth Century-Fox, RKO, Paramount and Universal.

"At the conclusion of testimony representatives of the companies again refused a request of the SPG for a consent election," said a statement from the SPG, which claimed the membership of the SPG embraces "more than 90 per cent of the eligible publicity department employees in the industry."

Matters in dispute will now be decided by the National Labor Relations Board.

Altec Signs Eleven Theatres

Independent Theatres, Inc., has renewed an Altec agreement for sound and repair—replacement service for their 11 theatres in Chattanooga and Memphis. H. B. Moog negotiated for Altec.

Ashmann Joins Interboro Circuit

Maurey L. Ashmann, general manager of the Five Boro Circuit, upon his return from a Southern vacation, will be connected with the Brooklyn division of the Interboro Circuit, the parent company.

Local Newsreel Company Formed

Formation of a company to distribute and sell "sectional newsreels" has been announced by Archie Spencer who represents the American Vending Company, distributors of soft drink vending machines in Chicago. The new corporation has been named Teletone News Co., and has opened offices at 10 South La Salle street in Chicago.

According to Mr. Spencer, the company will make newsreels of events that occur in six middlewest states, Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin, Iowa, Missouri and Michigan. The Teletone News Company makes a tie-up with the local daily newspaper which is given credit for the presentation of the newsreel on the screen. Members of the Illinois Daily Newspaper Markets, Inc., a non-profit organization set up to publicize and promote daily papers in Illinois, has agreed to the plan, according to Mr. Spencer.

The paper in each local community will contact the exhibitor with a representative of the Teletone company and attempt to sell the newsreel.

Teletone News will have a cameraman in Chicago and one in Springfield, Illinois. Subjects to be shot will be suggested and recommended by the local newspaper, subject to approval, however, of the Chicago office and Mr. Spencer, who identified himself as business manager of the new company.

The cost to the exhibitor will be comparable to the price of the national newsreels now being issued, according to Mr. Spencer.

"With the elimination of block booking under the terms of the consent decree with the exhibitor being relieved of the necessity of being forced into buying short subjects and newsreels we feel that a good many exhibitors will discontinue the national newsreels," the manager said.

Mr. Spencer said approximately forty-eight exhibitors in as many Illinois cities had indicated their readiness to buy or already have purchased the newsreel which will be released about May 1st.

Deals to have the Monogram exchanges in the other states that Teletone will serve distribute the newsreels are now being worked out, it was reported.

New RKO Theatre Opening

John J. O'Connor, vice-president in charge of RKO theatres, Fred Meyers, head of the booking department for the company, and Harry Mandel, publicity manager, previewed the new RKO-Reade's Trent theatre in Trenton, N. J., prior to the reopening of the house last Saturday, February 22nd. RKO will handle the booking and operation of the theatre which is jointly operated by the company and Walter Reade.

Whitney in New York

John Hay Whitney arrived in New York Sunday after several weeks in Hollywood where he conferred with producers and industry leaders on Pan-American cooperation. He is motion picture division chairman of the office of the United States Coordinator of Commercial and Cultural Relations Between the American Republics. Mr. Whitney is expected to return to the coast shortly.

Two Reading Theatres Undergo Changes

J. Lester Stallman, general manager for the past three years of Warner Brothers' Astor and Strand theatres, Reading, Pa., resigned to become manager of the same houses on May 1, when the Warner lease expires and the operation of the houses return to Harry J. Schad, owner. In addition to the personnel changes, Mr. Schad announced, an improvement program costing about $100,000 will be made at both theatres. Mr. Stallman has been a theatre executive for 22 years, spending 10 years with the Stanley Company of America and another ten years when the circuit was taken over by the Warner Brothers, and two years with the Cities Theatres organization in Reading. For some time before coming here, he was Warner district manager in Atlantic City.

With the resignation of Mr. Stallman, Warners announced the appointment of Wilmer B. Huffman, house manager in West Chester, Pa., as Reading city manager to handle the circuit's interests in that city. Warner circuit has taken control of the State Theatre, formerly held under a joint lease with the Wilmer & Vincent circuit and operated by the latter circuit. Reconstruction work and interior improvements at the State are under way, and it will be operated as a first-run house. Mr. Huffman has been with the circuit for 12 years in a managerial capacity in many cities in the territory.

Book Club Endorses Short

The first motion picture ever to receive the official endorsement of the Book of the Month Club is Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "Happiest Man on Earth," according to the company. The film is the first short subject to be adapted literally from a short story. The short, a picturization of an O. Henry Memorial Award winning story by Albert Maltz, was previewed last Friday, February 21st, at the Club's headquarters in New York by the same judges whose literary recommendations are followed by thousands of readers.

"Captain Marvel" Tieup

Republic Pictures has announced a cooperative campaign to promote its forthcoming serial, "Adventures of Captain Marvel," based on the Fawcett Publication "Whiz Comics" cartoon strip. Fawcett will use full-page advertisements in the April, May and June issues of "Whiz Comics," announcing the film version, and a contest will be sponsored by the publishing company. The picture features Tom Tyler, Frank Coghlan, Jr., William Benedict and Louise Currie.

Randforce-Altec Sign Contract

The Randforce Amusement Corporation has renewed an agreement with the Altec Service for the 42 Randforce houses on Long Island, N. Y. Bert Sanford negotiated for Altec.

New Exchange for RKO

RKO is building a new exchange in Philadelphia at the cost of approximately $70,000. The new exchange building will contain offices, storage rooms and a preview room.

1,000 Theatres Aid Greek Drive

More than 1,000 theatres have pledged their participation in the Greek War Relief Week, March 25th to 30th with benefit performances and special lobby collections, Adolph Zukor, chairman of the amusement industry division of the Greek War Relief Association announced this week. He indicated that exchange districts in every section of the country were rapidly filling their quotas.

Jules J. Rubens, chairman of the Chicago division, informed Mr. Zukor that 263 theatres in Illinois would take collections in their lobbies for Greek relief. Mr. Rubens also reported that committees were working in Michigan, Indiana and Wisconsin and predicted that the division would top its quota.

Two special midnight shows have been given to date in behalf of the fund. The first was presented by Warner Tri-State at Johnstown, Pa., under the direction of Harry Kalmine and the second in Memphis, Tenn., at Loew's Palace under the direction of Cecil Vogel. They are the first of several hundred special shows scheduled between now and March 30th.

"Fantasia" Benefit for Drive

In Pittsburgh the premiere of Walt Disney's "Fantasia" at the Fulton theatre on March 5th will be dedicated to the Greek War Relief drive. John Walsh, theatre manager, and Milton Chamberlain, RKO representative, are arranging for the benefit in cooperation with Harry Kalmine, of Warner Tri-State theatres, and chairman of the industry's Greek Relief drive in the Pittsburgh territory. John H. Harris, general manager of the Harris Amusement Company, is also working with the Greek Fund, which is headed by Arthur Braun, president of the Farmers Bank. Steve Contos heads the arrangements committee for the premiere.

Allied Motion Picture Theatre Owners of Western Pennsylvania endorsed the Greek Drive at their meeting at the Hotel Roosevelt, Pittsburgh, last week. Fred Herrington, executive secretary of the AMPTO in Pittsburgh, sent a letter to all members asking them to arrange for collections in their theatres, to be followed by an organization campaign for funds.

Iowa distributors and independent theatre operators at a luncheon in Des Moines on February 22d formed plans to raise their quota of $13,000 for the Greek War Relief fund. E. J. Tilton, Warner manager; G. Ralph Branton, general manager of Tri-States circuit; Leo F. Wolcott, president of the Independent Theatres Operators Association, and A. H. Blank, division chairman of the Greek Fund, arranged the meeting.

Kansas City exchange area exhibitors and distributors met on February 25th to plan their drive in behalf of Greek aid. Elmer C. Rhoden, division manager of Fox Midwest Amusement Corp., and T. R. Thompson are co-chairmen of the Kansas City division of the motion picture branch of the Greek Relief Association.

Southern California circuit and independent theatres will sponsor the Greek cause during the week of March 25th to 30th. Charles Skouras, president of the Southern California Greek Relief Fund, presided at the organization meeting of motion picture theatre operators in Hollywood on February 24th.

The legitimate theatre division of the amusement committeee will be headed in New York by Sam H. Harris, and William Corum, newspaper columnist, will lead the sports division, it was announced.

Nabhan Elected Commerce Head

W. G. Nabban, a California theatre man for many years, has been elected president of the Dunsmuir, Calif., Chamber of Commerce for 1941.

300 N.Y. THEATRES COOPERATE ON WEEKEND SHOWS FOR CHILDREN

Schools' Motion Picture Group Started Plan Six Years Ago with Four Houses; "Selection Not Censorship" Is Object

Exhibitor cooperation in a plan to have programs suitable for children booked on week-ends was reported this week by the Schools Motion Picture Committee to have increased from four to over 300 cooperating theatres in the New York area since the plan went into operation six years ago.

Theatres working with the committee supply advance outlines of programs scheduled for Friday, Saturday and Sunday. The organization checks over the programs with recommendations made by its own reviewers and approved shows are listed in two New York newspapers each Thursday, the Times and the Post, and on Friday in the Herald-Tribune.

From 60 to 85 theatres usually have programs considered suitable for children each weekend, according to Mrs. Irving A. Heyman, secretary of the Schools Motion Picture Committee.

Posted in Schools

The organization, it was pointed out, does not expect all programs to be suitable for children but its policy is that theatres should give particular attention to week-end bookings and when such shows are acceptable for children parents should be informed. In addition to having the lists in three daily newspapers approved programs are put on bulletin boards of a number of New York schools and the information also is distributed in other ways.

Recently plans for extending the work were discussed at a meeting in New York of the Better Films Council and National Board of Review. It was pointed out that both exhibitors and groups interested in child welfare would benefit if a policy similar to that of the Schools Motion Picture Committee is extended elsewhere. In many cities endorsement of programs deemed suitable to children would be of great value, it was said. From the exhibitor's point of view it was asserted that extra attention is given his week-end programs by special listings in newspapers and other places and increased attendance by adults and children may result.

Mrs. Heyman pointed out that the organization's activities were all positive. "We do not condemn pictures but endorse those found suitable for young people from eight to 14 years of age," she pointed out. Certain pictures considered acceptable for the age group above 12 are starred in the lists.

The whole program, including trailers, newsreel and shorts as well as the feature, must be considered entertaining for children before the show is included in the committee's list.

Features are usually reviewed at the time of the screening for the National Board of Review. Newsreels are seen through the cooperation of the newsreel companies and W. G. Van Schmus, managing director of the Radio City Music Hall. The National Screen Service permits the committee's reviewers to attend a showing of trailers once a week at its New York headquarters. Mrs. Heyman said that the organization was very pleased with the cooperation shown by the companies and by exhibitors.

In 1935 when the work was begun four independent theatres in New York agreed to participate. Now the principal circuits as well as independents furnish lists of week-end bookings in advance to the group and attempt, when possible, to have programs acceptable to the committee. If the feature is one that can be approved some 300 theatres, will, on request, edit the newsreel, if necessary and many independents will substitute shorts and edit trailers, according to the committee.

Each week a list, based on the voting of members of the reviewing committee which totals about 100 parents from affiliated and private schools, is sent to the booker of the chief metropolitan circuits, including Loew's, RKO and Skouras theatres, and to the independent houses. Features are classified in two groups, approved and not approved. Shorts are subdivided into three groups: approved, passed and not approved. When the feature is on the approved list and the short is only "passed," the committee will list the whole program but theatres selecting special programs of shorts for children's shows, such as special Saturday morning programs, are to select the shorts from the approved classifications.

Bookers Get Lists

The lists are used by theatre bookers, according to Mrs. Heyman, and the group believes that a greater number of houses are playing week-end programs suitable for children than was the custom five years ago. Further, it was said, before the lists were published it was difficult for parents to know to which theatre they should send their children. At least one theatre in almost every area of New York City has a week-end program approved by the committee. Of course every cooperating theatre does not have a program which can be endorsed every week.

The Schools Motion Picture Committee is a voluntary organization. Expenses are met by contributions and an annual benefit. The benefit this year will be held March 1st at the Plaza theatre and "Young Mr. Lincoln," Twentieth Century-Fox film, will be shown.

New York was perhaps the hardest city in the country to start such a committee, Mrs. Heyman said, asserting that similar organizations would be a help to local organizations and exhibitors in other parts of the country. Recommending week-end programs is an activity which could be adopted by every Better Films Council or similar group, she remarked.

The policy of the commitee is expressed as follows: "Our aim is not that of censorship but of critical selection. If we merely censored, our only standard would be harmlessness, whereas we try to list films suitable for young people which are made with such intelligence and artistic finish that they are equally entertaining to children and to adults."

Chief standards listed were described in this way, "We object to the glorification or romantic portrayal of criminals and gangsters; we remove only such close-ups of horror or brutality as would be offensive to the normal adult."

Other officers of the Schools Motion Picture Committee are Mrs. Alonzo Klaw, chairman; Mrs. Wm. Barclay Parsons, Jr., vice-chairman and Mrs. George Francklyn Lawrence, Jr., treasurer. The organization has an office at 130 East 57th street from which additional information is supplied to those who write or phone in for data on certain programs.

SMPE TO HEAR OF ANTI-SMOKE DEVICE

Earl Morin of the State Police Department in New Haven, Conn., will present for the consideration of the convention of the Society of Motion Picture Engineers at the Sagamore Hotel in Rochester, N. Y., May 5th to 8th, a paper on a new automatic damper release designed to prevent smoke panic in theatres.

The State department has been active in developing the idea of preventing smoke of any origin, whether from internal or exterior sources, from being blow into the air-conditioning systems of theatres, a condition likely to cause panic.

Testimonials for Sweigert, Smith

Earle W. Sweigert, former Paramount branch manager in Philadelphia, who was elevated to district manager over Philadelphia, Washington and Pittsburgh, and Ulrik F. Smith, Philadelphia sales manager who was promoted to branch manager, were given a joint testimonial dinner in Philadelphia at the Warwick, February 21st. Approximately 250, including delegations from New York and Washington attended. Edgar Moss, Twentieth Century-Fox district manager in Philadelphia, was chairman. Mr. Sweigert marks his silver anniversary with the company next year while Mr. Smith started with Paramount 26 years ago.

Others on the dias included J. Unger, Paramount eastern division manager; Oscar Morgan, Paramount short subjects sales manager; William Sussman, Twentieth Century-Fox eastern division manager; John Nolan, chief film buyer for Comerford Circuit in Pennsylvania; Lester Krieger, Warner Theatres booker in Philadelphia; Joe Eagen, of Wilmer and Vincent in New York; Al Boyd, Sam Steifel, William Goldman and Jay Emanuel, independent circuit operators; James P. Clark, president of Horlacher Film Delivery; Sidney E. Samuelson, business manager of Eastern Pennsylvania Allied; Lewen Pizor, president of United MPTO.; John Smith, Mr. Smith's father and former exhibitor; and F. A. Giannini, Mr. Sweigert's oldest exhibitor friend.

With Mr. Smith becoming branch manager, Reba Margolis, formerly in the contact department at the Philadelphia exchange, has been appointed his secretary with Antoinette Chernika filling the vacancy in the office staff. In addition, Bill Brooker, exploiteer covering the Philadelphia and Washington areas, extends his promotions to take in the Pittsburgh territory.

A farewell dinner was to be tendered Herbert A. Copelan, former general manager of Warners' Atlantic City theatres, Friday, at the Shelburne Hotel. Copelan resigned earlier in the month and leaves for Florida next week to head an independent circuit there.

Censors' Split Decisions

The Board of Regents of New York State, at its monthly meeting in Albany, February 21, upheld the Motion Picture (Censorship) Division in refusing a license to "Life on the Hortobagy," but at the same time sustained the appeal on "Kidnapping Gorillas," granting an exhibition license for the latter.

"Life on the Hortobagy" was submitted by Eureka Productions, while "Kidnapping Gorillas" was offered by Jewel Productions, both New York distributors.

WASHINGTON WARNS OF FURTHER TICKET TAX RISE FOR DEFENSE

Treasury Reported Planning to Lower Exemption or Raise Levy; State Legislatures Get Bills on Taxes, Sunday Shows

The nation's exhibitors must anticipate possible new Federal taxation for defense, Washington observers cautioned this week, verifying a suspicion already expressed by some exhibitor leaders.

They reported U. S. Treasury officials, heartened by returns from the new admissions taxes with the 20 cent exemption, were considering obtaining more money from exhibition; either from elimination of the exemption, or by raising the tax rate. It was added that during the first six months of their application, the new taxes had brought the Government $26,000,000 more than it gained for a similar period last year from country's theatres.

The Government officers were also said to be considering taxing radio licenses.

Meanwhile, approximately 400 bills affecting the film industry in some manner, have been reported introduced in the legislatures now current. More are expected from them, and from the Florida legislature, which convenes in April; Louisiana, scheduled in May; and Georgia, to sit in June.

In the past week and a half, several bills important to exhibition have failed of passage, or have been introduced in several legislatures.

Georgia Rejects Sunday Bill

The Georgia Senate last week defeated a bill to legalize the showing of motion pictures on Sundays, in communities where 25 per cent of registered voters have petitioned for such showings. An amendment to prohibit Bank Night was rejected, before vote.

At present, Georgia exhibitors can operate on Sunday if some of their profits are given to charity.

The vote was close, the bill being defeated by only four votes; and it was made after heated debate. Senator Gross charged that if the state granted concessions such as exemplified by the bill, it "sooner or later would be in the same shape as Sodom and Gomorrah."

The bill had been approved by the House.

By unanimous vote last week, the Indiana General Assembly indefinitely postponed the Associated Theatres Owners of Indiana's bill to curb "fly by night" entertainment, through bonding and registration of transient promoters. The bill was in committee several days. Public hearings had been held on it. The ATOI had said it was aimed at protection of theatres, not at film libraries. The postponement means the bill will not pass this session, because the legislature is jammed with other bills, and it ends March 10th.

A bill taxing theatre tickets is to be introduced into the Iowa legislature. It asks a one-cent tax on all theatre tickets up to 50 cents, two cents on those up to one dollar. Another, already in the House, asks for the imposition on distributors of a $1,000 annual license fee, and a $1 per reel tax on all films. Still another would have a special tax on Bank Night.

The first bill ever presented to abolish the state's two-hundred-year-old "blue laws" and provide local option awaited action by the Delaware House this week, after passage by the Senate. The bill, introduced by Senator Paul Rinard, Wilmington, empowers legislative bodies of all incorporated municipalities to enact ordinances to prohibit or regulate "worldly employment, labor or business, on Sunday."

In the New York State legislature, a statewide sales-tax bill, carrying a five per cent levy on theatre admissions over 51 cents, is expected to die in committee.

Last week, in that legislature, Senator Charles Perry introduced a bill to prevent unauthorized recordings. The National Association of Performing Artists sponsors the bill, which has been redrawn to meet objections of radio broadcasters.

Projection Bill Hearing

Exhibitors and projectionists were represented Thursday, February 20th, at hearing in the Judiciary Committee public hearing room of the Connecticut legislature, Hartford, on the so-called "two men in a booth" bill, defeated in six past sessions.

The exhibitors, from both of the state's exhibitor units, the MPTO and the Allied, met before the hearing at the Hotel Bond, Hartford. Presiding were Arthur Lockwood, of the first organization, and A. M. Schuman, of the second. All then attended the hearing, at which Mr. Lockwood, Representative Irving Jacocks, Jr., an exhibitor of Branford; D. Hess, of Moosup and Groton; and Joseph Reed, operator at Washington Depot and Bantam—cited state records of theatre fires in recent years, to prove none began in booths, and that the only two fires of consequence had burned the theatre buildings, but left the booths standing.

The projectionists, backing the bill, were represented by Thomas F. Fitzsimmons, their legislative agent; George Brazil, president of the Connecticut Association of Operators and Stagehands; John Eagan, of the state branch of the American Federation of Labor; and James Finn, editor of The Projectionist.

Because their text was not filed in full by Tuesday, February 18th, two bills, filed in skeleton, on new safety devices for projection machines, were thrown out by the legislature.

The Nebraska legislative sky cleared last week with the rejection of two film industry-baiting bills which, it was estimated, would have cost the industry more than $500,000 annually.

The most serious of these bills was that which would have placed a one-cent tax on each "10 cents' worth of ticket, or fraction thereof." The second bill would have had film exchanges licensed by the state railway commission, at $1,000 per year, and which would have charged them $1 for every reel distributed. Both bills were the product of Senator E. M. Neubauer.

Defender of the industry at the committee hearing was Bob Livingston, of the Capitol, Lincoln, who noted theatres were the poor man's amusement center, and he would bear increased taxes.

Senator Neubauer is also the author of a theatre divorcement bill, which has not had committee hearing yet, and which, according to observers in Lincoln, probably will not.

In the Pennsylvania House, Representative Joseph M. O'Brien last week proposed a bill requiring 51 per cent of the registered voters of a community to sign a petition for a referendum on Sunday shows before the referendum may be held. Present state law allows a referendum to be held with the signatures of only five per cent of a community's registered voters on a petition for such.

Sunday Referendum Invalid

Judge Robert E. Burnside last week declared a Sunday motion pictures referendum in McDonald, Pennsylvania, invalid. It was asserted 364 voters of Allegheny County were not able to vote.

A South Carolina legislative sub-committee is recommending changes in tax structure. One change would eliminate all admission tax exemptions. Another would amend the rate and method of assessments, in the tax upon film theatres, to provide a graduated license tax based upon population.

The Arkansas House is considering a bill to tax gross receipts of music and pinball coin machines five per cent, and to tax one penny each game of pool, billiards, or dominoes.

The Massachusetts legislature has tabled a bill to make mandatory the playing of the national anthem after each theatre performance. Motion picture interests are reported to have convinced the state solons the bill would merely confuse and disturb house management.

Under an 1885 statute exempting opera houses from certain taxes, the 400-odd theatres in Missouri may obtain exemptions, it was pointed out this week, after the state Supreme Court reversed a Circuit Court ruling against the St. Louis Amusement Company. That circuit had claimed exemption from a tax by St. Louis County on four of its theatres, adverting to the 1885 statute. The County Circuit Court ruled against the company, which then took its case to the higher court.

Andrew Hayforth and William Huhtala, Minnesota Representatives, last week pushed into their legislature a bill to prohibit "dime in the slot" motion picture machines in places selling either liquor or beer. The bill also would prevent showing of films as entertainment without revenue.

This last provision hits at use of 16-mm. machines for "featurettes," usually in taverns.

Wisconsin exhibitors seem to have defeated, for the time, a daylight saving bill in their legislature. After hearing exhibitors, the Senate Committee on Local and State Government last week recommended that the measure be postponed indefinitely.

The state's exhibitors are also watching the Westfahl bill, to give every non-agricultural worker in the state a 40 cents per hour minimum wage. The present state minimum wage law applies to women and minors, and lacks specific hourly wage provisions.

BRITISH CHEERED, THEATRE CLOSED

The police department in Belgrade, Yugoslavia, ordered a theatre in that city closed Monday following a disturbance by patrons when scenes in a newsreel showed King George and Queen Elizabeth inspecting bombed sections of the Mersey River in England, according to a dispatch telephoned to the New York Times from Belgrade. As the scenes were flashed on the screen the audience frantically applauded and whistled. The film was interrupted and a warning was flashed upon the screen that the reel would not be shown if the demonstration continued.

However, despite the warning, the demonstration of applause and cheers continued and the newsreel was again withdrawn. Five minutes later the police department ushered the patrons from the theatre.

20th CENTURY-FOX

is proud to announce the release of TOBACCO ROAD. By its very history as a play, it comes to the screen as one of the greatest theatrical properties of all time. 20th Century-Fox is happy that you who will play this attraction will derive profits measured only by its importance.

At Last ....
It's on the Sc
TOBACC
with CHARLEY GRAPEWIN · MARJORIE RAMBEAU · GE TIER een!

O ROAD PRODUCED BY
DARRYL F. ZANUCK
SCREEN PLAY BY NUNNALLY JOHNSON
A 20th CENTURY FOX PICTURE
Directed By JOHN FORD
WILLIAM TRACY
Dana ANDREWS
Ward BOND
SUMMERVILLE
MITCHELL
TILBURY

Sensible of the importance of this property, 20th Century-Fox protected its production as a motion picture with every possible value. The result is an authentic triumph for the motion picture art. You, as an exhibitor, will be proud to share in one of this industry's historic accomplishments.

Litho U.S.A.

ASIDES and INTERLUDES

By JAMES P. CUNNINGHAM

A QUARTER OF A CENTURY AGO, on the evening of January 27, 1916, a President of these United States, Woodrow Wilson, addressed this motion picture business, for the first time, on the subject matter of grave problems of the world and of the industry.

Many parallels are contained in that and in the scheduled address, Thursday night, of Franklin Delano Roosevelt, to the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences, on the occasion of the Hollywood dinner for the Academy's Annual Awards for meritorious performances of its stars and pictures of 1940, marking the second Presidential address to the industry in its history.

Both Presidents are to be known as World War presidents. Mr. Wilson administered his office during World War I; Mr. Roosevelt, in World War II. Both were Democratic Presidents. Both turned speaking attention to the industry as the industry leaders, on both occasions, were turning attention to a "new order" in their business.

Mr. Wilson personally traveled from the White House in Washington to the Hotel Biltmore at the invitation of the industry, to a banquet to launch the Motion Picture Board of Trade, which had been formed but a few weeks previously, and, through this, "to celebrate the amalgamation and the cooperation of each branch of the industry, for progression, protection and promotion—progression in the creation and maintenance of proper business ethics among ourselves." . . .

Now comes the second direct address by a President to the motion picture. He, also speaks at the industry's invitation, and also as the motion picture industry is again about to establish "a new order"; but an order that was forced by the strong arm of the United States Government, its Department of Justice and applied by the Federal Courts, taking the form of that consent decree settlement of the Government's prosecution of the industry in anti-trust matters.

Whereas President Wilson spoke to a comparatively small handful in motion pictures, in the grand ballroom of the Biltmore Hotel, President Roosevelt, by virtue of the very photo electric cell which gave the motion picture its voice, with sound pictures, addressed on Thursday, over the air, millions of listeners sitting tuned to their radio dials at their firesides. He spoke from the White House.

The Industry of That Day

Then, as now, the motion picture industry, like all others, was talking in 1916 of war in Europe and defense, patriotism and Americanism. New York's 1916 mayor, James Purroy Mitchel, who was later to die in an Army plane, pleaded with the industry at the Biltmore for preparedness in a military way.

Nostalgically we turn the pages of this trade press to read of President Wilson's visit in 1916 to an industry whose pages have turned rapidly down through the years over scores of those present on that January night. To most readers of this day, many names of those who sat at dinner with Wilson, will be unknown; to many others, the story of the evening's guests will be read as a "Who's Who" of motion pictures of a quarter of a century ago. The list of those present follows, in full; it is a list of stars and statesmen, producers and promoters; pioneers and picture people of all other kinds and description:

Mrs. Nellie Anderson. N. Anderson, L. W. Atwater, W. W. Atkinson, Herbert B. Atha, Mrs. Herbert B. Atha, Charles Abrams, J. J. Allen, J. Allen, Carl Anderson.

Hunter Bennett, C. E. Beecroft, Mrs. J. Stuart Blackton, Rex Beach, Belle Bruce, George Baker, Harold Bolster, Graham Baker, Capt. R. A. Bartlett, Miss Carolyn Bertch, Jack Brawn, Louise Beaudet, Van Dyke Brooke, Fred J. Beecroft, Eugene V. Brewster, Frank G. Barry, Mrs. Frank G. Barry, Harry D. Brewster, Leon J. Bamberger, George Balsdon, Fulton Brylavski, Mrs. George Blaisdell, Mr. Brown, Raymond S. Binder, Mrs. J. W. Binder, F. J. Bird, William Barry, J. A. Berst, George F. Blaisdell, Mrs. George F. Blaisdell, King Baggot, Albert H. T. Bauzhaf, George L. Barrows, Harry Benham, Mrs. Harry Benham, Whitman Bennett, Mr. Benton, Mrs. Benton, Charles Berner, Mrs. Charles Berner, Horace Boucher, Joe Brandt, William Brandt, Mrs. William Brandt. J. E. Brulatour, Mr. Burns, J. F. Byrnes, C. T. Bittner, William Bigall, L. F. Blumenthal, Mr. Henry Birrell, Alma Bertsch, Marguerite Bertsch, Mrs. Henry Birrell.

Naomi Childers, Howard Chandler Christy, Ethel Corcoran, F. K. Cannock, Charles R. Condon, Merritt Crawford, Harry J. Cohn, Charles T. Cahill, Paul H. Cromelin, John A. B. Cromelin, S. S. Cassard, J. F. Coufal, Clarence J. Cane, H. B. Cole, J. P. Chalmers, J. F. Chalmers, Miss E. J. Chalmers, Miss Katherine F. Carter, V. R. Carrick, Mrs. V. R. Carrick, Louis A. Cassanova, Robert W. Chambers, Mrs. Robert W. Chambers, Harvey A. Cochrane, Mrs. Harvey A. Cochrane, Mrs. Bainbridge Colby, George Cooke, R. H. Cochrane, Mrs. R. H. Cochrane, P. D. Cochrane, Mrs. P. D. Cochrane, Harry Cohn, Jack Cohn, Mrs. Jack Cohn, Morton R. Cross, Mrs. Harry A. Cochrane, Mr. M. B. Clausen, Mrs. M. B. Clausen, Mrs. Katherine Carter, R. T. Chatterton, Mr. Harry A. Cochrane.

Brylawski and King Baggott

Also, Frank Daniels, Mrs. B. S. Daniels, Harry Davenport, Edward L. Dohlny, Mrs. Edward L. Dohlny, W. H. Donaldson, Mrs. W. H. Donaldson, C. W. Deming, E. E. DeHart, W. A. Douglas, Lynde Denig, A. O. Dillenbeck, William Devereau, Basil Dickey, Mrs. Basil Dickey, G. K. Dillenback, Mark M. Dintenfass, E. B. Dunn.

Joseph W. Engel, Dr. William Engel, John A. Eckert, Edward Earl, Mrs. Edward Earl, M. H. Ellison, Miss M. Effinger, Arthur Edson, H. T. Edwards, Mrs. H. T. Edwards, J. A. Eslow, Mrs. J. A. Eslow.

Mrs. S. M. Field. Mr. Samuel M. Field, Mr. J. H. Finn, Miss Farrin, Felix S. Feist, Mrs. Felix S. Feist, R. T. Furman, John C. Flinn, Hugh Ford, Arthur S. Friend, Daniel Frohman, Kyran A. Fisher, M. Fischler.

Mr. J. C. Graham, R. G. Garrick, L. J. Gasnier, John W. Grey, J. E. Graef, Thomas Geistweit, Mrs. Thomas Geistweit, Miss Edith Geistweit, Frederick E. Gunnison, Lambert Guenther, W. C. Graham, Jesse J. Goldberg, Walter E. Greene, Joseph Golden, E. Kendall Gillett, Mrs. E. Kendall Gillett, H. Gainsborg, Lee Gainsborg, Paul Gulick, Miss Dorothy Gibson, Philip Gleichman, Mrs. Philip Gleichman, Charles W. Goddard, Mrs. Charles W. Goddard, Lew Golden, Samuel B. Goldfish, Ben Goetz, Mrs. M. Goldsmith, Earl Gulick, Paul Gulick.

C. B. Henkel, David Horsley, Mrs. Jewell Hunt, William Humphrey, Mrs. William Humphrey, E. H. Harris, Guy L. Harrington, Miss Florence Herrington, Miss E. M. Heinemann, Mrs. Mary E. Hewitt, George Herrington, Miss Clara Herrington, Lewis Hooper, F. F. Hartich, M. L. Haggerty, J. H. Hallberg, Mrs. J. H. Hallberg, E. D. Horkheimer, C. B. Harmon, Mrs. Alfred Hanan, Alfred Hanan, Charles N. Harding, Harry S. Harkness, William Hilkemeier, Fred Hawley, Edgar B. Hattrick, Miss Edna Harris, Lucius J. Henderson, Mrs. Lucius J. Henderson, Nathan Hirsh, Mrs. Nathan Hirsh, Kenneth Hodkinson, W. W. Hodkinson, Hugh Hoffman, M. H. Hoffman, Mrs. M. H. Hoffman, E. J. Hudson.

Hattrick, Hodkinson and Earl Hudson

Also, Mrs. Walter W. Irwin, Ralph Ince, Mrs. Ralph Ince.

Mrs. A. E. Jones, A. E. Jones, Miss Jones, D. M. Jones, Owen Johnson, Mrs. Owen Johnson, Eulalie Jensen, Arthur James, Herman Jans, Arthur Jacobs, William A. Johnston, Mrs. William A. Johnston, George H. Jordan.

Joseph Kilgour, Maxwell Karger, Allen Kander, Arthur Kane, A. A. Kaufman, George Kean, Charles Kessell, Dorothy Kelly, Stanley Kingsbury, Harley C. Knowles, E. W. Kramer, S. B. Kramer, Otto Krauss, Mr. G. Koenigswald, Mrs. G. Koenigswald, Mr. Arthur Leslie.

Miss Florence LaBadie, Capt. Harry Lambart, Rogers Lytton, Edwin M. La Roche, D. H. Lester, W. E. Lundgren, A. J. Lang, Edmund Lawrence, Harris Merton Lyon, Mrs. Carl Laemmle, Tracy H. Lewis, Al Lichtman, Mrs. Al Lichtman, Julien Loeb, Mrs. Julien Loeb, J. Lamy, H. C. Levine, Otto Lederer, Siegmund Lubin.

Eugene Mullin, Roy L. McCardell, Mrs. Dudley Field Malone, Mrs. Edwin Markham, Cleveland Moffett, Mrs. Hudson Maxim, Antonio Moreno, Mary Maurice, Harry Morey, Elmer MacIntosh, James Morrison, Gary McGarry, John H. McCooey, Miss Estelle J. Murphy, Charles Maddock, Felix Malitz, Joseph Miles, E. L. Masters, R. W. MacFarland, Lesley Mason, Mr. Mayelle, A. MacArthur, John F. Miller, Miss Violet Mersereau, Mrs. Mersereau, Claude MacGowan, Mrs. Edward A. McManus, J. J. McCarthy, Mrs. Harry Maillard, Hy. Mayer, R. O. Moon, Matt Moore, P. J. Morgan, Mrs. P. J. Morgan, Harry Myers, J. A. Milligan, Aubrey Mittenthal, Harrry Mittenthal, John Miller, H. S. McLeod, Kenneth Macgowan, W. J. Moore, J. F. McElveen, Mrs. Tom Moore, Mr. Tom Moore.

Terry Ramsaye and Adolph Zukor

Virginia Norden, Wilfred North, Mr. Nouberg, Walter H. Norden.

Mr. L. N. Olmstead, Lee A. Ochs, Evart Overton, Ingvald C. Oes, Henry Obstfield, Walton W. O'Hara, Mrs. Walton W. O'Hara, William Oldknow, Henry Otto.

Also, Mr. David Picker, Mrs. David Picker, H. H. Poppe, A. Popini, Mrs. V. B. Prophet, Kate Price, P. A. Parsons, Carl H. Pierce, Mrs. Carl H. Pierce, Paul Panzier, Samuel Paquin, Raymond Pawley, F. G. Perkins, P. A. Powers.

L. J. Rubinstein, Mrs. L. J. Rubinstein, Terry Ramsaye, J. B. Ritchey, A. F. Rock, Mrs. A. F. Rock, Charles Richman, Ronald A. Reader, I. T. Rogers, B. A. Rolfe, S. L. Rothapfel, Mrs. S. L. Rothapfel, Harry L. Reichenbach, Mrs. Harry L. Reichenbach, M. Ramirez-Torres, Saul E. Rogers, Frank H. Richardson, L. J. Reynolds, Mrs. L. J. Reynolds, Harry Rapf, Mrs. Harry Rapf, Arthur B. Reeve, Mrs. Arthur B. Reeve, John M. Riehle, Edward Roskam, Mrs. Edward Roskam, Joe Rosenthal, Watterson R. Rothacker, Mrs. Watterson R. Rothacker, Nat W. Rothstein.

Carl F. Siemon, Mr. P. B. S. Smith, Mrs. P. B. S. Smith, Mr. D. J. Sullivan, Mrs. D. J. Sullivan, Mrs. W. E. Shallenberger, G. H. Sheldon, Penrhyn Stanlaws, Mrs. William Cummings Storey, Victor Smith, Mrs. Victor Smith, William Shea, S. M. Spedon, William Stuart, Miss Mary Stuart, Anita Stewart, Mrs. M. Stewart, Paul Scardon, Max Spiegel, Edward Spiegel, Edward M. Saunders, Charles K. Stern, William Steiner, Victor Shapiro, A. I. Siegel, R. B. Simonson, Rufus Steele, Mrs. Rufus Steele, J. F. Skerritt, W. C. Smith, Frederick Stine, Mrs. Frederick Stine, George B. Seitz, Mrs. Rufus Steele, George A. Smith, William M. Seabury, Mrs. William M. Seabury, Peter Schmid, Winfield R. Sheehan, Robert J. Shores, Mrs. Robert J. Shores, R. Sanborn, E. E. Schauer, B. P. Schauer, J. M. Shear, F. W. Singhi, Edgar Sisson, Mrs. Edgar Sisson, Arthur M. Smallwood, Miss Agnes Smith, Miss Sarah Smith, Harry G. Sommers, Julius Stern.

Mr. Edwin Thanhouser, Mrs. Edwin Thanhouser, T. H. Thompson, Rose Tapley, Harvey F. Thew, W. C. Toomey, Albert Tuchman, Mr. Samuel Trigger, E. A. Turner.

Theodore Uhlemann.

Mr. F. E. Van Amberg, F. E. Van Amberg, Louis Joseph Vance, Mrs. Louis Joseph Vance, Wally Van.

Dr. Thurston S. Welton, Mrs. Thurston S. Welton, C. W. White, H. W. Williams, Mrs. C. J. Williams, C. J. Williams, Earle Williams, Lillian Walker, Dr. J. Victor Wilson, Arthur S. Whyte, A. C. Wyckoff, James M. Wood, Miss Margaret E. M. Wood, H. A. Wyckoff, Mrs. H. A. Wyckoff, Thomas G. Wiley, H. E. Willsie, Mrs. Honora Willsie, Lloyd D. Willis, John Wylie, John Ward, Alfred Wattenberg, Mrs. Alfred Wattenberg, Dickson Watts, Walter Weinstein, Ben Wells, Leo Wharton, Mrs. Leo Wharton, H. C. Weir, Mrs. H. C. Weir, William Welsh, Mrs. William Welsh, Edward C. White, Ben Wilson, Harry Wolff, Mrs. Harry Wolff, Otis F. Wood, George White, E. O. Weinberg.

M. Zierler, Adolph Zukor.

SHOWMEN'S REVIEWS

This department deals with new product from the point of view of the exhibitor who is to purvey it to his own public.

Tobacco Road

(20th Century-Fox)

Picturization of a Phenomenal Play

After making and breaking theatrical marks in metropolitan New York and various road stops around the country, this stage portrait of a backwoods clan from the "dirty white trash" caste has been transposed finally to the screen. Cautious exhibitors who may have heard rumors of the purple reputation of the original and, as a result of censorial and pulpit fulminations, may have been hesitant about the screen version, may put their fears to rest. Although still definitely adult program fare, the film translation, as compared with the original profane stage depiction of the "Lester" tribe and its collective woes, wants and wickedness, is almost Sunday school fare.

Emphasis is placed mainly on the family's economic wants with but the barest suggestion concerning the members' other worries or urges. The pig pen patois, which sent mixed stage theatre audiences into gales of ribald laughter has been rigorously gagged.

Equally put under rein have been the stud farm antics and concerns of the "Lesters," especially the grasping gestures and the early morning toilet pantomime of "Jeeter," the family head. The golden-haired daughter, "Pearl," whose refusal to bed with her husband, "Lov," caused some colorful stage dialogue discussion, has been eliminated from the script entirely but for a reference or two. "Ada," the mother, is allowed to finish the picture alive instead of becoming a victim of her husband's wife selling transactions.

The other daughter of the household, "Ellie May," is still on the make for her sister's husband but on the screen her amorous antics are more those of a love-sick adolescent than an oversexed barnyard brat. "Sister Bessie," the neighborhood's religion dispenser, has had her religious spiel and spouse seeking endeavors toned down and, although she does marry "Dude Lester," a mate young enough to be her son, her anxious anticipations of connubial consummation have been considerably iced down and there is no situation in the picture's rendition to compare with the stage scene wherein the Lesters form a collective gallery to spy on this private and personal transaction.

For showmen interested in stage statistics, which may be shaped into customer copy, it is a matter of record that the stage play first displayed its wares on New York's Broadway in 1933 and at the moment of writing is still on hand to run simultaneously with the picture's engagement. Besides its New York run, the play, according to report, has visited 291 cities in 42 states and has traveled a circuit the length of 110,000 miles. It has been claimed that 8,350,000 people have seen the stage show.

The characters and the conditions pictured in this vehicle, will cause obvious comparison with a preceding film production concerned with another underprivileged lot, "The Grapes of Wrath." As measured by the canons of the "Lester" mores, the "Joads" of "The Grapes of Wrath" may be considered social register folk.

The exhibition of the "Lester" lot is stark and sordid enough but the display is such as to irritate the spectators into judging the characters concerned to be deserving of their sad state, because they are so unwilling to improve their station.

Charley Grapewin assumes the fattest role of his career in the part of "Jeeter." Marjorie Rambeau, as bouncing "Sister Bessie" is capital as is also Elizabeth Patterson as the drudge mother and wife, "Ada." Gene Tierney plays an almost mute "Ellie May," minus the famed stage dressing for the part of a hair-lip, and has little to do except to curl up temptingly against a tree trunk. Ward Bond makes "Lov" a cry baby grownup and William Tracy screams and shouts the part of "Dude" until some of the audience may be driven to distraction.

The single themed situation for the screen treatment hinges upon the necessity of the "Lesters" raising one hundred dollars for payment of rent on their ramshackled family homestead. About to enter the district's poor farm, "Jeeter" and "Ada" are given temporary relief upon the donation of six months' rent from a family friend. However, every indication is given that with the passing of this time reprive, the "Lester" fortunes will be the same as before.

Seen at a late afternoon performance at the Roxy Theatre in New York City where the audience watched the presentation in non-committal silence.—JOSEPH F. COUGHLIN.

Produced and released by Twentieth Century-Fox. Producer, Darryl F. Zanuck. Director, John Ford. Screenplay by Nunnally Johnson. Adapted from the stage play "Tobacco Road" by Jack Kirkland. Based on the novel by Erskine Caldwell. Producers, Jack Kirkland and Harry H. Oshrin. Musical director, Alfred Newman. Director of Photography, Arthur Miller. Art directors, Richard Day, James Basevi. Set director, Thomas Little. Film editor, Barbara McLean. Sound, Eugene Grossman, Roger Heman. P.C.A. Certificate No. 6979. Running time when seen in New York, 84 minutes. Release date, March 7th. Adult audience classification.

CAST

Jeeter	Charley Grapewin
Sister Bessie	Marjorie Rambeau
Ellie May	Gene Tierney
Dude Lester	William Tracy
Ada Lester	Elizabeth Patterson
Dr. Tim	Dana Andrews
Peabody	Slim Summerville
Lov	Ward Bond
George Payne	Grant Mitchell
Grandma	Zeffie Tilbury
Chief of Police	Russell Simpson
County Clerk	Spencer Charters
Teller	Irving Bacon

The New York Press on "Tobacco Road"

HERALD-TRIBUNE—Howard Barnes

"All that 'Tobacco Road' might have been on the stage, all that it should have been to justify its record breaking run, is brilliantly realized in the screen adaptation. . . . The trio responsible for 'The Grapes of Wrath' last year has combined courage and artistry again to achieve a masterpiece."

THE TIMES—Bosley Crowther

"Right off the answer is no—and you who have entertained doubts that the screen version . . . might somewhat resemble the stage play may rest assured that it does not. As a matter of fact, it barely resembles a believable slice of life and just comes under the wire as an amusing but pointless film."

THE MIRROR—Lee Mortimer

"Though thoroughly denicotinized—and deloused—Darryl Zanuck's 'Tobacco Road' still satisfies . . . slick bit of film production. . . ."

THE DAILY WORKER—David Platt

"Its documentary quality focuses the attention of the nation on the plight of millions of distressed Americans and cries out for a defense program whose most important plank shall be first to render aid to the two-thirds of the population who are ill-fed and ill-housed."

DAILY NEWS—Kate Cameron

Miss Cameron gives the picture three of her four possible stars, and remarks: ". . . the picture resolves into a broad comedy. It's easy to laugh at these victims of the hookworm, because little sympathy has been woven into their story . . ."

THE SUN—Eileen Creelman

"All cleaned up, theme as well as characters prettified almost out of recognition . . . there is curiosity about the picture . . . if they had hopes of seeing the nastiness of the play repeated in the film they were disappointed. . . . 'Tobacco Road' is a nice clean comedy about a group of shiftless people . . . without injecting any social significance . . ."

THE POST—Archer Winsten

"More than anything else, what kept 'Tobacco Road' alive on the stage . . . was its ability to shock. In a hookwormy backwoods Georgia fashion it had vitality. The rigorous excision of that vitality in the movie version . . . is what helps the picture at the Roxy fall so flat."

JOURNAL-AMERICAN—Rose Pelswick

"Carefully whitewashed, minus the profanity and spade calling of the stage production on which it is based . . . emerges as a leisurely bucolic tale, a slowly paced narrative of life on a poverty stricken Southern farm."

WORLD-TELEGRAM—William Boehnel

"I think you should know, too, that on the screen 'Tobacco Road' is as pure and innocent as a two-year-old and that the only concern it has with the problem of these destitute Georgia farmers is a single line in which old Jeeter tells the banker who has come to collect the rent . . . that the rich should be made to give some money to the poor so they can till the soil. . . . Most of the acting is good. . . . The camera work is superb."

PM—Cecilia Ager

"I haven't seen 'Tobacco Road,' the play; I haven't read the book. But if you want to know what I think of 'Tobacco Road,' the movie—I think it's fine . . ."

The Lady Eve

(Paramount)

Adam and Eve Up to Date

Addressing to a consideration of sex under veneer the talent for humor which he turned upon politics in the rough for his "The Great McGinty," and upon luck on the loose for his Christmas in July," Preston Sturges offers in "The Lady Eve" a comedy for adults which stimulated a press audience of 250 to gales of laughter and to ecstacies of prediction that it would do the same for millions of theatregoers. The picture has in common with those successes the uncommonness of approach, viewpoint and treatment, of means and method of expression, which distinguish the Sturges way from the Lubitsch touch, the DeMille manner, the Pasternak gloss and all the other styles of past and present which have accounted for consistency in profit-making throughout the history of the screen.

In other hands the story of "The Lady Eve" might have emerged in any rut of routine from the risque to the dull. In Sturges' hands it is made to sizzle, to sparkle, sometimes to amaze, always to amuse and entertain. It is permitted at no time to be taken as other than comedy or as fashioned for purposes other than the theatrical.

The performances of the players contain surprises as well as diversion for the customers. Barbara Stanwyck exercises the wiles of Eve of tradition in the technique and raiment of 1941, surpassing in expertness and appearance most of the actresses who have made their reputations as sirens. Henry Fonda steps out of the earnestness in which he has specialized to participate in slapstickery, as the butt of the same, and again, at the close of the film, to manifest the attributes of Adam to Miss Stanwyck's Eve. Charles Coburn as a card-sharp, Eugene Pallette as a capitalist out of harmony with his setting, William Demarest as a body-guard and Eric Blore as a confidence-man add portrayals that give the picture depth, vigor and vitality.

Most of the action takes place on shipboard and on a millionaire's estate. Topics dealt with are topics adults deal with and the dealing with is done as adults do it. No effort has been made to interest children. (A serpent is used in two or three episodes at the beginning of the picture but the plot does not go back to it.)

Paul Jones, producer of the other pictures mentioned, continued here this association with Sturges.

Previewed in the Paramount studio theatre to the reaction above noted. — WILLIAM R. WEAVER.

Produced and released by Paramount Pictures. Written and directed by Preston Sturges. Sound mixer, Harry Lindgren. Film editor, Stuart Gilmore. Art director, Hans Dreier. Photographer, Victor Milner. P.C.A. No. 6801. Release date, March 31, 1941. Running time, when seen in Hollywood, 95 minutes. Adult audience classification.

CAST

Jean	Barbara Stanwyck
Charles	Henry Fonda
"Colonel Harrington"	Charles Coburn
Mr. Pike	Eugene Pallette
Muggsy	William Demarest
Sir Alfred McGlennan Keith	Eric Blore
Gerald	Melville Cooper
Martha	Martha O'Driscoll
Mrs. Pike	Janet Beecher
Burrows	Robert Greig
Gertrude	Dora Clement
Pike's Chef	Luis Alberni

Ellery Queen's Penthouse Mystery

(Columbia-Darmour)

Crime Melodrama

"Ellery Queen's Penthouse Mystery," second in the series of crime melodramas about and by Ellery Queen, which Larry Darmour is producing for Columbia release, concerns the attempts of criminals to hijack jewels sent from China to the United States to raise money for starving refugees. Slow in starting and lagging through much of its running time, the piece has little action.

Ralph Bellamy again plays the title role, of a detective-author. The cast regulars, Margaret Lindsay as his secretary, Charley Grapewin as the police inspector, James Burke, also appear, in addition to Anna May Wong, Eduardo Cianelli, Frank Albertson, Noel Madison and others.

The wide following of the "Ellery Queen" radio program and novels will be an added source of boxoffice patrons to draw upon for this.

James Hogan directed.

Previewed at RCA projection room.—V. K.

Produced by Larry Darmour for Columbia release. Directed by James Hogan. Original story by Ellery Queen. Photographed by James S. Brown, Jr. Edited by Dwight Caldwell. Assistant director, Carl Hiecke. P.C.A. Certificate No. 7008. Running time, when seen in Hollywood, 65 minutes. Release date, March 21, 1941. General audience classification.

CAST

Ellery Queen	Ralph Bellamy
Nikki Porter	Margaret Lindsay
Inspector Queen	Charley Grapewin
Sergeant Velie	James Burke
Lois Ling	Anna May Wong
Count Brett	Edward Cianelli
Sanders	Frank Albertson
Sheila Cobb	Ann Doran
Gordon Cobb	Noel Madison
Doc Prouty	Charles Lane
Walsh	Russell Hicks
McGrath	Tommy Dugan

Nice Girl?

(Universal)

Deanna Durbin Matures

The answer to the question asked by the title of this Joe Pasternak production in the tradition of Deanna Durbin films is, of course, affirmative, and although the story has the townspeople wondering whether it is or not, for quite a while, the audience is not left in the dark on the matter for a moment. Thus, although the material is of a maturity beyond the young lady's previous assignments, the picture retains the charm and freshness which has distinguished all of them.

That the star's talent for acting is maturing may be noted by reference to the cast of associates assembled for her this time. Franchot Tone plays a city man of whom the small town girl becomes enamoured, although she recovers from this emotion and resumes her romance with the small town beau played by Robert Stack. Robert Benchley plays the girl's father with his flair for comedy tinctured now and again with seriousness. All members of the cast have their opportunities and contribute their shares to the whole in a manner to distribute interest and emphasis with profit to the enterprise, a characteristic of the Pasternak method.

Although Miss Durbin sings five songs in the film, there is less accent on her musical talent than has been given it in most of her pictures, more accent upon her acting talent. The film ends with a patriotic sequence in which Miss Durbin sings "Thank You America" to a company of soldiers in the aviation corps, a touch of timeliness showmen may merchandise.

Direction is by William A. Seiter, art direction by Jack Otterson, both adding much of pleasantness and sparkle to a story which is in itself compounded of situations used many times for many purposes.

Previewed for the press at the studio following a dinner party to which the guests came through what Southern California calls "a deep dew," arriving damp and in no mood for disappointment. The film sent them home with the feeling that wet feet and such matters were a small price to pay for the entertainment enjoyed.—W.R.W.

Produced and distributed by Universal. Producer, Joe Pasternak. Director, William A. Seiter. Art direction, Jack Otterson. Photographed by Joseph Valentine. Edited by Bernard W. Burton. Music by Stephen Foster, Aldo Francheti and Andres De Segurola, Jacques Press and Eddie Cherkose, Walter Jurmann and Bernie Grossman. P.C.A. Certificate 7101. Release date, February 21, 1941. Running time, when seen in Hollywood, 95 minutes. General audience classification.

CAST

Jane Dana	Deanna Durbin
Richard Calvert	Franchot Tone
Hector Titus	Walter Brennan
Don Webb	Robert Stack
Oliver Dana	Robert Benchley
Cora Foster	Helen Broderick
Nancy Dana	Ann Gillis
Sylvia Dana	Anne Gwynne

Flying Wild

(Monogram)

Espionage Melodrama

Monogram's "East Side Kids" are featured in "Flying Wild," a melodrama dealing with saboteurs and spies stealing plane plans from the factory in which the youths work. After a series of adventures marked by suspense, action and comedy, the gang discovers the criminals and captures them. Many of the events are implausible.

Leo Gorcey and Bobby Jordan are features in the billing, and supporting them are Joan Barclay, Dave O'Brien, George Pembroke, Sunshine Sammy Morrison, David Gorcey, Donald Haines, Eugene Francis, Bobby Stone, Herbert Rawlinson, Dennis Moore, Forrest Taylor and Bob Hill.

Sam Katzman produced the picture, the fifth in the "East Side Kids" series, with Pete Mayer as his associate. William West directed.

Previewed at Monogram projection room in Hollywood to a press and professional audience which enjoyed the offering.—V. K.

Produced and released by Monogram Pictures. Sam Katzman, producer. Director, William West. Assistant directors, Art Hammon and Herman Pett. Photographer, Fred Jackman, Jr. Film editor, Robert Golden. Sound, Glen Glenn. Production manager, E. W. Rote. P.C.A. No. 7071. Release date, March 10, 1941. Running time when seen in Hollywood, 63 minutes. General audience classification.

CAST

Muggs	Leo Gorcey
Danny	Bobby Jordan
Skinny	Donald Haines
Peewee	David Gorcey
Louie	Bobby Stone
Scruno	Sunshine Sammy Morrison
Algie	Eugene Francis
Helen	Joan Barclay
Mr. Reynolds	Herbert Rawlinson
Dr. Nagel	George Pembrooke

Father's Son

(Warner Bros.)

Life with Junior

This homey, wholesome, domestic visit to the household of the "Emory" family provides lifelike moments of general family entertainment. Taken from a tale by Booth Tarkington, the Father-son (not to mention mother) discussion is itemized with pictorial evidence that could have happened to any normal family. The elaboration of the parental problems is done simply. John Litel and Frieda Inescort are a typical husband and wife and young Billy Dawson is a healthy, energetic youngster. Scenes of Father trying to read his evening paper, as his young offspring flies his mechanical aeroplane around the living room, kid roughhouse with the corner gang and family sessions at the dinner table are some of the incidents that give the narrative a fresh and true-to-life appearance.

"Master Emory" is an engaging youngster until he devises a plan to reconcile his feuding

(Continued on page 41)

THE HOLLYWOOD SCENE

Product Up

Marked by the heavy rain characteristic of the season, inevitably referred to by a Chamber of Commerce minded citizenry as "high fog," the week nonetheless saw an upsurge in production activity.

Compared to the five pictures completed last week, 11 were finished during the past seven days, and 10 were started, one more than the week before. However, the number shooting dropped by one, to 41.

The same number of films were being prepared, 15, while the number being edited, jumped from 67 to 72.

The week's tabulation:

COMPLETED

COLUMBIA
Under Age
North from the Lone Star
GLORIA PROD. (UA)
New Wine
MONOGRAM
Sign of the Wolf
PRODUCERS RELEASING
Federal Fugitives
PARAMOUNT
Power Dive
RKO
Repent at Leisure
20TH-FOX
The Cowboy and the Blonde
UNIVERSAL
The Lady from Cheyenne Model Wife
WARNERS
Miss Wheelwright Discovers America

STARTED

COLUMBIA
Chain Gang
MGM
Lady Be Good
MONOGRAM
Tumbledown Ranch in Arizona
PARAMOUNT
Pioneer Woman
Hold Back the Dawn
Nurses Don't Tell
RKO
Tom, Dick and Harry
REPUBLIC
Two Gun Sheriff
UNIVERSAL
Hit the Road
The Black Cat

SHOOTING

COLUMBIA
She Knew All the Answers
Her First Beau
Senate Page Boys
MGM
Billy the Kid
A Woman's Face
Blossoms in the Dust
Love Crazy
Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde
The Uniform
PARAMOUNT
One Night in Lisbon
Caught in the Draft
Kiss the Boys Goodbye
Skylark
RKO
Sunny
Before the Fact
REPUBLIC
Sis Hopkins
Mr. District Attorney
In Old Cheyenne
20TH-FOX
Blood and Sand
The Great American Broadcast
UNIVERSAL
The Flame of New Orleans
Oh, Charlie
Unfinished Business
Double Date
WARNERS
The Bride Came C. O. D.
Affectionately Yours
Sergeant York
Three Sons O' Guns
Highway West
The Gentle People
The Nurse's Secret

One short subject was started and none were finished.

△

Jean Gabin, French stage and motion picture star, was reported to have left Marseilles for Hollywood over last weekend.

RAZOR RESEARCH

Deep in the recesses of RKO Radio's barber shop, in the same building which houses that studio's commissary, works one Johnny Tringali.

Mr. Tringali, professionally, is a wielder of brush and razor, shears and strop. But, like many another, he, too, has his dreams, here translated into the realm of by-lines and printers' ink.

Mr. Tringali is what used to be called a "go-getter", before a certain coterie down Washington way made the group into economic royalists, actual or incipient. And so, in the Barbers' Trade Journal there is to appear a monthly column authored by Mr. Tringali.

The column's title: "Shavings from Hollywood".

In the Blood

"Scattergood Baines," first film based on Clarence Buddington Kelland's famous character of the good, grey sage of Coldriver, is now in national release, and plans have been set by Pyramid Productions for a mid-March start on the second of the series which RKO is releasing.

According to Jerrold Brandt, youthful head of the producing company, and son of the late Joe Brandt, the new picture may be titled after the forthcoming Baines book, "Scattergood Pulls the Strings," due to reach the book stores early in March. If done, it would not be out of the ordinary so far as the series is concerned, exploitation and promotion on a national scale having marked the project since its inception.

Already familiar to exhibitors is the plan whereby the Wrigley company is buying some 2,000,000 tickets to the picture, as previously reported in the pages of MOTION PICTURE HERALD. The film was also given premieres in Montpelier and Burlington, Vermont, attended by state and civic leaders and by title rolist Guy Kibbee, who has been signed to a three picture a year contract by Pyramid, for purposes of the series.

The showmanship marking the entry of the Brandt pictures (there will be three this season, another three in 1941-42) would seem to be a matter of inclination as well as inheritance. Son of the co-founder, with Harry and Jack Cohn, of the C.B.C. Sales Company, which later became Columbia Pictures, with the elder Brandt as president before selling out in 1932, the Pyramid head got his first film experience in the cutting room at Universal, which company Joe Brandt had also helped found.

Entering Universal after graduation from the University of Pennsylvania's Wharton School of Business Administration, Jerrold went on from there to Columbia, where he stayed in the cutting room and as an assistant director until January, 1940.

Leaving Columbia in order to work on the deal which was to bring him the Kelland stories, he concluded the agreement in May, when rights were purchased to all the "Scattergood" tales, past, present and future, for $100,000. At present this amounts to approximately 100 stories, including three books. Save for a very few which appeared elsewhere, all the material has been published in the American Magazine, which now boasts a circulation of better than 2,250,000. Over the last 23 years, a minimum of three of the "Baines" yarns have appeared there annually.

Meanwhile, Mr. Kelland continued to write some half dozen of the stories a year, besides his other work, already known, film-wise, through Columbia's picturization of "Arizona" and "Mr. Deeds Goes to Town," among others.

With preparations at the Pyramid offices on the RKO Pathe lot continuing in behalf of the second "Scattergood" feature, the producer reported further exploitation for the first. The radio program using the Kelland character, heard five times weekly over 78 CBS stations, will mention the picture for a six week period, with the film's director, Christy Cabanne, "discovering" the character of "Scattergood" on the air. Local spot announcements will also be used. Showmanship does not appear to have been separated for long from the Brandt name.

▽

Darryl F. Zanuck as Chairman of the Research Council of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences, has requested the producing companies' approval to the adoption of a standard method of lens calibration.

In communication to the studio executives, Mr. Zanuck said the Research Council's opinion that the adoption of an arbitrary standard of lens calibration employed on studio production cameras would completely eliminate the difficulty of the large variation of calibration, resulting in many scene retakes, at its source at comparatively small cost.

▽

Lewis J. Rachmil, art director for the Hopalong Cassidy pictures produced by Harry Sherman at Paramount, has been made an associate producer of Sherman productions.

The Paramount studio publicity department has added Murphy McHenry, former publicity director for Edward Small and Richard A. Rowland, to its roster.

Mark Hellinger, associate producer for Warner Brothers, has submitted his resignation to studio officials. He said he probably would remain until his next assignment, "Hard to Get," is completed.

"The Hardys are in town!"

"The Hardys are in town!"

"The Hardys are in town!"

"THE HARDYS ARE IN TOWN!"

LEWIS STONE
MICKEY ROONEY
FAY HOLDEN
Ann Rutherford
Sara Haden
Ian Hunter and
KATHRYN GRAYSON
Directed by GEORGE B. SEITZ
Screen Play by Jane Murfin and Harry Ruskin
A Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Picture

THE BEST YET AND THAT MEANS TERRIFIC!

ANDY HARDY'S PRIVATE SECRETARY

SHOWMEN'S REVIEWS OF PRODUCT

(Continued from page 37)

parents. The couple had separated when Mother objected to Father's discipline of Junior for the boy's rough and tumble conduct. "Mrs. Emory," even under a separate and less contentious roof, grieved for her original domicile and it is Sonny's scheme to fake a kidnapping that brings the pair together. When Mom learns of the trickery behind the plan, she puts into practice the ancient child guidance slogan of "not sparing the rod," etc.

Seen at the Palace Theatre on New York's Broadway, on a bill with "High Sierra." An afternoon audience found some material in the domestic revelations to chuckle over.—JOSEPH F. COUGHLIN.

Produced and distributed by Warner Brothers. Director, D. Ross Lederman. From a story by Booth Tarkington. Director of photography, Allen G. Siegler. Art director, Charles Novi. Dialogue director, Harry Semour. Film editor, Frank Magee. Gowns, Milo Anderson. Sound, Dolph Thomas. Makeup, Perc Westmore. P.C.A. Certificate No. 6867. Release date, February 1, 1941. Running time, 57 minutes. General audience classification

CAST

William Emory	John Litel
Ruth Emory	Frieda Inescort
Bill Emory	Billy Dawson
Lunk Nelson	Christian Rub
Della	Bernice Pilot
Vestibule	Philip Hurlic
Junior Stewart	Sammy McKim
Berries Sweeney	Sonny Bupp
Danny	Scotty Beckett
Mrs. Stewart	Myra Marsh
Tex	John Dilson
Gus	George Lloyd
Mrs. Sweeney	Inez Gay

The Dream of the Butterfly

(Esperia Film Co.)

"Madame Butterfly" Parallel

The tragic tale of the little Japanese maid who loved well but none too wisely the handsome American naval officer of Puccini's opera, "Madame Butterfly," is heard in part in this Italian importation and is connected closely with a similar story that befalls the lady lead of the picture. The production is given a lavish mounting and the cast as a whole performs adequately. The highlight of the show is the extensive reproduction of scenes from the operatic masterpiece and besides this musical spread there are recorded brief strains from the music of Chopin, Donizetti, Grieg, Liszt, Schubert and Straus.

"Rosa Belloni," a rising Italian operatic star, falls in love with "Harry Peters," a struggling pianist. When her love goes off to America to pursue his career, "Rosa" fails to tell him the news of her pregnancy for fear that such information will supset his concert plans. After many years of separation, the lovers re-meet on the occasion of a performance of "Madame Butterfly," but "Peters," in the the meantime, has taken to himself an American bride and fathered a child as well. "Rosa," aware of the heartbreak comparison between herself and the heroine of the Puccinni work, performs the role with additional dramatic force and realism.

A crowded afternoon house at the Cine Roma Theatre in New York City awarded the film loud and extended applause at its conclusion.—J. F. C.

A Grandi Film Storici production. Distributed. by Esperia Film Distributing Co Director, Carmine Gallone. Music, Puccini, Chopin, Donizetti, Grieg, Liszt, Schubert and J. Straus. Musical adaptation and direction, Luigi Ricci English titles, Armando Macaluso. No P.C.A. Certificate No. Release date, February 12, 1941. Running time, 96 minutes. Adult audience classification.

CAST

Rosa Belloni	Maria Cebotari
Harry Peters	Fosco Giachetti
Mary Peterson	Germana Paolieri
Riccardo Belli	Luigi Almirante
Little Harry	Gioacchino

The Hard-Boiled Canary

(Paramount)

Musical Novelty

This is a film for lovers of music, orchestral, instrumental and vocal, featuring above the professional actors in the cast some scores of children trained at the music center in Interlachen, Michigan, plus Richard Bonelli, Richard Hageman and Irra Pettina of grand opera. The music is of the classical school for the most part, including a sequence in which "Carmen" and "Faust" are sung in alternation and, for a time, in unison. From the purely musical point of view, the film affords a plenitude of entertainment.

Screen talent present, providing the story framework on which the music is strung, includes Allan Jones and Susanna Foster, both of whom participate in the singing, Margaret Lindsay, Lynne Overman, Grace Bradley and William Collier, Sr., who do not. (Deems Taylor appears briefly in the opening sequence, as Deems Taylor).

In contrast to the classical character of the music which gives the picture its major appeal, the opening sequence depicts a burlesque show with a striptease performance in progress which is interrupted by a police raid. Present is the young man whose father founded the music camp. He rescues a burlesque girl, takes her to the camp and enrolls her as a student. Her conversion to school ideals is accomplished by the children and she saves the school, economically, by starring in an operatic novelty which stimulates the school sponsors to continue their support of the enterprise.

Production and direction are by Andrew L. Stone.

Previewed at studio.—W.R.W.

Produced and distributed by Paramount. Production and direction by Andrew L. Stone. Photographed by Theodore Sparkuhl. Edited by James Smith. Musical numbers by Coehto Tovani, Meyerbeer, Johann Strauss, Franz Liszt, John Phillips Sousa, Aton Rubenstein, Franz Schubert, Johannes Brahms, Grieg, Bizet, Gounod, Ann Ronell, Frederick Hollander, Ed Rose and A. Olman. P.C.A. Certificate No. 6475. Release date, March 7, 1941. Running time, when seen at studio, 80 minutes. General audience classification.

CAST

Michael Maddy	Allan Jones
Toodles LaVerne	Susanna Foster
Sylvia Worth	Margaret Lindsay
George Thomas	Lynne Overman
Maidie Duvalle	Grace Bradley
Dr. Joseph E. Maddy	William Collier, Sr.
Heimo Haitto	Heimo Haitto
Kaye Connor	Kaye Connor
William Chapman	William Chapman
Dolly Loehr	Dolly Loehr
Patricia Travers	Patricia Travers
Richard Bonelli	Richard Bonelli
Richard Hageman	Richard Hageman
Irra Petina	Irra Petina

Outlaws of the Rio Grande

(Producers Releasing Corp.)

Tim McCoy Western

The chief trigger man in this gun and galloping extravaganza is Tim McCoy who from his many past experiences in such situations can draw a firearm or smack an opponent to the dust as quickly as any of the rising younger generation of the saddle set. In his present predicament, Tim appears as a border marshal who is out to bag a gang of counterfeiters, unmask their leader and revenge the death of a pal. The objective is finally accomplished after travail.

Peter Stewart staged the battle bouts and over-hill-over-dale racing events for producer Sigmund Neufeld. Virginia Carpenter figures as the non-essential girl element, who for a time appears to be allied with the outlaw clique but subsequent twists of the plot reveal her as a fearful daughter forced into her unwelcome alliance by the fact that the gang of cutthroats have captured her father. Ralph Peters, as a sidekick of McCoy's, supplies moments of comedy relief. Charles King, Karl Hackett and Rex Lease are a few of the bronco busters involved in the prairie proceedings.

Previewed in New York.—J. F. C.

Produced by Sigmund Neufeld Director, Peter Stewart. Director of photography, Jack Greenhalgh. Sound, Hans Weeren. Settings, Ernest Graber. Assistant director, Melville de Lay. Film editor, Holbrook N. Todd. Production manager, Bert Sternback. P.C.A. Certificate No. 7066. Release date, March 7, 1941. Running time, 53 minutes. General audience classification.

CAST

Tim	Tim McCoy
Rita	Virginia Carpenter
Trigger	Charles King
Monty	Ralph Peters
Marlow	Karl Hackett
Luke	Rex Lease
Pancho	Phillips Turich
Brett	Frank Ellis
Bob	Ken Duncan
Alvarado	Thornton Edwards
Castro	Joe Dominguez

Prairie Pioneers

(Republic)

Western

The Three Mesquiteers vary the formula somewhat in this one. Two of them have a tiff and are not on speaking terms for most of the picture. The setting is California in the days of the pioneers and the plot centers around disputes between the landed Spanish and the newly arrived Americanos, a situation fanned by the adroit manipulations of a half-Spanish, half-American villain interested in furthering his nefarious plans.

The Mesquiteers are Robert Livingston as "Stony Brooke," Bob Steele as "Tucson Smith" and Rufe Davis as "Lullaby Joslin." The girl is Esther Estrella as "Dolores Ortega" and the villains are Davidson Clark as "Carlos Montoya" and Ken MacDonald as "Fields."

The Mesquiteers are collectively of little avail in stemming the plans of the villains during the greater part of the film but when "Stony" and "Tucson" finally settle their little argument things perk up and the boys go to town in rounding up the bad element and in freeing "Dolores'" brother, about to be shot for a trumped-up murder conviction.

Reviewed in a projection room in New York.—PAUL C. MOONEY, JR.

Produced and distributed by Republic. Associate producer, Louis Gray. Directed by Lester Orlebeck. Based on characters created by William Colt MacDonald. Production manager, Al Wilson. Photographed by Ernest Miller. Editor, Ray Synder. P.C.A. Certificate No. 7023. Running time, 58 minutes. Release date, Feb. 16, 1941. General audience classification.

CAST

Stony Brooke	Robert Livingston
Tucson Smith	Bob Steele
Lullaby Joslin	Rufe Davis
Dolores Ortega	Esther Estrella
Roberto Ortega	Robert Kellard
Don Miguel	Guy D'Ennery
Carlos Montoya	Davison Clark
Wade	Jack Ingram
Fields	Ken MacDonald
Nelson	Lee Shumway
Martha Nelson	Mary MacLaren
Morrison	Yakima Canutt
Al	Jack Kirk

Blondie Goes Latin

(Columbia)

Comedy with Music

A showman setting out to broaden the appeal of the "Blondie" series, which appears to have been also the intent of the producer, can announce that "Blondie Sings—Dances the Conga" and that "Dogwood Swings the Drums." He can add, if reaction of a preview audience is indicative, that they do it well.

(Continued on following page)

REVIEWS OF FEATURES AND SHORTS

(Continued from preceding page)

The picture in which this broadening of the base of appeal is achieved is in some measure a departure from series precedent. There is less emphasis on the domestic side, and on the business activities of the head of the house and his employer, more accent on romance—husband and wife suspecting each other of external interests—and there is song, dance and floor-show entertainment. The scene is a ship bound for South America, all the Bumsteads being aboard as guests of "Dagwood's" employer, although "Dagwood" is not supposed to be and therefore masquerades as lady drummer in the ship's band. "Baby Dumpling" and the dog are also aboard but figure somewhat less prominently in the story than they have in past films.

Frank R. Strayer again directed, Robert Sparks producing.

Previewed at the Alexander theatre, Glendale, to a press turnout secretly conveyed by bus to the destination and to a midweek audience which had braved a "most unusual" downpour to attend the theatre without knowledge that a preview was to be witnessed. This damp gathering indicated by loud and repeated laughter that they were glad to be present.—W.R.W.

Produced and distributed by Columbia. Producer, Robert Sparks. Director, Frank R. Strayer. Story by Quinn Martin. Photographed by Henry Freulech. Edited by Gene Havlick. P.C.A. Certificate No. 6845. Release date, February 27, 1941. Running time, when seen in Glendale, 68 minutes. General audience classification.

CAST

Blondie ..... Penny Singleton
Dagwood ..... Arthur Lake
Baby Dumpling ..... Larry Simms
Daisy ..... Himself
Lovey Nelson ..... Ruth Terry
Don Rodriguez ..... Tito Guizar
J. C. Dithers ..... Jonathan Hale
Alvin Fuddle ..... Danny Mummert
Mailman ..... Irving Bacon
Little Girl ..... Janet Burston
Hal Tren ..... Kirby Grant

It Happened to One Man

(RKO Radio)

British Melodrama

Based on the English play "A Gentleman of Adventure" by Roland Pertwee and John Hastings Turner, this British-made production is an interesting study of a financial wizard whose unscrupulous brokerage activities bring disgrace upon his family and imprisonment for himself.

Directed by Paul L. Stein, the firm version stars Wilfrid Lawson who has been seen in such recent productions as "Allegheny Uprising" and the English-made motion picture which James Roosevelt is distributing in this country, "Pastor Hall."

Lawson is seen as "Felton Quair," sent to prison for his financial manipulations and who, upon his release, finds that his family have turned again him. He leaves the country only to return with a new found romance and a legitimate business idea. "Quair" accidently runs afoul of his wife while trying to establish his new business. Believing that the only thing to do is to expose himself to his partners and stockholders he does, and again leaves the country to establish his business elsewhere, this time for the approval of his son who has remained faithful.

In the supporting roles are Nora Swinburne as the wife who leaves her husband, Marta Labarr, as the third party in a marital triangle, and Ivan Brandt in a role of an English landowner and farmer who encourages the legitimate business idea until the true identity of "Quair" is revealed.

Reviewed at the Little Carnegie theatre in New York at an early afternoon showing attended by only a few persons, who watched the picture attentively.—GEORGE SPIRES.

Produced in England by Victor Hanbury and released in the United States by RKO. Paul L. Stein, director. From a play by Roland Pertwee and John Hastings Turner. Screen play by Paul Merzbach and Nina Jarvis. Running time, 80 minutes. No P.C.A. number. Release date, not set. Adult audience classification.

CAST

Felton Quair ..... Wilfrid Lawson
Alice ..... Nora Swinburne
Yvonne ..... Marta Labarr
Leonard Drayton ..... Ivan Brandt
Ackroyd ..... Reginald Tate
Jack Quair ..... Brian Worth
Admiral Drayton ..... Edmond Breon
Betty Quair ..... Patricia Roc
Lord Kenley ..... Athole Stewart
Ronnie ..... Thorley Walters

SHORT SUBJECTS

Information Please, No. 6

(RKO Pathe)

The Experts Gather

Although not of legendary stature yet, the permanent board of experts of the "Information Please" series are heading in that direction. Like old wine they improve with age and now that they are no longer novices in front of a camera they appear less sheepish and more informal and it is that informality that contributes much to the continued interest in the series. Composed entirely of visual queries the session has more audience appeal and inherent participation than any of its predecessors. Jan Struther, author of "Mrs. Miniver," joins Oscar Levant, John Kieran and Franklin P. Adams in countering the verbal thrusts of Clifton Fadiman.—Running time, 11 minutes.

Eyes on Brazil

(RKO Pathe)

Good Neighbor Report

Photographed and narrated by Julien Bryan, who photographed "Siege," this is an interesting subject on Brazil. Whether it is documentary or propaganda depends on the viewer's viewpoint but at any rate the subject matter covered is much in the news and is ably presented. The theme could be summed up in a Brazilian nut shell as follows: The populous and prosperous southern district of Brazil is predominantly German and Germany has not forgotten that fact, while on the other hand, Brazilians admire and are friendly to the United States. Which way will Brazil turn?—Running time, 11 minutes.

Proof of the Pudding

(Metropolitan Life - Paramount)

Food for Health

The Metropolitan Life Insurance Company continues its series of health subjects, distributed and presented under the sponsorship of local health authorities, with this one-reel short on the values of foods. Produced by Paramount in Technicolor for the insurance company, the film shows graphically and by the example of white rats and a typical low budget family, the values of common foods and the proportions necessary to maintain and protect good health. Technical and medical terms and explanations are avoided. The film was shown for three days this week in the Radio City Music Hall with a leader announcing that it was sponsored by the New York City Board of Health. It will be distributed by Metropolitan Life in a state-by-state campaign.—Running time, 10 minutes.

Third Dimensional Murder

(Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer)

Metroscopix

This is the third third-dimensional short subject MGM has made and it is the first that has story continuity. It is one of those subjects where the viewer needs glasses, one red lens and one green, but it is well worth the effort of holding on to the cardboard lenses for the viewer becomes a part of the proceedings. It is rather unnerving, especially for the timid soul, as the mystery is, so to speak, dropped right in the lap of the audience. No matter that one is aware that the happenings on the screen still come out of the can, the law of self-preservation is responsible for much ducking and screaming when a variety of objects are "tossed" at the audience. It's a lot of fun. Running time, 7 minutes.

More About Nostradamus

(Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer)

Miniature

A sequel to the short subject "Nostradamus" made two years ago, this interprets and dramatizes additional passages from the fourteenth century seer's "Prophetic Centuries." Among the predictions of Nostradamus as interpreted by the subject were the first World War and the present conflict. It is an interesting subject. Carey Wilson, narrator, at the end asks the audience: "What do you think?" Running time, 11 minutes.

Trailing the Incas

(Central Films)

Peru

Philip M. Brown's latest subject in his series of travel films is Peru, featuring the works of the Inca Indians dating back hundreds of years. Narrated by John Martin, who also handled the narration in preceding subjects, the habits and ways of the Peruvian natives today are shown while the camera brings to the audiences the Inca cities and the masonry construction that have weathered hundreds of years. Photography by Jules Bucher enlightens the subject with interesting studies of the Peruvians at work and play. The film, printed on tinted stock, runs ten minutes.

International Forum, No. 1

(Columbia)

Round Table of Screen

First of a projected series, this two-reel subject has Dorothy Thompson, Wythe Williams, William L. Shirer and Linton Wells, commentators of radio fame, in what is planned as an informal discussion of current war events. Parts of their discussion are illustrated with animated maps and with interspersed newsreel footage. Plans for the series indicate the cast of commentators will be varied in each release. —Running time, 18 minutes.

Variety Reel

(Republic)

Meet the Stars

This is the third of 12 short subjects entitled "Meet the Stars," Harriet Parsons is making for Republic release. There are four settings: a kid fashion show at the Mark Twain Restaurant, between scenes at Republic studio, Louella Parson's Ranch and the Redbook Award at Ciro's. In the latter setting Doug-

SHORT PRODUCT PLAYING BROADWAY

Week of February 22

CAPITOL
- Beautiful Bali ..... MGM
- Schoolboy Dreams ..... Columbia
- Feathers ..... Columbia
- Feature: Go West ..... MGM

CRITERION
- You, the People ..... MGM
- Feature: Maisie Was a Lady .. MGM

MUSIC HALL
- March of Time, No. 9 ..... RKO Radio
- Feature: Mr. and Mrs. Smith . RKO Radio

PARAMOUNT
- Seeing Is Believing ..... Paramount
- Western Daze ..... Paramount
- Feature: You're the One .... Paramount

RIALTO
- Training Police Horses ..... 20th Cent.-Fox
- Johnny Messner and His Orchestra ..... Paramount
- Fightin' Pals ..... Paramount
- Feature: Meet Boston Blackie . Columbia

RIVOLI
- Picture People, No. 5 ..... RKO Radio
- Mr. Mouse Takes a Trip ... RKO Radio
- Feature: Back Street ..... Universal

ROXY
- The Home Guard ..... 20th Cent.-Fox
- The Modern Highway ..... 20th Cent.-Fox
- Sentinels of the Caribbean .. 20th Cent.-Fox
- Feature: Tobacco Road ..... 20th Cent.-Fox

STRAND
- Elmer's Pet Rabbit ..... Vitaphone
- Points for Pointers ..... Vitaphone
- Take the Air ..... Vitaphone
- Feature: Strawberry Blonde .. First National

las Churchill, representing the magazines, introduces Bette Davis, previous winner, who in turn presents the 1940 award to Martha Scott for "Our Town." Some three-score Hollywood celebrities are seen. Running time, 9 minutes.

2,000 Years of France

(French Cinema Center)

History of France

Herein is presented a history of France accompanied with a running commentary of the numerous events in the chronology of the country from the time of the construction of its huge castles and fortifications to protect the country from invasion, through the days of Joan of Arc and the Battle of Orleans and the period preceding the present war. Highlight of the production is the annual church celebration of St. Joan of Orleans with the masses and street parades celebrating it.—Running time, ten minutes.

Timber

(RKO-Disney)

Donald Duck

Donald Duck in the tall timber country is something to see. Matched with the powerful Pierre, timber foreman, Donald has all the footmarks of a city-bred weakling. And Donald takes a terrific beating trying to handle an axe and a long saw but, oddly, it is Pierre who takes the worst beating. That Donald sure has luck. It is another entertaining subject from the Walt Disney studio.—Running time, 8 minutes.

U. S. USING FREE FILMS TO PROMOTE TOURING

Federal Bureau Reports Capacity Attendance at Daily Shows Promoting U. S. Traveling

Motion pictures definitely have proved their value as a number one promotional medium for the United States Travel Bureau, officials of the New York office assert, and the division of the Department of the Interior devoted to stimulating domestic tourist trade is going ahead with plans to expand the Bureau's program of free travel film exhibitions.

An average weekly audience of 1,500 persons has visited the free lunch hour film show presented since October in "Travel America Hall" at 45 Broadway, New York. Films are shown by the bureau from 11:30 A.M. to 2:30 P.M. daily except Saturday and Sunday, and are also shown in other cities.

No Actual Selling Done

Horton S. Allen, Jr., acting supervisor of the New York office, reports that audiences are made up of employes of banking, stock and business firms in lower Manhattan and constitute a fruitful field for travel exploitation. The United States Travel Bureau however engages in no actual travel selling, confining its efforts to an information service and good will promotion.

Its film service, with screenings in the New York, Washington and San Francisco office, and through a free film library available to schools, clubs and other organizations plays an active part in the travel promotion campaign. Programs include 16 mm. scenic travelogues of various cities, states and national parks, sports films of skiing, hunting, hiking, canoeing and other recreational areas, rail, air and water transportation histories, and localized historical and cultural reels.

The bureau's budget is limited and it buys no commercial travel pictures. The National Park Service, state and city publicity bureaus and Chambers of Commerce, and commercial organizations provide most of the pictures, without charge.

Railroads, steamship lines, and larger travel bureaus provide films of scenic areas reached by their services. The Bureau presents the pictures, with credit as to their source, but without any form of commercial boost. It does not sell tickets or recommend routes or methods of travel. Officially its functions are defined as "Supplying impartial information concerning the historical, scenic, and recreational attractions of the United States."

Based on a study of audience reactions and questionnaires returned by visitors to "Travel America Hall," Mr. Allen reports that next to the Park Service's scenic color films, pictures filmed professionally for the railroads are the most popular offerings in the travel repertory.

Mr. Allen reports that only rarely do small town Chambers of Commerce, resort managers and other amateur film makers succeed in producing an acceptable travel picture. More successful are pictures professionally scored and edited by producers specializing in commercials. The Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Illinois Central and other railroads, chiefly in the West, have produced excellent scenic films of areas reached by their lines.

The best of the travel pictures are manufactured by independent commercial producers and are based on a scenario depicting a holiday tour with narration and pictures closely approximating professional standards set by the Fritz Patrick, and Magic Carpet travelogue films.

In conjunction with the Pan-American Union and the United States Park Service the Travel Bureau is utilizing part of a $30,500 grant from the Cultural Relations Division of the State Department to prepare travel films and literature for distribution to Latin America. The bureau will rescore American travel pictures with Spanish narration for free distribution through the State Department and Pan-American Union.

National Decency Legion Classifies Eleven Films

Of the eleven films classified by the National Legion of Decency in its listing for the current week seven were unobjectionable for general patronage, one was found unobjectionable for adults, and three were classified as objectionable in part as follows:

Class A-1, Unobjectionable for General Patronage: "Andy Hardy's Private Secretary," "A Dangerous Game," "Great Mr. Nobody," "In Old Colorado," "Phantom Cowboy," "Prairie Pioneers," and "Scattergood Baines." Class A-2, Unobjectionable for Adults: "Flight from Destiny." Class B, Objectionable in Part: "The Devil Commands," "The Monster and the Girl" and "Tobacco Road."

Legion Reclassification

The National Legion of Decency in New York Wednesday, issued the following statement concerning a revised version of Columbia's "This Thing Called Love."

"The many and important cuts which were made in the original version of the film have been deemed sufficient to warrant a change in classification from 'C,' or Condemned, to 'B,' or Partly Objectionable. The cut version of the film has been rated, as Partly Objectionable because of the original theme—emphasis on which, however, has been considerably lessened.

"Inasmuch as Legion classifications are national, it was necessary that the Legion be sure that the revised version would be the version exhibited throughout the United States. This assurance was given in a spirit of cooperation by Jack Cohn, executive vice-president of Columbia Pictures Corporation, in a signed letter to the Legion under date of February 25th, reading as follows:

"'In accordance with your request, this company has made all the changes in its production, 'This Thing Called Love,' requested by the National Legion of Decency. Wires have been sent to every one of our branches, as well as our Studio, notifying them of these changes, and that they are effective immediately.

"'Mr. Hode has informed me that these changes will alter the Legion's rating on this picture from C to B.

"'May I, on behalf of Columbia Pictures, express my thanks to the National Legion of Decency for its cooperation in the foregoing.'"

Cummings Corrects Reports

Reports that Evert R. Cummings, until recently district manager for A. H. Blank's Tri-States-Paramount theatres of Nebraska and Iowa, would take over a "circuit" of theatres in the northwest, have been grossly exaggerated, Mr. Cummings told Motion Picture Herald. "I have merely been dealing for two small theatres in a single small Oregon situation," he said, "and the deal hasn't been closed yet."

Atlas Increases Holdings in RKO

Atlas Corporation, investment trust, headed by Floyd B. Odlum, increased its holdings in RKO preferred and common stock during the last six months of 1940, to become one of the largest holders of RKO stocks and bonds, the annual Atlas report and portfolio of holdings released yesterday indicated.

On December 31, 1940, Atlas owned 39 per cent of the outstanding RKO common stock and 28 per cent of the preferred. The holdings in RKO consisted, at the end of 1940, of 35,481 shares of preferred valued at $1,525,694; 1,001,126 shares of common, valued at $3,754,224, and 327,811 RKO option warrants valued at $102,441. Atlas also held 7,000 shares of Keith-Albee-Orpheum valued at $728,875.

14 Per Cent in Amusements

The report also indicated that 14 per cent of the Atlas Corp. investments was in the common stocks of amusement enterprises at the year's end. During the final six months of 1940 Atlas also purchased 10,000 shares of Walt Disney Productions, preferred, retained 7,000 shares of general Theatre Equipment Corp., and disposed of all of its Paramount first and second preferred issues. Of the $268,075 realized from the Paramount preferred, $205,000 was converted into 20,000 shares of Paramount common, representing a $63,075 decrease in Atlas Paramount holdings.

Atlas increased its holdings in RKO by approximately $500,000 over the six month period beginning June 30, 1940, acquiring 5,600 shares in the picture corporation. The RKO common holdings include 120,000 shares to be given Atlas under allowances made by the court for services during reorganization. They represent an increase of approximately 168,000 shares and a rise in valuation of approximately $1,250,000 over the Atlas holdings in RKO as of June 30, 1940.

RKO option warrants held by Atlas did not change in number during the six months, but decreased in value by about $22,000. Atlas options on the Keith-Albee-Orpheum preferred stock for 23,800 shares, certain, or for 27,000 shares, conditional, are priced at $112.50 per share. They expire April 30, 1941.

Atlas' holdings in Paramount at the end of the year consisted of 20,000 shares of common valued at $205,000, or $63,075 less than the preferred holdings as of June 30, 1940. Atlas disposed of 3,400 shares of Paramount first preferred six per cent, valued at $231,200 and 5,000 shares of second preferred valued at $36,875 for a total of $268,075.

The 10,000 shares acquired in Walt Disney was valued at $97,500 as of December 31st. Atlas' 7,000 shares of General Theatres Equipment common rose approximately $20,000 in value during the six months.

In addition to the entertainment holdings, the portfolio also showed that Atlas owned 26,980 shares of Hearst Consolidated Publications, Inc., preferred stock, with a market value on December 31st of $148,390. It makes Atlas one of the largest investors in the Hearst publishing enterprises.

Mr. Odlum reported a net 1940 income for Atlas of $251,022, including a $1,739,243 net realized profit on securities. The net asset value of 2,723,047 common shares at the end of 1940 had increased to $12.26 each compared with $11.43 a share on June 30, 1940, and $12.80 per share on December 31, 1939. Atlas paid dividends of 50 cents a share in 1940 and declared a 25 cent dividend with the publication of the portfolio. The 1940 dividends amounted to $1,305,015 on preferred stock and $1,424,607 on the common.

De Rochemont On Democracy

Richard de Rochemont, an executive of the "March of Time," speaking on democracy before the Doctors' Club of Brooklyn on Tuesday night, warned the medical practitioners that the country's greatest danger today was the "inner corrosion of our will" and urged greater individual enthusiasm for, and understanding of the democratic ideal.

Citing widespread apathy towards the problems of government and defense of the democratic ideal, Mr. de Rochemont urged the doctors, as men accustomed to leadership, to "try to save democracy by giving it a good name among our own friends, to begin with, and then in our own town, and in all America." He added that in the defense of democracy men find the best definition of what it means. "When your heart is really in defending it you will find you have no trouble in defining it," he said.

Mr. de Rochemont cited his long residence abroad and the opportunity which he had to observe how individual apathy destroyed the French dynamic conception of democracy, leading to the country's downfall last Spring. He warned also of "the careful, vicious work of the men whose personal interests were placed in danger by the rise of a truly democratic spirit" and declared that they were at work in the United States in the same manner as in prewar France. American democracy has the vitality to survive, nevertheless, he concluded.

Durning Elected To Atlas Board

Harry M. Durning, at a meeting of the board of directors in Jersey City, N. J., on Friday, February 21st, was elected a member of the board of the Atlas Corporation. Atlas is one of the largest stockholders in RKO.

Mr. Durning, Collector of Customs of the Port of New York, is chairman of the Finance Committee of the New York Fire Insurance Company, and a director of several other large corporations. He is also a special partner in the brokerage firm of Moore & Schley.

Lichtman Adds Theatres

The Litchman theatre chain is taking over the Gem theatre in Petersburg, Va., it has been reported in Washington, D. C., in addition to new enterprises in Portsmouth and Newport News, Va., and in Washington, D. C. The Gem brings the circuit total up to 23 houses and new thetres now under construction will bring the total number of theatres up to 26 by June.

ITOA Ball Saturday

The eighth annual Independent Theatre Owners Association "Movie Ball" will be held at the Hotel Astor in New York on Saturday, March 1st. Music will be supplied by Eli Dantzig and his orchestra and Zito and his rhumba band. Tickets, at ten dollars a person, are obtainable at the ITOA offices in the Hotel Astor.

Three Receive MGM Awards

Metro - Goldwyn - Mayer has awarded Honor Roll Buttons to J. W. Nelson of the Capitol theatre, North Bay, Ontario, Canada, and Edward McBride and Joe Longo of Loew's State theatre in Providence, R. I., for their exploitation campaigns on "Escape," and "The Philadelphia Story," respectively. Mr. Nelson is the first Canadian exhibitor to have a campaign reproduced in MGM's cooperative service sheet.

Circuit Mortgages Jersey Theatres

The Stanley Company of America has received a mortgage on 25 theatres from the Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance Company in New Jersey. It was a blanket mortgage and as such the mortgage was filed with the register in each county in which the Stanley company has a theatre.

According to the information released by the Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance Company, the blanket mortgage is secured by the 25 theatres in seven New Jersey counties. The loan is for fifteen years, expiring February 15th, 1956.

Aside from the fact that the mortgage covers so much area, the 4½ per cent interest rate aroused the attention of mortgage bankers.

The mortgage has been secured by the following theatres:

Essex County: Regent, Newark; Ritz, Newark; Roosevelt, Newark; Central, Newark; Tivoli, Newark; Stanley, Newark; Royal, Bloomfield; Capitol, Belleville, and Sanford, Irvington.

Hudson County: Ritz, Jersey City; Central, Jersey City; Stanley, Jersey City; Lincoln, Union City; Roosevelt, Union City, and Hudson, Kearny.

Union County: Ritz, Elizabeth and Union, Union.

Bergen County: Oritani, Hackensack, and Warner, Ridgewood.

Morris County: Baker, Dover.

Passaic County: Montauk, Passaic; Playhouse, Passaic; Regent, Paterson, and Fabian, Paterson.

Atlantic County: Warner, Atlantic City.

Theatre Managers Shifted

T. Grayson Poats, former manager of the Ritz theatre in Columbia, S. C., has been transferred to Rockingham, N. C., as city manager for three houses. Succeeding Mr. Poats at the Ritz theatre is Curtis H. Mees, who has been manager of the Strand theatre in Columbia, and replacing Mr. Mees is Jack Jordan, formerly assistant manager of the Palmetto. Tom Allen, formerly assistant manager of the Ritz, succeeds Mr. Jordan at the Palmetto. Mr. Allen's post at the Ritz theatre has been assigned to Frank D. Bryant of Marion, S. C.

AMPA To Nominate

Members of the Association of Motion Picture Advertisers, Inc., at a luncheon at the Hotel Edison in New York on Thursday were scheduled to elect a nomination committee which will select a slate of officers for the ensuing year. Plans were also scheduled to be discussed for AMPA's Silver Jubilee dinner and dance April 4th at the Hotel Edison.

New Drive-In Amplifier

A new in-car loudspeaker for Drive-in theatres has been developed by RCA Photophone. The loudspeaker hangs inside the door of the car, and connects by means of a 15-foot weatherproof cable to the plug-in receptacles of the theatres. The unit has a volume control attachment.

Welworth Closes with Altec

The Welworth circuit, with ten theatres in North and South Dakota, in Minnesota and Wisconsin, has signed a service contract with Altec.

If ever a picture was made to Make Money, it's

That Hamilton Woman!

THE KIND OF PICTURE THAT HAS M

THE GOSSIP ABOUT
THAT HAMILTON WOMAN IS SPREADING
TO MILLIONS . . .

. . . thru national radio hookups; 4 full-color magazine covers; wire-service publicity stunts to crack headlines in cities large and small; a quarter of a million dollars worth of tie-ups with national advertisers . . . including the largest single tie-up ad ever effected for a motion picture, sponsored by Chesterfield and inserted in 2,000 newspapers with a combined circulation of 43,000,000!

E THE PICTURE BUSINESS GREAT . .

. . a heaven-sent piece of casting which brings together the world's most publicized couple in a hit that's big and exciting not only in its romance but in its whole plan of profit for you from its first great story idea . . through every phase of its stirring production . . to the hard-hitting promotional campaign that will bring it to your marquee in a blaze of glory!

ALEXANDER KORDA presents

Vivien LEIGH  Laurence OLIVIER

That Hamilton Woman!

Directed by Alexander Korda with ALAN MOWBRAY • SARA ALLGOOD • GLADYS COOPER • HENRY WILCOXON

Original screenplay by Walter Reisch and R. C. Sherriff

Released thru UNITED ARTISTS

These Stars attracted an unprecedented rush of newspaper correspondents to Hollywood to watch their news-making performances under the personal direction of Alexander Korda, working for the first time with the unlimited facilities of American production close at hand. Hundreds of full pages in black and white and in color have been these journalists' advance publicity tribute to the importance of THAT HAMILTON WOMAN!

FLAT OR PER PROGRAM FEES FOR THEATRES, OTHER ASCAP USERS

But ASCAP Points Out Need for Additional Charge on Individual Use; BMI Will Continue Licensing Operations

Exhibitors and other public users of copyrighted music next year will have the option of paying a blanket fee to the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers, as is the present custom, or else paying for the music on a "per program" basis, the alternate method having been established by the Department of Justice's consent decree which ASCAP accepted last week.

Broadcast Music, Inc., the radio industry's music organization, which at present has not attempted to collect fees from motion picture theatres, will also offer the same double system of charges, if it is still active as a public performance licensing agency.

The "per program" method of payment, however, is not expected to be used generally by exhibitors because fees for such a system would amount to much more than the "blanket" charge now made. ASCAP officials in New York pointed out there would be additional expense involved in keeping the necessary records required by a "per program" payment for the public performance of its members' music.

Decree Filed in Court

This week formal peace was made between ASCAP and the Government with the filing of the consent decree in New York before Federal Judge Henry W. Goddard, of motion picture consent decree fame. This action was taken after ASCAP members had unanimously accepted the decree and bound themselves to its terms at a special meeting held on Thursday of last week at the Hotel Astor.

On Wednesday the Government filed a new suit against ASCAP in New York and moved to dismiss the 1935 action. The decree will settle the new suit. Judge Goddard tentatively set Monday, March 3rd for a hearing.

Preparations were also made for renewed negotiations with broadcasters to restore to the air ASCAP music which has been banned by the networks and other stations since January 1st. Last weekend the Society named a special committee to make necessary changes in the contract and conduct discussions with representatives of the radio industry. Broadcasters were also reported to be preparing to resume negotiations with ASCAP.

The ASCAP decree will become effective 90 days after it is approved by Judge Goddard. Nine months after that date the clause requiring the society to grant "per program" licenses to theatres and other users of music would become operative.

The BMI decree, similar to the ASCAP decree, many clauses being word for word in both documents, goes into effect 90 days after a certified copy of the approved ASCAP decree is presented by the Department of Justice, unless within 20 days BMI asks the court to modify the document so that the "restraints and requirements are substantially identical" for both BMI and ASCAP.

Under the decree ASCAP may not be the exclusive performing right agent and members, under certain conditions, may negotiate for fees for their own works, if they so choose. However, all fees go into the general fund and will be distributed by the society.

Both ASCAP and BMI agreed to the following paragraph which is aimed at preventing discrimination, as in favor of one theatre and against another, in the matter of music performance licenses:

"Defendant shall not enter into, recognize as valid or perform any performing license agreement which shall result in discriminating in price or terms between licensees similarly situated; provided, however, that differentials based upon applicable business factors which justify different prices or terms shall not be considered discrimination within the meaning of this subparagraph; and provided further that nothing contained in this subparagraph shall prevent price changes from time to time by reason of changing conditions affecting the market for or marketability of performing rights." (Section II, paragraph 2.)

Both ASCAP and BMI are given the right to charge whatever fees they wish if licensing on a "per program" method is desired. It was reported that the cost to a motion picture theatre would be anywhere from two to four times that under the present system based on the number of seats in the house.

No Charge by BMI

BMI to the present has not tried to license theatres, seeking their support in the fight against ASCAP, but under the U. S. Copyright Act it has the power to collect for public performances of its music. This includes the playing of any number in a motion picture theatre. Just now, chiefly because BMI has been busy with the radio question, no attention has been given to licensing theatres. But doubtless the matter will arise if the organization continues to act as a performing rights society.

Some BMI controlled music will be in James Roosevelt's "Pot o' Gold," it has been announced. Harry Engel, BMI manager in Hollywood, said this week that the first complete use of BMI in a motion picture would be in "Puddin'head," a Republic production. Other companies were also reported to be considering the use of some BMI music to take advantage of the radio plugging assured for such numbers. The fact that BMI does not exercise at present its right to collect from theatres for public performance of its music will not affect that right it was pointed out.

Judge Goddard is expected to listen to any objections against the ASCAP decree at a public hearing next Monday, March 3rd.

Attorneys were instructed Monday to include in the text of the decree a letter of ASCAP to the Department of Justice which makes legal any licensing system approved by both ASCAP and the broadcasters for the radio use of music controlled by the Society.

Victor O. Waters, special assistant to the attorney general, was expected to file a new suit against ASCAP and hand up the decree immediately as settlement of that action. The Government also would withdraw its six-year-old complaint against the Society.

The committee appointed by ASCAP to negotiate with the broadcasters includes the following: Gene Buck, president; E. C. Mills, chairman of the administrative committee; John G. Paine, general manager; Walter Fischer, Oscar Hammerstein II, J. J. O'Connor and Herman Starr, vice-president of Warner Brothers in charge of music interests.

Approved by Members

At the special membership meeting of ASCAP held on Thursday of last week at the Hotel Astor in New York about 650 members heard Charles Poletti, lieutenant governor of New York and special counsel, explain the document and then all the members signed a "rider" binding themselves to the terms of the agreement. One clause of the decree which was received with applause by the members was the announcement that "the self-perpetuating board of directors was to be eliminated. It was pointed out, however, that the members would elect directors only as present terms expire. Eventually not less than one-twelfth of the total membership of the board of directors will be elected annually, according to the decree.

Lieutenant Governor Poletti on Tuesday issued a statement explaining his activity as special counsel for ASCAP in the consent decree negotiations. It had been reported that the law firm with which Mr. Poletti is associated had received a $50,000 fee. A bill was introduced Tuesday in the New York legislature which would make it illegal for the chief executives of the state to participate in other business while in office.

BMI announced last week that its attorneys were studying the ASCAP decree but said, "The signing of a decree by ASCAP had no effect, direct or indirect, upon the continued activity of BMI. A settlement by ASCAP of its differences with the Department of Justice will not remove the need for BMI's existence." The radio music group also reiterated its position last week that there had been no noticeable increase or decrease in the size of the radio audiences or marked changes in listening habits since ASCAP music had been off the networks. This time the Cooperative Analysis of Broadcasting (Crossley) survey was cited as the authority.

A substantial number of authors, composers and publishers, grouped for the purpose of fixing fees for the playing of copyrighted music would be a monopoly and restraint of trade, under the provisions of a bill introduced in the Oregon State Senate by Senator Cow McKenna.

In South Dakota a bill has been introduced in the state legislature which would require organizations collecting copyright fees to pay a 25 per cent tax on the gross income. The measure was modeled on the Wisconsin anti-ASCAP law.

ASCAP-RADIO WAR ANALYZED

"Music, Radio Broadcasters and the Sherman Act," were discussed from the legal viewpoint by Marcus Cohn, of the Federal Communications Commission, in an article in the January issue of the Georgetown Law Journal. This was said to be the first exhaustive, legal treatment of the subject. Topics covered included legal background, a history of ASCAP, the position of the National Association of Broadcasters and their efforts to fight the Society, ASCAP and the Sherman Act. Broadcast Music, Inc. and the activities of the Department of Justice in the music question were also explained.

"The charges of the performers of copyrighted music against ASCAP reduced to essentials, are the sincere cry of every business man: he has to pay too much for the raw material," the article said.

IN BRITISH STUDIOS

By AUBREY FLANAGAN

Ealing Propaganda

A contribution of no small measure to the national effort has been made by Ealing Studios whose decision to make no more propaganda films for the Ministry of Information has already been reported. The Studios has allotted £35,000 to launch the production of a series of propaganda films which they will market in the ordinary way and not give to the cinemas as the M.O.I. does with its five minute films.

Two of these, "Mastery of the Sea" and "Young Vetetrans" have already been made and reviewed in MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

Others in process of production or due for an early start include:

"International Situation." This traces the solitary stand of Britain against Hitler's hordes. It will especially stress the practical support the United States are giving Great Britain.

"The Swollen Bullfrog of the Pontine Marshes." A biography of Il Duce Benito Mussolini.

"High Strategy." A strategical study of the war as seen by the High Commands.

"Battle of Steel." In this the narrative traces the economic battle and the part played by the factories of both sides.

"Price One Penny." Herein the newspaper receives its belated Odyssey, and the story of the daily press, its reception, treatment, and dissemination of news in the face of the bombs and the blackout is told.

A film on the blockade.

Feature films of a propaganda trend include "Ships With Wings" and "Portrait of a British Foreman."

"Kipps" the Twentieth Century Picture which is one of the most ambitious films to be made here for 20th Century-Fox distribution is to be the subject of a Transatlantic broadcast when it receives its London premiere. Recordings have already been made in the Studio and elsewhere and will be woven into a coherent feature which the B.B.C. will relay to New York when the film is shown—probably in February.

The film has now concluded its actual shooting. The final week was spent on location in Bath where Redgrave, Max Adrian and local residents played costume scenes against the actual Royal Crescent background, which throughout the film has been an architectural "stand in" for "The Leas" Folkestone, currently reserved for more important national business.

▽

"The Serving Army", which has been directed by Ralph Keene, shows how, with mobile canteens and quickly organized refreshment bars, members of the "Army" brought comfort and cheer to the fire fighters, rescue squads and stretcher bearers of the bomb-scarred streets of London and the industrial towns of Britain.

The "Tilbury" Shelter, one of the most noted in East London and which has a nightly population of 15,000 is shown for the first time on the screen in this film. Here the Salvation Army have one of their bands and a big canteen providing hot food and drink.

▽

The regular issue of a Polish screen magazine is planned by Concanen Films, at the head of which is actor-producer Derrick de Marney. The magazine will be a record of the work of the Polish forces here and elsewhere and will be issued with a Polish commentary aimed at the refugee population here.

Collaboration

Many distinguished authors, musicians and radio personalities are collaborating with the Strand Film Company in the production of propaganda films. Among those connected with films recent and in production are authors Grahame Greene, St. John Ervine, Cecil Day Lewis and George Blake.

B. B. C. commentators, news readers and announcers, including Bruce Belfrage, Alan Howland, Alvar Lidell, Joseph Macleod and Robert MacDermot, will be responsible for commentaries. The musical background of the films will be directed by Muir Mathieson and composed by William Alwyn and Richard Addinsell.

The Strand Film Company are to start 1941, their sixth year, with thirteen films in production.

"The Serving Army", a documentary film dealing with the work of the Salvation Army during the "Blitz", has just been completed by Strand. This film is to be shown in the U. S. with "Major Barbara", and Strand Films have had to rush their production through so that it will arrive in the States at the same time.

▽

Most popular radio programme in Britain since the early part of 1940 has been the B.B.C.'s Sunday musical and comedy feature "Hi Gang!" In this Bebe Daniels and Ben Lyon, Vic Oliver, and musical maestro Jay Wilbur have woven a pattern of swing music and inconsequential comedy which has been one of Britain's most agreeable wartime palliatives.

"Hi Gang!" with Messrs. Lyon and Oliver and Miss Daniels is to be made into a film by Gainsborough Pictures and will be released by General Film Distributors. Marcel Varnel, the French director with a big comedy reputation under the Gainsborough banner is to direct.

▽

Some of the most ambitious sets ever erected in a British studio have been a feature of the Warner Brothers film "Atlantic Ferry" currently in production at the Teddington Studios. Most recently used of these has been one representing Liverpool Docks in the sail-steam transition era of British shipping aetat 1940.

British Journalism

With his "Quiet Wedding" now being screened by Paramount Paul Soskin has set to work on his next film, an epic of British newspapermen and newspapers against the background of the country at war. The period covered embraces the Munich Conference and the 1941 Fire of the City of London.

The story is by Frank Owen, editor of London's Evening Standard and one of the most distinguished figures in Fleet Street. It is hoped that David Niven will secure temporary release from his Army duties to play the lead in the film. Though no director has been assigned it is believed that Leslie Fenton may be the privileged man.

"Soldiers of Fleet Street," the tentative title selected for the film, indicates the dramatic flavor of the picture, which will on its wide canvas tell a dramtic story which will take in its stride not only how British journalism did its bit on the Front Line of Britain against all the might of Nazi Germany, but a graphic chronicle of Britain's whole war effort and history. The Ministry of Information are giving their wholehearted collaboration and lending library material hitherto preserved in the Senate House archieves.

▽

With five weeks to his credit—a brief span in bombed and Blitzed Britain—Herbert Mason has put the final touches to Twentieth Century's "Once a Crook" the comedy in which Gordon Harker, Cockney, and Sidney Howard, Yorkshireman, are teamed, with evergreen veteran of Metropolitan characterization Wally Patch in full time support.

Harker now leaves to tour Garrison theatres throughout Britain and Howard goes into a revival of "Shepard's Pie"—musical with a West End history and repute.

Doubtful compliment to studio employees with the gesture of stillman Johnnie Jay, touring offices and taking photos of faces that appealed to him. Victims heard later he was compiling a Rogue's Gallery of criminal faces for Dartmoor Prison sequences.

▽

With "This England" almost ready for trade show, "Love on the Dole" completed, "Pimpernel Smith" in its third week and "Old Mother Riley Cleans Up" nearing completion, British National is busiest production company in the country.

Leslie Howard is not only producing and directing "Pimpernel Smith," but is also the star. During last week a big crowd scene was staged at Denham, representing the British Embassy in Berlin just prior to the war.

At Elstree, John Baxter, having completed Walter Greenwood's "Love on the Dole," is now finishing the latest "Old Mother Riley" subject, a story of crooks and a haunted castle.

Strict Nazi Film Control in France

by AUBREY FLANAGAN
in London

Rigid control and censorship of the French film industry by Nazi military authorities in occupied France has been established, according to information reaching London. Under Nazi control foreigners have been excluded from positions of importance in the industry. The distribution of newsreels and instructional films supervised by Nazis is being extended and the type and trend of French films is being influenced.

The new regulations state explicitly that censorship will not be merely passive but has been designed to guide the work of producers. Nothing likely to embarrass the French or German governments or the Nazi military command will be permitted in French newsreels or productions. The position of Marechal Petain must be treated with scrupulous care and there must be no mention of the German army, navy or air force, or the disposition or movement of troops. No allusion to General de Gaulle or to Great Britain is permitted and there must be no polemics about the armistice with France.

If reference is made to diplomatic news, the only versions to be quoted are those issued by the German official news agency or given in German broadcasts in French. Similar prohibitions are enforced in respect to theatres and music halls. No news originating in unoccupied France may be used without the approval of the German military press bureau.

Famous Players Canadian Estimates $800,000 Profit

Famous Players Canadian Corp., in a preliminary report for the past fiscal year reveals an operating profit of approximately $800,000, higher than for the previous year. Increased taxation will more than counterbalance the increase, it was said in Toronto.

The gross .profit equals $2.09 per outstanding share of common stock, on which the company paid a total of $1 in dividends during 1940, the same as in 1939.

"Train" Distribution Set

Distribution of the English made production, "Night Train," in Central and South America, excluding British territories, will be handled by Twentieth Century-Fox, the company which is releasing the film in the United States, Walter J. Hutchinson has announced.

Mexican Serial Planned

Production of Mexico's first serial, "Las Calaveras del Terror" ("Skulls of Terror"), is being prepared in Mexico City by Carlos Ezquerro of California Films. The 12-chapter serial will be released in the Spring.

RKO Signs Hardwicke

RKO Radio has signed Sir Cedric Hardwicke to a three-picture acting contract on the company's programs for the 1941-42 season.

Odeon Circuit, Showing British Spirit, Rebuilds Theatres as They're Bombed

ALL SNUG: Usherettes sleeping in the Odeon Circuit's Balham Theatre, South London, during an air raid.

"WE'LL rebuild our theatres as they're knocked down." That is one British exhibitor's challenge to Hitler's Lufftwaffe.

Giving some insight into British cinema operations today, Rita Cave, of the press department of the Odeon Circuit, writes from London of the optimistic determinaton of British exhibitors to continue, regardless of physical damages to their properties. Miss Cave's letter, sent to her friend, Mrs. Wilder Tileston, of Theatre Patrons, Inc., in New Haven, Conn., follows, in part:

"We look on it as our job to provide entertainment for the people of Great Britain in these dark days, and Mr. Oscar Deutsch, speaking to a gathering of executives of the Odeon Circuit, told them that he would continue to keep his theatres open through thick and thin, that he would rebuild them as soon as they were knocked down, and that is exactly what is being done. Bradford (an industrial town in the north) had its Odeon gutted; within seven weeks it was open and running again, as though nothing had ever happened.

"That brings us to London. Our West End Theatre in Leicester Square was badly knocked about—doors torn off, ceilings down. It opened again in a month, with the premiere of 'Hired Wife'; in fact, our construction staff was at work on the damage at 8:00 A. M. on the morning following the raid, for construction materials had been laid in in advance. One item alone was the replacement of over 3,000 electric lamps.

"We are receiving stories similar to the following practically every day, from all over the country: A fireman who is in charge of a crew who were sent down to (name of town censored) on the night of one of their worse raids was working in a street, at 8:30 in the morning, where the only building in the immediate neighborhood not seriously damaged was the Odeon. Many fire hoses were in action and spraying water all over the steps of the theatre. In the middle of this a charwoman arrived complete with the usual tools of her trade and proceeded to scrub the steps of the Odeon. The fireman said to her: 'You need not do that; we will do it for you.' She replied, 'It's my job and I am going to do it, bombs or no bombs.'

"Another story came from Leicester, which is a town of 250,000 population within 25 miles of Coventry. This town had been almost free from bombardment until a couple of months ago, when it had a fierce attack on two consecutive nights.

"The Fire Chief warned the manager of the Odeon there that he could not possibly save the theatre, as a large factory within 50 yards was a sea of flame, into which 'Jerry' had dropped further bombs. At the last moment the wind changed, and the house was saved. The manager had a staff of 18, and every one stood by until the theatre was out of danger—some of them were on the roof watching for incendiaries and would not budge until ordered to do so. The manager stood by until 4:30 A. M. on that day and 4:00 A. M. the next. That is the spirit of every man and woman. . . .

"We have 70 theatres in Greater London and, although in most cases business is still bad, we have noticed in others an up-grade in returns. In fact, people begin to visit the cinema again immediately there is a decrease in enemy activity. . . .

"We look forward in hope and quiet confidence to the day when again the neon lights will blaze out from our theatre towers.

Film Workers Continue Trek To the Army

Film workers in every field of the motion picture business continue to march into the Army and other defense services. Five employes of Twentieth Century-Fox have been inducted into the Army and are on active duty in different camps. Anthony Filigno, of the company's Seattle office has been made a booker for one of the Northwestern camps. R. Yentes of the New York branch is at Fort Ethan Allen; J. Hackeny, Atlanta office; F. Gattis, Dallas; P. Ferges, New York, and Richard Skillman, home office contact department, are company employes in training. Delbert Dungan, Toronto office, has joined the Canadian Army.

Billy Peay, of the Lee theatre in Richmond, Va., who recently joined the Navy, is at the Norfolk Naval Base training to be an aviation mechanic. George Summers of the Neighborhood theatre home office in Richmond, and Dabney MacKenzie of the Capitol have gone to camp with the National Guard.

Theatremen, Reporters Go

Lew Mentlik, former New York trade paper reporter and motion picture reviewer is at Camp McClellan, Alabama, for a year's service with the Army. Mel Rainey, secretary to David Wallerstein, division supervisor for Balaban & Katz in Chicago, has volunteered for Army service, and will go to Camp Custer in Michigan. Bert Donovan, assistant manager of the Regent theatre in Syracuse, N. Y., has been called to the Army and is at Fort McClellan. Sam Farber, checker for Ross Federal Service in Syracuse, has enlisted.

Edward Fitzgerald, assistant booker at the Paramount New Haven exchange, has resigned for Army duty at Fort Blanding, Florida. Abe Baker, assistant booker for Columbia in Indianapolis has been called to service. Jack O'Connell, assistant manager of the Roger Sherman has enlisted in the National Guard Company C, to be inducted February 24th from New Haven, Conn., while William Nutlie, shipper at the Paramount exchange in New Haven, Robert Schaefer, son of Lou Schaefer, manager of the Paramount theatre, and chief usher Stanley Winchinski of the Roger Sherman have also been inducted for military training.

Pathe Employee Leaves

In New York, Jack LeVien, of the Pathe News contact department has been ordered to active duty with the Second Armored Division at Fort Benning, Ga. He has held a reserve commission in the 61st Cavalry. He will start his service with the regular Army as a second lieutenant and will become a first lieutenant in March. He has been given a year's leave of absence from Pathe News. Meanwhile, Sidney Edelstein and Roger Lewis, both of Warners' New York home office publicity departments, are at Fort Dix for a year's training.

Leon "Lee" Fisher, publicity director at the Palace theatre in Columbus, Ohio, is at Camp Shelby, Miss. George Holden, Producers Releasing Corp., shipping clerk, has joined the Army for a year's training. In Houston, Tex., John Boyd, manager of the River Oaks theatre, has been called for active duty with the Army. His post will be filled by Pat Daley of the Metropolitan downtown staff. John Byars, assistant manager of the North Main theatre in Houston, will take over Mr. Daly's former job.

In Fort Knox, Ky., Harold D. Gibbons, now with the 47th Signal Corps, found himself back in the theatre business when Army officials assigned him to the projectionist's shift at the Fort Knox theatre.

William Stubs, of the service staff of the Carillon theatre in Richmond, Va., has joined the Army Aviation Corps, and is now located at Chanute Field, Illinois. In South Boston, Mass., Mervin Matze and Clarence Greene, Princess service staff members, have left for Maryland with the National Guard. Lieut. Warner (Pat) Brandt, son of Walter Brandt, Vitagraph salesman, has reported for duty at Camp Peay, Tenn.

Saleman Feted

Thomas W. McKean, of the Warner Brothers office staff in Indianapolis, Ind., has left for Army service at Hattiesburg, Miss. Joe Minsky, Vitagraph salesman in Cleveland, Ohio, was guest of honor at a stag dinner staged by the men of the motion picture business of that city before he went into active Army service. Howard E. McAllister, projectionist at Warners' Ohio theatre at Mansfield, before being called to active duty with the naval reserves, is serving as radio operator on U.S.S. Humphreys, a destroyer.

Cecil Felt, operator of the Bluebird theatre in Philadelphia, one of the first exhibitors to enter military service from that area, was tendered a dinner by the Philadelphia Variety club at the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel. The Showmen's club played host a few days later to Mr. Felt at a farewell party for him. In Holyoke, Mass., Arthur F. Benard, Jr., assistant manager of the Strand theatre, has resigned to enlist in the Marine Corps. Donald Barksdale of the Henrico theatre service staff at Highland Springs, Va., left with the National Guard for Fort Meade, Md. Walter McLay, of Warners' service staff in Cincinnati, Ohio, has enlisted in the Air Corps, while at La Crosse, Wis., the La Crosse theatre company has already contributed four employes to the country's military forces. They are Emil Mitley, Ray Bender, Lowell Hanson and Carl H. Eyler.

IN NEWSREELS

MOVIETONE NEWS—No. 48, Vol. 23.—North African campaign....Haile Selassie strikes back....Britain introduces convoy boats....Willkie interviews King George....Queen Elizabeth examines U. S. gifts....DuQuoin, Ill,. explosion....Beauties take screen test under water at Florida....Arizona rodeo....Fashions ....Sports.

MOVIETONE NEWS—No. 49, Vol. 23.—Bombers go to Canada....New Orleans Mardi Gras....Tunney directs athletics at naval base....Elk and buffaloes in Montana....CCC boys train....Mesquito boats tested ....Sports....Bathing beauty parade.

NEWS OF THE DAY—No. 246, Vol. 12.—Selassie to aid British....British fliers down Fascist planes....British sub-chasers....Queen thanks U. S. for gifts ....Pensacola trains man....Fashions....Sports.

NEWS OF THE DAY—No. 247, Vol. 12.—New naval school....Mesquito boats tested....British practice offensive drill....New Orleans Mardi Gras....Fashions ....Sports.

PARAMOUNT NEWS—No. 51.—Speed aid for Britain ....Queen views U. S. gifts....Windsors attend charity affair....Selassie takes charge....Dominican republics study refugee situation....Sports.

PARAMOUNT NEWS—No. 52.—Test Navy "Mesquitos"....Bomber for RAF....British mystery voyage....War objectors do their bit....Windsors in Nassau....Florida beauty contest....U. S. cables Hitler....Sports.

RKO PATHE NEWS—No. 51, Vol. 12.—Britain's Queen inspects U. S. gifts....Destroyers join two-ocean navy....Air corps study captive balloons....Camouflage art....“Pirates” invade Florida....Ethiopian troops in review....Tin can tourists hold convention....Underwater movie tests....Sports.

RKO PATHE NEWS—No. 52, Vol. 12.—National indoor skating championships....Mesquito boats tested ....Railway gun is tested....Seventh-Day Adventists do medical work....Women join colors....New Orleans Mardi Gras....Brazilian beauty contest....Sports.

UNIVERSAL NEWSREEL—No. 956, Vol. 13.—Selassie returns home to fight....Briton visits U. S. plane plant....Army camouflage art....Coins tested at mint ....Ten pups born to Irish setter....Mermaids in underwater show....“Pirates” invade Tampa....Dodgers begin spring training....DeMaggio gets in trim....Eats 93 pancakes in contest....Sports.

UNIVERSAL NEWSREEL—No. 957, Vol. 13.—Mesquito fleet trains....Army tests balloon barrage....Bomber off to England....New Orleans Mardi Gras ....Fashions....Sports.

Variety Clubs Lay Plans for Annual Meetings

All 24 Variety Clubs of the country will be represented at a meeting March 22nd at the Hotel Traymore, Atlantic City. Arrangements will be made for the national convention, John H. Harris, chief barker, announced last week.

The meeting will be attended by ten men from the Philadelphia tent, who will be hosts, together with the Variety men of Atlantic City.

In Pittsburgh, C. C. Kellenberg, chief barker of the city's Variety Club, Tent 1, announced last week, before leaving for a Florida vacation, that the club's annual banquet would be on November 2nd.

In Columbus, Virgil Jackson, newly elected chief barker of the local tent, has named the following committee chairmen: Al Redman, house; C. Harry Schreiber, membership; Jacob Luft, finance; P. J. Wood, welfare; John Barcroft, publicity; Lee Hoffheimer, golf; James Hale, activities; Lou Holleb, mobile unit; Mr. Holleb and Ben Almond, delegates to the national convention.

The second annual installation dinner of the Cincinnati Cinema Club was held Friday night, February 21st, at the city's Variety Club. Inducted into office were Rudolph Knoepfle, president (reelected); Peter Niland, secretary (reelected); Mark Cummings, first vice-president; Joseph McKnight, second vice-president. Toastmaster at the affair was Judge Otis Hess, of the Municipal Court.

Jack Stewart, president of the Detroit organization of film and film accessory salesmen known as the "Reel Fellows," declared in Cincinnati over the weekend that such clubs would be formed shortly in Kansas City, St. Louis, Minneapolis, Des Moines and Omaha. The Detroit Club is the third such. Others are in Cincinnati, and in Chicago.

The Washington Club, office employee group, formed last week by Albany exchange workers, has elected Daniel Houlihan president.

The new Boston Variety Club, Tent 23, held its first meeting at the Hotel Statler headquarters last week, with Martin Mullin, chief barker, presiding; and he at the same time announced the acceptance of the club's charter by the national organization.

Enlargement of present quarters is being sought. Officers of the tent are Mr. Mullin; Al Kane, assistant chief barker; Ted Fleischer, second assistant chief barker; Harold Stoneham, doughguy; and William Erbb, property master.

The St. Louis Variety Club is planning a series of benefit shows, for its new project: the "adoption" of the Midwest Polio Association, as its sole charity for the next five years. The first show will be at midnight in the Fox Theatre, that city, March 29th, with all seats at $1 each. The association comprises infantile paralysis victims. In charge of the midnight show are Ralph McGowan, Les Kaufman, Joe Smith, George Wiegand, Ben Rader, Harry Hynes, Sr., and C. D. Hill.

Lynn Farnol In Business

Lynn Farnol, former United Artists director of advertising and publicity, announced this week the opening of an office at 250 Park Avenue, New York, for public relations. Publicity for motion pictures such as for roadshow engagements and special campaigns will be handled, Mr. Farnol said. He has been appointed eastern publicity representative for Samuel Goldwyn and has been retained by the "Gardens of Charleston."

An open letter to the Motion Picture Industry

History repeats itself—with Greece and Fascism enacting the roles of David and Goliath.

The heroic valor of the Greeks in their defense of democracy, has aroused the admiration of every liberty loving American. This little country—and it's a very small country—has stood up and fought Fascism to a standstill. It has put new heart into all little countries.

Today, we of the Amusement Industry, are asked to do our small part. The suffering, the struggles of millions of valiant men, women and children, will be lightened by knowing that here in the United States are fellow humans who want them to win and furthermore—are willing to do something about it! John H. Harris and Gradwell L. Sears have very kindly volunteered to aid me in organizing all exhibitors and distributors for this great cause. We have set aside the period of March 25-30 as the days to raise the funds through the active participation of all theatres everywhere. As Chairman of the Amusement Industry Division of the Greek War Relief Association, I appeal to you to do your share in making our drive a complete success.

The Greeks love liberty so much they're willing to die for it. The least we of this thrice blessed country can do is to help the women and children of these gallant defenders of democracy. We have nothing to lose if they gain. We have nothing to gain if they lose.

Sincerely,

Adolph Zukor

ADOLPH ZUKOR, Chairman

CONGRESSMEN THANK STARS OF THE 'MAGIC CITY' FOR VISITING CAPITAL

Praises to Hollywood's "Envoys of Goodwill, Cheer and Happiness" Spread on Congressional Record in House, Senate

"After the Ball Is Over" was the descriptive caption affixed by Congressman Lawrence J. Connery, of Massachusetts, to his speech from the floor of the House, the other day, in reminding his colleagues that "Washington has not forgotten those (stars, producers and Hollywood studio executives) who helped to make January a memorable month in the National Capital," by their presence and talent contributions in the Presidential Inaugural and Roosevelt Birthday Ball celebrations.

Senator James M. Mead, of New York, spoke in similar vein, at greater length, from the floor of the Senate, also in "Tribute to the Artists Participating" in both of celebrations.

Their remarks were spread on the Congressional Record, as follows:

by Hon. LAWRENCE J. CONNERY

Democratic Representative from Massachusetts

Mr. Speaker, once a year those stars who twinkle on the screen to banish dull care and transport us for a fleeting hour to the magic land of make-believe descend upon Washington, and we are grateful for it.

In the January which has become a recent memory, the pomp and ceremony which accompanied an historic third-term inaugural was heralded by a star-studded gala in historic Constitution Hall. Another constellation of those touched by fame and the precious wand of popular fancy came, in generous caravan from the far West, to make the fifty-ninth birthday of President Roosevelt an occasion to be cherished in memory.

Mr. Speaker, I think it is a splendid thing that in the tense and serious business of government, and keeping America on the broad highway of peace, we are able to relax, and in this momentary pause, enjoy a few moments with those whose lives and careers are dedicated to war upon gloom. Hollywood, we bend low in graceful tribute to your youth, your abundant beauty, and your talent.

We Americans have always worshipped the golden calf of physical magnetism and expended adulation on those who have achieved both fame and success in a highly competitive field of endeavor. Some of the captious like to list it among the expressions of our national weakness as an evidence that our fancy is fickle and our favor freely bestowed. I have neither apology nor debate with those who find no relish in the glorious land of illusion. Let me be numbered among those who love the stage and its people; among those who can find diversion and sometimes education in the realm of shadowland; who enshrine in a personal gallery those heroes and heroines of camera creation who can play upon heartstrings and emotions. Hail to our living stars. May they grow in number and in brilliance.

Mr. Speaker, these annual January birthday parties in Washington have become an institution with amusement seekers. As they have grown in prestige and appeal, so also do they serve to honor a great American and the cause that is closest to his heart. Since 1934, when the beloved Will Rogers shed his wit and wisdom over 3,500 merrymakers at the Shoreham Hotel, they have expanded, until now they enlist a galaxy of entertainers for the peacetime army that is fighting the dread infantile paralysis.

Out in the great production center in the far West, the motion-picture industry annually responds to the appeal which fills our Washington programs with such glamour and glittering talent. Nor am I unmindful of the magnificent role that the beloved First Lady plays as a troubadour of joy, cheerfully touring the hotels, cutting the birthday cake, and as the gracious White House hostess dispensing hospitality to our honored guests. Here is democracy at work, and we propose to preserve its precious manifestations.

Hollywood, we are grateful. For the time and the trouble which the anointed of your magic city took to make January a treasured month on our calendar, many thanks. For the close-up glimpses of your royalty, for the autographs, a salute. To the envoys of good will, cheer, anad happiness, a dozen curtain calls and bravos. Washington says, "Come again."

by Hon. JAMES M. MEAD

Democratic Senator from New York

Mr. President, as the parades end, the flags come down, and Washington turns once more to serious business of government, I should like to pay a short and well-deserved tribute to the artists and the industry that added color and glamour to the historic third-term inaugural, and to the more recent celebration of President Roosevelt's fifty-ninth birthday.

These are serious days in the world, each 24 hours bringing its fresh development, its disturbing new crisis. I like to feel that we are united in a common purpose, to keep peace in America, and to end the strife which has brought misery and woe to innocent humanity. It is difficult to read the current headlines and conjure a smile. Yet in this world of cold reality we must all relax, for a world without some happiness is a universe without hope.

Washington has passed through a pleasant January, one that leaves treasured memories and fond recollections. All true Americans were massed behind our honored President at that solemn moment when tradition was shattered and he became our first third-term Chief Executive. We cherish the official symbols and the time-honored customs established by our forefathers; but beside the pomp and ceremony of the inaugural were the glittering things of spectacle—the parade, the bands, the music, the distinguished guests, the flags fluttering in a wintry breeze, the radio commentators, the crowded stands, the souvenirs, and all the gala components of a historic and enjoyable occasion.

Washington turned to Hollywood, as it has in the past, for its entertainment. In response to a friendly beckoning, the motion-picture industry released a galaxy of its most glittering stars—young men and women upon whom the mantle of popular fancy has fallen in graceful folds.

I do not propose to dwell long upon the inaugural gala at Constitution Hall on January 19, other than to say it was one of the greatest shows I have ever been privileged to witness, offered before an audience in carefree mood that included those high in official, diplomatic, and Washington society.

Stars Listed

During these two recent celebrations we enjoyed the great baritone voice of Nelson Eddy; the matchless fun and newly discovered musical genius of Mickey Rooney; the incomparable Charlie Chaplin in his famous Dictator speech; the golden notes of Rise Stevens, of the Metropolitan Opera; Raymond Massey delivering Lincoln's immortal words; the first lady of the theatre, Ethel Barrymore; Irving Berlin singing God Bless America, his own composition; the Golden Gate Singers; the National Symphony Orchestra; and, presiding over it all, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., with gems of wit, poise, and polish. Many were the bows and as the monster American flag floated down over a delighted audience only that Svengali of stagecraft Joe Schenck and his aide-de-camp Carter Barron could translate the applause into "well done."

When the inaugural passed into history the headlines turned to the President's birthday celebrations, big events in Washington, made so by the generous helping hand of an industry which provides money and manpower from the production center in the far West. Again Washington turns to Hollywood.

These annual, big January 30th's are highlights of the year on the Washington amusement map. Ever since they were inaugurated in 1934, screen stars have provided the appeal that lures thousands of dollars into the treasury of the Infantile Paralysis Foundation.

In 1940, I am told, the Washington program netted $62,000 in one night for the cause that is closest to Franklin D. Roosevelt's great heart. Here is proof of the potency of marquee names that spell box-office power. To be sure, Mrs. Franklin Delano Roosevelt is an added attraction, since the gracious First Lady shares with her honored guests the evening's spotlight, alternating in six hotels and making sure they all receive a full quota of audience and camera appreciation.

How, ask envious metropolitan cities, does Washington do it? How does it contrive to induce these stars to drop production and come east for one night? What influence detours the greatest names of the screen world into the National Capitol on January 30? Our local entertainment executives provide these answers:

Well, it is not done with mirrors. The fact that the great White House at 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue throws open the doors and spreads the table for visiting celebrities helps considerably. No star in Hollywood is too great to ignore a Roosevelt invitation. They all appreciate and covet an invitation to place their feet

FEDERATION CHARITY THANKS INDUSTRY

Speaking on behalf of 116 medical and social welfare agencies, the thanks of the New York and Brooklyn Federations of Jewish Charities were extended to the motion picture industry by Benjamin J. Buttenwieser, president of the New York Federation, and Hugh Grant Straus, president of the Brooklyn Federation, for the aid and services the industry rendered.

Joseph M. Proskauer, campaign chairman, called the campaign the most successful in more than two decades. He gave particular praise to David Bernstein and Major Albert Warner, co-chairmen of the amusement industry division, and members of the various committees for their efforts.

Hollywood Gets Congress Thanks

(Continued from opposite page)

under the big table in the state dining room. Yet more is required.

Out in the capital of screen production there is a genuine desire to have the industry's representation both worthy and imposing. From the "Mr. Big" of every studio, to the humblest starlet who hopes to win a place in the Washington caravan, there is a splendid cooperation. This year the Washington round-up was directed by Joseph M. Schenck of Twentieth-Century-Fox, who was vice chairman of the Infantile Paralysis Foundation. He had the assistance of every studio head in the organized industry. Louis B. Mayer helped. So did Ned Depinet. So did Y. Frank Freeman, of Paramount, and Jack Warner.

So there gathered at the White House for luncheon on Thursday afternoon, January 30, with the President and Mrs. Roosevelt in the honor seats such stars as Deanna Durbin; Lana Turner; Wallace Beery and his daughter Carol Ann; Preston Foster; Charlotte Greenwood; Constance Moore; Kay Aldridge; Jean Hersholt; George Raft; Al Ritz; Maureen O'Hara; Stirling Hayden; Glenn Ford; and Benny Goodman, with Tommy Harmon—football's 1940 immortal—and Clifton Fadiman, of Information Please, as added attractions, and Jay C. Flippen from Broadway to supply fun, with Lauritz Melchior of the Metropolitan Opera, provided pleasant entertainment.

I think I speak for the people of Washington when I say that they are grateful for this annual influx of glamour. We are grateful not only because it helps a humanitarian cause but for more selfish reasons: We like these personal appearances and these close-up peeps of those who give us such an abundance of fun and diversion through the year.

I think it is a wholesome thing, too, that these stars with fancy salaries can get a close-up of the men and women on Capitol Hill who legislate for a great industry as well as a great nation. They can see that we are not ogres trying to exact the last penny for Uncle Sam in amusement and income taxes, but conscientious legislators who try their very best to spread the burdens of government so that all, rich and poor, will bear a proportionate share.

Washington, then, says "Thanks to Hollywood and to Broadway. May you prosper in the right, and bring us bigger and better Januarys, not only helping the cause to better health for the afflicted but providing flashes of genius to soften and brighten a world that is overburdened with war and bitterness."

New York Allied Holds Third Meet

A third meeting of the newly formed New York State Allied was held Wednesday afternoon at the Hotel Lincoln, New York City, with organizer E. Thornton Kelly in attendance, as well as the New York City contingent, led by Max Cohen, of the Lido Theatre, Brooklyn.

Discussed were further organizational plans, and the proposed statewide meeting to be held within two months. Mr. Cohen and Robert Goldblatt, of North Tarrytown, are New York area representatives; Leonard Rosenthal and Abe Stone are from the Albany area; and two more are to be chosen at a meeting in Buffalo March 18th, to represent that territory—all six then are to function as an executive committee until regular officers are elected at the statewide meeting.

Allied of New Jersey will hold its annual convention in June, at Atlantic City.

CONEY ISLAND 'TONE' HIT BY BROADWAY GROUP

Theatres, Merchants and Police Enlisted in Campaign to Restrain "Shooting Galleries"

Renewed efforts by the Broadway Association, of merchants, general business and theatremen, and the city police, to "clean up" the Times Square and midtown entertainment sectors, were indicated this week as the Association sought the aid of theatre operators, motion picture and legitimate, and others, to banish "honky-tonks" from the area.

Shooting galleries, open-front fruit drink, hot dog, and souvenir stands, and stage and picture theatres specializing in girl shows and sensational or sexy films are again targets of the campaign to improve the tone of the amusement sector.

Robert K. Christenberry, president of the association, and general manager of the Hotel Astor is reported heading the new drive. He has enrolled a majority of the Broadway theatre operators in the Broadway Association and is reported to have secured their pledges to join in a cooperative plan to regulate the size and type of displays, use of bunting, flags, street barkers, etc., in an effort to banish Coney Island atmosphere.

Circuit Heads Members

Stanton Griffis, chairman of the Paramount executive committee, Oscar A. Doob, advertising and publicity chief of Loew's theatres, Walter Reade, head of Walter Reade Theatres, Max A. Cohen, of Cinema Circuit Corp. and Ray Whittaker, of the Shubert Theatrical Enterprises, are members of the Broadway Association's board of directors. It is the first time theatres and motion picture houses have been substantially represented in the organization which was originally founded by Broadway hotelmen, merchants and realtors.

William Morris, Jr., theatrical agent, is chairman of the Times Square committee of the association. Also active on the committee are Robert Weitman, manager of the Paramount theatre, Joseph Bernhard, president of the Warner theatre circuit, George Skouras, head of Skouras theatres, Mr. Doob, Mr. Whittaker, and John Sullivan of the Tyson ticket agency.

H. Frederick Bright, managing director of the association, and contact man for the promotion of the Association's "better Broadway" idea says the theatre committeemen and directors are unanimous in endorsement of the contention that emphasis on "quality entertainment" will improve Times Square business. The Broadway Association is one of the first cooperative efforts by theatremen to launch a joint campaign for the mutual betterment of the local industry, and its box office revenues. There is general agreement that the "honky-tonk" attractions, most of them of a transient nature, compete with established entertainment, and by attracting undesirable elements, deter many people from visiting Broadway shows.

Police cooperation has been pledged in the drive by Commissioner Valentine and Mayor LaGuardia. Deputy Commissioner Francis J. Kear is the department representative delegated to cooperate with the association's efforts to keep undesirables out of the amusement sector.

No substantial increase in arrests has been reported since the start of the association campaign last Fall. Routine patrol of the area by plainclothesmen and uniformed officers continues however, and they are reported to be less lenient on peddlers, and violators of license restrictions. The Association is exerting quiet but persistent pressure on city officials to increase the number of officers assigned to the area and achieve stricter enforcement of ordinances. They have also asked magistrates to curb peddling, begging, and petty racketeering in the area by handing out stiff sentences when arrests are made.

Paul S. Moss, license commissioner, announces that his bureau offers "full cooperation" to the Broadway Association and the Police Department in seeing that license regulations are fully met by Broadway establishments. He says special attention is being paid to violations of regulations which limit the size and type of advertising displays, prohibit the changing of motion picture titles, and ban the use of "pullers-in" and misrepresentative advertising. It is reported to be license bureau policy to issue warnings for violations, but to avoid the helpful publicity of arrests or court action. Violators of regulations reportedly find it very difficult to renew or obtain future permits.

Commissioner Moss denied a published report that certain Broadway theatres were violating the Sunday operation law by opening their doors before noon. He said that police and license bureau officers frequently check for violations and that all complaints are immediately investigated. No church, or other group, has made an official complaint alleging Sunday morning openings, he said. Saturday midnight shows are reported to constitute technical violation of the Sunday law, but no complaint has been filed against them for many years.

An amendment to the administrative code, in relation to obstructions, was recently introduced in the City Council by John M. Christensen, with the backing of the Broadway Association. It curbs the use of sidewalk displays extending more than three feet from the building line and prohibits sidewalk peddling.

Sunday Shows Attacked

The Rev. William B. Forney, executive secretary of the Lord's Day Alliance, reopened the question of Sunday pictures in Pennsylvania at Philadelphia last week when he announced he would ask the Legislature to pass a bill to prohibit children under 15 from attending Sunday motion pictures unless accompanied by an adult. The Sabbath blue law advocate expressed himself dissatisfied with local regulation of Sunday performances in Pennsylvania. In a visit to the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America office in New York, Dr. Forney discussed the Sunday movie question with Carl E. Milliken, secretary. Mr. Milliken explained the MPPDA was concerned chiefly with the quality and content of pictures and regarded Sunday regulation as a strictly local question.

Theatres Aid Greek Fund

The Orpheum theatre, one of the Gregory circuit of houses located in Terre Haute, Ind., and the Fountain theater are sponsoring a Greek War Relief campaign in cooperation with the city's two papers, the Star and the Tribune, and radio station WBOW. Mayor Joseph Duffy has issued a proclamation declaring the week of February 22nd Greek Relief Week and has further given permission to the theatres to promote funds for the campaign on tag-day on Saturday, March 1st. Midnight shows will be held on that night and capacity attendance is expected at both theatres.

CBS Seeks Aid For Television

The Columbia Broadcasting System, Inc., held a special secret meeting on Friday of last week of representatives of radio and television manufacturers in an effort to obtain assistance from that branch of the industry in furthering color television. The position of CBS is that it is not a manufacturing company but wants to do all it can to further color television.

In effect it said to the manufacturers, "In a few months we have advanced color television thus far in our laboratory, now it is up to you to work out manufacturing details and make color television practical."

CBS asked the companies to make 15 or 20 color receivers for field tests. Only Farnsworth showed any interest in the proposal.

Some of the manufacturing companies interested in commercial television were reported to believe that black and white television should be introduced on a general scale before color television, with its special problems, is undertaken.

Goldmark Sees Early Debut

Dr. Peter C. Goldmark, engineer in charge of CBS television activity, who developed the system as demonstrated in January to members of the Federal Communications Commission, was reported to have predicted recently "Color television will be ready to make its commercial debut this year." He also was reported to have said that color receivers could be manufactured on a commercial basis without adding substantially to the cost of the sets.

After the special television session last week behind closed doors, Adrian Murphy, executive director of television for CBS, declined to reveal the nature of the discussions held.

DuMont television, Paramount affiliate, meanwhile continued its special demonstrations at 515 Madison Avenue, New York, every Wednesday and Friday afternoon of the 15 frame-625 line television developed by the Allen B. DuMont Laboratories.

Those who attend the DuMont tests, including members of the National Television Systems Committee, which has recommended standards to the FCC, are asked to fill out a questionnaire. Spectators are asked if the color, detail, brilliance are satisfactory, if flicker at 5 to 10 feet away is objectionable, if jerkiness of motion is noticed, if the line structure can be noticed at the normal viewing distance. Also the visitors are asked if they have seen any of the 30-frame, 441 line television (used by RCA-NBC) and whether the 15 frame, 625 line pictures are "better," "the same" or "worse" than the 30-frame, 441-line images.

National Broadcasting Company has continued special tests and confined its program scheduled to two mobile unit pick-ups for the past several weeks. At the present time the most popular television program is the Saturday night telecast from Madison Square Garden of a track meet.

Philco and the Hazeltine Corporation also are continuing experiments on the use of frequency modulation (FM) for synchronization signals in television. The NTSC has recommended the use of FM for the sound part of television and at the next hearing in Washington, March 20th, may recommend that FM be standard for synchronization as well.

The General Electric Corporation in Schenectady was reported to have developed special floodlights for use in television studios that cut down the heat substantially. This would remove one of the chief difficulties of studio performances by living actors.

1,800 PROGRAMS FOR CHILDREN A WEEK

About 1,800 children's programs are broadcast each week in this country, according to a survey made by Mrs. Dorothy Lewis for the Radio Council on Children's Programs and the National Association of Broadcasters.

The most children's shows were talent programs in which children participated. About 12 per cent of the stations present no children's programs and 8 per cent rely solely on the networks for material of this kind, it was reported.

General Mills has donated $4,000 to the University of Iowa to conduct research towards finding ways and means of improving the intellectual quality of radio programs designed for children.

Five FM Radio Permits Granted

The total number of FM stations licensed for the country was increased to 39 this week when the Federal Communications Commission approved five new stations. There are approximately 60 applications for licences still pending.

The recent construction permits for FM stations were granted to the following:

Westinghouse Radio Stations, Inc., Philadelphia, Pa. Permit for station on 45.7 megacycles, to cover area of 9,300 square miles. (Population, 4,500,000).

Westinghouse Radio Stations, Inc., Boston, Mass. Permit for station on 46.7 megacycles, to cover area of 6,700 square miles. (Population, 3,400,000).

Westinghouse Radio Stations, Inc., Springfield, Mass. Permit for station on 48.1 megacycles, to cover area of 2,500 square miles. (Population, 500,000).

Westinghouse Radio Stations, Inc., Fort Wayne, Ind. Permit for station on 44.9 megacycles, to cover area of 6,100 square miles. (Population, 420,000).

Rockford Broadcasters, Inc., Rockford, Ill. Permit for station on 47.1 megacycles, to cover area of 3,900 square miles. (Population, 270,000).

Defense orders from radio manufacturing companies were reported to be causing a delay in the delivery of commercial FM equipment. However, FM Broadcasters, industry promotion organization, has predicted that in spite of this difficulty FM stations will be operating this summer in most of the leading cities in the country.

Columbia Series Ready

The first of a projected series of 36 one-reel animated subjects on the war, with script and commentary by Raymond Gram Swing, has been completed and will be released shortly by Columbia, according to Lawson Harris, president of Cartoon Films, Ltd. Six of the subjects, all of which are in color, are scheduled for release this season.

Arrest Eastman Thieves

New York police on Tuesday arrested five men charged with the theft of $30,000 worth of color film from the warehouse of the Eastman Kodak Company. They were arraigned on charges of larceny and receiving stolen goods. Arrests followed information that the stock was being offered to the trade at cut prices. Joseph Forsack, former Eastman employee, and Leo Astroff, a salesman, accused of buying $1,000 worth of stolen film, were among those held.

795 Stations In Radio Shift

All but 88 of the nation's 883 standard broadcasting stations will be required to shift their radio channels on March 29th, "radio's moving day" required by a North American radio treaty. Some listener confusion is expected but after the public gets used to finding stations at new places on the radio dial better reception is looked for because one of the purposes of the shift is to eliminate static and interference from Canadian, Mexican and Cuban broadcasting stations.

Most stations will be found at a position slightly higher on the dial. There are a number of exceptions. The general rules are as follows:

Stations now operating on channels of from 550 to 720 kilocycles, inclusive, will retain their present assignments.

Stations operating between 740 and 780 kilocycles will move up 10 kilocycles, or one channel.

Stations between 790 and 870 kilocycles will move up 20 kilocycles, or two channels.

Stations between 880 and 1,450 kilocycles will generally advance 30 kilocycles, three channels; twenty-five stations will advance 40 kilocycles, four channels.

Clear-channel stations will shift from 1,460-1,490 to 1,500-1,530 kilocycles.

Local stations on 1,500 kilocycles will move down one channel to 1,490 kilocycles.

Stations not ready to begin operation at the required date on the new channels will be required to go off the air by the FCC until ready to do so, it was reported. The official time for the shift is 3:00 AM, EST, March 29th.

Some 69 of the 86 radio stations in Canada will be required to shift under the terms of the same radio treaty, according to an announcement by Supply Minister Howe. The move will be made at the same time as the shift in the United States.

Film on Abrasives Produced

The story of abrasives from its first developments up to its use today in the various fields of manufacturing is the subject of a new 16 mm. sound film produced in cooperation with an industrial concern and added to the library of educational motion picture films circulated by the Bureau of Mines of the United States Department of the Interior. The film is 850 feet in length and runs approximately 24 minutes.

RCA Net $9,113,156

The 21st annual report of Radio Corporation of America, for 1940, released Wednesday by David Sarnoff, president, shows a net profit of $9,113,156, an increase of $1,030,345 over 1939. Total gross income amounted to $128,491,611 in 1940, compared with $110,494,398 in 1939, an increase of $17,997,213.

Operations for 1940 compared with 1939 show an increase in gross income of 16 per cent, an increase in net profit of 13 per cent, and an increase in the number of persons employed of 9 per cent.

After payment of all preferred dividends, earnings applicable to the common stock were equivalent to 42.5 cents per share compared with 35 cents per share for 1939.

Foley with Capitol

Joseph Foley, former exhibitor at Waterloo, has become associated with Capitol Pictures as Iowa representative, with headquarters in Des Moines.

Schaeffer Representing Ziehm

John Schaeffer, independent exchange manager in Philadelphia, is representing Authur Ziehm in that territory.

HOW THIS EXHIBITOR acquired an understanding of air-conditioning principles and methods so as to provide his theatre with air-conditioning facilities at the lowest cost possible for the results he sought, is told in the next issue of Better Theatres. It is a stimulating story of resourcefulness in meeting the needs of motion picture theatre operation today, and he tells it himself, from the appearance of the problem that faced him to its successful conclusion. And the air-conditioning system itself is also fully described, so that his article will prove a valuable source of guidance to many readers . . . ¶ This will be one of a group of special features on Air-Conditioning in this issue, appearing March 8th. Notable among them will be a review of the equipment now available to meet every theatre need. ¶ Additionally, in the March 8th issue "Suggestions by Burton" (Charles C. Burton, theatre architect) will begin as a regular feature of "Showplace," the departmental insert of Better Theatres devoted to theatre design, decoration and furnishings.

—in the March 8th issue of Better Theatres

PETRILLO MUSIC BATTLE THREATENS ACTOR PEACE

Federation Head Sets Deadline Saturday in Jurisdictional Dispute with Artists Guild

The struggle between Lawrence Tibbett's American Guild of Musical Artists, and James Caesar Petrillo's American Federation of Musicians, was tense at midweek with a showdown due on Saturday, when all instrumentalist numbers of the Guild were to have joined Mr. Petrillo's union. The dispute may involve the entire entertainment world through pledges of support given the Guild by its fellow unions in the Associated Actors and Artistes of America, parent actors' union; the Screen Actors Guild, Actors Equity, and the American Federation of Radio Artists. This support could, in a struggle with the musicians, disorganize all studio and theatre talent in the film industry.

Two weeks ago, the Guild's suit for an injunction to prevent Mr. Petrillo from forcing instrumentalists into his union, was dismissed by the Appellate Division of the New York State Supreme Court, which held the matter inter-union, not for the courts. The guild immediately took an appeal to the New York State Court of Appeals; but this action is not expected to avert a crisis Saturday.

Unions Hit by Arnold

Thurman Wesley Arnold, assistant United States Attorney General, foremost in prosecuting the anti-trust action which resulted in the consent decree, has been fulminating against actions by unions which appear to be subject to the theory under which anti-trust laws are enforced. But at the same time, he has complained that present laws are not applicable, and has asked Congress to make them so. He has mentioned the AFM-AGMA struggle, in criticism of the former, and in pointing to what he deems monopoly in unionism. Further, he has denounced Mr. Petrillo.

Pledges from other unions in the Four A's, for the musical artists' guild, may not go beyond financial aid, New York observers felt this week, attempting to discount the possibility of an "all-out" war in entertainment. The Four A's larger unions poured much money into their battle against the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees two years ago, and into the American Guild of Variety Artists, which they established to supersede the expelled American Federation of Actors as a vaudeville performers' union, and which is still insolvent. It is felt they do not wish to be embroiled in another such struggle, especially in view of the financial strength of the AFM, and its working alliance with the IATSE.

The current squabble grew from an ultimatum by Mr. Petrillo last August, that the instrumentalists of the guild—such as Jascha Heifetz, Efrem Zimbalist, and the like—were musicians, and so belonged in the AFM; and that they join it by Labor Day, or be barred from employment in theatres, on concert stages, with orchestra, and in recording studios. The AFM virtually rules most of these fields.

The guild's reply at the time was to seek a permanent injunction to restrain Mr. Petrillo. It obtained a temporary one, and Mr. Petrillo stayed execution of the "death sentence" pending court rulings. Dismissal of the Guild appeal by the New York State Supreme Court Appellate Division brought from Mr. Petrillo a new deadline: Saturday, March 1st.

Guild officials were reported in New York, at mid-week, to believe that, even without strong support from other Four A's unions, they could strike back at the Federation by having their members refuse to play with concert orchestras, in halls and on the radio. This, it is felt, would deprive such orchestras of bookings, because, it is said, the drawing card on all such programs is the instrumentalist or soloist.

Meanwhile, there was a juridical dispute in New York over the value of the Guild appeal to the New York Court of Appeals. Henry Friedman, AFM attorney said the guild could not appeal from the refusal of its injunction plea; that it could only appeal from the decision dismissing its bill of complaint.

Mr. Petrillo has already notified networks, recording studios, and the like, that, after March 1st, all soloists must carry an AFM card. This was regarded as Mr. Petrillo's "ultimatum", there being no need, observers pointed out, to directly threaten the guild.

Readers Claim Majority

Ninety per cent of the readers in the majors' home offices, in New York City, are members, the Eastern Screen Readers Guild announced last week. It also asserted East and West Coast units have resolved affiliation.

Business agents of the studio locals in the basic labor agreement were to query Pat Casey, producers' labor contact, Thursday, on the producers' opinions about the unions' recent demands for wage increases and changed working conditions. It is understood the agents want negotiations pushed, and are considering an appeal to the IATSE.

Anticipating negotiations with the producers, on a new contract to supplant that expiring April 10th, the Screen Writers Guild, Hollywood, is asking members for opinions on minimum salaries, elimination of "flat deals" under $5,000, and other problems. These opinions will be correlated for use by the bargaining committee.

The American Guild of Variety Artists national board decided this week to provide for increased wages in future contracts, if living costs rise.

Managers Win Contract

In Detroit, the newly formed Theatre Managers and Assistant Managers Union won its first contract. It is with Jack Broder, for his five houses. The contract provides a six day week, a week's vacation with pay, shorter hours, higher wages.

In the same city, George E. Browne, president of the IATSE, was expected Thursday, possibly to intervene in the dispute between the Building Service Employees Union, representing theatre janitors, and the United Detroit Theatres circuit, whose eight theatres have been picketed since December. The union, which is merely picketing, not having called a strike, asks $5 per eight hour day, six days per week, and recognition. Union officials have spoken over radio station WMBC in that city, assailing "greedy" circuit operators, and noting the conservatism of the union demands.

In New York City, the Radio Writers Guild obtained a closed shop contract last week from the National Broadcasting Company and the Columbia Broadcasting System. The contract provides, among other things, that writers will share in profits from sale of script rights to their work, to film companies, magazine publishers, or theatrical producers.

In Chicago, the janitors' union closed a contract with theatre owners, providing a five per cent wage increase this year, another next year.

To celebrate its 40th year, Local 135, Reading musicians' union will banquet March 16th. National secretary of the AFM, Fred Birnbach, will be principal speaker. James Petrillo, AFM president, may also attend.

In New York, the petition of the Metropolitan Projectionists Union for certification as the collective bargaining agency for six Long Island theatres of the Casey and Wheeler and Prudential circuits, was dismissed this week by the State Labor Relations Board, after Local 306 and the Empire State Operators Union had denied need for a new projectionist's union in the state.

Newly elected directors in the Pittsburgh Central Labor Union are Gene Urban, musicians' Local 60 and Donald Ackard, projectionists' union.

Publicity Directors Elect John Joseph

John Joseph, Universal advertising and publicity director, has been elected chairman of the Publicity Directors' Committee in Hollywood, it was announced Friday, February 21st.

Mr. Joseph in taking over the new position succeeds Harry Brand, studio publicity director of Twentieth Century-Fox, who completed his term of office. Robert Taplinger, Warner Studio publicity head, was elected vice-chairman.

Altec Signs Service Contracts

The Altec Service Corporation has signed contracts for sound service, repairs, replacement and booth equipment in 45 St. Louis theatres. The contracts, comprising one of the largest deals in the servicing field in recent months, were negotiated by Stanley Hand, Altec staff representative with Harry Arthur, of the St. Louis Amusement Co., Fanchon & Marco, Ansell Brothers, Sam Shucart, Bess Schulter, John Caporal, Clarence Turley and Frank Speros.

Two Companies Incorporate

Cameo production, with Sam Coslow, Matty Kemp and Harry E. Sokolov named as directors, is the first film enterprise to be incorporated at Sacramento, Calif., this year.

The Western Amusement Corp., a general theatrical business, was incorporated with Eddy Polo, A. B. McConnell and Sally Conway of Los Angeles as directors.

Plan Sale of F. & M. Theatre

Harry Arthur, Fanchon & Marco operator from St. Louis, Mo., flew to San Francisco with Joseph Blumenfeld, president of the Blumenfeld Circuit of 24 theatres in San Francisco, to discuss the sale of the Fanchon & Marco Orpheum theatre at Eighth and Market Streets.

French Film Opening

The French film "Pepe Le Moko," to be released in this country by Arthur Mayer and Joseph Burstyn, will have its American premiere March 3rd at the World theatre in New York. Prices are to be scaled up to $10 in a benefit for the France Forever Fund.

Mills Forms New Exchanges

Bernard H. Mills, former Republic Upstate New York and Michigan franchise holder, has organized the Equity Film Exchanges, Inc., with branches in New York, Albany and Buffalo, N. Y.

PITTSBURGH OWNERS ARGUE LOCAL BUSINESSMEN'S PLEA TO CUT GAMES

Circuit Heads, Independent Operators Attack Claims by Better Business Bureau That Games Stimulate Gambling

by MORT FRANK in Pittsburgh

Independent and circuit exhibitors alike have indicated that they will not voluntarily stop Bank Nights and other chance games following a barrage laid down by George Dennison, manager, for the Better Business Bureau. The Bureau, in an unusual action, is planning a campaign to abolish prize promotions by arousing public indignation if the theatres do not cease themselves, according to unofficial but authoritative local commercial and theatrical sources.

Following a meeting of Allied Motion Picture Theatre Owners of Western Pennsylvania, its secretary, Fred Herrington, declared that requesting theatres to stop Bank Nights because they were the cause of other gambling, was an insult to exhibitors.

Attack Called Unwarranted

Executives of the Warner Brothers and Harris Amusement circuits, operators of more than 30 theatres in metropolitan Pittsburgh, have thus far declined to issue any statement on the question raised by the Business Bureau, but privately some of them have said they believed the Bureau's attack was unwarranted and unjust, particularly in its implications that motion picture houses were stimulating bingo and other types of gambling.

"One reason for continuance of Bank Night and similar promotions," contended one theatre official, "was because of box-office competition from organizations, fraternal orders, and even churches." He pointed out that hundreds of groups in western Pennsylvania were sponsoring raffles, bingo games, "lucky," and other lotteries, many of them in existence long before theatre Bank Night was used.

The exhibitors also claim that Mr. Dennison's charge that maintaining Bank Nights substituted the element of chance and inferior merchandise for good product, is false. Poor pictures were in existence before chance games, one major exhibitor held, and abolishing them will not mean the end of poor product.

Refuting the Bureau's contention that movie patrons ridicule the movies by claiming a picture is poor if it's "a Bank Night show," the exhibitor emphasized that theatres would probably have to play the picture anyway, Bank Night or not.

Prime purpose of the campaign to wipe out theatre chance games is really to eliminate a rash of commercial lotteries throughout the city, Mr. Dennison declared. Reporting that bingo promoters had been contending that they had as much right to operate as theatres had to hold chance games, the Better Business Bureau said it had received several letters of commendation from independent exhibitors, for the drive.

No response has been received by Mr. Dennison since his letters were sent to 132 exhibitors in the city area.

Approximately 100 theatres stage some kind of prize promotion, according to Art England, partner in a company that sells merchandise awards to theatres.

Fred Herrington informed Mr. Dennison that about 25 per cent of the AMPTO members hold Bank Night or something similar. The AMPTO represents a little more than 50 per cent of local independent theatre houses. Most Warner and Harris theatres hold cash prize night every week.

The attack on prize games was started because last December the State Supreme Court refused to review an appeal from a Superior court decision ruling Bank Night a lottery and illegal. Superior Court had heard the case on appeal from a Beaver County suit, Commonwealth versus Lund.

Whether the Business Bureau will prosecute if the exhibitors continue to withhold reaction to its appeals, is questionable yet.

Question mark, and important factor in the course of the campaign, is expected to be the position of Harris Amusement Company. Former Senator Frank Harris, president, and John H. Harris, general manager, are powers in Republican politics. If legal action were begun, it would necessarily be through District Attorney Andrew Park or Governor James, both Republicans placed in office partly through support of the Allegheny County GOP vote. Mr. Park has not yet declared himself on the Bank Night situation.

Replying to Mr. Herrington's statements, Mr. Dennison claimed that "Theatres operating Bank Night in violation of Pennsylvania law are catering to and exploiting the gambling instincts of people. They prosper by baiting the public with small sums of prize money while they reap thousands. It is a numbers racket with a fancy front and comfortable seats.

"We are confident that those Allegheny County theatre owners who have the best interests of this community at heart will join with other responsible theatre owners throughout Pennsylvania who have abandoned the scheme."

Mr. Dennison said Pittsburgh was the only large city in the state where prize games were still allowed. Bingo was stopped by local authorities nearly two years ago, but has been reborn in the past few months in "great strength," according to several exhibitors.

Mississippi Rules

In its first decision regarding legality of Bank Night, the Mississippi Supreme Court has held, "Such practices cannot be considered public nuisances under the wager-gambling act passed by the state Legislature in 1938." In so ruling, the court voted solidly to affirm dismissal of a Harrison chancery court which sought "abatement" of the custom in two Saenger theatres at Gulfport, as well as recovery of $3,000 paid in admission fees on such occasions by the plaintiff "and other parties."

Associate Justice W. G. Roberds, writing the opinion, said he wanted to make it clear the court was not passing on Bank Nights as a lottery under criminal statutes of the state, but only as a public nuisance under Chapter 341, Laws of 1938, on which the case was based.

The suit was originally brought by Jack Whall, representing himself as a citizen of the state, requesting the court to "impound Saenger's funds in the Hancock county bank" against which a judgment could be rendered. The decision of the state's highest tribunal is considered to be of far-reaching significance because several trial courts have in recent months sustained injunction proceedings against Bank Night on the grounds they were "public nuisances."

An attempt by Saenger in December to show by affidavit that Bank Night practices had been discontinued for three months "prior to filing of the affidavit" and thus could not be still considered a "public nuisance" was voided by the court with the assertion "there is no proof that abandonment of the practice was in good faith and permanent." Another point brought in the final ruling was that "Bank Night is not a wager or a game."

Status Quo in Kentucky

In Louisville, Ky., Safety Director H. Watson Lindsey said Monday that he did not "see any point" in altering the status of bingo and Bank Night in Louisville.

Bank Night and bingo were held violations of the Kentucky statute last week by Assistant Attorney General Jesse K. Lewis, who declared it was the duty of local law enforcement officers to bring criminal proceedings against operators.

"The matter was gone into thoroughly by my predecessor, Sam McMeekin," Mr. Lindsey said. "It was agreed that only charitable and fraternal institutions would be permitted to use bingo as a source of income, and some Bank Nights could be established under restrictions.

"It was agreeable to everyone, and as long as the various institutions keep their word, I don't see any point in changing the situation."

A bill legalizing Bank Nights was passed by a special session of the General Assembly in 1938, but Mr. Lewis asserted that "bingo is illegal under Kentucky laws for the same reason that Bank Nights are illegal."

Previously Mr. Lewis had held that Bank Nights, at which theatres distribute prizes, come under the lottery ban. The 1940 Legislature put a tax on Bank Night prizes, but took the position that the tax did not legalize them.

MERCHANTS ORGANIZE TO REOPEN THEATRE

The local merchants of Little River, Kan., are organizing a cooperative company to buy equipment for the theatre in the business section of that city. The merchants feel that with the re-opening of the theatre, which closed some months ago, they will benefit by revived business in the immediate neighborhood.

Show "Heroic Greece"

Frank Norton's depiction of the people and life of Greece, "Heroic Greece," was shown in this country for the first time Thursday night, February 20th, at the Embassy and Rockefeller Center newsreel theatres, New York City. The short subject is ten minutes long, and was filmed in Greece by Mr. Norton, a producer of Greek films, who is distributing the short, his first film for American audiences.

Rooney Wins Poll

Mickey Rooney, in a poll conducted by Young America, a national weekly circulated to students of junior high school age, was chosen the No. 1 movie star. Other actors and actresses who trailed Mickey Rooney were Errol Flynn, Spencer Tracy, Gene Autry and Judy Garland.

Monogram To Produce "Pioneers"

Monogram has announced plans to star Tex Ritter in James Fenimore Cooper's "The Pioneers," to be made as a special feature with a high budget. Edward Finney will produce the picture for the company.

U.S. STUDIES USE OF FILMS TO TRAIN WAR WORKERS

Golden Reports on Survey by Government to Locate Film Facilities for Defense Needs

"Motion pictures have become a potent dynamic factor in the field of education, and in the present emergency their functions in this field will doubtless grow in importance, since it has been demonstrated that they offer an efficient means of conveying ideas quickly to large groups of workers."

Thus did the United States Government, on Monday, indicate another mission for motion pictures in the present war-and-defense situation, as disclosed by Nathan D. Golden, chief of the motion picture division of the U. S. Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, speaking to the 71st annual convention of the Department of Visual Education of the National Education Association at Atlantic City.

However, the Government offices declared, the screen, in its capacity as a significant aid to defense, "should not and will not be used as propaganda."

Exhibition Survey Made

Mr. Golden disclosed that a survey undertaken a few months ago by the United States Government, through the facilities of its Department of Commerce, in the interest of national defense, "promises to be helpful to the defense program in the location of motion picture (exhibition) facilities for the mass training of specialized crafts."

He said that through the information thus obtained it was possible to ascertain immediately, for example, which high schools and colleges in the United States are equipped to show motion pictures in the furtherance of such defense-program educational programs as may develop.

In the survey, just completed, 27,833 high schools and colleges were contacted, and replies were received from 17,500, or 63 per cent. Of the 1,725 colleges contacted, 1,424, or 83 per cent., replied. Of the 2,935 private and parochial high schools reached, 2,431 replied, or 80 per cent. Of the 23,617 public high schools covered, 14,725 made returns, or 62 per cent.

The survey covers 12,443 16-mm. motion-picture projectors and 2,447 35-mm. projectors owned by colleges and high schools. Of the 12,443 16-mm. projectors, 6,059 are silent and 6,384 are sound. Of the 2,447 35-mm. projectors, 1,624 are silent and 823 are sound.

Of the total number of projectors 12,411 16-mm. projectors and 2,426 35-mm. projectors are in colleges and high schools located in Continental United States. Of the 12,411 16-mm. projectors, 6,037 are silent and 6,374 sound. The 2,426 35-mm. projectors consist of 1,612 silent and 814 sound machines.

The survey shows that 4,182 silent 35-mm. film-strip projectors and 143 35-mm. sound film-strip projectors are in use in colleges and high schools.

Some 9,690 high schools and colleges failed to reply to the questionnaire, and Mr. Golden estimated that from 15 to 20 per cent of those have at least one projector.

Also, 7,526 schools said they have no permanent motion-picture equipment of any type, but certain of these indicated that they can borrow or rent as many as 5,578 16-mm. and 1,070 35-mm. projectors either from other schools or from commercial distributors.

"Many important industrial organizations have sponsored educational films and furnished free distribution of prints to schools," reported Mr. Golden. "Some of these companies have had a sufficiently broad vision to eliminate direct advertising and selling elements from their films," he added. "In such cases their efforts to reach the educational field have been notably successful. Others, having included a burdensome amount of advertising or blatant sales 'plugs,' have found that, to them, most educational channels of distribution have been closed.

"Industry, in part, has realized the value of the film in creating good will that finds expression in the years to come. Manufacturers are willing to invest in futures, and so they use the classroom, not to tell of the superiorities of a particular product, but to give a broad view of a process or an industry and to instill in the audience an appreciation of the part played by an industry in the march of American progress. Their contribution may fairly be considered a patriotic one deserving the wide acceptance that has been accorded their films," said Mr. Golden.

Specific Relationship to Defense Program

"Any keen observer of the current scene perceives at once the state of flux, the clashes, the swift changes and readjustments in political and social ideas in many regions of the world. On one point our own country stands firm and undeviating—that point being its devotion to the principles and methods of democracy.

"There is, one sometimes feels, an inadequate realization of the fact, that the motion picture—besides its main function of entertaining—is a medium so elastic that it can be highly effective during and after the building up of our Defense Program.

"Today, when Defense is the Number One project, there is no apparent reason why the motion picture should not be used as an important aid in the attainment of the goal of intelligent comprehension among the world's peoples, with consequent stabilization of vital interrelationships.

"The motion-picture industry, with its vast facilities and capable man-power, is now rendering valuable assistance to the Defense Program in producing motion pictures that will aid in the field of cultural relations and in the training of our armed forces. Films showing the best methods for expediting industrial processes, strengthening home defense, and furthering many other educational objectives essential to total preparedness, can easily be made," Mr. Golden observed.

The motion picture, in its capacity as a significant aid to Defense measures, should not and will not be used as propaganda. The industry fully realizes that motion pictures, to be really useful in carrying out their true Defense objectives, must be enlightening, instructive, and devoid of any intent to sway the individual opinions of the persons who enjoy them and benefit substantially from them.

Carrier Plans Set

Carrier Corporation's dealers convention will be held in Syracuse, N. Y., February 24th and 25th, and plans for the conclave are completed. The company officials at the same time announced the sale of the organization's plant in New Brunswick, N. J., to Harris-Hub Bed and Spring Co. of Chicago.

Grant Transferred

Wilbur Grant, northern Indiana representative for Universal in Indianapolis, has been transferred by the company to Philadelphia. Frank Reimer succeeds him in the Indianapolis post.

Army Chief Inspects Coast Military Reels

Major General J. O. Mauborgne, chief signal officer of the United States Army, in charge of the production of all military training films, arrived in Hollywood this week to confer with the Producers' Defense Coordination Committee and to inspect the first two Army films produced in Hollywood. General Mauborgne conferred with officers of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences research council, which is supervising production of the training subjects at Coast studios. General Mauborgne attended the Academy Awards banquet on Thursday night as the guest of Colonel Nathan Levinson, vice-chairman of the research council, and on Friday was scheduled to dine at the 20th Century-Fox studios with officers of the Academy, the Association of Motion Picture Producers and the Defense committee as guest of Lieutenant Colonel Darryl F. Zanuck, chairman of the research council.

Mr. Zanuck, Mr. Levinson, and Captain Gordon S. Mitchell, manager of the research council, will return to Washington with General Mauborgne to deliver the initial films to the War Department.

Select Will Distribute Six Feature Pictures

Select Attractions, Inc., by arrangement with Affiliated Producers Corp., has announced contracts signed for the production of six feature pictures by Myron C. Fagan in association with Celebrity Productions, Inc. The pictures will be distributed by Select as part of the 1941-42 product program.

Mr. Fagan is now in Hollywood to start production immediately and the first picture will be released May 1st.

Savini Named Hughes Agent

Robert M. Savini, independent distributor, has been named New York representative for Howard Hughes. Mr. Savini in recent years, has headed Promotional Pictures, Inc., and Astor Pictures, and was sales manager for Atlantic Pictures Corp., all independent firms. Mr. Hughes' next production, "The Outlaw," will be sold by Twentieth Century-Fox as a special film beginning next month.

F. & M. To Produce Follies

Sam Shayon, of the New York Fanchon & Marco office, has returned from Springfield, Mass., the latest stop of the Shipstad & Johnson Ice Follies tour, and brought back a contract for Miss Fanchon to produce the next season's edition of the show. The 1941-42 edition will be Miss Fanchon's third consecutive assignment for the production.

Fabian, Moses Exchange

The Fabian circuit has taken over the Palace theatre in Port Richmond, N. Y., from Charles Moses, who, in turn, has acquired from Fabian the Staten at New Dorp, Staten Island. The deal gives Mr. Moses two theatres in New Dorp and Fabian two in Port Richmond.

Gilman Awarded Button

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer has awarded an Honor Roll Button to Sam Gilman, manager of Loew's, Dayton, Ohio, for his campaign on "Bitter Sweet."

'Wind' Length Film Planned

by LUIS BECERRA CELIS
in Mexico City

Now that production has resumed after settlement of difficulties with the National Cinematographic Workers Union arising from a jurisdictional dispute with Enrique Solis, secretary general of the producers' section of the union, Mexican producers have become ambitious. Miguel Zacarias, who has several successful films to his credit, has started work on a picture in the dimensions of "Gone With the Wind."

Titled "Papa se Enreda Otra Vez" ("Papa Gets in a Jam Again"), the film is to cost $85,000, the most yet spent for a picture made by Mexicans, and will be 180,000 feet long. Like "Wind" it is to be exhibited in two parts, with an intermission between, something new for a Mexican picture. Release is set for late in April.

A film story of the unfortunate agrarian experiment in the Laguna district, which produces most of Mexico's best cotton, is to be made on the ground by Chano Urueta. The Laguna agrarian experiment was started during the administration of ex-President Lazaro Cardenas.

"Marcela" Gets Award

There was a bit of irony in the best Mexican picture award of the newspaper and magazine Film Critics Association. The honor was bestowed on "Mala Yerba" ("Marcela"), produced and directed by Gabriel Soria who has the distinction of winning five times in succession the annual gold medal bestowed by the local newspaper Excelsior for outstanding picture work.

"Mala Yerba" was a box office failure in Mexico, so much so that it was withdrawn after it had shown only four days at its premiere here. But the critics held that the film was an artistic success.

The Association selected Fernando Soler, veteran stage-screen actor, as the best male film player and Sara Garcia the best actress in Mexican pictures in 1940. Ross Fisher, an American, was chosen the best cameraman of the year.

RCA Promotes Employees

RCA Photophone has promoted two service and engineering experts to new positions, according to Edward C. Cahill, RCA Photophone division manager. M. J. "Mike" Yahr, formerly Photophone commercial engineer at Camden, N. J., has been assigned to the newly created position of product manager for the company at Indianapolis. Carl Johnson, after 11 years in the RCA service organization, has been appointed to Mr. Yahr's former position.

PRC Closes Contract Deal

Pathe Laboratories' Atlanta franchise holder, Ike Katz of Producers Releasing Corporation, has closed a deal on "Beast of Berlin" with the Publix Wilby-Kincey Circuit for their houses in North and South Carolina.

Sherwood in New York

Robert C. Sherwood, who produced "Adam Had Four Sons" for Columbia, arrived in New York last week to discuss plans for a second picture for the company.

Standard Theatres Makes Staff Personnel Changes

Numerous personnel changes have been effected in the personnel of Standard Theaters Corp. during the past 30 days in Oklahoma City, Okla. Standard controls the first-run situation there.

Johnny Jones, assistant manager of the Criterion, downtown first-run, has resigned to take charge of the Ritz theater in Shawnee, Okla., owned and operated by his father, Jake Jones, who is reported to be seriously ill. Mathew Trotter has been promoted from chief of service at the Criterion to assistant replacing Mr. Jones.

Robert Busch has resigned as manager of the Midwest theater, downtown first-run, to become resident manager of new Uptown theater which was opened there for business February 1st by Charles Ferris, Oklahoma City business man. Julius Krisch, short subjects booker, has been transferred to manager of the Midwest, succeeding Mr. Busch. E. Frank Roberts has succeeded Mr. Krisch in the Standard central office as booker.

Gordon Derrick, assistant manager of the Warner, has resigned to accept a position with an oil company in Galveston, Tex. Paul Jones, doorman at the Liberty theater, was promoted to assistant manager of the Warner, succeeding Mr. Derrick. Paul Townsend, manager of the Liberty and Warner theaters, now has a third house, the remodeled and recently reopened Folly, under his management. Joe Wallace, formerly chief of service at the State, Oklahoma City, is house manager of the Folly under Mr. Townsend.

Ed Guthrie has been named assistant to Townsend at the Liberty. W. C. Lewellen, formerly with Joe Cooper interests of downtown theater operation and Forrest Swiger is supervisor of all Standard suburban operations.

Joe Cooper, New York City, president of Standard Theaters, is scheduled to arrive in Oklahoma City during the next few weeks to take over active management of the circuit. At that time Bert Stern, Criterion manager and director of advertising for the circuit, has announced he will resign to return to booking of legitimate stage attractions for the Shrine Auditorium in Oklahoma City. Walter B. Shuttee, general manager of the circuit for two years, resigned January 1 to enter the exhibition field for himself, having purchased two houses in Cherokee, Okla.

Menken Assigned to Asia

A. J. Richard, chief of Paramount News, has announced that Arthur Menken, Paramount cameraman, has been assigned to southeastern Asia where "big news" is expected at any moment. Mr. Menken will board the next available trans-Pacific Clipper plane for Hong Kong, the first stop on a trip to Singapore, the Philippines, the Dutch East Indies and other Oriental danger spots.

Outdoor Advertising Censored

The Bureau of Police and Fire, which holds censorship powers over stage and screen attractions in Providence, R. I., has recently exercised its authority on poster advertising. Written approval by the Bureau of all outdoor advertising before display is provided in an ordinance which also sets a ten dollar fine for violation of the regulation.

Two Receive MGM Award

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer has awarded Honor Roll Buttons to David Murphy of the State theatre in Altoona, Pa., and John P. Read of the Riviera in St. Paul, Minn., for their campaigns on "Flight Command" and "Land of Liberty," respectively.

Exposed Films Lead Exports

According to a report from Washington, D. C., the complete figures for the year 1940 compiled by the Department of Commerce on motion picture exports with exposed films leading with a value of $4,035,493 for 189,321,259 linear feet.

Other figures for the year as reported by the Department were: Sensitized, not exposed, less than one inch in width; positive, 12,630,214 linear feet valued at $133,117, and negative, 20,033,010 linear feet valued at $452,123.

One inch or more in width, positive, was reported at 74,129,985 linear feet valued at $683,839 and negative, 20,454,288 linear feet valued at $514,372. Negative (exposed or exposed and developed), features (4,000 linear feet or over) were reported at 7,562,099 linear feet valued at $321,755. Others (less than 4,000 linear feet) included newsreels at 274,397 linear feet valued at $10,125 and other short reels, etc., at 2,014,976 linear feet valued at $88,572.

Under positive films, features (4,000 feet or over) were reported at 141,413,331 linear feet valued at $2,745,173 and less than 4,000 linear feet; newsreels, 6,830,055 linear feet valued at $123,357 with other shorts, 31,226,401 linear feet valued at $746,511.

Freeman Honored At Hollywood Dinner

Louis B. Mayer was host February 20th at a dinner honoring Y. Frank Freeman on his reelection as president of the Association of Motion Picture Producers, attended by many film executives.

At the party, held at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, Mr. Freeman was lauded by Mr. Mayer and other speakers for "leading the Association of Motion Picture Producers through one of the organization's most difficult years." Mr. Freeman, as a Paramount executive, and Cliff Work, Universal production executive, also were praised for being largely instrumental in the progress of their respective companies during the past year. Mr. Freeman received an ebony gavel from the group in tribute.

Other speakers were Will H. Hays, Samuel Goldwyn, Harry Cohn, E. J. Mannix, George Schaefer, Cliff Work, Harry Warner and Mendel Silberberg. Also attending the affair were Fred Beetson, Harry Brand, Pat Casey, William Goetz, B. B. Kahane, Jock Lawrence, J. R. McDonough, J. J. Nolan, Fred Pelton, Hal Roach, Darryl F. Zanuck, Howard Strickling, George Cohen, Herbert Freston, Jack Karp, E. J. Loeb and Alfred Wright.

Select Closes Contract

Select Attractions, Inc., have closed contracts with Berkson & Mills, Equity Film Exchange, Inc., of New York, for the handling of its 1941-42 product in the New York territory which includes Greater New York, Albany and Buffalo. The first release by Equity will be "City of Missing Girls," directed by Elmer Clifton with H. B. Warner, Astrid Allwyn and John Archer.

First Run Policy Set

Following the revival showing of "Rebecca" the Hawaii theatre on Hollywood Boulevard, Hollywood, Calif., will return to first run policy with 55-cent admission, according to Al Galston and Jay Sutton, operators of the theatre.

WHAT THE PICTURE DID FOR ME

IN this, the exhibitors' own department, the theatremen of the nation serve one another with information on the box-office performance of product for their mutual benefit. It is a service of the exhibitor for the exhibitor. Address all communications to—
What the Picture Did for Me
Rockefeller Center, New York
MOTION PICTURE HERALD

Columbia

ESCAPE TO GLORY: Pat O'Brien, Constance Bennett—Some liked it but I didn't. Business fair to good, so guess it is O. K. Running time, 74 minutes. A. E. Eliasen, Rialto Theatre, Paynesville, Minn. Small town and rural patronage.

GIRLS UNDER 21: Bruce Cabot, Rochelle Hudson—Does not seem to matter how old the program pictures are if the title appeals. They came. Double billed one day to capacity. Running time, 63 minutes. Played February 4.—A. E. Andrews, Emporium Theatre, Emporium, Penna. General patronage.

HE STAYED FOR BREAKFAST: Melvyn Douglas, Loretta Young—Enjoyed a nice mid-week business on this picture. It was far from a sellout but have no complaints.—Harland Rankin, Plaza Theatre, Tilbury, and Alexander Theatre, Wallaceburg, Ontario, Canada. General patronage.

I MARRIED ADVENTURE: Mrs. Martin Johnson—We find it pays to push a show of this type as the farm trade goes for animal pictures. This was good and nobody kicked. Several shots in this were terrific. Running time, 75 minutes.—A. E. Eliasen, Rialto Theatre, Paynesville, Minn. General patronage.

SO YOU WON'T TALK: Joe E. Brown—Very good show. One of the best he ever made. Running time, 69 minutes. Played January 14-16.—Joe Schindele, Granite Theatre, Granite Falls, Minn. Small town patronage.

THUNDERING FRONTIER, THE: Charles Starrett, Iris Meredith—Good western with very good music. Fair draw but pleased. Running time, 60 minutes.—A. E. Eliasen, Rialto Theatre, Paynesville, Minn. Small town and rural patronage.

First National

MAN WHO TALKED TOO MUCH, THE: George Brent, Virginia Bruce, Brenda Marshall—This is a very good picture and we ran it with "The Showdown" and made a nice double feature, with plenty of action in both features. Good for bargain night but hardly suitable for your best time.—Mayme P. Musselman, Princess Theatre, Lincoln, Kan. Small town patronage.

SANTA FE TRAIL: Errol Flynn, Olivia de Havilland, Raymond Massey, Ronald Reagan—I expected terrific business on this one but it only turned out somewhat better than average. It certainly is a superb picture and everyone liked it greatly. However, will they never stop asking me why they gave it the title they did? My best answer is that they got the "Santa" because it came out near Christmas; the "Fe" is the abbreviation of the price or fee we pay for it; and the "Trail" is short for the trailer. Anyway, I still think it is a dandy picture and I could use many more. Running time, 110 minutes. Played February 14-15.—W. Varick Nevins III, Alfred Co-Op Theatre, Alfred, N. Y. Small college town and rural patronage.

SANTA FE TRAIL: Errol Flynn, Olivia de Havilland, Raymond Massey, Ronald Reagan, Alan Hale—A swell show but personally believed our public is getting tired of all these colossal epics. We did above average business with this, however. Played February 2-3.—Burris and Henley Smith, Imperial Theatre, Pocahontas, Ark. Rural patronage.

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer

BITTER SWEET: Jeanette MacDonald, Nelson Eddy—We just can't sell this pair and starve to death every time we run one of their pictures. Nothing wrong with them except that there aren't enough patrons who will go for it to make the try worthwhile. Never again and we mean it.—Mayme P. Musselman, Princess Theatre, Lincoln, Kan. Small town patronage.

BITTER SWEET: Jeanette MacDonald, Nelson Eddy—These stars do not have the draw they used to have. Picture very good for this type.—Harold Smith, Dreamland Theatre, Carson, Iowa. Rural patronage.

BOOM TOWN: Clark Gable, Spencer Tracy, Claudette Colbert, Hedy Lamarr—A very good show that drew good and pleased all. Running time, 120 minutes. Played January 12-14. Joe Schindele, Avalon Theatre, Granite Falls, Minn. Small town patronage.

COME LIVE WITH ME: James Stewart, Hedy Lamarr, Ian Hunter—Audience classification, adult. Hedy Lamarr, a second Vivien Leigh, was very beautiful and extremely talented. An Austrian, she was about to be deported and within twenty four hours but a hasty marriage to a man, James Stewart, whom she had never seen, saved the day. However, she had become engaged to Ian Hunter, a married man. Their escapades very exciting and hilarious at times but all is well that ends well. And the temporary marriage of Hedy and Jimmie turned out to be permanent. Hedy and Jimmie are stars of the first magnitude and their lustre will shine for many years to come. Running time, 85 minutes. Played February 12-18.—William Noble, Criterion Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. General patronage.

COMRADE X: Clark Gable, Hedy Lamarr—Poor by any standards. Not what people expected and they were very outspoken in their criticisms. The stars may get them in but they won't keep them coming after a couple of these. Running time, 89 minutes.—A. E. Eliasen, Rialto Theatre, Paynesville, Minn. Rural and small town patronage.

COMRADE X: Clark Gable, Hedy Lamarr—Good picture, fair business. Running time, 86 minutes. Played February 12-13.—E. M. Freiburger, Paramount Theatre, Dewey, Okla. Small town patronage.

COMRADE X: Clark Gable, Hedy Lamarr—This feature did less business than any Gable picture that we have ever run but it pleased all that came out to see it. I would advise anyone to run it, if they can buy it right enough to comply with your possibilities. It is a very good picture, new as the morning paper in theme, has some good comedy, very good acting and worth a date, if bought right.—Mayme P. Musselman, Princess Theatre, Lincoln, Kan. Small town patronage.

DR. KILDARE'S CRISIS: Lew Ayres, Robert Young, Lionel Barrymore, Laraine Day—I believe that this was the best of the series. It had a good draw and was well liked. It lacks the comedy of the others but that's the only thing one could kick about. Running time, 75 minutes.—A. E. Eliasen, Rialto Theatre, Paynesville, Minn. Rural and small town patronage.

DR. KILDARE'S CRISIS: Lew Ayres, Lionel Barrymore, Laraine Day, Robert Young—On a par with any of the preceding pictures of this series. Our patrons like them and they draw average or better, but Metro allocates them too high for us to make any money. If in the proper price bracket, book it, because the picture will please but don't pay a premium to get it.—Mayme P. Musselman, Princess Theatre, Lincoln, Kan. Small town patronage.

EDISON THE MAN: Spencer Tracy, Rita Johnson—Exceptionally good performance by Spencer Tracy and the whole cast. Entertaining as well as educating. A very good show. Enjoyed by all my patrons. Running time, 90 minutes. Played February 8.—A. L. Dove, Bengough Theatre, Bengough, Saskatchewan, Can. Rural and small town patronage.

ESCAPE: Norma Shearer, Robert Taylor, Nazimova—Business was very good on this one and I was agreeably surprised. It is a splendid picture, well enacted, and contains many scenes full of suspense. Conrad Veidt is exceptional in his part. It is quite different from other current Nazi films. Running time, 104 minutes. Played February 11.—W. Varick Nevins III, Alfred Co-Op Theatre, Alfred, N .Y. Small college town and rural patronage.

ESCAPE: Norma Shearer, Robert Taylor, Nazimova—An excellent picture. Give it everything you've got. Business good. Running time, 103 minutes. Played January 17-20.—Joe Schindele, Granite Theatre, Granite Falls, Minn. Small town patronage.

FLIGHT COMMAND: Robert Taylor, Ruth Hussey—A good production that had a very good draw. This was, in my opinion, the best thing Taylor ever made and we are looking forward to more of this type with Taylor as the star. Running time, 114 minutes.—A. E. Eliasen, Rialto Theatre, Paynesville, Minn. Small town and rural patronage.

FLIGHT COMMAND: Robert Taylor, Ruth Hussey, Walter Pidgeon, Paul Kelly—This was one of the best shows that we have had for over two months and it did a nice business, much better than many of the supposedly artistic triumphs, not built for the masses. We had so many favorable comments that it was really worthwhile to show a picture again that satisfied and drew on all three nights. Book it as soon as you can, advertise it, then relax and enjoy the business.—Mayme P. Musselman, Princess Theatre, Lincoln, Kan. Small town patronage.

FLIGHT COMMAND: Robert Taylor, Ruth Hussey—A couple of overlong sequences near the end of this one are the only things that mar a very good picture. Business was satisfactory and the crowd seemed to enjoy the thrilling airplane fights of which there are many. I was glad to get quite a new date on it as that always is a help. Running time, 114 minutes. Played February 13.—W. Varick Nevins III, Alfred Co-Op Theatre, Alfred, N. Y. Small college town and rural patronage.

GO WEST: Marx Bros.—Gave us the best business for some time. I believe it will rank as their best effort. We played it Sunday and would say for you to do the same. Running time, 82 minutes.—A. E. Eliasen, Rialto Theatre. Paynesville, Minn. Small town and rural patronage.

GO WEST: Marx Bros.—We had one of our best Sundays in months with this picture and that really goes to show that people are looking for comedy. They're just the same as always but the music is appreciated. Groucho is too fast for my crowd but they get some of it. I'd play it on my best days again. It's just what the doctor ordered.—Mayme P. Musselman, Princess Theatre, Lincoln, Kan. Small town patronage.

HAUNTED HONEYMOON: Robert Montgomery, Constance Cummings—They like it. Business good for a bargain night. Will please those who like a little mystery in their diet. Running time, 83 minutes.—A. E. Eliasen, Rialto Theatre, Paynesville, Minn. Small town and rural patronage.

HAUNTED HONEYMOON: Robert Montgomery, Constance Cummings—This did a very nice bargain night business and seemed to satisfy the patrons. It's the old court trial or murder mystery that gets them in, now, unless you have comedy. The picture is worth a playdate, but not on your best time.—Mayme P. Musselman, Princess Theatre, Lincoln, Kan. Small town patronage.

KEEPING COMPANY: Frank Morgan, Ann Rutherford, John Shelton, Irene Rich—A very pleasing picture. No stars to bring them in, but an excellent performance from the entire cast, with Virginia Weidler and Frank Morgan walking off with the laurels. What a star Virginia is going to be! Will please if you can get them in. Running time, 80 minutes. Played January 17-19.—Gladys E. McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kan. Small town patronage.

LAND OF LIBERTY: Special—A picture you owe your patrons. Get your local Legion or Auxiliary behind it. The MPPDA will help you with a mailing campaign. Be sure your school sees it in a body. An excellent job of editing by De Mille and presented not so much as patriotic propaganda but acts as a reminder the price people once paid for the freedom we now enjoy. As one who now enjoys this freedom you should make every effort to get as many people to see it as humanly possible. Running time, 110 minutes. Played February 3-4.—E. A. Reynolds, Strand Theatre, Princeton, Minn. Small town and rural patronage.

LITTLE NELLIE KELLY: Judy Garland, George Murphy—Very nice little show that did very good business. This star has a nice following here. We are waiting for her next so we can pay off a few more bills. Running time, 104 minutes.—A. E. Eliasen, Rialto Theatre, Paynesville, Minn. Small town and rural patronage.

STRIKE UP THE BAND: Mickey Rooney, Judy Garland, Paul Whiteman, June Preisser—Personally, I did not see much to rave about in this one. It had been shown all around here so do not know what it would do with an early date, but I consider it Mickey Rooney's poorest picture. It is at least a reel too long. Excellent music furnished by Paul Whiteman and orchestra and comedy mostly furnished by June Preisser. What a wow that girl is. I would like to see her teamed with Mickey Rooney, in the lead. She is there with the comedy and that's what they want. A good production but not up to Mickey's standard. Running time, 121 minutes. Played January 24-26.—Gladys E. McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kan. Small town patronage.

WYOMING: Wallace Beery, Leo Carrillo, Ann Rutherford, Joseph Calleia—Made to order for the small town. Marjorie Main and Wallace Beery make a wonderful team. Little Bobs Watson is just about perfect, and gee, how that kid can bawl. Action, comedy and thrills pleased one hundred per cent here. Say, Leo, when was "A Bird in A Gilded Cage" written? I may be mistaken, but I did not think it dated back to Custer's time. Anyway, it was plenty good. Running time, 89 minutes. Played January 10-12.—Gladys E. McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kan. Small town patronage.

Paramount

CHEROKEE STRIP: Richard Dix, Florence Rice, Victor Jory—As good or better than any western we've ever ran for Saturday business. Wish we'd stuck it on Sunday-Monday. Honestly believe it that good. Played February 15.—Burris and Henley Smith, Imperial Theatre, Pocahontas, Ark. Rural patronage.

DANCING ON A DIME: Grace MacDonald, Robert Paige—A very good small picture which did nice week-end business. Everyone seemed pleased.—Harland Rankin, Plaza Theatre, Tilbury, and Alexander Theatre, Wallaceburg, Ontario, Canada. General patronage.

DANCING ON A DIME: Grace MacDonald, Robert Paige—Played with Bingo and pleased all. Nice little picture for bottom half or cash night. Played February 12.—C. A. Skelly, New Lamax Theatre, Wilmington, Ohio. General patronage.

DOOMED CARAVAN: William Boyd, Russell Hayden, Andy Clyde—"Hopalong Cassidy" series. Good picture; good business. Running time, 62 minutes. Played February 14-15.—E. M. Freiburger, Paramount Theatre, Dewey, Okla. Small town patronage.

I WANT A DIVORCE: Dick Powell, Joan Blondell—Not bad and not good; just fair. Placed on Bank Nights and "Boys from Syracuse" the previous week hurt it. The public is quick to penalize for other's mistakes. Running time, 97 minutes. Played February 5-6.—A. E. Andrews, Emporium Theatre, Emporium, Penna. General patronage.

LOVE THY NEIGHBOR: Jack Benny, Fred Allen, Mary Martin, "Rochester"—Much adverse criticism on this and poorer business. Benny and Allen should never appear on the screen if they want to keep their popularity. Running time, 82 minutes.—A. E. Eliasen, Rialto Theatre, Paynesville, Minn. Small town and rural patronage.

LOVE THY NEIGHBOR: Jack Benny, Fred Allen, Mary Martin, Eddie "Rochester" Anderson—I've seen far less crowds come to a better picture. Swell business. Radio talent pictures should step up the pace to compare favorably with fast gag air shows. Played February 2-4.—C. A. Skelly, New Lamax Theatre, Wilmington, Ohio. General patronage.

MOON OVER BURMA: Dorothy Lamour, Preston Foster, Robert Preston—I was expecting too much from this one so was disappointed in what it done for me. Belongs in the second allocation. Running time, 74 minutes. Played February 12.—A. E. Andrews, Emporium Theatre, Emporium, Penna. General patronage.

NIGHT AT EARL CARROLL'S, A: Ken Murray, Rose Hobart—Just a picture visit to the famous theatre restaurant. Very weak story but will stand bargain night. Played February 14.—Burris and Henley Smith, Imperial Theatre, Pocahontas, Ark. Rural patronage.

NORTH WEST MOUNTED POLICE: Gary Cooper, Madeleine Carroll, Paulette Goddard, Robert Preston, Lynne Overman—Very sweet picture; very sweet business. All characterizations perfect. Will please all who will talk. My pick, Lynne Overman, okie. Played February 9-11.—C. A. Skelly, New Lamax Theatre, Wilmington, Ohio. General patronage.

SHOWDOWN, THE: William Boyd, Russell Hayden—This was on a par with the Hopalong Cassidy westerns and while it didn't draw average, road conditions were against the run, and my chewers and spitters have just about run out of anything to use for money. Westerns will do business, just as soon as farmers get going. Date it, even if it is old, and they'll like it.—Mayme P. Musselman, Princess Theatre, Lincoln, Kan. Small town patronage.

Republic

ARKANSAS JUDGE: Weaver Brothers and Elviry—Good picture; good business. Running time, 72 minutes. Played February 16-17.—E. M. Freiburger, Paramount Theatre, Dewey, Okla. Small town patronage.

MELODY RANCH: Gene Autry, Jimmy Durante, Ann Miller, Barbara Allen (Vera Vague)—Every time that I complete the playing of one of Autry's pictures. I venture the hope that the next one will hit the spot. The name Gene Autry still brings them in, but if they continue in the slipshod manner as they have in the past, his pictures are most certainly to suffer at the box office. Radio scripts, street cars for barricade smashers may look well enough to the makers of Autry's pictures, but the people who have rallied around his banner in the recent years and the smaller theatres who have run his pictures since the beginning want him in a different type picture. At present he is the idol of the kids of America. It would be interesting to know how many pairs of kids' ears are glued to the radio for his Sunday's broadcasts. Republic has in Gene Autry some very valuable star property and I for one would like to see them put him "Back in the Saddle Again," film, the picture in the glorious old west, let Gene sing some of those grand western songs with Smiley as a helper and we'll all be happier. Running time, 84 minutes. Played February 5-7.—E. A. Reynolds, Strand Theatre, Princeton, Minn. Small town and rural patronage.

MELODY RANCH: Gene Autry, Jimmy Durante, Ann Miller, Barbara Allen (Vera Vague)—This is the poorest Autry we have ever played. There is something missing when Smiley Burnette isn't along. Pretty good business against "Boom Town." Running time, 84 minutes. Played January 10-13.—Joe Schindele, Granite Theatre, Granite Falls, Minn. Small town patronage.

ROCKY MOUNTAIN RANGERS: Three Mesquiteers (Robert Livington, Raymond Hatton, Duncan Renaldo)—Played this on a double bill with "Dancing on a Dime," satisfying our farm lads, also the cashier with enough returns to play our wages.—Harland Rankin, Plaza Theatre, Tilbury, and Alexander Theatre, Wallaceburg, Ontario, Canada. General patronage.

RKO Radio

ALONG THE RIO GRANDE: Tim Holt, Ray Whitley—Good western that seemed to please. Holt is getting quite a draw here after his first appearance in "Laddie." Running time, 60 minutes.—A. E. Eliasen, Rialto Theatre, Paynesville, Minn. Rural and small town patronage.

DREAMING OUT LOUD: Lum & Abner, Frances Langford—Very good business. We told them not to come unless they enjoyed these two radio stars and I guess the farm trade does. Running time, 71 minutes. A. E. Eliasen, Rialto Theatre, Paynesville, Minn. Small town and rural patronage.

FARGO KID, THE: Tim Holt—A very poor western. RKO sure slipped with Tim Holt. Running time, 63 minutes. Played January 17-18.—Joe Schindele, Avalon Theatre, Granite Falls, Minn. Small town patronage.

LADDIE: Tim Holt, Virginia Gilmore, Joan Carroll—Good little picture that will not stand alone. I doubled it with "Sailor's Lady" and played to capacity. Running time, 69 minutes. Played February 15.—A. E. Andrews, Emporium Theatre, Emporium, Penna. General patronage.

STAGE TO CHINO: George O'Brien, Virginia Vale—Admitting the age of this release, but still claiming that a western is good until you have run it. Plenty of action, some comedy and swell for a week-end double bill.—Mayme P. Musselman, Princess Theatre, Lincoln, Kan. Small town patronage.

TOO MANY GIRLS: Lucille Ball, Richard Carlson, Ann Miller—A pretty good musical but you can't sell pictures anymore unless they can boast of known cast names. This picture didn't have much to offer but some music and we just didn't do the business that we ordinarily do and we had quite a few complaints. I wouldn't set it on my best time if I had it to do over. Mayme P. Musselman, Princess Theatre, Lincoln, Kan. Small town patronage.

YOU'LL FIND OUT: Kay Kyser and Orchestra, Peter Lorre, Boris Karloff, Bela Lugosi—We didn't break any house records with this one and while it is a good enough picture, Kay Kyser should stick to his music, and if he did that, then we could sell his pictures, providing the band got in plenty of numbers because they were enjoyed. Let the spook stuff alone and just stick to his line.—Mayme P. Musselman, Princess Theatre, Lincoln, Kan. Small town patronage.

Twentieth Century-Fox

BRIGHAM YOUNG—FRONTIERSMAN: Tyrone Power, Linda Darnell, Dean Jagger, Brien Donlevy—An excellent production, a little too much on the historical order to click here, but very good. Dean Jagger is very good and should go far in pictures. Tyrone Power is good, Mary Astor is excellent and Brian Donlevy is outstanding. Selmer Jackson is very good in a small part. I would like to see him play the lead. Scenery is beautiful but would have been much improved by color. Struck very bad weather on this one but it is a satisfactory production. Running time, 113 minutes. Played January 3-5.—Gladys E. McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kan. Small town patronage.

CHAD HANNA: Henry Fonda, Linda Darnell, Dorothy Lamour—The coloring in this picture was good, the acting was good, but the title hurt the drawing power, which was considerably lower than average and

(Continued on following page)

BIG-NEWS ON A BIG PICTURE

REPUBLIC'S new national ADVERTISING program in ALL important fan MAGAZINES starts with "A MAN BETRAYED," starring JOHN WAYNE with beautiful FRANCES DEE. For Republic WANTS every lover of FINE motion pictures to KNOW about this DYNAMIC drama that brings PULSING life to the STRANGE and darring STORY of a GREAT city, torn by GREED and corruption. MILLIONS of readers of FAN magazines will be PRE-SOLD on this picture, AND they will provide a WAITING audience to SWELL the grosses at the NATION'S BOX OFFICES.

JOHN WAYNE, fresh from his TRIUMPHS in Republic's "DARK COMMAND" and "LONG VOYAGE HOME" TOPS his every previous ACHIEVEMENT in "A MAN BETRAYED," and LOVELY FRANCES DEE lends rare ENCHANTMENT to the VIBRANT romance that is the HEART-STIRRING story of AMERICAN youth.

EDWARD ELLIS, truly a "MAN TO REMEMBER," heads a FINE supporting cast including WALLACE FORD, Ward Bond, HAROLD HUBER, Alexander Granach. JOHN H. AUER, directed the picture. REMEMBER it's a nationally ADVERTISED

Republic PICTURE

(Continued from preceding page)
we don't know why, unless it was the title, which didn't mean a thing, except to a few who had read the story in the "Saturday Evening Post." It's worth a date and will satisfy, if you can get them in. We couldn't.—Mayme P. Musselman, Princess Theatre, Lincoln, Kan. Small town patronage.

CHAD HANNA: Dorothy Lamour, Linda Darnell, Henry Fonda—Not up to expectations and no profit to us. Guess Hollywood will never understand the public doesn't want to see old-fashioned pictures unless they're westerns. Played February 12-13.—Burris and Henley Smith, Imperial Theatre, Pocahontas, Ark. Rural patronage.

CHARTER PILOT: Lynn Bari, Lloyd Nolan—Just a fair picture. O. K. for bank night. Running time, 70 minutes. Played January 21-23.—Joe Schindele, Granite Theatre, Granite Falls, Minn. Small town patronage.

DOWN ARGENTINE WAY: Don Ameche, Bette Grable, Carmen Miranda, Charlotte Greenwood—The cash customers said "swell entertainment" and they cast the deciding vote as to whether a picture is good or bad. Color is beautiful. Fox leads in color. Cast good with Charlotte Greenwood stealing the show. She is a whole show by herself. Carmen Miranda does some swell numbers and there is a good horse race. I think it would have been a whole lot better in U. S. language, but it pleased. Running time, 88 minutes. Played January 31-February 2.—Gladys E. McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kan. Small town patronage.

HUDSON'S BAY: Paul Muni, Gene Tierney, Virginia Field, Paul Sutton—Very poor draw but believe this due to early run. Should be good. Muni has never drawn them in here but we expected him to in this. Running time, 95 minutes.—A. E. Eliasen, Rialto Theatre, Paynesville, Minn. General patronage.

JENNIE: Virginia Gilmore, William Henry—A picture like this should do very well in a German community and it did. I believe that this little picture is the best small picture that Fox has made in the last two years. Running time, 78 minutes.—A. E. Eliasen, Rialto Theatre, Paynesville, Minn. Small town and rural patronage.

MARK OF ZORRO, THE: Tyrone Power, Linda Darnell—A fairly good action picture but no draw for this spot. Running time, 93 minutes. Played January 19-21.—Joe Schindele, Avalon Theatre, Granite Falls, Minn. Small town patronage.

SAILOR'S LADY: Nancy Kelly, Jon Hall, Joan Davis—My audience got quite a kick out of this comedy along with "Laddie" as a second feature. Good to excellent business. Running time, 62 minutes. Played February 15.—A. E. Andrews, Emporium Theatre, Emporium, Penna. General patronage.

STEAMBOAT 'ROUND THE BEND: Will Rogers—We find these excellent draws on our bargain nights and do more than average business, much better than some of the new punks that are crammed down our throats. My house went wild on that boat race and I think it is the third time they've seen it. Set one in and get a real surprise. The prints are in good shape from K. C.—Mayme P. Musselman, Princess Theatre, Lincoln, Kan. Small town patronage.

STREET OF MEMORIES: Lynne Roberts, Guy Kibbee—It did all right on our bargain night, didn't break any records but we had no complaints and didn't lose any money on the run. I would say all right for the second half of a double bill.—Mayme P. Musselman, Princess Theatre, Lincoln, Kan. Small town patronage.

TALL, DARK AND HANDSOME: Cesar Romero, Virginia Gilmore, Charlotte Greenwood, Milton Berle, Stanley Clements—A very entertaining picture, full of thrills and romance. Cesar Romero was a regular Romeo and Virginia Gilmore a regular Juliet. He was tall, dark and handsome and both an angel and a devil in disguise. The gangsters were very real but no murder committed. Romero gets the girl and she is a honey and the songs sung were real gems. "Hello Ma!", "I Dance Again," "Did I Have Fun," "Wishful Thinking," "I'm Alive and Kicking." Running time, 78 minutes. Played February 13-19.—William Noble, Midwest Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. General patronage.

TIN PAN ALLEY: Alice Faye, Betty Grable, Jack Oakie, John Payne—If this picture had been released when conditions were better, you would draw capacity business for the length of the run because it is that good. The music is swell, the comedy is good, and there is a cast and production value that can't be denied. Get it set, plug it heavy, spend a little extra advertising it, and you'll still do plenty of business.—Mayme P. Musselman, Princess Theatre, Lincoln, Kan. Small town patronage.

YOUTH WILL BE SERVED: Jane Withers, Jane Darwell, Robert Conway—Good Withers picture, but not what Fox should burden this girl with. In my opinion, Jane Withers was the best star Fox ever had and they sure did her wrong. Running time, 68 minutes. — A. E. Eliasen, Rialto Theatre, Paynesville, Minn. Small town and rural patronage.

United Artists

CAPTAIN CAUTION: Victor Mature, Louise Platt, Leo Carrillo—Double billed with "Black Diamonds" from Universal on Friday and Saturday to very poor grosses. Two box office attractions from United Artists one season is too much to expect. Running time, 85 minutes. Played February 7-8.—A. E. Andrews, Emporium Theatre, Emporium, Penna. General patronage.

DODSWORTH: Walter Huston, Ruth Chatterton, Paul Lukas, Mary Astor—We do all right with these re-runs on a bargain night. It is still a good picture and will please in spots like this one.—Mayme P. Musselman, Princess Theatre, Lincoln, Kan. Small town patronage.

FOREIGN CORRESPONDENT: Joel McCrea, Laraine Day, Herbert Marshall, Robert Benchley—It proved to be a good grosser and gave satisfaction even in the small situations. Something unusual. Running time, 120 minutes. Played February 9-10.—A. E. Andrews, Emporium Theatre, Emporium, Penna. General patronage.

KIT CARSON: Jon Hall, Lynn Bari—Good western to good business. We played it on week-end but it should be good any time. Running time, 97 minutes.—A. E. Eliasen, Rialto Theatre, Paynesville, Minn. Small town and rural patronage.

..LONG VOYAGE HOME, THE: John Wayne, Thomas Mitchell, Ian Hunter—I believe that this picture hit an all-time low gross for three days in our theatre. There are some scenes worthy of any big production, and the acting is on a par with "Oscar" winners, but for a draw in a small town, this shows definitely what picture patrons don't want. I booked it on the strength of the reviewer in the K. C. Star, but his opinions are out from now on, in this town.—Mayme P. Musselman, Princess Theatre, Lincoln, Kan. Small town patronage.

PASTOR HALL: Nova Pilbeam, Wilfrid Lawson—"Pastor Hall" passed by my cash window. Wish I could have "passed" it too. Played February 13-15.—C. A. Skelly, New Lamax Theatre, Wilmington, Ohio. General patronage.

PASTOR HALL: Nova Pilbeam, Wilfrid Lawson—Not a small town picture and certainly not a money getter. We played this on bargain night to a very small audience. I've still got to say it's a good picture from a propaganda standpoint. Played February 7.—Burris and Henley Smith, Imperial Theatre, Pocahontas, Ark. Rural patronage.

REBECCA: Laurence Olivier, Joan Fontaine, Judith Anderson—We ran it late and that hurt the drawing power, then again we are in a small town so this picture didn't break any house records but we are glad we ran it, even if we didn't make any money. If you can buy it right, and why not, run it and give your patrons a treat.—Mayme P. Musselman, Princess Theatre, Lincoln, Kan. Small town patronage.

THIEF OF BAGDAD: Sabu, Conrad Veidt—Very beautiful and interesting. Very well done. We have trouble in selling a picture of this sort here but it should do a wonderful business where it can be sold to a city patronage. Running time, 109 minutes.—A. E. Eliasen, Rialto Theatre, Paynesville, Minn. Rural and small town patronage.

WESTERNER, THE: Gary Cooper, Walter Brennan—Very good business. Don't pay any attention to the reviews on this. It will do business anytime, I believe. They liked it here but we do go for westerns. Running time, 99 minutes.—A. E. Eliasen, Rialto Theatre, Paynesvllie, Minn. Small town and rural patronage.

Universal

ARGENTINE NIGHTS: Ritz Brothers, Andrew Sisters—This picture seemed to please everyone and brought forth a most favorable box office returns.—Harland Rankin, Plaza Theatre, Tilbury, and Alexander Theatre, Wallaceburg, Ontario, Canada. General patronage.

BLACK DIAMONDS: Richard Arlen, Andy Devine—Double billed with "Captain Caution" on Friday and Saturday to very poor grosses. Played February 7-8.—A. E. Andrews, Emporium Theatre, Emporium, Penna. General patronage.

MUMMY'S HAND, THE: Dick Foran, Peggy Moran—Placed on a dual bill with "Girls Under 21" and to capacity business on bargain night. Both pictures fair programmers. Running time, 67 minutes. Played February 4.—A. E. Andrews, Emporium Theatre, Emporium, Penna. General patronage.

SANDY GETS HER MAN: Baby Sandy, Stuart Erwin, Una Merkel, Edgar Kennedy—This proved swell for bargain night. Lots of laughs. Played February 11.—Burris and Henley Smith, Imperial Theatre, Pocahontas, Ark. Rural patronage.

SEVEN SINNERS: Marlene Dietrich, John Wayne, Mischa Auer, Broderick Crawford, Albert Dekker, Oscar Homolka, Anna Lee—A good picture but not for Sunday business and not worth top price Universal ask for it. Played February 9-10.—Burris and Henley Smith, Imperial Theatre, Pocahontas, Ark. Rural patronage.

SPRING PARADE: Deanna Durbin, Robert Commings, Mischa Auer—Just a fair picture to usual Sunday-Monday business. Liked by the ladies more than the men. It's in the top group which is too high for it. Running time, 89 minutes. Played February 2-3.—A. E. Andrews, Emporium Theatre, Emporium, Penna. General patronage.

Warner Brothers

CITY FOR CONQUEST: James Cagney, Ann Sheridan—Guess we played this too old as it's a swell show and worth more patronage than we received on it. We didn't gross our salt with it and are still wondering why. I'll still advise exhibitors to give it "A" playing time. Played February 5-6.—Burris and Henley Smith, Imperial Theatre, Pocahontas, Ark. Rural patronage.

DARK VICTORY: Bette Davis, George Brent—We traded one of Warner's washouts for a re-run on this picture, used it on our bargain night and did fairly well for this time of the year, much better than we would have done with the programer on its first run. This is a swell picture and while this star's pictures always satisfy, we have plenty of room for more patrons. — Mayme P. Musselman, Princess Theatre, Lincoln, Kan. Small town patronage.

DAWN PATROL: Errol Flynn, Basil Rathbone, David Niven—We admit the age, but right now, this Royal Air Force is hot stuff and this picture is full of it. Trade something for it, put on bargain prices and you'll go to town.—Mayme P. Musselman, Princess Theatre, Lincoln, Kan. Small town patronage.

FLIGHT ANGELS: Virginia Bruce, Dennis Morgan, Wayne Morris, Ralph Bellamy—Just up the alley for a small town audience. Story of air lines, plenty of action, sweet girls and a good cast, good comedy situations. Played this late, but was surprised, drew very well. Running time, 84 minutes. Played February 8.—A. L. Dove, Bengough Theatre, Bengough, Saskatchewan, Can. Rural and small town patronage.

LADY WITH RED HAIR, THE: Miriam Hopkins, Claude Rains, Helen Westley—An excellent picture but the wrong title. Should have mentioned Belasco in the title. Running time, 79 minutes. Played January 15-16. —Joe Schindele, Avalon Theatre, Granite Falls, Minn. Small town patronage.

Short Features

Columbia

MINT, THE: Washington Parade, No. 1—Very interesting subject.—Harland Rankin, Plaza Theatre, Tilbury, and Alexander Theatre, Wallaceburg, Ontario, Canada. General patronage.

MOUSE MEETS LION: Fables—Just another average cartoon. Running time, 7 minutes.—Joe Schindele, Avalon Theatre, Granite Falls, Minn. Small town patronage.

NICE WORK, IF YOU CAN DO IT: Cinescopes—A very interesting short in more ways than one. Running time, 10 minutes.—Joe Schindele, Granite Theatre, Granite Falls, Minn. Small town patronage.

PEEP IN THE DEEP, A: Fables Cartoons—Just a fair cartoon.—Harland Rankin, Plaza Theatre, Tilbury, and Alexander Theatre, Wallaceburg, Ontario, Canada. General patronage.

SCREEN SNAPSHOTS: No. 2—Very interesting.—Harland Rankin, Plaza Theatre, Tilbury, and Alexander Theatre, Wallaceburg, Ontario, Canada. General patronage.

SOJOURN IN HAVANA: Tours — Very mediocre travelogue.—Harland Rankin, Plaza Theatre, Tilbury, and Alexander Theatre, Wallaceburg, Ontario, Canada. General patronage.

TAKE IT OR LEAVE IT: Quiz Reels—This is one of the best shorts on the list. Hope we have more of the same. Running time, 11 minutes.—Joe Schindele, Granite Theatre, Granite Falls, Minn. Small town patronage.

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer

ALFALFA'S DOUBLE: Our Gang Comedies—Good comedy for the kids. Running time, 10 minutes.—A. L. Dove, Bengough Theatre, Bengough, Saskatchewan, Canada. Rural and small town patronage.

AMERICAN SPOKEN HERE: Passing Parade—I had a number of patrons tell me how much they enjoyed this short that explained how some common slang expressions came into being and use.—Mayme P. Musselman, Princess Theatre, Lincoln, Kan. Small town patronage.

CAPITAL CITY, WASHINGTON, D. C., THE: FitzPatrick Traveltalks—A trip to the famous buildings in color. It is well worth playing, especially on patriotic days. I was lucky enough to use it near Lincoln's Birthday. It was unintentional good dating. Running time, 8 minutes.—W. Varick Nevins III, Alfred Co-Op Theatre, Alfred, N. Y. Small college town and rural patronage.

EYES OF THE NAVY: Crime Does Not Pay Series—Good picture of the training an air service man gets and worth a playdate on any program. Get word to anyone who has a son in the service and you'll cash in on part of the family. They'll be there.—Mayme P. Musselman, Princess Theatre, Lincoln, Kan. Small town patronage.

EYES OF THE NAVY: Crime Does Not Pay Series—Very interesting and timely. Running time, 20 minutes.—Joe Schindele, Avalon Theatre, Granite Falls, Minn. Small town patronage.

EYES OF THE NAVY: Crime Does Not Pay Series—Truly a great patriotic subject and you owe it to your community to show it.—Burris and Henley Smith, Imperial Theatre, Pocahontas, Ark. Rural patronage.

GALLOPIN' GALS: Cartoons (Color)—A color cartoon that is different and very good.—Gladys E.

McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kan. Small town patronage.

GALLOPIN' GALS: Cartoons (Color)—It's just about the tops in cartoons and will get the laughs. Actresses drawn as horses and will your patrons get a kick out of it. Just book it and find out.—Mayme P. Musselman, Princess Theatre, Lincoln, Kan. Small town patronage.

GOIN' FISHIN'; Our Gang Comedies—Fair comedy, but my patrons are getting a little bit fed up on Our Gang. Metro is so short on real comedy. I have run too many of them. Running time, 1 reel.—Gladys E. McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kan. Small town patronage.

GREAT MEDDLER, THE: Miniatures—Very entertaining reel dealing with cruelty to animals and children. Running time, 10 minutes.—E. M. Freiburger, Paramount Theatre, Dewey, Okla. Small town patronage.

HOMELESS FLEA, THE: MGM Cartoons—Fair cartoon, but I wish Metro would make some comedies. Running time, 1 reel.—Gladys E. McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kan. Small town patronage.

LONESOME STRANGER: Technicolor cartoons—A very good cartoon that was well received and enjoyed by a good crowd, which is really something because the shorts ordinarily can't even get them stopped on their talking.—Mayme P. Musselman, Princess Theatre, Lincoln, Kan. Small town patronage.

LONESOME STRANGER: Technicolor Cartoons—It will be a long time before you'll see a more humorous, exciting, and cleverly done color cartoon. The audience went for it in a big way. The animation of the stage-coach must have been a hard technical job but it certainly was worth it in laughs received. This rates tops with me. Running time, 9 minutes.—W. Varick Nevins III, Alfred Co-Op Theatre, Alfred, N. Y. Small college town and rural patronage.

MRS. LADYBUG: Technicolor Cartoons—Very good cartoon in color. Running time, 7 minutes.—E. M. Freiburger, Paramount Theatre, Dewey, Okla. Small town patronage.

OLD NEW ORLEANS: FitzPatrick Traveltalks—Just another travel. Nuff Sed! Running time, 9 minutes.—Joe Schindele, Avalon Theatre, Granite Falls, Minn. Small town patronage.

RESPECT THE LAW: Crime Does Not Pay Series—A very interesting story of criminality and the "Respect the Law" and the penalty imposed on all who do not respect the law. Running time, 20 minutes.—William Noble, Criterion Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. General patronage.

RESPECT THE LAW: Crime Does Not Pay Series—This is another swell subject of this series so by all means date it and plug it heavy. Running time, 18 minutes.—Burris and Henley Smith, Imperial Theatre, Pocahontas, Ark. Rural patronage.

UTOPIA OF DEATH: Passing Parade Series—Interesting enough, but I think fillers should be more on the light and funny side.—Mayme P. Musselman, Princess Theatre, Lincoln, Kan. Small town patronage.

WEDDING BILLS: Pete Smith Specialties—A very good single reel, with Pete Smith at his best and he always pleases because I've never had a really poor one yet.—Mayme P. Musselman, Princess Theatre, Lincoln, Kan. Small town patronage.

WEDDING BILLS: Pete Smith Specialties—Typical Pete Smith sarcasm shows how a young fellow's marriage budget can be thrown out of gear. It has a happy ending, however, and seemed to be enjoyed by the audience. Running time, 10 minutes.—W. Varick Nevins III, Alfred Co-Op Theatre, Alfred, N. Y. Small college town and rural patronage.

YOU, THE PEOPLE: Crime Does Not Pay—We have many patrons who think these "Crime Does Not Pay" are about the best shorts that we run and I agree. This one exposes the dirty politics, crooked elections and other frauds perpetrated by the big bosses in order to win. Play it and advertise it.—Mayme P. Musselman, Princess Theatre, Lincoln, Kan. Small town patronage.

YOU, THE PEOPLE: Crime Does Not Pay—Another good one of this series, showing up crooked elections. Running time, 20 minutes. — Joe Schindele, Granite Theatre, Granite Falls, Minn. Small town patronage.

YOU, THE PEOPLE: Crime Doesn't Pay Series—A picture everyone should see. Very interesting.—Harold Smith, Dreamland Theatre, Carson, Iowa. Rural patronage.

Paramount

DIVING DEMONS: Sportlights—An excellent diving reel that is different from the general run. Some good humor adds a lot to it. Running time, 10 minutes.—W. Varick Nevins III, Alfred Co-Op Theatre, Alfred, N. Y. Small college town and rural patronage.

GENE KRUPA AND HIS ORCHESTRA: Headliners—Good orchestra reel. Running time, 10 minutes.—E. M. Freiburger, Paramount Theatre, Dewey, Okla. Small town patronage.

HAVE YOU MET YVETTE?: Headliners — Good Headliner and the music fills a spot that nothing else seems able to do.—Mayme P. Musselman, Princess Theatre, Lincoln, Kan. Small town patronage.

MOMENTS OF CHARM: Phil Spitalny's Orchestra—It's beautiful in color and contains music for everyone, swing, classical and rural. Running time, 10 minutes.—Burris and Henley Smith, Imperial Theatre, Pocahontas, Ark. Rural patronage.

ONION PACIFIC: Popeye the Sailor—Popeye still gives entertainment but nothing like he used to.—Harland Rankin, Plaza Theatre, Tilbury, and Alexander Theatre, Wallaceburg, Ontario, Canada. General patronage.

PARAMOUNT NEWS: No. 46—First mercy ship sails with cargo for Spain and France; Fred Bate back from England; troop train derailed near Sandersville, Miss.; rush Puerto Rico defense; identification badges for war and navy department employees; F. B. I. agents spot private transmitters; Dies Committee show material sent by German agencies to American mailing list; Golden Gate Turf club opens at Albany, Calif.; horse racing on ice at Derry, N. H.; Elizabeth Hicks wins Miami-Biltmore golf title; Eastern Open Table Tennis matches at Washington, D. C.; annual Sportsmen's show at Boston. Excellent and very interesting. Running time, 7 minutes.—William Noble, Criterion Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. General patronage.

PLAYMATES FROM THE WILD: Grantland Rice Sportlights—Very unique and very entertaining. Much different and that appeals to the confirmed moviegoer who thinks he's seen everything.—Mayme P. Musselman, Princess Theatre, Lincoln, Kan. Small town patronage.

TROUBLE WITH HUSBANDS, THE: Benchley Comedies—If you have Benchley fans, they'll think this one to be one of the best. Running time, 10 minutes.—W. Varick Nevins III, Alfred Co-Op Theatre, Alfred, N. Y. Small college town and rural patronage.

RKO Radio

BLAMED FOR A BLONDE: Radio Flash Comedies,—It's a rarity because it's funny and ain't that somethin'?—Mayme P. Musselman, Princess Theatre, Lincoln, Kan. Small town patronage.

BONE TROUBLE: Walt Disney Cartoons—Disney cartoons are always good and in this one the stuff with the trick mirrors is funny and how. It's really something to hear patrons really laugh and this cartoon will make them do just that.—Mayme P. Musselman, Princess Theatre, Lincoln, Kan. Small town patronage.

DRAFTED IN THE DEPOT: Edgar Kennedy—Typical Kennedy humor besides being very timely. Running time, 18 minutes.—Joe Schindele, Avalon Theatre, Granite Falls, Minn. Small town patronage.

DRAFTED IN THE DEPOT: Edgar Kennedy—Timely. All about the comedy angle concerning the draft question and will please in any situation even though Kennedy may be weak as he is here. Our patrons really got a kick out of it.—Burrie and Henley Smith, Imperial Theatre, Pocahontas, Ark. Rural patronage.

INFORMATION PLEASE SERIES: My patrons like this reel and get quite a kick out of it. Worth just the price of any ordinary reel and no more.—Mayme P. Musselman, Princess Theatre, Lincoln, Kan. Small town patronage.

INFORMATION PLEASE: No. 1—Well received. I believe these are generally popular.—Harland Rankin, Plaza Theatre, Tillbury, and Alexander Theatre, Wallaceburg, Ontario, Canada. General patronage.

LITTLE WHIRLWIND, THE: Walt Disney Productions—Here is a wonderful piece of animation. A baby whirlwind and its mother or father (I couldn't tell which one) cause Mickey Mouse plenty of trouble. It was well liked but it did not get the laughs that Disney usually manages to receive. I do not know why. Running time, 8 minutes.—W. Varick Nevins III, Alfred Co-Op Theatre, Alfred, N. Y. Small college town and rural patronage.

MARCH OF TIME: Mexico—Best in the short subject series. This one up to the average. Running time, 20 minutes.—A. L. Dove, Bengough Theatre, Bengough, Saskatchewan, Canada. Small town and rural patronage.

MARCH OF TIME, NO. 5: Labor and Defense—1941—Our patrons seem to enjoy the March of Time. Labor and Defense was an exceptionally good subject and worth a playdate on any bill.—Mayme P. Musselman, Princess Theatre, Lincoln, Kan. Small town patronage.

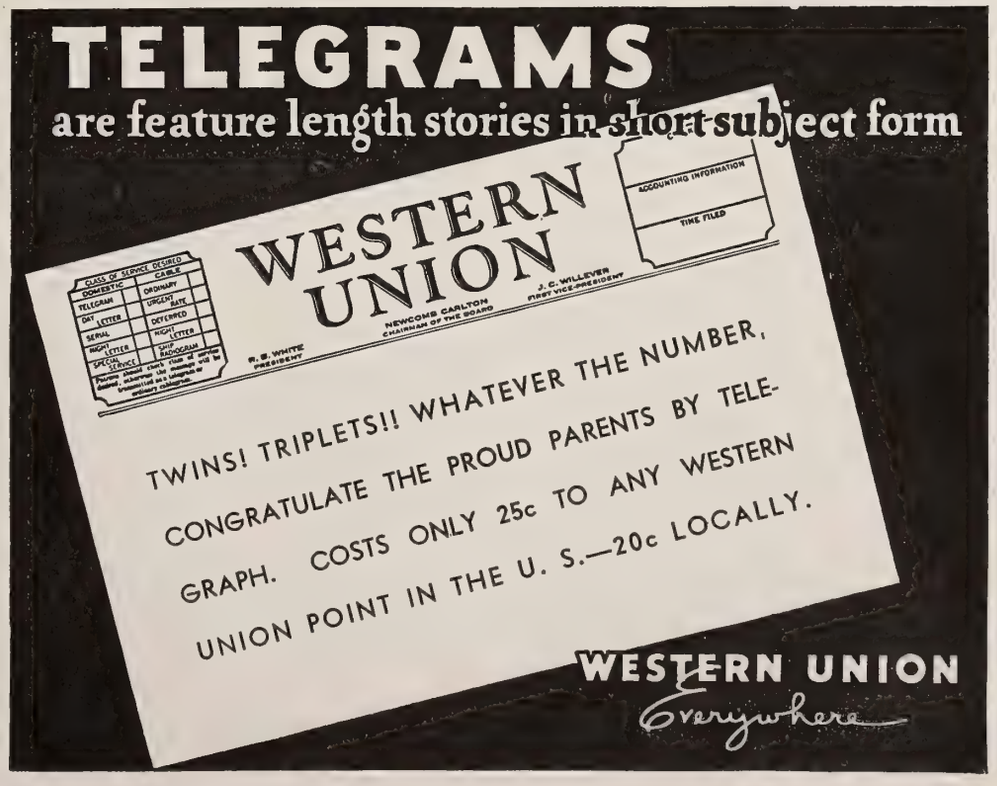
MUTINY IN THE COUNTY: Edgar Kennedy Comedies—An Edgar Kennedy comedy that got some laughs.—Mayme P. Musselman, Princess Theatre, Lincoln, Kan. Small town patronage.

PATHE NEWS: No. 37—A very good synopsis of the war during 1940. Running time, 8 minutes.—Joe Schindele, Granite Theatre, Granite Falls, Minn. Small town patronage.

PICTURE PEOPLE SERIES: A fairly good short. Running time, 10 minutes.—Joe Schindele, Avalon Theatre, Granite Falls, Minn. Small town patronage.

PUT PUT TROUBLE: Walt Disney Cartoons—Donald Duck has more trouble with an outboard motor than any fisherman's guide, but it's plenty funny.—Mayme P. Musselman, Princess Theatre, Lincoln, Kan. Small town patronage.

SPORTSMAN'S PARTNER: Sportscope — Shows cocker spaniels in full training and a swell subject for lovers of hunting. Well photographed.—Burrie and Henley Smith, Imperial Theatre, Pocahontas, Ark. Rural patronage.



TIMBER: Walt Disney Cartoons—Donald was an animated creature bent on tending to his own business but he had lots of help and all of this timber cutting and sawing not always successful. The young'ns will like this one. Running time, 8 minutes.—William Noble, Midwest Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. General patronage.

TIMBER: Walt Disney Cartoons—Another excellent Disney cartoon. Running time, 7 minutes.—Joe Schindele, Avalon Theatre, Granite Falls, Minn. Small town patronage.

Twentieth Century-Fox

BILLY MOUSE'S AKWAKADE: Terrytoons—About as good as any Fox cartoon but it had some funny moments and the color was okay.—Mayme Musselman, Princess Theatre, Lincoln, Kan. Small town patronage.

(Continued on following page)

(Continued from preceding page)

ESKIMO TRAILS: Magic Carpet—A very interesting reel, quite out of the ordinary.—Mayme P. Musselman, Princess Theatre, Lincoln, Kan. Small town patronage.

GRUNTERS AND GROANERS: Lew Lehr—I was the groaner in this one for it is certainly bum. Nothing but wrestling, which as entertainment is a good pain in the neck.—Gladys E. McArdle, Owl Theatre, Leganon, Kan. Small town patronage.

HAIRLESS HECTOR: Terrytoons — Average black and white cartoon. Running time, 7 minutes.—E. M. Freiburger, Paramount Theatre, Dewey, Okla. Small town patronage.

HAIRLESS HECTOR: Terrytoons (Black and White)—A clever cartoon with very catchy music. Running time, 6 minutes.—Joe Schindele, Granite Theatre, Granite Falls, Minn. Small town patronage.

LURE OF THE TROUT: Sports Reviews—This would make any fisherman's mouth water and the color was beautiful. If trout would just bite like that for me, I'd want them to take my picture too. Play it right now, it's nearing the right season.—Mayme P. Musselman, Princess Theatre, Lincoln, Kan. Small town patronage.

SPOTLIGHT ON INDO CHINA: Magic Carpet—Fairly entertaining, dealing with war in Indo China Running time, 10 minutes.—E. M. Freiburger, Paramount Theatre, Dewey, Okla. Small town patronage.

WHAT A LITTLE SNEEZE WILL DO: Terrytoons (Black and White)—Average black and white cartoon. — E. M. Freiburger, Paramount Theatre, Dewey, Okla. Small town patronage.

Universal

SWING WITH BING: Special—Bing Crosby and Andy Devine show the fans how to golf in "Swing with Bing." Andy was the announcer before the mike and he did the job well. A number of golf celebrities are seen pushing the pills into the 18th hole, that is most of 'em. Running time, 18 minutes. — William Noble, Midwest Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. General patronage.

Vitaphone

ALICE IN MOVIELAND: Broadway Brevities—This is a well produced short that shows the rise to fame of a young star. It is entertaining, musical, humorous, and dramatic. It has a lot more to it than many features. The girl who plays the lead will go places or I'll miss my guess. Running time, 21 minutes.—W. Varick Nevins III, Alfred Co-Op Theatre, Alfred, N. Y. Small college town and rural patronage.

CARL HOFF AND HIS ORCHESTRA: Melody Masters—Very good. Mr. Hoff, keep with the popular music, especially for the rural audiences. Many remarks favorable regarding this reel. Trio good. Also the novelty orchestra was much enjoyed. Running time, 10 minutes.—A. L. Dove, Bengough Theatre, Bengough, Saskatchewan, Canada. Small town and rural patronage.

DOG IN THE ORCHARD: Broadway Brevities—Good two reel mystery drama. Running time, 20 minutes.—E. M. Freiburger, Paramount Theatre, Dewey, Okla. Small town patronage.

ELMER'S PET RABBIT: Merrie Melodies — Although this isn't the best rabbit cartoon, it is still very good. Bugs Bunny is rapidly becoming the college students' favorite cartoon character. They are continually asking when the next is dated. That is a very healthy sign. I only wish I could get enough of them. I have been rooting for more of this character from his very beginning. Now they are finally coming through with some. Running time, 8 minutes.—W. Varick Nevins III, Alfred Co-Op Theatre, Alfred, N. Y. Small college town and rural patronage.

FAMOUS MOVIE DOGS: Color Parade—Interesting reel for dog lovers. Nice filler.—Mayme P. Musselman, Princess Theatre, Lincoln, Kan. Small town patronage.

FIGHTING 69½, THE: Merrie Melodies Cartoons—Good color cartoon that satires war as waged by black and red ants at a picnic. Running time, 8 minutes.—W. Varick Nevins III, Alfred Co-Op Theatre, Alfred, N. Y. Small college town and rural patronage.

HENRY BUSSE & ORCHESTRA: Melody Masters Bands—One of the best orchestra reels you'll ever see. Those not interested in music can watch the photography. Running time, 10 minutes.—W. Varick Nevins III, Alfred Co-Op Theatre, Alfred, N. Y. Small college town and rural patronage.

Vitaphone

PORKY'S SNOOZE: Looney Tunes Cartoons—Another clever Pork cartoon. Running time, 7 minutes. —Joe Schindele, Avalon Theatre, Granite Falls, Minn. Small town patronage.

RITA RIO AND HER ORCHESTRA: Melody Masters—Fair girl's band act, mostly Latin music.—Mayme P. Musselman, Princess Theatre, Lincoln, Kan. Small town patronage.

WACKY WILDLIFE: Merrie Melodies Cartoons—A clever cartoon. Running time, 8 minutes.—Joe Schindele, Granite Theatre, Granite Falls, Minn. Small town patronage.

IN COURTS

Strausberg Stock Suit Dismissed by Court

A minority stockholders suit, instituted in 1937 against Samuel Strausberg and which alleged that certain changes in stock ownership had been brought about through fraud, was dismissed by Justice Samuel Hofstadter in the New York supreme court.

Justice Hofstadter, after a lengthy description of the financial transactions involved, pointed out that the plaintiffs, Abraham Werbelovsky, Samuel Small, William Small, August Small, Mendel Lerner and Harry Gross, had apparently been "satisfied with the result, but now that the financial prospect of the new corporation has become brighter, due in great part to the effort and attention of Mr. Strausberg, they seek to undo what they had previously consented to and acquiesced in."

Company Files for Reargument

A motion of the Rialto Theatre Co., of Wilmington, Del., for reargument on the appeal taken by the Motion Picture Projectionists Union from a court of chancery ruling and recently decided in favor of the union by the Delaware State supreme court, was denied by the supreme court in Dover last week. Chancellor W. W. Harrington had enjoined the union from picketing the Rialto theatre. His decision was reversed by the supreme court whereupon the theatre firm filed motion for reargument.

Cole Files Suit

Du World Pictures, Inc., World Film Corp., Lloyd's Film Storage Corp., and officers of Du World were named defendants in a suit filed Thursday, February 20th, in the New York supreme court by J. S. Rex Cole, which seeks return of 25 prints of "Legong," and "Kliou." The plaintiff, as assignee of the Bennett Pictures Corp., claims the defendants' distribution contract has expired.

Hakim Files Suit

Raphael Hakim, owner of the French film, "The Baker's Wife," filed suit in the federal court against The Baker's Wife, Inc., asking an injunction, accounting and damages. Mr. Hakim claims that under a distribution contract the defendant was to file a weekly accounting, but failed to do so.

Seek to Enjoin Warners

An injunction suit to restrain Warner Brothers from exhibiting "The Sea Wolf" unless a special note is made calling attention that the characters are fictitious, was filed Monday in the Los Angeles superior court by Louis Hansen, describing himself as a nephew of the late Capt. Alex McLean, said to be the original of Jack London's novel.

Columbia Examination Asked

An application to examine Columbia Pictures officers was filed Friday, February 21st, in the New York supreme court by Minnie Saltzmann-Stevens, plaintiff in a $100,000 damage suit. She claims unauthorized use of her photograph in "I'll Take Romance."

Warners Seek Injunction

Warner Brothers, who have in preparation a screen version of the novel by Hartzell Spence, "One Foot in Heaven," have started action in the Philadelphia common pleas court for an injunction to restrain Macrae-Smith, Philadelphia publishers, from publishing a book by Percival Christopher Wren under the title "Two Feet from Heaven." The film company asserts that title is being used to gain the good will established by the Spence book and that the public will be deceived into believing that the forthcoming picture is based on the book by Mr. Wren.

False Arrest Suit Filed

Lyle Cooper of LeGrand, Ia., Leonard Cooper of Toledo, Ohio, and R. A. Lewis of Garwin, Ia., have filed suit against the owners of the Casino theatre in Marshalltown, Ia., for damages totaling $10,500.63 for false arrests of the three men on charges of attempting to pass counterfeit money. The three plaintiffs were arrested after they had given coins to the theatre's cashier. At the local police station an examination proved the money genuine.

Principal Raises Prices

Principal Theatres has raised the admission price of its theatre at Banning, Calif., from 20 to 30 cents. The price had been reduced for several weeks in order to increase box office grosses. Business in the town, however, hit a steep decline with the completion of an aqueduct, and the operators of the theatre expressed the opinion that an increased price would make up their losses. If they fail to reach their goal with the new price, the price will be increased to 40 cents.

OBITUARIES

Edward J. O'Brien, Short Story Editor, Dies

Edward J. H. O'Brien, 50, American writer and editor, and story editor for Metro Goldwyn Mayer's British studios, died in Gerrards Cross, Buckinghamshire, England, Friday, February 21st.

Mr. O'Brien, since 1915, has edited "The Best Short Stories of the Year," and has at one time or another emphasized the talents of some of the world's living great short story writers, at that time unknown.

Nat Ross

Nat Ross, a former motion picture director for Universal, producing and directing such pictures as "The Leather Pushers," and "The Collegians," was shot and killed by a discharged employe of a factory of which Mr. Ross was part owner, in Los Angeles, Monday. Carl Laemmle, Jr., son of the late Universal executive, and Robert Hartman, a cousin of Mr. Ross, conferred with the police following the shooting.

Harry J. Powers Dies

Harry J. Powers, 81, who owned and operated theatres in Chicago for 35 years, died in Morristown, N. J., Friday, February 21st, after two months' illness. He retired from the theatrical business ten years ago and established his residence in Morristown.

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE

An international association of showmen meeting weekly in MOTION PICTURE HERALD for mutual aid and progress

A-MIKE VOGEL, Chairman and Editor GERTRUDE MERRIAM, Associate Editor

THE THEATREMAN'S PART

How conscious the American public may be of war becomes a matter of one voting poll over another. As regards defense-consciousness, however, there is little disagreement. Rearmament and defense programs are accepted universally. The industry is cooperating, and particularly in the theatre, its most direct contact with the people's voice.

As to be expected, and as has been noted in these pages, Round Tablers have already taken hold. In the few short months since national conscription, profitable campaigns have been built around various aspects of the military program. An admirable example is brought forth in the recruiting tiein made by Earle Holden, of Atlanta, with the United States Navy.

On a following page is noted the proceedings, climaxed on the stage of the L. & J. Paramount with an official swearing-in of a Navy recruit, an event which (and not incidentally) packed the house. The district Navy heads were also gratified with the promotion since it proved a decided stimulus to enlistments in that area.

The first service picture to be released, Universal's "Buck Privates", in its many inaugural dates is providing managers with heavy ammunition for mutually beneficial military tieins. And in the Kansas City territory Elmer Rhoden, Fox Midwest head, represents exhibition on a civic committee in connection with the movement of service men in that territory. One of the earliest fruits of this cooperation is an endorsed weekly amusement guide published by the committee and distributed in railroad and bus terminals. Local theatre programs occupy most of the space.

Exhibition will soon be neck-high in service pictures allowing for spectacular tieins with national defense. Judged by returns already reported, these tieins function most effectively for all concerned when projected as regular theatre exploitation in line with boxoffice results. There is no reason for the most patriotic of managers to lose sight of this objective.

△ △ △

ADVERTISING MAKES NEWS

In the Round Table forum on adjectives-in-advertising stimulated by the views of W. G. Van Schmus on the subject, a solid handful of conclusions could be brought to rest upon the cogent line spoken by Herman Robbins at the last meeting of the A.M.P.A. "To be successful," stressed the president of National Screen Service, "Advertising must have news value."

Currently, that would also apply, and aptly, to the job turned out by the Charles E. McCarthy ad forces for "Tobacco Road", particularly in the recently released analysis of the campaign by Kenneth Collins, advertising authority. Mr. Collins noted that since nearly every adult in the United States has heard about the play, the important thing to sell is that it is now on the screen and, further, that the "series of advertisements sells that idea".

△ △ △

THE FIGURES DON'T LIE

The Department of Commerce releases figures for 1939, detailed in last week's issue, revealing that the average family spent twenty dollars for motion picture entertainment as against ten dollars on all other forms of amusement. If, in effect, the listings prove motion pictures the nation's most popular entertainment, some of the reason, no doubt, has to do with the low admissions charged by the average theatre.

That the movies are the bargain-buy of the amusement field has long been held by this corner. The added proof now furnished by government figures is something that smart managers can and will use in advertising, to sell the day-in-and-day-out appeal of their houses.

A-Mike Vogel

This week's congratulations are directed to the Tri-States Theatres sector, where G. Ralph Branton, general manager, announces good news for Round Tablers Evert R. Cummings, Joe Kinsky and Herb Grove.

From Omaha district manager Cummings moves to Oregon to assume active management of his own theatres. Kinsky is promoted to the Omaha post from district head of eastern Iowa, which job Grove steps up to from manager of the Fort in Rock Island.

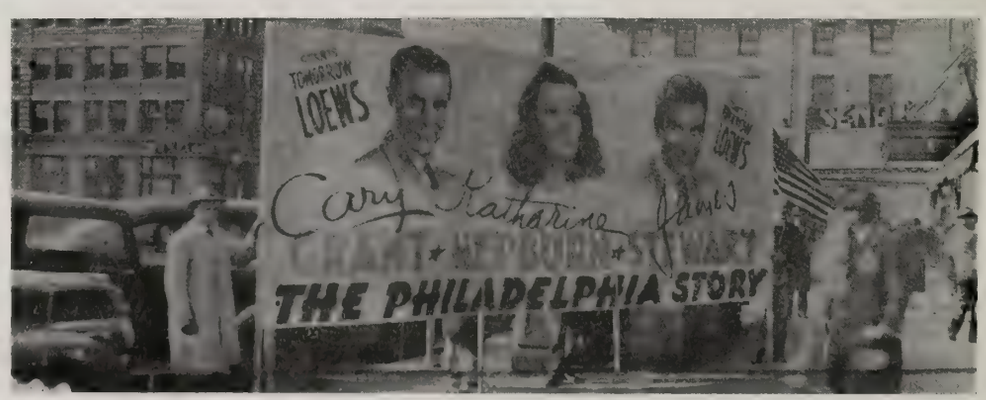
On behalf of the membership is showered earnest wishes upon these talented showmen for success in the new situations. They will continue to get their quota of hits on the new diamonds.

Round Table In Pictures

Manager George French and publicist Bill Morton at the RKO Albee, Providence, ahead of "Buck Privates" planted lad in window peeling spuds. Scene stills and appropriate tiein copy were also spotted.

(Above) "Mohammed goes to the mountain" indicates Francis Gillon of the LeClaire, Moline, Ill., as he plants "Comrade X" banner at local Golden Gloves tourney.

(Left) Nick Todorov, Colonial, Allentown, uses cutouts of Lombard and Montgomery for lobby setpiece on "Mr. and Mrs. Smith".



Stan Benford, Colonial, Philadelphia, invited folks to take pot shots at small battleships on endless belt. Supplied with pistol and darts, patrons scoring bull's-eyes received tickets. Cutouts of O'Brien, Cagney and McHugh were planted over all.

(Above) With a local recruiting drive put on by motorized cavalry of the U. S. Army, T. Teschner at Loew's Stillman, Cleveland, received permission to place "Flight Command" banners on all machines.

(Right) Arranged by Carl Rogers, assistant at Loew's Regent, Harrisburg, was street stunt for "Philadelphia Story", consisting of rolled-up 24-sheet. As crowds assembled, lads unfurled the sheet, repeating the stunt at intervals.

NAVY RECRUIT SWORN IN ON STAGE FEATURES HOLDEN'S "NAVY" TIEIN

Enlistment Officials Cooperate with L. & J. Manager in Drive for Recruits; Theatreman Gives Check as "Bon Voyage" Gift

As a stimulator for his rebooking of "Here Comes the Navy" at the L&J Capitol, Atlanta, Ga., Manager Earle Holden worked out an outstanding promotion in securing cooperation of the local navy recruiting station wherein the first patron enlisting during the week of the date was given a goodwill offering of $25 by the theatre. Climax of the stunt was reached on day before the picture closed when the lucky recruit, accepted by the navy, was sworn in on the stage at the nine o'clock performance. As a further result, 10 added recruits were obtained during the drive.

Special Trailers Announce Offer

Holden's goodwill offer when broached to the navy officials was immediately accepted to speed up enlistments. The campaign was opened with a special talking trailer two weeks ahead announcing that the picture was brought back as a part of the defense program. A week ahead, the regular trailer was run with special copy stressing the $25 "bon voyage" gift check. Publicity on the gift was extended to the lobby with a special display from the navy and recruiting literature distributed to patrons and passersby. For patrons interested in enlisting, the doorman was provided with mimeographed blanks to be presented to the enlistment office.

Stage Ceremonies Impressive

The swearing-in on the stage was an outgrowth of the original idea and impressively staged, the winning rookie having been brought back from the main recruiting office in Macon after passing his tests. As the curtains opened, regular uniformed navy men were seen holding American flags and naval colors. In attendance also were the navy officer and the recruit. Master of ceremonies explained the offer, taking care to stress that the gift was purely goodwill on part of the theatre and not as a reward for enlisting. Next the navy representative was introduced who after speaking on the U. S. Navy and giving thanks to Holden for the theatre's aid in the enlistment drive gave the oath of allegiance to the rookie to the music of "Anchors Aweigh." This completed, the check was presented and the ceremonies ended with the national anthem sung by the standing capacity audience.

The unusual nature of the hookup brought in more than the usual newspaper attention, the tiein stressed with news stories and other breaks. Among these was a fulsome mention in popular motion picture column. The Navy officials were also highly pleased since, in addition to the many unexpected enlistments, they advised Holden that they expected to feel the results of the stunt for weeks to come through the many pieces of recruiting literature distributed at the theatre. Holden recommends the tiein highly, pointing out the great number of coming service pictures soon to be released.

HOLDEN'S LOBBY DISPLAY ON PROMOTION WITH NAVY

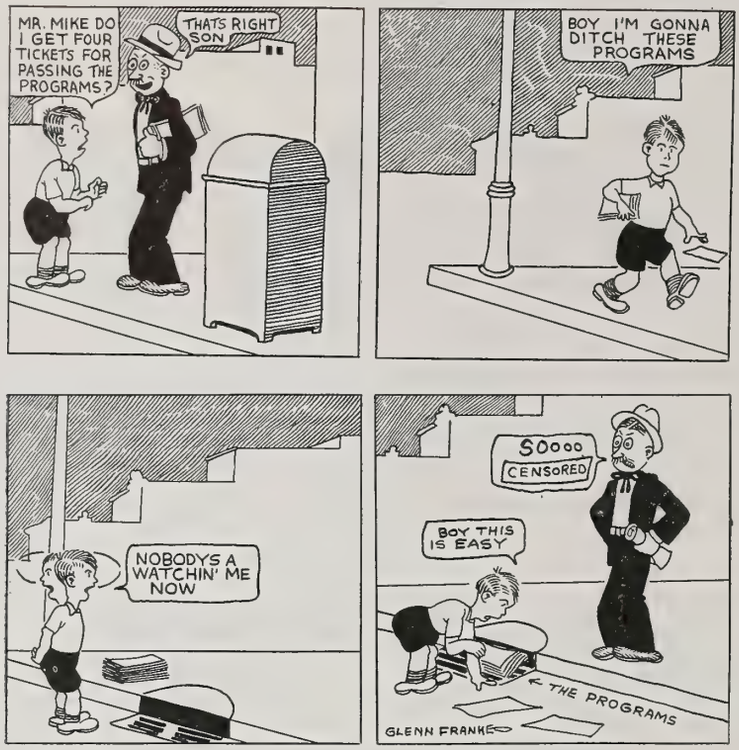
LINKS KIDNAPPING TO "CORRESPONDENT"

Paralleling the fictional sequence in "Foreign Correspondent" is the recent reported kidnapping from Portugal of the former premier of The Netherlands, which was carried as page one lead in a recent issue of the New York Post. Paper ran two scene shots from the picture to show how the picture tied in with the actual happening, a fat publicity break, incidentally, for theatres dating the attraction.

"LET'S HEAR FROM YOU"

Patron Voices Recorded For "Strike Up Band"

Reported by Manager A. H. Bachman at the Harding, in Chicago, was stunt arranged by assistant Norman Brown, who secured a two-minute dialogue recording of Mickey Rooney and Judy Garland in "Strike Up the Band." To the two people who could duplicate the stars' voices the closest, guest tickets were awarded. It is reported that more than 300 records were made, and these were claimed by folks after attending the show. Stunt was advertised in advance through newspapers, programs and trailer.



Anna Neagle Art Contest Held for "No, No, Nanette"

An Anna Neagle art contest featured the campaign arranged by the management of the Rialto Theatre, Dallas, Texas, for "No, No, Nanette." Open to all art students in the high schools and Southern Methodist University, contest was sponsored by the Rialto and the Dallas News and Times-Herald. Theatre furnished all art classes with large stills or blow-ups of Anna Neagle which were used as models by the contestants. The contest was started two weeks prior to the film's opening and was also included as part of the regular art class sessions in class rooms.

The finished paintings and drawings were exhibited in the theatre lobby and in the window of the town's leading department store. A Board of Judges, consisting of competent individuals of prominence, decided on the three best works with appropriate prizes awarded to the winners. The News and the Times-Herald reproduced the winning drawings giving credit to the winners and in addition ran a picture of the winners themselves as a featured local news item.

CHANGE TO ALTEC SERVICE
..A CHANGE FOR THE BETTER
ALTEC
SERVICE CORPORATION
250 West 57th Street · New York City

SHOWMEN'S LOBBY LAFFS

Another incident in the tumultuous career of the fabulous Marquee Mike as depicted here by his creator, Glenn Franke of Cheviot, Ohio.

"Mr. and Mrs. Smith" Contest Featured by Lehman

Lawrence Lehman of the Orpheum Theatre, Kansas City, Mo., obtained an excellent break in the woman's page of the Kansas City Journal for "Mr. and Mrs. Smith" via a contest based on a marital query. A problem in the story was the basis for the question. The solution had to be arrived at in fifty words and thirty pairs of tickets were given for the best answers. The question was: "If you found out, after three years of marriage, that you weren't legally married after all . . . and that your husband had made the same discovery but hadn't told you . . . what would you do?"

The Journal used a photograph of Carole Lombard, co-starred with Robert Montgomery in the production, as a phase of its announcements.

"LET'S HEAR FROM YOU"

Smith Gets Behind Bill Elliott Personal

Double barreled welcome was accorded Bill Elliott on his recent appearance at the Paramount, in Hot Springs, Ark., with Round Tabler Clyde Smith arranging for the president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce to be on hand to greet the star. Press and photographers were present, which brought art and stories in local dailies. First day, Elliott visited the orphanage which brought further publicity and arrangements were made for him to be the guest star on two 45-minute programs over KTHS and KWFC. Special heralds were distributed in advance, action front erected for the occasion and numerous window cards planted.

"Strawberry Blonde" Stunt In Chi. Garners News Space

A novel publicity stunt was arranged by Warner Bros. with students at Northwestern University to exploit "Strawberry Blonde." Phi Kappa Sigma Fraternity voted the "Strawberry Blonde" as the type of girl they would prefer taking to the Junior Prom or Spring Dance. Immediately a group of brunettes on the campus began to picket the fraternity house. Picture and story breaks on the stunt broke in three Chicago papers and was picked up by the Acme Newspictures and Wide World Photos.

"LET'S HEAR FROM YOU"

"Foyle" Locale Map Used For Lobby by Yearsley

A personally endorsed letter from Christopher Morley, which broke in front pages of all weekly newspapers in the neighborhood of Warners' Circle Theatre, Philadelphia, was obtained by manager Bill Yearsley for "Kitty Foyle." The letter was also used in enlarged form for the lobby, prominently displayed with an enlarged map showing the complete history of action of the picture with arrows directing the theme of the story, which is laid in the very neighborhood of the theatre itself. As a result, the street was bannered in a fashion to give the impression that "Kitty Foyle" was having its Eastern premiere there.

Numerous tie-ups for window displays were made with neighborhood stores and a stenographer in the lobby handed cards to patrons. Moreover, the neighborhood newspapers carried a serialization of the picture with full page ads used to herald the serialization and the opening of the picture.

Interstate Ties Males To Cookery

Showmanship of a high order, especially on behalf of a short subject, was registered recently in Amarillo, Texas, at the Paramount, where Fred Patterson, Interstate city manager and Besa Short, the circuit's short subjects director, cooperated to tie in one of the local dailies for an amateur male cooking contest on Pete Smith's "Penny to the Rescue."

Stimulated by a barrage of publicity and art, the contest was put on of a recent Sunday with stoves, food and utensils provided for the culinary specialists. Well known local women in addition to Mrs. Short acted as judges in awarding the prizes. First, fifty dollars was given for the best meal. Second, a prize of term pass to the Paramount for angel food cake and third, a copy of Prudence Penny's cooking book, for waffles.

The contest itself was filmed and the pictures shown the following week for additional story and art breaks. The latter were the result of a candid camera contest conducted by the paper with cash prizes for winning entries. Radio coverage included discussions by the paper's society editor on her regular program; mentions on the KGNC regular news hour and a lobby broadcast during contest with interview of the contestants, judges and patrons.

"LET'S HEAR FROM YOU"

Radio Tied to "Gulliver" By Aitken in New Zealand

Well rounded campaign was accorded "Gulliver's Travels" by Cyril Aitken, manager of the Avon, in Christchurch, New Zealand, with radio coverage including teaser announcements three weeks ahead, plugging of hit tunes, 50 minute recorded preview of the film and 15 minute recorded synopsis presented over children's program. Through tieups effected with leading chain stores, heralds were enclosed with all outgoing packages and distributed at schools.

Numerous window displays were promoted, busses bannered, personal letters over Aitken's signature addressed to all school heads and a coloring contest was planted in local daily, for promoted prizes.

Contacting local libraries and bookstores, R. J. Bennell at the Regent, in Dunedin, New Zealand, for his date on "Gulliver's Travels" distributed bookmarks and planted scene stills. Story in abridged serial form was broadcast, numerous merchants came through with cooperative window displays and for distribution to school children cards were printed with picture copy and tinted cut of King Liliput.

"LET'S HEAR FROM YOU"

Circusman Hunt for "Hanna"

City-wide, search, for oldest circus performer—male or female—in city of San Francisco, was conducted by Warfield Theater to ballyhoo "Chad Hanna," the film based on circuit life. Winner, who broke into circus life in Charleston, South Carolina, in 1884, was feted at a banquet at the St. Francis Hotel, and later was guest of the theater.

Leighton Asks for Famous 'Blondes'

Blondes, strawberry and otherwise, who had made their mark on history and places in the headlines were utilized by Bert Leighton for a contest on "Strawberry Blonde" for the date at the Grand Theatre, Lancaster, Pa., the first time, incidentally, the local paper had gone for a contest in many years.

Starting six days ahead, paper publicized a daily quiz asking such questions as "Who was the first notorious blonde in history? What town became world famous because of a blonde? In what country are blondes most predominant? What Philadelphia strawberry blonde is now a leading radio and screen star?" Twenty-five pair of passes were given for the best answers to the questions asked, 12 in all.

Local baker featured a "Strawberry Blonde" pie and contest, participants to guess how many strawberries were on top of cake displayed in window. Guest tickets were given here and scene stills were featured. On Valentine's Day, with the opening, chain store plugged a "Strawberry Blonde" sundae, going so far as to advertise in the newspapers. Other stores suggested that customers ask for a "Cagney Special." Since the opening was on Valentine's Day, Leighton got out special heralds in heart form, which were placed in all cars parked within a six-block radius of theatre, also planted them on restaurant tables, etc.

Contacting director of nearby Franklin & Marshall College glee cub, Leighton promoted four students to dress in old-fashioned attire and serenade as Barber Shop Quartette. Other facilities of the college were utilized to sell the date among student body and faculty.

"LET'S HEAR FROM YOU"

Essay Contest Planted By Sexton on "Police"

At the subsequent run Voge Theatre, in East Chicago, Ind., Howard Sexton for "North West Mounted Police" tied up local dress shop on a "How to Get Your Man" contest. Merchandise prizes were awarded in connection with best 200 word essay on the subject. Cooperating store devoted window display to the tiein, distributed heralds and advertised it in newspaper.

School coverage was secured by means of a coloring contest. In this connection, guest tickets went to those submitting best jobs. Numerous one-sheets were planted, jumbo window cards spotted strategically and heralds variously tinted were distributed house-to-house.

"LET'S HEAR FROM YOU"

Gates Circularizes Lawyers

Covering entire list of Cleveland attorneys, Arnold Gates at Loew's Park mailed a penny government postcard to all these professional men in advance of "I Want a Divorce." Copy on correspondence side read: "You owe it to your profession to see the gay, hilarious "I Want a Divorce." Joan Blondell vs. Dick Powell. Hearing, Loew's Park, starting Tuesday."

TWO MORE TO GO

With the results here listed the Quigley Awards enter the Fourth Fortnight of the First Quarter, dated to finish on March 29th. This leaves two preliminary two-week periods for entrants ambitious to roll up a good score for the initial Quarter-Master Plaques, Medals and Citations for 1941. Current Fortnight winners and their situations are set down as follows:

STAN ANDREWS
Capitol, Guelph, Ont., Can.

FRANK BICKERSTAFF
MOON CORKER
Palace, Athens, Ga.

LIGE BRIEN
Belmar, Pittsburgh, Pa.

BILL BURKE
Brant, Brantford, Ont., Can.

EV CALLOW
Warners, Philadelphia, Pa.

LESLIE V. CAMPBELL
Strand, Trail, B. C., Can.

JAMES CRAWLEY
Palace, Chillicothe, Ill.

A. KENT CRAIG
Capitol, St. Catharines, Ont., Can.

HARRY E. CREASEY
Alma, Vancouver, B. C., Can.

FRANCIS DEERING
Loew's, Houston, Tex.

D. M. DILLENBECK
Rialto, Bushnell, Ill.

A. EASSON
Oakwood, Toronto, Ont., Can.

BILL ELDER
Loew's, Harrisburg, Pa.

ED FITZPATRICK
Loew-Poli, Waterbury, Conn.

BOB FULTON
Paramount, Waterloo, Ia.

ARNOLD GATES
Loew's Park, Cleveland, Ohio

FRANCIS GILLON
LeClaire, Moline, Ill.

JOE GOLDSTEIN
Schine's Webster, Rochester, N. Y.

H. D. GROVE
Fort, Rock Island, Ill.

ED HARRISON
State, Waterville, Me.

LOU S. HART
Schine's Hipp, Gloversville, N. Y.

EARLE HOLDEN
Capitol, Atlanta, Ga.

GARY JAFFA
Schine's Avon, Watertown, N. Y.

A. J. KALBERER
Indiana, Washington, Ind.

STOCKTON LEIGH
Schine's Keith, Syracuse, N. Y.

BERT LEIGHTON
Grand, Lancaster, Pa.

JACK LYKES
Loew's Valentine, Toledo, Ohio

J. R. MAC EACHRON
Paramount, Jackson, Tenn.

LOUIS MARCKS
Strand, Westfield, Mass.

DAVE MARTIN
Fox Granada, Inglewood, Cal.

ED MAY
Russell, Maysville, Ky.

LOUIS E. MAYER
RKO Temple, Rochester, N. Y.

GEORGE PAPPAS
Rialto, Beaver Falls, Pa.

CARMON PHILLIPS
Onate, Belen, N. Mex.

JOHN F. PIVAL
Kramer, Detroit, Mich.

KEN PRICKETT
El Rancho, Victoria, Tex.

ROY PRYTZ
Granada, Duluth, Minn.

JIMMIE REDMOND
Bonham, Fairbury, Neb.

JOE RUDDICK
Fox Gillioz, Springfield, Mo.

CHARLES SCHLAIFER
United Artists, San Francisco, Cal.

HY SHAPIRO
Terminal, Upper Darby, Pa.

HOWARD SEXTON
Voge, East Chicago, Ind.

WILFORD N. SKLAR
Roxy, Clearfield, Po.

JOE SLOAN
Loew's Broad, Columbus, Ohio

ARTHUR STADLER
Schine's Auburn, Auburn, N. Y.

STAN STANFILL
Craig, Craig, Colo.

ARNOLD STOLTZ
Avon, Utica, N. Y.

HAROLD H. THOMAS
Fulton, Fulton, Ky.

HARRY UNTERFORT
Schine's Keith, Syracuse, N. Y.

ART WARTHA
Elco, Elkhart, Ind.

CHARLES ZINN
EV SEIBEL
Century, Minneapolis, Minn.

Emphasized again are the qualifications regarding entry of material for the Awards as concerns single ideas or single promotions. As noted, a single promotion may be made up of more than one tiein, providing each of the tieins stem from the same promotion. Since the Awards are based on individual ideas and not on complete campaigns, it is requested that entrants who forward complete campaigns for the Quigley Awards mark the highlight exploitation they wish to be considered.

Contests Highlight Murphy's "Story" Date

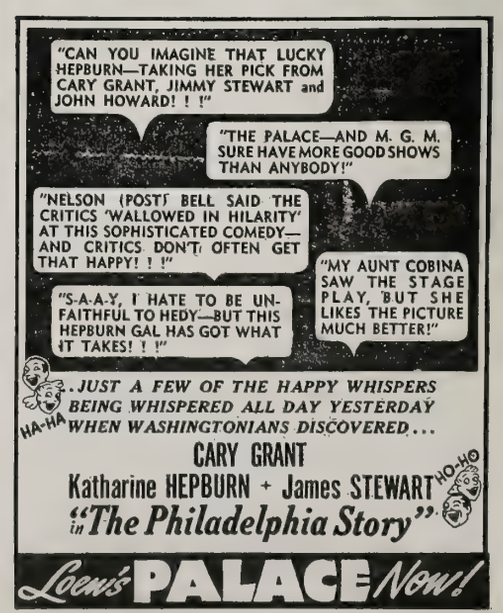
"How To Turn Down a Man" and "Which Husband Would You Choose?" were the subjects of "Philadelphia Story" contests used simultaneously in the Syracuse Herald-Journal and Post Standard, respectively, as part of the campaign for the film put over by Frank Murphy, Loew's. In the first contest, readers were asked to state in no more than 25 words what they would have Katharine Hepburn say in turning down any of her three suitors in the picture. In the second, they were asked to name the man they thought she ought to marry and to list ten qualities that would make him the "ideal husband." In both instances cash and guest tickets were awarded the winners. Winning entries ran in cooperating papers.

REPRESENTATIVE NEWSPAPER ADS

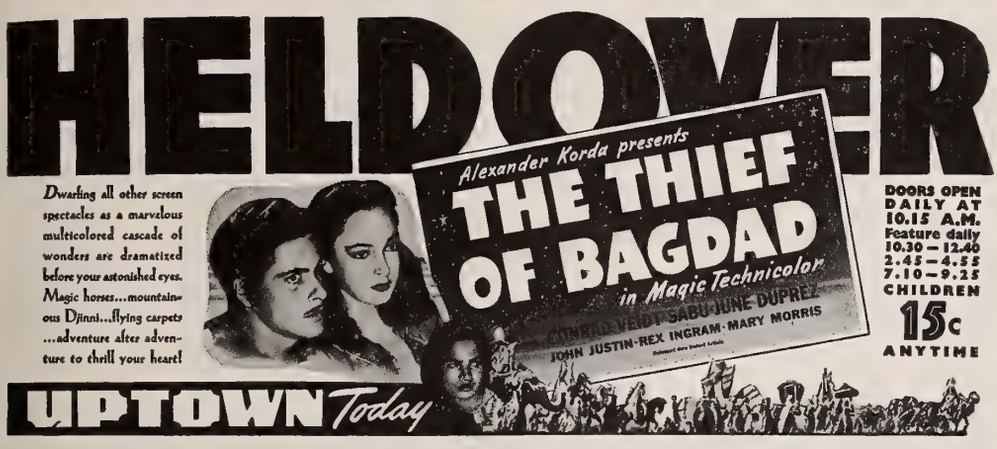
(Above) The "flat" layout found effective by Jim Nairn for F. P. Canadian Toronto displays was used in white space for dignified second-week announcement of "Letter" at the Uptown. Jack Barker did the art. Size: 80 lines on 5 col.

(Above) To stimulate the desire of those attracted by the opening week's campaign on "Philadelphia Story" but had not gotten around to seeing it, Charlie Zinn and Ev Seibel of the Century, Minneapolis, worked out a new sales attack for the holdover with background copy as illustrated that built up the appeal. Boxoffice response was tops for this 50 lines on 2 col.

(Below) Selling Preston Sturges for his "name" value, the New York Paramount advance on "Lady Eve" aimed to establish the entertainment of the picture by hooking the producer to the gag copy and layout. Size: 75 lines on 2 col.



(Right) For a quick follow-up after-opening snapper on "Philadelphia Story" at Loew's Palace, Washington, adman Dan Terrell reports "dreaming up" this balloon panel layout in 70 lines on 2 col.



(Left) Hand-drawn reverse layout built around shock-and-thrill war copy was selected by C. A. Matthews to sell "Night Train" at the Tryon, Charlotte, N. C. New York critic quote was picked up for further build-up. Size: 145 lines on 4 col.

(Above) Dignity as expressed in this unique 110 lines on 2 col. was emphasized by copy head, Don Demieh, and artist, Ray Staab, for the Ray Noble stage show at the Fox Wisconsin, Milwaukee

DISPLAYS FAVORED BY MEMBERS

(Above) Switching his attack to sensationalize the date on "Bagdad" at the Uptown, Toronto, Can., Jim Nairn hit 'em with a flat 60 lines on 5 col., the block holdover hooked into the romance copy and art.

(Right) Announcement copy aimed to sell the class of the attraction and premiere was smartened up by Hal Kopplin, Wometco ad head, as illustrated, for the Miami "Back Street" opening. Size: 95 lines on 2 col.

(Left) To plug the holdover on "Kitty Foyle" while bowing in the next date on "Hudson's Bay" at Keith Memorial, Boston, Carlo Vannicola, division ad head, devised this "apology" slant to headline Muni and title. Size: 130 lines on 2 col.

(Right) Upon the assumption that nearly every adult in the United States has heard about "Tobacco Road", and that the play was presented in nearly every state, the ad campaign for the picture devised by Charles E. McCarthy, 20th Century-Fox ad director, was aimed directly to sell that "it's on the screen". Represented here is a 130 lines on 5 col. for the New York Roxy date, one of the series used starting two weeks ahead.

EXPLOITATION BRIEFS FROM A-FIELD

For "Arise My Love" at the Ritz, in Chillicothe, Mo., Barnes Perdue planted a regular theatre chair in his lobby with a wide leather belt attached to front. Copy over all read "We're equipping our chairs with safety belts to keep you from falling in the aisles when you see", etc. All employees ahead of opening wore pieces of bright red ribbon tied to one finger. When queried, they replied it was a reminder to tell folks about the picture. Doorman was dressed in clown uniform and four boys dressed in keeping covered main streets walking in Indian file with back banners.

▽

Radio quiz contest was promoted by Wally Leach, manager of Warner's Grand Theatre, Camden, N. J., for "Second Chorus." Contestants were brought before the WCAM microphone and for 15 minutes were quizzed on the songs and various items from the picture.

▽

A live window display was arranged for "Arise My Love" by Perry Lessy, manager of Warners' Lindley Theatre, Philadelphia. Tying in with a neighborhood furniture store, passersby guessing the time that a lovely lady asleep in a bed would awake were given free passes to see the picture.

▽

All those smitten by Cupid on St. Valentine's Day were guests of William Israel, manager of Warners' Fox Theatre, Philadelphia, for "This Thing Called Love," which opened on the lovers' holiday. All couples who applied for a marriage license on St. Valentine's Day were admitted as guests to see the film.

▽

As an advance on "Arizona" at the Coolidge Corner Theatre, in Brookline, Mass., Round Tabler Jack Markle had cards mailed from Tucson to a special list. Postcards carried picture copy.

▽

Through tieup with telephone company, George Pappas, Rialto, Beaver Falls, Pa., arranged for installation of phone in lobby. Girl dressed as nurse called all doctors' offices and private residences giving following message: "This is Mary Lamont speaking, Dr. Kildare's nurse. I called to remind you that 'Dr. Kildare's Crisis' opens at the Rialto," etc., etc. In addition, nurses homes were contacted and display board planted. Through cooperation of superintendent at hospital, display was used here, too.

▽

For his date on "Gone With the Wind" at Loew's, Harrisburg, Bill Elder landed two-column story by Howard Dietz, plus numerous readers. Full-page ad in color was also used.

▽

Effective lobby display was used by H. M. Yudin at the Centre Theatre, in St. Catharines, Ontario, for his run on "Snow White." Character dolls of the princess and the seven dwarfs were spotted with color wheel playing overall. Yudin secured an additional break since local minister devoted sermon to "Snow White" and kindness.

Above reproduction of herald idea used by Manager Louie E. Munch for "Invisible Woman" at the Auditorium, Richwood, W. Va., is self-explanatory. Heralds distributed widely over the area brought many entries, Munch reports, and had much to do with the picture's extra grosses.

Memory contest was planted in local papers by Francis Deering at Loew's, in Houston, Tex., for "Gone With the Wind." Assuming that folks had seen the film a year ago, guest tickets went to those who could supply dialogue which took place in the picture shown in scene stills run in the paper.

▽

For his date on "Go West," A. J. Kalberer at the Indiana Theatre, in Washington, Ind., crashed local basketball game by distributing small cards carrying cut of the Marx Brothers together with playdates. Also attached to card were peanuts, copy reading: "Nuts to you."

▽

Lucky numbered cutout shamrocks were distributed by Bill Yeakle ahead of "Little Nellie Kelly" at the Kentucky Theatre, in Danville, Ky., guest tickets went to those holding shamrocks carrying numbers corresponding with those listed in lobby easel.

▽

A Valentine's Day photo of James Stewart and Hedy Lamarr, framed in a lace heart and quoting lines from Christopher Marlowe's poem which gave the title "Come Live With Me" to the picture, became page one of the Dayton Sunday Journal magazine section as part of Sam Gilman's campaign for the film's showing at Loew's.

Cut-out hearts pierced by an arrow, pointing in the direction of the Colonial Theatre, Allentown, Pa., reading: "This Way to Your Heart....Colonial"; were used by Milan Todorov, publicity director of the house, for "This Thing Called Love."

▽

Sam Phillippe, manager of Warners' Plaza Theatre, Philadelphia, sold "Dr. Christian in Remedy for Riches" and Bela Lugosi's "The Devil Bat" and a "Healthy Double Feature." The message on all heralds and posters advised that "The hearty laughs of Jean Hersholt in 'Remedy for Riches' will be a positive cure for the Creepy Jitters you are sure to get when you see Bela Lugosi in 'The Devil Bat'—the most terrifying horror picture ever made."

▽

Louis Davis at the New Vernon, Mt. Vernon, Ind., broke papers with front page stories when he recently extended an invitation to captain of Battery E, 13th Field Artillery and his men, to attend a special screening of "Down Argentine Way." This was done to honor three local boys who had just joined the battery.

▽

Two co-op pages were promoted by Frank Vennett at the Opera House, in Bath, Maine, for "Love Thy Neighbor." The reason for the two pages was that one was for the city folk attention and the other in the country. Each merchant's ad was tied directly to the picture.

▽

Digging into the bag, but as he says, nonetheless effective, was the blotter giveaway employed by Ed Harrison at the State, Waterville, Maine, for "Kitty Foyle." Printed in red five rules for a perfect boss, secretary and wife were listed, together with title and playdates.

▽

Special invitations to attend screening of "Pastor Hall" were sent to clergymen and local prominents by W. P. McGeachie at the Algoma, Sault Sainte Marie, Ontario. Personal endorsements of those attending were later used in regular ads, which broke ahead of opening.

▽

For his date on "Love Thy Neighbor" at the Strand, Trail, B. C., Leslie V. Campbell planted an old radio cabinet in his lobby, top of which was all chipped. Large axe was set in slot on top of machine with copy overall reading: "It's not a chip off the old block, but the whole blinkin' block itself. Jack Benny and Fred Allen, in" etc. Small radio concealed inside played hit tunes from picture and light behind dial gave impression that music was issuing from the large cabinet itself.

▽

Scene stills of Katharine Hepburn in both the film and the stage play, in the former with James Stewart and in the latter with Van Heflin, were good for a three-column spread in the Washington Daily News as part of the "Philadelphia Story" campaign put over by Dan Terrell, Loew publicist.

THE RELEASE CHART

INDEX

ACROSS the Sierras....Col
Adam Had Four Sons....Col
Affectionately Yours....WB
Along the Rio Grande....RKO
Always a Bride....FN
Among Human Wolves....Foreign
And Now Good-Bye....Col
Andy Hardy's Private Secretary....MGM
Angels Over Broadway....Col
Ape, The....Mono
Arise My Love....Para
Arizona....Col
Arizona Gang Busters....Producers
Arkansas Judge....Rep

BACK in the Saddle....Rep
Back Street....Univ
Bad Man, The....MGM
Bank Dick, The....Univ
Barnyard Follies....Rep
Before the Fact....RKO
Before I Hang....Col
Behind the News....Rep
Beyond the Sacramento....Col
Billy the Kid....MGM
Billy the Kid in Texas....Producers
Billy the Kid's Gun Justice....Producers
Billy the Kid's Range War....Producers
Bitter Sweet....MGM
Black Cat....Univ
Blackout....UA
Blonde Inspiration....MGM
Blondie Goes Latin....Col
Blondie Plays Cupid....Col
Blood and Sand....20th-Fox
Blossoms In the Dust....MGM
Border Legion, The....Rep
Border Vigilantes....Para
Boss of Bullion City....Univ
Bowery Boy....Rep
Bride Came C. O. D.....WB
Bride Wore Crutches....20th-Fox
Brigham Young—Frontiersman....20th-Fox
Broadway Limited....UA
Buck Privates....Univ
Bury Me Not on the Lone Prairie..Univ

CASE of the Black Parrot....WB
Caught in the Act....Producers
Caught in the Draft....Para
Cavalcade of Faith....St. Rts
Chad Hanna....20th-Fox
Chain Gang....Col
Chamber of Horrors....Mono
Charter Pilot....20th-Fox
Cheers for Miss Bishop....UA
Cherokee Strip....Para
Christmas in July....Para
Citizen Kane....RKO
City for Conquest....WB
Colorado....Rep
Come Live with Me....MGM
Comrade X....MGM
Convoy....RKO
Cowboy and the Blonde....20th-Fox

DANCING on a Dime....Para
Dangerous Game, A....Univ
Dark Streets of Cairo....Univ
Dead Man's Shoes....Mono
Dead Men Tell....20th-Fox
Devil and Miss Jones, The....RKO
Devil Bat....Producers
Devil Commands, The....Col
Devil's Pipeline....Univ
Diamond Frontier....Univ
Dispatch from Reuter's, A....WB
Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde....MGM
Dr. Kildare Goes Home....MGM
Dr. Kildare's Crisis....MGM
Doomed Caravan....Para
Double Date....Univ
Down Argentine Way....20th-Fox
Drums of the Desert....Mono
Dulcy....MGM

EAST of the River....FN
Ellery Queen—Master Detective....Col
Ellery Queen's Penthouse Mystery...Col
Escape....MGM
Escape to Glory....Col

FACE at the Window....Foreign
Face Behind the Mask, The....Col
Fantasia....Disney
Fargo Kid, The....RKO
Father's Sons....WB
Father Is a Prince....FN
Federal Fugitives....Prod
Fight for Life....Col
Five Little Peppers in Trouble....Col
Flame of New Orleans, The....Univ
Flight Command....MGM
Flight From Destiny....WB
Flying Wild....Mono
Footlight Fever....RKO
Footsteps in the Dark....WB
For Beauty's Sake....20th-Fox
Four Mothers....WB
Free and Easy....MGM
Friendly Neighbors....Rep
Frontier Vengeance....Rep
Fugitive from a Prison Camp....Col

GALLANT Sons....MGM
Gay Caballero, The....20th-Fox
Gentle People, The....WB
Girl, A Guy and a Gob, A....RKO
Girl from Havana....Rep
Girl in the News....20th-Fox
Girl Must Live, A....20th-Fox
Girls Under 21....Col
Give Us Wings....Univ
Glamour for Sale....Col
Golden Hoofs....20th-Fox
Gone With the Wind....MGM
Go West....MGM
Great Dictator, The....UA
Great American Broadcast....20th-Fox
Great Lie, The....WB
Great Mr. Nobody, The....WB
Great Plane Robbery....Col
Great Train Robbery, The....Rep
Great Profile, The....20th-Fox
Great Swindle, The....Col

HANG Out the Moon....RKO
Hard Boiled Canary....Para
Hatred....Foreign
Haunted Honeymoon....MGM
Here Comes Happiness....WB
Here Comes The Navy....WB
Here Is Ireland....Foreign
Her First Beau....Col
Her First Romance....Mono
Heritage....Foreign
High Sierra....WB
Highway West....WB
Hired Wife....Univ
Hit Parade of 1941, The....Rep
Hit the Road....Univ
Hold Back the Dawn....Para
Honeymoon for Three....WB
Howards of Virginia, The....Col
Hudson's Bay....20th-Fox
Hullabaloo....MGM

I'M Nobody's Sweetheart Now....Univ
In Old Cheyenne....Rep
In Old Colorado....Para
Inspector Hornleigh Goes To It....20th-Fox
Invisible Woman....Univ
I Want a Divorce....Para
I Wanted Wings....Para

JENNIE....20th-Fox

KEEPING Company....MGM
Kid's Last Ride, The....Mono
Kiss of Fire, The....Foreign
Kiss the Boys Goodbye....Para
Kisses for Breakfast....WB
Kitty Foyle....RKO
Knockout....WB
Knute Rockne—All American....WB

LADDIE....RKO
Lady Be Good....MGM
Lady Eve, The....Para
Lady from Cheyenne....Univ
Lady from New Orleans....Rep
Lady with Red Hair, The....WB
Land of Liberty....MGM
Las Vegas Nights....Para
Law and Order....Univ
Let's Make Music....RKO
Letter, The....FN
Life With Henry....Para
Li'l Abner....RKO
Lilac Domino....Foreign
Little Bit of Heaven, A....Univ
Little Men....RKO
Little Nellie Kelly....MGM
Living Dead....St. Rts
Lone Rider Crosses the Rio....Prod
Lone Rider Rides On....Prod
Lone Star Raiders....Rep
Lone Wolf Keeps a Date, The....Col
Lone Wolf Takes a Chance....Col
Long Voyage Home....UA
Love Crazy....MGM
Love Thy Neighbor....Para
Lucky Devils....Univ

MAD Doctor, The....Para
Maisie Was a Lady....MGM
Major Barbara....UA
Man Betrayed, A....Rep
Man Made Monster....Univ
Man of the Hour, The....Foreign
Man Who Lost Himself, The....Univ
Margie....Univ
Mark of Zorro, The....20th-Fox
Mayerling to Sarajevo....Foreign
Meet Boston Blackie....Col
Meet John Doe....WB
Meet the Chump....Univ
Meet the Missus....Rep
Meet the Wildcat....Univ
Melody and Moonlight....Rep
Melody for Three....RKO
Melody Ranch....Rep
Men of Action....Para
Men of the Timberlands....Univ
Men of Boys Town....MGM
Merry Wives, The....Foreign
Mexican Spitfire Out West....RKO
Michael Shayne, Private Detective....20th-Fox
Misbehaving Husbands....Producers
Missing Ten Days....Col
Miss Wheelwright Discovers America....WB
Mr. and Mrs. Smith....RKO
Model Wife....Univ
Monster and the Girl, The....Para
Moon Over Burma....Para
Mozart....Foreign
Mr. District Attorney....Rep
Mr. Dynamite....Univ
Murder Among Friends....20th-Fox
Murder at the Baskervilles....Foreign
Murder Over New York....20th-Fox
Mutiny in the Arctic....Univ

NEUTRAL Port....Foregin
New Wine....UA
Next Time We Love....Univ
Nice Girl....Univ
Night at Earl Carroll's....Para
Night Train....20th-Fox
Nobody's Children....Col
No Hard Feelings....WB
No, No, Nanette....RKO
North from the Lone Star....Col
North West Mounted Police....Para
No Time for Comedy....FN
Nurses Don't Tell....Para
Nurse's Secret....WB

OH Charlie....Univ
Old Bill and Son....Foreign
Ole Swimmin' Hole....Mono
One Night in Lisbon....Para
One Night in the Tropics....Univ
Open Road....Foreign
Outlaw, The....20th-Fox
Outlaws of the Panhandle....Col
Outlaws of the Rio Grande....Prod

PASTOR Hall....UA
Penalty, The....MGM
Penny Serenade....Col
Pepe Le Moko....Foreign
Personal Column....Foreign
Petticoat Politics....Rep
Phantom of Chinatown....Mono
Phantom Cowboy, The....Rep
Phantom Submarine....Col
Philadelphia Story....MGM
Pinto Kid, The....Col
Pioneer Woman....Para
Pirates on Horseback....Para
Playgirl....RKO
Pony Post....Univ
Pot O' Gold....UA
Power Dive....Para
Prairie Pioneers....Rep
Prairie Schooners....Col
Pride of the Bowery....Mono

QUARTERBACK, The....Para
Quiet Wedding....Foreign

RAGE in Heaven....MGM
Rangers of Fortune....Para
Reaching for the Sun....Para
Reluctant Dragon....RKO
Remedy for Riches....RKO
Repent at Leisure....RKO
Ride Kelly Ride....20th-Fox
Ride On Vaquero....20th-Fox
Ride, Tenderfoot, Ride....Rep
Riders of Black Mountain....Producers
Ridin' on a Rainbow....Rep
Ridin' The Cherokee Trail....Mono
Road Show....UA
Road to Zanzibar....Para
Robbers of the Range....RKO
Robin Hood of the Pecos....Rep
Rolling Home to Texas....Mono
Romance of the Rio Grande....20th-Fox
Round Up, The....Para

SAILORS THREE....Foreign
Saint in Palm Springs....RKO
Sandy Gets Her Man....Univ
San Francisco Docks....Univ
Santa Fe Trail....FN
Scattergood Baines....RKO
Scotland Yard....20th-Fox
Sea Wolf, The....WB
Second Chorus....Para
Secret Evidence....Producers
Senate Page Boys....Col
Sergeant York....WB
Seven Sinners....Univ
Shadows on the Stairs....WB
She Couldn't Say, No....FN
She Knew All the Answers....Col
Shepherd of the Hills....Para
Show Business....Col
Sign of the Wolf....Mono
Singapore Woman....WB
Sis Hopkins....Rep
Six Lessons from Madame Lazenga....Univ
Skylark....Para
Sky Murder....MGM
Sleepers West....20th-Fox
Slightly Tempted....Univ
So Ends Our Night....UA
Son of Monte Cristo....UA
South of Suez....WB
So You Won't Talk....Col
Spellbound....Foreign
Spring Parade....Univ
Stars Look Down, The....MGM
Strange Alibi....WB
Strawberry Blonde....WB
Street of Memories....20th-Fox
Strike Up the Band....MGM
Sunny....RKO

The production number, cast, audience classification, running time, release date and date reviewed are listed in THE CHART alphabetically under company names. Coming Attractions are printed in Italics.

TAKE Me Back to Oklahoma.....Mono
Tall, Dark and Handsome.....20th-Fox
Texas .....Col
Texas Rangers Ride Again.....Para
Texas Terrors .....Rep
That Gang of Mine.....Mono
That Hamilton Woman!.....UA
That Night in Rio.....20th-Fox
That Uncertain Feeling.....UA
They Dare Not Love.....Col
They Met in Argentina .....RKO
They Met on Skis.....Foreign
They Knew What They Wanted.....RKO
Thief of Bagdad.....UA
Third Finger, Left Hand.....MGM
Thirty Days Hath September.....WB
This Thing Called Love.....Col
Three Men from Texas.....Para
Three Sons O'Guns.....WB
Thundering Frontier .....Col
Tin Pan Alley.....20th-Fox
Tobacco Road 20th-Fox
Tom, Dick and Harry.....RKO
Too Many Blondes.....Univ
Too Many Girls.....RKO
Topper Returns .....UA
Trail Blazers .....Rep
Trailing Double Trouble.....Mono
Trail of the Silver Spurs.....Mono
Trail of the Vigilantes.....Univ
Trial of Mary Dugan.....MGM
Trigger Pals .....Prod
Tugboat Annie Sails Again.....FN
Tumbledown Ranch in Arizona....Mono
Two-Gun Sheriff.....Rep
Two Women .....Foreign
UNDER Age .....Col
Under Texas Skies.....Rep
Unfinished Business .....Univ
Uniform, The .....MGM
VERY Young Lady, A.....20th-Fox
Victory .....Para
Villain Still Pursued Her.....RKO
Virginia .....Para
WAGONS Roll at Night.....WB
Wagon Train .....RKO
Westerner, The .....UA
Western Union 20th-Fox
West of Abilene .....Col
West of Pinto Basin.....Mono
Where Did You Get That Girl?.....Univ
Who Killed Aunt Maggie?.....Rep
Wildcat of Tucson .....Col
Wild Man of Borneo.....MGM
Winged Victory .....WB
Woman's Face, The.....MGM
World in Flames .....Para
Wyoming .....MGM
Wyoming Wildcat .....Rep
YOU'LL Find Out.....RKO
Young Bill Hickok .....Rep
You're the One.....Para
You're Out of Luck.....Mono
Youth Will Be Served.....20th-Fox
You Will Remember .....Foreign
ZIEGFELD Girl, The .....MGM

THE CHART

Productions are listed alphabetically under distributors. Parenthesis after title denotes audience classification: (A) Adult, (G) General.

Numbers following titles are production numbers.

Asterisk (*) after release date designates 1939-40 product, all others are 1940-41.

Release dates are furnished as soon as available (advance dates are tentative and subject to change).

Running time is subject to change.

Managers' Round Table exploitation references may be found in the Product Digest Section, which is published every other week alternately with the release chart.

For complete listing of 1940-41 Short Subjects see Product Digest, page 69.

COMING ATTRACTIONS

are listed in alphabetical order with the other productions of each distributor, and may be identified at a glance by reason of being in italic type.

COLUMBIA

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Across the Sierras 2212	Bill Elliott-Luana Walters	Feb. 13,'41	58
(See Product Digest, page 25)
Adam Had Four Sons (A)	Warner Baxter-Ingrid Bergman-Fay Wray	Feb. 18,'41	80	Feb. 22,'41
And Now Good-Bye	Joan Fontaine-Brian Aherne	Not Set
Angels Over Broadway (G) 1009	Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. - Rita Hayworth	Sept. 30,'40*	80	Oct. 12,'40
Arizona (G) 2101	Jean Arthur-Wm. Holden	Dec. 25,'40	125	Nov. 23,'40
Before I Hang (G) 1024	Boris Karloff-Evelyn Keyes	Sept. 17,'40*	63	Oct. 12,'40
Beyond the Sacramento 2210	Bill Elliott-Evelyn Keyes	Nov. 14,'40	58
(See Product Digest, page 3)
Blondie Goes Latin (G) 2015	P. Singleton-A. Lake-L. Simms	Feb. 27,'41	69	Mar. 1,'41
Blondie Plays Cupid (G) 2016	P. Singleton-A. Lake-L. Simms	Oct. 31,'40	68	Nov. 2,'40
Chain Gang	Otto Kruger-Gloria Dickson	Not Set
Devil Commands, The (A)	Boris Karloff - Amanda Duff - Richard Fiske-Ann Revere	Feb. 3,'41	65	Feb. 22,'41
Ellery Queen—Master Detective (G) 2024	Ralph Bellamy-Marg't Lindsay	Nov. 30,'40	69	Nov. 30,'40
Ellery Queen's Penthouse Mystery (G)	Ralph Bellamy-M. Lindsay-Chas. Grapewin	Mar. 24,'41	65	Mar. 1,'41
Escape to Glory (G) 2012	Pat O'Brien-Constance Bennett	Nov. 28,'40	74	Nov. 23,'40
Face Behind the Mask, The (A) 2029	Peter Lorre-Evelyn Keyser	Jan. 16,'41	69	Feb. 15,'41
Fight for Life (A)	Myron McCormick	Not Set	69	Mar. 16,'40
Five Little Peppers in Trouble 1022	Edith Fellows-Dorothy Ann Seese	Sept. 1,'40*	65
Fugitive from a Prison Camp (G) 2032	Jack Holt-Marian Marsh	Sept. 5,'40	59	Aug. 10,'40
Glamour for Sale (A) 1040	Roger Pryor-Anita Louise	Sept. 30,'40*	57	Nov. 9,'40
Girls Under 21 (G) 2038	Paul Kelly-Rochelle Hudson	Oct. 24,'40	64	Nov. 16,'40
Great Plane Robbery, The (G) 2031	Jack Holt-Vicki Lester	Dec. 9,'40	53	Nov. 23,'40
Great Swindle, The	Jack Holt-Marjorie Reynolds	Apr. 3,'41
(See Product Digest, page 64)
Her First Beau	Jane Withers-Jackie Cooper-Edith Fellows	Not Set
Howards of Virginia, The (G) 1001	Cary Grant-Martha Scott	Sept. 19,'40*	117	Aug. 31,'40
Lone Wolf Keeps a Date, The (G) 2021	Warren William-Francis Robinson	Nov. 23,'40	67	Nov. 16,'40
Lone Wolf Takes a Chance	Warren William-Henry Wilcoxon-June Storey	Mar. 6,'41
(See Product Digest, page 64)
Meet Boston Blackie	Chester Morris-Rochelle Hudson	Feb. 20,'41
(See Product Digest, page 54)
Missing Ten Days (A) 2044	Rex Harrison-Karen Verne	Feb. 28,'41	82	Oct. 28,'39
(Reviewed under title, "Ten Days in Paris.")
North from the Lone Star 2213	Bill Elliott	Mar. 31,'41
Nobody's Children 2030	Edith Fellows-Lois Wilson	Oct. 17,'40	65
Outlaws of the Panhandle 2205	Chas. Starrett-Francis Robinson	Feb. 27,'41	59
(See Product Digest, page 55)
Penny Serenade	Irene Dunne-Cary Grant	Apr. 17,'41
(See Product Digest, page 29)
Phantom Submarine, The 2033	Anita Louise-Bruce Bennett	Dec. 20,'40	70
(See Product Digest, page 23)
Pinto Kid, The 2204	Chas. Starrett-Louis Currie	Jan. 9,'41	61
(See Product Digest, page 31)
Prairie Schooners (G) 2209	Bill Elliott-Evelyn Young	Sept. 30,'40	58	Nov. 16,'40
Senate Page Boys	H. Marshall-Virginia Bruce	Not Set
She Knew All the Answers	Joan Bennett-Franchot Tone	Not Set
Show Business	Rudy Vallee - Ann Miller - Glen Gray	Not Set
So You Won't Talk (G) 2018	Joe E. Brown-Frances Robinson	Oct. 3,'40	69	Sept. 28,'40
Texas	Wm. Holden-Warren William	Not Set
They Dare Not Love	George Brent-Martha Scott-Paul Lukas-Richard Lyon	Not Set
This Thing Called Love (A) 2005	Rosalind Russell-Melvyn Douglas	Jan. 2,'41	98	Dec. 28,'40
Thundering Frontier, The (G) 2203	Chas. Starrett - Iris Meredith	Dec. 5,'40	57	Sept. 21,'40
Under Age	Nan Grey-Alan Baxter-Mary Anderson	Not Set
West of Abilene (G) 2202	Chas. Starrett-Marjorie Cooley	Oct. 21,'40	57	July 20,'40
Wildcat of Tucson 2211	Bill Elliott-Evelyn Young	Dec. 31,'40	59
(See Product Digest, page 22)

METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Andy Hardy's Private Secretary (G) 126	M. Rooney-L. Stone-I. Hunter	Feb. 21,'41	101	Feb. 22,'41
Bad Man, The 124	Wallace Beery-Lionel Barrymore-Laraine Day	Mar. 28,'41
(See Product Digest, page 47)
Billy the Kid	Robt. Taylor-Brian Donlevy-Ian Hunter-M. O'Sullivan	Not Set
Bitter Sweet (G) 110 (Color)	Jeanette MacDonald - Nelson Eddy	Nov. 8,'40	94	Nov. 16,'40
Blonde Inspiration (A) 123	John Shelton - Virginia Grey - Albert Dekker-L. Nolan	Feb. 7,'41	72	Feb. 22,'41
Blossoms In the Dust (Color)	Greer Garson-W. Pidgeon-Marsha Hunt	Not Set
Comrade X (G) 113	Clark Gable-Hedy Lamarr	Dec. 13,'40	89	Dec. 7,'40
Come Live With Me (A) 122	James Stewart-Hedy Lamarr	Jan. 31,'41	85	Jan. 25,'41
Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde	Spencer Tracy-Ingrid Bergman-Lana Turner	Not Set
Dr. Kildare's Crisis 115 (G)	Lionel Barrymore-Lew Ayres	Nov. 29,'40	75	Nov. 30,'40
Dr. Kildare Goes Home (G) 101	L. Barrymore-L. Ayres-L. Day	Sept. 6,'40	80	Aug. 31,'40
Dulcy (G) 106	Ann Sothern-Ian Hunter	Oct. 4,'40	73	Oct. 5,'40
Escape (A) 108	N. Shearer-R. Taylor-Nazimova	Nov. 1,'40	104	Nov. 2,'40
Flight Command (G) 117	Robert Taylor-Ruth Hussey	Jan. 3,'41	113	Dec. 21,'40
Free and Easy 127	Ruth Hussey-Robert Cummings	Feb. 28,'41
(See Product Digest, page 63)
Gallant Sons (G) 111	Jackie Cooper-Gene Reynolds	Nov. 15,'40	70	Nov. 16,'40
Go West (G) 114	Marx Bros.	Dec. 6,'40	82	Dec. 14,'40
Gone With the Wind (A) (Color)	Vivien Leigh - Clark Gable - Leslie Howard - Olivia de Haviland	Jan. 17,'41	228	Dec. 16,'39
Haunted Honeymoon (A) 104	Robert Montgomery - Constance Cummings	Sept. 20,'40	83	Aug. 3,'40
(Reviewed under title, "Busman's Holiday")
Hullabaloo (G) 109	Frank Morgan-Billie Burke	Oct. 25,'40	77	Oct. 26,'40
Keeping Company (G) 116	John Shelton-Ann Rutherford	Dec. 27,'40	80	Jan. 4,'41
Lady Be Good	Ann Sothern-Eleanor Powell-Robert Young	Not Set
Land of Liberty (G) 120	Historical	Jan. 24,'41	98	Feb. 8,'41
Little Nelly Kelly (G) 112	Judy Garland-George Murphy	Nov. 22,'40	100	Nov. 16,'40
Love Crazy	William Powell-Myrna Loy-Fay Bainter	Not Set
Maisie Was a Lady (G) 118	Ann Sothern-Lew Ayres-Maureen O'Sullivan	Jan. 10,'41	79	Jan. 11,'41

THE RELEASE CHART

(Unaffiliated)

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Men of Boys Town	S. Tracy-M. Rooney-B. Watson	Not Set
(See Product Digest, page 37)
Penalty, The	L. Barrymore-Edw. Arnold	Mar. 14,'41
(See Product Digest, page 64)
Philadelphia Story (A) 119	K. Hepburn-C. Grant-J. Stewart	Jan. 17,'41	112.	Nov. 30,'40
Rage in Heaven 128	Robert Montgomery - Ingrid Bergman-George Sanders	Mar. 7,'41
(See Product Digest, page 55)
Sky Murder (G) 105	Walter Pidgeon-Donald Meek	Sept. 27,'40	71.	Sept. 21,'40
Stars Look Down, The (A)	Margaret Lockwood-Michael Redgrave	Not Set	103.	Jan. 27,'40
Strike Up the Band (G) 103	M. Rooney-J. Garland-J. Preisser	Sept. 27,'40	121.	Sept. 21,'40
Third Finger, Left Hand (G) 107	Melvyn Douglas-Myrna Loy	Oct. 11,'40	96.	Oct. 12,'40
Trial of Mary Dugan (A) 125	Laraine Day-Robert Young	Feb. 14,'41	90.	Feb. 15,'41
Uniform, The	Clark Gable-Rosalind Russell	Not Set
Wild Man of Borneo 121	F. Morgan-B. Burke-J. Preisser	Jan. 24,'41
(See Product Digest, page 39)
Woman's Face, A	Joan Crawford - Melvyn Douglas-Conrad Veidt	Not Set
Wyoming (G) 102	Wallace Beery-Ann Rutherford	Sept. 13,'40	89.	Sept. 14,'40
Ziegfeld Girl, The	J. Stewart - J. Garland - H. Lamarr-T. Martin	Mar. 21,'41
(See Product Digest, page 62)

MONOGRAM

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Ape, The (G)	Boris Karloff-Maris Wrixon	Sept. 30,'40	62.	Oct. 19,'40
Chamber of Horrors	Leslie Banks-Gina Malo	Dec. 20,'40
Dead Man's Shoes	Leslie Banks-Wilfrid Lawson	Jan. 15,'41
Drums of the Desert (G)	Ralph Byrd-Lorna Gray	Oct. 7,'40	64.	Oct. 12,'40
Flying Wild	Leo Gorcey-Bobby Jordan	Mar. 10,'41	63.	Mar. 1,'41
Her First Romance (G)	Edith Fellows-Wilbur Evans	Dec. 25,'40	77.	Dec. 28,'40
Kid's Last Ride, The	Ray Corrigan-John King	Feb. 10,'41
Ole Swimmin' Hole (G)	Jackie Moran-Marcia Mae Jones	Oct. 21,'40	78.	Oct. 26,'40
Phantom of Chinatown (G)	Keye Luke-Grant Withers	Nov. 11,'40	62.	Nov. 23,'40
Pride of the Bowery (G)	Leo Gorcey-Bobby Jordan	Dec. 15,'40	63.	Jan. 18,'41
Ridin' the Cherokee Trail (G)	Tex Ritter	Feb. 25,'41	62.	Feb. 22,'41
Rolling Home to Texas (G)	Tex Ritter	Dec. 30,'40	62.	Feb. 1,'41
Sign of the Wolf	Grace Bradley-M. Whalen	Mar. 15,'41
(See Product Digest, page 62)
Take Me Back to Oklahoma (G)	Tex Ritter-Terry Walker	Nov. 11,'40	64.	Nov. 30,'40
That Gang of Mine (G)	Bobby Jordan-Leo Gorcey	Sept. 23,'40	62.	Oct. 5,'40
Trail of the Silver Spurs (G)	John King-Ray Corrigan	Jan. 4,'41	58.	Jan. 25,'41
Trailing Double Trouble (G)	John King-Ray Corrigan	Oct. 1,'40	58.	Oct. 19,'40
Tumbledown Ranch in Arizona	Ray Corrigan-John King	Not Set
West of Pinto Basin (G)	Ray Corrigan-John King	Nov. 25,'40	56.	Dec. 7,'40
You're Out of Luck (G)	Frankie Darro	Jan. 20,'41	62.	Jan. 11,'41

PARAMOUNT

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Arise My Love (A) 4009	Claudette Colbert-Ray Milland	Nov. 8,'40	113.	Oct. 19,'40
Border Vigilantes 4053	Wm. Boyd-Russel Hayden-Andy Clyde	Apr. 4,'41
Caught in the Draft	Bob Hope-Dorothy Lamour-Lynne Overman	May 30,'41
Cherokee Strip (G) 4005	Richard Dix-Florence Rice	Oct. 11,'40	86.	Oct. 5,'40
Christmas In July (G) 4007	Dick Powell-Ellen Drew	Oct. 25,'40	72.	Sept. 21,'40
Dancing on a Dime (G) 4008	Grace MacDonald-Robt. Paige	Nov. 1,'40	75.	Oct. 12,'40
Doomed Caravan (G) 4051	W. Boyd-R. Hayden-A. Clyde	Jan. 10,'41	61.	Jan. 11,'41
Hard Boiled Canary (G) 4021	Allan Jones-Marg't Lindsay	Mar. 7,'41	80.	Mar. 1,'41
Hold Back the Dawn	Charles Boyer - Olivia de Havilland-P. Goddard	Not Set
In Old Colorado (G) 4052	W. Boyd-R. Hayden-A. Clyde	Not Set	67.	Feb. 22,'41
I Want a Divorce (G) 4002	Joan Blondell-Dick Powell	Sept. 20,'40	92.	Sept. 7,'40
I Wanted Wings	Brian Donlevy-R. Milland-W. Holden	Apr. 25,'41
Kiss the Boys Goodbye	Mary Martin-Don Ameche	July 18,'41
Lady Eve, The (A) 4022	Barbara Stanwyck-H. Fonda-Chas. Colburn-E. Pallette	Mar. 21,'41	95.	Mar. 1,'41
Las Vegas Nights	Phil Regan-Bert Wheeler-Tommy Dorsey	Mar. 28,'41
(See Product Digest, page 62)
Life with Henry (G) 4016	Jackie Cooper-Leila Ernest	Jan. 24,'41	74.	Jan. 18,'41
Love Thy Neighbor (G) 4013	Jack Benny-Fred Allen-Mary Martin-"Rochester"	Dec. 27,'40	82.	Dec. 21,'40
Mad Doctor, The (A) 4018	B. Rathbone-E. Drew-J. Howard	Feb. 14,'41	90.	Feb. 8,'41
Men of Action	Wm. Boyd-Russell Hayden	Not Set
Monster and the Girl, The (G) 4020	Ellen Drew-Red Cameron	Feb. 28,'41	63.	Feb. 15,'41
Moon Over Burma (G) 4006	Dorothy Lamour-Robert Preston	Oct. 18,'40	75.	Oct. 19,'40
Night at Earl Carroll's, A (G) 4011	Ken Murray-Rose Hobart	Dec. 6,'40	63.	Nov. 16,'40
North West Mounted Police (G) 3946 (Color)	Gary Cooper-Madeleine Carroll-Robt. Preston-P. Goddard	Dec. 27,'40*	125.	Oct. 26,'40
Nurses Don't Tell	Anne Shirley-Rich'd Carlson	Not Set
One Night in Lisbon	Madeleine Carroll-Fred MacMurray-Dame May Whitty	June 13,'41
Pioneer Woman	Barbara Stanwyck-Joel McCrea-Brian Donlevy	Not Set
Pirates on Horseback	Wm. Boyd-Russell Hayden	June 6,'41
Power Dive	Richard Arlen-Jean Parker-Billy Lee	May 23,'41
Quarterback, The (G) 4004	Wayne Morris-Virginia Dale	Oct. 4,'40	69.	Oct. 5,'40
Rangers of Fortune (G) 4003	Fred MacMurray-Albert Dekker-Patricia Morison	Sept. 27,'40	80.	Sept. 14,'40
Reaching for the Sun	Joel McCrea-Ellen Drew-E. Bracken-C. Coburn	May 9,'41
Road to Zanzibar, The	Bing Crosby - Bob Hope - Dorothy Lamour	Apr. 11,'41
Round Up, The	R. Dix-P. Morison-P. Foster	Apr. 18,'41
Second Chorus (G) 4014	Fred Astaire-Paulette Goddard	Jan. 3,'41	83.	Dec. 7,'40
Shepherd of the Hills (Color)	John Wayne - Betty Field - Harry Carey-Beulah Bondi	Aug. 15,'41
Skylark	Claudette Colbert-Ray Milland-Brian Aherne	Not Set
Texas Rangers Ride Again (G) 4012	J. Howard-E. Drew-M. Robson	Dec. 13,'40	67.	Nov. 2,'40
Three Men from Texas (G) 4050	W. Boyd-R. Hayden-A. Clyde	Nov. 15,'40	76.	Sept. 14,'40
Victory (A) 4015	Fredric March-Betty Field	Jan. 17,'41	80.	Dec. 21,'40
Virginia (A) 4019 (Color)	Madeleine Carroll-Fred MacMurray	Feb. 21,'41	110.	Jan. 18,'41
World in Flames (G) 4010	Documentary	Nov. 15,'40	60.	Oct. 19,'40
You're the One (G) 4017	Bonnie Baker-O. Tucker's Orch.-Jerry Colonna-E. E. Horton	Feb. 7,'41	81.	Feb. 8,'41

PRODUCERS RELEASING CORP.

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Arizona Gang Busters 153	Tim McCoy	Sept. 16,'40	60.
Billy the Kid in Texas 158	Bob Steele	Sept. 30,'40	55.
Billy the Kid's Gun Justice 159	Bob Steele	Dec. 27,'40	63.
Billy the Kid's Range War 160	Bob Steele	Jan. 24,'41	60.
Caught in the Act 107	Henry Armetta	Jan. 17,'41	62.
Devil Bat 105	Bela Lugosi	Dec. 13,'40	68.
Federal Fugitive 108	Neil Hamilton	Mar. 29,'41
Lone Rider Crosses the Rio 164	George Houston	Feb. 28,'41
Lone Rider Rides On, The 163	George Houston	Jan. 10,'41	64.
MisBehaving Husbands (G) 104	Harry Landon-Ralph Byrd	Dec. 20,'40	65.	Dec. 21,'40
Outlaws of the Rio Grande (G) 155	Tim McCoy	Mar. 7,'41	63.	Mar. 1,'41
Riders of Black Mountain 154	Tim McCoy-Pauline Haddon	Nov. 11,'40	59.
Secret Evidence (G) 106	M. Reynolds-C. Quigley	Jan. 31,'41	65.	Feb. 8,'41
Trigger Pals 161	Bob Steele	Mar. 22,'41

REPUBLIC

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Arkansas Judge (G) 010	Weaver Brothers and Elviry	Jan. 28,'41	72.	Jan. 25,'41
Back in the Saddle	Gene Autry-Smiley Burnette	Mar. 14,'41
Barnyard Follies (G) 008	M. Lee-R. Davis-J. Storey	Dec. 6,'40	67.	Nov. 23,'40
Border Legion, The (G) 053	R. Rogers-G. Hayes-C. Hughes	Dec. 5,'40	57.	Nov. 30,'40
Behind the News (G) 009	Lloyd Nolan-Doris Davenport	Dec. 20,'40	75.	Dec. 14,'40
Bowery Boy (G) 019	Dennis O'Keefe-Jimmy Lydon	Dec. 27,'40	70.	Jan. 4,'41
Colorado (G) 051	Roy Rogers-"Gabby" Hayes	Sept. 15,'40	57.	Sept. 7,'40
Friendly Neighbors (G) 007	Weaver Bros. and Elviry	Nov. 7,'40	67.	Nov. 16,'40
Frontier Vengeance (G) 072	Don Barry-Betty Moran	Oct. 10,'40	57.	Oct. 12,'40
Great Train Robbery, The	Bob Steele-Claire Carleton	Feb. 28,'41
(See Product Digest, page 62)
Girl from Havana (G) 017	Dennis O'Keefe-Claire Carleton	Sept. 11,'40	69.	Sept. 14,'40
Hit Parade of 1941, The (G) 001	Kenny Baker-Frances Langford	Oct. 15,'40	88.	Oct. 19,'40
In Old Cheyenne	Roy Rogers-"Gabby" Hayes	Apr. 1,'41
Lady from New Orleans	John Wayne-Ona Munson-Ray Middleton	Not Set
Lone Star Raiders (G) 064	3 Mesquiteers-June Johnson	Dec. 23,'40	57.	Dec. 21,'40
Man Betrayed, A	John Wayne-Frances Dee-Edw. Ellis	Feb. 27,'41
Meet the Missus (G) 018	Roscoe Karns - Ruth Donnelly	Nov. 29,'40	68.	Nov. 23,'40
Melody and Moonlight (G) 005	Johnny Downs-Vera Vague	Oct. 11,'40	73.	Oct. 5,'40
Melody Ranch (G) 041	Gene Autry-Jimmy Durante	Nov. 15,'40	84.	Nov. 23,'40
Mr. District Attorney	Dennis O'Keefe-Peter Lorre-Florence Rice	Mar. 27,'41
Petticoat Politics (G) 020	Roscoe Karns-Ruth Donnelly-Spencer Charters	Jan. 31,'41	67.	Feb. 15,'41
Phantom Cowboy, The 075	Don Barry-Virginia Carrol	Feb. 14,'41	56.	Feb. 15,'41
Prairie Pioneers (G) 065	Bob Livingston-Bob Steele	Feb. 16,'41	58.	Mar. 1,'41
Ride, Tenderfoot, Ride (G) 043	G. Autry-S. Burnette-J. Storey	Sept. 6,'40	65.	Aug. 24,'40
Ridin' on a Rainbow (G) 044	Gene Autry - Smiley Burnette-Mary Lee-Carol Adams	Jan. 24,'41	79.	Feb. 1,'41
Robin Hood of the Pecos (G) 054	Roy Rogers-Geo. "Gabby" Hayes -Sally Payne	Jan. 14,'41	59.	Jan. 18,'41
Sis Hopkins	Judy Canova-Bob Crosby-Chas. Butterworth	Apr. 16,'41
Texas Terrors (G) 073	Don Barry-Julie Duncan	Nov. 22,'40	57.	Nov. 23,'40
Trail Blazers (G) 063	3 Mesquiteers-Pauline Moore	Nov. 11,'40	58.	Nov. 2,'40
Two-Gun Sheriff	Don Barry	Apr. 11,'41
Under Texas Skies (G) 062	Three Mesquiteers-Lois Ranson	Sept. 30,'40	57.	Sept. 21,'40
Who Killed Aunt Maggie? (G) 006	J. Hubbard-W. Barrie-W. Abel	Nov. 1,'40	70.	Nov. 2,'40
Wyoming Wildcat (G) 074	Don "Red" Barry-Julie Duncan	Jan. 6,'41	56.	Jan. 11,'41
Young Bill Hickok (G) 052	Roy Rogers-Geo. "Gabby" Hayes	Oct. 21,'40	59.	Oct. 5,'40

THE RELEASE CHART

RKO RADIO

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Along the Rio Grande (G) 183	Tim Holt-Ray Whitley	Feb. 7,'41	64	Jan. 25,'41
Before the Fact	Cary Grant-Joan Fontaine Sir Cedric Hardwicke	Not Set
Citizen Kane 118 (See Product Digest, page 61)	Orson Welles-Dorothy Comingore	Feb. 28,'41
Convoy (A) 161	Clive Brook-John Clements-Judy-Campbell-Edward Chapman	Jan. 3,'41	78	June 29,'40
Devil and Miss Jones, The 122 (See Product Digest, page 63)	Jean Arthur-Charles Coburn	Apr. 11,'41
Fargo Kid, The (G) 182	Tim Holt-Ray Whitley	Dec. 6,'40	63	Nov. 2,'40
Footlight Fever 119	Alan Mowbray-Donald Mc-Bride-Carol Hughes	Mar. 21,'41
Girl, a Guy and a Gob, A 120 (See Product Digest, page 21)	Geo. Murphy-Lucille Ball	Mar. 14,'41
Hang Out the Moon	Rosemary Lane-D. O'Keefe	Not Set
Kitty Foyle (G) 112	Ginger Rogers-Dennis Morgan	Dec. 27,'40	108	Dec. 21,'40
Laddie (G) 107	T. Hole-V. Gilmore-J. Carroll	Oct. 18,'40	70	Sept. 21,'40
Let's Make Music (G) 115	Bob Crosby-Jean Rogers-Elizabeth Risdon-Joseph Buloff	Jan. 17,'41	85	Dec. 14,'40
Li'l Abner (G) 109	Granville Owen-Mona Ray-Johnnie Morris-Martha O'Driscoll	Nov. 1,'40	78	Nov. 9,'40
Little Men (G) 110	Kay Francis-Geo. Bancroft-Jack Oakie-Jimmy Lydon	Jan. 10,'41	84	Dec. 7,'40
Melody for Three 124 (See Product Digest, page 55)	Jean Hersholt-Fay Wray	Mar. 28,'41
Mexican Spitfire Out West (G) 111	Lupe Velez-Leon Errol	Nov. 15,'40	76	Oct. 12,'40
Mr. and Mrs. Smith (A) 117	Carole Lombard-Robt. Montgomery-Gene Raymond	Jan. 31,'41	95	Jan. 25,'41
No, No Nanette (G) 114	Anna Neagle-Richard Carlson	Dec. 20,'40	96	Dec. 28,'40
Playgirl (G) 121	Kay Krancis-James Ellison	Mar. 7,'41	75	Dec. 14,'40
Reluctant Dragon	Disney Cartoon Feature	Not Set
Remedy for Riches (G) 113	Jean Hersholt-Dorothy Lovett	Nov. 29,'40	66	Nov. 23,'40
Repent at Leisure	Kent Taylor-Wendy Barrie	Apr. 4,'41
Robbers of the Range 184	Tim Holt-Virginia Vale	Apr. 18,'41
Saint in Palm Springs, The (G) 116	George Sanders-Wendy Barrie	Jan. 24,'41	66	Jan. 4,'41
Scattergood Baines (G) 123	Guy Kibbee-Dink Trout-Carol Hughes	Feb. 21,'41	69	Feb. 15,'41
Sunny	Anna Neagle-John Carroll-Ray Bolger	Not Set
They Knew What They Wanted (A) 104	Chas. Laughton-Carole Lombard	Oct. 25,'40	90	Oct. 12,'40
They Met in Argentina 128	Gene Raymond - Maureen O'Hara-Alberto Vila	Apr. 25,'41
Tom, Dick and Harry 126	Ginger Rogers-G. Murphy-B. Meredith-A. Marshal	May 9,'41
Too Many Girls (G) 106	Lucille Ball-Richard Carlson	Nov. 8,'40	85	Oct. 12,'40
Villain Still Pursued Her, The (G) 105	Anita Louise-Richard Cromwell	Oct. 11,'40	67	July 27,'40
Wagon Train (G) 181	Tim Holt-Ray Whitley	Oct. 4,'40	59	Oct. 12,'40
You'll Find Out (G) 108	Kay Kyser & Orch.-Peter Lorre-Boris Karloff-Bela Lugosi	Nov. 22,'40	97	Nov. 16,'40

TWENTIETH CENTURY-FOX

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Blood and Sand (Color)	Tyrone Power-Linda Darnell-John Carradine-L. Cregar	May 30,'41
Bride Wore Crutches, The 112 (See Product Digest, page 30)	Lynne Roberts-Ted North	July 4,'41
Brigham Young—Frontiersman (G) 107	Tyrone Power-Linda Darnell	Sept. 27,'40	113	Aug. 31,'40
Chad Hanna (A) 123 (Color)	Henry Fonda - Linda Darnell - Dorothy Lamour-Guy Kibbee-Jane Darwell	Dec. 27,'40	88	Dec. 14,'40
Charter Pilot 118	Lynn Bari-Lloyd Nolan	Dec. 6,'40	70	Nov. 30,'40
Cowboy and the Blonde, The	George Montgomery - Mary Beth Hughes	May 23,'41
Dead Men Tell 136 (See Product Digest, page 63)	Sidney Toler-Sen Yung-Jean Rogers	Mar. 28,'41
Down Argentine Way (G) 113 (Color)	Don Ameche - Betty Grable - C. Greenwood-C. Miranda	Oct. 11,'40	88	Oct. 5,'40
For Beauty's Sake	Ted North-Marjorie Weaver	June 27,'41
Gay Caballero, The (G) 108	Cesar Romero - Sheila Ryan	Oct. 4,'40	57	Sept. 28,'40
Girl in the News (A) 127	Marg't Lockwood-Barry Barnes	Jan. 31,'41	78	Oct. 12,'40
Girl Must Live,A (A)	Lilli Palmer-M'g't Lockwood	Apr. 25,'41	92	May 13,'39
Golden Hoofs (G) 130	Jane Withers-Charles Rogers	Feb. 14,'41	67	Feb. 22,'41
Great American Broadcast	Alice Faye-Jack Oakie-John Payne	May 2,'41
Great Profile, The (G) 111	John Barrymore-Johne Payne	Oct. 25,'40	71	Aug. 24,'40
Hudson's Bay (G) 115	Paul Muni-Gene Tierney-Virginia Field-John Sutton	Jan. 3,'41	94	Dec. 28,'40
Inspector Hornleigh Goes To It 139	Gordon Harker-P. Calvert	Apr. 25,'41
Jennie 122 (A)	Virginia Gilmore-Wm. Henry	Dec. 20,'40	78	Dec. 7,'40
Mark of Zorro, The (G) 117	Tyrone Power-Linda Darnell	Nov. 8,'40	93	Nov. 9,'40
Michael Shayne, Private Detective (G) 124	Lloyd Nolan-Marjorie Weaver	Jan. 10,'41	77	Dec. 28,'40
Murder Among Friends 132 (See Product Digest, page 46)	John Hubbard-Marjorie Weaver	Feb. 28,'41
Murder Over New York (G) 121	Sidney Toler-Marjorie Weaver	Dec. 13,'40	65	Dec. 7,'40
Night Train (A) 114 (Reviewed under title, "Gestapo")	Marg't Lockwood-Rex Harrison	Oct. 18,'40	93	June 8,'40
Outlaw, The 135	Walter Huston-T. Mitchell-Jane Russell-Jack Buetel	Mar. 21,'41
Ride Kelly Ride (G) 129	Marvin Stephens-Rita Quigley-Eugene Pallette	Feb. 7,'41	59	Feb. 15,'41
Ride On Vaquero 138 (See Product Digest, page 64)	C. Romero-Mary B. Hughes	Apr. 18,'41
Romance of the Rio Grande (G) 125	C. Romero-R. Cortez-P. Morison	Jan. 17,'41	73	Jan. 4,'41
Scotland Yard 131 (See Product Digest, page 47)	Nancy Kelly - John Loder - Edmund Gwenn	Apr. 4,'41
Sleepers West 134 (See Product Digest, page 54)	Lloyd Nolan-Lynn Bari-Mary Beth Hughes	Mar. 14,'41
Street of Memories (G) 102	Lynne Roberts-Guy Kibbee	Nov. 15,'40	70	June 29,'40
Tall, Dark and Handsome (G) 128	Cesar Romero-Milton Berle-Virginia Gilmore	Jan. 24,'41	78	Jan. 25,'41
That Night in Rio 137 (Color) (See "The Road to Rio," Product Digest, page 45)	Alice Faye - Don Ameche - Carmen Miranda	Apr. 11,'41
Tin Pan Alley (G) 120	Alice Faye-Betty Grable-Jack Oakie-John Payne	Nov. 29,'40	92	Nov. 23,'40
Tobacco Road (A) 133	Gene Tierney-Charley Grapewin-Marjorie Rambeau	Mar. 7,'41	84	Mar. 1,'41
Very Young Lady, A	Jane Withers-Nancy Kelly	June 6,'41
Western Union (G) 126 (Color)	Robt. Young - Randolph Scott - Dean Jagger-Brenda Joyce	Feb. 21,'41	95	Feb. 8,'41
Youth Will Be Served (G) 119	J. Withers-J. Darwell-R. Conway	Nov. 22,'40	66	Sept. 21,'40

UNITED ARTISTS

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Blackout (G) (Reviewed under title, "Contraband")	Valerie Hobson-Conrad Veidt	Nov. 29,'40	80	Apr. 13,'40
Broadway Limited	Victor McLaglen - Marjorie Reynolds-Dennis O'Keefe	Not Set
Cheers for Miss Bishop (G)	Martha Scott-Wm. Gargan	Feb. 21,'41	95	Jan. 18,'41
Great Dictator, The (G)	Charles Chaplin - Paulette Goddard-Jack Oakie	Mar. 7,'41	126	Oct. 19,'40
Long Voyage Home (A)	J. Wayne-T. Mitchell-I. Hunter	Nov. 22,'40	105	Oct. 12,'40
Major Barbara	Wendy Hiller-Robt. Morley	Not Set
New Wine	Ilona Massey-Binnie Barnes-Alan Curtis	Not Set
Pastor Hall (A)	Nova Pilbeam-Wilfrid Lawson	Sept. 13,'40	92	Aug. 3,'40
Pot O'Gold (See Product Digest, page 63)	James Stewart-Paulette Goddard-Horace Heidt	Not Set
Roadshow (G)	Adolphe Menjou-John Hubbard-Carole Landis	Jan. 24,'41	85	Feb. 15,'41
So Ends Our Night (G)	Fredric March-Marg't Sullivan-Glenn Ford-Frances Dee	Feb. 14,'41	120	Jan. 25,'41
Son of Monte Cristo (G)	Louis Hayward - Joan Bennett - George Sanders	Jan. 10,'41	102	Dec. 7,'40
That Hamilton Woman! (See "Lady Hamilton," Product Digest, page 31)	Vivien Leigh-L. Olivier	Not Set
That Uncertain Feeling (See Product Digest, page 46)	M. Oberon-Melvyn Douglas-Burgess Meredith	Not Set
Thief of Bagdad (G) (Color)	Sabu-J. Duprez-C. Veidt	Dec. 25,'40	109	Oct. 19,'40
Topper Returns	Joan Blondell-Roland Young-Carole Landis-'Rochester'	Mar. 21,'41	120	Jan. 25,'41
Westerner, The (G)	Gary Cooper-Walter Brennan	Sept. 20,'40	99	Sept. 21,'40

UNIVERSAL

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Back Street (A) 5002	M. Sullavan-C. Boyer-R. Carlson	Feb. 7,'41	89	Feb. 8,'41
Bank Dick, The (G) 5010	W. C. Fields-Una Merkel	Nov. 29,'40	73	Dec. 7,'40
Black Cat, The	B. Rathbone-Hugh Herbert-Gale Sondergaard	Not Set
Boss of Bullion City 5064	Johnny Mack Brown	Jan. 10,'41
Buck Privates (G) 5011	Andrews Sisters - Abbott & Costello-Jane Frazee	Jan. 31,'41	84	Feb. 1,'41
Bury Me Not on the Lone Prairie 5065 (See Product Digest, page 47)	Johnny Mack Brown	Mar. 21,'41
Dangerous Game, A (See Product Digest, page 39)	Richard Arlen-Andy Devine	Not Set
Dark Street of Cairo (G) 5040	Sigrid Gurie-Ralph Byrd	Feb. 28,'41	59	Dec. 7,'40
Devil's Pipeline 5052	Richard Arlen-Andy Devine	Nov. 1,'40	65	Nov. 16,'40
Diamond Frontier (G) 5019	V. McLaglen-J. Loder-A. Nagel	Oct. 4,'40	71	Oct. 12,'40
Double Date	Edmund Lowe-Una Merkel	Mar. 14,'41
Flame of New Orleans, The (See Product Digest, page 53)	Marlene Dietrich-R. Young-Bruce Cabot	Apr. 11,'41

THE RELEASE CHART

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Give Us Wings (G) 5025	"Dead End Kids"-W. Ford	Dec. 20,'40	62.	Nov. 16,'40
Hired Wife (G) 5006	R. Russel-B. Aherne-V. Bruce	Sept. 13,'40	96.	Sept. 7,'40
Hit the Road	Gladys George-Barton MacLane	Not Set
I'm Nobody's Sweetheart Now (G) 5036	H. Parrish-D. O'Keefe-C. Moore	Nov. 1,'40	63.	Aug. 10,'40
Invisible Woman, The (A) 5018	John Barrymore - John Howard - Virginia Bruce-Chas. Ruggles	Dec. 27,'40	70.	Jan. 4,'41
Lady from Cheyenne	Loretta Young-R. Preston-Gladys George	Apr. 4,'41
(See Product Digest, page 61)
Law and Order (G) 5062	Johnny Mack Brown	Oct. 18,'40	57.	Nov. 30,'40
Little Bit of Heaven, A (G) 5017	Gloria Jean-Robt. Stack	Oct. 11,'40	86.	Oct. 19,'40
Lucky Devils 5053	Richard Arlen-Andy Devine	Jan. 3,'41
(See Product Digest, page 30)
Man Made Monster	Lionel Atwill-Lon Chaney, Jr.-Frank Albertson	Mar. 28,'41
Man Who Lost Himself, The	Brian Aherne-Kay Francis-Henry Stephenson	Mar. 21,'41
(See Product Digest, page 64)
Margie (G) 5026	N. Grey-T. Brown-M. Auer	Dec. 6,'40	59.	Sept. 21,'40
Meet the Chump (G)	Hugh Herbert-Anna Nagel	Feb. 14,'41	60.	Feb. 15,'41
Meet the Wildcat (G) 5023	Marg't Lindsay-Ralph Bellamy	Nov. 22,'40	65.	Nov. 2,'40
Men of the Timberlands	Richard Arlen-Andy Devine	June 6,'41
Model Wife	Joan Blondell-Dick Powell-Charles Ruggles	Apr. 25,'41
(See Product Digest, page 62)
Mr. Dynamite	Lolyd Nolan-Irene Hervey-J. Carrol Naish	Mar. 7,'41
Mutiny in the Arctic	Richard Arlen-Andy Devine	Apr. 4,'41
Next Time We Love (G) 5048. (Re-issue)	Margaret Sullavan-Jas. Stewart	Nov. 22,'40	85.	Feb. 8,'36
Nice Girl? (G)	Deanna Durbin-Franchot Tone-Robt. Stack-Walter Brennan-	Feb. 21,'41	95.	Mar. 1,'41
Oh, Charlie	Abbott & Costello	May 30,'41
One Night in the Tropics (G) 5015	Allan Jones-Nancy Kelly-Abbott & Costello-R. Cummings	Nov. 15,'40	82.	Nov. 9,'40
Pony Post (G) 5063	Johnny Mack Brown - Fuzzy Knight	Nov. 8,'40	59.	Dec. 21,'40
San Francisco Docks (G) 5027	Burgess Meredith-Irene Hervey	Jan. 10,41	66.	Dec. 7,'40
Sandy Gets Her Man (G) 5021	Baby Sandy-Stuart Erwin-Una Merkel-Edgar Kennedy	Nov. 8,'40	66.	Nov. 16,'40
Seven Sinners (A) 5007	Marlene Dietrich-John Wayne	Oct. 25,'40	86.	Nov. 2,'40
Six Lessons from Madame Lazonga (G) 5022	Lupe Velez-Leon Errol	Jan. 17,'41	62.	Jan. 18,'41
Slightly Tempted G) 5024	H. Herbert-J. Downs-P. Moran	Oct. 18,'40	60.	Aug. 10,'40
Spring Parade (G) 5001	Deanna Durbin - Robt. Cummings - Mischa Auer	Sept. 27,'40	89.	Sept. 28,'40
Too Many Blondes	Rudy Vallee	May 23,'41
Trail of the Vigilantes (G) 5008	Franchot Tone-B. Crawford	Dec. 13,'40	75.	Dec. 14,'40
Unfinished Business	Irene Dunne-Robert Montgomery-Preston Foster	Not Set
Where Did You Get That Girl? (G) 5030	H. Parrish-C. Lang-L. Errol	Jan. 3,'41	67.	Dec. 21,'40

WALT DISNEY PRODUCTIONS

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Fantasia (G) (Color)	Disney-Stokowski	Not Set	135.	Nov. 16,'40

WARNER BROTHERS-FIRST NATIONAL

WB—After Title, Warner Brothers
FN—After Title, First National

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Affectionately Yours	Merle Oberon-Dennis Morgan-Rita Hayworth	Not Set
Always a Bride [FN] (G) 570	Rosemary Lane-George Reeves	Nov. 2,'40	58.	Nov. 30,'40
Bride Came C.O.D.	Bette Davis-James Cagney-Stuart Erwin	Not Set
(See Product Digest, page 61)
Case of the Black Parrot [FN], (G) 572	Wm. Lundigan-Maris Wrixon	Jan. 11,'41	59.	Jan. 18,'41
City for Conquest [WB] (G) 506	James Cagney-Ann Sheridan	Sept. 21,'40	106.	Sept. 14,'40
Dispatch from Reuter's, A [WB] (G) 511	Edw. G. Robinson-Edna Best	Oct. 19,'40	90.	Sept. 28,'40
East of the River [FN] (G) 562	John Garfield-Brenda Marshall-Marjorie Rambeau	Nov. 9,'40	73.	Nov. 2,'40
Father Is a Prince [FN] 569	Grant Mitchell-Nana Bryant	Oct. 12,'40	56
Father's Son [WB] 520	John Litel-Frieda Inescort	Feb. 1,'41	57.	Mar. 1,'41
Flight from Destiny [WB] (A) 514	Thomas Mitchell - Jeffrey Lynn-Geraldine Fitzgerald	Feb. 8,'41	74.	Dec. 28,'40
Footsteps in the Dark [WB] 509	Errol Flynn-Ralph Bellamy-Brenda Marshall	Mar. 8,'41
(See Product Digest, page 45)
Four Mothers [WB] (G) 503	Lane Sisters-Gale Page-Jeffrey Lynn-Claude Rains	Jan. 4,'41	86.	Dec. 21,'40
Gentle People, The	Ida Lupino-Thomas Mitchell-John Garfield	Not Set
Great Lie, The	Bette Davis-George Brent-Hattie McDanels-M. Astor	Not Set
(See Product Digest, page 54)
Great Mr. Nobody, The [WB] 515	Eddie Albert-Joan Leslie-Alan Hale-John Litel	Feb. 15,'41
(See "Stuff of Heroes," Product Digest, page 39)
Here Comes Happiness [WB]	Mildred Coles-Edw. Norris	Mar. 15,'41
(See Product Digest, page 39)
Here Comes the Navy [WB] (G) 525 (re-issue)	James Cagney - Pat O'Brien	Dec. 21,'40	86.	Nov. 30,'40
High Sierra [FN] (G) 556	Humphrey Bogart-Ida Lupino	Jan. 25,'41	100.	Jan. 25,'41
Highway West	Brenda Marshall - Olympe Bradna	Not Set
Honeymoon for Three [WB] (A) 510	G. Brent-A. Sheridan-J. Wyman	Jan. 18,'41	75.	Jan. 25,'41
Kisses for Breakfast [WB]	Dennis Morgan-Jane Wyatt-Shirley Ross	Not Set
Knockout [FN]	Arthur Kennedy - Olympe Bradna	Mar. 29,'41
(See Product Digest, page 55)
Knute Rockne—All American [WB] (G) 502	Pat O'Brien-Gale Page	Oct. 5,'40	98.	Oct. 12,'40
Lady with Red Hair [WB] (G) 512	M. Hopkins-R. Ainsley-C. Rains	Nov. 30,'40	80.	Nov. 16,'40
Letter, The [FN] (A) 552	Bette Davis-Herbert Marshall	Nov. 23,'40	97.	Nov. 16,'40
Meet John Doe (G)	G. Cooper - B. Stanwyck - Edw. Arnold-W. Brennan	Not Set	135.	Feb. 15,'41
Miss Wheelwright Discovers America	Jeffrey Lynn-Priscilla Lane-Ronald Reagan	Not Set
No Hard Feelings	Ricardo Cortez-Wm. Lundigan-Nan Wynn	Not Set
No Time for Comedy [FN] (A) 554	James Stewart-Rosalind Russell	Sept. 14,'40	93.	Sept. 7,'40
Nurse's Secret, The	Lee Patrick-Regis Toomey	Not Set
Santa Fe Trail [FN] (G) 551	Errol Flynn-O. de Havilland-R. Massey-R. Reagan-A. Hale	Dec. 28,'40	110.	Dec. 21,'40
Sea Wolf, The [WB]	Edw. G. Robinson-John Garfield-Ida Lupino	Mar. 22,'41
Sergeant York	Gary Cooper - Joan Leslie - Walter Brennan	Not Set
Shadows on the Stairs [FN]	Frieda Inescort-Paul Cavanagh	Mar. 1,'41
She Couldn't Say No [FN] (G) 571	R. Pryor-E. Arden-C. Edwards	Dec. 14,'40	64.	Dec. 28,'40
Singapore Woman	Brenda Marshall - David Bruce-Virginia Field	Not Set
South of Suez [WB] (G) 513	Geo. Brent-Brenda Marshall	Nov. 16,'40	87.	Dec. 21,'40
Strange Alibi	Arthur Kennedy-Joan Perry	Not Set
Strawberry Blonde (G) [FN] 559	James Cagney-O. de Havilland-Rita Hayworth	Feb. 22,'41	97.	Feb. 15,'41
Three Sons O'Guns	Wayne Morris-Tom Brown	Not Set
Thirty Days Hath September	Eddie Albert-Joan Leslie-Alan Hale	Not Set
Tugboat Annie Sails Again [FN] (G) 561	Marjorie Rambeau-Alan Hale	Oct. 26,'40	75.	Oct. 26,'40
Wagons Roll at Night, The	H. Bogert-S. Sidney-E. Albert	Not Set
(See Product Digest, page 29)
Winged Victory	Geraldine Fitzgerald-James Stephenson-Donald Crisp	Not Set

FOREIGN AND STATE RIGHTS

Title	Star	Dist'r.	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Among Human Wolves G)	Basil Radford	Film Alliance	Dec. 1,'40	59.	Nov. 30,'40
Cavalcade of Faith (G)	Documentary	Jeffrey	Jan. 17,'41	65.	Jan. 11,'41
Face at the Window, The (A)	Tod Slaughter	Ziehm	Oct. 23,'40	65.	Oct. 19,'40
Hatred (A)	Harry Baur	World	Jan. 25,'41	70.	Feb. 8,'41
Here Is Ireland (G)	Travelogue	Irish-American	Oct. 3,'40	80.	Oct. 12,'40
Heritage (G)	Juanita Montenegro	French Films	Nov. 4,'40	75.	Nov. 16,'40
Kiss of Fire, The (A)	Viviane Romance	Hakim Brothers	Nov. 19,'40	83.	Nov. 30,'40
Lilac Domino, The (G)	Michael Bartlett	Select	Dec. 6,'40	65.	Dec. 14,'40
Living Dead, The (A)	Paul Wegener	Hoffberg	Dec. 16,'40	85.	Dec. 21,'40
Man of the Hour, The (A)	Maurice Chevalier	Trio Films	Nov. 20,'40	95.	Nov. 30,'40
Mayerling to Sarajevo (A)	John Lodge	Leo	Oct. 30,'40	90.	Nov. 9,'40
Merry Wives, The* (A)	Zdenek Stepanek	Lloyd	Nov. 11,'40	85.	Nov. 23,'40
Mozart (G)	Stephen Haggard	"Mozart, Inc."	Oct. 3,'40	75.	Oct. 19,'40
Murder at the Baskervilles (G) (Reviewed under title, "Silver Blaze.")	Arthur Wontner	Astor	Jan. 15,'41	68.	July 17,'37
Neutral Port (G)	Will Fyffe	Gainsborough	Not Set	92	Jan. 25,'41
Old Bill and Son	Moreland Graham	General Film	Not Set		Dec. 14,'40
Open Road, The (A)	Victor Francen	Mintz	Oct. 4,'40	85.	Oct. 19,'40
Pepe Le Moko (A)	Jean Gabin	Mayer-Burstyn	Not Set	100.	Mar. 20,'37
Personal Column (A)	Maurice Chevalier	Pax	Feb. 1,'41	89.	Feb. 15,'41
Quiet Wedding (A)	Marg't Lockwood Soskin-Para.		Not Set	80	Feb. 15,'41
Sailors Three (G)	Tommy Trinder	Assoc. British	Not Set	87	Oct. 26,'40
Spellbound (A)	Laurie Baxter	Pyramid-UA	Not Set	82	Feb. 1,'41
They Met on Skis (G)	Wissia Dina	C. L. Import	Dec. 21,'40	75.	Jan. 11,'41
Two Women (A)	Pierre Blanchar	Paragon	Nov. 1,'40	100.	Nov. 9,'40
You Will Remember	Robert Morley	British Lion	Not Set		Feb. 1,'41

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING

the great national medium for showmen

Ten cents per word, money-order or check with copy. Count initials, box number and address. Minimum insertion, $1. Four insertions for the price of three. Contract rates on application. No borders or cuts. Forms close Mondays at 5 P.M. Publisher reserves the right to reject any copy. Film and trailer service advertising not accepted. Classified advertising not subject to agency commssion. Address correspondence, copy and checks MOTION PICTURE HERALD, Classified Dept., Rockefeller Center, New York City

THEATRES

WANTED, SMALL THEATRE SHOWING profit. BOX 1375, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

FOR SALE, TWO SMALL TOWN THEATRES IN Michigan. Now running. Write EDWIN DALTON, Flushing, Mich.

WANTED, PROFITABLE, SMALL THEATRE, Wisconsin. BOX 1385, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

POSITIONS WANTED

MANAGER OR ASSISTANT, 11 YEARS EXPERIence circuit and independent. Newspaper, show-cards, exploitation. Age 32, married. METCALFE, 334 E. 105th St., Los Angeles, Calif.

MANAGER DESIRES CHANGE, 9 YEARS EXPErience with major circuit, prefer South or West. State salary. BOX 1384, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

PRINTING SERVICE

THEATRE BLOWUPS. BEST PRICES, QUALity service. STITES PORTRAIT CO., Shelbyville, Ind.

BOOKKEEPING SYSTEM

THEATRE MANAGEMENT RECORD AND TAX Register. This new accounting system is the finest book of its kind ever made available to an exhibitor. In addition to being complete in every respect, it is simple—so much so that it is not necessary to have had bookkeeping experience in order to keep an accurate, complete and up-to-the-minute record of the business of your theatre. The introductory price is only $2.00 postpaid. QUIGLEY BOOKSHOP, Rockefeller Center, New York.

HELP WANTED

OPERATORS AND MANAGERS, MOVIE CIRcuits. ROSHON, Gulf States Bldg., Dallas, Tex.

MANAGER WANTED, METROPOLITAN AREA, age 25-30, experienced handling game nites, exploitation. BOX 1383, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

USED GENERAL EQUIPMENT

COMPLETE HIGH CLASS EQUIPMENT FOR 500-seat theatre, purchased at auction. For sale cheap. MOVIE SUPPLY COMPANY, 1318 So. Wabash Ave., Chicago, Ill.

WANTED, 125 USED, UPHOLSTERED THEATRE seats, thirteen each right and left end sections. RECREATION OFFICER, Fort Riley, Kas.

BLOWERS, SLIGHTLY USED, GUARANTEED like new. Ball bearings, new belts and pulleys and variable speed drive. 10,000 cfm, $75. 20,000 cfm, $100. REYNOLDS MANUFACTURING CO., Grand Rapids, Mich.

SOME THEATRE CAN USE YOUR OLD EQUIPment. A little ad here will reach thousands of potential customers. Only ten cents a word to tell the world what you have to sell. Try it today. MOTION PICTURE HERALD, Rockefeller Center, New York.

BARGAIN, USED PEERLESS LAMPS AND Powers projectors, Mazda equipment. BOX 1381, MOTION PICTURE HERALD, Chicago, Ill.

WANT TO BUY HAMMOND ORGAN, GOOD condition, suitable for 1,000 seat theatre. BOX 1382, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

CLOSING OUT LIGHTING EQUIPMENT. SPOTlamps 500 watt, $2.95; 1,000 watt, $7.95; 2,000 watt $10.95; Footlights, Borderlights, $1.95; Heavy Spotstands, $3.95; Hanging four cluster worklights, $5.95; Sixhole colorwheel, $2.95; General Electric Mazda bulbs, std. pkgs. 25% discount. S. O. S. CINEMA SUPPLY CORP., New York.

OVER 1,000 GOOD USED SPRING CUSHION seat bottoms $100, or trade for what have you? Renew your worn bottoms at this low price. BOX 218, Glade Spring, Va.

NEW GENERAL EQUIPMENT

BUY DIRECT FROM FACTORY, SAVE MIDDLEman's profit. Blowers, air washers, variable speed pulleys, air deflectors. CONDITIONAIRE, 145 Walton St., Atlanta, Ga.

SPACE TO LEASE

333 W. 52ND ST., NEW YORK CITY, NEAR 8TH Ave., 15-story Modern building with Film vaults. Now available. Will divide to suit tenant. Rent reasonable. Agent on premises.

BOOKS

MOTION PICTURE SOUND ENGINEERING—547 pages; illustrated; covers every practical method and process in present-day sound engineering. Leading engineers explain every detail of apparatus and its arrangement, with diagrams, tables, charts and graphs. This manual comes straight from the workshops of the studios in Hollywood. It is indispensable to everyone working with sound equipment. Price $6.50 postpaid. QUIGLEY BOOKSHOP, Rockefeller Center, New York.

NEW 567 PAGE BOOK ON AIR CONDITIONING by Charles A. Fuller, authority on the subject. Available for theatre owners contemplating engineering changes. Book is cloth bound with index and charts and covers every branch of the industry as well as codes and ordinances regulating installation. Order now at $4.00 a copy postpaid. QUIGLEY BOOKSHOP, Rockefeller Center, New York.

RICHARDSON'S BLUEBOOK OF PROJECTION. A second revision of the Sixth Edition of Richardson's Bluebook of Projection with a complete section of Sound Trouble-Shooting Charts as well as a host of additional up-to-the-minute text on the latest equipment. Price $7.25 postpaid. QUIGLEY BOOKSHOP, Rockefeller Center, New York.

JUST PUBLISHED! 1941 EDITION OF FAME. Edited by Terry Ramsaye. The class annual of the screen, radio and stage. Recognized by executives and talent agents as the guide to box office champions. Send your order today with check or money order for $1.00. QUIGLEY BOOKSHOP, Rockefeller Center, New York.

SALESMEN WANTED

SALESMEN WANTED. MEN CAPABLE OF introducing and selling a new service to exhibitors in the Atlanta, Chicago, Kansas City, Denver and Detroit film exchange territories. Commission earnings of present sales staff average between $50 and $75 weekly. Automobile essential. Write giving full particulars. BOX 1214A. MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

ATTENTION PROSPECTIVE FRANCHISE holders, approximately $1,000 month profit on 100 machines at average rental of $3.50 week. Several states still open. ROTO-SLIDE ANIMATED PROJECTOR. 845 So. Wabash Ave., Chicago, Ill.

TRAINING INSTITUTE

BETTER POSITIONS AWAIT TRAINED THEAtre employees. Learn Modern Theatre Management and Advertising. Free information. THEATRE INSTITUTE, 415 Washington, Elmira, N. Y.

PRESS OF
C. J. O'BRIEN, INC.
NEW YORK, U. S. A.

IN PERFECT AGREEMENT

EASTMAN negative films—each in its special field—work in perfect agreement with director and cameraman to capture completely the beauty of every scene.
Eastman Kodak Company, Rochester, N.Y.

J. E. BRULATOUR, INC., Distributors
Fort Lee Chicago Hollywood

PLUS-X
for general studio use

SUPER-XX
when little light is available

BACKGROUND-X
for backgrounds and general exterior work

EASTMAN NEGATIVE FILMS

STOP! LOOK LISTEN to a rave...

"THIS IS ONE OF THOSE HOLLYWOOD SURPRISE PACKAGES..."

a film that not only lives up to, but vastly exceeds the expectations of studio prophets!"

—James Francis Crow, LOOK

...and the press enthusiastically agrees!

★ "Should definitely be a moneymaker, for it's the sort of picture women will love!" —LOUELLA PARSONS

★ "Richly human emotional drama!" —Harold Heffernan, NORTH AMERICAN NEWSPAPER ALLIANCE

★ "A don't miss item for your motion picture list... Dramatic debut of Susan Hayward something to shout about!" —Alice Tildesley, PHILA. PUBLIC LEDGER SYNDICATE

★ "Sure-fire for the femme trade... in all type houses!" —DAILY VARIETY

★ "Bound to evoke maximum of attention. One of most daring basic ideas any film ever offered!" —Edwin Schallert, LOS ANGELES TIMES

★ "Rating: splendid!" —Jimmy Starr, LOS ANGELES EVE. HERALD & EXPRESS

★ "Definitely in Academy Award class! Terrific general appeal and should do smash business at box-office!" —E. J. Smithson, FAWCETT PUBLICATIONS

★ "Strong, substantial, deeply emotional drama, exceptional woman appeal!" HOLLYWOOD CITIZEN-NEWS

★ "Excellent picture!"—LOS ANGELES NEWS

★ "Impressive... sufficient proven entertainment elements to indicate profitable patronage!" —BOXOFFICE

COLUMBIA PICTURES

MOTION PICTURE HERALD

DIST. OF AMUSE...
28 W. 44TH ST..
NEW YORK,
N. Y.

FEATURE REVIEWS:

A Girl, a Guy and a Gob
That Night in Rio
Melody for Three
Footsteps in the Dark
Meet Boston Blackie
Here Comes Happiness
The Great Train Robbery
Rage in Heaven
This England

PRODUCT DIGEST

The Living Catalogue of the Industry

TNEC to Tell Congress Department of Justice Quit Enforcement of Film Decree

'Spirit of the Decree' Will Be Applied, Giving Owners Immediate Clearance Relief

Films As Indispensable As Steel to National Defense, the Army Tells Hollywood

New U. A. Profit-Sharing Plan in Bid for More Producers

—in

Better Theatres

Remodeling Suggestions

—with explanatory drawings

Special Air-Conditioning Features

VOL. 142, NO. 10 In Two Sections—Section One MARCH 8, 1941

Entered as second-class matter, January 12, 1931, at the Post Office, at New York City, U. S. A., under the act of March 3, 1879. Published weekly by Quigley Publishing Co., Inc., at 1270 Sixth Avenue, Rockefeller Center, New York. Subscription prices: $5.00 a year in the Americas, $10.00 a year Foreign. Single copy, 25 cents. All contents copyright 1941 by Quigley Publishing Company.

THE GREATEST STAR POWER IN ALL AMUSEMENT HISTORY!

LIONEL BARRYMORE
WALLACE BEERY
JOAN CRAWFORD
ROBERT DONAT
NELSON EDDY
CLARK GABLE
GRETA GARBO
JUDY GARLAND
GREER GARSON
HEDY LAMARR
MYRNA LOY
JEANETTE MacDONALD
MARX BROTHERS
ROBT. MONTGOMERY
ELEANOR POWELL
WILLIAM POWELL
MICKEY ROONEY
ROSALIND RUSSELL
NORMA SHEARER
ANN SOTHERN
JAMES STEWART
ROBERT TAYLOR
SHIRLEY TEMPLE
SPENCER TRACY
LANA TURNER

HITCH YOUR WAGON TO A STAR!

It's a comforting feeling (like money in the bank!)
To know that your theatre is fortified with
The most important asset in show business
Star Power!
Ever since this season started M-G-M has Delighted the fans with star-crowded hits—
Here are more M-G-M star-spangled Big Ones on the way:

SPENCER TRACY • MICKEY ROONEY in "MEN OF BOYS TOWN"

WALLACE BEERY
in "THE BAD MAN" with Lionel Barrymore • Laraine Day

"BLOSSOMS IN THE DUST"
starring GREER GARSON • WALTER PIDGEON

SPENCER TRACY • INGRID BERGMAN • LANA TURNER in "DR. JEKYLL AND MR. HYDE"

WILLIAM POWELL • MYRNA LOY in "LOVE CRAZY"

CLARK GABLE • ROSALIND RUSSELL in "THE UNIFORM"

And Friendly, Too!

e gets madder Every week!

His Opposition grabbed Warners first!)

He's got 'Strawberry Blonde' against him now. Next he'll have to buck Errol Flynn in 'Footsteps in the Dark'! Then he's got to play against Robinson, Ida Lupino and Garfield in Jack London's 'Sea Wolf'! You can lay good odds he'll have Warners next season!–But who won't?

ON THE 12TH OF MARCH

AT 2 NEW YORK THEATRES
THE RIVOLI · THE HOLLYWOOD

AT 2 LOS ANGELES THEATRES
THE HOLLYWOOD · THE DOWNTOWN

AT 2 MIAMI THEATRES
THE PARAMOUNT · THE BEACH

Exclusively on the Policy of ADVANCED PRICE

THE FRANK CAPRA PRODUCTION FOR 1941!

GARY COOPER
BARBARA STANWYCK

in

MEET JOHN DOE

with

EDWARD ARNOLD · WALTER BRENNAN

Spring Byington • James Gleason and Gene Lockhart

This Screen Play, as were most of the major successes of Frank Capra, is by

ROBERT RISKIN

Directed by Frank Capra

Distributed by Vitagraph Inc

Produced at the Studios of WARNER BROS.

AT OKLAHOMA CITY	THE CRITERION	MARCH 12TH
AT CHARLESTON	THE VICTORY	MARCH 14TH
AT RICHMOND	THE COLONIAL	MARCH 14TH
AT SPRINGFIELD, ILL.	THE ROXY	MARCH 14TH
AT LOUISVILLE	THE MARY ANDERSON	MARCH 14TH
AT NASHVILLE	THE KNICKERBOCKER	MARCH 14TH
AT SAN FRANCISCO	THE WARFIELD	MARCH 14TH
AT DAYTON	THE VICTORY	MARCH 15TH
AT LINCOLN	THE LINCOLN	MARCH 19TH
AT SEATTLE	THE ORPHEUM and 5th AVE.	MARCH 19TH
AT HARRISBURG	THE STATE	MARCH 21ST
AT NORFOLK	THE NORVA	MARCH 21ST
AT PROVIDENCE	THE MAJESTIC	MARCH 21ST
AT INDIANAPOLIS	THE CIRCLE	MARCH 21ST
AT TERRE HAUTE	THE GRAND	MARCH 23RD
AT EVANSVILLE	THE GRAND	MARCH 25TH

nd

, SINGLE FEATURE, EXTENDED RUNS

"Tobacco Road" opens in key spots this week-

Watch it go!

"TOBACCO ROAD" IS NOW THE MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY'S GREATEST PROPERTY!

20th CENTURY FOX

MOTION PICTURE HERALD

MARTIN QUIGLEY, Editor-in-Chief and Publisher

Vol. 142, No. 10 March 8, 1941

SOUTHWARD HO!

THIS is a time of long thoughts on the relations, actual, implied, suggested, ordained, and practical—none of those being either identical or overlapping—in the affairs of a world of war crises, of motion picture relations, with specific emphasis on what is so hopefully called Hemisphere Solidarity. That, of course, means the Western Hemisphere, and solidarity and "good neighbor" meaning what they do, it all means cinema and related matters from the Rio Grande to Cape Horn.

Last week, three manifestations bore on the situation. We heard from Government in the voice of the President of the United States addressing the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences on the world-wide radio, again from American capital and industry in the expressions of Mr. John Hay Whitney, also on the air from the Museum of Modern Art, and again, without fanfare of radio, from the press on totalitarian financial and political campaigning, including cinema procedures, in the lands to the South—see February 22 issue of Motion Picture Herald on Nazi screen strategy in the Argentine, and American Mercury and the New York Sun on Nazi finance in Mexico.

"After the advent of the Hitler regime," observes the Sun, "Germany succeeded in getting an increasing share of Mexico's business, while the United States saw its proportion of that trade steadily decline. The success of Nazi methods was due in great part to more liberal credit facilities than American firms were willing to grant. Such facilities, of course, can be given freely when the exporters have government backing; indeed, it appears quite clearly that the whole foreign trade policy of the Hitler government is aimed less at making profits—much of the business is even carried at a loss—than at political ends."

Interestingly and significantly, this coincides with what Senor N. Bruski, Motion Picture Herald correspondent, has set down about the Nazi procedure of extending credits to the encouragement of extravagance and receivership for Argentine cinema concerns, with a planned, or evidently planned, sequel of an all-Nazi control as chief creditor after foreclosures.

ALSO it is to be observed that, in the face of the overwhelmingly insistent demands of the German air war, there is both capital for production and money for the air transport to the Latin Americas of film merchandise from the Reich. The German concerns dealing in more ponderous merchandise in the south countries are keeping their institutions alive and their trade channels open by buying American goods to transmit to their customers, but the Vaterland still supplies the films, with their capacity for "message," concentrated, distilled into sounds and shadows.

In his discourse by radio to the Academy and the nation, President Roosevelt remarked: "We have seen the American motion picture become foremost in the world. We have seen it reflect our civilization throughout the rest of the world—the aims and aspirations of a free people and of freedom. That is the real reason that some governments do not want our American films exhibited in their countries—think it a dangerous thing for their unfortunate peoples to know that in our democracy, officers of the government are the servants, never the masters, of the people.

". . . tonight I want to place the chief emphasis on the service you can render in promoting solidarity among all the people of the Americas. . . . "

And then at week's end, last Friday, Mr. Whitney at a function in the penthouse of the Museum of Modern Art announced to guests there and on the radio "a new program to improve relations between the United States and the Latin American republics through the interchange of art and culture." It was announced, too, that the first medium would be the motion picture, and that "every non-theatrical" motion picture film available was to be reviewed and graded for suitability for rerecording in the Spanish and Portuguese languages.

THIS undertaking of the Museum is rather a continuance of what has appeared as early and perhaps initial policy and purpose of that Rockefeller-Whitney institution. It has long been concerned with displays of the arts of countries south from Mexico. In the annual report for '39-'40, Mr. Alfred H. Barr, Jr., director, observes: "Long before the fateful month of June (1940) the trustees had been interested unofficially in the national effort to further cultural relations with Latin America." There have been a number of all-Latin exhibits and a Mexican concert series, including a show for Portinari of Brazil, and for the exceedingly Mexican Orozco, who incidentally is so esoteric in technique that he drew a booklet entitled "Orozco Explains."

In Washington, too, in several directions, discovery of the decided potential utility of the motion picture as a medium of message and propaganda was being made. In fact, more than two years ago the Department of State was credited with special official encouragement of a tour of the Latin Americas by a newsreel pictorial mission. Of that more was said than seen.

Last October on this page it was observed that the Administration was setting up a $500,000,000 credit arrangement to encourage, permit and promote the purchase of goods in the United States by South Americans, with the suggestion: "Anything that might be done to apply some of that five hundred millions of dollars worth of trade lubrication to the flow of pictures could be viewed as broadly constructive." Nothing has been heard in that department, yet.

If Latin America is to be wooed and won on the screen, it will have to be in terms of the product they seek and like most. That is not, in the main, as experience has proved, what the American home market wants most. The two audiences are as remote in culture, tempo and interests as distances. The Yankee is not notably equipped with understanding of the Latin. If he makes pictures for them, it will have to be a very special job.

If the motion picture industry and its skilled production facilities are to be brought to bear on the problems of Latin-

[Continued on following page]

This Week in the News

Arbitration History

THE parties in the first arbitration case started under the motion picture consent decree, in the Walbrook, Baltimore action, on Wednesday unanimously selected E. Barrett Prettyman, former corporation counsel for the District of Columbia, for arbitrator. The hearing will open in two weeks, in the capital.

Mr. Prettyman, now practicing as an attorney in Washington, will rule on the arbitration complaint of the Walbrook Amusement Company, headed by Thomas D. Goldberg, against Warner Brothers and Twentieth Century-Fox, protesting a seven-day clearance granted three houses of the Frank H. Durkee circuit.

SOUTHWARD HO!

[Continued from preceding page]

American relations, it will need at least as much encouragement as the Nazis are giving to production and cinema finance.

△ △ △

ALFONSO XIII, King of Spain, dies in exile on page one of the New York Times, and on page four of the Daily News a Hudson River bargeman's daughter is wed to Count Charles Nava de Tajo, Spanish nobleman. On page 17 of the Times an Argentine gaucho, Marcelino Soule, a-horseback for 18,000 miles and two years and a half from home, so the story runs, trades hats with Mayor Fiorello La Guardia at City Hall, and then finds himself in court insisting that "Uncle Sam" should pay his bill for a taxi ride. The Argentine consulate seemed to know about Marcelino, and the magistrate paid the $1.10. Only one department store advertisement that day, last Saturday, had a display line for fashions, saying "Go Gaucho," and that may have been coincidence. Nor did the Sunday papers disclose the "tie-up." Promotion minded observers thought they heard the cocoanut shells of a synthetic canter backstage.

Meanwhile, a British fashion mission, complete with stately blonde mannequins was off for the Latin Americas, under State auspices, to compete with Nazi-French brunettes sent to save Paris as the fashion capital for the commerce of an occupied France—and both pitted against that rising influence of Hollywood in the garment world. —Terry Ramsaye

TNEC to tell Congress Department of Justice "resigned" film decree enforcement and imposed enforcement on industry's "weakest members" Page 13
DECREE spirit to be applied, giving owners immediate clearance relief Page 18
FINANCING, profit sharing plan devised by United Artists to attract new producers Page 19
PRESIDENT Roosevelt asks film aid in promoting Pan-American solidarity in broadcast to Academy dinner Page 23
DEFENSE plan needs films as much as steel, General tells studios Page 25
UNIVERSAL officials receive new seven-year profit-sharing contracts Page 26
ASCAP decree approved by Judge Goddard without change Page 30
CANADA reports formation of new circuit; new tax levied Page 31
TELEVISION operating standards suggestions listed by Government Page 43
PETRILLO to be probed, U. S. promises; music guilds continue fight Page 47
LEGISLATIVE measures introduced in states feature taxes Page 50
VARIETY clubs appoint 28 committees for national convention Page 52
MAINTENANCE costs of air conditioning . . . Academy acoustic recommendations . . . Economical selection of lobby mats . . . In Better Theatres

SERVICE DEPARTMENTS

Asides and Interludes Page 29
British Studios Page 49
Hollywood Scene Page 41
Reviews Page 36
What the Picture Did for Me Page 58

How the familiar telegram blank was reproduced in print to serve as background for the 12-merchant tiein in Cleveland that publicized "Western Union" extensively in three pages of the local News is dwelt upon in this week's Round Table along with other ways and means conceived by theatremen over the country in bringing attention of the public to theatre attractions. Page 63

PRODUCT DIGEST, the living catalogue of industry wares Page 73

Star-ratings Still Out

SOME of the advertising and publicity representatives of the major companies in New York were understood to be considering abandoning the six-year-old "gentlemen's agreement" to keep critics' stars and other symbols of picture rating out of their advertisements. For a while, in recent weeks, it appeared that all bets on adherence to the agreement would be called off, the situation reaching the point on Wednesday where Lester Thompson, director of the majors' Advertising Advisory Council, issued a general notice denying there was any change in the status of the agreement.

Mr. Thompson's statement explained that the agreement was a voluntary undertaking by the directors of advertising and publicity of various companies, and is not a part of the MPPDA's Advertising Code. Recent use of critics' stars in the advertising of Broadway houses not parties to the pact threatened the agreement. Three weeks ago one of the principal companies informed the Advertising Council of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America that it was withdrawing from the agreement, and the other companies were so informed. But at week's end the agreement had been reaffirmed and was said to be as strong as ever.

Blocks-of-5 Battle

NORTHWEST Allied's anti-consent decree bill introduced into the Minnesota legislature two weeks ago, quickly reached committee hearings on Wednesday, moving closer to an industry battle which impends when it reaches debate on the floor of the Senate and House. Hearings were set for March 13th.

James A. Carley, chairman of the Senate general legislation committee, labelled the bill "non-controversial" as it reached the top of the committee calendar. He said the bill would be considered on its merits alone.

Many observers believe that the committee will pass the battle along to the full Senate rather than take any stand for or against state motion picture regulation. Spokesmen from the motion picture industry were reportedly legion at Minneapolis, waiting a chance to be heard pro or con.

Aiming Southward

EVIDENCE of growing attention by the majors to the South American market came Wednesday in an announcement from Universal in New York that "for the first time in several years" the company would hold a "national scale" Latin-American convention at Panama, from April 2nd to 6th, with its home office managing executives in personal attendance.

J. H. Seidelman, vice president in charge of foreign sales, said Nate Blumberg, president; C. C. Margon, Latin-American supervisor, and Fortunat Baronat, foreign publicity director, would travel to Panama.

Three weeks ago Paramount launched a 1941 Pan-American "good-will movement" with a major sales meeting at Panama. Other companies are expected to follow. Last year, RKO and Warners, with meetings in Buenos Aires, were the only majors to hold special Latin-American gatherings.

First U. S. Blackout

THE first official blackout in the United States was scheduled for Friday in Seattle, when film theatres and other places of amusement were to be dark from 10:30 to 11 P. M. The test blackout was conducted for the War and Navy departments. Entertainment could continue inside theatres during the dark period but all outside lights in the city were to be extinguished.

Italy Aids England

WHAT some persons thought to be "trafficking with the enemy," when two weeks ago it became known that Selznick International Pictures had sold the Italian exhibition rights to "Rebecca" and "Intermezzo," comes out now as a specialized form of British war relief activity.

On Tuesday Winthrop W. Aldrich, president of the British War Relief Society, in New York, announced that a check for $25,650 received by the Selznick company from the Italian interests was immediately turned over to the British for the purchase of "sea ambulances," to be used by England to rescue survivors of torpedoed ships.

News of the Selznick-Italian deal came as a surprise two weeks ago. Up to that time it was thought a "gentlemen's agreement" among U. S. producers not to sell pictures to Italy had been observed. U. S. distributors broke off relations with Italy on January 1, 1939, after no satisfactory arrangements could be made with the fascist film monopoly.

At the Selznick office, two weeks ago, it was pointed out that that company had never been a party to the "agreement," but, if the company were not in the process of liquidation, the spirit of the past probably would have been kept. A Selznick spokesman said then that the only motive for the transaction was to realize all the dollar assets possible in the liquidation process.

The sale of "Rebecca," the Academy Award winner for 1940, and "Intermezzo," to the Italians also has occasioned comment. Both films have English locales; the stars of both, Lawrence Olivier and Leslie Howard, are Englishmen.

$12,900,000 Split

AFTER several weeks of hearings and consideration of the arguments brought on the one side by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer and on the other by the other seven majors, Milton J. Handler, lawyer and professor at Columbia University, has made an arbitration award under which the $12,900,000 of majors' rentals to be withdrawn from Great Britain will be split up on the same basis as was used last year when $17,500,000 was received.

MGM had proposed, in opposition to the vote of the other seven majors that the new standard for allocation be the net rather than last year's system based on the average gross business done in Great Britain. At several meetings held at the office of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, in New York, no agreement was reached and the matter was submitted to a single arbiter whose decision was final.

Chiefly on the basis of "Gone With the Wind" revenue MGM calculated that it would receive proportionally more of the $12,900,000 if the split was made on the net rather than the gross British business. It was authoritatively said that the decision of the arbitrator upholding the system used last year meant a "slight" increase in the share for the other seven companies. No dollar figures or percentages were revealed, nor was the arbitrator's opinion accompanying the decision made public.

20 QP Awards Hosts

THE two winners of the 1940 Quigley Awards for showmanship, E. R. Callow, of Warners' Philadelphia Theatres, and J. R. Wheeler, manager of the Great States Granada theatre, South Bend, Indiana, are to arrive in Hollywood March 17th. They will be entertained during their visit by a committee of 20 Hollywood studio publicity heads, including the following: Jock Lawrence, Robert Taplinger, George Brown, Howard Strickling, Harry Brand, Perry Leiber, Les Smith, John Joseph, Al Vaughan, John Johnston, Jerry Dale, George Glass, Frank Seltzer, John Miles, Victor Shapiro, Catherine Hunter, Janet Martin, Lou Lifton, Walter Compton, and William E. Raynor, Jr.

$660,000 for 3 Plays

THE screen market for Broadway stage hits continued to boom as Columbia this week paid $225,000 for Max Gordon's production of "My Sister Eileen." Paramount recently bought "Lady in the Dark" for $285,000 and "Louisiana Purchase" for $150,000. Other high priced play payments reported in the past few weeks include $175,000 from Warners for "Arsenic and Old Lace," $130,000 for "Panama Hattie" from MGM, $110,000 for "Charley's Aunt" from 20th Century-Fox, $75,000 for "Pal Joey" from Columbia, and $75,000 for "Old Acquaintance" from Warners.

Hays' 19th Anniversary

WILL H. Hays observed, Wednesday, his 19th anniversary as president of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America. A new contract, extending his services in the post for another five years, has been approved. The annual meeting of the MPPDA board will be held March 31st in New York.

Radio Competition

INDICATION of the size of the radio audience was given Wednesday when the U. S. Census Bureau announced at Washington that in 1939, the most recent year for which official census figures are available, more than 10,352,000 receiving sets were produced, an increase of some 2,500,000 over 1937 and more than double the 4,980,000 sets put out in 1929.

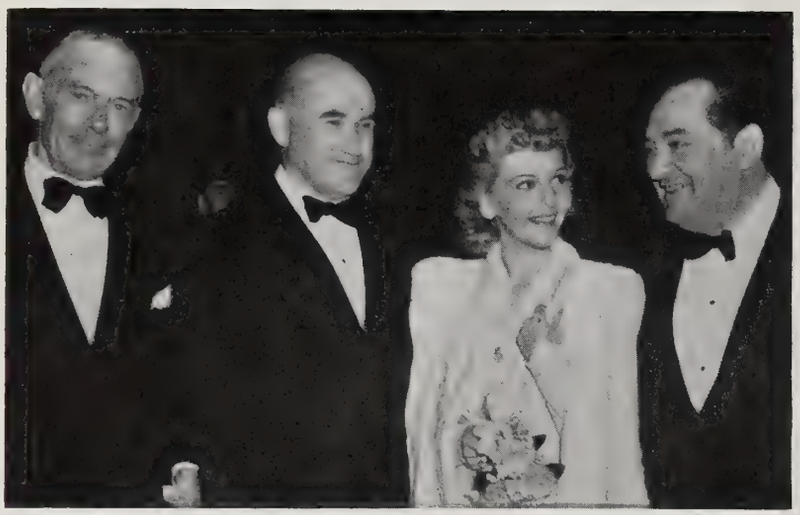
"Primrose Path"

RKO, on Tuesday, filed, and immediately obtained an action against the Grand Wilshire Theatre in Los Angeles for the repossession of a print of its motion picture, "Primrose Path," with Ginger Rogers, released in March, 1940. The repossession was undertaken because of the nature of newspaper promotion used by the management of the Grand Wilshire, which promotion, the company stated, occasioned distress both to the company and the industry at large. The action was filed by RKO counsel Mitchell Silverberg.

The theatre operators made a spot booking of the old Rogers' picture, to cash in on Academy award publicity which it attempted through newspaper advertisements citing: "1941 Academy Award Winner Ginger Rogers in Her Greatest 'Sex' Sensation, Primrose Path. Her First Kiss. Her Love. The One Romance in Every Woman's Life."

The newspaper advertisements appeared Monday and Tuesday in the Los Angeles Hearst papers and in the Daily News.

MOTION PICTURE HERALD, published every Thursday by Quigley Publishing Company, Rockefeller Center, New York City. Telephone CIrcle 7-3100. Cable address "Quigpubco, New York." Martin Quigley, Editor-in-Chief and Publisher; Colvin Brown, Vice-President and General Manager; Watterson R. Rothacker, Vice-President; Terry Ramsaye, Editor; Ernest A. Rovelstad, Managing Editor; James P. Cunningham, News Editor; Chicago Bureau, 624 South Michigan Avenue, C. B. O'Neill, manager; Hollywood Bureau, Postal Union Life Building. Leon Friedman, manager, William R. Weaver, editor; Toronto Bureau, Ste. 811, 21 Dunas Sq., Toronto, Ontario, Canada. Alister Grosart, representative; Montreal Bureau, Press Bureau, 224 Canada Cement Building, Montreal, Canada. C. A. Haworth, representative; London Bureau, 4, Golden Square, London W 1, Hope Williams Burnup, manager; cable Quigpubco London; Paris Bureau, Pierre Autre, representative, c/o Monsieur Autre, chez Madame Erable, Les Mothes, Charante Inferieure, France; Melbourne Bureau, The Regent Theatre, 191 Collins St., Melbourne, Australia, Cliff Holt, representative; Sydney Bureau, 17 Archbold Rd., Roseville, Sydney, N.S.W., Australia. Lin Endean, representative. Mexico City Bureau, Apartado 269, Mexico City, Luis Becerra Celis, representative; Buenos Aires Bureau, Corrientes 2470, Buenos Aires, Argentina, Natalio Bruski, representative; Rio de Janeiro Bureau, Caixa Postal 3358, Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, L. S. Marinho, representative; India Bureau, Post Office Box 147, Bunder Road, Karachi, India, G. A. Thakur, representative; Montevideo Bureau, P. O. Box 664, Montevideo, Uruguay, Paul Bodo, representative, cable Argus Montevideo; Amsterdam Bureau, 87 Waalstraat, Amsterdam Z., Holland, Philip de Schaap, representative. Member Audit Bureau of Circulations. All contents copyright 1941 by Quigley Publishing Company. Address all correspondence to the New York Office. Other Quigley Publications: Better Theatres, Motion Picture Daily, International Motion Picture Almanac, and Fame.



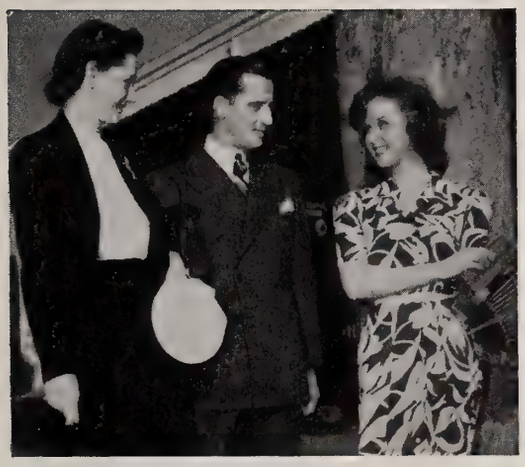
THIS WEEK IN PICTURES

LUNCHEON UNDER FIRE for "Quiet Wedding." Oscar Deutsch, head of the extensive British Odeon circuit; Paul Soskin, producer of the picture for Paramount, and Tony Reddin, at a trade and press luncheon which followed a trade screening in London.

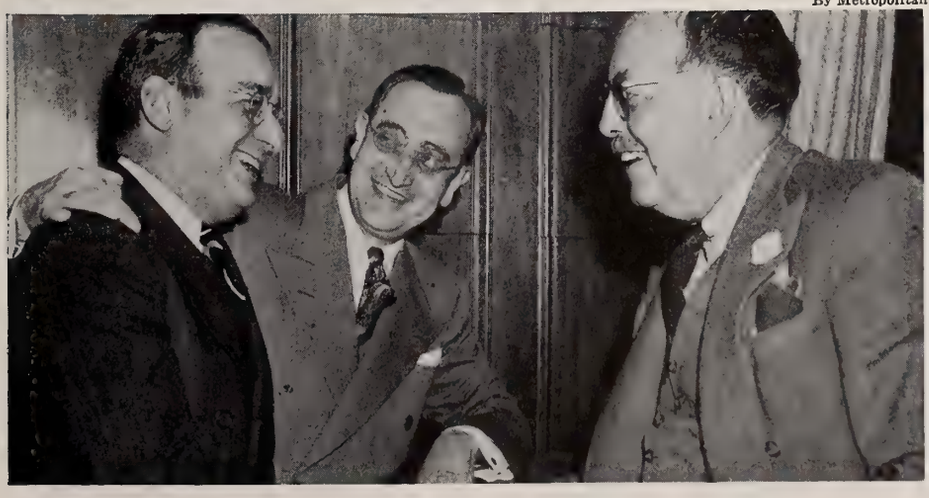
DOCTOR OF SCIENCE Osa Johnson, right, author of "I Married Adventure," poses pridefully with Anne O'Hare McCormick, New York Times columnist, and Mrs. A. Barton Hepburn, also recipients of honorary degrees from Rollins College at Winter Park, Fla.

GREEK BENEFIT. Gene Buck, president of the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers; Samuel Goldwyn, chairman of the Film Industry Permanent Charities Committee; Mary Martin, and Edward Arnold attend the "Cavalcade of American Music" in Los Angeles. Proceeds of the benefit, one of a series given throughout the country, were given to the national Greek War Relief Committee, of which Spyros Skouras is national chairman.

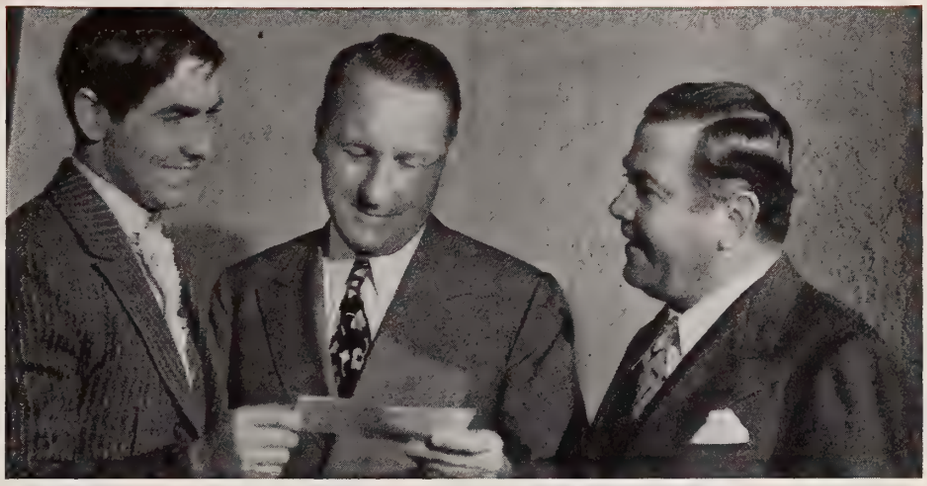
PERILS OF THE PRAIRIES. H. A. Swim, Altec Service representative working out of Wichita, Kan., proves he's not exaggerating when he tells the home office of the dangers he must face on his rounds. That's the way they grow jackrabbits in Kansas.



BOOKING FILM for the army was no problem for Dick Stout, third from left, Interstate circuit attorney, when officers of the 36th Division at Camp Bowie, Texas, asked him to make up a national defense aviation program for the post theatre. He obtained prints of "Service with the Colors," "Air Army," "London Can Take It" and "Britain's R.A.F.," and brought them to the camp himself. With him are Lt. W. A. McConnell, Maj. Aubrey W. Schofield, Maj. Gen. Claude V. Birkhead, commanding officer; Lt. Sidney F. Lahourcade, and Lt. Louis E. Hobbs.



INTERNATIONAL. George J. Roney, below, for 20 years a producer, student, historian and writer of and about films, visits Quigley Publications in New York after a narrow escape from France, where he was producing French propaganda films almost to the moment of the Nazi capture of Paris. At 'teen age, he edited "Birth of a Nation." He taught film history at Leningrad Art University, wrote more than 20 books and produced 150 films in Russia, Germany and France.



By Staff Photographer

GEORGE LYNCH, above, of the New York State Schine circuit, with Mrs. Lynch and Susan Hayward at the Republic studios.

By Metropolitan

CHARLES P. SKOURAS, right, head of Fox West Coast Theatres, hands to Tyrone Power and Fred L. Metzler, California treasurer of the Infantile Paralysis Foundation, a check for $64,525.68, the total collected from theatre audiences in the 1941 March of Dimes. Total for all coast circuits may reach $80,000.

W. RAY JOHNSTON, below, Monogram president, visits New York for the first time since the company moved to the coast. He is discussing product and corporate plans for the new season.

By Staff Photographer

ON GUARD, above. Lou Lioni, RKO Radio representative in the Dutch East Indies, with his sergeant major in front of the barracks of the Indies Home Defense Squadron.

REGINALD ARMOUR, above, former RKO Radio European manager, has been named personal assistant to George J. Schaefer, president, at the studio.

JACK COHN, Columbia vice-president, congratulates Rube Jackter, left, on his appointment as chairman in charge of the "Columbia Exhibitor Good Will Campaign." Watching from the middle is A. Montague, general sales manager.

James Stewart, best actor; Ginger Rogers, best actress.

Judy Garland prefaces the President's talk with "America".

Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne have just presented "best supporting" awards to Jane Darwell and Walter Brennan.

ACADEMY AWARD WINNERS OF YEAR

Winners of the awards announced last week at the annual dinner of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences in Hollywood's Biltmore Bowl were:

Most outstanding picture of the year—"Rebecca," Selznick-International-United Artists.

Best performance by an actor—James Stewart in "The Philadelphia Story," M-G-M.

Best performance by an actress—Ginger Rogers, "Kitty Foyle," RKO.

Best performance by an actor in a supporting role—Walter Brennan in "The Westerner," Samuel Goldwyn-United Artists.

Best performance by an actress in a supporting role—Jane Darwell in "The Grapes of Wrath," 20th Century-Fox.

Best achievement in directing—John Ford for "The Grapes of Wrath," 20th Century-Fox.

Best original motion picture story—Benjamin Glazer and John S. Toldy (pen name) for "Arise, My Love," Paramount.

Best written screen play—Donald Ogden Stewart for "The Philadelphia Story," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

Best original screen play—Preston Sturges for "The Great McGinty," Paramount.

Best achievement in art direction (black-and-white films)—Cedric Gibbons and Paul Groesse for "Pride and Prejudice," Metor-Goldwyn-Mayer.

Best achievement in art direction (color films)—Vincent Korda for "The Thief of Bagdad," Alexander Korda-United Artists.

Best achievement in cinematography (black-and-white)—George Barnes for "Rebecca," Selznick-International-United Artists.

Best achievement in cinematography (color)—George Perinal for "The Thief of Bagdad," Alexander Korda-United Artists.

Best achievement in sound recording—Douglas Shearer for "Strike Up the Band," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer (Erpi).

Best achievement in film editing—Anne Bauchens for "North West Mounted Police," Paramount.

Short subjects—Cartoons, "Milky Way," Rudolph Ising-Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer; one-reel, "Quicker'n a Wink," Pete Smith-Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer; two-reel, "Teddy, the Rough Rider," Gordon Hollingshead-Warner Brothers.

Special effects—"The Thief of Bagdad": Lawrence Butler, photographic, and Jack Whitney, sound.

Special award, for service to the humanities—Bob Hope.

Special award, for cooperation with the U. S. Army—Major Nathan Levinson.

Best song—"When You Wish Upon a Star" ("Pinocchio"), lyrics by Ned Washington, music by Leigh Harline.

Best musical score—"Pinocchio": Ned Washington, Paul Smith, Leigh Harline.

Best musical scoring—Alfred Newman for "Tin Pan Alley."

Technical achievement—Daniel Clark, Grover Laube, Charles Miller, Robert W. Stevens, all 20th Century-Fox, for silenced camera.

Bob Hope gets his plaque from Walter Wanger.

Rudolf Ising gets the shorts award from F. Quimby, MGM.

TNEC CHARGES JUSTICE DEPT. QUIT FILM DECREE ENFORCEMENT POWERS

Joint Monopoly Probe Board Tells Congress U. S. Imposed Regulation of Industry on 'Weakest Members' of Trade

The Government's Temporary National Economic Committee, in a report to Congress on motion pictures, asserts that instead of the Department of Justice assuming enforcement of the consent decree in the film business, the Department appears to have specifically resigned these powers, and, instead, enforcement has been imposed on the members of the industry, "and, to a considerable extent, on the weaker members."

Ordinarily, Congress is reminded, enforcement of a consent decree is assumed by the Department of Justice, but, in subjecting various provisions of the decree to arbitration on the petition of aggrieved theatre owners, "the extent to which these provisions will be enforced thus depends to some extent on the willingness of small exhibitors to risk money (for arbitration fees) which to them may be relatively quite important. And in many cases the financial gain to be expected even from a favorable award may be quite small."

The motion picture industry was used by the Government agency for study, it disclosed, because its relatively short and compressed history gives a clear picture of the typical pattern of American business as it is constituted today.

"The substantial and detailed character" of the report, along with some others on other industries, "furnishes a basis for remedial legislation, administrative reform, self-appraisal and appropriate reorganization of those industries whose leaders seek to preserve the democratic way of life and the freedom of their own enterprises," declared the TNEC.

No Single Cure-All

"It is a mistake to assume that any such cure-all as 'divorcement of exhibition from production,' or 'restoration of competition in the production field,' or any other single proposal will resolve all the difficulties of all the elements with an interest in this industry," states the report to Congress.

"Any single step might well ameliorate the effects of some of the undesirable practices of the industry as they effect the consumer, the exhibitor or some other interested group," but no single step such as those proposed can be a patent medicine for the cure of all troubles, continued the TNEC committee.

"Any remedy or solution to the problems of the motion picture industry in its relations with the consuming public will not be a simple one," the committee tells Congress. "The motion picture industry exhibits symptoms which are common to many of our great enterprises. Its problems are part of the larger problem of the development and direction of American industry. More than anything else, perhaps, intelligent and sympathetic study is indicated," declared the Committee, in what might well be an answer to the scores of industry critics and consumers who have been campaigning for years to legislate and regulate the industry.

Not that the TNEC did not go 'all-out' in citing faults.

> " . . . The motion picture industry exhibits symptoms which are common to many of our great enterprises. Its problems are part of the larger problem of the development and direction of American industry. More than anything else, perhaps, intelligent and sympathetic study is indicated. . . ."
>
> —TNEC Report to Congress

"It has been stated," says the report, "that the degree of concentration existing in the motion picture industry is not greater and in some cases is less than that obtaining in many other important lines of enterprise. It may be asked, then, why this industry requires any special consideration. In some lines of enterprise, concentration confers cost advantages which in turn benefit the consumer. In the motion picture industry, on the other hand, there is reason to believe that exactly the opposite has been the case. In at least one other important aspect the motion picture industry displays significant differences.

"The motion picture commenced as a novel and pleasing type of entertainment, but it has evolved into an important social and cultural force. In some senses it provides a common denominator to the feelings and aspirations of an entire people. Its importance must then be measured in terms other than the conventional one of dollars and cents."

When the Temporary National Economic Committee submits its report to Congress, in a few days, it will tell a story of the development of the motion picture industry as it is presently constituted, giving details of the business in almost every conceivable phase of management, operation and economics, in its relations with exhibitor customers and effects on the consumer public.

The report is described as the result of a staff of Government economists and investigators, "working quietly for a year or more," investigating the "concentration of economic power" in "big business" in the United States, as ordered by President Roosevelt in April, 1938, in a direct charge to Congress.

Investigating "Concentration"

The President acted, he so stated, because "among us today is a concentration of private power without equal in history," and "this concentration is seriously impairing the economic effectiveness of private business.

"To meet the situation I have described," he continued, "there should be a thorough study of the concentration . . . and the effect of that concentration upon the decline of competition. There should be an examination of the existing price system and the price policies of industry to determine their effect upon the level of trade, upon employment, upon long-term profits and upon consumption."

He ordered that this study of American business should not be confined to the traditional anti-trust field, because "the effects of tax, patent and other Government policies cannot be ignored."

Accordingly, Congress, on June 16, 1938, created the Temporary National Economic Committee, in Washington, with a membership consisting of 12, three each from the Senate and the House of Representatives and one each from the Departments of Justice, Treasury, Labor, Commerce, the Securities and Exchange Commission and the Federal Trade Commission. More than a million dollars has been spent by the investigators.

The document on the study of the motion picture industry, officially known as "Monograph 43, The Motion Picture Industry—A Pattern of Control," was written by Daniel Bertrand, administrative assistant of the TNEC; W. Duane Evans, Senior Economist, Bureau of Labor Statistics, U. S. Department of Labor, and E. L. Blanchard, a member of the TNEC staff.

Theodore J. Kreps, Economic Adviser of the TNEC, in submitting the report to Senator Joseph C. O'Mahoney, chairman of the Committee explained that the "pattern of control" cited in the document "grew out of the continued interest in the economic problems of the industry by Mr. Evans and Mr. Bertrand since the NRA (Blue Eagle) period, when both were connected with the administration of the Code of Fair Competition for the motion picture industry."

The document, running 83 pages, printed by the Government Printing Office is cited with those on the other industries, as containing "source material for which Congress, the Administration, industrialists, labor leaders, social scientists, and the general body have long been seeking in vain."

As recently as last week, moves were taken in Congress to have the Government conduct a sweeping probe of the economic and social pattern of this industry, as demanded in a resolution presented in the House by Congressman Lyle H. Boren (Dem., Okla.)

Films an Example

"The report," continued Mr. Kreps to Senator O'Mahoney, "is of particular importance in the studies of the concentration of economic power, for the span of time of motion pictures is so short, and the events so recent, that the pattern of control can be kept constantly before the reader. "Thus," he said, "the monograph offers evidence of the ways in which great aggregates of economic power are created and the methods used in their operation. The struggle for dominance goes forward ruthlessly, with oft-times little regard for the motion picture's social responsibilties. Finally, as power has become lodged in a few hands, it has become necessary for the Department of Justice to take steps to protect the public interest.

"Conclusions" in the report, continued Mr. Kreps, "are not recommendations but summaries of the facts . . . they . . . should be of inestimable value to the Congressional committees vested with the duty of reviewing proposed legislation which occurs each year."

The motion picture, "in the space of a relatively few years, has changed from an activity in the hands of a large number of small and financially weak individuals to an industry controlled by a few large companies which dominate its policies and control its actions," the report charges.

The motion picture industry is described as having had its inception near the beginning of the present century as a "peep-show" form of entertainment confined to backrooms and unused shops in a few large cities.

"Immediately popular, and showing promise of large profits, it attracted the attention of entrepeneurs, speculators, investors and other mid-wives of business.

"Today in the billion-dollar class, the industry has passed through a whirlwind development—rapid and successful. The meteoric rise and fall of personalities connected with the industry have been as vivid as any celluloid romance."

(Continued on following page)

TNEC TRACES 'CONTROL BY THE FEW'

(Continued from preceding page)

Edison, Biograph and Vitagraph are cited in the report as the beginners, which, owning principal patents, at first derived their profits more from the sale of equipment than from the sale of films.

"The subject matter of these films was usually prize fights, dancers and incidents on park benches." Films were sold outright, which system was later replaced by licensing when exhibitors, with large stocks, began to profit themselves by renting their prints to other exhibitors.

First signs of a motion picture trust were seen by the TNEC Committee in the formation of the Motion Picture Patents Company, bringing to a head the "patents war," in which Edison, Eastman and other companies also participated. Again, trust signs were noted in General Film Company, which was dissolved in the Federal Courts in 1915. In 1917, the Patents Company was declared legally dead.

The TNEC traces the birth of Famous Players, Fox First National and others of the early days, bringing block booking into the picture, and the beginnings of producer-distributors in exhibition, early in the report.

Block Booking Traced

"The animosity against block booking became so great that in 1917, 27 large exhibitors established First National Exhibitors Circuit, to combat the high prices of big star pictures and the selling policy of the major producers."

In weaving its pattern, the TNEC charges that block booking was "opposed almost from its inception by independent exhibitors."

"The struggle for supremacy in the industry, formerly based on patent control and market monopoly, emerged in 1918 in a fierce battle for theatres. By the early twenties, most of the important independent corporations and individuals were eliminated or submerged.

"At this time, a series of Hollywood scandals, involving motion picture personalities gave impetus to militant reform groups who were already sponsoring Federal censorship of the movies to reduce the production of salacious pictures. In addition, members of the industry were involved in constant and expensive litigation. The large companies, to provide means for adjusting their internal disputes without recourse to the courts and to combat the censorship movement, in 1922 formed the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America."

The MPPDA, "better known as the Hays organization from the political figure employed to be its head," was described as "an illuminating example of the cooperation of large business units for self-protection. It was conceived in fear of regulation of the industry by the public and dedicated to the proposition that outsiders should never dictate its policies.

"Sound pictures saved the day," in 1926, when the industry was suffering from "reckless spending and extravagance" and from the introduction of the "assembly line technique" of picture-making, resulting in poor quality pictures.

The Committee at this point details the "battle for sound."

"The entire industry, through patent ownership, is indirectly under a monopoly control far beyond the early aspirations of the Motion Picture Patents Company," quoting from a legal opinion in Jacobs, op. cit., pp. 421.

The motion picture's financial troubles are related as resulting from the stock market debacle of late 1929, and thereafter.

Application of the NRA Blue Eagle code was related, with this observation, "The motion picture industry was obliged to adjust itself to the restrictions of a code, but the essential framework of the industry remained unchanged.

"Despite an appearance of unbiased character, the NRA Code Authority, like the industry was dominated by the affiliated interests. The same control was seen in the composition of the 31 local grievance boards and 31 local clearance and zoning boards.

"Control of the industry remained undisturbed under the code. Nevetheless, independent exhibitors, because of Government intervention, received under the code a number of concessions from the affiliated interest in the way of trade practice reforms. Many of these reforms came to an end after the (NRA) codes were declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court on May 27, 1935."

With the crystallization of the pattern, "the bitter competition of yesterday" giving "the close control of today," 70 per cent of all U. S. movie filming is found by the TNEC reposing in the hands of the "Big Eight" companies, the report listing feature production totals as follows:

SEASON	FEATURES PRODUCED
1930-31	510
1931-32	490
1932-33	510
1933-34	480
1934-35	520
1935-36	517
1936-37	535
1937-38	450
1938-39	526

"The control by the large companies of distribution is even greater," it was said. "Of the high-quality features which yield the largest income, box office returns, during the past five years—

"Fox, Loew's, Paramount, RKO and Warners . . . collectively released about 80 per cent . . . and Columbia, United Artists and Universal . . . about 15 per cent. No other distributor has released more than one per cent of such features during any of said years and in no year have all other distributors combined released more than five per cent of such features.

"During the same period the first-named five majors collectively received about 70 per cent and the other three about 25 per cent of all film rentals in the United States.

"Independent distributors are limited to handling some foreign importations and the 'quickie' type of film."

At this point the TNEC report delves into "the third link in the pattern of control":

" . . . The motion picture industry is not unique in the sense that it is dominated by a few large companies. An even higher degree of concentration may be found in some other industries. But in many of these industries it can be demonstrated that combination has resulted in real economic benefits to the consumer.

"For the . . . (film) industry . . . there is no strong evidence to show that the existing degree of concentration has resulted in strong economic savings for the consumer. . . ."

—TNEC Report to Congress

ownership of theatres by producer-distributors, citing ownership as follows:

COMPANY	THEATRES
Paramount	1,273
Warner Brothers	557
20th Century-Fox	538
RKO	132
Loew's	122

It was explained that the above figures do not include some 200 or more theatres in which some of these companies are said to have a joint interest with others.

While these figures are described in the report as representing but 16 per cent of all houses in operation, "More than 80 per cent of all metropolitan first-run theatres are affiliated; in 23 key cities all first runs are affiliated; out of 92 cities with population over 100,000, the majors control exhibition in 73 cities," and, in 283 cities with populations between 25,000 and 100,000, the majors operate one or more theatres in 200 cities.

(The TNEC report frequently quotes industry statistics as appearing in the Department of Justice bill of complaint in the Government's key anti-trust action in New York.)

The majors, the report continues, control 25 per cent of the country's movie seats.

"Thus integration in the motion picture industry is complete, from the inception of an idea for a picture through to the actual exhibition of the film. The importance of the integration of production, distribution and exhibition lies in the accomplishment, not of more closely knit operation but of virtual elimination of competition."

The Hollywood star loan-out system is credited by the Committee with minimizing competition between the majors, and in which system it is difficult for independents to participate. Since 1933, it is charged, the number of star loans by major companies, have been as follows:

STUDIO	TO MAJOR PRODUCERS	TO INDEPENDENTS
Loew's	610	56
Paramount	439	46
Fox	251	7
Warner Brothers	223	12
Universal	198	11
Columbia	175	36
RKO	109	12

In exhibition, "as elsewhere, it was decided that cooperation is more profitable than competition" among the majors, with the tendency for one company to emerge as the dominant element in a particular geographical area, with theatres of one company in an area being located so as not to compete with those of another major.

On the subject of trade practices, the TNEC report charges the motion picture industry with having developed "perhaps" more than its share of "odd" trade practices. Many of these, it is explained, arise from the unusual circumstance that the industry operates basically under the copyright laws rather than the laws of purchase and sale.

"It is found that most of the unsual trade practices of the industry, and coincidentally most of its controversies arise either from the special legal privileges accorded a copyright holder or from the efforts to show the product while it is still new.

"Most of the (trade practice) controversies of the motion picture industry may be divided into two general classes. One class includes those practices which, according to small exhibitors, are used by the large distributor organizations to maximize their profits at the expense of the exhibitors and the public. In this category may be placed block booking, blind selling, forcing of

(Continued on page 17)

JANE RUSSELL and JACK BUETEL

The two most thrilling star-discoveries in years . . . brought to the screen by Howard Hughes, they mean new life-blood to your business!

Printed in U.S.A.

The Lady Known as Rio...

AND THE WEST'S MOST FAMOUS BAD MAN!

The OUTLAW

The Story of Billy the Kid

Produced and directed by

HOWARD HUGHES

with

THOMAS MITCHELL · WALTER HUSTON

The last time Howard Hughes said he had someone to show you, he gave you two new stars . . . Jean Harlow and Paul Muni. Now he makes the same promise again and —

presents

JANE RUSSELL · JACK BUETEL

Story and Screen Play by Jules Furthman
Photography by Gregg Toland, ASC

Released through Twentieth Century-Fox Film Corp.

MONOPOLY REPORT LISTS ABUSES

(Continued from page 14)

short subjects and designating of play dates. The other class comprises those practices which small exhibitors contend have been used by large exhibitor organizations to drive them out of business or place them in subordinate competitive positions. Under this heading are such practices as overbuying, setting of admission pri and clearance and zoning."

Block booking is cited as having been brought before the public more than any other industry trade practice. The Committee observes that exhibitors do not object to block booking as such, since assurance of a continuous supply of film is an important consideration. Rather, it is the compulsory nature of the practice which they oppose.

Playing Time Discussed

While the premption of industry playing time by large block purchases to a great extent limits the market for new independent producers, the TNEC finds that the control of the more important exhibition outlets by major distributors is a more important factor in limiting the entrance of new producers of quality pictures than is block booking.

"A weighing of pros and cons leads to the conclusion that block booking as practiced today is, on the whole, disadvantageous to the consumer," the report observes. "There is strong reason to believe that a more competitive system of sales would tend to discourage the production of poor pictures, in contrast to the present system which insures a return on even the least satisfactory films of the major producers."

The Neely anti-block booking measure, it is said, would not be a solution, because the magnitude of the price differential, which would constitute an unreasonable restraint upon an exhibitor's choice of pictures or which would substantially lessen competition, is not explicitly defined in that measure, and the interpretation of that provision would plunge the industry into a new period of extensive and costly litigation.

Nor are trade practice conferences, such as those conducted by the Federal Trade Commission, in 1927, a solution for block booking, according to the Committee, because an agreement could not be reached among all factions in the industry.

Exhibitors have charged, continues the TNEC, that cancellation privileges, as relief from block booking, are too frequently made ineffective by distributor restrictions in the block contract.

"It has also been alleged that distributors can easily circumvent a cancellation privilege by including with new releases a few definitely unsatisfactory and cheap pictures, knowing that the privilege will be used up on these films."

Trade Showings Will Help

Another alternative, the report points out, one which is to become effective on September 1st, this year, is the anti-trust suit consent decree settlement requiring the "Big Five" distributors to offer blocks of no more than five features.

On blind selling, the conclusion is drawn that "The consumer standpoint parallels that of the independent exhibitor. Any limitations on the ability of an exhibitor to license and show the best available productions and especially any restriction making it necessary to show undesirable pictures is to the consumer's disadvantage." This practice, too, is expected to be disposed of through the consent decree's requirements that distributors show each picture in advance of sale to the exhibitor.

"It has been contended," the report continues, "that any change in the present system of marketing films would result in financial losses to the major producer-distributors. This argument has been advanced by these companies themselves as a reason why various legislative remedies affecting these practices should not be enacted. It is quite evident that if pictures were not sold in blocks but were sold acco ing to merit, severe losses might be incurred on unpopular pictures. Yet, there is no enterprise that would long stay in business if the goods offered for sale were not liked by the consumer. There can be no good reason the motion picture industry should prove an exception in this respect.

"The ability to designate play dates is another indication of the large distributors' control over the sources of supply of the industry. On the whole, however, the practice is primarily an industry rather than a consumer problem."

The report illustrates "how various days of the week are usually judged from their potential box-office standpoint":

	PER CENT
Monday	10
Tuesday	10
Wednesday	10
Thursday	10
Friday	15
Saturday	20
Sunday	25

Score charges and coercion of exhibitors into entering film contracts, into paying higher f rentals or into relinquishing control of their theatres "still constitute sources of discord in the industry," and "the consent decree rec entered contains no stipulation with respect either of these practices," the TNEC reports to the Senate in its document on monopolization in the industry.

Product overbuying by large interests with the express intention of keeping overbought product away from the smaller exhibitor "is a constant threat to the small exhibitor competing with a powerful opponent. The fear aroused by this practice may be judged from the fact that about 85 per cent of the complaints submitted to the NRA administration before formulation of the (Blue Eagle) code dealt with some form of overbuying."

Overbuying a Violation

"Overbuying, when undertaken with the express purpose of eliminating competition, is almost certainly a violation of the Federal anti-trust statutes," it is charged.

Overbuying affects the consumer by reducing the number of operating theatres in a community, reducing the number of films shown in a community where one exhibitor makes them unavailable to another but does not use them himself, losing opportunities for the consumer to see particular pictures, and giving the consumer only the choice of seeing pictures on terms offered by the overbought exhibitor or not seeing them at all, the report explains.

"The failure of the anti-trust statutes completely to check overbuying perhaps lies primarily in the difficulty of determining whether in any particular instance contracts are made with the express intention of eliminating competition or simply as a normal consequence of competitive conditions."

On the matter of selective service contracts as sold to certain large exhibitors, which contracts give the large operator longer time protection over subsequents, the TNEC declares:

"Since much of the value of pictures depends on their timeliness, this (practice of selective service contracts) may operate alike to the disadvantage of competing exhibitors, consumers, and the cooperating distributors."

On clearance, the Committee concludes: "The clearance developed between a number of theatres, wholly independent of affiliation with other theatres or with distributors is likely to approximate the conditions most desirable from the consumer standpoint. Where none of these elements is in a position to exact unwarranted profits at the expense of his competitors or the consumer, the consumer's interests are probably well protected. It is when large numbers of theatres are joined together in a single bargaining unit that unfair clearance is likely to develop. It is apparent that the problems arising from overbuying are almost wholly a result of large-scale combination of interests in the exhibition field. The TNEC report gives more attention to clearance and zoning, in its analysis than to any other specific trade problem, explaining at great length the complex bargaining involved.

Unfair Admission Prices

The Committee warns that on the matter of "unfairly specified admission prices" (forcing exhibitors to set certain admission prices), the U. S. Supreme Court, in the case of the Government versus Interstate Theatres, in Texas, found that the activities outlined were the result of an agreement which "constituted a combination and conspiracy in restraint of interstate commerce in violation of the Sherman Act."

The document, in Appendix I, sketches "the development and integration of the "Big Five" companies, following with a sketch of the development and description of its various functions and departments. The Consent Decree is also appended.

Brazilian Trade Remains Normal

In a report to the United States Department of Commerce, Edward D. McLaughlin of the American Embassy at Rio de Janeiro said the war in Europe had had little or no effect on the film industry in Brazil. However, the report continued, the number of foreign films have decreased and censor regulations have been tightened to eliminate anything considered objectionable to the nations at war. No legislation is contemplated to establish quota laws, which do not exist in Brazil.

In the period from January 1st, 1940, to October 15th, 1940, the report indicated that the censor examined 318 features, 581 short subjects, 296 trailers and 140 newsreels. Ten films of all types were rejected—nine from the United States and one from England. The 1940 percentage of screen time in Brazil gives American product 90 per cent, France five per cent, and Germany, Argentine and Brazil five per cent.

Five domestic features were made in Brazil from January 1st to October 15th, 1940. Production costs vary from $7,000 to $15,000 per feature, while the total Brazilian film investment is estimated at $5,000,000. There are 1,350 theatres in Brazil with an average weekly attendance estimated at 1,950,000. At least, 1,200 of these theatres are wired for sound and estimates place the yearly gross income of Brazilian theatres at from $10,000,000 to $15,000,000.

'SPIRIT OF DECREE' WILL BE APPLIED GIVING OWNERS IMMEDIATE RELIEF

Clearance Awards Will Be Given Attention Before September Where Possible; Five Additional Cases Filed

Arbitration clearance awards which under the consent decree are not legally effective until next season will be observed immediately wherever possible by the five consenting companies in keeping with their decided policy of living up to "the spirit as well as letter" of the decree, it was authoritatively reported this week in New York. This follows the speculation last week in New York arbitration and major company legal quarters that aggrieved exhibitors now filing for an arbitration hearing could not expect relief under existing contracts, but would have to wait for 1941-42 season, starting September 1st.

The American Arbitration Association meanwhile prepared for the first motion picture hearing expected to be held in Washington within the next two weeks on the Walbrook case (Number One-Washington), the first case filed anyhere in the country. Also this week C. V. Whitney, president of the AAA, announced the panel of arbitrators for the Indianapolis district. Arbitrators have now been officially named for each of the 31 territories except Albany. Next week the names of the men selected to serve in that district will be announced.

Arbitrators appointed by the Association to the Indianapolis territory are as follows:

INDIANAPOLIS

(Arbitration district includes Indiana (south of South Bend) and part of western Kentucky.)

C. D. ALEXANDER, general manager, Bemis Bros. Bag Company, 1940 Barth Ave. & Belt R.R.

LOUIS J. BORINSTEIN, capitalist and industrialist, 207 S. East St.

DR. C. B. CAMP, professor of economics and business administration, Butler University, 238 W. 44 St.

HENRY HOLT, lawyer, partner in Thomson & McKinnon.

FRED BATES JOHNSON, lawyer, 1011 Fletcher Trust Building.

GUSTAVE C. KLIPPEL, credit manager, Van Camp Hardware & Iron Company, 401 W. Maryland St.

PROF. JAMES E. MOFFATT, head of department of economics, Indiana University, Bloomington, Ind.

MURRAY H. MORRIS, Merchants Association manager.

PROF. GEORGE W. STARR, director of bureau of business research, Indiana University, Bloomington, Ind.

TROY G. THURSTON, CPA, partner in Geo. S. Olive & Company, 528 Chamber of Commerce Building.

Attorneys last week pointed out that under Section VIII of the decree (clearance clause) arbitrators' awards adjusting clearance do not become effective until the next contract is signed and even those awards may be reopened at any time, if "the conditions with respect to the theatres involved therein have so changed as to warrant modification." Furthermore, it was said, under the blocks-of-five selling system conditions may be expected to change in many exhibition situations. See page 13 March 1st issue of MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

However, it was said this week, the five companies which agreed to the government's consent decree settlement of its key New York anti-trust suit are prepared to do everything to keep peace in matters related to the document. This includes adjusting contracts, as far as possible, immediately following a decision of an arbitrator holding that the clearance is "unreasonable."

The five theatre-owning companies have instructed their sales forces to lean over backwards to avoid occasions of disputes which might become arbitration cases. This policy also includes settling arbitration matters which are presented, if this is possible, and, if the case is lost, to attempt to remove the cause of the grievance as quickly as this can be done.

The peace policy of the distributors was reported to a contributing factor in keeping the number of arbitrator disputes presented to the various local tribunals to a minimum. During February, first month in which the motion picture arbitration system was in operation, a total of 15 cases were filed. Nine of these involved clearance, four "some run," one both clearance and "some run," one "some run" and withholding prints.

At the beginning of the second month of the motion picture arbitration system demands had been filed in only nine of the 31 cities. Washington and New York were tied last week for the title of "arbitration capital" with three complaints filed in each city. This week New York led with four petitions for arbitration proceedings.

Drive-In Status Argued

This week the second drive-in theatre case was filed, drawing more attention to the dispute as to whether or not a drive-in theatre is a theatre. The decree is not clear on the subject and the matter will be left to the individual arbitrator handling the case. It is possible that eventually the appeal board will be called upon to decide a case which will settle the "drive-in" question.

In the decree (Section III) there is a footnote (No. 6) defining an exhibitor: "Exhibitor means any individual, partnership, unincorporated association or corporation engaged in the public exhibition of motion pictures in a theatre or theatres for profit." This definition seems to mean that persons showing film in schools and churches and similar places are not exhibitors within the scope of the decree, but the document fails to make clear just what it means by a "theatre."

Arbitration cases were filed this week in New York, Dallas and Buffalo.

ARBITRATION CASES

Following is a summary of the cases filed to date:

Filed this week:

Philadelphia—One on Clearance.
New York—Two on Clearance.
Dallas—One on Some Run.
Buffalo—One on Some Run.

Previously published:

Clearance	10
Some Run	6
Withholding Prints	1
February total	15*

The Number One Detroit case involved both Clearance and Some Run, and the Number One Milwaukee case demand was based on both Clearance and Withholding Prints.*

In New York Jack Davis, president of the Monseigneur Enterprises, operator of the Forum theatre at Metuchen, N. J., filed an arbitration demand naming the five distributors which signed the consent decree and the Paramount, Oxford and Strand theatres in Plainfield, N. J. The petition asks a day-and-date run for the Forum with the Plainfield houses. Mr. Davis was formerly managing director of the Associated News Theatres, London, and operated the Monseigneur newsreel houses and other theatres.

In Dallas the Joseph's Drive-In, at Austin, Tex., filed a demand asking "some run" and naming Loew's Inc. and Twentieth Century-Fox. Theatres said to be involved were the Interstate, Underwood and Ezell, all in the city of Dallas.

Richard DeToto, operator of the Genesee, Mount Morris, N. Y., was the first to file an arbitration complaint in the Buffalo district. He named Twentieth Century-Fox and Warner Brothers in a "some run" demand. The Family theatre, a competing house, was also named. It was asserted that the two distributors for the past five months had refused to grant any run and the Family had "practically tied up all the product" of the two distributors named in the demand.

John Geyser, president of the High Bridge Corporation operating the Florence theatre in Florence, N. J., filed late Tuesday the first arbitration complaint to be received at the Philadelphia office. Unreasonable clearance is charged and the five distributors who signed the decree were named. Also listed was the Fox theatre, Burlington, N. J., operated by Ben Amsterdam's Atlantic circuit. Day and date runs are asked. At present the Florence is seven days behind the Fox on RKO product and 14 days on films of the other four distributors named.

Fourth in New York

The fourth arbitration complaint in the New York district filed this week by Jack Fields, operator of the Cameo theatre in Jersey City. The five distributors that signed the decree were named in a clearance dispute and the following houses operated by Skouas Theatres were said to be involved: Fulton, Apollo and Orient, all of Jersey City. It was asserted that the three Skouras houses all have 500 seats, while the Cameo seats 1,450, yet it must follow the other houses which are located within a single mile of it.

The Milwaukee office of the AAA, headed by John L. Loell, has moved from temporary headquarters in Room 311 to Room 319 in the Loyalty Building. The temporary office, which opened February 1st, was used until the permanent rooms had been decorated.

Montgomery Joins Circuit

Levere C. "Monty" Montgomery, general manager of theatre service for E. V. Richard's organization at New Orleans, has become a partner of Joy Houck in operating 20 theatres in Louisiana. Mr. Montgomery also operated his own theatre in New Orleans.

Republic Signs Baugh

Republic has signed "Slinging Sammy" Baugh, former Texas Christian football star now with the Washington Redskins. He will be featured in "King of the Texas Rangers," a serial scheduled to be completed in August with a Texas cast.

U.A. SETS UP NEW PROFIT-SHARING IN BID FOR MORE PRODUCERS

Wanger, Roach, Republic, Paramount, Metro, Columbia, Fox, Monogram, P.R.C. in Moves on Product and Policies

A two-point plan to attract new producer talent has been drawn up by United Artists, Maurice Silverstone, chief executive, said Tuesday in New York following his return from a stay on the West Coast; during which product plans for 1941-42 were discussed.

The United Artists plan provides for a profit-sharing agreement under which producers of successful box-office pictures will receive a greater return than under the present system used by the company. The additional compensation will take the form of a bonus to the producer.

The second point of the United Artists' producer-plan calls for establishment of a finance company, backed by "prominent west coast financiers" and in which United Artists will have an interest, to help provide financing for productions being made for release through United Artists. When funds are provided in this way, the producer also will be expected to carry some of the financing.

Details Withheld

Mr. Silverstone declined to reveal details of the two-fold bonus-financing plan but it was indicated that the system of payments to producers would be basically different from the present method. Present bonuses to producers are based on profitable consolidated operations of the company, Mr. Silverstone pointed out. In this method the bonus of an individual producer is controlled by the general success of the company's whole program.

Under the new system producers will receive a bonus in proportion to the earnings of their films and independent of the relative success or lack of success of the pictures of any other producer being released through United Artists.

The second part of the new plan, the financing company, is not expected to be of use to the company's present producers who have their own financing arrangements worked out, it was said. Mr. Silverstone added that the system would remove the objections of producers hitherto kept from releasing through United Artists because the company did not finance any production.

The two parts of the new plan to attract producers to United Artists are expected to be approved by the company's stockholders when Mr. Silverstone returns to the west coast within two or three weeks.

While the new bonus plan seems to remove many of the reported objections of Samuel Goldwyn with regard to distributing through the company, no indication was given whether he would continue to release through United Artists. Mr. Silverstone pointed out that negotiations with Mr. Goldwyn were still in progress and added, "Goldwyn is a great producer. I would like to have him stay in the company."

A total of 12 United Artists producers, other than Mr. Goldwyn, and several additional men with whom the company is now negotiating, will supply the 1941-42 product, it was said. Arnold Pressburger will produce for the company and "New Wine," produced by William Czekeley will be on the 1941-42 schedule.

The complete schedule for the new season is expected to include about the same number as this season when 22 pictures were announced. The program will be completed in time for an early sales convention, if Arthur W. Kelly, distribution head, decides to open selling earlier than usual, Mr. Silverstone said. Before the 1941-42 program has been finally set consulations will be held with representative circuit heads, it was said.

In Chicago on Monday on his way to New York from the west coast Mr. Silverstone flatly declared that the company never would become a party to the Federal consent decree which the five theatre-owning companies signed last November.

The UA head said Charlie Chaplin would appear in his next production but no further information was revealed about the film. Mr. Silverstone discussed production matters with Mr. Chaplin while he was on the Coast.

Wanger, Roach Plans

Walter Wanger has announced the production of three films for United Artists release during the 1941-42 season. Two of the pictures will be finished during the Summer and the third started in the Fall, according to present plans.

Jack Moss, former Paramount producer, has been signed as production executive and Henry Hathaway, director, has been given a term contract by Mr. Wanger.

The first of the three scheduled 1941-42 films will be "Sundown," from the Saturday Evening Post serial by Barre Lyndon. The author will adapt the story for screen purposes and Mr. Hathaway will direct.

Merian C. Cooper has gone to England to make background scenes and gather other material for "The Eagle Squadron," to be based on the activities of the unit of the Royal Air Force manned by Americans. The director and stars for the film will be selected after Mr. Cooper returns to Hollywood, it was announced.

The subject for the third production scheduled has not been selected yet. "So Gallantly Gleaming," previously announced for 1941 release, has been postponed.

Clarence E. Ericksen, vice-president and general manager of Walter Wanger Productions, has come to New York for conferences with Mr. Silverstone and Mr. Kelly. He will represent a committee of independent producers, including Mr. Wanger, Edward Small and Sol Lesser in discussions on the 1941-42 United Artists program.

Hal Roach has come to New York from Hollywood to make final arrangements for his 1941-42 productions. He brought with him a print of "Topper Returns," his most recent film for United Artists release. Edward J. Peskay, eastern representative for the Roach company, also came to New York. After discussions with United Artists distribution executives Mr. Roach is to announce his plans for the coming season.

While in Chicago Mr. Roach conferred with John Balaban of Balaban and Katz theatres.

"We have had many Sales Drives in previous years, but we have never succeeded in hitting as hard as we are in the Arthur W. Kelly Drive which is now going full blast," Paul N. Lazarus, Drive leader said this week.

Exchanges have been divided into three groups for the drive. The standings of the various branches, in their respective groups this week were: Group "A"—Pittsburgh, Detroit, Boston, Philadelphia, Chicago, Los Angeles, Cleveland, New York, San Franicisco. Group "B"—Atlanta, Dallas, Washington, Cincinnati, East Canada, Kansas City, St. Louis, Buffalo, Minneapolis, Seattle. Group "C"—Salt Lake City, Indianapolis, Charlotte, New Haven, Milwaukee, Denver, New Orleans, Omaha, West Canada.

EARLY SHOWS FOR DEFENSE WORKERS

"Early Bird" openings will be the new policy established for experimental purposes at the Poli theatre in Bridgeport, Conn., according to an announcement by Harry Shaw, Loew-Poli division manager. The theatre will open at 9:00 A. M. to permit war-defense factory workers to see the show. Formerly, workers on the 3:00 P. M. to 11:00 P. M. shift were unable to attend any performance. Other theatres in industrial towns in Connecticut are also starting during the morning.

Republic Holds Sales Meetings

Republic this week held the last two in its series of five regional sales meetings in New York and Atlanta. Last week a midwest meeting was held in Kansas City. The first of the series was held in Los Angeles.

On Thursday a meeting was held at the home office in New York. J. R. Grainger, president, of Republic, was to preside, and H. J. Yates, chairman of the board, headed the delegation of executives from the home office. Sales representatives who were to attend included Morris Epstein, New York branch manager; Arthur Newman, Albany branch manager; Jack Bellman, Buffalo branch manager; M. E. Morey, Boston branch manager; Sam Seletsky, New Haven branch manager; Max Gillis, Philadelphia branch manager; Sam Seplowin, Detroit branch manager; Jake Flax, Washington, D. C., franchise owner; Nat Lefton, franchise owner at Cleveland and Cincinnati, and branch managers Sam Gorrel of Cleveland and George Kirby of Cincinnati; J. H. Alexander, Pittsburgh franchise holder, and Sam Pineberg of that office.

A two-day regional sales meeting for the southern district was held Sunday and Monday at the Henry Grady Hotel in Atlanta. Mr. Grainger was the chief speaker. Others present included Mr. Yates; A. C. Bromberg, southern franchise owner; Henry Glover, Atlanta branch manager; W. M. Snelson, Memphis branch manager; L. V. Seicshnaydre, New Orleans branch manager; J. H. Dillon, Charlotte branch manager; Harold Laird, Tampa branch manager; and members of the sales forces of all offices in the southern division.

Mr. Yates outlined Republic's plans for national advertising, which, he said, has already been started. Republic plans to advertise several of the remaining productions of the 1940-41 program as well as all the important pictures on next season's schedule, it was said. Individual advertisements on each of four 1940-41 pictures will open the campaign in the May issues of nine fan magazines, it was announced. The pictures are "Sis Hopkins," "Lady From New Orleans," "A Man Betrayed" and "Mr. District Attorney."

Last week the midwest meeting was held at the Muehlebach Hotel in Kansas City. Those present beside Mr. Grainger and Mr. Yates were R. F. Withers of Kansas City, Gilbert Nathanson of Minneapolis, Sol Davis of Oklahoma City, all franchise holders, and Lloyd Rust of Dallas, Nat Steinberg of St. Louis, F. R. Moran of Des Moines and C. R. Reese of Omaha, branch managers.

(Continued on following page)

MONOGRAM LISTS 50 FOR SEASON

(Continued from preceding page)

At the discussion of the balance of the 1940-41 product, Mr. Grainger said that 30 of announced program of 28 features and 30 westerns have been delivered and the balance will be released before August 10th.

Monogram Lists 50; Trem Carr In Charge

It was announced Tuesday in New York that Trem Carr will be in charge of Monogram's new season production schedule of 26 features and 24 westerns, returning to the company as its production chief after a two-year absence, according to W. Ray Johnston, president.

Scott R. Dunlap, former production head, will continue with the company in charge of a producing unit.

Mr. Johnston said that Monogram's production budget would be increased 18 per cent for the new season and would include four specials, "Army Hostess," "Navy Bound," "God's Country and the Law" and "Land of the Sky Blue Water."

Other productions on the new season's schedule are: "Clancy Street Mob," "'Neath Brooklyn Bridge," "The Pride of Third Avenue" and "Chinatown Mystery," all featuring the East Side Kids.

Also: "The Monster Strikes," "Girl of My Dreams," "King of the Zombies," "Aunt Emma Paints the Town," "Old Fashioned Girl," "Million Dollar Mystery," "Beating Back," "Nights of Horror," "False Colors," "Thirty Fathoms Down," "On the Stroke of Twelve," "The Fighting Cadet," "Isle of Terror," "Freckles Comes Back," "Lil' Louisiana Lady," "Flaming Terror," "Man from Headquarters" and "Hill Billy Romance."

In addition, the company will reissue "Yesterday's Hero," with Mickey Rooney; "Boy of the Street," with Jackie Cooper, and "Siren of the South Seas," with Movita.

The 24 Westerns on the schedule will include 16 new productions, eight of which will be the second series of the "Range Busters," and eight will be a new group entitled the "Rough Riders." Eight John Wayne Westerns will be reissued.

Monogram's annual sales convention is scheduled for the first week in April, in Los Angeles, and will be attended by the company franchise holders.

The company's product announcement was made at a cocktail party given at the Hotel Warwick yesterday for William Gell, managing director of the Pathe Pictures, Ltd., of London, who arrived from Europe by clipper on Monday. Mr. Gell's company distributes for Monogram in England and Monogram distributes here for Pathe, Ltd., and will handle the bulk of Pathe's 1941 program of 12 features for American distribution.

Mr. Gell plans to be here about a month and may attend the Monogram convention. Mr. Johnston will leave for his West Coast headquarters in about 10 days. He plans to visit the East about every three months.

Decree Brings Special Attention to Shorts

Paramount and Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer this week continued plans and arrangements to give increased attention to shorts which, under the consent decree, must stand or fall on their own and in some cases will be handled by a special, separate sales staff.

Oscar Morgan, Paramount general sales manager for shorts and newsreels, pursuant to increased attention to short selling under the decree, announced the creation of 10 district sales representatives. Those already appointed to handle shorts and newsreels exclusively are: Richard Scheinbaum, Chicago; J. J. Curry, Los Angeles; James Harris, Boston; Edward Ugast, New York; Charles Duer, Denver; Harry Dodge, Atlanta; Saul Jacobs, Philadelphia, and Max Stahl, Cleveland. Yet to be named are representatives in Dallas and Kansas City.

A series of six Quiz Kids shorts, based on the radio program, will be included in the 1941-42 schedule, Mr. Morgan said. The first in the series has already been completed. A two year contract has been signed. Gerard Darrow will appear in each of the shorts.

Anticipating an increased interest in short subjects as a result of the consent decree, MGM announced this week the inauguration of a new shorts bulletin service to motion picture editors of 1200 daily newspapers. The bulletin, "A Line On Shorts," will inform editors of such developments in the shorts field as are considered of wide interest and signifiance. The first release concerns "The Happiest Man On Earth," based on the Albert Maltz story which won the O. Henry Memorial Award as the best short story of 1938.

In a letter to the motion picture editors Herbert Morgan, short subjects representative in New York, explained, "Due to the prevailing sentiments against double features, producers are now giving increasing thought to short subjects." The new bulletin is intended to supplement the "Shortstory magazine" started three years ago by MGM.

Paramount Partners In Chicago

On Monday Paramount theatre partners of the Midwest and Far West met in Chicago for a general discussion of operating practices and forthcoming product.

Leonard Goldenson and Sam Dembow, Jr., represented the Paramount home office. Others at the meeting were: John Balaban and Jules Rubens, Chicago; Harry Nace, Phoenix; Harry David, Salt Lake City; Earl Hudson, Detroit; A. H. Blank and Ralph Branton, Des Moines.

Columbia Announces "Goodwill Campaign"

Columbia this year has dedicated its annual sales and billings campaign to the individual exhibitor and salesman under the title, "Columbia Exhibitors Goodwill Campaign." The drive opened Saturday, March 1st and will run until May 20th.

Current pictures being distributed include "Arizona" and "This Thing Called Love." Productions to be released during the three month drive period include the following:

"Penny Serenade," co-starring Cary Grant and Irene Dunne, directed and produced by George Stevens, from the McCall Magazine novel.

"Adam Had Four Sons," directed by Gregory Ratoff, starring Ingrid Bergman and Warner Baxter, with Susan Hayward.

"They Dare Not Love," co-starring George Brent and Martha Scott, and directed by James Whale.

"Texas," with William Holden, directed by George Marshall.

"Blondie Goes Latin," with Penny Singleton, Arthur Lake, Larry (Baby Dumpling) Simms, Daisy, Tito Guizar, directed by Frank Strayer.

"She Knew All The Answers," co-starring Joan Bennett and Franchot Tone, directed by Richard Wallace.

"Senate Page Boys," (temporary title), Charles R. Rogers production co-starring Herbert Marshall and Virginia Bruce, directed by Alfred E. Green.

"Her First Beau," co-starring Jane Withers and Jackie Cooper, directed by J. Theodore Reed.

"Bedtime Story," directed by Alexander Hall.

"Our Wife," directed by John Stahl.

An untitled Wesley Ruggles production.

"Time Out For Rhythm" (formerly "Show Business") featuring Rudy Vallee, Ann Miller, Joan Merrill, Rosemary Lane, Brenda & Cobina, Glen Gray and the Casa Loma Orch., and directed by Sidney Salkow.

"Doctor's Husband" directed by Wesley Ruggles.

"The Lone Wolf Takes a Chance," featuring Warren William, directed by Sidney Salkow.

"Ellery Queen's Penthouse Mystery" with Ralph Bellamy, directed by James Hogan.

In the western group Charles Starrett in "Outlaws of the Panhandle" and Bill Elliott in "North From The Lone Star" are already set.

A special short subjects attraction will be "International Forum (Round Table of the Screen)" featuring Dorothy Thompson, Wythe Williams, William L. Shirer and Linton Wells.

Rube Jackter, assistant sales manager, has been appointed chairman of the committee in charge of the drive. Others on the committee are Louis Astor and Louis Weinberg, circuit sales executives; Max Weisfeldt, short subject sales supervisor; Maurice Grad, sales promotion manager; Henry Kaufman, manager exchange operations and George Josephs, manager sales accounting department.

Sam Moscow, southern division manager, and the branch managers of his district, was to meet Thursday, at the Ainsley Hotel, Atlanta, Ga., for a conference with Mr. Jackter.

The branch managers who were to attend the meeting were R. J. Ingram, Charlotte, N. C.; J. B. Underwood, Dallas, Texas; J. J. Rogers, Memphis, Tenn; C. A. Gibbs, Oklahoma City; H Duvall, New Orleans.

Max Gordon, producer of the Broadway play, "My Sister Eileen," has been signed to produce a picture based on the play for Columbia. The company purchased the film rights at an announced price of $225,000. Mr. Gordon will also produce other pictures.

Kent Scheduled for West Coast Trip

Sidney R. Kent, president of Twentieth Century-Fox, is scheduled to go to the West Coast within about two weeks to continue production conferences on the 1941-42 program. The meetings will be attended by Herman Wobber, general manager of distribution, and Charles E. MCarthy, director of advertising and publicity. Mr. Wobber was to go to the Coast this week.

Briggs Returns from Hollywood Visit

O. Henry Briggs, president of Producers Releasing Corporation, has returned to New York from a three weeks visit in Hollywood conferring on production matters.

On the way to New York, Mr. Briggs visited the Dallas exchange where he conferred with Jack Adams, franchise holder and E. B. Walker, manager of the Oklahoma City branch of PRC. He also visited the Chicago exchange, and made a survey of the mid-west situation with Abe Fischer, Chicago franchise holder.

Mr. Briggs reported PRC production at a peak with one picture finished, and five films to go into production this month.

THE GAYEST
MUSICAL IN YEARS...

...and it sings of Boxoffice!
Alice FAYE
Don AMECHE
Carmen MIRANDA
Glorious in TECHNICOLOR
That Night in Rio
Song Hits!
"I'yi, Yi, Yi, Yi"
(I Like You Very Much)
"Chica, Chica, Boom, Chic"
"Boa Noite" (Good Night)
"They Met in Rio"
"The Baron Is In Conference"
by Mack Gordon and Harry Warren
S. Z. SAKALL • J. CARROL NAISH
CURT BOIS • LEONID KINSKEY
Directed by IRVING CUMMINGS
Associate Producer Fred Kohlmar. Screen Play by George Seaton, Bess Meredyth and Hal Long. Additional Dialogue by Samuel Hoffenstein. Based on a play by Rudolph Lothar & Hans Adler. Adapted by Jessie Ernst. Dances staged by Hermes Pan.
20th CENTURY FOX
• 1941's great musical thrill from the company that made 1940 famous for its musicals . . . 20th Century-Fox!

FDR PAYS TRIBUTE TO SCREEN, IN FIRST PRESIDENTIAL ADDRESS IN 25 YEARS

Academy Awards Dinner Guests Hear President Request Industry's Cooperation to Aid Pan-American Solidarity

Speaking across the country from his study in the White House to the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences in Los Angeles, President Franklin D. Roosevelt, Thursday evening, February 27th, paid tribute to the industry for its contributions to democracy and national defense. The speech, radioed over NBC, CBS and MBS, to the 13th annual awards dinner of the Academy at the Biltmore Bowl, marked the second time in history that a President of the United States addressed the industry. Woodrow Wilson spoke to the New York Film Board of Trade 25 years ago.

A capacity audience of 1,200 Hollywood executives, players, technicians and press gathered for the annual presentation of awards for outstanding achievement (see list of awards and illustrations, on page 12) heard the President.

Asks Cooperation

President Roosevelt, in his seven minute speech, predicted early passage of the "lease-lend" bill, praised newsreel coverage of the bill and national defense plans, and asked further cooperation from the industry in "advancing the spirit of inter-American solidarity." In many quarters the speech was taken as an indirect rebuke to Senator Burton K. Wheeler, Montana isolationist who has accused motion pictures of war mongering. The President placed special verbal emphasis on his declaration that the American motion picture, with its reflection of the "aspirations and ideals of a free people," is a prime force in warding off assaults on the democratic form of government.

The broadcast preceded the announcement and presentation of the awards which, this year, included two special citations, one to Bob Hope "for achievement in the humanities," earned by his numerous appearances at benefit performances during the year, the other to Major Nathan Levinson, Warner Brothers, for his work in cooperation with the Army on defense films.

Walter Wanger, president of the Academy, introduced the President via radio from Hollywood, and following the speech pledged cooperation of the entire industry in the national defense program. Mr. Wanger arranged for the presidential greeting and its broadcast to the nation over stations of the three major radio networks and its coverage in Washington and Hollywood by the five newsreel companies.

The text of the President's speech follows:

"Mr. Wanger, Ladies and Gentlemen:

"I am happy to greet the motion picture industry of America, whose representatives are gathered from far and near for the annual Awards Dinner of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences.

"In these days of anxiety and world peril our hearts and minds and all of our energies are directed toward one objective. That objective is the strengthening of our national defense. Every day we realize that more and more things in our life must be evaluated in just such proportion as they contribute to the national defense.

"The American motion picture as a national and international force is a phenomenon of our own generation. Within living memory we have seen it born and grow up into full maturity. We have seen the American motion picture become foremost in the world. We have seen it reflect our civilization throughout the rest of the world—the aims and aspirations and ideals of a free people and of freedom.

"That is the real reason that some governments do not want our American films exhibited in their countries. Dictators—those who enforce the totalitarian form of government—think it a dangerous thing for their unfortunate peoples to know that in our democracy officers of the government are the servants, never the masters, of the people.

"In all that I have said on that all-important subject through many months past I have emphasized that in the assault on the democratic form of government which imperils world civilization today, our problem of national defense has become one of defending the entire Western hemisphere—all three of the Americas—North, Central and South. We can no longer consider our own problem of defense as a separate interest. It involves the defense of all the democracies of all the Americas—and, therefore, in fact it involves the future of democracy wherever it is imperiled by force or terror.

Cites Newsreel Service

'An all-important factor in hemispheric defense is the lend-lease bill, whose early enactment by the Congress we confidently anticipate. It is a pleasure here and now to acknowledge the great service which the newsreels have performed in acquainting the public with all of the implications of this measure as it takes its way through the various legislative stages.

"Acceptance of the task of cooperating with all the Americas in defending the entire Western hemisphere, implicit in our plans for national defense, is a natural outgrowth of our good-neighbor policy in our relations with the other American republics. Happily for democracy, the Americas stand forth today as a notable example of international solidarity in a world in which freedom and human liberty are threatened with extinction.

"We have been seeking to affirm our faith in the Western world through a wider exchange of culture, of education, of thought, and of free expression among the various nations of this hemisphere. Your industry has utilized its vast resources of talent and facilities in a sincere effort to help the people of this hemisphere to come to know each other.

Hemisphere Grateful

"In carrying on this program of advancing the spirit of inter-American solidarity and continental defense our government has established machinery to coordinate our growing commercial and cultural relations with the American republics. Our Government has invited you to do your share of the job of interpreting the people of the Western hemisphere to one another. And all of us in all the twenty-one American republics are grateful that your response is so immediate and so wholehearted.

"I do not minimize the importance of the motion picture industry as the most popular medium of mass entertainment. But tonight I want to place the chief emphasis on the service you can render in promoting solidarity among all the people of the Americas.

"For all this and for your splendid cooperation with all who are directing the expansion of our defense forces, I am glad to thank you. In the weeks and months, that lie ahead we in Washington know we shall have your continued aid and support."

President Wilson Addressed Industry 25 Years Ago

The first address of a President of the United States to an industry, and the motion picture industry, was made by President Woodrow Wilson, just twenty-five years ago, at the first dinner of the Motion Picture Board of Trade at the Biltmore Hotel in New York. He had opinions about the art, observing:

"I have sometimes been very much chagrined in seeing myself in a motion picture. I have often wondered if I really was that kind of a guy. The extraordinary rapidity with which I walked, for example, the instantaneous and apparently automatic nature of my motions; the way in which I produce uncommon grimaces, and altogether the extraordinary exhibition I make of myself sends me to bed very unhappy."

The United States, and its President, were facing a war crisis then, too. The air was laden with propaganda from overseas, and rumor at home. Mr. Wilson had much on his mind that night.

"I suppose there is always a rising generation whom they can fool," he said, "but the older heads ought not to permit themselves to be fooled; and I should think that in a year like the year 1916, when there is to be a common reckoning for everybody, men would hurry up and begin to tell the truth. They are not hurrying about it; they are taking their time; but the American people are going to insist upon it before this year is over—that everybody comes up and is counted on the great questions of the day.

"But I came here to say that I hoped you would not believe that I am what I appear to be in the pictures you make of me. I really am a pretty decent fellow, and I have a lot of emotions that do not show on the surface; and the things that I don't say would fill a library. The great cross of public life is that you are not allowed to say all the things that you think."

Philadelphians Marking Time On Arbitration

A multiplicity of arbitration cases was expected in the Philadelphia area, but with the first month past, the arbitration board in that city has only one case on the docket, as filed this week. (See page 18.) Inquiries, both from exhibitors, exhibitor organizations and attorneys, have been many, according to William Elliott, head of the local board.

Meanwhile, there are still six anti-trust actions pending against the major circuits. There is little likelihood that any of the cases will be taken out of court jurisdiction and decided by arbitration. Plaintiffs in the cases, for the most part involving availability of product and asking for triple damages in amounts in excess of $100,000, are the Milton Amusement Company, headed by Milton Rogasner; Harrison Brothers, operating the suburban Lansdowne Theatre; Affiliated Circuit headed by David Milgram; Carman Theatre; Block & Sork, operators in Reading and Schuylkill Haven, Pa.; and the Admiral Theatre, operated by Rubin Shapiro.

First Trial in April

Only two are listed for trial in United States District Court here. The Lansdowne Theatre case is scheduled to be heard April 21. Morris Wolf is attorney for the Warner theatre circuit. The action has been dormant since November, 1939, when it was first filed, seeking triple damages of $21,000 and involving the clearance of product in the Philadelphia suburban section.

The Admiral theatre is scheduled to open in Federal District Court on May 19. The action, originally filed Jan. 3, 1940, seeks triple damages of $225,000, and charges monopolistic practices in cutting off the theatre's product when it tried to cut admission prices to compete with chain theatres in its vicinity. Irvin A. Winegrad, attorney, filed the suit.

In two of the other cases, counsel for the defendants have served notice of intentions to take depositions before trial. On March 26, pre-trial examination will be taken in the Block & Sork case, and in the Milton Rogasner action on April 16. A basis for a settlement was reached several months ago in the Affiliated Circuit case, filed a year ago. Disposition of the Carman case, filed several years ago, has been complicated due to the fact that the house went into receivership last spring.

While the possibility of an out-of-court settlement looms in every case, such procedure is not expected.

Leo Acquires Film Rights

Leo Films, Inc., has announced that the company has acquired the remake rights to "Musicians From Heaven," a French production starring Michele Morgan.

Assessment Reduced

The assessed value of the New 14th Street theatre in New York has been reduced from $125,000 to $100,000 in settlement of the theatre's tax reduction application.

Chance Game Bills Filed in Albany

Assemblyman Max Turshen has introduced two chance game measures in the New York State legislature. One is a constitutional amendment, requiring two successive favorable votes by the legislature, followed by a popular referendum, to legalize the games. The other, setting up games regulation under the Department of State, provides a $100 annual license fee; restricts the games to charitable, religious or similar organizations which have been incorporated for five years or more; prohibit games on Sunday; limits the hours they may be played, and requires 10 per cent of the gross to be paid to the state.

Assemblyman William Manning of Rochester submitted a bill permitting employment of children in performances by non-profit associations. Written parental consent and notification to the Society of the Prevention of Cruelty to Children would be required.

Assemblyman William T. Andrews has introduced a series of bills designed to penalize places of amusement as well as individuals who discriminate because of color, race, religion or other reason.

In New Jersey the Grand Jury of Union county has held that bingo, regardless of the purpose for which it is played, is gambling. As a result, Assistant Prosecutor Thomas F. Hueston directed the chiefs of police of the county's 20 municipalities to enforce prohibition of the game, which has been put on by numerous organizations and proved stiff competition to theatres.

"Tarzan" Deal Set

Crystal Pictures, Inc., of 729 Seventh Avenue, New York City, have concluded arrangements with Burroughs-Tarzan Enterprises of California for the exclusive distribution of the motion picture "New Adventures of Tarzan" in the United States and Canada. Immediate release dates are being set and Melvin Hirsh, president of Crystal Pictures plans a sales trip throughout the country to set up distribution with the exchanges.

Theatre Aids Fund

The receipts from the opening of the Today theatre, a newsreel house operated by Richard E. Beck, in Chicago, will provide a scholarship for the Chicago Art Institute to be known as the American Institute of Decorators. The theatre was to have opened Friday, March 7th, and admittance for the opening night was $1 each.

George Beattie Promoted

George Beattie, Paramount salesman, has been named sales manager of the Philadelphia exchange, succeeding Ulric Smith, who recently became branch manager. William Heenan, who, up until recently, headed the Peerless Exchange in that territory, has taken over the upstate Paramount area held by Mr. Beattie.

California Theatre Destroyed

The Quincy theatre, part of the Plumas Co., of Quincy, Cal., was totally destroyed by fire according to an announcement by Paul Sprague, manager of the theatre. The fire was started, it is believed, by a cigarette, resulting in a loss of $15,000, insured. The theatre will be rebuilt in the near future.

Columbia Files Interrogatories in Schine Suit

Columbia Pictures has filed extensive interrogatories in the federal district court in Buffalo, N. Y., for the Government to answer in connection with the Federal anti-trust suit against the Schine Circuit and Columbia, Universal and United Artists. The interrogatories, filed by Schwartz & Frohlich, New York counsel for Columbia, ask that answers be filed not later than March 13th. In 46 pages Columbia requests various definitions of phrases used in the Government complaint and more detailed descriptions of alleged illegal distribution practices.

In one instance the Government is asked to state the title of each "first class picture" released by Columbia and exhibited in the Schine towns during the past ten years and each of the factors considered by the Government in determining that such pictures are "first class." A definition of the words "collectively distributed" is requested.

Dismissal Refused

In Nashville, Tenn., Judge Elmer Davis of the Federal district court has denied the motion of Columbia, Universal and United Artists for dismissal of the Government's amended anti-trust suit complaint against them and the Crescent Amusement Co. of that city.

The motion was argued by Louis D. Frohlich of New York in the United States district court in Nashville. Judge Davies had the motion under consideration since.

Judge Davies also overruled all but two objections made by the Crescent Co. and affiliated exhibitor defendants to the Government's interrogatories addressed to them.

The injunction suit of the RKO Uptown theatre in Detroit, Mich., aimed at United Detroit Theatres was adjourned in the circuit court until March 14th. The RKO Uptown seeks to restrain Paramount, Loew's and Twentieth Century-Fox from licensing United Detroit houses as second runs, in alleged violations of the Uptown's second run contracts.

Two Receive MGM Honor Buttons

Metro Goldwyn Mayer has awarded Honor Roll Buttons to E. L. Merkley, Gladmer theatre in Lansing, Mich., and Morris Rosenthal, Loew's Majestic theatre in Bridgeport, Conn., for their campaigns on "Land of Liberty," which the company is releasing.

Shirley Joins MGM Temporarily

Sam Shirley, who retired as district manager for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer in Chicago two years ago, has been recalled by the company to act as branch manager pending the return of Walter E. Banford, who is recuperating from a serious operation.

Cartoon Book Coming

"How to Make Animated Cartoons," written by Nat Falk, will be published shortly by Foundation Books in New York. A foreword has been written for the book by Paul Terry.

Sluesky Made Universal Booker

Jerry Sluesky of Indianapolis, Ind., has been made booker at the Des Moines, Iowa, Universal Film Exchange.

'FILMS AS INDISPENSABLE AS STEEL' GEN. MAUBORGNE TELLS INDUSTRY

Signal Corps Chief Inspects Studios Engaged in Training Film Production and Explains $1,000,000 Program

Hollywood took on a military air last week as it heard the motion picture industry praised by Major General Joseph O. Mauborgne, chief of the United States Army's Signal Corps, as being "as indispensable to national defense as the steel industry." At the same time military secrecy concealed the contents of the two training films already made and those about to be made.

In the production center for an inspection tour of the studios engaged in the production of training films for the Army through the Research Council of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences, the officer said that the program, which he credited as emanating from Hollywood, would increase by four or five times the rate of training of the selective service men now being called to the colors.

Industry "Mobilized"

Making the round of events, which included the Academy awards dinner and a dinner given in his honor Friday night by Lieutenant Colonel Darryl F. Zanuck, General Mauborgne disclosed, for the first time, the "mobilization" of the entire production industry through the council and the Motion Picture Production Defense Committee in the film making project.

The disclosure came at a press conference and the officer, in response to a question as to how many were engaged in the project, said, "The entire industry." He explained that, under the cooperative plan, the studios will make the pictures in conjunction with the Army, paying union scales and salaries to technical workers, with directors, cinematographers, writers and actors working for nothing.

He also disclosed that the Screen Actors, Screen Writers and Screen Directors guilds had waived conditions of employment of their bargaining contracts with the producers for members engaged in the project.

No newspapermen, trade or general, will be permitted to see the training films, the General declared. Arrangements are being made to clear all news concerning the films and their making through either the Research Council or the Defense Committee, and stills from the pictures must be obtained from the office of the Chief Signal Corps Officer.

This is being done to prevent information from falling into hands of agents of other countries, he said. "One can never tell just what bits of information might aid potential enemies," he declared.

Aiding him in the interview were Colonel Nathan Levinson and Captain Gordon S. Mitchell, manager of the Research Council, both of whom pointed out that studio publicity departments are to be requested not to give out news of the activities of the Council-Army project, or preparations therefor.

The General was unstinting in his praise for the response of the industry in the national defense setup. He explained that the films were being made at cost—"out of pocket" expenditures only.

The Council-Army project, he said, grew out of an idea by Captain Mitchell nine years ago, who conceived the Army officers' film training school which has been in operation since 1933.

Major General J. O. Mauborgne, Colonel Nathan Levinson, Captain J. C. Johnson and Lieutenant Colonel Darryl F. Zanuck, who is in uniform for the first time, at the dinner for General Mauborgne in Hollywood.

Each year the Army sends a Signal Corps officer to Hollywood for a thorough course in film making. The officer then reports back to the Signal Corps to engage in that group's film activities.

"When the Army appealed to the producers for aid in making training films," General Mauborgne said, "the industry responded immediately. In less than a month after the aid was sought, work began on the first script.

"We expect to make about 160 films this year under the Research Council-Army plan."

Corps Heads Confer

In Hollywood to confer on training films for their respective branches of the Army are Colonel Gordon P. Savage, of the Infantry, and Major John L. Ballantyne, of the Cavalry. Major Charles Stodter, of the Signal Corps, is the liaison officer between the Signal Corps and the Council. He took the Research Council course in motion picture making several years ago.

General Mauborgne said, in addition to making training films in Hollywood, the Signal Corps had a large motion picture laboratory with mobile units, and that another film making project, to be attached to General Headquarters, was being developed by that office. GHQ plans to use Hollywood technicians for its nucleus, and a central point of operation, place not determined, will be set up with complete camera and sound departments, laboratories and other units. Mobile units will be dispatched where needed, and actual action pictures of troop maneuvers will be taken for study.

"We have learned definitely," he said, "that Germany has used training films extensively and intensively in preparing for the war. The films were extremely useful in many instances in addition to actual training of men. They have made some very fine films and have developed a great photographic unit system.

"We are gradually building up our libraries. For the last ten years, the Signal Corps has been making from 20 to 40 films a year, as our budgets allowed. This year we will spend approximately $1,000,000.

"I can foresee where we will be spending $4,000,000 a year for such films.

"In the last war, the Signal Corps made films, but not to the extent that this new program requires.

"Motion pictures have taken on a tremendous value in defense preparations and I estimate that they will increase the rate of training men from four to five times over the old methods."

Discussing the three-reel Navy film which Jack Chertok is producing, and which MGM will distribute as a commercial picture, and the appeal of the army air force for aid in a program similar to that of the Signal Corps, General Mauborgne said:

"The sky's the limit in the help that the motion picture industry can give to national defense."

Army Films Reviewed

The officer, as honored guest at the Academy dinner, presented on behalf of the organization a statuette to Colonel Levinson for his "outstanding service to the industry and to the Army during the last nine years which culminated in the present efficient mobilization of the industry in the program of Army training films."

Colonel Levinson, in his talk, lauded Gordon Mitchell, who, he said, "did all the work, while I get all the glory."

The first two films completed, on personal hygiene, were given their "preview" at the dinner Colonel Zanuck gave on Friday night for his superior officer. After the event, attended by Army, Army Reserve, Navy, and Navy Reserve officers as well as top ranking executives, General Mauborgne described them as "the finest of their type I have ever seen."

Colonel Zanuck, who wore his new uniform for the first time in public that night, declared he was more nervous at that "preview" than at any of his feature pictures.

Louis B. Mayer, Will Hays and Harry Warner also spoke.

Guests included: Y. Frank Freeman, president of the Association of Motion Picture Producers; Colonel Levinson, George Schaefer, Walter Wanger, president of the Academy, Captain Mitchell, Douglas Shearer, Edward Arnold, Joseph I. Breen, Harry Cohn, Frank Capra, Walt Disney, Howard Estabrook, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., William Goetz, Samuel Goldwyn, Edmund Goulding, Colonel Jason S. Joy, William Koenig, William LeBaron, Sol Lesser, Mervyn LeRoy, Robert Lord, Fred Meyer, Lewis Milestone, J. R. McDonough, Irving Pichel, Tyrone Power, David O. Selznick, M. J. Siegel, Hal Wallis, Fred Beetson, Jack Chertok, James E. Grainger, Donald Gledhill, Howard Strickling, Harry Brand, Robert Taplinger, Jack Warner, Jr., Keith Glennan.

Harold Lyon Transferred

The transfer of Harold Lyon from the Minneapolis branch of Twentieth Century-Fox to Iowa to fill a vacancy caused by the death of Abe W. Riegelam, has been announced by Stanley J. Mayer, manager of the Des Moines office.

Curtice Named Cooper Assistant

Fred Curtice, assistant manager of the Uptown theatre in San Francisco, has been named assistant to Roy Cooper, division manager of the Golden State and San Francisco Theatres, Inc.

NEW UNIVERSAL CONTRACTS DRAWN; TOP OFFICERS TO SHARE PROFITS

Salary Increases, Stock Warrants Included in Long-Term Pacts for Seven Executives; SEC Lists Salaries for 1940

Universal's top home office, sales and studio executives, on Tuesday, were handed new long-term employment contracts, with increases in salaries, profit-sharing privileges and warrants to purchase the corporation's stock.

The new deals were awarded, it was stated by the corporation, to "assure continuity of the executive management which has been responsible" for increasing gross sales $9,500,000 in three years and converting a net loss of $1,084,999 into a net profit of $2,390,772 in the same period.

Leo Spitz, attorney, is understood to have negotiated the contracts for the company.

Late Tuesday, Universal issued the following statement from its home offices at Rockefeller Center, in New York, the statement being intended for publication Wednesday:

Contracts for Seven Years

"J. Cheever Cowdin, chairman of the boards of the Universal Pictures Company, Inc., and Universal Corporation, announced yesterday (Tuesday) that the boards of these companies, at special meetings, had authorized the execution of contracts covering the services of their senior operating executives for a seven-year period from January 1, 1941. The contracts are to be submitted for approval to the stockholders of the two companies." (Annual Universal stockholders' meeting is dated for March 15th, at Wilmington, Del.)

"The executives with whom the new contracts have been executed are J. Cheever Cowdin, chairman; Nathan J. Blumberg, president; Charles D. Prutzman, vice-president and general counsel; Clifford Work, vice-president in charge of studio operations; William A. Scully, vice-president in charge of domestic sales; Joseph H. Seidelman, vice-president in charge of foreign sales; and Matthew Fox, vice-president and executive assistant to the president.

" 'The contracts, in most instances, represent a five-year extension of the periods for which these men are currently under contract to the Universal companies,' said Mr. Cowdin. 'This will assure continuity of the executive management which has been responsible for increasing gross sales from $18,150,876 to $27,677,627 in the last three years and, in the same period, has converted a net loss of $1,084,999 into a net profit of $2,390,772.'

"Under the terms of the contracts with Universal Pictures Company, Inc., the annual salaries of this group will range from $62,400 to $91,000 during the first two years and thereafter will range from $75,400 to $117,000.

"Additional incentive compensation is also provided, Mr. Cowdin explained, through a profit-sharing plan under which the executives will receive a percentage of the operating income up to $2,500,000 and an additional percentage of operating income above that figure. Individual participations will range from one-half of one per cent to one per cent of operating income up to $2,500,000 and from one per cent to two per cent of operating earnings in excess of that amount. The contracts provide that these percentages are to be reduced proportionately to any future increase in tax rates and that balances blocked in Great Britain shall be excluded in computing operating income for any year, any adjustment with respect to these amounts to be made only when and as these balances are actually transferred into dollars.

"Under the terms of the contracts with Universal Corporation, each of the five vice-presidents is to receive each year warrants to purchase 3,000 shares of Universal Corporation common stock at $10 a share, expiring in April, 1956, the chairman and president receiving 5,000 such warrants. The warrants now held by members of the executive group, running for five years and giving them the right to buy stock at prices scaling from $6 to $10 a share, are to be exchanged for the longer-term warrants stipulating the higher price."

SEC Reports Stock Purchases

The Securities and Exchange Commission, in Washington, last weekend, reported acquisition by two Universal officials of 500 common voting trust certificates in that company, the only film stock transaction reported by the Commission in its final December summary.

The SEC report showed that Preston Davie, director, acquired 400 certificates, giving him a total of 3,000 at the close of the month, and Peyton Gibson, secretary, acquired 100, giving him a total of 1,400. The Universal Corporation report showed also that Standard Capital Company, held 26,500 voting trust certificates and 111,283 voting trust certificate warrants at the close of the year.

Loew's, Inc., paid $697,049 in salary and bonuses to Louis B. Mayer, managing director of production, in the fiscal year ended August 31, 1940, according to the corporation's annual report to the SEC which was released in New York on Tuesday. The report disclosed that $541,049 of this amount represented a share in the profits.

Nicholas B. Schenck, president, received $318,881 and Hunt Stromberg, supervisor of production was paid $332,267 last year. Bonuses paid to executives included: J. Robert Rubin, $128,070; David Bernstein, $113,329; E. J. Mannix and Sam Katz, $96,356 each.

The corporation paid $16,104,000 in salaries and bonuses to 228 executives in the last fiscal year, the SEC reported.

The payment to Mr. Mayer covered in this report, is almost the same as that listed for the previous twelve months. In the statement made a year ago covering the fiscal year which ended August 31, 1939, Mr. Mayer received $688,369, of which $541,119 represented a share of the profits.

Universal Pictures reported salaries of its leading players for the fiscal year ended October 31, 1940, as follows: W. C. Fields, $255,000; Deanna Durbin, $209,833, and Bing Crosby, $150,000.

STUDIO PERSONNEL INCREASE REPORTED

The United States Census Bureau reports in its figures on the motion picture industry that 33,687 persons were engaged in film studios in 1939, compared with 32,398 in 1937 and 27,592 in 1935. The total expenditures by producers for salaries and wages in 1939 was $139,077,063, as compared to $139,551,338 in 1937 and $104,429,588 in 1935. Salary payments to executives and talent dropped to $93,341,137 from $102,393,327 in 1938, but the average salary was much higher than in 1935 when salaries totaled only $79,429,588 for one-third more persons than were employed in 1939.

Taxes Cut Profit Of Consolidated

Consolidated Film Industries, Inc., largest of the film processing corporations ended the year 1940 with a net income, all charges and taxes deducted, of $590,031.37, according to the annual statement released in New York this week by Herbert J. Yates, president. The figure is $38,265.74 less than the net income of $628,297.11 reported for the year 1939. Assets are listed at $11,802,898.91.

The corporation's sales, totalling $7,235,337 during 1940, showed a $174,115 decrease from the $7,409,452 sales total in 1939. The net income last year of $775,031, before deduction of Federal taxes, showed an increase of $16,734 over the $758,279 earned during 1939. A rise in the Federal tax rate from 19 to 24 per cent, however, increased the Consolidated tax bill by $55,000, lowering the company's net income below the 1939 figure. The 1940 earnings equalled $1.47 per share on 400,000 shares of outstanding preferred stock, compared with earnings of $1.57 per share on the same issue in 1939.

The annual report to stockholders said Consolidated's investment in Republic Pictures Corp. remained the same as in 1937. Since January 1, 1941, Consolidated has acquired an additional 139,000 shares of stock in Republic.

Gross income of Republic Pictures last year was listed at approximately $8,330,000, 4.7 per cent above 1939. The report does not indicate Consolidated's share of the Republic earnings. The report indicates that Republic acquired its own film exchanges in New York, Philadelphia, St. Louis, Omaha, and Des Moines during 1940.

Of the $11,802,898.91 in assets, the consolidated balance sheet attached to the report lists total current and working assets of Consolidated and its subsidiary companies at $8,374,288.72. $601,335.08 represents cash in hand and in banks. Trade acceptances, notes, and loans receivable account for $4,185,993.80 of the assets; $1,492,673.84 are in accounts receivable from the trade. Balance of assets is in properties and inventory.

Current liabilities are listed at $1,150,625.35. The figure includes notes, accounts and vouchers' payable, payroll, accruals, reserves and all taxes due.

Fox, Disney Dividends

The board of directors of Twentieth Century-Fox have declared a dividend of 37½ cents a share for the first 1941 quarter, on the company's preferred stock, payable March 31 to holders of record March 17th.

In Los Angeles on Monday the Walt Disney Productions, Inc., declared a quarterly dividend of one and one-half per cent, amounting to 37½ cents a share on the six per cent convertible preferred stock of $25 par value, payable April 1 to stockholders of record March 15th.

A further dividend of 3½ per cent on the preferred shares has been declared by Marcus Loew's Theatres, Ltd., in Toronto, Ont., Canada, payable March 31st.

JANE RUSSELL and JACK BUETEL

For both, overnight stardom . . . once before Howard Hughes made the same prediction and this industry gained two of its greatest stars!

The OUTLAW
The Story of Billy the Kid
Produced and directed by HOWARD HUGHES
with
THOMAS MITCHELL · WALTER HUSTON
The last time Howard Hughes said he had someone to show you, he gave you two new stars . . . Jean Harlow and Paul Muni. Now he makes the same promise again and—presents
JANE RUSSELL · JACK BUETEL
Story and Screen Play by Jules Furthman
Photography by Gregg Toland, ASC
The kind of entertainment that made this business great!
Released through Twentieth Century-Fox Film Corp.

ASIDES and INTERLUDES

By JAMES P. CUNNINGHAM

SOME TWELVE YEARS AGO, this pillar started collecting real names and reel names, for reasons more hobbish than anything else. The collection, today runs well into thousands, the original name identities being known by some, all of them to very few. Nearly all name changing is prompted by a desire of the individual, or his theatrical sponsor, to glamourize something like a homey Cornelius McGillicuddy into a streamlined marquee billing of "Connie Mack," as with baseball's famous old man.

The practice occasionally becomes the target of fuss-pot legislative attack. Massachusetts, a few years back, attempted to legislate changed names out of existence. The effort received some newspaper attention, nothing more. Now Maryland is getting some headline attention for the same reason, a legislative proposal in that state requiring all screen actors, stage players, producers, headliners and public athletes to use their original legal names on all advertising, including programs, marquee billing, etc.

Cary Grant would have to be billed in Maryland as Archibald Alexander Leach, Joan Crawford as Lucille Le Sueur, Fighter Joe Louis as Joseph Barrow, and Buster Crabbe as Clarence Linden Crabbe.

Maude Adams originally was Maude Kiskadden, Ben Alexander was named Nicholas Benton Alexander, Hugh Allan was named Allan Hughes and Fred Allen would have to call himself John Florence Sullivan. Ben Zeidman was called Benjamin Franklin Zeidman, after the famous Philadelphian. Ed Wynn is Edward Leopold Wynn, John Griffith Wray is not 'Wray,' but Malloy, and Donald Woods is Ralph Zwink.

Edith Wood is Helen Johnson, Claire Windsor was Claire Viola Kronk, and Toby Wing's correct name is Martha Virginia Wing. The real name of Monty Banks is Mario Bianchi, of Mona Barrie, Mona Smith. Rex Bell changed from George Francis Beldam, Madge Bellamy from Margaret Philpott, and Mary Pickford was a Smith. Jack Benny was a Kubelsky, Busby Berkeley can answer to William Berkeley Enos, Milton Berle to Berlinger and Ben Bernie to Anzelvitz.

Herbert Wilcox has Mygatt in between his first and last names, Alice White is Alva instead of Alice, and Cliff Wheeler was originally known as Alexander Thurn Taxis. Glenn Ford might properly be called Gwyllyn Samuel Newton Ford. Hedy LaMarr recently petitioned to disown her legal name of Hedwig Eva Marie Kiesler. Brigita Hartwig assumed the more euphonious name of Vera Zorina and Edward Arnold has changed from Guenther Edward Schneider.

Director Archie Mayo has a brother named Leonard Jones and another called Jack Spiegal. Helen Hayes was a Brown. Little Carolyn Lee is a Copp, Boris Morros is a Mihailovitch and Gertrude Lawrence is properly Gertrude Alice Dagmar Klasen. Ilona Massey was born Hajmassy and Lya Lys is Natalie Lescht.

Bruce Cabot's real name is Jacques de Bujac, John Garfield's is Jules Garfinkle's, Helen Vinson's is Helen Rulfs and Balanchine, the dancer, was born Balanchivadze. George Burns is a Shapiro, and, oddly, Lyle Talbot is a Hollywood. The Ritz Brothers' family name is Joachim. Franciska Gaal is a Zilverstitch and Edgar Bergen is Edgar John Bergren, to mention but a few.

'ROUND AND 'ROUND

Deals involving the borrowing of a player, while usually simple enough in their bargaining aspects, have at times assumed the proportions of a perpetual "round robin" affair.

One in this category started out in Hollywood quite simply, with MGM wanting Vivien Leigh for a picture, after her success in "GWTW." It would seem that Alexander Korda, under terms of a deal made with David O. Selznick, had call on Miss Leigh's services for one film a year.

In lieu of using her services himself, Mr. Korda released Miss Leigh to MGM. In return, he was to have use of Melvyn Douglas for a picture if made within a certain time. That time was fast being used up in other Korda enterprises, so he released Douglas to the Lesser-Lubitsch combine for "That Uncertain Feeling," which also stars Merle Oberon, in private life Mrs. Korda.

However, part of Melvyn Douglas' contract is held by Columbia, which was enabled to have something to say because Korda had in turn released him. Whereupon Columbia put its corporate stamp of approval on the deal, in return for use of Miss Martha Scott's services, on which Sol Lesser has first call, in "They Dare Not Love."

Or, Tinker to Evers to Chance.

The local clerks of the motion picture industry's new arbitration system, in charge of the arbitration boards in 31 key cities from coast to coast, are warned by the American Arbitration Association, their employers, against having any truckin' whatsoever in the social side of movies. They are forbidden to accept any passes to theatres, against attending any film parties, dinners, cocktail affairs or other familiar forms of movie industry socializing.

▽

An admirer of Col. Manny Prager sent him a cake and not knowing his current theatrical whereabouts, mailed it to him in care of the Old Maestro Ben Bernie, for whom Manny worked before going out on the road on his own.

The Maestro forwarded the box to Manny at the Rainbow Ballroom in Denver, where Manny was currently appearing, with the note, "Opened and eaten by mistake."

WHEN Samuel Goldwyn's movie version of "The Westerner," for United Artists, played the Roseland, at New Glasgow, Nova Scotia, in Canada, the other day, for three days, N. W. Mason, proprietor, didn't miss a show. This old-time picture exhibitor, now on the verge of his 77th birthday, had his memory tickled by the role of Lily Langry, played in the film by Lillian Bond.

When Mason was 15, he was working as a curtain-call boy at the old Washington Street Theatre in Boston, and one of the performers he frequently summoned to the stage from her dressing room was the Jersey Lily, then heading her own road company. That contact stands out in Mason's memory, down these 62 years, he says, for he had an adolescent crush on the stage beauty. It was like being whisked back the intervening six decades to see Lily duplicated on the screen, and by somebody who he believes really resembled the once queen of the footlights, and with the same handle of Lily.

Mr. Mason, who will be 77 within a few weeks, also operates the Academy of Music at New Glasgow, an ex-legitimate theatre converted for pictures, and despite standing on the threshold of 77, continues active at the head of his business. He is a pioneer picture showman, being an exhibitor in the Dominion alone for over 35 years, and a former mayor of New Glasgow, having retired from that post two years after serving four terms. He has also been a sports promoter, in boxing, wrestling and hockey.

▽

Oklahoma merchants, including movie exhibitors, are cooperating in an army-approved and civilian sponsored recreation program for Army draftees passing through Oklahoma City. The Criterion theatre in that city, for example, allows draftees to attend shows while awaiting trains to camp, charging no admission to the boys, even paying their two per cent state sales tax. Bert Stearn, managing the Criterion for Standard Theatres Circuit has reserved a special section of 100 seats each afternoon for the 100-a-day draftees who are pouring through his community. But, he has learned, his selection of subject matter must hereafter be done with greater care than that exercised for the first showing, when J. W. Taylor, sergeant in charge of the first group of boys on the way to Army life, complained viciferously because Mr. Stearn's program included a short subject on life among U. S. Marines.

If Mr. Stearn had a company of U. S. Navy sailors as his guests that day, things might have been different,—very different.

▽

Employees may not be credited with tips within the meaning of the Unemployment Insurance Law, according to the New York State Department of Labor. We hasten to explain that do not mean horse tips.

▽

J. A. Ryan, operating the Burg theatre at Trumansburg, New York, testifies that patrons left more than 200 handkerchiefs after viewing "Gone With the Wind." He says he's going to have them laundered, and invite the townsfolk to retrieve them.

ASCAP DECREE APPROVED, U.S. MAY CRACK DOWN ON SETTLEMENT DELAYS

Court Signs Document Despite Objections from NAB Head; Preliminary Discussions Held on Radio Contract Renewals

The consent decree settlement of the dispute between the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers received Federal Court approval Tuesday in New York from Judge Henry W. Goddard, of motion picture decree fame, and preparations were being made for negotiations between the Society and broadcasters for a final end to the music war, with the prospect that any signs of failure to reach a quick settlement would bring further intervention from the Government.

Parties opposing the ASCAP decree were given their day in court on Monday just as exhibitors who objected to the blocks-of-five and trade show clause of the film decree had an opportunity to protest to Judge Goddard last November 14th. There was every indication that the arguments of opponents of the decree in both cases had equally little weight with the court.

A hearing in Milwaukee is scheduled for March 14th, at which time, it is expected, the Government criminal action against the society will be dismissed.

Opposed by Three Groups

While representatives of most of the theatres in the country appeared to oppose the motion picture decree which was signed by Judge Goddard six days after the hearing, the ASCAP document was attacked by representatives of only three groups. The chief objector was Neville Miller, president of the National Association of Broadcasters and Broadcast Music, Inc. Others opposing the decree were Harold Seligson, representing Schroeder and Gunther, an ASCAP music publisher, and Milton R. Weinberger, lawyer for the League of New York Theatres.

The decree was explained to the court by Victor O. Waters, special assistant to the attorney general, who said the Government recognized the necessity for the existence of a policy and collection agency in the music field like ASCAP. It was the opinion of the Department of Justice, he pointed out, that ASCAP had exceeded its rightful scope in carrying out its functions and the decree was intended to correct the alleged abuses.

Judge Goddard questioned the Government's lawyer on why the provisions of the decree relating to theatres and other general users of ASCAP music would not become effective for nine months, while the sections relating to radio broadcasting would go into effect in 90 days. Mr. Waters said about 20,000 ASCAP licenses outside the broadcasting field expired at the end of the year and the deferred effective date was to avoid chaos among these licensees.

Mr. Miller's objections centered about the following points of the ASCAP decree:

1. The continuation under the decree of long term, exclusive contracts between ASCAP and its members.

2. The provision permitting ASCAP licensees other than radio broadcasters to obtain commercial licenses on a per program as well as blanket basis, while this right is limited to sustaining programs when sought by broadcasters.

3. The requirement that ASCAP members who license their works directly to users must turn over royalties so received to ASCAP for distribution.

He said the third provision listed "destroys the economic incentive for private licensing." He also asserted the other provisions would fail to produce the results sought in the decree by the Government and would place official approval on alleged illegal ASCAP practices.

"The decree starts out to make ASCAP a non-exclusive licensor and ends by making it an exclusive licensor," he remarked.

Mr. Waters said he was "at a loss" to explain Mr. Miller's position and argued that the ASCAP decree was very similar to the decree accepted by BMI contingent on the signing of a decree by the Society. He also said the distribution by the Society of revenue from private licensing by members was to prevent commercial agencies from invading the field.

Judge Goddard indicated to Mr. Miller as he told exhibitor representatives in November that the decree was a matter between the Government and the parties which signed it. On the question of royalty payments Judge Goddard told Mr. Miller that that was "a matter between ASCAP and its members" and hence not a concern of the court or NAB or BMI.

The League of New York Theatres wants a provision incorporated in the decree forbidding ASCAP from interfering with the radio presentation of condensed versions of dramatic works and requiring that ASCAP keep records on the amount of times songs from musical productions are played so that the producers may obtain a share of the publishers' royalties.

The League's representative was reminded by Judge Goddard that a consent decree was "a decree consented to by the parties and not dictated by the court."

The representative of Schroeder and Gunther, an ASCAP publisher, asked that a more prompt method of changing the members of the ASCAP board of directors be provided for in the decree. It was claimed it would take 12 years, under the system set up, to elect an entirely new board. But the court also dismissed this objection.

Lieutenant-Governor Charles Poletti of New York represented ASCAP and predicted that the dispute between the Society and broadcasters would be settled shortly.

John G. Paine, ASCAP general manager, announced last week that the Society would reorganize its office routine as soon as the decree was approved. After this is done at the home office in New York and the 38 field offices, ASCAP will be able to devote full attention to negotiating the new contract with the major networks and many independent stations which have not carried ASCAP-controlled music since January 1st. However the negotiating committee has already held numerous meetings at which preliminary matters have been discussed.

At the time the decree settlement was announced Thurman W. Arnold, assistant attorney general in charge of the anti-trust division of the Department of Justice, issued a statement which said in part that the ASCAP decree paved the way "for immediate settlement of the difficulties between the music Society and the broadcasters which have resulted in the banning of ASCAP music from the air since January 1st." He also said, "All objectionable practices (of ASCAP) have been resolved by the decree." The position of the Department of Justice has been interpreted to be that if the parties do not get together quickly the Government will step in and "assist" the negotiations.

BMI Publishers Active

BMI meanwhile announced that 25 new publishing houses had been started since the music fight started. Fifteen of them were said to be associated with BMI. The radio music group also claimed, "Aside from war songs more than 90 percent of the songs ordered in the Dominion (of Canada) are BMI publications or licensed through BMI."

Hearings were held this week in Salem, Ore., on the anti-ASCAP bill introduced by Coe A. McKenna, Senator from Portland. Score charges were attacked by Bob White, Portland exhibitor. Herman Kenin, ASCAP representative, opposed the measure and also introduced into the record a letter from a representative of the Oregon State Broadcasters attacking the bill. Formerly broadcasters have backed such legislation in the state but such measures would now hit them through requirements imposed on BMI as well as ASCAP.

The suit of four former members of the Austrian affiliate of ASCAP against the American society was dismissed last week by Justice Aaron Steuer in the New York Supreme Court. The plaintiffs had secured in New York a judgment of $99,658 against the Austrian ASCAP affiliate and sought to collect $57,994 of that sum, allegedly due to the European affiliate from ASCAP. ASCAP denied the indebtedness and further asserted that the judgment against the Austrian affiliate made in New York was invalid because the court had no jurisdiction.

EQUITY MAPS PLAN FOR ARMY CIRCUIT

Bert Lytell, president of the Actors' Equity Association, has written to Secretary of War Stimson suggesting a plan by which actors and the War Department would cooperate in the work of establishing a circuit of Army Camp theatres for the entertainment of the soldiers. He proposed that a central committee be formed in New York and that all volunteer their services. He predicted that many of the big picture and radio names would give their services for nothing, while the lesser members of the cast would accept curtailed salaries.

Mr. Lytell also suggested that the War Department build wooden theatres, modeled after any of the Summer playhouses but much larger, accommodating 1,400 to 1,500 seats. Admissions would be 25 cents for soldiers and 50 cents for officers.

"Pepe le Moko" Opens

"Pepe le Moko," the Hakim Brothers film produced in France about four years ago under the direction of Julien Duvivier, opened in New York Monday. The French version was used as a basis for Walter Wanger's production "Algiers," and Hakim Brothers in selling the American rights agreed not to release their French version in the United States until "Algiers" had completed its run. "Pepe le Moko" was reviewed in MOTION PICTURE HERALD March 20th, 1937. The picture stars Jean Gabin with Mireille Balin and Gabriel Gabrio.

NEW CIRCUIT FORMING IN CANADA; DOMINION LEVIES ANOTHER 5% TAX

Toronto Owners Form a New Booking Combine; Canada in 1940 Bought 455 Films from U. S. and 42 from England

A new Canadian theatre circuit appeared to be an established fact this week as Odeon Theatres of Canada, Limited, acquired twelve theatres in Vancouver, British Columbia, and the western provinces, and was reported to be negotiating for houses throughout the Dominion. The corporation received its charter at Toronto on January 7, with the principals unnamed. However, N. L. Nathanson, head of Paramount's Famous Players Canadian chain, whose contract expires in June, is mentioned prominently as an organizer of the new circuit.

Odeon Theatres of London, England, Jeffrey Bernerd, formerly with the Gaumont-British chain in England, Oscar Hanson, Toronto distributor and Mr. Nathanson's son Paul have likewise been reported active in forming the new group. Samuel Sanford McNairn, Toronto solicitor, acquired the charter for the corporation, described as a private company with 50,000 shares of stock at no par value, and is representing it in the leasing and purchase of theatres. Identity of the backers should be revealed by March 30th, by which date all Canadian firms must file annual reports.

In New York Paramount home office executives admitted they had heard that Mr. Nathanson or his associates were acquiring theatres throughout Canada. No comment on the renewal in June of his contract as head of Famous Players Canadian was forthcoming.

Four in Vancouver

Four important Vancouver theatres were taken over by Odeon last month. They are the Plaza and Paradise, downtown first run houses acquired from Jake Dawson; the suburban Dunbar, operated in Point Grey by J. Howard Boothe, and the Vogue theatre, new downtown house under construction by Vested Estates, Ltd. Odeon of Canada has also taken over eight other western Dominion theatres, one in Toronto, and he purchased a site for a new house in Kingston, Ont.

Negotiations for houses in Montreal, Ottawa and Quebec are reported, and Nat Taylor, an officer of Independent Theatre Owners Association of Ontario, is said to have received an offer for his newly-developed Twentieth Century Theatres, Ltd., an unaffiliated chain. William J. Long, former Edmonton operator, represents Odeon in British Columbia and will be assisted by Mr. Boothe, whose Dunbar theatre the chain acquired in Vancouver.

At Kingston, Ontario, H. G. Duerr, Toronto architect, announced the acquisition of a site for a new first-run house to be constructed by Odeon. The names of Harry Weedon, Birmingham architect and designer of many British Odeon theatres, and Richard Ford, British Odeon official, were used to link the new Canadian company with Odeon of England. Both officials have visited Canada within the past two years and surveyed the possibilities of independent chain operation.

In London, officials of Odeon said they had no knowledge of an expansion of the firm's activities to Canada. Oscar Deutsch, general manager of the circuit, is ill, and there was no formal confirmation or denial of a link with Canadian Odeon. Jeffrey Bernerd, director and general manager of Gaumont-British Distributors, was linked with the Canadian circuit in view of his recent visit to the United States and Canada and extensive conferences with Mr. Nathanson.

This month Famous Players Canadian Corporation will pay a quarterly dividend of 25 cents per share on all common shares of stock held without nominal or par value. The dividend will be paid on Saturday, March 29th, to shareholders of record as of Saturday, March 15th. The dividend was announced by Mr. Nathanson, who has been president of the corporation since 1933. Previously he had resigned as managing director in September, 1929 after a long association with the firm in whose development he had played a dominating factor.

New Booking Combine

Independent theatre operators in Ontario have joined in the formation of a new cooperative booking syndicate to be known as the Consolidated Theatres Association, with headquarters in Toronto. It is the second independent purchasing group to be set up in the Toronto area. Exhibitors Booking Association was formed previously with Nat Taylor as general manager. The four Toronto circuits and all most all of the Ontario independents are now buying product through one of the purchasing combines.

Officers of the Consolidated Theatres Association include: Morris Weiss, Colony Theatre, president; B. Boldhar, Paramount Theatre, vice-president; Gus Soloway, Bloordale Theatre, treasurer; Hary Romberg, Metro Theatre, secretary, and Harry S. Dahn, general manager.

The Canadian Government will collect another amusement tax of five per cent on amusement tickets throughout the Dominion effective April 1st, it was announced at Toronto this week. Exhibitors will be required to pay the new levy on monthly box-office totals without the use of special tax tickets. The national tax is in addition to assessments levied by all provincial governments, with the exception of Ontario. It is expected that the levy will add an extra $2,000,000 a year to the Federal income.

The Ontario Board of Moving Picture Censors viewed a total of 497 feature films during 1940 it was reported in Toronto. The figures include only films with dialogue in the English language. Despite the war, 42 of the pictures were imported from Great Britain, while 455 of the feature titles were made in the United States. The percentage of foreign films, other than British was classed as negligible. French features continued to be examined in the Province of Quebec under a reciprocal agreement with the Ontario censors.

The director of information of the Canadian Government during 1940 spent $202,672 for the coordination of radio and motion picture services and to provide factual and reference material on the nation's defense effort, consultation among the Canadian Association of Broadcasters, and the production of official films through the National Film Board.

War Stimulates Industry

Despite the handicap of war and a sparcely settled country, the total of whose easy-going inhabitants is less than the population of New York State, Canada's radio and film industries are continuing their efforts to extend their coverage to bring efficient service to all parts of the vast territory of the nine provinces.

Radio, through the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, has improved immeasurably, and while outstanding popular programs heard in Canada are still piped from the U.S.A., domestic product is making a new bid for recognition.

Canada, unlike other Dominions, has no great film industry of its own, and only since the start of the war, when Canadian film heads realized the role the motion picture was to play in propaganda, has the government-sponsored short subject shown signs of improvement. The war and propaganda has forced film and radio principals to endorse more spending, in consequence of which there is increased activity in both industries.

Before hostilities began, the Canadian Film Board, borrowed from England John Grierson, producer-member of the British Government Advisory Council, who came to Canada in the fall of 1938 "for a stay of a few months."

Today Canadian films, while yet limited to the field of the short subject, stand comparison with any similar product. Propaganda shorts such as "Peoples of Canada," "Guards of the North," and many others, including the latest Film Board short, "Everywhere in the World," are no longer presented with apologies. They have artistic merit, stand on their own feet, provide entertainment, and at the same time effectively accomplish the propaganda end for which they were devised.

Success of an early experiment in Montreal with War Savings Stamps and the film, have prompted at least one other local house, Montreal's Snowdon theatre, to stage a patriotic film program, with Stamps being sold from the box-office as admission fee. Shortly after the war began, Canadian film houses united to set an example in the sale of the War Savings Stamps. The experiment was a success. Patrons were satisfied with the program they purchased, and both they and managers indicated willingness to participate again in such a campaign. The Snowdon, among the most elaborate and modern of the United Amusement Co. houses, has requested that the Film Board supply special features to supplement an All-British program for use in a Savings Stamp drive.

CANADA DROPS BLACKOUT ORDERS

Blackout tests in Toronto were abandoned this week and arrangements with local exhibitors to meet the situation with early screenings and other changes were tabled. Representatives of the Ontario government, the Dominion government, Toronto War Savings Committee and the Municipal Council could not agree on plans for the blackout experiment and the whole scheme was dropped. Theatres had agreed to close during the blackout and distribute pass-out checks to patrons, redeemable at subsequent shows.

Canadian exhibitors in the western provinces will face the problem of Daylight Saving Time for the duration of the war, it was indicated at Toronto this week by C. D. Howe, Minister of Munitions. It is now in effect in the East.

MPTOA Warns on First Buying Under Decree

A "news letter" on the industry's problems of the day sent out Tuesday by the Motion Picture Theatre Owners of America from its New York Headquarters, over the signature of Edward L. Kuykendall, president, warns exhibitors on the need for careful bargaining over the first "block of five" features under the decree.

Warning against "professional and amateur advisors on consent decree procedure," the bulletin urges exhibitors to consult local arbitration clerks and to follow arbitration news closely in "the more responsible trade papers." Any exhibitor is liable to be on the receiving end of an arbitration complaint, Mr. Kuykendall writes, and urges all theatre men to keep themselves informed on the subject.

Urged to Follow News

"Leading trade papers," he said, "are in a position to supply this information promptly and accurately to any and all exhibitors interested in the arbitration development. This is most important and should be followed closely by exhibitors, even if you do not intend to file a complaint yourself. Through these trade paper reports you will know just how it operates, what official rulings are made, what sort of decisions are rendered, the interpretations of the arbitrators and of the Appeals Board of what the consent decree and its special rules of arbitration require, and what you yourself can expect from the arbitration system."

Costs of the arbitration machinery eventually will be passed on to the theatre owner, the MPTOA asserts, and sales managers are currently thinking of "greatly increased rentals for next season's product." The price paid for pictures in the first block of five is likely to establish a precedent for the entire year, the letter says, and will test the exhibitor's ability as a film buyer. Exhibitors will need good product at the price it is worth, Mr. Kuykendall writes, but they "may have to get tough to prevent a precedent being established for excessive prices." He warns that distributors may hold top pictures for this season for inclusion in their first blocks of five.

The letter notes, however, that the complexity of trade problems and recent litigation "seems to have sobered the distributors and brought a somewhat more sympathetic attitude toward the problems of the small independent exhibitor." It recommends an effort to settle disputes by direct discussion with branch managers before resorting to "the expense and uncertainties of arbitration or legal action."

Organized mediation through national and local exhibitor combines is likewise recommended as "the simplest, quickest and least expensive method" of adjusting disputes when direct negotiation fails. Many local exhibitor organizations have thus settled disputes for their members, informally but effectively, for many years.

Progressive management, to meet changes in national economy, and to provide "an uninterrupted supply of wholesome entertainment and mental relaxation during the disturbing and critical times ahead" rather than trade practice disputes, will be the main concern of exhibitors, Mr. Kuykendall predicts. He warns that taxes are going up, that defense industry and army training will cause serious population shifts, and that the cost of theatre construction and repairs will be materially increased.

National Decency Legion Classifies Nine Films

Of the nine films classified by the National Legion of Decency in its listing for the current week six were unobjectionable for general patronage, two were found to be unobjectionable for adults, and one was classified as objectionable in part. The pictures and their classifications follow:

Class A-1, Unobjectionable for General Patronage: "Footlight Fever," "Meet Boston Blackie," "Melody for Three," "Nice Girl?" "Outlaws of the Rio Grande" and "Prairie Pioneers." Class A-2, Unobjectionable for Adults: "Free and Easy" and "Road to Zanzibar." Class B, Objectionable in Part: "The Lady Eve."

Theatre Construction Plans in Connecticut

Spring construction and repairs have started in Connecticut. Joseph Faith, operator of the Unionville, Collinsville and Terryville, will open his new 650-seat Carberry theatre in Bristol, Conn., converted from a large hall, shortly. Peter Perakos and Joseph Quittner, are building a 1,000-seat house in East Hartford, Conn. Fred Quatrano, co-operator of the Lido theatre in Waterbury, is proceeding with a 700-seat house to be constructed in Newington, Conn., a town without a theatre at present.

The Strand Amusement Co., operator of Bridgeport neighborhood houses will remodel the 700-seat Strand-Palace, built in 1912. Michael Day will remodel his 700-seat Plainfield theatre and Philip Schwartz, operator of the Parkway in Bridgeport, will enlarge and renovate the theatre.

Schenck, Moskowitz Tax Trial Starts in New York

Joseph M. Schenck, chairman of the board of Twentieth Century-Fox Film Corporation, and Joseph H. Moskowitz, New York, Fox executive, went on trial in Federal Court in New York on Wednesday on income tax charges before Federal Judge Grover M. Moscowitz.

Plan Greek Relief Exhibit

P. S. Harrison, publisher of Harrison's Reports and publicity director for the Greek War Relief Association, was to complete plans this week for an International Cartoon exhibit. More than 800 cartoonists have been invited to submit drawings. The pictures may be auctioned or sent on a tour of key cities. John McGrail, formerly with the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America and Fox, is in charge of arrangements.

Wakefield Named to FCC

Ray C. Wakefield, Republican member of the California Railroad Commission, was named by President Roosevelt Wednesday as successor to the late Thad H. Brown as a member of the Federal Communications Commission for the term ending June 30, 1947.

Guaranteed Gets Condor Films

Guaranteed Pictures Co., Inc., has acquired the exclusive distribution rights to 11 Condor productions, formerly released through Grand National. The pictures include three in natural color, six action melodramas and two Ken Maynard westerns.

Role of Films in Defense Debated on 'Town Hall'

The question "How Should the Movies Aid Defense" was discussed Thursday of last week on a national broadcast of the "Town Meeting of the Air" from the Philharmonic Auditorium in Los Angeles. Participants were Walter Wanger, president of Walter Wanger Productions, Inc.; Donald Ogden Stewart, writer; Rosalind Russell, actress, and Manchester Boddy, Hollywood columnist.

Mr. Wanger and Mr. Stewart advocated greater use of films with "messages." Miss Russell and Mr. Boddy proposed that national defense information be portrayed in short subjects and kept out of features.

Urges "Wider Scope"

Mr. Wanger set the keynote: "The question we are discussing is not whether the movies should aid in national defense, but how they should do so." On the purpose of pictures Mr. Wanger said: "I want the movies to continue to entertain the American public. . . . Entertainment is as necessary to national morale as gunpowder is to national armament. If the movies can make people laugh and cry, why can't they also make people think?"

Mr. Wanger proceeded to outline a four-point program: "(1) Newsreels to continue to give us a realistic picture of the world in which we live; (2) the movies to cooperate to the full, as they are now doing; (3) Hollywood should make more pictures about North and South America, about America's history and its enduring traditions; and, (4) motion pictures should widen their scope and their vision when they dramatize our contemporary life."

About 350 pictures were made last year in Hollywood and fewer than 10 of these pictures departed from the usual Western romances and boy-meets-girl story, Mr. Wanger said.

"Motion pictures," he concluded, "like the press, or the church, or the school, must help enlighten those who need to know. Motion pictures must present the story of America today, of vigorous, aroused democracy with a will to survive and a will to fight for its freedom."

Mr. Stewart said: "If the movies are to aim at being a democratic art, they must aim at portraying the American scene in all of its dramatic and beautiful and terrifying aspects." He appealed for pictures that would give the poor man "the real expression of his problems and the deep understanding of his struggle against life."

The first opposition speaker was Miss Russell, who proposed a mathematical balance between entertainment and defense films: "It seems to me the motion picture program can be divided into two distinct parts for two distinct services—80 per cent for entertainment, 20 per cent for information and education." She also remarked: "May I suggest that now is not the time for the motion picture industry to become hysterical and confused? It is not the time for Hollywood to go Hollywood."

Mr. Boddy pointed out that the Italian and German governments decided to control the motion picture industry and use it for their own purposes.

"Censorship of the movies carried to the extent now widely advocated in the name of national defense would reduce motion pictures to the status of an animated Congressional Record. It would not advance the cause of national defense," Mr. Boddy commented.

It's

ROUGH

ROWDY

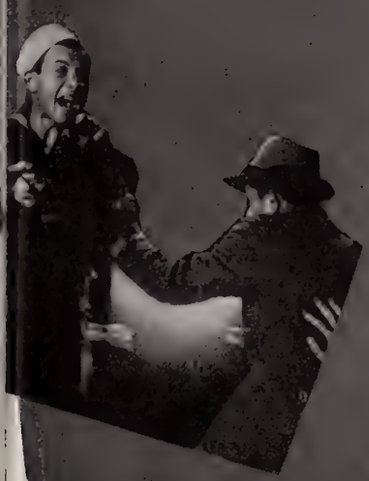
and

ROMANTIC

THE BIG SURPRISE OF ALL LAUGH SENSATIONS . . . .

A GIRL A GUY and A GOB

HAROLD LLOYD'S bombshell of laugh dynamite!...All about the sailor's sweetie who drove the navy nutty!...It's FUN from the FLEET—and you get it while the angle's HOT!...Spectacular two-ocean world premiere at San Francisco's Golden Gate Theatre to launch the screen's big all-out comedy smash!



WITH

GEORGE MURPHY
LUCILLE BALL
EDMOND O'BRIEN

HENRY TRAVERS · FRANKLIN PANGBORN

Directed by RICHARD WALLACE

Screen play by Frank Ryan and Bert Granet

RKO RADIO PICTURES

Produced by

HAROLD LLOYD

SHOWMEN'S REVIEWS

This department deals with new product from the point of view of the exhibitor who is to purvey it to his own public.

A Girl, a Guy and a Gob

(RKO Radio)

Comedy a la Harold Lloyd

The return of Harold Lloyd to activity in the scene of his glory, this time as producer instead of a star, shared top billing with the 13th annual awarding of Oscars by the Motion Picture Academy of Arts and Sciences among events of last week in Hollywood. Previewed under conditions the Southern California weather bureau flatly denied in hourly bulletins, and to a press on rebound from the Academy's all-out celebration of the night and morning before, the first Harold Lloyd comedy for RKO-Radio made a turnout of wet and weary critics, correspondents and townspeople happy as so many meadowlarks chirruping in the sun. It was the trick of the week and the picture of the same.

It is long enough since the days when every Lloyd feature set a new high in comedy, which era preceded that latter one when his sun appeared to be setting, so that many or most had forgotten just what it was that made the Lloyd comedies so funny. It was easy to remember the horn-rimmed spectacles, the boyish behavior, and of course the chases, but not so easy to recall, if indeed it had been noted at the time, the Lloyd knack of building up to a laugh and then building a rising structure of laughs on top of that one, not by mere reiteration of point but by development and adornment and decoration, by contrast and offset and surprise. All this came flooding back to memory as the producer sent his players through sequence after sequence, scene after scene, planned and executed as were those in the pictures that made Lloyd's a magic name.

The film which returns the Lloyd talent to the service of the entertainment box office is about a girl who thinks she's in love with a sailor but finds out in time that her affections belong to her boss. The things the three of them do in the meanwhile are things which people like them could and might do, and there are people like them. The sailor is a wrestler on the side. The girl is a competent secretary whose family is made up of eccentrics recalling the family in "You Can't Take It With You." Her boss is a stuffed shirt who gets pulled and pushed around by these two until the starch dissolves.

Incidents include a number of street fights, a ballroom interlude that provides opportunity for some dancing without stopping the story, hilarious episodes in the home of the heroine's family and a chase, in the Lloyd manner, that is different from all other manners of chase, wherein taxicab pursues motorcycle.

Possibly more sharply to be recalled as identifying the picture with the Lloyd tradition than any other quality of it is the wholesomeness of humour and incident throughout.

George Murphy as the gob, Lucille Ball as the girl and Edmond O'Brien as the guy turn in performances that never miss a stitch. Their support functions with equivalent success. Direction by Richard Wallace makes of every minute a treat for customers who are in the market for laughs.

Previewed at the Alexander theatre, Glendale, which was virtually afloat at peak of an all-day downpour that would have submerged Florida, the picture hit like a thunderbolt.—WILLIAM R. WEAVER Produced by Harold Lloyd. Distributed by RKO-Radio. Directed by Richard Wallace. Photographed by Russell Metty. Edited by George Crone. P.C.A. Certificate No. 6726. Release date, February 14, 1941. Running time, when seen in Glendale, 91 minutes. General audience classification.

CAST

Coffee Cup	George Murphy
Dot Duncan	Lucille Ball
Stephen Herrick	Edmond O'Brien
Abel Martin	Henry Travers
Pet Shop Owner	Franklin Pangborn
Pokey	George Cleveland
Jawme	Kathleen Howard
Cecilia Grange	Marguerite Chapman
Pigeon	Lloyd Corrigan
Cora	Mady Correll
Pankington	Frank McGlynn
Eddie (Growing Sailor)	Doodles Weaver
Salty (Sailor)	Frank Sully
Mrs. Grange	Nella Walker
Recruiting Officer	Richard Lane
Mrs. Merney	Irving Bacon
Ivory (Sailor)	Rube Demarest

That Night in Rio

(Twentieth Century-Fox)

Musical Comedy a la Rio

An eye-filling and ear-filling musical comedy extravaganza, "That Night in Rio" is lavish entertainment stemming from the same root that brought forth "Lillian Russell" and "Alexander's Ragtime Band," differing from them in locale and theme and additionally flowered by sweeping color, but presenting, as the other two did, Alice Faye and Don Ameche in the top spots. Where the previous vehicles were of a past day, this is ultra-modern Pan-Americanism.

The Latin influence currently so prevalent in the dance is represented in the person of Carmen Miranda, ably. Senorita Miranda, well known to New York's night club following, performs in a manner to confirm all that has been heard of her vitality and sense of rhythm. Her orchestra, the Banda Da Lua, also demonstrates "the South American Way."

There is more of a story than is usual in musicals, the plot being thematically a comedy of errors and bordering on the risque side of the ledger. Ameche plays the dual role of "Larry Martin," an American singer and actor, and "Baron Duarte," a person of note in those parts. The "Baron" has a controlling interest in an airline that is about to fold up, so to obtain a loan he planes off to Buenos Aires for a day. It is during that day that "Larry" is persuaded to impersonate the "Baron"—finding the job much to his liking when it comes to making love to the "Baroness" (Alice Faye). The comedy of errors results when the "Baroness" is confused as to which is which the morning following.

In comedy roles are the "Baron's" two inseparable business partners, played by S. Z. Sakall and Curt Bois. They are collectively funny, dashing madly about, protecting their business interests and straightening out the double Baron situation, which they had caused. J. Carrol Naish is "Machado," a business rival of the "Baron's," also confused by the real and fake "Baron." Leonid Kinskey is "Pierre," an admirer of the "Baroness," who becomes highly indignant when the "Baron," this time the impersonator, begins to show marked attention to the "Baroness."

The music is definitely in the Latin vein and pleasing. Composed by the team of Mack Gordon and Harry Warren the songs are "I'yi, Yi, Yi" (I Like You Very Much), "Chica, Chica, Boom, Chic," "Boa Noite" (Good Night), "They Met in Rio" and "The Baron Is in Conference." They are about equally distributed among the principals, Miss Faye, Ameche and Miranda. The dances, staged by Hermes Pan, and especially the opening number in which Miranda is featured, are on the eye-pleasing side. In fact all the production values are top-notch, including and emphasizing the color which out-rainbows a rainbow.

Reviewed at the Twentieth Century-Fox theatre projection room in New York. A morning audience expressed appreciation of the film by applauding at the end.—PAUL C. MOONEY, JR.

Produced and distributed by Twentieth Century-Fox. Directed by Irving Cummings. Associate producer, Fred Kohlmar. Based on a play by Rudolph Lothar and Hans Adler. Dances staged by Hermes Pan. Music by Mack Gordon and Harry Warren. Directors of photography, Leon Shamroy and Ray Rennahan. Technicolor director, Natalie Kalmus. Associate, Morgan Padelford. Musical direction, Alfred Newman. Art direction, Richard Day and Joseph C. Wright. Editor, Walter Thompson. Costumes, Travis Banton. Sound, W. D. Flick and Roger Heman. P. C. A. Certificate No. 6905. Running time, 90 minutes. Release date, April 11, 1941. Adult audience classification.

CAST

Baroness	Alice Faye
Larry Martin, Baron Duarte	Don Ameche
Carmen	Carmen Miranda
Penna	S. Z. Sakall
Machado	J. Carrol Naish
Salles	Curt Bois
Pierre	Leonid Kinskey
The Banda Da Lua	Carmen Miranda's Orchestra
Pedro	Frank Puglia
Luiza	Lillian Porter
Inez	Maria Montez
Ambassador	Georges Renavant
Alfonso	Edward Conrad
Pereira	Fortunio Bonanova
Specialty Trio	Flores Brothers

Rage in Heaven

(MGM)

Study in Paranoia

Prepared and presented with all the precision and documentation of a psychiatrist's case-history for psychology class or court of law, this study in paranoia is developed in such manner as to generate, despite its emphasis on the aberrations of its hero, that suspense and tension which always accompanies the search for evidence that will save the innocent from the gallows. The film thus combines appeal to intellect with material for devotees of the melodramatic, handling the equations in both departments with skill and effectiveness.

Robert Montgomery plays the psychopathic case, victim of an inferiority complex which takes suicidal direction, in a manner recalling his performance in "Night Must Fall." Ingrid Bergman enacts the wife whose happiness he wrecks by his jealousy, misunderstanding and persecution. George Sanders is seen as their friend whose efforts to convince the husband that his fears and suspicions are without grounds are no match for the maniac's malady. Oscar Homolka's portrayal of the psychologist whose diagnosis of the victim's psychosis leads to the solution of the supposed murder and liberation of the accused, highlights a production keyed in monotone for purpose of explicitness.

The time is 1936, the place England, but there is no war or talk of war in the film. Production by Gottfried Reinhardt and direction by W. S. Van Dyke II are achievements in clarity and coherence with a subject laymen are not, on the average, versed in, and children will not comprehend.

Previewed at studio.—W. R. W.

Produced and distributed by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. Director, W. S. Van Dyke II. Producer, Gottfried Reinhardt. Based on the novel by James Hilton. Director of photography, Oliver T. Marsh. Musical score, Bronislau Kaper. Recording director, Douglas Shearer. Art director, Cedric Gibbons. Associate, Eddie Imazu. Set decorations, Edwin B. Willis. Gowns, Adrian. Film editor, Harold F. Kress. P. C. A. Certificate, No. 7058. Release date, March 7, 1941. Running time, 18 minutes. Adult audience classification.

CAST

Philip Monreel ..... Robert Montgomery
Stella Bergen ..... Ingrid Bergman
Ward Andrews ..... George Sanders
Mrs. Monrell ..... Lucile Watson
Dr. Rameau ..... Oscar Homolka
Mr. Higgins ..... Philip Merivale
Ramsbotham ..... Matthew Boulton
Clark ..... Aubrey Mather
Solicitor-General ..... Frederic Worlock
Bardsley ..... Francis Compton
Mr. Black ..... Gilbert Emery
Durand ..... Ludwig Hart

Melody for Three

(RKO: Stephens-Lang)

Human Interest Story

"Melody for Three," sixth of the "Dr. Christian" pictures Stephens-Lang is producing for RKO release, constitutes, from all angles, the best of the lot. It is a combination of human interest, pathos and comedy laid against a story background of classical music. With Jean Hersholt again as "Dr. Christian," and Maude Eburne in the role of his housekeeper, the film presents a most promising "find"—13-year-old violinist Schuyler Standish, who plays with rare feeling.

Others in the cast are Fay Wray, Walter Woolf King, Patsy Lee Parsons, Astrid Allwyn, Irene Ryan, Donnie Allen, Leon Tyler, Andrew Tombes, Irene Shirley and Alexander Leftwich.

William Stephens, the producer, has turned out what promises to be, in exhibition jargon, a "sleeper."

The story deals with a boy brought up by his mother to be unaware of his father's identity. An airplane accident brings the father and the mother, now divorced, together. Still in love with each other, they part after a misunderstanding. "Dr. Christian" brings about a complete reconciliation of the family, the boy, a violinist, making his professional debut under the baton of his father, a distinguished conductor.

Erle C. Kenton directed.

Previewed in a Hollywood projection room.—V. K.

Produced by Stephens-Lang for RKO release. William Stephens, producer. Directed by Erle C. Kenton. Photographed by John Alton. Assistant director, Glenn Cook. Art director, Bernard Herzbrun. Edited by Edward Mann. Music by Constantin Bakaleinikoff. P.C.A. Certificate No. 6972. Running time, when seen in Hollywood, 67 minutes. General audience classification.

CAST

Dr. Christian.....Jean Hersholt
Mary Stanley.....Fay Wray
Antoine Pirelle.....Walter Woolf King
Billy Stanley.....Schuyler Standish
Nancy Higby.....Patsy Lee Parsons
Mrs. Hastings.....Maude Eburne
Gladys McClellan.....Astrid Allwyn
Mrs. Higby.....Irene Ryan
Red Bates.....Donnie Allen
Clarence .....Leon Tyler
Mickey .....Andrew Tombes
Mrs. Mitchell.....Irene Shirley
Mr. Simpson.....Alexander Leftwich

Footsteps in the Dark

(Warners)

Comedy

Treating of amateur detectives as exponents of brilliancy in ferreting out criminals in comparison to the regular police force, portrayed as slow witted and heavy footed, Warners' "Footsteps in the Dark" presents Errol Flynn in a light, modern comedy, his first since "The Perfect Specimen."

The result is a combination of some of the elements of the "Thin Man," "Saint," "Charlie Chan," "Mr. Moto," "Nick Carter" pictures, but told with a tongue-in-cheek attitude. A wealthy investment counselor writes detective stories on the side, and takes part in murder investigations. When a diamond smuggler is found dead, he jumps to the conclusion that it is murder and proceeds to probe further. A burlesque queen is murdered, domestic relations of the amateur detective are endangered, and the climax is reached after various comic interludes.

Supporting the star are Brenda Marshall, Ralph Bellamy, Alan Hale, Lee Patrick, Allen Jenkins, Lucile Watson, William Frawley, Roscoe Karns, Grant Mitchell, Marix Wrixon, Noel Madison, Jack LaRue and Turhan Bey.

The film seems slow moving, due to the lack of action, almost all of the comedy being based on situation and dialogue. Lloyd Bacon directed under associate producer Robert Lord.

Previewed at a "sneak press preview" showing at the Alexander Theatre, Glendale, where the audience gave every indication of enjoying it thoroughly as a light offering. The ending leaves open the possibility of making it the start of a series.—V. K.

Produced and distributed by Warner Bros. Executive producer, Hal B. Wallis. Associate producer, Robert Lord. Directed by Lloyd Bacon. From the play by Lazlo Fodor, Bernard Merivale and Jeffrey Dell. Photographed by Ernie Haller. Art director, Max Parker. Edited by Owen Marks. Assistant director, Richard Mayberry. P.C.A. Certificate No. 6780. Running time, when seen in Glendale, 93 minutes. Release date, March 8, 1941. General audience classification.

CAST

Francis Warren.....Errol Flynn
Rita Warren.....Brenda Marshall
Dr. Davis.....Ralph Bellamy
Inspector Mason.....Alan Hale
Blondie White.....Lee Patrick
Wilfred .....Allen Jenkins
Mrs. Archer.....Lucile Watson
Hopkins .....William Frawley
Monahan .....Roscoe Karns
Carruthers .....Grant Mitchell
June Brewster.....Maris Wrixon
Fissue .....Noel Madison

Meet Boston Blackie

(Columbia)

Spy Melodrama

"Boston Blackie," the rogue of the "Get-Rich-Quick Wallingford" stories created by Jack Boyle, returns to the screen in another series of pictures of which this is the first. With Chester Morris in the title role, supported by Rochelle Hudson and Charles Wagenheim, the treatment is swift paced and sprightly.

With the hoopla of Coney Island sideshows for background and a spy hunt for plot, the story has "Boston Blackie" implicated in two murders. In an effort to clear his name he uncovers a spy ring plotting to steal one of the country's defense secrets. Working without aid of the local police because of his unsavory reputation, but with the help of his side-kick, "Runt," "Blackie" has adventure ranging from eluding the police, who suspect him of the murders to tracking down and exposing the criminals.

Produced by Ralph Cohn and directed by Robert Florey, the picture is handled throughout with the theme of adventure uppermost and the romantic and comedy angles secondary. Supporting the three featured players are Richard Lane as the police inspector continually hampering the criminal revelations, and Constance Worth as the suspected murderess who eventually meets violent death.

Reviewed at the Rialto theatre in New York attended for the most part by men at a noontime screening. Throughout, the audience watched with interest the developments of the plot.—George Spires.

Produced and distributed by Columbia Pictures. Ralph Cohn, associate producer. Directed by Robert Florey. Based on characters created by Jack Boyle. Assistant director, Milton Carter. Director of photography, Franz F. Planer, A. S. C. Film editor, James Sweeney. Sound engineer, George Cooper. P. C. A. Certificate, No. 7045. Release date, February 20, 1941. Running time, 61 minutes. General audience classification.

CAST

Boston Blackie.....Chester Morris
Cecilia Bradley ..... Rochelle Hudson
Inspector Faraday ..... Richard Lane
The Runt ..... Charles Wagenheim
Marilyn Howard ..... Constance Worth
Monk ..... Jack O'Malley
Georgie ..... George Magrill

Here Comes Happiness

(Warner Brothers)

Humanizing an Heiress

At the start of this divertisement, the heroine, a young lady from the upper social strata who is about to become engaged to a monied mate chaser, poses a philosophical query as to what constitutes the elements of mortal happiness. She abandons her socialite boy friend and begins to get an inkling of what constitutes the happy life when she sets up quarters in a Bronx boarding house, meets a nice looking sand blaster by trade, and joins him in making the rounds of Coney Island.

The gilt edged past of the slumming young lady casts its "never the twain shall meet" shadow over her masquerade. Her laborer boy friend wants to go into business for himself and she wheedles a fat check from her plutocratic parent in order to set the gentleman up in his trade. He thinks the worst and they quarrel. The girl returns home, and for a time it looks as if she will contract a loveless alliance with the heiress seeker, but her father, who never lost his democratic touch with life after he struck it rich as a mining prospector, scares off the cash seeking groom with faked news of a financial loss and substitutes as a matrimonial prospect the plain but poor young man.

Mildred Coles, who bears a non-coincidental resemblance to a former promising ingenue find, Jane Bryan, who forsook the screen for domesticity, and Edward Norris assume the boy and girl leads. Richard Ainley, as the dollar and cents romance promoter, Russell Hicks, as the match maker parent, Marjorie Gateson, as his social climber wife and Edward Gargan, as the family chauffeur, contribute supporting assistance to the principals. The direction of the picture has been credited to Noel M. Smith with Jack L. Warner in charge of production.

Previewed in New York.—Joseph F. Coughlin.

Produced and distributed by Warner Brothers. Jack L. Warner in charge of production. Director, Noel M. Smith. From a story by Harry Sauber. Associate producer, William Jacobs. Director of photography, James Van Trees. Art director, Ted Smith. Dialogue director, Frank Fox. Film editor, Harold McLernon. Gowns, Howard Shoup. Sound, Stanley Jones. Makeup, Perc Westmore. P. C. A. Certificate No. 6951. Release date, March 15, 1941. Running time, 58 minutes. General audience classification.

CAST

Jessica Vance.....Mildred Coles
Chet Madden.....Edward Norris
Jelliffe Blaine.....Richard Ainley
John Vance.....Russell Hicks
Emily Vance.....Marjorie Gateson
Jim .....John Ridgely
Bill .....Eddie Acuff
Peg .....Lucia Carroll
Flo .....Helen Lynd
Clara .....Marie Blake
Joe .....Edward Gargan
Mrs. James.....Vera Lewis
Tom Burke.....Joseph Crehan
Miss Barnes.....Ann Edmonds
Best Man.....De Wolf Hopper

This England

(British National - Anglo-American)

Chronicle

Tuned to the patriotic mood of the moment, aiming to use the theme of invasion as the key to national pride, this episodal essay in history and romance embraces an ambitious canvas, sets its stories—each unified by the central idea—in four epochs, the Norman invasion, the Spanish Armada, the Napoleonic Era and the twentieth century. It is one of those instances, however, where the canvas is more ambitious than the palette; probably producers and director can be pardoned for failing adequately to compress the story or the spirit of the British nation into 8,000 feet of celluloid.

The recurrent theme is that whoever assails the land of Britain merely succeeds in cementing the landowner, the peasantry and the laboring classes. The Norman wants trees for road and gets a revolt. When the Armada sails the laborers help the farmer keep his land—

(Continued on page 40)

THE TWO ACADEMY

TOGA

Ginger Rogers, best performance by an actress..in "Kitty Foyle."

GINGER ROGERS

Vivaci

RKO RADIO PICTURES

PANDRO S. BERMAN
IN CHARGE OF PRODUCTION

with JAMES ELLISON · BEULA

NEW PRINTS: NEW ADS: NEW AC

AWARD WINNERS

THER!

James Stewart, best performance by an actor..in "The Philadelphi Story."

JAMES STEWART

us Lady

NDI · CHARLES COBURN

A GEORGE STEVENS PRODUCTION

Screen Play by P. J. Wolfson and Ernest Pagano

NATIONAL RELEASE DATE MARCH 28

SSORIES: FOR A NEW CLEANUP!

SHOWMEN'S REVIEWS OF PRODUCT

(Continued from page 37)

and cut timber for ships. Bonaparte threatens the country—and the farmer still sticks to his furrows. In 1918 he is blind—but still speeds the plow. In 1941 a stiff upper lip and a quotation from Shakespeare indicate the patriotic fervor is no less fervent.

Through all this pageant the village of Rookeby remains intact save when a Nazi bomber destroys the forge. John Clements is the farmer adown the ages, Constance Cummings his wife, Emlyn Williams a recurrent villager. From minstrel gallery and dungeon, doublet and hose, through ruffs and knee breeches, Tudor timbers and alarum beacons to nineteenth century coaches and snuffboxes, to the A. R. P. Warden and the air raid shelter, the pageant unfolds itself, its changing costumes and stable scene eking out the interest.

There is little subtle or imaginative about the treatment and the development seems to lack melodramatic climaxes. But the spirit of the stuff is ardent and here and there a flash of patriotic hyperbole will stir the natives.

The subject lends itself to exploitation on this side of the Atlantic—especially at the present time.

Previewed in London to a trade audience, the film provoked some applause at the close.—AUBREY FLANAGAN.

A British National Picture. Distributed by Anglo-American Film Co. Directed by David Macdonald. Produced by John Corfield. Associate producer, Richard Vernon. Original story and screen play by A. R. Rawlinson and Bridget Boland. Dialogue by Emlyn Williams. Settings by Duncan Sutherland. Music composed by Richard Addinsell, conducted by Muir Matheson. Camera, Mutz Greenbaum. Sound, Harold King. Running time, when seen in London, 85 minutes. General audience classification.

CAST

Emlyn Williams, John Clements, Constance Cummings, Frank Pettingell, Esmond Knight, Roland Culver, Morland Graham, Leslie French, Martin Walker, Ronald Ward, James Harcourt, Walter Fitzgerald, Dennis Wyndham, Charles Victor, Amy Veness, William Humphries, Roddy McDowell.

The Great Train Robbery

(Republic)

Action Melodrama

Having no relation to the film of the same title produced by the Edison company in 1903, this relates not only the robbery of a gold shipment from a train but the theft of the train itself. Opening with a sequence in which the train and its cargo vanishes from the track, the camera reverts five hours and reconstructs the events leading up to the disappearance.

Directed by Joseph Kane, who was also associate producer, the film contains an abundance of action and adventure. Bob Steele, one of the company's western stars, doffs his cowboy regalia for conservative business clothes in his role of the railroad detective assigned to protect the gold shipment. Milburn Stone is seen as the wayward brother of Steele who successfully robs the train, while Claire Carleton is the girl loved by both brothers.

The story concerns the "Camanche," the crack train of the railroad which disappears after the crew including "Tom Logan," the railroad detective, are removed and the train is run off on a spur track into a deserted tunnel by a gang headed by "Duke Logan." Railroad officials are unable to locate the missing train until "Tom" with the aid of an old prospector uncover its whereabouts. Gun and fist fights, and automobile chases ensue.

Reviewed in the Republic projection room in New York at a screening for the trade press.—GEORGE SPIRES.

Produced and distributed by Republic. Associate producer and director, Joseph Kane. Production manager, Al Wilson. Photographed by Reggie Lanning. Supervising editor, Murray Seldeen. Film editor, Lester Orlebeck. Art director, John Victor Mackay. Musical director, Cy Feuer. Wardrobe by Adele Palmer. Running time, 61 minutes. P.C.A. Certificate number, 7073. Release date, February 28th, 1941. General audience classification.

CAST

Tom Logan.....Bob Steele
Kay Stevens.....Claire Carleton
Duke Logan.....Milburn Stone
Mrs. Logan.....Helen MacKellar
"Whiskers".....Si Jenks
The Super.....Monte Blue
Pierce.....Hal Taliaferro
Jones.....George Guhl
Santos.....Jay Novello
Gorman.....Dick Wessel
Klefner.....Yakima Canutt
Dad Halliday.....Lew Kelly
Barnsdale.....Guy Usher

Adventures of Captain Marvel

(Republic)

Serial

Based on the Whiz Comics magazine cartoon, "Adventures of Captain Marvel," is a serial of the land of fantasy especially designed and produced for juvenile patronage. Starring Tom Tyler as "Captain Marvel," who by special power is invincible and able to overcome all dangers and obstacles, the story concerns an expedition to a remote section of Siam seeking knowledge of an ancient Scorpion Dynasty. The expedition uncovers a complicated series of lenses which, properly focused, turns any solid object to gold. The lenses are divided among members of the party so that no one of them will have sole possession. A criminal gang sets out to steal the lenses. In the twelfth and final chapter the leader of the gang is uncovered and revealed as one of the expeditionary party. Supporting Tom Tyler are Frank Coghlan, Jr., William Benedict, Louise Currie, Robert Strange and Harry Worth. The serial will receive additional publicity and exploitation from Whiz Comic in full-page advertisements in the April, May and June issues of the magazine published by Fawcett publications. The first chapter runs 31 minutes with succeeding episodes two reels each.

SHORT PRODUCT PLAYING BROADWAY

Week of March 1

CAPITOL
- Respect the Law..... MGM
- Penny to the Rescue..... MGM
- Power for Defense..... U. S. Government
- Feature: Come, Live with Me. MGM

CRITERION
- Master of Cue..... Columbia
- Power for Defense..... U. S. Government
- Feature: The Mad Doctor... Paramount

MUSIC HALL
- Information Please, No. 5... RKO Radio
- Feature: So Ends Our Night. United Artists

PARAMOUNT
- My Pop, My Pop..... Paramount
- Power for Defense..... U. S. Government
- Feature: The Lady Eve..... Paramount

RIALTO
- Ali, the Giant Killer..... Columbia
- Jan Garber and Orchestra. Vitaphone
- Sea Scouts..... RKO Radio
- Feature: A Dangerous Game. Universal

RIVOLI
- Picture People, No. 5..... RKO Radio
- Mr. Mouse Takes a Trip.... RKO Radio
- Power for Defense..... U. S. Government
- Feature: Back Street..... Universal

ROXY
- The Home Guard..... 20th Cent.-Fox
- The Modern Highway..... 20th Cent.-Fox
- Sentinels of the Caribbean. 20th Cent.-Fox
- Power for Defense..... U. S. Government
- Feature: Tobacco Road..... 20th Cent.-Fox

STRAND
- Elmer's Pet Rabbit..... Vitaphone
- Points for Pointers..... Vitaphone
- Take the Air..... Vitaphone
- Power for Defense..... U. S. Government
- Feature: Strawberry Blonde.. First National

Men and Ships

(U. S. Maritime Commission)

Sailors in Training

Training facilities for officers and seamen in the merchant marine are pictorially explained in this newest Government documentary. Produced by George Gercke, former assistant to Pare Lorentz in the now defunct United States Film Service, and photographed by William Steiner, the two-reel subject has the finish and photographic quality which marked the longer "Plough That Broke the Plains" and "The River." Details of the training of ablebodied seamen and of cadet graduates of state merchant marine schools at Hoffman Island in New York Harbor, and of officer training in San Francisco harbor and in Florida on the school ships American Seaman and Joseph Conrad, are shown. The score, conducted by Alexander Smallens, who conducted the music for "The Plough" and "The River," is a symphonic background built on sea chanties.—Running time 22 minutes.

Color Short Says Food Is Defense, Too

From Washington, Friday, came an official United States Health Service report on a national premiere of a preparedness health picture entitled "Proof of the Pudding," with a showing at the Constitution Avenue auditorium. It is a 10-minute subject. The picture is to be made available to theatres in advance of subsequent non-theatrical distribution. It is a story of the significance of nutrition in its share in the national defense program, presented with professional theatrical documentary technique. It pertains to the new order of world strife in which the whole people, not just armies, are involved, done with the facilities and in the fashion of the motion picture industry's special skill—made by Paramount, supervised as to color by Natalie Kalmus, with the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company and the Federal Health Service as producers. The picture has had a pre-release run at the Music Hall in New York, denoting box office acceptance, winning there favorable review attention. Its style addresses it at a place on the entertainment program for today's war conscious audiences.

THE HOLLYWOOD SCENE

Down Some

Continuing rain did not impede studio activities this week, as nine pictures finished and the same number started, against the 11 completed and 10 begun last week. The same number, 42, were before the cameras.

Being prepared were 14, and 68 were being edited, respectively one and four less than in the week before.

The week's tabulation:

COMPLETED

COLUMBIA
She Knew All the Answers

PARAMOUNT
One Night in Lisbon
Kiss the Boys Goodbye

REPUBLIC
Mr. District Attorney
In Old Cheyenne

20TH-FOX
The Cowboy and the the Blonde

UNIVERSAL
Oh, Charlie
Double Date

WARNERS
The Nurse's Secret

STARTED

COLUMBIA
Naval Academy
Time Out for Rhythm

MGM
Washington Melodrama

PARAMOUNT
Night of January 16th

RKO
My Life with Caroline

REPUBLIC
Pals of the Pecos
Rookies on Parade
Lady from New Orleans

WARNERS
Underground

SHOOTING

COLUMBIA
Her First Beau
Senate Page Boys
Chain Gang

MGM
Billy the Kid
A Woman's Voice
Blossoms in the Dust
Love Crazy
Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde

MONOGRAM
Tumbledown Ranch in Arizona

PARAMOUNT
Caught in the Draft
Skylark
Pioneer Woman
Nurses Don't Tell
Hold Back the Dawn

RKO
Sunny
Before the Fact
Tom, Dick and Harry

REPUBLIC
Sis Hopkins
Two Gun Sheriff

20TH-FOX
Blood and Sand
The Great American Broadcast

UNIVERSAL
The Flame of New Orleans
Unfinished Business
Hit the Road
The Black Cat

WARNERS
The Bride Came C.O.D.
Affectionately Yours
Sergeant York
Three Sons O' Guns
Highway West
The Gentle People

One short subject was completed, although none were started.

Product Flow

The production graph, as indicated above, lost very little ground this week, with the major studios continuing full speed ahead on product.

Typical of the activity within Hollywood's sound stages was that at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer and Columbia, which between them had 17 features before the cameras or set to start.

Currently shooting at MGM are "A Woman's Face," starring Joan Crawford; "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," Spencer Tracy, Ingrid Bergman and Lana Turner starring production; "Love Crazy," co-starring William Powell and Myrna Loy; "The Uniform," which stars Clark Gable and Rosalind Russell; "Lady Be Good," with Eleanor Powell, Ann Sothern and Robert Young, and "Washington Melodrama," with Ann Rutherford, Frank Morgan and Kent Taylor.

Also shooting are two Technicolor films, "Blossoms in the Dust," starring Greer Garson, and "Billy the Kid," Robert Taylor western drama. Added scenes are being completed on "Ziegfeld Girl" and "The Bad Man." Slated to hit the sound stages within three weeks are the seventh in the "Dr. Kildare" series; a new "Tarzan" picture and "Step This Way," the forthcoming Marx Brothers comedy.

At Columbia, the season's production peak was reached this week, with seven features before the cameras or set to go within a week.

The seven are: "Chain Gang," with Otto Kruger, Gloria Dickson and John Litel; "Senate Page Boys," the Charles R. Rogers production starring Herbert Marshall and Virginia Bruce; "She Knew All the Answers," (formerly called "A Girl's Best Friend Is Wall Street") starring Franchot Tone and Joan Bennett; "They Dare Not Love," with George Brent and Martha Scott; "Her First Beau," teaming Jackie Cooper and Jane Withers, for which director Theodore Reed was borrowed from Paramount.

Also, "Show Business," starring Rudy Vallee, Ann Miller and Rosemary Lane, and featuring Glen Gray and his Casa Loma band, and "Under Age," with Nan Grey and Alan Baxter heading the cast.

▽

Ewing Scott, writer-director, and Mala, Eskimo actor, left Hollywood last week by plane for Seattle en route to Point Barrow, Alaska, to make "Son of Nanook" for Republic. Camera and sound crews will follow and the company expects to spend six months on location. Mr. Scott and Mala, 10 years ago, went to Alaska to make "Igloo" for the same company.

▽

Kenneth Macgowan, Twentieth Century-Fox producer, has obtained a leave of absence from the company. He left New York last week to complete arrangements to take the position of non-theatrical director for the Pan-American relations coordinating committee. The committee is part of the Nelson Rockefeller-John Hay Whitney project for hemisphere good-will.

▽

"Vivacious Lady," with the Academy Award combination of Ginger Rogers and James Stewart, will be reissued by RKO, Andy Smith, sales manager of the company, announced this week. Key city release will be March 28th. The film was distributed three years ago.

▽

WILLIAM A. SEITER will produce and direct two films for Universal in 1941-42.

GERALDINE FITZGERALD has had her option renewed by Warners.

MARGARET HAYES is to appear in Paramount's "The Night of January 16th."

RITA HAYWORTH is to appear in "Our Wife," first picture JOHN STAHL is to produce and direct for Columbia.

JULIUS and PHILIP EPSTEIN have been assigned to the script of "George Washington Slept Here" for Warners.

JUNE PREISSER has been signed to a Paramount contract.

THOMAS MITCHELL and WALTER HUSTON are to appear in RKO's "A Certain Mr. Scratch."

MCDONALD CAREY received a Paramount acting contract.

"THERE'S NO PLACE LIKE HOLLYWOOD"

It was Ben Hecht who first insulted Hollywood into paying him $5,000 a week to write films.

The same system has been working of late for Orson Welles.

Quentin Reynolds, whose "London Can Take It" was nominated for an Oscar but didn't win it, mounted the rostrum as guest of the Academy at its banquet last week to "defend Hollywood" against the press which "draws its livelihood from the screen" by asserting that, contrary to the reports which he said columnists were then composing, it was not true that the auditing firm of Price, Waterhouse had been engaged to check the balloting "because nobody in Hollywood can count up to 12,000".

When the ripple of laughter that followed this had subsided, he continued: "Why, there are people right in this room who can count up to 12,000—although not, of course, in English", and when the stillness which followed this had ebbed he gave the microphone back to Bob Hope.

Next day Warner Brothers commissioned Reynolds to go back to England and produce a short to be called "London Can Give It".

'Rio' Supplants 'Road' at Roxy; 'Wings' at Astor

Distributors this week moved more new product into the field. Twentieth Century-Fox replaced "Tobacco Road" at the New York Roxy with "That Night in Rio," after 15 days for the Darryl Zanuck version of the stage play. The switch was ordered for Saturday night, differing from the theatre's usual Thursday opening day.

Warners set March 12th as the opening date for its "Meet John Doe" simultaneously in two theatres in each of three cities. Paramount's first date for "I Wanted Wings" will be at the Broadway Astor, New York, on March 26th, and RKO set "A Girl, a Guy and a Gob," on Tuesday and Wednesday, respectively, at Honolulu and San Francisco.

Sextuple "John Doe" Opening

"Meet John Doe," first independent Frank Capra production, will open simultaneously at two theatres in New York, Los Angeles, and Miami on Wednesday evening, March 12th. The six-fold world premiere is in line with the special handling arranged by Warner Brothers for its first Capra-Robert Riskin release. Large scale advertising and publicity campaigns will herald the initial runs at the Hollywood and Rivoli theatres, New York; the Hollywood and Downtown, Los Angeles; and the Paramount and Beach theatres in Miami.

Following the premiere, "Meet John Doe," which stars Barbara Stanwyck and Gary Cooper, will play sixteen key city engagements on advanced price, single billing, extended runs. Mr. Riskin and Gradwell L. Sears picked initial cities throughout the country to get a pre-release cross-section on the picture's potentialities.

The first 16 "John Doe" engagements are at: Rivoli and Hollywood, New York City, March 12th; Hollywood and Downtown, Los Angeles, March 12th; Victory, Dayton, March 15th; Colonial, Richmond, March 14th; State, Harrisburg, March 21st; Norva, Norfolk, March 21st; Lincoln or Stuart, Lincoln, Nebr., March 19th; Criterion, Oklahoma City, March 12th; Roxy, Springfield, Ill., March 14th; Mary Anderson, Louisville, March 14th; Knickerbocker, Nashville, March 14th; Beach, Miami Beach, March 12th; Paramount, Miami, March 12th and the Circle, Indianapolis, March 12th.

Warners will preview "The Sea Wolf," their version of the Jack London story, at Sonoma, Calif., where the author wrote many of his books. The opening festivities, tentatively set for March 22nd, will enlist the Sonoma Chamber of Commerce and the Redwood Empire Association. Warner exploit men are also working on plans to open "The Great Lie" at Burlington, Wis., home of the widely publicized Burlington Liars Club.

"I Wanted Wings" to Astor

"I Wanted Wings," Paramount story of the Army Air Corps, will have a road show world premiere at the Astor Theatre, New York, on March 26th, Neil Agnew, sales chief, announced this week. Army officials, airmen, stage and screen stars, and home office officials will attend the opening which, with subsequent road engagements will be promoted by Lynn Farnol and his newly formed public relations service. Mr. Farnol and R. M. Gillham, Paramount advertising and publicity chief, are seeking support from Army Air Corps officials to promote the picture as an aid to Air Corps recruiting.

Radio promotion of four Paramount pictures via the CBS Kate Smith program was arranged this week by Mr. Gillham, to tie in with national release dates of four of the company's current features. The agreement followed a trial program last week when the three stars from "Hard Boiled Canary" appeared on Miss Smith's program.

On March 28th the Smith troupe will present a version of "Road to Zanzibar" in a broadcast from Hollywood. The picture, with Bob Hope, Bing Crosby and Dorothy Lamour is for release April 11th. "The Roundup," a Harry Sherman special, will be aired April 4th for an April 18th release. Broadcasts on April 11th and April 18th will plug "I Wanted Wings," and "Reaching for the Sun." Additional air build-up for "The Road to Zanzibar" will be broadcast via the "Lux Radio Theatre," February 17th; Gulf Oil-Screen Guild hour, on February 23rd; Kate Smith programs on April 1st and 4th; Bob Hope program, April 8th, and the Hedda Hopper program on April 7, 9, 11.

"A Girl, a Guy, and a Gob"

Harold Lloyd's production of "A Girl, a Guy, and a Gob," to be released by RKO will have its world premiere at two major naval bases, Honolulu and San Francisco on March 4th, and March 5th respectively. Ballyhoo will stress the navy interest in the picture, and Mr. Lloyd will make his first public appearance in many years as master of ceremonies at the San Francisco opening at the Golden Gate theatre. Island and navy dignitaries will attend the Honolulu opening at the Hawaii theatre. Regular release runs will follow the two special openings.

United Artists will invite exhibitors to special trade shows of "Topper Returns," new Hal Roach comedy, at principal exchange cities during the week of March 11th to 15th. Showings have been set to date for St. Louis, New Haven, Denver, Cleveland, Boston, Buffalo, Charlotte, Des Moines, Baltimore, Kansas City, Detroit, Milwaukee, Los Angeles, Atlanta, Minneapolis, Pittsburgh, Salt Lake City, Seattle and Dallas.

Ramm Named Promotion Head

Bernard H. Mills, general sales manager of Equity Film Exchanges, Inc., has appointed Louis E. Ramm, formerly with the United Artists exploitation department, sales promotion manager and advertising director.

Penzer Joins Equity Films

Charles Penzer, New York film man, has joined the sales staff of Equity Film Exchanges, Inc., and will assist Bernie H. Mills in Greater New York.

SELZNICK AWARD ACADEMY RECORD

David O. Selznick has the distinction of being the only producer to have won the top award of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences two consecutive years. His United Artists production, "Rebecca," took the accolade among the 1940 pictures and for 1939 his "Gone With the Wind," produced for MGM release, swept the board.

Frank Capra set a similar record, but the awards were for direction, not production, and they were not in consecutive years. He won the directorial awards for "It Happened One Night" in 1934, "Mr. Deeds Goes to Town" in 1936, and "You Can't Take It With You" in 1938.

Academy Honors MGM's Quimby

In Los Angeles' Biltmore Bowl, last week, Thursday, when Fred C. Quimby mounted the dais to accept the Academy statuette which signified selection of "Milky Way" as outstanding cartoon comedy of the year, the founder, organizer and chief executive of the MGM short subjects department was rounding out a 24-year career of leadership in the short subject field.

It was on about the same date in 1917 that Fred Quimby organized the Pathe short subjects department in New York that was then to the screen what Hollywood is now. The next nine years saw the Pathe Rooster crowing over innovation after innovation—Pathe Review, Topics of the Day, Aesop's Fables, Out of the Inkwell, Our Gang, Harold Lloyd, Charles Chase—breaking new ground, opening new channels, setting precedents for about all short subject producers are doing with their cameras today.

In 1926 the Metro, which was to broaden into bigger and better things, took serious stock of the short subjects field and sought Mr. Quimby to found, organize and direct its short subjects department. In the decade which followed he built, in New York, the department which last week won two of the three accolades dispensed by the Academicians. Pete Smith's "Quicker 'n a Wink" is the other MGM Academy winner.

In October, 1938, with the short subject finally following the feature picture westward, the Quimby headquarters and operations were transferred to Culver City. Less than two years later a new building, conceived, planned and executed by Mr. Quimby, opened its fireproofed doors to the hundreds of artists, technicians and idea men who were to launch MGM into the field of color cartoon production. The project was a Quimby ambition realized. He retains personal charge of the color cartoon unit, while charting the MGM short subject operations in whole, laying out the season's program, supervising its production and serving as liaison executive between shorts production and sales.

Speaks for Democracy

Richard de Rochemont, managing editor of the March of Time, continued his speech making career this week with an address on Sunday, March 2nd, before the first national conference of the German American Congress for Democracy at the Hotel Picadilly, New York. Mr. de Rochemont introduced a screening of the March of Time release "Americans All," and told the 200 German-American delegates from throughout the country that the motion picture industry shares their interest in preaching the democratic doctrine to new, and native citizens of the United States.

Ermolieff Sues RKO Again

Joseph Ermolieff, European producer, filed a new suit in Los Angeles against RKO this week to recover $40,000 damages for alleged distribution of "The Soldier and the Lady" in Ireland. A recent declaratory judgment in favor of Mr. Ermolieff by the California Superior Court declared that Ireland was not part of the United Kingdom.

GOVERNMENT LISTS OPERATING AND ENGINEERING TELEVISION STANDARDS

Commission Lists Suggestions for Discussions March 20th; Limits for Line Standards Set; Station Construction Proceeds

Engineering standards and rules and regulations for both commercial and experimental television stations were proposed this week by the Federal Communications Commission, at Washington, to serve as the basis for testimony to be submitted at hearings which are to begin March 20th.

Promulgation by the FCC of some form of television standards is a necessary prelude to the introduction of commercial television in this country. Some experts have expressed the opinion that the inauguration of a general television service might have to be postponed "for the duration" on account of defense needs, but this week's action of the FCC in setting forth detailed proposed regulations has been interpreted to mean that the government is willing to approve commercial television, if the objections against the proposed standards are not substantiated.

Not in Final Form

But, it was emphasized by the Commission, the proposals have not been given its approval and do not necessarily represent the rules which will be adopted, and in fact, in several instances, alternative suggestions were made as, for instance, in the case of modulation for the sound channel, where either amplitude or FM modulation may be adopted.

Interested parties were urged to study the proposals with a view to submitting their own recommendations on the various points covered, and also be ready to propose dates on which commercial operation shall be put into effect. The commission also left room for argument on whether the higher television channels (Nos. 8 to 18, inclusive) should be subjected to the rules for standardization and commercialization.

The proposed rules for operation carry the usual provision to guard against interference, erect guards against undesirable multiple ownership of stations, require a minimum operating schedule of five to eight hours a day, prohibit the use separately of the aural transmitter, and call for announcement of the fact when motion picture film is broadcast.

The proposed standards provide, for argument, a number of alternative line and frame standards, leave open whether horizontal or vertical polarization shall be adopted, and make provision for modification of transmission standards in the future, if such action is found desirable.

The FCC ordered interested parties wishing to offer testimony at the March 20th hearing, which will be held in the Interstate Commerce Commission Building in Washington to file with the Commission notice to that effect before March 15th.

In previous television hearings the Paramount television interests have been among those opposing standards endorsed by a majority of the other firms in the industry and offering alternate suggestions. The Allen B. DuMont Laboratories, Paramount television affiliate, has been demonstrating 625-line, 15-frame television at its New York headquarters.

The members of the Commission will visit the DuMont Laboratories and the Bell Telephone Laboratories in New York City and inspect the Farnsworth-Philco FM synchronization system in Philadelphia at the end of this week, according to an announcement by James L. Fry, chairman of the FCC.

Included in the television proposals which will be discussed at the March 20th hearing is a rule that no more than three television stations may be controlled by any one group. According to the FCC the word "control" is "not limited to a majority stock ownership, but includes actual working control in whatever manner exercised." The government will not permit, it is indicated, establishment of a large television network under the control of one company.

A daily operating schedule of five, six, seven or eight hours will be discussed at the meeting. Each program television station would be required to be on the air for a minimum of two hours at the time of the greatest matinee and evening attendance at motion picture theatres and other places of entertainment.

On the question of the use of motion picture film on television programs the FCC memorandum said, "All motion picture film employed in the broadcasts of a television broadcast station must be briefly described as such at the beginning of any program in which such film is used." This proposed regulation is similar to the rule requiring radio stations to let the audience know when records are being used.

Alternate Line Standards

The present standard for television pictures, recommended by the Radio Manufacturers' Association and, at the January FCC meeting, by the National Television Systems Committee, is 441-lines and 30 frames. The FCC alternatives includes the following lines per frame: 441, 495, 525, 605, 625 or variable between the two extremes. The frame rates listed were: 30 per second, 24 (The British standard), 15 (advocated by DuMont) and a variable standard. Suggestions were also advanced for color television which has been supported recently by the Columbia Broadcasting System.

March 1st was the deadline for suggestions to the National Committee for television standards. At the March 20th meeting the Committee may make some further recommendations to the government body. Members are considering lines per frame and synchronization problems.

The FCC has renewed for the period ending February 1, 1942, the television broadcasting permit of RCA and has extended the experimental permits of Philco and General Electric to April 1st. Balaban and Katz received an extension of its construction permit to March 19th. The Balaban and Katz television station is being set up in the State Lake Theatre Building under the direction of William C. Eddy.

I. A. Hirschmann, vice-president of Bloomingdale Bros. department store in New York, has announced that the Washington Institute of Technology has been retained as construction engineers for the television and FM station to be operated by Metropolitan Television, Inc., atop the Hotel Pierre in New York. The company is owned by Bloomingdale's and Abraham and Straus in Brooklyn. Dr. Frank Kear will be in charge of the installation.

A program formula has already been worked out for the department store television and FM stations, calling for public activities, public information, merchandise presentation and demonstrations of the application of education, according to Mr. Hirschmann. He also said experimental broadcasts were planned to take place within the next few months. The time will depend on the delivery of equipment, it was said.

The H. E. Ransford Company of Pittsburgh has been appointed sales representative of the Allen B. DuMont Laboratories, Inc., for western Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

Commercial FM

Last week the FCC announced regulations which will make possible the early introduction of commercial FM in many parts of the country. Although the FCC had given permission for commercial operations a number of companies have not been able to obtain the high-powered transmitters required by the commission on account of defense activities of the principal radio manufacturers.

Upon "appropriate request" accompanied by photostatic copy of the high-power transmitter order and the acknowledgement with the promised delivery date, the FCC will allow the present experimental stations to begin commercial operations now instead of waiting for the equipment. Provisions have also been made for the further extension of experimental licenses which were to finally expire March 1st.

Experimental stations which received the approval of the FCC may shift over to the new channel and use the commercial call letters and begin presenting commercial programs. The following stations, under the FCC order, may request permission to seek sponsors:

Bamberger Broadcasting Service (WOR), New York City.

National Broadcasting Company, New York City.

The Yankee Network, Mount Washington, N. H.

WDRC, Inc., Hartford, Conn.

The Travelers Broadcasting Service (WTIC), Hartford, Conn.

The Milwaukee Journal (WTMJ), Milwaukee, Wis.

WBNS, Inc., Columbus, Ohio.

General Electric Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

Westinghouse Radio Stations, Inc., Springfield, Mass.

Westinghouse Radio Stations, Inc., Boston, Mass.

Zenith Radio Corporation, Chicago, Ill.

Another ten experimental FM stations may ask to have their present permits extended.

The King-Trendle Broadcasting Corporation (WOOD) has applied for an FM station to cover the Grand Rapids, Mich., territory.

WOR'S FM station, W2XOR, completed last week its first year on the air. A total of 5,422 hours of programs were presented by the first full-time FM station in the New York metropolitan area. Since August 1st the station has been operating 15 hours a day.

MORE COMPETITION FROM ICE SHOWS

In its first year, "Icecapades" will top all grosses ever made by other ice units in their debut season, John H. Harris, president of the Arena Managers Association and producer of the show, said recently. Following a take of $100,000 in 12 days at Boston and Hershey rinks, the unit will play Cleveland, Champaign, Ill., Kansas City, Vancouver, Portland, Sacramento and Los Angeles where it will stay for 24 days.

In Boston, Mr. Harris said, the show had an advance sale of $17,000 for seven performances. In a return engagement of five performances its advance was $37,000.

Theatres Getting Accessories for Greek Campaign

At a meeting last Thursday, February 28th, of the publicity committee of the New York Amusement division of the Greek War Relief Week, A. P. Waxman announced the line-up of material which would be furnished cooperating theatres in the Metropolitan area. Each theatre is being supplied with 24 collection boxes for use in lobby collections, 2,000 buttons, six head bands, six sashes and four half-sheet cards—two of each style.

All the material will be supplied the theatres through their regular film delivery trucks. A special trailer featuring Melvyn Douglas to be used during the week of March 25th to 30th will be sent to all theatres by National Screen Service a few days before the drive opens.

Organizing Meeting Held

An organizing meeting for the division was held last week at the Hotel Astor. Joseph R. Vogel of Loew's is chairman of the group. John J. O'Connor, co-chairman of the area with Harry Brandt and Fred Schwartz, presided. Mr. Brandt spoke on work among neighborhood theatres. Mr. Schwartz was named local treasurer, and the meeting was also addressed by Mr. Waxman, general publicity director of the drive. Ray Whittaker of the Shubert organization promised legitimate theatre cooperation. Spyros Skouras discussed the aims of the drive.

The borough committee named at the meeting includes: Manhattan, Leo Brecher and Max Cohen; Bronx, J. J. Thompson and Laurence Bolognino; Westchester, Irwin Wheeler; Queens, Fred Schwartz and Sam Rhonheimer; Brooklyn, Harold Rinzler and Sam Strausberg; Staten Island, Si Fabian and Charlie Moses; Long Island, Joe Seider. In addition to these borough chairmen, the division and district managers of all circuits will act as co-chairmen in each section.

Radio City Music Hall in New York will join the Greek cause on March 28th when it stages a "Greek Festival for Freedom." The program is under the direction of Marvin Schenck, aided by W. G. Van Schmus, director of the Music Hall and Gus Eysell, assistant director. Countess Marie Mercati heads a committee of socialites selling the tickets which are scaled from $1 to $10. Motion picture and stage entertainment will be combined in the show.

At Kansas City the Greek Relief program is under the direction of Elmer C. Rhoden, exhibitor, and T. R. Thompson, distributors. The exhibitors committee includes Elmer C. Rhoden, Jerry Zigmond, Jay Means, John McManus, Barney Joffee, Ed Durwood, Senn Lawler, H. J. Griffith, C. A. Schultz, A. R. Zimmer, Hardy Hendren; and R. R. Biechele. Distributors are represented by T. R. Thompson, Frank Hensler, Grover Parsons, George Fuller, Ben Marcus, R. M. Copeland, Ollie Williamson, W. E. Truog, R. F. Withers, A. H. Cole.

A special promotional committee of Kansas City newspapermen, theatre operators and advertising men includes: Jerry Zigmond, John McManus, Barney Joffee, Landon Laird, James Long, Don Davis, Harry Kauffman, James McConnell, Eugene Zachman and Lawrence Lehman.

The Pittsburgh Variety Club turned over the proceeds of its benefit premiere of "Fantasia" on March 5th to the Pittsburgh Greek War Relief Drive committee.

New York Ice Show Starts Road Tour

"It Happens on Ice," skating spectacle which has been playing the Center Theatre in New York since October 10th, interrupts its successful run on March 8th to play engagements in Chicago and Indianapolis. The ice show, starring Joe Cook, opens a 10-day run at the Chicago Stadium on March 12th. It will play the Indianapolis Stadium from March 25th to 30th, after which the company returns to New York with the second edition, scheduled to reopen the Center Theatre on April 3rd.

The ice show was produced in New York last fall by Arthur Wirtz and Sonja Henie. Mr. Wirtz heads a syndicate of arena operators in Chicago, Indianapolis, Detroit and Omaha which produced Miss Henie's "Hollywood Ice Revue" and contributed backing for the New York show. The Rockefellers, who installed ice-making equipment and remodelled the Center Theatre, are reported to get 50 per cent of the gross business at the Center under their lease, with a clause which holds the show in New York as long as it grosses above an operating minimum.

Joe Cook, star of the present ice show, will retire from it at the end of the road tour. Freddy Trenkler and Fritz Dietl, comedy skating team, and several other European skating stars, will replace Cook in the revised version. A cast and chorus numbering approximately 100 will be taken on the four-week road trip.

Acquires Two Theatres

Ted R. Gamble, manager of the Capitol theatre in Portland, Ore., has reported the acquisition of two more theatres to his circuit. They are the Rialto and Cascadian theatres at Hood River, Ore. The theatres, which were purchased for approximately $50,000, were previously owned and operated by Art S. Kolstad. Mr. Kolstad is retiring from the entertainment field to devote his full time to other business enterprises.

Gould to Trinidad

David Gould, who was for some fourteen years in major distribution in the Latin regions and based at San Juan in Puerto Rico, is this week, after a brief sojourn in New York, his home town, going to Trinidad on a distribution mission for United Artists Corporation. Trinidad is United Artists' headquarters for the British West Indies and some adjacent South American mainland.

Altec Closes Deals

Altec Service activities in the Northwest, as reported by R. Hilton, district manager for the company, include the signing of service contracts with the Lake theatre, Buffalo, Minn., the Robin of Robbinsdale, Minn., the Granite of Granite Falls, Minn., the Falls and the Camden of Minneapolis, the Star theatre of Stanley, North Dakota, and the College of Brookings, South Dakota. An Altec service contract has also been signed by the Plaza theatre of Potosi, Mo.

Goetz Heads Bookers Club

Joe Goetz, assistant division manager of RKO, was reelected president of the Cincinnati Bookers Club for the sixth consecutive term. James Burnetti, Warner booker, again was chosen secretary and treasurer.

Catholic Charity Drive Started

The annual campaign of the motion picture industry committee of the Catholic Charities of the Archdiocese of New York began on Monday under the chairmanship of John J. O'Connor, vice-president and general manager of RKO Theatres. The drive is the 22nd annual appeal of the Archbishop's Committee of the Laity, of which Alfred E. Smith is chairman; John A. Coleman, executive chairman; Postmaster General Frank C. Walker, treasurer, and George J. Schaefer, president of RKO, assistant treasurer.

Members of the motion picture committee on which Mr. Walker and Mr. Schaefer are serving are:

W. G. Van Schmus, Radio City Music Hall; Nathan J. Blumberg, Universal; Herman Robbins, National Screen Service; Martin Quigley, publisher of Motion Picture Herald and Motion Picture Daily; Harry Brandt, Brandt Theatres; Austin C. Keough, Paramount; Jack Alicoate, Film Daily; Major Edward Bowes; Samuel Broidy, Monogram; Harry Buckley, United Artists; Spyros Skouras, National Theatres; William F. Rodgers, M-G-M; Phil Reisman, RKO; William A. Scully, Universal.

Also: Gradwell L. Sears, Warners; Patrick Casey, Casey Enterprises; H. M. Doherty, Warners; George Skouras, Skouras Theatres; William White, Skouras Theatres; John Nolan, Comerford Theatres; John Murphy, Loew's; Leon Netter, Paramount; Dennis F. O'Brien, of O'Brien, Driscoll & Raferty; Si Fabian, Fabian Theatres; James R. Grainger, Republic; Al Hovell, Century Circuit; E. C. Grainger, Feiber & Shea Theatres; John Kane, Columbia; Maurice Kann, Boxoffice; Joseph McConville, Columbia; Charles B. McDonald, RKO Theatres; Joseph P. McLaughlin, Paramount; Joseph E. McMahon, Consolidated Film Industries; William Morris, William Morris Agency; William T. Powers, National Theatres; John O'Connell, Republic; Charles Reagan, Paramount; Bert Sanford, Altec Corp.; Charles L. O'Reilly, Sen. William J. Murray and P. A. Powers.

The Greater New York Fund has raised in excess of $11,000,000 for some 400 voluntary social welfare and health agencies in the three years of its life, it was announced this week at the annual meeting of officers and directors at Fund headquarters, 53 Wall Street by James G. Blaine. Mr. Blaine, president of the Marine Midland Trust Company, was elected to head of the Greater New York Fund for the fourth successive year.

The report listed 3,000 more business firms and 700 more employee groups contributing in the last campaign than in 1938.

Warners Transfer Managers

Manager changes at the Warner theatres in the Philadelphia territory follow: In York, Paul Harvey, former Capitol theatre manager, has been transferred to the Strand, with Harry Olmstead, Fitz manager, going to the Capitol, and Al Meyers transferred to the Ritz theatre. Charles Crowley, manager of the State theatre in Chester, Pa., replaces William Morgan as manager of the Grand theatre in Vineland, N. J. Mr. Morgan is filling in as suburban district manager for Jack L. Mulhall, who has been called for Army duty.

Alsinas Retire

Joseph and Ferdinand Alsina, operators of the Famous Theatre, New Orleans, since 1910, have retired. United Theatres, Inc., has leased the house. The brothers have announced no plans for the future.

Studios Buy Exhibits

At the recent auctions held at the San Francisco World's Fair on Treasure Island Hollywood motion picture companies sent representatives to buy dismantled exhibits, pavillions and furniture.

"ZIEGFELD GIRL" by John La Gatta, one of the celebrated artists' series in M-G-M's national competition to capture the spirit of the Ziegfeld Girl of 1941. Among other famed artists who have contributed are McClelland Barclay, Neysa McMein, Gilbert Bundy and Albert Varga.

"Take Your Seats, America!"

You've got a date with the girls from the Follies!
M-G-M has kept its promise to top "The Great Ziegfeld"!
It took money to do it!
It took months of planning, months of dreaming dreams!
With no expense spared!
M-G-M proudly presents "The Ziegfeld Girl"
It is a Pageant of Stars and Song and Spectacle!
Ten marquees could not hold its names in lights!
JAMES STEWART • JUDY GARLAND • HEDY LAMARR • LANA TURNER
And countless other great entertainers and Girls! Girls! Girls!
Darlings in diamonds, honey-haired blondes, red-heads, brunettes
M-G-M combed America for its most famous beauties.
Celebrated models, famed faces from the magazine covers
Never such a wealth of feminine loveliness!
Spectacular musical numbers one after another!
"Minnie from Trinidad" • "You Stepped Out of a Dream" and others!
More than you'd find in a whole season of Broadway musicals!
Lights! Curtain! Bravo!

ZIEGFELD GIRL

Starring
JAMES STEWART
JUDY GARLAND
HEDY LAMARR
LANA TURNER

with TONY MARTIN • JACKIE COOPER • IAN HUNTER • CHARLES WINNINGER
EDWARD EVERETT HORTON • PHILIP DORN • Screen Play by Marguerite Roberts and

U.S. PROMISES PROBE OF PETRILLO, MUSICIANS AND CONCERT BOOKERS

Justice Department Announces Grand Jury Investigation of Music Guilds and Unions; Many Complaints Received

James C. Petrillo, self-made "czar" of the organized musicians, this week loomed as the next target in the Department of Justice's drive on labor, and industry matters.

A Federal Grand Jury investigation of the efforts of Petrillo's American Federation of Musicians to eliminate the "competition" of the American Guild of Musical Artists will be launched in the near future, it was announced this week by the Department in Washington. Both organizations are affiliates of the American Federation of Labor.

The Department explained that the whole field of the relations between booking agencies, concert bureaus, broadcasters and others with musical artists would be investigated. A large number of complaints have been received, it was said, regarding the relationship between certain agencies, the broadcasting chains and Petrillo.

Charge Drive Against Guild

The probe will open with an inquiry into complaints received by the department that Petrillo and the booking agencies have combined against the musical artists guild, headed by Lawrence Tibbett and numbering among its members many of the outstanding musicians and singers of the country, organized in 1936 in an effort to protect the artists in negotiating contracts with booking agencies and broadcasters.

"Now it is charged that Petrillo has entered into a conspiracy with the booking agencies and the broadcasters in an attempt to destroy AGMA and to force the artists either to join his own union, the AFM, or to lose the benefits of union protection," the department explained.

"Information in the department files shows that James C. Petrillo, president of the American Federation of Musicians, has notified Tibbett that unless the members of AGMA resign from that organization and join AFM, he (Petrillo) will notify all radio interests, picture studios, symphony orchestra managements, grand opera companies, recording companies, booking agencies, etc., that members of AGMA will not be recognized by AFM and the members of AFM will not be permitted to render any services at any function in which AGMA members participate."

The particular objective of the Government, it was indicated, is the highly profitable financial structure which Petrillo has set up, by which he is alleged to get from 10 to 50 per cent of all the earnings of members of his union.

"The constitution and by-laws of the AFM provide for a payment to that union of ten per cent of the proceeds from every engagement," it was pointed out. "They provide further for payment of a federation tax of 50 per cent of all proceeds collected in radio engagements by a guest conductor entering the jurisdiction of a local. The powers of Petrillo are absolute and subject to no control."

Complaints also have been received by the department that the broadcasting chains and booking agencies have combined to monopolize the business of arranging concert tours and other public performances of interpretative artists who are members of AGMA and to dictate the terms under which such appearances can be made.

The Musical Artists "welcome" the investigation of its controversy with the AFM, Mrs. Blanche Witherspoon, executive secretary, said in a statement issued in New York.

On Tuesday the AGMA voted to continued its fight against the Petrillo order to join the AFM.

Albert Spalding, violinist, resigned from the Guild and applied for membership in the musicians' union. On Tuesday Petrillo said Mischa Elman and Efrem Zimbalist, violinists, and Josef Hoffmann and Egon Petri, pianists, would join the AFM.

Each case will be decided on its particular merits, Henry A. Friedman, AFM secretary, said Monday commenting on the enforcement of the musicians union's ban against instrumentalists who refuse to join.

NEW WISCONSIN WAGE-HOUR BILL

Latest wage-and-hour measure to be presented in the Wisconsin legislature sets a minimum wage of 30 cents an hour during the first five years after enactment and 40 cents an hour thereafter. It would also provide for a minimum 8-hour day and 44-hour week, with time and one-half for overtime. Persons earning $250 or more a month, domestic help and employees in public telephone exchanges with less than 500 stations would be exempt from the bill. Another wage-and-hour bill, the Westfahl measure, seeks to establish a 40 cents an hour minimum for all nonfarm workers in Wisconsin.

Publicists Guild Negotiates

Hearings of Warner Brothers and Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer before the National Labor Relations Board in response to a petition of the Screen Publicists Guild asking certification as the collective bargaining agent for all publicity department employees resumed Wednesday before Dan Baker, NLRB trial examiner, at 120 Broadway. The hearing opened on Wednesday of last week but was adjourned.

At the next monthly meeting to be held March 13th the Guild will select five members for a negotiations committee to handle all future negotiations with major companies. Nine candidates have been nominated by the Representative Council and additional nominations for the negotiations committee may be made at the meeting.

Pat Casey, producers' labor contact, and IATSE studio local representatives conferred on Friday of last week in Hollywood on proposed new pacts. No final agreement is expected for some time. International executives will probably be called into the negotiations it was reported.

Reports that certain extra players are petitioning the Department of Justice for an investigation to insure them a voice in the management of the Screen Actors Guild this week brought from Kenneth Thomson, S.A.G. executive secretary, the statement that at any time the extras feel they would prefer to represent themselves in their own organization, they have the power to withdraw from the Guild.

The extras were said to have asked the government to order the SAG to alter its system of officers and directors.

Mel Forrester, an extra, has filed a complaint with the Central Casting Office charging that the Wagner Labor Relations Act has been violated in alleged discrimination against him for union activities.

A $150 minimum salary for writers will be sought by the Screen Writers Guild in bargaining conferences with the producers, its members decided at a meeting last week.

The Chicago unit of the Theatrical Janitors' Union has signed an agreement with all local houses calling for a five per cent salary increase, according to Thomas Burke, secretary-treasurer of the union. The new contract is retroactive to January 1st and will expire February 28, 1942 when a new contract with another five per cent increase automatically will go into effect. Other provisions are a six-day, 40-hour week with one week's vacation with pay.

Other Union Activities

No settlement has been reached in the negotiations between the New York Independent Theatre Owners Association and Operators' Local 306, it was reported last week. The 10-year master agreement, signed September, 1936, provides for increases of at least $1 per week per booth every two years. Present discussions are over the union's request made last September, for wage increases.

Last week in Wilmington Local 473, projectionists, were given court permission to resume picketing of the Rialto theatre, in an action by Chancellor William W. Harrington in vacating an order given May 11, 1939 restraining the union from picketing. The theatre company was required to pay costs of $1,263.

Annual election of Motion Picture Operators' Union, Local 169, Oakland, Calif., last week, resulted in election of Irving Cohen as president; Bert Taylor, vice-president; George Dyer, financial secretary, and J. B. Perry, recording secretary.

The Filmack Trailer Company was ordered last week by Federal Judge John Barnes to pay $2,770 to 67 employees for overtime and the Vogue Wright Studios were ordered to pay 181 workers $17,734 by Federal Judge Charles Woodward.

Two Theatre Circuits Sign RCA Contracts

Negotiations have been completed for the renewal of the RCA service contract covering the 90 houses of the Tri-States Theatres Corporation, of Des Moines, Ia., and for the addition of the Wineland group of theatres according to an announcement by W. L. Jones, national service manager for the company.

The Tri-States deal, which includes furnishing parts and tubes, was handled by Myron Blank for the circuit, and by W. L. Jones, Edward Auger, Photophone sales executive, and W. F. Hardman, Photophone district service manager, for RCA, Lloyd Wineland and U. Hollingsworth signed the service contracts for their five theatres and C. H. Taylor, district service manager, handled the negotiations for RCA.

Pollock Receives MGM Award

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer has awarded an Honor Roll Button to Lester Pollock, manager of Loew's theatre in Rochester, N. Y., for his campaign on "Philadelphia Story."

BRITISH TRADE UNITES AGAINST COMMISSION

Opposition to Board of Trade Plan for Governing Body for Industry Led by Exhibitors

by AUBREY FLANAGAN
in London

Forsaking internecine warfare and domestic disputes in the face of more urgent problems, the British industry, realizing that greater dangers may come from without than those to be found within, has not hesitated to fire volley after volley back at the Board of Trade since the recent Films Commission proposal was furtively launched.

Despite the hopes of Whitehall that the whole scheme would be kept secret, the proposal, as far as it has been made known, has been openly discussed and examined here, with little enthusiasm displayed for it in any trade section, downright antipathy and denunciation in most. The exhibitor section in particular, while observing certain courtesies in regard to public discussion, have been openly and emphatically declared their opposition, endorsed the unequivocal objections of their president, Councillor Mears.

Producers—though one or two are known to be ready to try out a Commission—have declared their lack of faith in it, derided the puny and inadequate nature of the proposed Credit bank. Labor partisans, despite their assurance to the Board of Trade president that they would welcome a Commission, are notoriously nervous about any such venture as might impose a mild form of totalitarian control. Distributors who up to the moment have preserved a dignified silence in the face of a virtual snubbing, are known to be completely and utterly against any such legislative enterprise.

Mears' Report Hits Board

Discussion at this month's General Council was lengthy and enlightened, followed President Mear's report on the Board of Trade meeting—a comprehensive and acidulous report this—and his keenly applied criticisms. Mr. Mears had told Captain Lyttleton that he would report to his association and lay the whole pattern before them. Net result of the discussion was a complete vindication of the officers' action, and a kick in the Board of Trade's pants for "departing from the usual practice of inviting suggestions from the trade when framing new legislation."

The exhibitor group, despite the presence of certain members who favor it, is not alone in questioning whether there is any need for a commission, in asking for evidence that it has been called for by the industry itself. The producer group is not necessarily in favor, though there is of course a section who would be glad of a Credit Bank or Finance Corporation. As it is, this latter group diminishes in size, most reputable British producers now having ready access to finance enough to cover their activities. Inactive producers and company promoters are known to be casting a greedy eye in the direction of the Bank.

As already suggested in these columns, the labor unions, despite their tacit approval of the principle of State control, are nervous about that control until they are assured that it would not be in the hands of reactionary or anti-Labor personnel. They would probably welcome a commission on principle.

On the other hand, the distributors here, who were not invited to hear the B. O. T. president's views, or to contribute any of their own, have kept their own counsel. They are, however, completely and utterly against any further legislative interference, see no need for it, have not asked for it and would probably fight it.

It is contended in some quarters, notably, for instance, by C. E. A. President Harry Mears, that the existing Act already provides machinery enough for legislative change or innovation, that the adjustment of quotas, the setting up of finance banks and other mechanical incidents are within the powers of the president of the Board of Trade himself. A Films Commission would of course remove the burden of legislation from the Department, pass the buck, so to speak, to others, and shunt out the criticism which must for some time have irritated the administrators of Great George Street, Whitehall.

Australian Film Business Brisk In Spite of War

by LIN ENDEAN in Sidney

Now well into the second year of wartime conditions and their automatic effect upon the normalcy of national emotional life, Australia is not giving any ground insofar as the public's picture-mindedness is concerned. As I write, reports are coming in from key-release situations retailing bright stories of box-office records which top, in many instances, the best takes of boom-time periods in the peace era.

For the past year, both Hoyts Theatres and Greater Union Theatres, the two major nationwide circuits, turned in balance sheets showing profits which had shareholders dancing with joy. (Hoyts £112,000—$560,000 at par—for the year; G.U.T. £43,905—$219,515 at par—for the 40 weeks to October, 1940, with profits up since). The situation is not so bright in the country centres, where drought and other circumstances affected primary industries severely, but even in such locations the theatres have not taken it on the chin as solidly as might have been expected.

Domestic Production Scores

It was "Forty Thousand Horsemen," however, an Australian-made adventure-drama with a background of the local Light Horse Brigade's achievements in Egypt, during the last war, which provided the most convincing example of how they're coming for the screen fare which hits popular fancy. This one, premiered at the Mayfair, a 1,300-seat house, and in six days rolled up a gross of £3,560 ($17,800 at par), approximating £1,000 ($5,000 at par) above the previous high for the theatre. Throughout the nation it is currently getting money, the like of which has never been attained previously at the theatres in which it is showing.

"Forty Thousand Horsemen's" success here will have a certain American interest, as its production was on a scale aimed to hit the necessary standard to register with U. S. audiences, a print having already gone forward to Universal, which company proposes to handle its distribution in the American territory. Backing for the film, produced and directed by Charles Chauvel, active in this country for many years and having had considerable experience in Hollywood, was provided by the New South Wales Government (50 per cent), Herc C. McIntyre, managing director of Universal in Australasia, and the major theatre chain, Hoyts, for which Charles E. Munro is managing director.

Cost of the film was in the vicinity of £30,000 ($150,000 at par), a lot of money to invest, so far as local picture-makers are concerned, but the venture seems certain to turn out well. For this reason, and without presuming to expertly know the American film taste, its insularity is solely in its background, after that it stacks up as fast-paced, two-fisted adventure similar to "The Lives of a Bengal Lancer." Its spectacular charge scenes, the topicality of the Egyptian location, plus the story interest in romantic elements, and the capable technical treatment, are factors which make "Forty Thousand Horsemen" a likely bet for the U. S.

Circuit Merger Off

The Greater Union Theatres-Hoyts Theatres merger, angles of which brought Dan Michalove to this country twice, is now in the "off" stage again. Maybe the reason is the uncertainty of world affairs, maybe it is the fact that both circuits are batting to good profits, as separate entities, or maybe agreement could not be finalized as to who was entitled to the bigger percentage, that kept negotiations boiling throughout 1940.

First important reaction to the further hitch in negotiations, expected to have been finalized to a point where the companies would be operating in a merged form by January, 1941, is the signing of Paramount with Greater Union for Sydney, Melbourne, and other Hoyts release centres.

Greater U. T. will now have Universal, Columbia, Paramount, occasional M. G. M. films (this company having its own houses in main capitals), and a selection of Republic and British product released by a local distribution organization, Associated. Hoyts set-up embraces 20th Century-Fox, Warners, United Artists and R.K.O.

Increase in New Zealand

Statistics covering the Dominion of New Zealand, are worthy of recording as evidence of the remarkable possibility of screen entertainment in topping all hurdles, despite circumstances which reasonably suggest an adverse effect. N. Z. is rated as one of the most heavily-taxed countries in the world, its normal picture-going public has been reduced by the proportion of men linked with military activity plus the drain on the public purse by calls for support to the country's war effort, and yet attendances for 1939-40 showed a lift of 1,361,686 above the 1938-39 figure, the total admissions tallying to 31,171,130 for the year at the 574 theatres operating. How amazing such a total is may be emphasized by the fact that the actual population is only 1,636,014. Theatre grosses lifted to £2,100,999 ($10,504,995 at par), the industry's payroll annually is £353,128 ($1,765,640 at par) distributed among 2,897 employees. £601,215 ($3,006,075 at par) was paid in film hire, advertising expenditure was £174,573 ($872,865 at par). Out of that maze of figures emerges a picture of healthy confidence, as although, in the aggregate, the increase in takings was offset to some degree by a corresponding jump in expenditure, covering such items as film hire, amusement taxation, rents, freight and other outlay, there was also a big sum devoted to modernization of theatres and in every respect trade was kept in a flourishing state.

IN BRITISH STUDIOS

by AUBREY FLANAGAN

Asquith Continues

Fresh from the immense British success of his comedy "Quiet Wedding," director Anthony Asquith has gone to work at the Gaumont - British - Gainsborough Studios, Shepherd's Bush, on a new Fifth Columnist drama "Cottage to Let," first production on Gaumont-British-Gainsborough's 1941 schedule.

The story of "Cottage to Let" concerns the activities of German columnists in Britain and their efforts to kidnap Leslie Banks, who has the role of an inventor of a new bomb sight.

A. de Grunewald and J. O. C. Orton have written the screen play from Geoffrey Kerr's West End stage success. Edward Black and Maurice Ostrer are responsible for production.

The stars of the play, Leslie Banks and Alistair Sim, are also stars of the film version, with John Mills leaving the Army for a time to resume his film career in the role of the mystery airman. Blonde Carla Lehmann is in the cast, as also are Jeanne de Casalis, Frank Cellier, Wally Patch and Muriel Aked.

Polish Films

Although they will concentrate mostly upon the production of films with a Polish interest and dealing with Polish subjects, Concanen Films, recently formed production unit, have more ambitious plans which will take them outside this restricted orbit.

They are to make immediately another Polish film, "Wings Over Poland," for the Polish Government, an original story inspired by the activities of the Polish Air Force in Great Britain. Director of the film is Eugene Cekalski, continental director with many international awards to his credit.

Following this, however, Concanen Films will forsake Poland and make "Tryst," a romantic spirit story about a 17-year-old girl who falls in love with a man she has never seen. It is by Elswyth Thane, whose play "Young Mr. Disraeli" earned her local fame a few years back.

Meanwhile, Concanen's first film, "This Is Poland," has been assured distribution in the United States and Canada, the deal having been arranged by Anglo-American Film Corporation.

▽

Being finalized at the moment of writing are plans for another British National film based on the life of William Penn. The story is by Dick Vernon, who will also produce it. Vernon came to England as assistant to William (RKO) Sistrom. Lance Comfort will direct, with Deborah Kerr and Clifford Evans in the leading roles.

The story opens with President Roosevelt's inaugural address to Congress, paralleling the President's speech with the views of William Penn. Switching to 17th Century London, the story then gets into its biographical stride. The script is by A. de. Grunewald. The sets are already built and details of the cast arranged.

Rationing has interfered now and again with props for British films, but resource on the part of the Warner Bros.' unit at Teddington saved the scene the other day.

The set was Bennett's Chop House in 1840 and required copious provision of joints of meat. These being unobtainable, horse flesh was used and, it is stated, tested and approved by more than one artist playing on the set.

▽

The approval of Mr. Winston Churchill, Prime Minister of Great Britain, has been granted George King for the use of the phrase "First of the Few" as a title for the epic film of the life of R. J. Mitchell, genius-creator of Britain's "Spitfire."

Mitchell's widow, the Air Ministry, and Messrs. Vickers-Armstrong are giving the film their full collaboration, and story details are currently being finalised by George King and John Stafford, whose company, British Aviation Pictures, will be responsible.

▽

In its fourth week of production at Denham Studios is RKO-Radio's "Dangerous Moonlight," which Brian Desmond-Hurst is directing for RKO-Radio release.

The scene of the film varies between London, England, and Detroit, U. S. A.

AID TO PRODUCTION URGED BY COUNCIL

The British Films Council, in a discussion of the entire English film problem last week with particular attention to production, decided to advise the president of the Board of Trade that the most constructive policy under the circumstances would be to assist British production. Such assistance, it will be recommended, should take the form of obtaining releases, securing studio space, manpower and material, and encouraging the financing of new production.

It was agreed that this method of procedure, in view of the shortage of product which has alarmed exhibitors, would be better than a reduction of the exhibitors' quota to 15 per cent, which was sought by the Cinematograph Exhibitors Association but opposed strenuously by producers and labor interests.

New Rotha Unit

Another production unit which will concentrate exclusively on documentaries, and in particular with documentaries dealing with progress in the field of education, health, medicine, housing and the social sciences, has been launched by distinguished author and documentary producer-director Paul Rotha.

Rotha Films, with which are associated Donald Alexander, Blaydon Peake and Carl Meyer, the distinguished German scenarist, have within a fortnight completed their first production. It is a five-minute film dealing with rumor, made for the Ministry of Information.

Other films are to be made immediately on such subjects as immunization against disease, public health, etc.

Rotha, who has produced films for the last 10 years in collaboration with the Empire Marketing Board, the Film Unit, Gaumont-British Instructural, Strand Films, Realist Film Unit and Film Center, has assembled around him other documentary figures and realist film makers, some of whom are at present serving in the Forces. It is Rotha's intention that his organization shall during the war be a clearing house for all these personalities, who will be able when the war is over to find in the unit a vehicle for their talents and activities.

To quote Rotha: "Rotha films will further the original aims of documentaries to express and develop democracy in practical working terms."

▽

At Elstree British National have finished shooting on "Love on the Dole," produced and directed by John Baxter, with Deborah Kerr in the lead.

Baxter has now set to work to put finishing touches on the new Lucan & McShane comedy, "Mother Riley Cleans Up," on which the stars have actually finished work and whence they have gone on a provincial vaudeville tour.

Baxter has now set to work to put fin- comedy in the early Spring, to be played almost entirely in open-air settings. Arthur Lucan will appear either on a farm, or as a bargee on one of Britain's network of canals.

▽

Work is now in full swing at Denham on the Leslie Howard feature, "Mr. Pimpernel Smith." Mr. Howard, who is producing and directing, has the role of a professor who smuggles refugees out of Nazi Germany.

The cast, from British standards, is a distinguished one and includes Francis Sullivan, as a Gestapo leader, David Tomlinson, Lawrence Kitchen, Allan Jeayes, Peter Gawthorne and A. E. Mathews.

Harold Huth is associate director, with Philip Samuel as production manager, and Mutz Greenbaum is on the cameras.

$1,000 EXCHANGE TAX UP IN IOWA; SUNDAY LAW REVOLT IN DELAWARE

Iowa Proposal Would License Distributors; Police Open Blue Law Drive in Wilmington to Impress State Legislature

Severe legislative threats were aimed in the direction of the motion picture and allied fields this week, led by a license proposal in Iowa to tax distributors doing business in the state $1,000 per annum plus a $1 tax on each reel of film in a measure introduced into the legislature by Representative Harvey Long of Clinton. The proceeds would go to old-age assistance.

Efforts to enact similar measures in other states have been met by the threat of distributors to remove exchanges from the states concerned.

In Delaware the state blue law repeal, which was defeated by three votes of the necessary two-thirds last week, caused much commotion. Nearly 500 persons were arrested for violating the blue laws, which were more rigidly enforced last Sunday than ever before in an effort to show the legislature the absurdity of the laws which were put into effect in 1740.

Radio Men Arrested

The only arrests in the entertainment field in Wilmington were those of Gorman Walsh, manager of radio station WDEL and WILM, and Harvey Smith, an announcer.

The decision to enforce the law rigidly was taken after the House defeated a local option measure, following passage earlier in the Senate.

Theatres were not open Sunday but practically every other line of business was hit by the wholesale enforcement. The entertainment field drove the opening wedge in the legislative fight to abrogate the ancient statutes more than a year ago.

The state House of Representatives on Monday without a dissenting vote strongly condemned Sunday's blue law enforcement drive, and called it an attempt by State's Attorney General James Morford to "coerce the members into favorable action" on the Rinard bill to liberalize Sunday observance. The House further resolved that it would take its time in deliberating the Rinard Bill, which was restored to the calender after its defeat, "even if it takes to the last day of the session." The Senate last Friday had passed a resolution directing the authorities to enforce the blue laws after the House defeated the measure.

Among the type of business which felt the effect of the enforcement drive where the operators of trolley cars, buses, operators of all types of commercial vehicles, milkmen, gas station attendants, drug stores, ice cream parlors, grocery dealers and even a strike picket and city workmen engaged in snow removal.

The police plan to enforce the old law to the utmost until it is either changed or nullified. Violators face fines of from $4 to $8 or 24 hours in jail.

Iowa Bills Fought

In Des Moines L. F. Wolcott, president of the Independent Theatre Owners of Iowa and Nebraska mailed to independent theatre owners a bulletin pointing out that more bills have been introduced against theatres than ever before at any one session, particularly on new taxes. The bulletin urged every exhibitor to contact his senator and representative at home and discuss these bills with them.

One bill introduced into the Iowa legislature would regulate the construction of new buildings and theatres and the supervision of such buildings by the State Fire Marshal. The measure was introduced by Senator Frank Martin of Davenport and is in line with recommendations recently made by the State Fire Marshal.

On March 12th film censorship in Massachusetts again will be brought up for legislative consideration, but the proponents of the bill are not optimistic as to its passage.

Proposed by Leo J. Sullivan and Thomas P. O'Neill, Jr., the new bill would create the position of State Censor with an advisory board of three and would have every film to be played within the state submitted to the board for consideration and classification.

BEST SELLERS AND RENTERS

James Hilton's latest novel, "Random Harvest," lead the Best Sellers list during the January 13th to February 10th period, according to a tabulation based on the Baker & Taylor Company's sales throughout the country during that period and published in the current issue of The Retail Bookseller. "For Whom the Bell Tolls," by Ernest Hemingway, was second and first, respectively, in the Sellers and Renters listing.

Ten Best Sellers

(Based upon a count of sales from January 13th to February 10th, 1941)

1. Random Harvest, by James Hilton.
2. For Whom the Bell Tolls, by Ernest Hemingway.
3. Oliver Wiswell, by Kenneth Roberts.
4. Delilah, by Marcus Goodrich.
5. Sapphira and the Slave Girl, by Willa Cather.
6. To Sing with the Angels, by Maurice Hindus.
7. The Giant Joshua, by Maurine Whipple.
8. Fanny By Gaslight, by Michael Sadleir.
9. Not Heaven Itself, by Margaret Pedler.
10. And New Stars Burn, by Faith Baldwin.

Ten Best Renters

(Based on nationwide reports)

1. For Whom the Bell Tolls, by Ernest Hemingway.
2. Oliver Wiswell, by Kenneth Roberts.
3. Sapphira and the Slave Girl, by Willa Cather.
4. Mrs. Miniver, by Jan Struther.
5. The Giant Joshua, by Maurine Whipple.
6. Fame Is the Spur, by Howard Spring.
7. Out of the Night, by Jan Valtin.
8. Foundation Stone, by Lella Warren.
9. Fielding's Folly, by Frances Parkinson Keyes.
10. The Family, by Nina Fedorova.

In Minneapolis, Minn., two new bills drawn by Allied Theatre Owners of the Northwest will be introduced in the legislature shortly. One bill would stop the exhibition of free shows in small towns and the other bill would regulate licensing of new motion picture theatres.

The first measure hits at "fly-by-night" exhibitors who tour the small towns with a projector and gather contributions from merchants for staging a free entertainment either in a tent or a village hall. The bill would impose a heavy license fee on such itinerants and would make their shows subject to the same regulations as govern theatre operators throughout the state.

The second bill would give the governing body of cities and towns the right to demand that public interest, convenience and necessity be shown before permits were issued to build or operate any new theatre in the state.

In Atlanta, a bill to permit Sunday shows in Georgia lacked four votes of passing at an extended session of the Senate. Senator Pat Campbell, author of the measure, indicated he would move for reconsideration "when there is a large attendance."

Hampton Bill Passed

The New York Senate has unanimously passed a bill changing regulations concerning child actors under 16 years of age. The bill, sponsored by Senator William H. Hampton, repeals the present penal statute and would substitute an enactment whereby permission for work by child actors is subject to written approval by boards of education and other authorized officials. The bill exempts minors appearing on radio amateur programs emanating in principal studios for not more than one hour a week.

Sunday night baseball and ice hockey were legalized in Indiana in a bill passed by both houses of the legislature. Neither is expected to make serious inroads into the receipts of exhibitors, however.

A bill to authorize public schools in California to show motion picture of various types for educational purposes has been introduced in the state legislature at Sacramento by Assemblyman Alfred Robertson of Santa Barbara.

In Des Moines a bill introduced in the Iowa House of Representatives requires theatres using games to award a prize at every drawing and would prohibit more than three theatres from combining in any one drawing. Another bill would place a special state sales tax on all forms of amusements, starting with a tax of one cent on all tickets costing up to 49 cents, and going to five per cent on all admissions over $2.

New Racial Rule Proposed in N. Y.

A bill to add a new section to the Civil Rights law of New York was introduced Wednesday in Albany by Assemblyman Irwin D. Davidson of New York. The measure would prohibit wrongful refusal of admission and wrongful ejection from all places of entertainment, including motion picture theatres.

Under the bill no person over 21 who presents a ticket of admission at a reasonable time before the commencement of the performance shall be denied admission, provided space is available. Furthermore the management may not request the departure of anyone, when nothing tending to a breach of the peace is committed, even though there is an offer to refund the purchase price of the value of the ticket.

WHEN 5 HOLLYWOOD PRODUCERS CHEER THE WORK OF ANOTHER—

That IS news!

DAVID O. SELZNICK

says: "I have seen 'CHEERS FOR MISS BISHOP'. It is a tender and touching piece of Americana!"

WALTER WANGER

says: "I have seen 'CHEERS FOR MISS BISHOP'. It is MARVELOUS!"

HUNT STROMBERG

says: "I have seen 'CHEERS FOR MISS BISHOP'. It is a beautiful picture and will be a strong contender for 1941 honors!"

MERVYN LeROY

says: "I have seen 'CHEERS FOR MISS BISHOP'. It is a GREAT picture."

LOUIS B. MAYER

says: "I have seen 'CHEERS FOR MISS BISHOP'. Dick Rowland has made a MAGNIFICENT picture that should achieve outstanding business at the box-office!"

Richard A. Rowland

presents

Cheers for Miss Bishop

An Unforgettable Love Story

with MARTHA SCOTT • WILLIAM GARGAN and featuring EDMUND GWENN · SIDNEY BLACKMER · DOROTHY PETERSON and introducing MARY ANDERSON • Directed by TAY GARNETT

From the novel "Miss Bishop" by BESS STREETER ALDRICH • Screen adaptation by STEPHEN VINCENT BENET • Screenplay by ADELAIDE HEILBRON and SHERIDAN GIBNEY • Released thru United Artists

28 COMMITTEES NAMED FOR VARIETY MEETING

Convention to Open May 15th in Atlantic City; Harris in Charge of Arrangements

Committees on arrangements for the national convention of the Variety Clubs in Atlantic City, May 15th to 17th, were appointed at a meeting last Sunday at the Traymore Hotel in Atlantic City, attended by 25 representing 15 Tents. The Traymore will be the convention quarters and the anniversary banquet, at which time the Humanitarian Award will be made, will be held there Friday, May 16th.

John Harris is the convention chairman, with Lou Rome, Earle W. Sweigert and Carter Barron co-chairman.

The following committees were appointed: executive finance—Frank P. Gravatt; honored guests—Gradwell Sears and Ned Depinet for the eastern division and Bob O'Donnell, Walter Wanger and Paul Short for the western division; entertainment—Harry Mayer and Edward Sherman; transportation—William Clark; greeters—Mort Lewis and George Weilland; boardwalk parade—Ted Schlanger; boardwalk stores and decorations—Emanuel Munzer; registration and hotel—Henry Freedman; souvenir program make-up—Jay Emanuel; program advertising—"Chick" Lewis; golf tournament—Bert King, Sam Galanty and John Howard.

Technical and decorations—William McAvoy, Jr.; souvenir badge and events—Max Leven; publicity and general advertising—"Chick" Lewis and "Red" Kann; newsreel—Earle Sweigert; photographic and highlights—Jay Emanuel; fishing party expedition—Frank Elliott; banquet food and Friday evening dinner—J. Brandt and Jack Beresin; boxing show—Leon Rains; radio—Dr. Leon Levy; games, equipment and money script—William McAvoy; special events—Dave Barrist; heart—John Maloney; Humanitarian Award—Hardie Meakin; attendance—James Balmer; dais—Earle Sweigert; exhibition—Ray O'Rourke; general utility—Charles Goldfine.

With the financing arrangements completed the newest Variety club, at Charlotte, N. C., will open March 10th with a charter night banquet at the club's new headquarters at the Hotel Charlotte. Among the guests invited to attend are Postmaster General Frank C. Walker and Bob O'Donnell of the Dallas Variety Club. John H. Harris of Pittsburgh will present the charter to the club and will be master of ceremonies.

Heck Everett, North Carolina exhibitor, has been chosen chief barker of the new unit.

Clubs Announce Committeemen

Kenneth T. Collins, chief barker of the Indianapolis Variety club, has announced the following standing committees for 1941:

Heart fund (charity)—Wade W. Willman, chairman; George T. Landis, Guy Craig, Dick Frank, Roy Churchill, H. H. Hull, Tom Baker, Larry Shubnell, H. A. Wagner, Joe Smith, Joe Cantor, John Servaas, Al J. Ackerman, H. A. Calloway and L. W. Marriott.

Membership—Fred Greenberg, chairman; Fred Wagoner, Elmer Donnelley, Abe Madison, T. J. Cleary, Herman Booth, Sam Abrams, Herbert Kaufman, Guy Hancock, Abe Gelman, Pete Fortune, Carl Mock, Frank Arens, Gayle Black and William Sherman.

Entertainment—Carl Niesse, chairman; Marc J. Wolf, A. C. Zaring, Milt Ettinger, Ted Liebtag, Claude McKean, Milt Krueger, Dan Penrod, Ralph Iula and Eddie Golden.

House—Art Landes, chairman; Al Blocher, Irv Fendrick, Curtis Butler, William Rosenthal, Harry Hays, Joe Neger, J. H. Stevens, Bob McRaven, Jerry Adams, Jesse Morgan and Al Rust.

Public relations—H. L. (Laddie) Hancock, chairman; Earl Penrod, Harry Markun, Jacob Weiss, Harold Marshall, William Brennan, Roy R. Bair, Fred Heaton, Harry Gorman and Lloyd Carter.

The Indianapolis tent has pledged $7,500 for charity before the 1941 convention.

The Oklahoma City Variety club at its meeting February 22d, appointed the following committees: Membership—Jake Watkins, chairman; Bill Moran, B. J. McKenna, J. N. Byrd, J. J. Devine, Jimmy Hobbs.

Charity—Henry Griffing, chairman; Bill Moran, B. J. McKenna, Sol Davis, J. Eldon Peek.

House—H. R. Falls, chairman; Don James, Jimmy Hobbs, Robert D. Curran, Robert D. Hutchinson, Sol Davis.

Entertainment—Jimmy Burge, chairman; H. R. Falls, Dan James, Tom Read, W. B. Zollner, H. O. Stark.

Finance—W. B. Zollner, chairman, and B. J. McKenna.

Historical—Charles Dees, chairman; Charles W. Clark, Otto Rohde, C. A. Gibbs.

Movies for Shut-Ins—H. O. Stark, Hi Derling, Howard Wortham.

Ways and Means—C. B. Akers, chairman; Jimmy Burge, H. R. Falls, Harold Braucht, Frank Fonvielle, Forrester Swiger.

Publicity—Jimmy Burge, chairman, and C. O. Fulgham.

Detroit Club Elects

The Detroit Variety club has elected as its delegates to the National Convention in Atlantic City in May: Charles C. Perry, manager of the Adams Theatre; John Howard, manager of Paramount Pictures. Alternates are: Frank J. Downey, manager of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, and William Flemion, manager of Producers Releasing Corp.

Mr. Perry was also named delegate to the pre-convention arrangements committee, to meet at Atlantic City on March 22, with David Newman, of the Moule and Newman Circuit, as alternate.

Detroit Tent held its annual circus night on Saturday, March 1st, in the Clubrooms in the Book-Cadillac Hotel. Arrangements were in charge of Bill Carlson, Past Chief Barker of the Club. Special entertainment was furnished by dancers from the Mehlberg Studios.

Noted figures of the circus world, who were in Detroit playing at the Shrine Show at the State Fair Coliseum, were invited for the occasion, including Eddie Stinson, Circus Manager; Orrin Davenport, Equestrian Director; Mickey King, Aerial Artist; The Loyal Repenski Troupe; Emmett Kelly and Otto Griebling, Clowns; Dorothy Herbert, Thrill Equestrienne, and Florence Tennyson, Soprano.

A "Welcome Home" party will be given A. M. Goodman, United Artists branch manager, at the Cleveland, Ohio, Variety club on Monday, March 8th. Plans have been set for an informal stag dinner followed by entertainment. The party marks Mr. Goodman's return to health after a three months' illness. The committee in charge of arrangements are Charles Raymond, Loew division manager; Nat Wolf, Warner zone manager; Charles Rich, Vitagraph branch manager; M. B. Horwitz, of the Washington circuit ,and Norman Levin, Lou Geiger, Harry Leffert and Lester Dowdell of the United Artists exchange.

Exchange employes in Albany, N. Y., have formed the Washington Club, so-called because of its organization date, February 22d. Officers are: Daniel R. Houlihan, Twentieth Century-Fox booker, president, and Elmer Sichel, also a Twentieth Century-Fox booker, secretary. The board of directors comprises A. J. Marchetti, Universal booker; Georgette Bingham, of Columbia, and William Murray of Monogram.

The Variety club of Washington, D. C., on Monday will honor Secretary of Commerce Jesse Jones, recently made an honorary member of every Variety chapter in the country.

He will be guest of honor at a luncheon in the Willard Hotel, at which he will receive a gold membership card. The "kings for a day" will be Carter Barron and Nate Golden.

In Cincinnati, Ohio, Andrew J. Niedenthal, operator of two suburban theatres, has been elected second assistant chief barker of the Variety club of that city. He replaces William Koegel, who was made first assistant when William Onie was advanced from that post to chief barker. Mr. Onie took the place of John S. Allen, who went to Washington, D. C., as branch manager for Metro Goldwyn Mayer.

The Metro Pep Club of New Haven, Conn., has elected Rosemary Patterson president of the organization. Other officers are Molly Smith, vice-president; Anna Caparossi, treasurer, and Ethel Philips, secretary.

IN NEWSREELS

MOVIETONE NEWS—No. 50, Vol. 23.—Canadian planes for Britain....Weygand visits African defense....Quadruplets born in Kentucky....Fort Meade Army cooks....Hume Dam construction in Australia ....Mardi Gras in New Orleans....Fashions.... Sports.

MOVIETONE NEWS—No. 51, Vol. 23.—British capture Libya....Italian prisoners reach India....King and Queen visit naval base....Churchill visits Scotland....American planes arrive in Britain....Plane crash in Georgia....F.D.R. lauds films....Sports.

NEWS OF THE DAY—No. 248, Vol. 12.—Singapore on guard....Quads born in Kentucky....New Orleans Mardi Gras....Brazilian beauty contest....Sports.

NEWS OF THE DAY—No. 249, Vol. 12.—British march toward Tripoli....England alert on Balkan crisis....King and Queen visit Portsmouth.... Bombers to England....F. D. R. lauds films.... Steel strike settled....Miamioutboard accident.

PARAMOUNT NEWS—No. 53.—Quads born in Kentucky....U. S. get art treasury....The truth about Martinique....Wrestling.

PARAMOUNT NEWS—No. 54.—U. S. acts to end strike....Rush U. S.-Canada bridge....Probe fatal plane crash....Foreigners naturalized....Cow gives birth to three calves....Churchill inspects defenses ....British forces continue desert sweep....Sports.

RKO PATHE NEWS—No. 53, Vol. 12.—Fire in Chicago Indo-China truce arranged by Japan....New powder plant in Indiana....Art gallery completed....Naval reservists learn the ropes....“Sea Clipper” put into service....Two-year-old dives like a champ....Sail boats in Winter regatta....Pie eating contest.... Junior bobsledders show skill....Giants start season ....Bankhead tunnel opened.

RKO PATHE NEWS—No. 54, Vol. 12.—U. S. settles strike....Tobruk falls....Academy make film awards ....Winant leaves for London....Fort Myer fire.... Troop transport complete....Roller derby....Horse races....New citizens....Cubs start season....Sports.

UNIVERSAL NEWSREEL—No. 958, Vol. 13.—Oriental peace parley....Speed aluminum for planes....Army cooks graduate....Quads born....Film dogs get awards....Sports.

UNIVERSAL NEWSREEL—No. 959, Vol. 13.—Steel strike ends....British capture Italian fort....Italian prisoners in India....F.D.R. lauds films....Fort Sill troops march....Plane crash in Georgia....Sports.

Minnesota Theatre Closes

The Minnesota theatre which opened in Minneapolis on January 1st, this year, by the Middle States Theatre Corp., under a vaudeville-film policy, has closed for an indefinite period. Louis Armstrong and his orchestra, booked for a week, was canceled. The theatre has shown an almost consistent loss since its opening.

New Series for Columbia

The first of the new series of short subjects, “So You Think You Know Music,” featuring H. W. Van Loon and Elissa Landi, has gone into production at the West Coast Service Studio under the direction of B. K. Blake. Columbia will release the series.

IN COURTS

Court Ruling Halts Sales Tax Levying

In New Orleans Judge Paul E. Chasez of the district court temporarily halted the collection of the city's sales tax when he refused a suspensive appeal from his injunction restraining the collections of the two per cent on grounds that it violated the State Constitution.

The tax applies to film accessory rentals and sales and to all sales of radio, radio parts, and the like. It was placed upon the city by the Mayor and the Commission Council after the State had repealed its one per cent sales tax and concurrently repealed the city's one per cent sales tax.

The suspensive appeal if granted, would have allowed the city to continue collecting the tax pending a hearing by the supreme court. Confusion existed, however, on when the tax would stop. Judge Chasez declared it became illegal to collect it upon the issuance of his injunction. Others pointed out that until service of the order had been performed on the Mayor and Commission Council, the tax was in effect.

Eastman-Agfa Patent Suit Discontinued

A stipulation discontinuing the patent infringement suit of the Eastman Kodak Co. against Agfa Ansco Corp. was filed last Friday, February 28th, in the United States district court. The discontinuance is without prejudice to a renewal of the suit and without costs to either party.

Eastman had sought an injunction, accounting and damages, claiming the defendant was infringing a patent for the manufacture of motion picture film. Agfa denied the charges and claimed that Eastman was seeking to set up a monopoly in the manufacture of films.

"Frankie" Sues Republic

The saga of "Frankie and Johnnie," was revived in the St. Louis circuit court last week as Miss Frankie Baker of Portland, Ore., plaintiff in a $200,000 suit in which she claims her reputation was defamed in a film based on the celebrated story, sought to include Republic Pictures as an additional defendant. Miss Baker claims she is the original "Frankie," and admits the shooting of "Johnnie" 42 years ago, claiming she did so in self-defense. She contends the circumstances were falsely portrayed in the film.

Casanave Argument Postponed

Argument on a motion for consolidation of actions filed against officers of National Screen Service and affiliated companies by Charles Casanave was postponed Tuesday to March 10th in Supreme Court at White Plains. The separate actions seek a declaratory judgment setting forth that the contract between Mr. Casanave, and National Screen's subsidiaries, National Screen Accessories, Inc., and American Display, is valid. Attorneys for National Screen Service are expected to file a motion for a change of venue to New York where the cases would be heard in conjunction with a suit filed in New York County Supreme Court by National Screen Service, through Herman Robbins and Toby Gruen, directors, against Mr. Casanave as vice-president and general manager of National Screen Accessories.

Chaplin Fights Tax Claim

Charlie Chaplin, appearing in the federal court in Los Angeles last week to answer a Government claim that he owes $65,000 more taxes on his 1935 income, contended he is entitled to a $25,000 refund. He said he was unjustly taxed on receipts from United Artists Corp., which he claimed were returns on an investment and not income.

Tax Case Arraigned

Two brothers, Mac and Sol Krim, were arraigned in Detroit, Mich., before Judge Edward J. Moinet of the federal court on charges that they failed to pay taxes on theatre admissions. They pleaded not guilty. The theatres involved are the Harmony, Lasky and Park, neighborhood houses.

Crosley Asks Suit Halt

The Crosley Corp. has filed motion in the United States district court designed to halt prosecution of nine suits by the Haseltine Corp., Jersey City, N. J., charging infringements of as many patents on inventions of radio parts. Dismissal of the bills is asked or an injunction to restrain prosecution of the suits until final determination by the United States district court in Delaware of a cause involving the same companies and the same "subject matter."

Theatre Tax Report

The Mississippi State Tax Commission reports that collection of taxes on theatre admissions in that state during January totaled $35,948.52 against $35,915.98 during the same period last year.

OBITUARIES

C. E. Richardson, Executive, Dies

Charles E. Richardson, formerly treasurer for RKO, trustee for Paramount-Publix, and vice-president and treasurer of the old Fox company, died at his home in Bryn Mawr, Penn., on Thursday, February 27th.

Mr. Richardson, for some time, was a trustee in bankruptcy for the Paramount-Publix Corporation. In May, 1933, he resigned as vice-president and treasurer of Fox film and a member of the finance committee, to become a trustee of the Paramount-Publix organization. He resigned from the trusteeship in December, 1934, but remained as a director of Paramount from the termination of receivership until January, 1936, when he retired from the motion picture business.

He is survived by his widow, Philippa Q. Richardson, and two sons.

Thad Brown, Former FCC Member, Dies

Col. Thad H. Brown, 54, former member of the Federal Communications Commission, died in Cleveland, Ohio, last week. Mr. Brown was president of WJAY, Cleveland, before being appointed general counsel to the FCC.

He was named to the old Federal Radio Commission in 1932 and, subsequently, to the FCC when that body took over the regulation of radio. His six-year term expired last June.

Walter W. Anderson, Columbia Manager, Dies

Walter W. Anderson, Sr., who was branch manager for Columbia in Atlanta, Ga., for the past ten years, died Sunday following a brief illness. Mr. Anderson was 52 years old. He had been in the film business for the past 20 years. He is survived by his wife and one son.

Mrs. Michael Shea

Mrs. Michael Shea, widow of the founder of the Shea Theatres, died in Buffalo, N. Y., Sunday after a protracted illness. She is survived by two brothers, two sisters and a daughter. Funeral services were held Wednesday and the burial was at Mt. Calvary Cemetery.

James A. Golding

James A. Golding, 39, of the staff of the Community theatre in St. John, N. B., died there recently. He is survived by his wife and two children.

Mrs. Thomas L. Davis

Final services for Mrs. Thomas L. Davis, formerly of Philadelphia and wife of T. L. Davis, district manager for United Artists in Atlanta, Ga., were held Sunday at that city. Burial was in West View Cemetery.

John Weitzel

John Weitzel, custodian for Paramount in Cincinnati, Ohio, father of Frank Weitzel of the Alpine circuit, and Miss Edna Weitzel of Columbia, died following a prolonged illness.

Mrs. Helen Barry

Mrs. Helen E. Barry, owner of the Princess theatre in Edmond, Wash., died in that city recently.

Mrs. William Desmond

Mrs. William Desmond, 40, died in Hollywood over the week-end. As Mary McIvor, she was William S. Hart's leading lady in silent films.

William M. McDowell

William H. McDowell, 84, screen player of the early silent days, died in Oakland, Calif., at the Masonic Home.

Robert A. Herring

Robert Allan Herring, 56, co-proprietor of the Mount Royal theatre in Montreal, died suddenly at his home last Friday, February 28th.

MPTOA Sets Convention Dates For June 2 to 6

The national convention of the Motion Picture Theatre Owners of America has been definitely set for June 2nd to 6th but a final decision has not been made as yet on the convention city, Ed Kuykendall, president of the organization announced Monday. The convention, which was set tentatively for Los Angeles in May several weeks ago, was changed, Mr. Kuykendall said, when it was learned that other organizations had scheduled their conventions during May. Among them the national Variety Clubs' convention, the Society of Motion Picture Engineers and the Pacific Coast Conference of Independent Theatre Owners, the latter at Los Angeles.

Mr. Kuykendall left for Washington, D. C., Monday night after attending a meeting of the theatres coordinating committee on national defense at Joseph Bernhard's office at Warner Brothers in New York, Monday afternoon.

Iowa ITO Meet Set

The Independent Theatre Owners of Iowa and Nebraska plan to hold their annual meeting in Des Moines, Iowa, Monday and Tuesday, March 10th and 11th. Election of officers and the numerous bills affecting theatres that have been proposed in the legislature will be the main business of the meeting. Leo F. Wolcott of Eldora, Ia., is president of the organization.

It has been announced the New York unit of National Allied will have no president but will function under the direction of a board of directors and a business manager, similar to the setup of the Eastern Pennsylvania Allied group. Until a board can be elected a committee of six will head the unit.

The committee of six will be composed of two men from each of the state units. From New York City area the committee will be represented by Max Cohen and Bob Goldblatt; the Albany territory will be represented by Leonard Rosenthal and Abe Stone, while the Buffalo region will elect its representatives at a meeting scheduled for March 18th.

The date for a state-wide meeting at which the directors will be elected is expected to be set shortly.

Allied Hears Peaslee

The March board meeting of the Allied Theatre Owners of the Northwest was held last Monday after the luncheon meeting at the Twin Cities Variety club of the Greek War Relief committee. E. L. Peaslee, president of Northwest Allied, spoke and reported on his recent visit to New York and Washington.

Efforts are being made by the group to work out with distributors a solution of the clearance problem which is worrying southern Minnesota and northern Iowa exhibitors. Threats of individual retaliation against distributors supplying product for showings at a dance hall at Chatfield, Minn., marked the meeting.

Riley Starts Road Show

Lucius J. Riley, of Durham, N. C., has embarked on the road show business by starting with a circuit of several small towns surrounding Durham. His first set of equipment was S.O.S. 35 mm portables, and expects to add more equipment later.

Testimonials for Swaab, Simons and Dr. Levy

Lewis M. Swaab, connected with the motion picture industry for many years in and around Philadelphia, will be feted April 5th on his 75th birthday. On February 28th, he and Mrs. Swaab celebrated their golden wedding anniversary. He started with Luban in Philadelphia in 1897, remaining there seven years. In 1904 he entered the film and supply field, in which he remained until his retirement in 1927, when he sold out to National Theatre Supply.

In Hartford, Conn., Monday night, Jack Simons, former manager of the Loew-Poli, promoted to Springfield, was honored at a farewell dinner at the Club Ferdinando, with Lou Cohen, his successor at the Loew-Poli, also a guest. Harry Shaw, Lou Brown, managers from all Loew-Poli theatres, and other theatres in Hartford, attended.

The Philadelphia Variety Club has postponed the formal dinner dance to be tendered Dr. Leon Levy, the new chief barker. Originally scheduled for Saturday, the date was shifted until Dr. Levy returns from Florida.

AMPA Appoints Nominating Group

The Association of Motion Picture Advertisers at a closed meeting at the Hotel Edison in New York last week selected a nominating committee which will choose the slate of officers for the ensuing year. The committee is to report before April 10th.

The committee includes: John C. Flinn, chairman; Ray Gallagher, S. Barret McCormick, Ed McNamee, Charles Alicoate, Joel Swenson and Hortense Shorr. Hap Hadley was named first alternate.

For the first time, trade paper representatives will have the right to vote, it was decided at the meeting. The meeting also ruled that no member of the nominating committee can be recommended for office.

At the luncheon meeting scheduled for Thursday of this week at the Hotel Edison William F. Rodgers, general sales manager of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, was to be the honored guest speaker, with Harry Goldberg of Warner theatres as toastmaster.

Meanwhile it has been announced that Martin Starr has been appointed editor of the AMPA's souvenir journal for the organization's Silver Jubilee dinner and dance at the Hotel Edison on April 4th.

Jeffrey Contracts Signed

Jeffery Pictures Corp. has announced the closing of a distribution deal on "Cavalcade of Faith" for Canada and Central American countries. During Mr. Jeffrey's recent visit to Montreal he closed a deal to produce a feature picture having a Canadian background together with six short subjects in color with French, Spanish and English dialogue.

Des Moines Sales Changes

E. R. Rushing, film salesman for various motion picture companies in Des Moines, Iowa, has been appointed salesman at the Monogram office in that city. Gene Post, formerly booker at the Republic exchange in that city, has been made booker at the Universal film exchange replacing Charles Elder.

Fourth Screen Treatment For 'Charley's Aunt'

"Charley's Aunt," stage farce written in 1890 by Brandon Thomas, will appear on the screen for the fourth time when 20th Century-Fox releases the version which it is now preparing for Jack Benny, radio comedian. It is doubtful if any story has received as many screen versions, and theatre historians say that only Hamlet has been given more stage productions than the story of the college lad who masquerades as his classmate's aunt to aid the course of true love.

Mr. Thomas, a successful English playwright of the late 19th century, wrote "Charley's Aunt" in 1890 for W. S. Penley. It was first played at Bury St. Edmonds in February, 1890, and staged in London in December, 1890. Fifty years later, on October 17, 1940 it was revived at the Cort Theater, New York, and in its 21st week continues as one of the box office successes of the current season.

First motion picture version of the play was produced by Al Christie in 1923 with Syd Chaplin in the role of Lord Fancourt Babberley. Mr. Thomas, during his lifetime refused to sell cinema rights and it was not until 1922 that Mr. Christie was able to negotiate permission from Mrs. Thomas.

Mr. Christie produced a talking version of the successful silent film for Columbia in 1930. Charles Ruggles, June Collyer and Hugh Williams appeared in the screenplay which ran for several years. Arthur Askey, British radio comedian, appeared in the latest film version, "Charley's Big-Hearted Aunt," produced by Gainsborough in 1939. 20th Century-Fox purchased screen rights anew from Gainsborough and the Brandon Thomas Company of London, last month, at a reported price of $110,000. Writers have been sent East to study the modernized acting script prepared by Jose Ferrer, star of the current New York show, and plans to photograph the stage business are under consideration.

Under provisions of the Brandon Thomas will, rights to the play are limited to a seven-year period after which they revert to the estate. For each motion picture version it has been necessary to repurchase the screen rights. Mr. Thomas' son and daughter currently receive revenues of the Brandon Thomas company. The estate is said to have received over $1,000,000 in royalties since Mr. Thomas' death in 1913.

Forest Service Signs Yorke

Emerson Yorke, independent short subject producer, has been engaged by the United States Forest Service to write and produce an original one-reel subject, "Big Game of Alaska." Location footage from Alaska has already been filmed by Jimmy Yolo.

Sloan Acquires Theatres

Alvin F. Sloan, of Washington, N. J., has announced the acquisition of three theatres in Hunterton, Sussex and Warren counties in New Jersey. Mr. Sloan's circuit numbers a dozen new houses, controlled by the St. Cloud Corporation.

SO STARTS 2nd SMASH WEEK RADIO CITY MUSIC HALL!

as

SO ENDS OUR NIGHT

adds another hit engagement to its record, with

SO MUCH PRAISE . . . from Walter Winchell who says: "Orchids to 'So Ends Our Night'. Good cinema with Sullavan and March being their talented selves!" . . from Time Magazine which reports: "It has the pace of a thriller!" . . from the New York Daily News which writes: "An outstanding picture, poignantly dramatic!"

starring FREDRIC MARCH · MARGARET SULLAVAN · FRANCES DEE

with Glenn Ford · Anna Sten and Erich Von Stroheim

Directed by JOHN CROMWELL · Screenplay by Talbot Jennings · From the novel "Flotsam" by Erich Maria Remarque · [illegible] ARTISTS

MORE HOUSES TURN TO STAGE SHOW WITH FILM

Trend Attributed by Circuit Heads to Public Reaction to Double Feature Programs

In some key cities more vaudeville and stage shows are being adopted as a selling attraction at motion picture theatres which are reverting from a straight film policy because, some say, of the lack of available "top" product, or because of public dissatisfaction with double features.

New York's Paramount theatre in the heart of Times Square will, as it has in years past, continue to feature name bands interspersed with personalities of stage, screen, radio and night club. The theatre has announced the booking of eleven bands and a score of specialty attractions tentatively set to July 4th.

The increasing interest in vaudeville by patrons, and a general disinterest in dual bills are given as the reasons why Fay's theatre in Providence, R. I., has returned to a vaudeville-and-screen policy after eight months of operation as a double feature theatre.

Comerford Houses Have Shows

Two theatres in the Comerford circuit have partly returned to vaudeville. Operating on an alternating schedule, the Capitol theatre in Scranton, Pa., and the Capitol at Wilkes-Barre offer vaudeville three days a week, the show being presented the first three days of the week in Wilkes-Barre and the last three days in Scranton. The Family theatre, an independent in Scranton, also offers vaudeville the last three days of each week.

Three vaudeville units are touring western Pennsylvania's smaller city theatres, Sid Marke, booker for the units, has reported, and several name bands have been placed into suburban theatres.

The top draw of the units, Mr. Marke said, is Joe Carson's "Studio Scandals." After covering its present schedule the troupe will travel to the midwest for appearances and then return for other shows in Pennsylvania. Playing, for the most part, one-night stands, the units usually play percentage to a raised admission price averaging 40 cents.

Other units in western Pennsylvania playing both Warner and independent theatres are Ed Gardner's "Sensations of 1941," and June Carr's "Parisian Creations."

According to theatre executives of the Stanley in Pittsburgh, Pa., a business pickup was reported following the inauguration of vaudeville a few weeks ago, while the Casino theatre in that city has also reported better business after four new acts were added to the standard burlesque unit.

Frank Shenkel, publicity director of the Casino, maintains that the burlesque circuit, with 14 theatres on the eastern wheel and 14 on the western, could become the nucleus of a circuit similar to the old Keith route. Occasional stage appearances of name bands and units at suburban theatres also draw bigger grosses than straight pictures.

The RKO Palace theatre in Columbus, Ohio, which ordinarily plays straight pictures, with an occasional stage show, will play a combination policy of stage shows and pictures for at least four consecutive weeks. It has not been announced whether the policy will be permanent.

The Minneapolis vaudeville war which started when the 4,000-seat Minnesota theatre reopened January 1st, with a name band policy, continues to wage despite the fact that it was announced recently that the Minnesota had closed down following several weeks of unprofitable operation.

Harry Hirsch and Harry Katz are understood to be preparing the Alvin theatre in Minneapolis, for reopening under a vaudeville-film policy. The Princess, catering to the city's section east of the Mississippi River, is also understood to be contemplating a part-week vaudeville bill in addition to films.

Best Season in Six Years

From Charlotte, N. C., the Wilby-Kincey circuit reports that vaudeville is now enjoying its best season in six years. The circuit covers 150 theatres in southeastern states. According to T. D. Kemp, Jr., vaudeville booker for the circuit, there are at present 25 units, averaging 25 persons to the unit, playing the company's theatres from West Virginia to Florida.

A number of theatres of the circuit have extended their vaudeville engagements. The National theatre in Richmond, Va., has gone into a policy of full-week stage shows, while the Granby theatre in Norfolk, Va., patronized for the most part by sailors, was to have set the same policy last Saturday. At mid-February the Broadway in Charlotte, N. C., changed its policy to showing units every Friday and Saturday instead of on alternate weeks.

Paul Savoy, of the Coast-to-Coast agency, in Los Angeles from Salt Lake City has announced the acquisition of approximately four weeks of vaudeville playing time for Earl Carroll's Vanities in the Salt Lake region. The towns include Salt Lake, Logan and Ogden in Utah, and Bocatello, Twin Falls, Idaho Falls and Pinney in Idaho.

In addition, Mr. Savoy said he was able to offer turns of about ten weeks of night club spots in the area, plus four weeks of playing time in and around Denver.

The Fox theatre, operated by Fanchon & Marco in St. Louis, has dropped its vaudeville-film policy for a straight motion picture policy after 14 weeks. Clyde Brown, manager of the theatre, said the unavailability of stage shows necessitated the change. Glenn Miller's orchestra is scheduled for a one-week engagement at the theatre beginning March 29th, but no statement has been forthcoming as to whether any other band or stage show will follow.

Smakwitz Wins in Campaign

Charles Smakwitz, of the Strand Theatre, Albany, is the winner in the national contest for the most outstanding exploitation campaign in a theatre for the Hal Roach production, "One Million, B.C." The contest was run by the Roach studio and United Artists, the distributor; and the prize is a Buick automobile.

Brandt, Levine Incorporate

Branrep, Inc., has been incorporated by Harry Brandt, Louis Levine and Marty Levine, to operate the Lake theatre in Cleveland, Ohio, which has been leased from Warner Brothers. Under Warner operation the Lake has been opened and closed serveral times during the past two years.

Lloyd Joins Goldberg Circuit

Roland Lloyd of San Francisco, has joined Aaron Goldberg's district circuit as chief booker.

Katharine Cornell Aids For Junior Programs

In a statement pleading for the support of "all who wish to save and develop the world's cultural heritage in these critical times with the rest of the world torn by the horrors of war," Katharine Cornell assumed leadership of a national sponsoring committee of 100 distinguished American artists and patrons of the arts for the 1,750th performance celebration of Junior Programs, Inc., a non-commercial organization providing professional stage entertainment to children throughout the country.

Joining with Helen Hayes, Lawrence Tibbett, Gladys Swarthout, John Erskine, Richard Crooks, Mrs. Paul D. Cravath and many other leaders in the art world, Miss Cornell urged all who have a devotion to the youth of today and the theatre to contribute in the campaign of Junior Programs to raise $31,205, and keep professional companies of opera and ballet from disbanding.

Motion Picture Program Aids Dodge Promotion

A traveling motion picture enterprise has been put into the field by the manufacturers of Dodge passenger cars and trucks. The original Dodge car used by the Denis-Roosevelt Expedition in filming "Wheels Across India," has been put into service by the Dodge Film Department to assist Dodge dealers in planning and executing free motion picture programs.

Reports received of shows given in the dealers' showrooms, lecture halls, motion picture theatres, city halls, clubs, churches, schools and other meeting places has attracted many. The traveling unit also shows such films as "Army on Wheels," "Land of the Free," "Years of Progress," "A Chance to Lose," "Highway Bound," "Major Bowes" and "Thrill Hunters."

Exhibitors Fight Auditorium

Exhibitors of Portland, Ore., have gone on record against making any contribution to a campaign for a $50,000 civic theatre building. The building would include an auditorium seating 342 persons and motion picture theatre operators feel that it would be competition for their product. The campaign is headed by Mayor Earl Riley.

Altec Service for Schines

The Schine circuit has renewed an agreement with Altec Service by which the theatres will be provided with sound service, repairs and replacements, and complete theatre inspection to the 117 Schine theatres. The deal was negotiated by Guy Selmser for Schine and Bert Sanford for Altec.

Nicholas Opens Agency

Ted Nicholas, former manager of the Lyric, a motion picture and vaudeville theatre in Indianapolis, Ind., has opened an advertising agency at 431 Lemcke Building in that city. The agency will handle newspaper and radio advertising. Mr. Nicholas was advertising manager of the Circle and Indiana theatre in Indianapolis a decade ago.

Hornig Elected Group Head

Louis Hornig, real estate and insurance manager for Fox Midwest in Kansas City, has been elected president of the Broadway Association there.

Follow the Leaders of the Industry!

HARRY WARNER
SPYROS SKOURAS
BOB O'DONNELL
HARRY ARTHUR
JOHN H. HARRIS
SAM DEMBOW, Jr.
have seen and enthusiastically booked this sensational motion picture scoop in their theatres..

THE GREATEST HEADLINE NAMES IN THE WORLD TODAY...TOGETHER IN ONE EXTRAORDINARY FILM!

DOROTHY THOMPSON

America's "First Lady of Journalism"; noted columnist and National Broadcasting Company's ace commentator.

WILLIAM L. SHIRER

Foreign correspondent; for many years Columbia Broadcasting Company's chief newsgatherer in Berlin.

WYTHE WILLIAMS

Commentator over Mutual Network; famous war correspondent, noted for his uncanny foreign affairs prophecies.

LINTON WELLS

Former United Press star reporter, famed for broadcasts from the Orient and other trouble spots.

in the First Round-Table of the Screen

International Forum

New! Timely! Different! Exciting!

THEY DARE SPEAK THEIR MINDS FRANKLY... Uncensored!

COLUMBIA PICTURES

A COLUMBIA SPECIAL 2-REEL PRESENTATION, FIRST OF A NEW SERIES • NO. 1 RELEASED NOW!

A William Rowland Production • Burnet Hershey, Supervising Editor

WHAT THE PICTURE DID FOR ME

In this, the exhibitors' own department, the theatremen of the nation serve one another with information on the box-office performance of product for their mutual benefit. It is a service of the exhibitor for the exhibitor. Address all communications to—
What the Picture Did for Me
Rockefeller Center, New York
MOTION PICTURE HERALD

Columbia

AMAZING MR. WILLIAMS: Melvyn Douglas, Joan Blondell—A good detective story. A good cast which supports this feature, making it that more comical. Running time, 86 minutes.—George S. Caporal, Yale Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. Neighborhood patronage.

ANGELS OVER BROADWAY: Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., Rita Hayworth—Didn't do so hot on this one. Had a few walkouts. Was too far-fetched for our small town. Played February 4.—Fred C. Allen, Princess Theatre, Piedmont, Ala. Small town patronage.

ANGELS OVER BROADWAY: Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., Rita Hayworth—No good; leave it alone. Not what the title may suppose.—R. C. Metzger, Ritz Theatre, Winner, S. D. General patronage.

ARIZONA: Jean Arthur, William Holden—Best picture for a long time.—M. B. Hasty, Joy Theatre, Dardanelle, Ark. Small town and rural patronage.

ARIZONA: Jean Arthur, William Holden, Edgar Buchanan—Carefully produced. Arthur very good as usual, but would rather see Jeannie in a more modern role. Audiences found picture very entertaining. Good business, held over three days after one week capacity. Wish Jean Arthur would send us one of those delicious apple pies. Our audiences' mouths were watering. "Judge" excellent. Running time, 122 minutes. Played January 23-29.—Lloyd M. Mills, Elgin Theatre, Ottawa, Ontario, Canada. General patronage.

BLONDIE BRINGS UP BABY: Penny Singleton, Arthur Lake, Larry Sims—The best of the "Blondie" series. Running time, 69 minutes.—George S. Caporal, Yale Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. Neighborhood patronage.

ESCAPE TO GLORY: Pat O'Brien, Constance Bennett—This is not a top picture, but stood up to average business for Thursday and Friday.—M. B. Hasty, Joy Theatre, Dardanelle, Ark. Small town and rural patronage.

HOWARDS OF VIRGINIA, THE: Carol Grant, Martha Scott, Richard Carlson, Sir Cedric Hardwicke—Well produced historical drama that attracted a fair business on Sunday and Monday and gave general satisfaction. Running time, 112 minutes. Played February 16-17.—A. E. Andrews, Emporium Theatre, Emporium, Pa. General patronage.

MILITARY ACADEMY: Tommy Kelly, Bobby Jordan—This was doubled with "Melody Ranch." As a military school picture, it more than holds its own and if that type of picture is welcomed in certain theatres, this can be booked with confidence.—J. E. Stocker, Myrtle Theatre, Detroit, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

MR. SMITH GOES TO WASHINGTON: James Stewart, Jean Arthur—A good picture, but too long and too much talking. If they cut this extra talking out, it would have made an excellent picture. Running time, 130 minutes. Played January 5-8.—George S. Caporal, Yale Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. Neighborhood patronage.

NOBODY'S CHILDREN: Edith Fellows, Lois Wilson—Doubled featured with "Remedy for Riches" on bargain night and guess the public thought as I did. It was no bargain, so they stayed away and I lost money with the engagement. If you think you can get your public to come and sit through this kind of stuff nowadays, try it; "You'll Find Out." Played February 25.—A. E. Andrews, Emporium Theatre, Emporium, Pa. General patronage.

ONLY ANGELS HAVE WINGS: Cary Grant, Jean Arthur—This feature was too long. If it wasn't for this, it would have made an excellent feature. Played November 23-27.—George S. Caporal, Yale Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. Neighborhood patronage.

THIS THING CALLED LOVE: Melvyn Douglas, Rosalind Russell—The funniest film ever produced, bar none, and the biggest business since "Foreign Correspondent" with us. Every day for six days it increased business, giving us a new house record. Comments very good. A few moral objectors, but only served to drive in more business. We can take many more like this. Douglas and Russell a perfect team. Picture still playing to capacity on second week. Running time, 94 minutes.—Lloyd M. Mills, Elgin Theatre, Ottawa, Ontario, Canada. General patronage.

TOO MANY HUSBANDS: Melvyn Douglas, Jean Arthur, Fred MacMurray—A good comedy picture which wowed our audience. Also had an excellent cast. Running time, 82 minutes.—George S. Caporal, Yale Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. Neighborhood patronage.

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer

BITTER SWEET: Jeanette MacDonald, Nelson Eddy, Felix Bressart, Curt Bois—I do not know how this would have gone over on a good date, but had as competition a three-day basketball tournament, so did not make expenses. Nelson and Jeanette give their usual super-excellent performance. Music good, color and costumes beautiful, story rather uninteresting. Too much Felix Bressart and Curt Bois. Give this popular team a good American picture, Leo, and watch them go to town. Running time, 94 minutes. Played February 21-23.—Gladys E. McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kan. Small town patronage.

BITTER SWEET: Jeanette MacDonald, Nelson Eddy—Highbrow entertainment, but no good for Middle West states. Many walkouts.—R. C. Metzger, Ritz Theatre, Winner, S. D. General patronage.

BITTER SWEET: Jeanette MacDonald, Nelson Eddy—I was worried about this because your reports have not been too good as far as box-office is concerned. With the help of a benefit performance, we managed to do high average business. The audience liked the music and color, but disliked the story. Even though MGM spends money on the pictures, Eddy-MacDonald films are just not what they used to be. I think they should stick to light comedy. Running time, 92 minutes. Played February 18.—W. Varick Nevins III, Alfred Co-Op. Theatre, Alfred, N. Y. Small college town and rural patronage.

COMRADE X: Clark Gable, Hedy Lamarr—A real picture. However, it was the "stars" that drew our good crowd, and some said the picture was not good enough for these great stars. Running time, 88 minutes. Played February 2-3.—Ray Peacock, Onalaska Theatre, Onalaska, Wash. Loggers and mill workers patronage.

DR. KILDARE'S CRISIS: Lionel Barrymore, Lew Ayres—Good picture; fair business. Running time, 74 minutes. Played February 18.—E. M. Freiburger, Paramount Theatre, Dewey, Okla. Small town patronage.

FLIGHT COMMAND: Robert Taylor, Ruth Hussey—Good picture, but small business, due to snow storm. Running time, 113 minutes. Played February 19-20.—E. M. Freiburger, Paramount Theatre, Dewey, Okla. Small town patronage.

GALLANT SONS: Jackie Cooper, Gene Reynolds—Good week-end picture. The young folks especially liked it and we had no complaint from the adults. We could use more pictures like this on Friday and Saturday. Played February 7-8.—S. L. George, Mountain Home Theatre, Mountain Home, Idaho. Small town patronage.

GO WEST: Marx Bros.—Just right for our patrons. They like pictures of this type, and while some of the women stay away, we get enough extras to more than make up for them. Thought this was about the best of the Marx pictures, and it pleased better than average business. Played January 31-February 1st.—S. L. George, Mountain Home Theatre, Mountain Home, Idaho. Small town patronage.

GO WEST: Marx Bros.—Best Marx Bros. have made in quite a while. It will do good at the box-office.—M. B. Hasty, Joy Theatre, Dardanelle, Ark. Small town and rural patronage.

GO WEST: Marx Bros.—Here is the best Marx picture in a long time. They are more like they used to be when they first became popular. If you have Marx fans, they'll come and laugh themselves sick, especially during the last 20 minutes. The piano playing of Chico, the harp playing of Harpo, and the humor of Groucho are all top-notch. This drew excellently when doubled with "Tin Pan Alley." Plenty of good comments from everyone. Running time, 83 minutes. Played February 21-22.—W. Varick Nevins III, Alfred Co-Op Theatre, Alfred, N. Y. Small college town and rural patronage.

GO WEST: Marx Bros.—Our people liked this one, and made it known at the box-office. Running time, 82 minutes. Played February 7-8.—Ray Peacock, Onalaska Theatre, Onalaska, Wash. Loggers and mill workers patronage.

LITTLE NELLY KELLY: Judy Garland, George Murphy—One of the best audience pictures we have had in the past year. Everybody liked it and told us so. Did a little better than average business. Played January 19-20.—S. L. George, Mountain Home Theatre, Mountain Home, Idaho. Small town patronage.

MAISIE WAS A LADY: Ann Sothern, Lew Ayres, Maureen O'Sullivan—Another good "Maisie" picture. Lew Ayres, as the brightly lit playboy, gives his best performance, topping "Dr. Kildare" series. Balance of cast fair, but "Maisie" and Lew are the whole show. A longer carnival sequence would have helped. Running time, 79 minutes. Played February 14-16.—Gladys E. McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kan. Small town patronage.

PRIDE AND PREJUDICE: Greer Garson, Laurence Olivier, Maureen O'Sullivan, Edna May Oliver—Have been juggling this one around, wondering just what to do with it. I found out and am glad it's over with and the daughters are married. No better or no worse than any of the other costume pictures we are forced to play. How it got into the group of the 10 best is beyond me. Running time, 118 minutes. Played February 19-20.—A. E. Andrews, Emporium Theatre, Emporium, Pa. General patronage.

THIRD FINGER, LEFT HAND: Melvyn Douglas, Myrna Loy—Not a bad picture, but Douglas has done much better. We couldn't make pictures like this pay if we got them for a dollar a dozen. Our folks want a little more action. Played January 26-27.—S. L. George, Mountain Home Theatre, Mountain Home, Idaho. Small town patronage.

THIRD FINGER, LEFT HAND: Myrna Loy, Melvyn Douglas, Raymond Walburn, Donald Meek—An excellent comedy that pleased. Myrna Loy is tops, and while I would much rather see her teamed with William Powell, Melvyn Douglas gives a satisfactory performance. Of course, in my opinion, William Powell would have been better. It is comedy all the way and that is what they want in these days. Myrna gives an imitation of a girl from the wrong side of the railroad track that is the high light. Raymond Walburn is very good and Donald Meek is excellent in a small part. Running time, 96 minutes. Played February 7-9.—Gladys E. McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kan. Small town patronage.

WILD MAN OF BORNEO: Frank Morgan, Billie Burke, Bonita Granville—Fair picture; fair business. Running time, 78 minutes. Played February 21-22.—E. M. Frieburger, Paramount Theatre, Dewey, Okla. Small town patronage.

Monogram

APE, THE: Boris Karloff, Maris Wrixon; HUMAN MONSTER, THE: Bela Lugosi—This double bill was first played at a small first run theatre as a horror show. It proved a drawing card, staying

(Continued on page 60)

THE GREATEST LOVE STORY IN SOUND PICTURE HISTORY!

OSCAR LOVES ERPI!

It is significant that throughout its eleven year history, the sound recording award of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences has been made every year to ERPI licensees using Western Electric equipment. Congratulations to the individuals and Sound Departments who have won the awards!

This Year's Winner:

Douglas Shearer... MGM..."Strike Up The Band"

Electrical Research Products Inc.

195 Broadway, New York, N. Y.

Subsidiary of Western Electric Company

(Continued from page 58)

four weeks; some subsequent runs also reported this bill as a drawing card, so I booked this show on my best playing time, which in my case is Thursday-Friday-Saturday, with the result that for me it proved a decided drawing card of about 25 per cent above a good average. An unusual amount of youngsters came; the adults also were above average. The show was advertised as an out and out horror show with the "Can you take it?" angle. "The Human Monster" is a sure shock and shiver picture with a human monster doing his stuff. There were some screams, but no one fainted. For a shock picture this delivers. The heroine is saved and the monster gets his just dues. "The Ape" can be used in a shock show or on a regular program. It is a picture well above average with suspense, thrills and heart interest and is a credit to the producers.—J. E. Stocker, Myrtle Theatre, Detroit, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

BOYS OF THE CITY: Bobby Jordan, Leo Gorcey, David O'Brien, Ina Gest—This picture will stand alone. Played in mid-week to exceptional good business. Book it, by all means. Best picture Monogram has put out.—M. B. Hasty, Joy Theatre, Dardanelle, Ark. Small town and rural patronage.

PIONEER DAYS: Jack Randall—Played on mid-week date. We find that a western will do more business in mid-week than most of ordinary program pictures. Played February 12.—Fred C. Allen, Princess Theatre, Piedmont, Ala. Small town patronage.

TORPEDO RAIDER, THE: John Mills, Barry Mackay—A good picture worth booking. This beats all sea stories with a small cast. Running time, 55 minutes.—George S. Caporal, Yale Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. Neighborhood patronage.

Paramount

ARISE, MY LOVE: Claudette Colbert, Ray Milland, Dennis O'Keefe, Walter Abel—This is a very good picture. Pleased everybody that was at the show. Buy it, play it, as everybody wants to see it. Running time, 113 minutes. Played January 26-27.—Levi F. Roberts, New Theatre, Faulkton, S. D. Small town and rural patronage.

LIFE WITH HENRY: Jackie Cooper, Leila Ernst, Eddie Bracken, Hedda Hopper—The Aldrich Family. Here is a natural. We did a big business on this and it seemed to please everybody. Play it, advertise it, as the public will like it. Played February 14-15.—Levi F. Roberts, New Theatre, Faulkton, S. D. Small town and rural patronage.

LOVE THY NEIGHBOR: Jack Benny, Fred Allen, Mary Martin, Eddie Anderson (Rochester)—Benny has top ranking in radio. He had better stick to that line. This picture with the bickering between Fred Allen is plain boring, and I know the audience reaction (they have heard the same stuff from these two on the radio time after time) and certainly the laughs were few and far between. It would have been a complete washout if it had not been for Rochester and his girl. You get some Benny fans, that's true. It is no innovation to get the same line on the screen that comes over the air. And, further, I will lay odds that Rochester has more pull, in any of Benny's pictures, than Benny himself. And I base that on the chuckles that were audible every time he came into the picture. And the lack of any enthusiasm for Benny and Allen—A. E. Hancock, Columbia Theatre, Columbia City, Ind. General patronage.

LOVE THY NEIGHBOR: Jack Benny, Fred Allen, Mary Martin, Eddie Anderson (Rochester)—Good business at box-office.—M. B. Hasty, Joy Theatre, Dardanelle, Ark. Small town and rural patronage.

MOON OVER BURMA: Dorothy Lamour, Preston Foster, Robert Preston—Very good show. Did average business for us, although rain first day and very cold weather second day. Should please in any situation. Lamour is losing out here. Played February 13-14.—Fred C. Allen, Princess Theatre, Piedmont, Ala. Small town patronage.

NIGHT AT EARL CARROLL'S, A: Ken Murray, Rose Hobart—You can skip this and not miss a thing. I lost money even on mid-week days.—M. B. Hasty, Joy Theatre, Dardanelle, Ark. Small town and rural patronage.

NORTH WEST MOUNTED POLICE: Gary Cooper, Madeleine Carroll, Paulette Goddard, Preston Foster, Robert Preston—Great picture for our folks. Beautiful color, fine action and wonderful outdoor scenery. A little too realistic for the women in some spots, but they came any way. It rained on us three nights, but even then business was much better than average. Played February 9-12.—S. L. George, Mountain Home Theatre, Mountain Home, Idaho. Small town patronage.

NORTH WEST MOUNTED POLICE: Gary Cooper, Madeleine Carroll, Paulette Goddard, Preston Foster, Robert Preston—Revolves around the rebellion of the Metis, a half-breed people, against the Canadian Government in 1885. Pleased say to 100 per cent to any picture I ever played. The mightiest picture I ever played in color. Two great love stories, 1,000 unforgettable thrills. Yes, Cecil B. DeMille sure did pick a cast, which are Paulette Goddard, Preston Foster, Robert Preston, Akim Tamiroff, Lynne Overman, George Bancroft, Lon Chaney, Jr., and Walter Hampden. This is one show every theatre should play, and every person should see. Played February 16-17.—Levi F. Roberts, New Theatre, Faulkton, S. D. Small town and rural patronage.

RANGERS OF FORTUNE: Fred MacMurray, Patricia Morison, Albert Dekker—One of Paramount's prize packages of which they are supposed to deliver in quantities this season. It is nothing better than an ordinary action picture and box-office receipts were far below average, while the allocation was up in the percentage brackets. I am sorry now that I was one of them to help save this company account of the loss of their foreign markets. Running time, 90 minutes. Played February 21-22.—A. E. Andrews, Emporium Theatre, Emporium, Pa. General patronage.

ROAD TO SINGAPORE: Bing Crosby, Bob Hope, Dorothy Lamour—A good picture. Don't miss booking this picture. Running time, 85 minutes.—George S. Caporal, Yale Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. Neighborhood patronage.

SECOND CHORUS: Fred Astaire, Paulette Goddard—I call this a poor picture and so did most of the customers. It certainly was a disappointment. Supposed to be a comedy and there wasn't a laugh in the 80 minutes. Very little dancing and the same swing tune was nerve-wracking. Poor lines, poor photography, poor picture. Played February 14-15.—S. L. George, Mountain Home Theatre, Mountain Home, Idaho. Small town patronage.

TYPHOON: Dorothy Lamour, Robert Preston—Just fair, not as good as "Hurricane." Running time, 71 minutes.—George S. Caporal, Yale Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. Neighborhood patronage.

VICTORY: Fredric March, Betty Field—A very fine well played picture, but did only average business. Played February 6-7.—Fred C. Allen, Princess Theatre, Piedmont, Ala. Small town patronage.

VICTORY: Fredric March, Betty Field—Fair picture, fair business. Some liked it; some didn't. Running time, 80 minutes. Played February 11.—E. M. Freiburger, Paramount Theatre, Dewey, Okla. Small town patronage.

Republic

BORDER LEGION, THE: Roy Rogers, George Hayes, Carol Hughes—For western lovers I would say this is about average. We did nicely.—Harland Rankin, Plaza Theatre, Tilbury, and Alexander Theatre, Wallaceburg, Ontario, Canada. General patronage.

BORDER LEGION, THE: Roy Rogers, George Hayes, Carol Hughes—This was doubled with "The Little Accident." As westerns go, this is a good western and should add to Roy Rogers' popularity. This program did good average business for us.—J. E. Stocker, Myrtle Theatre, Detroit, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

IN OLD MONTEREY: Gene Autry, Smiley Burnette—Not as good as his usual pictures, but pleased our audience. Running time, 73 minutes. Played January 16-18.—George S. Caporal, Yale Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. Neighborhood patronage.

MELODY RANCH: Gene Autry, Jimmy Durante, Ann Miller, George Hayes, Mary Lee—To report on a Gene Autry picture is almost needless. This special gives you more of him, being 84 minutes instead of 65. Durante as the comedy partner is okay as the comedy foil. This proved good box-office. Our opposition did not play this, which did not hurt in the least. This was doubled with "Military Academy."—J. E. Stocker, Myrtle Theatre, Detroit, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

RKO Radio

LI'L ABNER: Granville Owen, Mona Ray, Johnnie Morris, Martha O'Driscoll—Fair. Might get by on a double bill or bargain night.—R. C. Metzger, Ritz Theatre, Winner, S. D. General patronage.

LOST PATROL, THE (reissue): Victor McLaglen, Boris, Karloff—A good picture for the men, but too cruel for the women, but a good picture. Running time, 73 minutes.—George S. Caporal, Yale Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. Neighborhood patronage.

MARINES FLY HIGH, THE: Richard Dix, Chester Morris, Lucille Ball—This was doubled with "Saps at Sea" and is above the average air drama as this supplies many laughs in addition to the usual sky thrills.—J. E. Stocker, Myrtle Theatre, Detroit, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

MEXICAN SPITFIRE OUT WEST: Leon Errol, Lupe Velez—The picture itself was okay and gave general satisfaction, but the receipts were terrible. Used on a double bill and lost money. No fault with the picture if you can get them in to see it. Running time, 76 minutes. Played February 18.—A. E. Andrews, Emporium Theatre, Emporium, Pa. General patronage.

NO, NO, NANETTE: Anna Neagle, Richard Carlson—Poorest for a long time. Rated as a special in the same careless manner as RKO usually does. Failed to draw on bargain night.—R. C. Metzger, Ritz Theatre, Winner, S. D. General patronage.

NO, NO, NANETTE: Anna Neagle, Richard Carlson, Roland Young—The accent is on the comedy in this musical comedy, although a lot of it falls flat. It is far from being another "Irene." Nobody kicked, but, on the other hand, no one was very enthusiastic, either. It drew a fairly good crowd that laughed heartily at a few very good places. The farmer trade won't go for it at all. Running time, 96 minutes. Played February 20.—W. Varick Nevins III, Alfred Co-Op Theatre, Alfred, N. Y. Small college town and rural patronage.

REMEDY FOR RICHES: Jean Hersholt, Dorothy Lovett—Double featured with "Nobody's Children" on bargain night and guess the public thought as I did. It was no bargain, so they stayed away and I lost money with the engagement. If you think you can get your public to come and sit through this kind of stuff nowadays, try it; "You'll Find Out." Running time, 69 minutes. Played February 25.—A. E. Andrews, Emporium Theatre, Emporium, Pa. General patronage.

TOO MANY GIRLS: Lucille Ball, Richard Carlson, Frances Langford, Ann Miller—Too many girls is right. I thought this fair, but our patrons didn't like it so much. Business average.—Harland Rankin, Plaza Theatre, Tilbury, and Alexander Theatre, Wallaceburg, Ontario, Canada. General patronage.

YOU'LL FIND OUT: Kay Kyser and His Orchestra, Boris Karloff, Peter Lorre, Bela Lugosi—As entertainment it's poor to fair. They will come to see Kay Kyser. If you have already played one Kyser you better skip this one. At least keep it off of Sunday.—R. C. Metzger, Ritz Theatre, Winner, S. D. General patronage.

Twentieth Century-Fox

CHAD HANNA: Henry Fonda, Dorothy Lamour, Linda Darnell—Very good in spite of some critic reports to the contrary.—R. C. Metzger, Ritz Theatre, Winner, S. D. General patronage.

DOWN ARGENTINE WAY: Don Ameche, Betty Grable, Carmen Miranda, Charlotte Greenwood—An outstanding production done in beautiful color that gave general satisfaction all the way to above the average business for Sunday and Monday, reaction from the audience was plainly discernable and favorable. Running time, 94 minutes. Played February 23-24.—A. E. Andrews, Emporium Theatre, Emporium, Pa. General patronage.

DOWN ARGENTINE WAY: Don Ameche, Betty Grable, Carmen Miranda, Charlotte Greenwood—A natural for the New Year's date and a fine picture for any date. We had thought Fox couldn't make a good picture, but this one proves we were wrong. Beautiful color, good comedy, dancing and action. Our Basque colony thought it was great and so did everybody else. Business good. Played December 31-January announces an office for service, assistance and counsel in the various fields of

LYNN FARNOL

PUBLIC RELATIONS

250 PARK AVENUE
NEW YORK, N.Y.

TELEPHONE
PLAZA 8-0228

1.—S. L. George, Mountain Home Theatre, Mountain Home, Idaho. Small town patronage.

GREAT PROFILE, THE: John Barrymore, John Payne, Mary Beth Hughes—Another waste of time. Waste of time and money to make it and a waste of time to sit through it.—R. C. Metzger, Ritz Theatre, Winner, S. D. General patronage.

GREAT PROFILE, THE: John Barrymore—The worst picture from Fox ever played. Running time, 71 minutes. Played January 8-9.—Harry Tishkoff, Empress Theatre, Rochester, N. Y. General patronage.

HUDSON'S BAY: Paul Muni, Gene Tierney, Laird Cregar, John Sutton—A very interesting and pleasing picture, full of adventure and excitement. The start of the Hudson Bay Company, free for all between England and France for control of an empire. Paul Muni was superb and not only both captain of his own soul but of intricate and dangerous situations. Laird Cregar was a second John L. Sullivan and knocked 'em both going and coming, whenever physical culture demanded it. Romance was not built for love, yet love crept in and had its own way. An excellent good picture to book. Running time, 95 minutes. Played February 20-26.—William Noble, Midwest Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. General patronage.

MARK OF ZORRO, THE: Tyrone Power, Linda Darnell—Plenty good and seemed to please all. Running time, 94 minutes. Played February 9-10.—Ray Peacock, Onalaska Theatre, Onalaska, Wash. Loggers and mill workers patronage.

MARK OF ZORRO, THE: Tyrone Power, Linda Darnell—The only picture from Fox this season that did above average business. Running time, 93 minutes. Played February 16-18.—Harry Tishkoff, Empress Theatre, Rochester, N. Y. General patronage.

TIN PAN ALLEY: Alice Faye, Betty Grable, Jack Oakie, John Payne—I ran this with "Go West" to excellent business, but then it ought to be good for a show like that. Good renditions of old-time tunes, a fast moving story, good comedy by Jack Oakie, and some very torrid dance numbers helped put this picture in the hit class. I think each picture in this double feature drew its own share of customers. Advertise this one well when you play it and it shouldn't go back on you. Running time, 92 minutes. Played February 21-22.—W. Varick Nevins III, Alfred Co-Op Theatre, Alfred, N. Y. Small college town and rural patronage.

YOUTH WILL BE SERVED: Jane Withers, Joe Brown, Jr., Jane Darwell—Using these on a double bill on bargain night and not making out with them, Fox taking over half the receipts for this one alone, besides paying the same or more for the second feature. Running time, 68 minutes. Played February 18.—A E. Andrews, Emporium Theatre, Emporium, Pa. General patronage.

United Artists

OF MICE AND MEN: Burgess Meredith, Betty Field, Lon Chaney, Jr.—Positively a disgrace to try and compare this with "Grapes of Wrath." Should never have been made and should be kept off the screen.—R. C. Metzger, Ritz Theatre, Winner, S. D. General patronage.

PASTOR HALL: Nova Pilbeam, Sir Seymour Hicks—James Roosevelt presents "Pastor Hall." Will say every American person should see this picture. It caused more comments than most pictures played last year. The prelude by Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt was especially fine. Running time, 2 minutes. Played January 31, February 1.—Levi F. Roberts, New Theatre, Faulkton, S. D. Small town and rural patronage.

ROADSHOW: Adolphe Menjou, Carole Landis, John Hubbard, George Stone—Silly, ridiculous, but it certainly found favor here. Everyone enjoyed it thoroughly and we enjoyed a very nice turn-out. Landis is some dish. Public could use more of her. George Stone very good and received a good hand of praise. Hal Roach knows the trick of making people laugh. Good any place any time. Running time, 87 minutes. Played January 23-29.—Lloyd M. Mills, Elgin Theatre, Ottawa, Ontario, Canada. General patronage.

SAPS AT SEA: Laurel and Hardy—I for one regret that these comedy stars stopped making pictures. At least there are none in sight and none announced in the trade press. All their pictures have done well at this theatre and "Saps at Sea" is no exception to the rule. This picture is filled with the usual L. and H. funnyisms, which brings out gales of laughter. This was doubled with "Marines Fly High," RKO.—J. E. Stocker, Myrtle Theatre, Detroit, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

THIEF OF BAGDAD, THE: Sabu, Conrad Veidt, June Duprez—One might criticize a part or two, but Mr. Korda has produced a great motion picture triumph. There were no end to the raves. Over capacity business for over two weeks and good profitable business for three weeks. Mr. Korda will soon be America's No. 1 producer is my guess. Thank you, Sabu, for attending premiere. Governor General and Princess Alice could not have enjoyed "Bagdad" more even if United Artists had served tea. Sabu outstanding. Running time, 109 minutes. Played December 23, 1940-January 11, 1941.—Lloyd M. Mills, Elgin Theatre, Ottawa, Ontario, Canada. General patronage.

Universal

ARGENTINE NIGHTS: Ritz Brothers, Andrew Sisters—Played this one only one day. Would have stood a second day. Just what the doctor ordered for the tired-sick B. O. Did a swell business. Musical comedy brought many favorable comments. Played February 11.—Fred C. Allen, Princess Theatre, Piedmont, Ala. Small town patronage.

BOYS FROM SYRACUSE, THE: Allan Jones, Martha Raye, Joe Penner, Rosemary Lane, Charles Butterworth—The worst picture we have ever shown. Our patrons haven't forgiven us yet. The memory lingers on. Played January 10-11.—S. L. George, Mountain Home Theatre, Mountain Home, Idaho. Small town patronage.

HOUSE OF SEVEN GABLES, THE: Margaret Lindsay, Vincent Price, George Sanders—A good second but not so good for first. Running time, 99 minutes.—George S. Caporal, Yale Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. Neighborhood patronage.

IF I HAD MY WAY: Bing Crosby, Gloria Jean—A pretty good Crosby, but by all means not one of his best. Gloria Jean wasn't as good in this picture as she was in "The Underpup." Running time, 93 minutes. Played January 12-15.—George S. Caporal, Yale Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. Neighborhood patronage.

LITTLE ACCIDENT, THE: Baby Sandy, Hugh Herbert, Florence Rice, Richard Carlson, Ernest Truex, Joy Hodges—I picked this up late and am glad that I did. It's a swell audience picture from every angle which pleased very much. This was doubled with "The Border Legion," a Roy Rogers Republic western. This program did good average business for us.—J. E. Stocker, Myrtle Theatre, Detroit, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

RAGTIME COWBOY JOE: Johnny Mack Brown, Fuzzy Knight—Couldn't ask for a better western. Did above average business. These Johnny Mack Brown westerns get better as they come. A Saturday box-office natural. Played February 8.—Fred C. Allen, Princess Theatre, Piedmont, Ala. Small town patronage.

SPRING PARADE: Deanna Durbin, Robert Cummings, Mischa Auer—Good picture; well liked. Better than average business. Running time, 89 minutes. Played January 19-21.—Harry Tishkoff, Empress Theatre, Rochester, N. Y. General patronage.

Warner Brothers

ANGELS WITH DIRTY FACES: James Cagney, "Dead End Kids," Ann Sheridan, Pat O'Brien, Humphrey Bogart—Brought this back as second run and ran it on "Bargain Day." Showed to most all the show-going people in our small town. If you haven't played it, pick it up and give it a good playdate. Played February 10.—Fred C. Allen, Princess Theatre, Piedmont, Ala. Small town patronage.

CITY FOR CONQUEST: James Cagney, Ann Sheridan—This picture did very well in spite of adverse weather conditions. Many told us it was the best picture they had seen in some time.—Harland Rankin, Plaza Theatre, Tilbury, and Alexander Theatre, Wallaceburg, Ontario, Canada. General patronage.

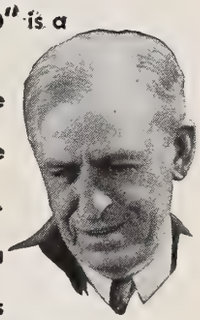
COMET OVER BROADWAY: Kay Francis, Ian Hunter—Just fair. I put it for second. Running time, 69 minutes.—George S. Caporal, Yale Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. Neighborhood patronage.

INDIANAPOLIS SPEEDWAY: Pat O'Brien, Ann Sheridan—A good action picture that pleased everyone and was supported by a good cast. Running time, 82 minutes. Played January 9-11.—George S. Caporal, Yale Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. Neighborhood patronage.

KNUTE ROCKNE—ALL AMERICAN: Pat O'Brien, Gale Page, Ronald Reagan—Did not do the business we expected. Lowest gross this season. Running time, 98 minutes. Played January 26-28.—Harry Tishkoff, Empress Theatre, Rochester, N. Y. General patronage.

LADIES MUST LIVE: Wayne Morris, Rosemary Lane—Nice little program picture that did very well at the box office on "Bargain Day." Would do good as second feature where double features are run. Played February 2.—Fred C. Allen, Princess Theatre, Piedmont, Ala. Small town patronage.

LADY WITH RED HAIR: Miriam Hopkins, Claude Rains—Only fair; poor business.—R. C. Metzger, Ritz Theatre, Winner, S. D. General patronage.



LADY WITH RED HAIR: Miriam Hopkins, Claude Rains—Was surprised at this. A pretty good

(Continued on following page)

THE TIP-OFF ON A BIG PICTURE

SHOWMANSHIP, is the word for "A MAN BETRAYED," first of REPUBLIC'S outstanding ATTRACTIONS that will be ADVERTISED nationally THIS year in every IMPORTANT motion picture FAN magazine.

"A MAN BETRAYED" is a TITLE that promises STIRRING action . . . a title THAT spells box-office MAGIC on any marquee.

"A MAN BETRAYED" offers a STIRRING story as TIMELY as tomorrow's HEADLINES . . . the story of an AMERICAN who dares to FIGHT for the DEMOCRACY he believes in . . . AND for the beautiful WOMAN he loves.

"A MAN BETRAYED" presents a CAST of marquee names. JOHN WAYNE, fresh from recent TRIUMPHS in Republic's "DARK COMMAND" and "LONG VOYAGE HOME," CO-STARS with glamorous FRANCES DEE as the UNSUSPECTING daughter of the picture to a fair turnout. Running time, 80 minutes. Played February 5-6.—Ray Peacock, Onalaska Theatre, Onalaska, Wash. Loggers and mill workers patronage.

HIDDEN power behind the CORRUPTION in a great city. EDWARD ELLIS heads the FEATURED cast that includes WALLACE FORD, Ward Bond, HAROLD HUBER, Alexander Granach. "A MAN BETRAYED" was DIRECTED by JOHN H. AUER. REMEMBER it's a nationally ADVERTISED

Republic PICTURE

(Continued from preceding page)

Short Features

Columbia

BLONDES AND BLUNDERS: Walter Catlett—Chock full of good slapstick fun. Just what we always expect from Columbia. Lots of laughs in this one. Running time, 19 minutes.—Fred S. Allen, Princess Theatre, Piedmont, Ala. Small town patronage.

HAPPY TOTS' EXPEDITION: Color Rhapsodies—Just a filler. Running time, 7 minutes.—Ray Peacock, Onalaska Theatre, Onalaska, Wash. Loggers and mill workers patronage.

HELPING PAW, A: Color Rhapsodies—It is not often that I can say a Columbia color cartoon is as good as this one. This has real humor and a dog character that should be continued. Play it and listen to the laughter. Running time, 7 minutes.—W. Varick Nevins III, Alfred Co-Op Theatre, Alfred, N. Y. Small college town and rural patronage.

MAD HATTER, THE: Color Rhapsodies—Something different in cartoons, but still not very good. Running time, 7 minutes.—Joe Schindele, Granite Theatre, Granite Falls, Minn. Small town patronage.

TANGLED TELEVISION: Color Rhapsodies—Fair cartoon. Too silly, although it got a few laughs and was liked very well by our patrons. Running time, nine minutes.—Fred C. Allen, Princess Theatre, Piedmont, Ala. Small town patronage.

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer

GALLOPIN' GALS: Cartoons (Color)—Swell cartoon. Running time, eight minutes.—Ray Peacock, Onalaska Theatre, Onalaska, Wash. Loggers and mill workers patronage.

FLAG SPEAKS, THE: Special—Excellent example of what they ought to like. History of the Flag, in colors. I advertised this at the school by admitting the kiddies at half price, five cents, and nearly all of them asked me when they left if there was not a comedy and why. Not worth any more than a good cartoon in this town. Running time, two reels.—Gladys E. McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kan. Small town patronage.

SUVA, PRIDE OF FIJI: FitzPatrick Traveltalks—All of this series are good. Running time, nine minutes.—Ray Peacock, Onalaska Theatre, Onalaska, Wash. Loggers and mill workers patronage.

SWING SOCIAL: MGM Cartoons—Very good cartoon.—Gladys E. McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kan. Small town patronage.

WEDDING BELLS: Pete Smith Specialties—An amusing short from Pete Smith. A change from the Our Gang and Cartoons that I have been running that pleased.—Gladys E. McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kan. Small town patronage.

Miscellaneous

CHILDREN FROM OVERSEAS: Timely and appreciative.—Harland Rankin, Plaza Theatre, Tilbury, and Alexander Theatre, Wallaceburg, Ontario, Canada. General patronage.

Paramount

LISTEN TO LARRY: Headliners—This orchestra reel is very good and features Larry Clinton. I made the mistake of playing it at a very inopportune moment. The students in college had all agreed that "Jeannie with the Light Brown Hair" was the most overdone tune on the radio. So, of course, that evening they had to hear it done very sentimentally for three whole minutes. There is nothing the matter with the reel, but, if you have had enough of "Jeannie," you know what I mean. Running time, 10 minutes.—W. Varick Nevins III, Alfred Co-Op Theatre, Alfred, N. Y. Small college town and rural patronage.

MY POP, MY POP: Popeye Cartoons—A little better than usual for Popeye. We pay too much for these shorts. Running time, nine minutes.—Fred C. Allen, Princess Theatre, Piedmont, Ala. Small town patronage.

Century
"THE PROJECTOR OF THE CENTURY"

FOUR CONTRIBUTORS JOIN DEPARTMENT

Four new contributors have sent reports recently to the What the Picture Did for Me department and three others have resumed reporting after a lapse of some months. The new members are:

C. P. MERWIN, Diablo Theatre, Burlington, Wash.

RAYMOND PAUL, Seabreeze Theatre, Beaufort, N. C.

H. E. SCHWOCKO, Lake Theatre, Rib Lake, Wis.

HARRY TISHKOFF, Empress Theatre, Rochester, N. Y.

The prodigal contributors whose reports have appeared in recent issues are:

R. C. METZGER, Ritz Theatre, Winner, S. D.

MAYME P. MUSSELMAN, Princess Theatre, Lincoln, Kan.

LEVI F. ROBERTS, New Theatre, Faulkton, S. D.

Read the opinions of these and other exhibitors in the adjoining columns.

MY POP, MY POP: Popeye the Sailor—Amusing, but not the draw they used to be. Color would help. Running time, seven minutes.—Ray Peacock, Onalaska Theatre, Onalaska, Wash. Loggers and mill workers patronage.

POP AND MOM IN WILD OYSTERS: Animated Antics—Here is a new kind of cartoon, which pleased. Instead of pen and ink, it is made by photographing puppets. Running time, 10 minutes.—E. M. Freiburger, Paramount Theatre, Dewey, Okla. Small town patronage.

SNEAK, SNOOP AND SNITCH: Animated Antics—Taint funny. Running time, six minutes.—Ray Peacock, Onalaska Theatre, Onalaska, Wash. Loggers and mill workers patronage.

WAITING FOR BABY: Benchley Comedies—Robert Benchley humorously portrays a man waiting for his wife to have a baby in the hospital. It is good, but he has done better. Running time, 10 minutes.—W. Varick Nevins III, Alfred Co-Op Theatre, Alfred, N. Y. Small college town and rural patronage.

RKO Radio

DONALD'S LUCKY DAY: Walt Disney Cartoons—The best Donald Duck we've we had yet.—George S. Caporal, Yale Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. Neighborhood patronage.

FIRED MAN, THE: Leon Errol Comedies—Real good.—Harland Rankin, Plaza Theatre, Tilbury, and Alexander Theatre, Wallaceburg, Ontario, Canada. General patronage.

GROWING UP: Special—This year's Dionne Quintuplet reel reviews their lives up to date and finally ends with a few new scenes with them singing "There'll Always Be An England." The announcer, Dr. Dafoe, says it is in English, but you have to take his word for it. It is good if you liked the one last year. Running time, 20 minutes.—W. Varick Nevins III, Alfred Co-Op Theatre, Alfred, N. Y. Small college town and rural patronage.

SNOW FUN: Sportscope—Well done winter sport reel photographed completely around Lake Placid. Running time, 10 minutes.—W. Varick Nevins III, Alfred Co-Op Theatre, Alfred, N. Y. Small college town and rural patronage.

TROUBLE SHOOTERS: Horton Smith—All about the difficult shots in golf and will click fine if you have golfers in your community like we have. Running time, 9 minutes.—Burris and Henley Smith, Imperial Theatre, Pocahontas, Ark. Rural patronage.

Twentieth Century-Fox

MISSISSIPPI SWING: Terrytoons—Very good cartoon in color. Running time, seven minutes.—E. M. Freiburger, Paramount Theatre, Dewey, Okla. Small town patronage.

MODERN HIGHWAY, THE: Adventures Newscameramen—Just a filler. Running time, 10 minutes. E. M. Freiburger, Paramount Theatre, Dewey, Okla. Small town patronage.

MOVIETONE NEWS: No. 45, Vol. 23—Willkie returns from England; Navy graduates class; Mediterranean fleet filmed; Churchill inspects shipyard; heroes of the RAF decorated; film stars aid Greek relief; midget infantry cars interest. Running time, 10 minutes.—William Noble, Midwest Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. General patronage.

OLD DOMINION STATE: Magic Carpet Series—Beautiful colored shots in the State of Virginia. Running time, 10 minutes.—W. Varick Nevins III, Alfred Co-Op Theatre, Alfred, N. Y. Small college town and rural patronage.

OLD DOMINION STATE: Magic Carpet Series—Very good. Running time, 10 minutes.—Ray Peacock, Onalaska Theatre, Onalaska, Wash. Loggers and mill workers patronage.

Universal

BOY MEETS JOY: Pinky Tomlin—Ran this on a Saturday date and that was a mistake. A very good musical short. Shouldn't have been over one reel in length. Running time, 19 minutes.—Fred C. Allen, Princess Theatre, Piedmont, Ala. Small town patronage.

MOUSE TRAPPERS: Color Cartoons—It was a smart mousie and its adventures with the big, bad cat were terrific, but the mousie came out on top of the heap. Running time, seven minutes.—William Noble, Midwest Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. General patronage.

STRANGER THAN FICTION: No. 85—Very good short, although our patrons prefer cartoons and musicals, but will do as a change. Running time, nine minutes.—Fred C. Allen, Piedmont Theatre, Piedmont, Ala. Small town patronage.

Vitaphone

CALIFORNIA THOROUGHBREDS: Sports Parade—Good color subject about horses. Running time, 10 minutes.—E. M. Freiburger, Paramount Theatre, Dewey, Okla. Small town patronage.

CALLING DR. PORKY: Looney Tunes—Here is a killer diller. Very funny. Our patrons just love these Vitaphone cartoons. The background music adds greatly to these shorts. Running time, nine minutes.—Fred C. Allen, Princess Theatre, Piedmont, Ala. Small town patronage.

CHRISTMAS UNDER FIRE: Special—Impressive. Well received.—Harland Rankin, Plaza Theatre, Tilbury, and Alexander Theatre, Wallaceburg, Ontario, Canada. General patronage.

ELMER'S PET RABBIT: Merrie Melodies—Excellent short. A laugh getter. Running time, nine minutes.—Fred C. Allen, Piedmont Theatre, Piedmont, Ala. Small town patronage.

ELMER'S PET RABBIT: Merrie Melodies—The rabbit was both a friend and an enemy and their adventures were both numerous and exciting. Running time, 9 minutes.—William Noble, Criterion Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. General patronage.

HENRY BUSSE AND HIS ORCHESTRA: Melody Masters—Here is one of the best swing musical short I have ever seen. Should add to your box-office receipts. Running time, nine minutes.—Fred C. Allen, Princess Theatre, Piedmont, Ala. Small town patronage.

HISTORY REPEATS ITSELF: Radio Rogues—Not so hot. Running time, 10 minutes.—E. M. Freiburger, Paramount Theatre, Dewey, Okla. Small town patronage.

JOE REICHMAN AND HIS ORCHESTRA: Melody Masters—Real good.—Harland Rankin, Plaza Theatre, Tilbury, and Alexander Theatre, Wallaceburg, Ontario, Canada. General patronage.

PATIENT PORKY: Looney Tunes—Another cartoon that got some laughs. Porky is quite a favorite with my kids, the few that come to the show.—Mayme P. Musselman, Princess Theatre, Lincoln, Kan. Small town patronage.

PREHISTORIC PORKY: Looney Tunes—Just fair.—Harland Rankin, Plaza Theatre, Tilbury, and Alexander Theatre, Wallaceburg, Ontario, Canada. General patronage.

SHOP, LOOK AND LISTEN: Merrie Melodies Cartoons—Little Blabbermouse is conducted through a department store by an old mouse like W. C. Fields. It has some good gags in it.—W. Varick Nevins III, Alfred Co-Op. Theatre, Alfred, N. Y. Small college town and rural patronage.

SKINNAY ENNIS AND HIS ORCHESTRA: Melody Masters—A good musical full of excellent tunes played by skilled performers. Running time, 10 minutes.—William Noble, Midwest Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. General patronage.

WACKY WILDLIFE: Merrie Melodies—A color picture of strange actions of various kinds of beasts, fowls, serpents, etc. Exceedingly funny and pleasing. Running time, seven minutes.—William Noble, Midwest Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. General patronage.

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE

An international association of showmen meeting weekly in MOTION PICTURE HERALD for mutual aid and progress

A-MIKE VOGEL, Chairman and Editor GERTRUDE MERRIAM, Associate Editor

Looking At It From This Corner

OPINION having to do with the new distribution plan generally places a large measure of responsibility for success upon increased tempo and depth of theatre exploitation. If so, then study of contributions to this department, especially over the past few months, confirms that the members are way out in front to meet the challenge.

At no previous time in this deponent's tenure has there appeared to be so high a degree of showmanship-effectiveness in evidence. This should somewhat allay fears of head-shakers concerned with what the future may bring.

* * *

FEW theatremen this winter so far report use of the old reliable "snowbird" display, even in snow country. Why? Whatever the reason, there should be more of it. Exercised recently by Marlowe Conner, the theatreman planted the sticks in downtown spots that Nature provided free of charge and money could not buy.

The "snowbird" is not especially colorful, startling or new. It does have the virtue of selling a message to the hurrying passerby, from a location of advantage at the cost of a few pennies. Daily, theatremen spend far more to obtain much less.

* * *

HARD-TO-CRACK papers that will not usually go for picture publicity can be had on institutional features having to do with audience safety, comfort and convenience. That would be noted in the two-column break, topped by a four-column cut, telling of and illustrating the fire equipment and drills at the Stanley, Warner ace house in Utica, N. Y.

The feature, forwarded by Arnold Stoltz of the circuit's Avon, served also to introduce to the community the new manager, Round Tabler Andy Roy, quoted extensively in the publicity.

* * *

THE Elkhart, Ind., Infantile Paralysis Fund heads, lacking a big stunt to put over the local drive, found a ready answer in the solid assistance given immediately by Art Wartha and his assistant, Eldon Williams, of the Elco theatre. The theatremen put on a midnight benefit show which, to quote the Manta-men, "the town will never forget". "Name" professionals and talented amateurs donated services, as did everyone else connected with the tremendously successful project. For their inspiration, the Round Tablers were universally applauded by the papers, the local prominents.

Fortunate is the city that has reason to look upon its theatres with the same civic pride as the schools and churches.

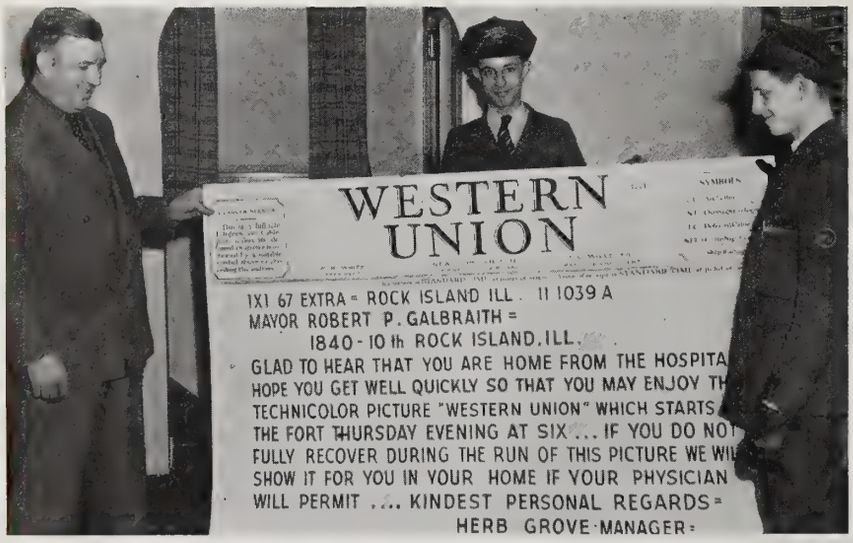
* * *

NOW we know the difference between a milking contest among college deans and one among other mortals. The educators wear tuxedos, according to a release from WLW, Cincinnati, about the competition held recently at Ohio University and broadcast by the radio station. Managers with Saturday kid club matinees to deal with will appreciate the emphasis in the story that the contest took place before "several thousand howling students".

* * *

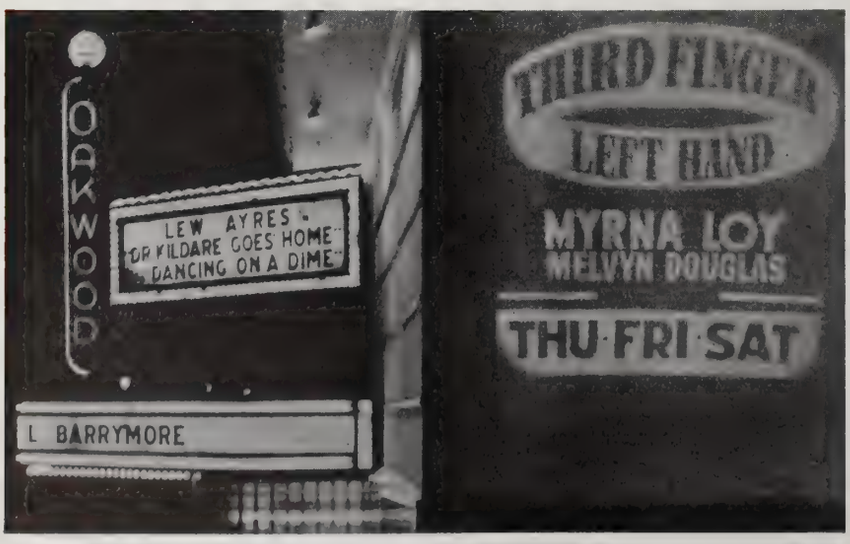
THE job Pat McGee is doing as Schine district manager is indicated in the "week" starting March 16, set aside in his honor by the boys under him. With the blessing and cooperation of Lou Lazar, division head, the theatremen are going about it to put over a record boxoffice week. Writes Johnny Manuel, committee chairman, "The idea was a spontaneous one and a complete surprise to Pat. We felt his sincerity and showmanship deserving of a tribute."

HAND-WRITTEN captions in a letter describing attached photos of recent activities are received from new-member Hy Shapiro, manager of the Terminal, a William Goldman theatre in Philadelphia. He asks:



"Do I have to create a glamorous pressbook to qualify for the Quarter-Master Awards, or will this form of presentation be satisfactory?"

The Awards rules specify that no fancy entries are required. Just the evidence and description are sufficient. They should be presented neatly, compactly. Glamour is to be confined to the screen.



A-Mike Vogel

Promoting carriages and horses from the recent Beech Nut World's Fair exhibit, Charles Grace at the Roosevelt, Woodhaven, N. Y., utilized display for lobby on "Chad Hanna". Concealed record player plugged hit tunes.

A little different slant was given the giant telegram stunt by Tri-States city manager Herb Grove for "Western Union" at the Fort, Rock Island, Ill., by including offer to Mayor confined at home to screen the picture for him.

Found to be an effective crowd-stopper is the effect machine constructed by A. Easson at the Oakwood, Toronto, and planted on store roof next to theatre sidewall. Made from old Powers lamphouse, condensers, slide carrier and 250-watt projection type bulb on flasher, machine projects 14 by 14 foot pictures made up in black and white.

Round Table In Pictures

Male cooking contest at the Paramount Theatre, in Amarillo, Tex., detailed in last week's issue, is brought to a conclusion with presentation of first prize to winner by Besa Short, Interstate Circuit short subjects director.

To honor the inauguration of Connecticut's newly elected Gov. Robert A. Hurley, special newsreel footage of the ceremonies were presented to the state head by Harry Shaw (left), Loew's New England theatres head, and Lou Brown, publicity director. Presentation was made in Governor's office in Hartford.

Theatre Milk Bar Aids War Relief

On the same bill with "Back Street," at Warners Stanley, Utica, N. Y., Manager Andy Roy booked two shorts, "Bill of Rights" and "Our Milky Way" both allowing added tieins that aided the grosses and the theatre goodwill. Featured promotion was built around the latter reel produced by the New York State Milk Dealers, the tiein built around a "milk bar" in the foyer, where milk furnished free by the local dealers was sold at five cents a bottle, proceeds going to the British War Relief.

Through the hookup, Andy was able to secure cooperation of prominent women's and church clubs, each organization "tending bar" on one day of the engagement. This was used for extensive newspaper and radio publicity, the theatre receiving additional buildup through the seven clubs participating. The Warnerman also was able to promote displays in windows of prominent stores, at railroad and bus stations.

Local Bar Association was obtained for assistance on "Bill of Rights" with breaks on the organization's radio programs. This led to announcements in all school classes from the seventh grade up.

"LET'S HEAR FROM YOU"

Bloom Ties "Boom Town" To Chamber of Commerce

With his entire campaign for "Boom Town" sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, Herbert Bloom at the Ware Theatre, Beverly, Mass., tied his date to Chamber's giveaway of a model home through merchant cooperation. Tickets to participate in chances for the home were available at stores with each twenty-five cent purchase, two books given during "Boom Town" days, so declared by Mayor proclamation.

Highlight of merchant tieup consisted of contest in form of sections of scene stills which were scattered throughout ads. To the first 50 submitting completed stills together with slogans on "How to Make Beverly a Boom Town," model house tickets were presented. Few days ahead of opening, the Evening Times distributed gratis papers to neighboring towns, cost being met by Chamber of Commerce and paper carried contest blanks and "Boom Town" plugs.

"LET'S HEAR FROM YOU"

Action Lobby Setpiece Aids "Love Neighbor"

For his lobby display on "Love Thy Neighbor," Eli Arkin at the Avalon, in Chicago, used a cutout from the six-sheet showing Benny and Allen with boxing gloves sparring off, Mary Martin in corner of display ringing the bell. Bottom of display was devoted to co-feature "Arizona".

Guessing contest was planted in grocery store windows, consisting of boxes of jello with card reading: "Jack Benny has free tickets for you to see 'Love Thy Neighbor' at the Avalon. Just guess the number of jello boxes in this display." For "Arizona" postcards secured from the exchange were distributed to car owners. Overprint carried playdates, etc.

Last Moment "Flash" Reports On Ideas That Rang the Bell

For his big exploitation on "Villain Still Pursued Her", Manager Ben Rogers, of the Hatboro, Hatboro, Pa., put on an Old-Fashioned Movie Night, the program starting with an interesting collection of news shots of 25 years ago. Short subject in keeping before the feature presentation was the Charlie Chaplin "Paperhanger". On opening night, lanterns were hung from the marquee and cashier's booth lighted with old-fashioned lamps. Usherettes donned old-fashioned dresses and performed with lanterns in place of flashlights. Rogers and his assistant dressed for the occasion in checkered suits, high collars and loud neckties. For comedy, projection breakdowns were numerous and vendors worked the aisles distributing peanuts promoted from local store.

Advertising campaign started two weeks ahead with coverage of rural districts with window cards and heralds. The front was decorated in keeping with antiques, and antique music-box, playing old-time tunes, was used in the lobby. Opening day ad was set in old type faces, and for street bally man with handlebar mustache, dressed as "The Villain" in cape and silk hat, paraded the town.

"FOUR MOTHERS" IDENTIFICATION TIEIN

Tiein with local daily, starting five days ahead, made by "Kal" Kalberer for "Four Mothers" at the Indiana, Washington, Ind., had a reporter making the downtown streets each day, selecting "four mothers" at random, only women with children being chosen. Next day's paper described the exact dress of each "mother" and child, exact location and time when seen. Designated women who could identify themselves from the descriptions were asked to present themselves at the newspaper in the same outfits worn the day before to receive guest tickets to the picture.

"PHILADELPHIA STORY" HOSTESS CONTEST

Reported one of his biggest promotions by "Bill" Elder, at Loew's, Harrisburg, Pa., was a hookup through popular newspaper column, " 'Teen Topics", to select a hostess, between 16 and 20, for the date on "Philadelphia Story". Contest started week ahead, with entrants sending their photos to the paper, winner selected from among 200 entries at a dinner promoted at leading hotel and taken next day on shopping tour in new Chrysler and given complete new outfit. On the following day, winner was taken to the M-G-M exchange in Philadelphia to see Katharine Hepburn in the stage play, to bring back print of picture to Harrisburg. On opening night, acting as hostess, winner was presented to the public and interviewed over Station WHP.

Total lineage planted by Elder as a result was three pages of co-op ads from participating merchants, with cuts and contest stories running 650 inches.

REPORTER COLUMN QUERIES STAFF ON "GWTW"

Smart current publicity during run of "Gone With the Wind" at Interstate's Hollywood, Fort Worth, Tex., was obtained by Manager Charlie Carden with promotion of popular "Inquiring Reporter" column. Members of staff were asked: "How do you feel after viewing the same movie day after day—from 35 to 76 times" (asked regarding "Gone With the Wind"). Theatre was noted under "The Place" heading. Those queried included Carden and six others of the personnel, face cut illustrating each answer. Feature was topped with two-column tiein head, followed with cut of theatre front showing long lines at the boxoffice.

COLUMBIA NETWORK PLUG SECURED ON "SMITH"

How a plug for "Mr. and Mrs. Smith" at the Radio City Music Hall was accomplished on a Columbia Network program came about when a Francis Smith of Kansas was brought to New York by the Port of Missing Heirs program to collect the estate of an uncle. During his visit, Mr. Smith was invited by the RKO publicists to see the picture in company with two other Smiths. The invitation was referred to on the WABC broadcast, with credit to the Music Hall show. Photographs and stories were sent to Francis Smith's home state, which brought additional publicity breaks. "I've got one more appointment in New York," said Mr. Smith before the microphone in the broadcast. "There's a movie playing right around the corner called 'Mr. and Mrs. Smith' and my name's Smith, so I'm taking a couple of girls named Joan Smith and Caroline Smith over to see 'Mr. and Mrs. Smith'."

12-MERCHANT AD TIEIN

Promoted by Dave Bachner of Manny Pearlstein's Warner Cleveland ad department, the above is a four-column layout introducing the used car tiein with 12 dealers in the Cleveland News for "Western Union" at the Hippodrome. The dealers took equal four-column ads, all reproducing telegram blanks, as above, and each carrying individual copy. Eight of these layouts filled one complete page, the other four on a succeeding four column full. Reverse banner lines, reading "Hot Off the Wire", topped both pages, with theatre credits at bottom.

Paper Sponsors "Dugan" For Greek War Relief

Opening night of "The Trial of Mary Dugan" was sponsored by the Memphis Press Scimitar for the benefit of Greek War Relief as one of the highlights of the film's campaign put over by Robert Kilgore, Loew's Palace. Fire Department lights were borrowed for the premiere, and station WMPS carried a half-hour broadcast from the lobby. Uniformed "Maids of Athens" formed a Honor Guard at the opening. Three local stations contributed numerous gratis spot announcements. Post cards were mailed to local attorneys advising them of the picture's dramatic courtroom scene.

"LET'S HEAR FROM YOU"

Unterfort's Boy Tap Dancer Helps Sell "Second Chorus"

Syracusians were recently treated to the sight of a lad doing the latest tap routines on downtown thoroughfares, accompanied by portable radio as Harry Unterfort's advance ballyhoo for "Second Chorus" at the Keith Theatre. Radio was tuned to local stations when they were broadcasting picture copy, thus giving the theatre an additional plug. Stills and window cards were placed in the principal dancing schools throughout the city and a dancing contest was held at one of the top schools, contestants using steps done by Astaire and Goddard in the picture.

Reported as a good-will builder by Unterfort is a weekly contest run in the Syracuse Press whereby a woman's name picked at random from the telephone director, is run at top of ad page, and if she identifies herself at the boxoffice, receives a guest ticket. Visual broadcaster is also used, in which the names of three people a day are flashed, each for an hour. If the persons present themselves at the theatre, they, too, receive passes.

"LET'S HEAR FROM YOU"

Fairbury Girl Attends Lincoln "Bishop" Premiere

When United Artists recently premiered "Three Cheers for Miss Bishop" in nearby Lincoln, a week ahead of Jimmy Redmond's date at the Bonham, in Fairbury, Neb., the Round Tabler made a deal with Chambers of Commerce of both cities, whereby local Bonham girls most closely resembling Martha Scott, star of the picture, attended premiere. Stunt brought front page stories and art with subsequent newspaper breaks right up to opening day at the Bonham. Picture was so pre-sold that the superintendent of schools requested special rates for high school students, dismissing classes early so that they might attend, reported first time for that situation.

Telephone Quiz Run by Thomas

Put on two days a week, about six in the evening, Manager Harold H. Thomas at the Malco Fulton, Fulton, Ky., conducts a telephone quiz which is developing effectively and calls wide attention to the current and coming attractions at the theatre. Names selected from the 'phone book are called, care being taken to spread these calls among children, as well as adults.

The cashier does the phoning somewhat in this fashion: "Mr. Jones, this is the Malco Fulton Theatre calling on the telephone quiz. Can you name the feature attraction playing at the Fulton Theatre tonight? You have 15 seconds in which to answer." If they name the attraction, cashier replies: "Mr. Jones, there will be two passes waiting for you at the boxoffice, good either tonight or tomorrow." If he misses, the answer is: "Mr. Jones, the attraction for tonight is . . . . Sorry. Better luck next time."

Ten names are called each night and Thomas reports that the stunt has taken on so well, that folks stop him in the street and ask that their numbers be called so they can compete for the popular prizes.

Runs Basketball Guessing Contest

Another effective slant worked by Thomas had to do with the intense rivalry between local high school basketball teams, the Malco-man tieing in with a score guessing contest. Called the "Malco Fulton Basketball Contest" the idea was publicized with stories and guessing blank in the local paper and mimeographed blanks with theatre credits made up by Thomas and distributed in schools, cafes, drug stores and other popular spots.

Evidence of the contest popularity was shown in the assembly called by the superintendent of the student body at one of the schools where the blanks were distributed, filled in and returned for the contest. Prizes for exact scores were week's passes.

"LET'S HEAR FROM YOU"

Cocks Gives "Foyle" Notebooks

Shorthand notebooks with credits and sales copy for "Kitty Foyle" were used as a giveaway to students in the campaign by Harvey Cocks of the Quimby Theatre, Fort Wayne, Ind. The notebooks were distributed to the students of the International Business College, which is near the Emboyd Theatre, where "Kitty Foyle" played.

BREAKFAST PREMIERE BUILDS "OUR NIGHT"

Tied to the title, a 6:00 o'clock breakfast opening was put on by Francis Deering for "So Ends Our Night" at Loew's, Houston, Tex. With the aid of Frank Bruner, United Artists exploiteer, Deering tied leading store to furnish coffee-and-doughnuts to the audience, the special "movies for breakfast" plugged extensively in ads and store windows.

Radio Simulates 'Sierra' Sequence

The exciting man-hunt featuring the finale of "High Sierra" was utilised for advance on the date at the Warner, Sheboygan, Wisc., by Marlowe Conner in making up a radio transcript duplicating the broadcast in the picture. This was put on with a local station at the end of the regular six o'clock news broadcast in a manner to appear as though it was a "flash" newscast. As such it worked out effectively for audience attention.

Marlowe sold the date away from the gangster angle, stressing the thrills of the attraction with the catch line "High Excitement—High Sierra." In the theatre, this was graphically emphasized with a banner carrying the line placed high up in the foyer. Below was planted a cutout arrow with "Look Up." Everyone did, says Marlowe, and caught on immediately. The catch phrase was also used on snowbirds throughout the town. The mountain background of the picture was also sold in a shadow-box effect created with pieces of cutout cardboard painted to look like cliffs in perspective and placed in V-shape to give an illusion of depth and height.

Pulls Contest on "La Zonga"

For "Six Lessons from Madam La Zonga," Conner used the pressbook mat, number 51, cut it into six parts, each imprinted "Lesson No. 1," up to six, and offering guest tickets to those bringing all the "six lessons" to the theatre. The "lessons" were distributed widely, with one "lesson" held down for control.

On "Phantom Submarine," noting that Anita Louise remarked on having won a beauty contest in Sheboygan, the Round Tabler had the star's face mortised out of his ads and ran copy "Who is this girl who claims she won a beauty contest in Sheboygan." Cast credits were all eliminated in the ads, paper and stills were handled similarly, as was marquee copy where names were replaced with question marks.

"LET'S HEAR FROM YOU"

Ferdinand the Bull Pickets Against Elsie in "Little Men"

Al Zimbalist, Warner theatres exploiter in Philadelphia with Roy Robbins, manager of the Karlton for the date on "Little Men" arranged for local dailies to pick up Elsie the Cow's answer to the Harvard college lads, lampooning them with dislikes of her own for things Harvard. For street stunt, a Ferdinand the Bull character picketed the house as being unfair because he was not included in the cast with Elsie. Ferdie also picketed the offices of the Philadelphia Daily News protesting that RKO would not cast him in the picture. In addition, the paper ran a serialization of the story and conducted a coloring contest.

Another highlight was the fact that Zimbalist secured a letter from Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt endorsing the picture, a blowup of which was used for lobby purposes. Elsie on arrival in the city of Brotherly Love, made personal appearances at department store and other spots.

Striking Service Tieins Effected On Campaigns for "Buck Privates"

Further evidences of army and navy tieins made by theatremen, as noted in last week's issue, are supplied by exploitations on Universal's "Buck Privates" reported by Louis Pollock, Eastern ad head, the company getting behind the promotions, with numerous field exploitation men cooperating with managers in various parts of the country.

Campaigns were set to take advantage of current military draft news and by such devices as special screenings for officers in nearby army camps and members of the Selective Service Boards. Many of the tieins had to do with interviews with the drafted for newspapers and on the radio. In some instances, wives, mothers and sweethearts were also interviewed.

At the Roxy, in Atlanta, Manager Tommy Read sponsored a "draftee breakfast" for local men leaving for camp. Other guests were military and civic heads. For the date at the RKO Grand, Cincinnati, the interview-slant was switched by Dinny Dinerman, division ad head, who called upon draftees of the first World War to tell of their military experiences and what they thought of the new "crop" of soldiers. Much space was secured on this, since many of those interviewed were well advanced in community business and social life.

* * *

Wide attention was gathered in many of the dates with the stunt of men in "undress" uniform—slacks and undershirt—peeling potatoes in prominent windows. The tiein was varied with guessing contests on the number of spuds in the window or the number peeled in any given time. In Providence, George French and Bill Morton at the RKO Albee extended the idea by having the papers announce that as the potatoes were peeled they would be turned over to a local orphan asylum. The Providence theatremen also ran a want ad offering free admission to the first local "buck privates" presenting themselves at the theatre in uniform. French and Morton were on hand with newspaper men to interview and "shoot" the soldiers as they arrived.

* * *

On many of the dates, tieups were made with local army recruiting offices to set up the service "A" boards in or near the theatre. This was elaborated in Atlanta on Read's campaign when army heads were promoted to set up a field tent in the lobby plus other military equipment, rifles, army cots, etc. The last war was called on in Pittsburgh, where on Manager Bill Zeilor's drive at the Senator, an original "40 and 8" freight car used in France was put to work as a street ballyhoo.

Military clothing and arms for window display were employed in Pittsburgh at Gimbel's department store. Similar exhibits were arranged for on other dates. And as to be expected, some of the promotions included attendance of uniformed units on opening nights, the soldiers parading to the theatres behind bands and fife-and-drum corps.

Legion Sponsors "Liberty" for Jaffa

Excellent cooperation was accorded Gary Jaffa on "Land of Liberty" at the Schine Avon, in Utica, N. Y., when the Women's Auxiliary of the American Legion sponsored the date. Special screening was held ahead for prominent localities, whose comments were later used for screen and newspaper advertising. Through the cooperation of local churches, weekly announcements of playdates were made well ahead and in addition, the Board of Education included the picture in its weekly bulletin to principals and teachers, urging children attendance.

"LET'S HEAR FROM YOU"

Oldest Operator Located By Kersken for "Western"

"Western Union" ballyhoo by Herb Kersken, at the Fox Theatre, San Francisco, included discovery that oldest living Western Union operator, was local resident. In addition to being guest of the theatre with his family, he was made subject for interviews and pictures, carried by all four local papers. Stories included operator's comments on the film, and fact he began as messenger boy and worked up to managership of San Francisco office, Western Union's fifth largest in world.

A "Western Union" night was staged, when employees attended, with messenger boys being admitted FREE during the week. Posters plugging the film were set in windows of all Western Union branches.

"LET'S HEAR FROM YOU"

"Convoy" Navy Yard Showing

Colonel David E. Dow of the Tower Theatre, Bremerton, Wash., arranged a special "Convoy" showing for officers and enlisted personnel of the Puget Sound Navy Yard as a phase of his campaign on the sea drama. A letter of endorsement was received from Captain L. F. Kimball urging all local citizens to see the production. The decorative plan included a made-over theatre front with navy atmosphere.

EXPLOITATION BRIEFS FROM A-FIELD

Not only did Fred Ostreicher, Loew's, Columbus, use a large birthday cake to celebrate his anniversary showing of "Gone With the Wind" but he found a year-old baby, born on Jan. 31 of last year, and posed her with the cake. The photo was good for two columns in the local Dispatch as well as the Citizen.

▽

Taking advantage of the fact that one of the city's leading bakeries does not utilize its windows for display from Saturday night through Monday morning, Edgar J. Doob, Loew's, Wilmington, arranged for a dignified set-up of stills from "Gone With the Wind" against a white satin background to take up that unused time. Colored spotlights lighted up the window at night and small figures making up a bridal party were effectively employed as part of the display.

▽

" 'The Philadelphia Story' Wins Stage and Screen Laurels" was the title of a seven-column layout on the film and stage play planted in the Harrisburg Sunday Courier as part of Bill Elder's campaign for the film's showing at Loew's.

▽

"Love Triangle Becomes a Comedy Quartet" was the title of a five-column "Philadelphia Story" layout showing the film's principals in the Milford (Conn.) News planted by R. E. Russell, Loew's Poli, New Haven.

▽

A six-column picture strip on "Gone With the Wind" aided the anniversary engagement campaign for the film planted in the Meriden Record as part of the campaign put over by Joe Samartano, Loew's.

▽

An excellent advance plug for "Men of Boys Town" was the full-page pictorial layout in color planted in the Baltimore Sunday American by George Avis, Loew's. The layout comprised stills from the forthcoming film, including shots of the principal players and dialogue captions.

▽

Installing amplifiers on the roof of his theatre, Mike Galer, King, Albia, Iowa, played the "Philadelphia Story" transcription several times a day as part of his advance campaign for the film.

▽

A candid camera contest, offering prizes for the best photos taken off the screen, was the highlight of the "Philadelphia Story" campaign put over by James Rogers, Granada, Santa Barbara, Cal.

▽

An opening night parade to the theatre, including a contingent of local Boy Scouts, was the feature of the "Flight Command" campaign put over by H. T. Grisson, Jr., Colony, Portsmouth, Va. In addition, the Scouts cooperated by distributing window cards. In advance of the opening, a screen was held for high-ranking Navy officials.

▽

A contest for a local "Miss Anniversary," with a season pass as first prize, was one of the highlights of the "Gone With the Wind" campaign put over by Paul O. Klingler, Rialto, Lewiston, Pa.

GINGER ROGERS as the "White Collar Girl" in Christopher Morley's "KITTY FOYLE," the natural history of a woman. With Dennis Morgan, James Craig, Eduardo Ciannelli, Ernest Cossart, Gladys Cooper...

10 FREE TICKETS

Will be presented to the first 10 Students who can divide 45 into four parts

So that to the first part you add 2, the second part you subtract 2, the third part you multiply by 2, and the fourth part you divide by 2—And that the sum of the addition, the remainder of the substraction, the product of the multiplication, and the quotient of the division be all equal.

To See

GINGER ROGERS in "KITTY FOYLE"

Sunday - Monday- Tuesday

MARCH 2 - 3 - 4

LAKE THEATRE

Answers Must Be Submitted On Or Before Wed., Feb. 26

Reproduced above is one of the four varicolored contest cards, four by nine, used by Art Abelson, at the Lake, Devil's Lake, N. Dak., for "Kitty Foyle." Each of the cards carried different art and lead copy taken from the mats and all offered 10 guest tickets to adults, students, boys and girls, for solutions of different problems, such as above, each problem keyed to the readers.

The above was aimed at students and the second, to adults, required insertion of the letter "I" 16 times in the following jumbled letters to make a rhyme of 14 words. The jumbled letters:

"FTHNMLKBRNGSLLCTTNLLSKMTMXTTLLTSTHN"

The third problem for girls showed the long fraction 12345 over 67890 equalling one half. Entrants were asked to rearrange the fraction figures so that they would correctly equal the one-half designated.

The fourth problem, for the boys, stated that three women went to market to sell apples. The first had 33, the second, 29, and the third, 27. Each of them gave the same number of apples for a penny and yet, when they got home, they found each had received an equal amount of money. Entrants here were required to explain how it came about.

Featured in the lobby of the Wildey Theatre, in Edwardsville, Ill., was a portrait of Bette Davis done by local artist and showing how the star appeared in "The Letter." Oriental effect was suggested by the use of a bamboo frame and green plants on either side of the picture.

▽

Ahead of "Go West" at the Victor Theatre, McKeesport, Pa., Bernard Davis placed stills and credit cards in eight of the best downtown locations. In addition, lobby display was made up consisting of two squirrels in a cage using the catch line! "These fellows wore themselves out chasing the nutty Marx Brothers."

▽

On "Flight Command" at the Roxy, Peru, Indiana, Jim Ackron arranged for small imprinted cardboard planes to be planted in leading merchants stores hanging from light fixtures. Contest was also arranged for boys in connection with model plane building, for guest tickets. In addition, sign artist Al Stubley created a special lobby display.

▽

Through cooperation of local school authorities, Stan Stanfill at the Craig, in Craig, Colorado on "Land of Liberty," school was dismissed for an entire afternoon for the showing. Children assembled at the school after lunch and then marched through the business district to the theatre.

▽

Arranged by Bill Hoppe, Fanchon & Marco district manager in St. Louis, was the importation of Earl Hammons, an Arctic explorer, for a brief exploitation stunt relative to opening of "Hudson's Bay." Hammons dressed as an Eskimo, guided 16 Eskimo dogs through the city as he rode a sled. Speaking dates were also arranged at schools and clubs for the explorer.

▽

Ed May at Schine's Russell, in Maysville, Ky., for his date on "Land of Liberty" arranged to have local charitable organizations sponsor his opening night show. Part of the proceeds went to the cooperating clubs. Cooperating papers plugged the event and gave appropriate credits. Assistant Davis aided on the date.

▽

Two-fold herald on "The Letter" was distributed by cooperating jeweler and theatre through the efforts of Joe Goldstein at Schine's Webster, in Rochester. Front carried copy: "A letter of interest to you. We offer the finest jewelry," etc., etc. Inside spread was devoted to picture copy, playdates, etc. In addition, merchant devoted window display to the picture. On "Tin Pan Alley," Goldstein promoted use of turntable from music store week ahead, over which hit tunes were played.

▽

All merchants in Sudbury, Ontario, handling Hudson Bay products, were contacted by Sid Scott at the Capitol for full window displays in connection with that picture's opening. Brightly colored heralds were mailed to all towns in the surrounding district and in view of the large French population, a special spot announcement was broadcast in that language day ahead.

REPRESENTATIVE NEWSPAPER ADS

LAFAYETTE

— 30c TILL 6 —

YOU ASKED FOR SOMETHING Different In Entertainment—
IT'S HERE TOMORROW!

Don't turn this Page until you've held this Ad up to the light!

WANT TO HAVE SOME FUN?

•

TURN TO OTHER SIDE OF THIS PAGE AND HOLD UP TO LIGHT!

(Above) Bordered by graceful benday, this 115 lines on 4 col., by John LaDue, Strand, Akron, Ohio, stresses the pictorial, with six art units employed to call quick attention to the date.

Starring
Virginia BRUCE - John BARRYMORE - John HOWARD
Charlie RUGGLES - Oscar HOMOLKA
2ND BIG FEATURE
A NEW HIGH IN HIGH-STERICS!
"MARGIE"
MISCHA AUER • NAN GREY • TOM BROWN
Ends Today: "This Thing Called Love," "Great Plane Robbery"

"A"

"B"

A CHANCE to secure excellent values at LANDAU'S
66 Elm St. Westfield

R EMEMBER! CROTTY'S ...for that valentine box of chocolates!
40 Elm St. Westfield

I T'S time to make plans to visit
TONELLI'S for delicious chicken and foods! Dancing on Saturday night!

Z IP—look—Colliers—Sat. Eve. Post...dozens more! Plus complete assortment of cigars and cigarettes on sale at...
NICK'S SMOKE SHOP
Elm St. Westfield

O NLY method of creating a "natural" wave
THE BOB SHOPPE
in the professional Bldg.

N EW spring coats! Sizes 12-20.
$7.95 • WARWICK'S • $7.95
Corner Main and Elm Sts., Westfield Charge It!

A RIZONA starts Saturday at the Strand Theatre—plus: Lloyd Nolan — "Behind the News"—Added attraction—"Christmas Under Fire." This smash show starts Sat.! Regular low prices!

(Above) The two displays here reproduced make up the trick layout aimed for by adman Dick Walsh to carry out the atmosphere of "Invsible Woman" at the Lafayette, Buffalo. Ad "A" was set on a right hand page, and "B", the same size, set exactly back-to-back on the page following. Thus, when "A" was held up to the light, according to instructions, the title in "B" would appear in the blank space in "A" and silhouette cut at bottom backgrounding cast credits and second-feature copy. Instructional copy in "B" was for information of readers who came across that page first. Size: 110 lines on 2 col.

(Left) For the purpose of getting away from the usual cooperative advertising promotion, Manager Louis Marcks built up additional interest for his date on "Arizona" at the Strand, Westfield, Mass., with this 2 col. 95 line type co-op that took in six of his leading merchants. Set same and with same type face, theatre credits tying layout together, were effectively sold.

(Right) The hand-drawn layout with which Manager C. A. Matthews successfully identifies the Tryon, in Charlotte, N. C., here is utilized by the Round Tabler on behalf of the world premiere of "Ridin' the Cherokee Trail" in conjunction with Station WBT. Attention was drawn to the "Tennessee Ramblers" stage show with revese background and tiein copy, hooked to reverse slug below to balance theatre slug at top. Size: 210 lines on 3 col.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING

the great national medium for showmen

Ten cents per word, money-order or check with copy. Count initials, box number and address. Minimum insertion, $1. Four insertions for the price of three. Contract rates on application. No borders or cuts. Forms close Mondays at 5 P.M. Publisher reserves the right to reject any copy. Film and trailer service advertising not accepted. Classified advertising not subject to agency commssion. Address correspondence, copy and checks MOTION PICTURE HERALD, Classified Dept., Rockefeller Center, New York City

THEATRES

FOR SALE, TWO SMALL TOWN THEATRES IN Michigan. Now running. Write EDWIN DALTON, Flushing, Mich.

WANTED, MOVIE THEATRE, VICINITY NEW York City. Box 1387, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

FOR SALE, THEATRES IN SEVERAL STATES now operating. Have several listed for lease as well. Let me know what size and where you desire to operate. Box 1217A MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

SPACE TO LEASE

333 W. 52nd St., NEW YORK CITY, NEAR 8th Ave., 15-story Modern building with Film vaults. Now available. Will divide to suit tenant. Rent reasonable. Apply S. L. SNYDER, on premises, COlumbus 5-2411.

BOOKKEEPING SYSTEM

THEATRE MANAGEMENT RECORD AND TAX Register. This new accounting system is the finest book of its kind ever made available to an exhibitor In addition to being complete in every respect, it is simple—so much so that it is not necessary to have had bookkeeping experience in order to keep an accurate, complete and up-to-the-minute record of the business of your theatre. The introductory price is only $2.00 postpaid. QUIGLEY BOOKSHOP, Rockefeller Center, New York.

TRAINING INSTITUTE

BETTER POSITIONS AWAIT TRAINED THEAtre employees. Learn Modern Theatre Management and Advertising. Free information. THEATRE INSTITUTE, 315 Washington, Elmira, N. Y.

USED GENERAL EQUIPMENT

COMPLETE HIGH CLASS EQUIPMENT FOR 500-seat theatre, purchased at auction. For sale cheap MOVIE SUPPLY COMPANY, 1318 So. Wabash Ave. Chicago, Ill.

BLOWERS, SLIGHTLY USED, GUARANTEED like new. Ball bearings, new belts and pulleys and variable speed drive. 10,000 cfm, $75. 20,000 cfm, $100. REYNOLDS MANUFACTURING CO., Grand Rapids. Mich.

SOME THEATRE CAN USE YOUR OLD EQUIPment. A little ad here will reach thousands of potential customers. Only ten cents a word to tell the world what you have to sell. Try it today. MOTION PICTURE HERALD, Rockefeller Center, New York.

BARGAIN, USED PEERLESS LAMPS AND Powers projectors, Mazda equipment. BOX 1381, MOTION PICTURE HERALD, Chicago, Ill.

CLOSING OUT LIGHTING EQUIPMENT. SPOTlamps 500 watt, $2.95; 1,000 watt, $7.95; 2,000 watt $10.95; Footlights, Borderlights, $1.95; Heavy Spotstands, $3.95; Hanging four cluster worklights, $5.95; Sixhole colorwheel, $2.95; General Electric Mazda bulbs, std. pkgs. 25% discount. S. O. S. CINEMA SUPPLY CORP., New York.

FOR SALE, PEERLESS LOW INTENSITY lamps at a real bargain, for cash. Box 1386, MOTION PICTURE HERALD, Chicago, Ill.

THEATRE CHAIRS, CUSHIONS, PARTS, METAL backs and metal bottoms at lowest prices. Large stock, satisfaction guaranteed. ALLIED SEATING CO., Inc., 36-38 West 13th Street, New York City.

NEW GENERAL EQUIPMENT

BUY DIRECT FROM FACTORY, SAVE MIDDLEman's profit. Blowers, air washers, variable speed pulleys, air deflectors. CONDITIONAIRE, 145 Walton St., Atlanta, Ga.

WHY NOT REPLACE YOUR METAL DISPLAY frame mouldings with newest design to conform with your architecture? Prices and literature on lobby and front display metal frames supplied upon request. Box 1208A MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

HELP WANTED

OPERATORS AND MANAGERS, MOVIE CIRcuits. ROSHON, Gulf States Bldg., Dallas, Tex.

BOOKS

MOTION PICTURE SOUND ENGINEERING—547 pages; illustrated; covers every practical method and process in present-day sound engineering. Leading engineers explain every detail of apparatus and its arrangement, with diagrams, tables, charts and graphs This manual comes straight from the workshops of the studios in Hollywood. It is indispensable to everyone working with sound equipment. Price $6.50 postpaid. QUIGLEY BOOKSHOP, Rockefeller Center, New York.

NEW 567 PAGE BOOK ON AIR CONDITIONING by Charles A. Fuller, authority on the subject. Available for theatre owners contemplating engineering changes. Book is cloth bound with index and charts and covers every branch of the industry as well as codes and ordinances regulating installation. Order now at $4.00 a copy postpaid. QUIGLEY BOOKSHOP, Rockefeller Center, New York.

RICHARDSON'S BLUEBOOK OF PROJECTION A second revision of the Sixth Edition of Richardson's Bluebook of Projection with a complete section of Sound Trouble-Shooting Charts as well as a host of additional up-to-the-minute text on the latest equipment. Price $7.25 postpaid. QUIGLEY BOOKSHOP, Rockefeller Center, New York.

JUST PUBLISHED! 1941 EDITION OF FAME. Edited by Terry Ramsaye. The class annual of the screen, radio and stage. Recognized by executives and talent agents as the guide to box office champions. Send your order today with check or money order for $1.00. QUIGLEY BOOKSHOP, Rockefeller Center, New York.

BUSINESS OPPORTUNITY

FOREIGN PRODUCER NOW IN AMERICA SETting up new roadshow company will consider reliable experienced roadshowmen. Must have sufficient capital, car and contracts to insure territory. Box 1209A MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

INTERNATIONAL SITUATION CREATES TREmendous theatre market for spot news service now available. Considerable research and development makes proposition possible for aggressive businessmen, amply financed to purchase stage franchise rights. If prepared to invest up to $10,000 for branch bureau and facilities to supply what may be America's outstanding industry, write at once for details. Supply financial reference for interview. Box 1212A MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

PRESS OF
C. J. O'BRIEN, INC.
NEW YORK, U. S. A.

PRODUCT DIGEST

Advance information for buyers and bookers on 1940-41 product.

Synopsis

Cast

Background facts and special date of exploitation value.

TOBACCO ROAD (20th Century-Fox)

Drama

Produced by Darryl F. Zanuck. Directed by John Ford. Adapted from the stage play by Jack Kirkland. Based on the novel by Erskine Caldwell.

SYNOPSIS

The Lester Family live on Tobacco Road in the backwoods cracker district of Georgia. Members of the Family are the father, Jeeter (Charley Grapewin), a well intentioned but lazy old man; his wife, Ada (Elizabeth Patterson), worn with worry and work before her years; daughter Ellie May (Gene Tierney), who at the age of twenty-three appears to be beyond marriage prospects, and son Dude (William Tracy), a lad with one passion and that is to own an automobile.

The Lesters are on the verge of being dispossessed for non-payment of rent when their land is taken over by a town banking organization, with plans to submit the farm to scientific cultivation. The Lesters furthermore are near starvation and so it is that when Lov (Ward Bond), who has married Pearl another of the Lesters, comes to complain of his wife's lack of affection, the family gang up on him, robbing him of a bag of turnips.

A chance to raise the needed one hundred dollars for rent comes when a neighborhood revivalist, Sister Bessie (Majorie Rambeau), who has been left eight hundred dollars by the death of a former husband, takes a liking for the youngster Dude. The marriage is arranged and executed but Sister Bessie's nest egg is spent on buying Dude an automobile.

Jeeter and Ada are on their way to the district's poor farm when Tim (Dana Andrews), for whose father Jeeter had worked, donates a sum that will cover a six months' rent period. Ellie May is sent off to keep house for Lov, and Jeeter sits on his broken down porch making plans for farming his land in some indefinite future period.

CAST

Jeeter.....Charles Grapewin
Sister Bessie.....Marjorie Rambeau
Ellie May.....Gene Tierney
Dude.....William Tracy
Ada.....Elizabeth Patterson
Dr. Tim.....Dana Andrews
Peabody.....Slim Summerville
Lov.....Ward Bond
George Payne.....Grant Mitchell

SPECIAL REMARKS

The stage play opened on Broadway in 1933 and has been running since. Statistics pertinent to this longest running stage play reveal that it has played over 3,000 performances, toured 110,000 miles, played 291 cities in 42 states and has been seen by over 8,000,000 people.

Release date, March 7, 1941

Complete Index to PRODUCT DIGEST SECTION On Page 84

ROAD TO ZANZIBAR (Paramount)

Comedy

Produced by Paul Jones. Directed by Victor Schertzinger.

SYNOPSIS

Chuck Reardon (Bing Crosby) and Fearless Frazier (Bob Hope), pals since boyhood, are barnstorming through Africa. Chuck dreams up profitable if hair-raising stunts for Fearless to risk life and limb in performing. The latest stunt is "The Human Bullet," with Fearless stuffed in a cannon's mouth, and Chuck, aided by a young lady in tights, Dimples (Joan Marsh), draws the crowd with his chatter. The tent catches fire and the two look elsewhere for their living. They buy a diamond mine from Charles Kimble (Eric Blore). The boys sell the mine when they realize that it is a fake.

Forced to flee because of the phony mine the boys find themselves in the village of Bombandu. They are accosted by Julia (Una Merkel), who tells them that her girl friend, Donna Latour (Dorothy Lamour), has been seized by a slave trader who is going to sell her on the block. The boys are taken in and pay $150 for Donna. Next the girls promote a free ride, via safari, to where a millionaire tea importer waits for Donna. During the trip Julia tells the boys that Donna is using them. Furious they abandon the safari and come upon a deserted village. Natives close in and are about to make a meal of them when Fearless and Chuck start their "patty-cake" routine. The boys make their escape as the natives play the game.

They catch up with Donna and Julia and the four decide to return to the United States together. Lacking money they set up a side show. "Sawing a Woman in Half." Julia is the "woman," Fearless the executioneer, Chuck the speiler, and Donna collects the money.

CAST

Chuck .....Bing Crosby
Fearless .....Bob Hope
Donna Latour .....Dorothy Lamour
Julia .....Una Merkel
Charles Kimble .....Eric Blore
Prop. of Native Booth.....Luis Alberni
Dimples .....Joan Marsh

SPECIAL REMARKS

Exhibitors will remember Paramount's "Road to Singapore," released last year, which also featured the triumvirate of Bing Crosby, Bob Hope and Dorothy Lamour.

Release date, April 11, 1941

MEET JOHN DOE (Warner Brothers)

Sociological Drama

Produced by Frank Capra and Robert Riskin. Directed by Frank Capra.

SYNOPSIS

Ann Mitchell (Barbara Stanwyck), newspaper columnist about to lose her job, writes a fictitious letter to her column signed "John Doe" and proclaiming an intention of jumping from the tower of the municipal building on Christmas Eve in protest against the state of the world. Called upon to produce the writer of the letter she hires Long John Willoughby (Gary Cooper), selected from a group of tramp applicants, to become "John Doe."

Long John Willoughby is a former bush league baseball player, unemployed since his pitching arm went bad.

The letter stirs the feelings of the city's women's clubs and "John Doe" becomes a headline sensation through a series of "I Protest" articles in Ann's newspaper. A John Doe movement for the "little guys" is thus underway, a movement originally started as a circulation campaign. "John Doe," however, had been unaware of the circulation angle, and when he learns that Norton (Edward Arnold), publisher of the newspaper, had backed the movement to further his own campaign for the presidency on a fascist ticket, refuses to indorse the publisher or his party. Norton's storm troopers break up a Doe Club meeting and declare "John Doe" a fake.

"John Doe" decides to carry out the Christmas Eve jump to prove his own sincerity. While Norton and his cohorts look on, Ann halts "John Doe" on the parapet of the tower and convinces him that the Doe movement has existed from the beginning of time, that the little people always will be heard. Together they walk triumphantly past Norton and his followers.

CAST

John Doe / Long John Willoughby .....Gary Cooper
Ann Mitchell.....Barabara Stanwyck
D. B. Norton.....Edward Arnold
Connell .....James Gleason
The Colonel.....Walter Brennan
Mrs. Mitchell.....Spring Byington
Mayor Lovett.....Gene Lockhart
Tim Sheldon.....Rod LaRocque
Beany .....Irving Bacon
Bert .....Regis Toomey
Sourpuss .....J. Farrell McDonald
Dan .....Sterling Holloway

SPECIAL REMARKS

The production is thematically akin to the Frank Capra-Robert Riskin team's two immediately previous pictures, "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington" and "Mr. Deeds Goes to Town."

FOOTLIGHT FEVER (RKO Radio)

Former title—Show Business

Comedy and Romance on Broadway

Produced by Howard Benedict. Directed by Irving Reis.

SYNOPSIS

Avery (Alan Mowbray) and Crandall (Donald MacBride) are two Broadway producers. They have a play and a leading man but no money. John Carter (Lee Bonnell) is the leading man and he is in love with Eileen (Elyse Knox). Eileen is rich but her money is controlled by her Aunt Hattie (Elisabeth Risdon). Since the aunt has been waiting these many years for her sea-faring romeo, Avery and Crandall pretend they are mates of the romeo and tell her that the romeo now is bunking with Davy Jones but that he left a play for her. She reads it and likes the play—even though she discovers Avery and Crandall are producers and not sailors.

The aunt's lawyer, Harvey Parker (Bradley Page), also is in love with Eileen and agrees to the loan on condition John does not play the lead. Avery plays the role in the dress rehearsal and is so enthused over his acting he intends to continue in the part. Crandall, however, arranges for a sandbag to drop on Avery's head and the sandbag not only gets Avery but Crandall too. When they wake up two months later, they rush to the theatre thinking it is opening night and are greeted by the sign "Second Successful Month."

CAST

Avery ..... Alan Mowbray
Crandall ..... Donald MacBride
Hattie ..... Elisabeth Risdon
Carter ..... Lee Bonnell
Eileen ..... Elyse Knox
Spike ..... Charles Quigley
Harvey ..... Bradley Page
Holly ..... Chester Clute
Miss Hughes ..... Jane Patten
Imogene ..... Georgia Backus

Release date, March 21, 1941

THE SEA WOLF (Warner Brothers)

Drama on the High Seas

Executive producer, Hal B. Wallis. Associate producer, Henry Blanke. Directed by Michael Curtiz. Based on the novel by Jack London.

SYNOPSIS

Through a murky fog that shrouds San Francisco Bay, a ferry boat moves slowly. In the darkness, the hulk of a giant freighter bears down upon it. Among the ferry's passengers are Humphrey van Weyden (Alexander Knox), a writer, and Ruth Webster (Ida Lupino), a fugitive from justice. After the collision, they are picked up by the crew of the mystery ship, The Ghost.

The Captain of the Ghost, Wolf Larsen (Edward G. Robinson), rules his crew with terrifying discipline. His mate, Svenson (Francis McDonald), is a fitting assistant, lacking his chief's strength, but not his cruelty. The Captain is not disposed to Humphrey's suggestion that he and Ruth be put ashore. Leach (John Garfield), who has signed on as cabin boy because he is dodging the police, is called and told Humphrey will take his place. Leach protests and is immediately subjected to a brutal beating by the Captain.

Humphrey's job alongside Cooky (Barry Fitzgerald) is not pleasant. Cooky, a slimy coward, reports to Larsen everything he sees and hears. Humphrey is surprised to find Larsen a well read man. Ruth becomes ill and the drunken ship's doctor, Louie (Gene Lockhart), performs an operation on her after being sobered by Larsen.

After an unsuccessful attempt to kill Larsen, Johnson (Stanley Ridges), an older sailor, and Leach decide to risk everything in an attempt to escape from the ship. They take Ruth and Humphrey with them. After drifting for days during which Johnson dies, they sight a ship. It is The Ghost, apparently sinking. They board the boat. Larsen in his cabin is in a semi-blind state but still capable of holding the party at bay. In the end Humphrey makes a bargain with Larsen to stay and sink with him if he will allow Ruth and Leach to escape.

CAST

'Wolf' Larsen ..... Edward G. Robinson
Ruth Webster ..... Ida Lupino
George Leach ..... John Garfield
Dr. Louie ..... Gene Lockhart
Cooky ..... Barry Fitzgerald
Humphrey van Weyden ..... Alexander Knox
Johnson ..... Stanley Ridges
Svenson ..... Francis McDonald
Harrison ..... Howard da Silva
Smoke ..... Frank Lackteen
Young Sailor ..... David Bruce
Helmsman ..... Wilfred Lucas
Sailor ..... Louis Mason
Agent ..... Ralf Harolde

SPECIAL REMARKS

Milton Sills played the role of "Larsen" in 1930 for Fox and Ralph Ince played it in 1926 and also produced the picture, which was distributed by the old Producers Distributing Corporation.

Release date, March 22, 1941

ELLERY QUEEN'S PENTHOUSE MYSTERY (Columbia)

Melodrama

Produced by Larry Darmour. Directed by James Hogan. Based on a story by Ellery Queen.

SYNOPSIS

Gordon Cobb (Noel Madison), world traveler and ventriloquist, is commissioned to convey a fortune in jewels from the Orient to the United States, where they are to be converted into cash to aid the Chinese cause. Arriving in New York Cobb calls Lois Ling (Anna May Wong), who represents the cause in America. Two days later, Nikki (Margaret Lindsay), secretary to Ellery Queen (Ralph Bellamy), is visited by Sheila Cobb (Ann Doran), daughter of the emissary. Her father has disappeared.

Queen is inveigled into the case by the two girls. At the hotel he discovers Cobb's body in a trunk. He notifies his father, Inspector Queen (Charley Grapewin), who arrives on the scene with Sergeant Velie (James Burke). Meanwhile Count Brett (Edward Cianelli), confidence man, and Harry Walsh (Russell Hicks), Cobb's business manager, are unable to unearth the jewels. Sanders (Frank Albertson), purported newspaper man, and Ritter, a gambler, fight over Cobb's luggage and Ritter is killed.

Ellery finds the luggage and a clue. He has all the principals meet and then explains the mystery. It seems Cobb had discovered Ritter going through his luggage. Ritter killed Cobb and then Ritter, in turn, was killed by Sanders. The jewels had been safely deposited in San Francisco all the while.

CAST

Ellery Queen ..... Ralph Bellamy
Nikki Porter ..... Margaret Lindsay
Inspector Queen ..... Charley Grapewin
Sergeant Velie ..... James Burke
Lois Ling ..... Anna May Wong
Count Brett ..... Edward Cianelli
Sanders ..... Frank Albertson
Sheila Cobb ..... Ann Doran
Gordon Cobb ..... Noel Madison
Doc Prouty ..... Charles Lane
Walsh ..... Russell Hicks

Release date, March 24, 1941

BACK IN THE SADDLE (Republic)

Western

Associated producer, Harry Grey. Directed by Lew Landers.

SYNOPSIS

Gene (Gene Autry) and Frog Millhouse (Smiley Burnette) return to the town of Solitude from New York. With them is the youthful and "wild" heir, Tom Bennett (Edward Norris), to the Bar Cross Ranch. Gene believes that a sojourn at the Bar Cross will cure Tom but Gene hadn't taken into consideration that the town had become wide open because of the discovery of copper. Tom meets Taffy (Jacqueline Wells), a showgirl in search of a job, and her young sister, Patsy (Mary Lee).

Gene alienates Taffy by his suggestion that she is a cheap golddigger. E. G. Blaine's (Arthur Loft) miners are dumping copper sulfate into the stream which flows through the valley, killing hundreds of cattle. Gene goes to Phoenix to get an injunction against Blaine and while he is there, Tom leads the ranchers in a raid on the copper mine. The raid fails, Tom is jailed and about to be lynched when Gene arrives to stop it. He makes a bargain with Blaine, but when he realizes that Blaine doesn't intend to keep his part of it, a showdown is forced. In a battle at the jailhouse Gene and his friends win out, aided by Frog, who stampede's a herd of cattle up Blaine and his crew.

CAST

Gene ..... Gene Autry
Frog ..... Smiley Burnette
Patsy ..... Mary Lee
Tom Bennett ..... Edward Norris
Taffy ..... Jacqueline Wells
Duke Winston Winston ..... Addison Richards
E. G. Blaine ..... Arthur Loft
Judge Bent ..... Edmund Elton
Sheriff Simpson ..... Joe McGuinn
Williams ..... Edmund Cobb

Release date, March 14, 1941

DOUBLE DATE (Universal)

Comedy Romance

Associate producer, Joseph G. Sanford. Directed by Glenn Tryon.

SYNOPSIS

Penny Kirkland (Peggy Moran), an independent sort of girl, and Jerry Baldwin (Rand Brooks), a wealthy and snobbish boy, have never met, but they do have something in common. Penny's Aunt Elsie (Una Merkel) and Jerry's father, Roger Baldwin (Edmund Lowe), a widower, are next door neighbors in Fairview. The youngsters learn from letters to their respective schools, that Elsie and Roger are attracted to each other.

Penny and Jerry, convinced that their elders are too old to take care of themselves, drop their school vacation plans and dash off to Fairview, where they meet. Their meeting is not an auspicious one and they dislike each other intensely. The two youngsters try their best to break up their elders' romance. Penny tries to vamp Roger away from her aunt and Jerry tries the same method on Elsie. Roger and Elsie set out to elope with Penny and Jerry in pursuit. After a sequence involving a stolen car the four wind-up in court. The judge marries Elsie and Roger. Penny and Jerry forget their differences.

CAST

Roger ..... Edmund Lowe
Penny ..... Peggy Moran
Elsie ..... Una Merkel
Jerry ..... Rand Brooks
Hodges ..... Tommy Kelly
Lilac ..... Hattie Noel
Cop ..... William Rule
Truck Driver ..... Eddy Waller

Release date, March 14, 1941

MR. DYNAMITE (Universal)

Baseball and Espionage

Associate producer, Marshall Grant. Directed by Jack Rawlins.

SYNOPSIS

Tommy N. Thornton (Lloyd Nolan), known to the baseball world as Mr. Dynamite, star pitcher of the St. Louis Robins, has just hurled his team into the World Series with Brooklyn (sic). Having a few days before the Series starts, Mr. Dynamite is sightseeing in New York. He comes across Joey (Ann Gillis), a tomboyish girl who hangs about the sideshow of the Professor (J. Carrol Naish). Goaded by Joey, Mr. Dynamite throws a hard ball at a target, dumping a girl out of bed. Tommy keeps throwing and the girl, Vicki (Irene Hervey), keeps getting dumped out of bed.

When her relief girl comes on, Vicki hurries off in a huff. Tommy follows her and sees her enter a ventriloquist theatre operated by a sinister character, Valla (Frank Gaby). Tommy sees Vicki steal a notebook from a spectator's pocket as the man slumps forward, obviously stabbed to death. Tommy follows Vicki to her apartment and starts to take her to the police when Vicki is shot at. Helping her escape he loses his watch. Newspapers speard the news that Mr. Dynamite is wanted for murder.

Meanwhile Tommy learns that Vicki and the murdered man have been working for the British government as secret spies. They elude the enemy with Joey's aid and double back to follow the enemy spies to a secluded mansion. Their they meet a charming old lady (Elizabeth Risdon). Their suspicions lulled by the old lady's sweet disposition, Vicki and Tommy leave. They go to the Valla Theatre disguised as bums. There Tommy sees the sweet old lady enter and realizes that he is on the right tract. After an attempt on his life which fails Tommy battles the enemy agents until the police arrive and then goes to the baseball park to pitch his team to the championship.

CAST

Mr. Dynamite.....Lloyd Nolan
Vicki Martin.....Irene Hervey
Paul.....Robert Armstrong
Joey.....Ann Gillis
Professor.....J. Carrol Naish
Valla.....Frank Gaby
Achilles.....Elizabeth Risdon

Release date, March 7, 1941

SHADOWS ON THE STAIRS (Warners - First National)

Former title—Murder on the Second Floor

Melodrama

Directed by D. Ross Lederman. From a play by Frank Vosper.

SYNOPSIS

Sylvia Armitage (Heather Angel) is trying to help the young author, Hugh Bromilow (Bruce Lester) write a play. They are so interested in each other that they are unaware of the things that go on about them in the genteel lodging house which Sylvia's mother, Stella Armitage (Frieda Inescort), one time stage actress, conducts in the Bloomsbury section of London.

Neither they nor Sylvia's mild-mannered father, Tom Armitage (Miles Mander), are aware, for instance, that Joseph Reynolds (Paul Cavanagh), the star boarder, is a spectator to the murder of a dock watchman by Ram Singh (Turhan Bey) when the watchman interrupts two Hindus carrying a heavy box off the ship, Burma Queen. Singh is a fellow lodger. A sailor (Paul Renay) steals into Singh's room and when he demands money Singh kills him and hides the body.

Later Reynolds and Singh quarrel in the Hindu's room. The conversation indicates that the mysterious box from the ship contains gold and other valuables intended to finance an international political effort against Britain. Meanwhile, the maid, Lucy (Phyllis Barry), has become jealous of Mrs. Armitage's attentions to Reynolds. While prowling around downstairs Lucy sees Singh carrying the heavy box.

The next morning Reynolds is found dead in his room. His throat had been slashed. Inspector Gregg (Lumsden Hare) begins the Scotland Yard investigation. Later, when Lucy is found dead in a closet, clews seem to indicate she killed Reynolds and then herself. Then Tom Armitage admits to the murder. . . .

Hugh Bromilow folds the manuscript from which he has been reading and looks inquiringly around. The comments from all residents of Mrs. Armitage's indicate mingled emotions towards the events of crime and intrigue that had been associated with their names.

CAST

Stella Armitage.....Frieda Inescort
Joseph Reynolds.....Paul Cavanagh
Sylvia.....Heather Angel
Hugh Bromilow.....Bruce Lester
Tom Armitage.....Miles Mander
Inspector Gregg.....Lumsden Hare
Ram Singh.....Turhan Bey
Constable.....Charles Irwin
Lucy.....Phyllis Barry
Miss Snell.....Mary Field
Hindu Sailor.....Paul Renay
Watchman.....Sidney Bracy

Release date, March 1, 1941

MR. DISTRICT ATTORNEY (Republic)

Melodrama

Associate producer, Leonard Fields. Directed by William Morgan. Based on the Phillips H. Lord radio program, "Mr. District Attorney."

SYNOPSIS

P. Cadwallader Jones (Dennis O'Keefe), Harvard Law graduate, through the intervention of a relative, gets a position in the office of District Attorney Winton (Stanley Ridges). The rest of the staff resent the appointment, especially when he interferes in a case of another aide, bringing about a mistrial.

Winton assigns Jones to one of the department's hopeless cases—that of a politician named Hyde (Peter Lorre), who disappeared four years before, absconding with public funds. When several of the marked bills Hyde had stolen turn up at a local race track, Winton re-assigns the case to more experienced aides. Jones, however, follows clues on his own intiative. Helping him is Terry Parker (Florence Rice), a reporter.

The trail leads to a showgirl, Betty Paradise (Joan Blair), and her boy friend, Herman Winkle (Charles Arnt). First Winkle is found dead and then Betty, but not before Jones and Terry have obtained vital information from the showgirl. Jones and Terry attempt to frame Hyde and Barrett (Minor Watson), a society lawyer, but the lawyer is tipped off and sends a gangster to kill Jones. The gangster recognizes Jones as the man who secured his mistrial on a previous rap and helps him to escape. Barrett goads Hyde's estranged wife into killing Hyde and then has Mrs. Hyde (Helen Brown) arrested. Jones and Terry secure the evidence to convict Barrett as Hyde's accomplice.

CAST

P. Cadwallader Jones.....Dennis O'Keefe
Terry Parker.....Florence Rice
Mr. Hyde.....Peter Lorre
Winton.....Stanley Ridges
Barrett.....Minor Watson
Mr. Winkle.....Charles Arnt
Betty Paradise.....Joan Blair
Hazelton.....Charles Halton
Mrs. Hyde.....Helen Brown

Release date, March 27, 1941

A MAN BETRAYED (Republic)

Former title—Citadel of Crime

Melodrama

Associate producer, Armand Schaefer. Directed by John H. Auer.

SYNOPSIS

Tom Cameron (Edward Ellis), political leader of Temple City, is ruthless but has one "soft spot"—his daughter Sabra (Frances Dee). Lynn Hollister (John Wayne), a young small town lawyer, comes to Temple City to investigate the strange death of a friend. He goes immediately to Cameron's residence, believing the political leader will assist him. There he meets Sabra, who invites Lynn to escort her to the Club Inferno. At the nightclub he obtains information that the death of his friend was murder and not suicide.

Cameron offers Lynn a job in his office to throw the young lawyers off the scent. Lynn accepts. T. Amato (Alexander Granach), proprietor of the Club Inferno, is incensed over Cameron's failure to appoint him to political office. To defeat the Cameron machine he imports inmates of local institutions, arranging for them to vote several times. Cameron retaliates by importing a small army of racketeers. In the ensuing fracas, Lynn discovers that Amato's brother killed his friend. Invoking an old law he has the inmates and the racketeers locked up, several of whom turn state's evidence. Cameron is sent to prison.

CAST

Lynn Hollister.....John Wayne
Sabra Cameron.....Frances Dee
Tom Cameron.....Edward Ellis
Casey.....Wallace Ford
Floyd.....Ward Bond
Morris Slade.....Harold Huber
T. Amato.....Alexander Granach
Butler.....Barnett Parker

Release date, March 7, 1941

FEDERAL FUGITIVES (Producers Rel. Corp.)

Melodrama

Produced by John T. Coyle. Directed by William Beaudine.

SYNOPSIS

Madison (Neil Hamilton), a Secret Service Officer assigned to probe into the death of three fellow officers, poses as a partner of Gregory (Emmett Vogan), a plane manufacturer, to investigate Haskell (Victor Varconi) and Lane (Charles Wilson), who are very anxious to take over Gregory's plant.

Haskell & Lane discover Madison's identity and plan to kill him by placing a poison pill in a bottle of digestion tablets. The plot is discovered by Rita (Doris Day), who contacts Chuck (Lyle Latell), Madison's man Friday.

They follow Madison who has trailed Haskell to Baltimore, where Haskell contacts two foreign agents. Madison is discovered while listening to their plotting, and while being searched, Haskell discovers the poison pill.

Just as Madison is about to swallow the pill at the command of Haskell, Chuck bursts into the scene with Rita. Haskell grabs Rita as a shield and backs off. In the warehouse, Madison is about to use his pistol when the agent opens an elevator shaft door and plunges to his death.

CAST

Madison.....Neil Hamilton
Rita.....Doris Day
Haskell.....Victor Varconi
Lane.....Charles Wilson
Gregory.....Emmett Vogan
Hobbs.....Gerald Oliver Smith
Doctor.....Jack Mulhall
Chuck.....Lyle Latell

Release Date March 29, 1941

THE GREAT DICTATOR (United Artists)

Satirical Comedy

Produced, written and directed by Charles Chaplin.

SYNOPSIS

The story opens on the battlefields of World War I where in scenes reminiscent of his "Shoulder Arms" Charles Chaplin does his duty as a soldier. He is injured and amnesia results.

He remembers that he is a Jewish barber shortly before his country is to invade a neighbor and attempts to resume practice of his craft in a society he does not know has changed. Storm troopers harass and abuse him, but a government official, Schultz (Reginald Gardiner), whose life the Jewish barber had saved, provides protection until he himself is confined in a concentration camp. The Jewish barber is also befriended by Hannah (Paulette Goddard), a girl of the ghetto.

Schultz escapes from prison and enlists the barber and his friends in a plot to blow up the palace, but this fails and they are both sent to prison. Escaping again, they are fleeing the country when the barber is mistaken for Hynkel, Dictator of Tomania (also Chaplin). The dictator is mistaken for the barber and imprisoned.

Brought to a microphone to proclaim the invasion successful, the barber becomes Mr. Chaplin, who pleads for a new order in the world.

CAST

People of the Palace

Hynkel, Dictator of Tomania..Charles Chaplin
Napaloni, Dictator of Bacteria.....Jack Oakie
Schultz ..... Reginald Gardiner
Garbitsch ..... Henry Daniell
Herring ..... Billy Gilbert
Madame Napaloni .....Grace Hayle
Bacterian Ambassador.....Carter de Haven

People of the Ghetto

A Jewish Barber.....Charles Chaplin
Hannah ..... Paulette Goddard
Mr. Jaeckel ..... Maurice Moscovich
Mrs. Jaeckel ..... Emma Dunn
Mr. Mann ..... Bernard Gorcey
Mr. Agar ..... Paul Weigel and Chester Conklin, Esther Michaelson, Hank Mann, Florence Wright, Eddie Gribbon, Robert O. Davis, Eddie Dunn, Nita Pike, Peter Lynn.

Release date, March 7, 1941

BACK STREET (Universal)

Drama

Produced by Bruce Manning. Directed by Robert Stevenson. Based on the novel by Fannie Hurst.

SYNOPSIS

The neighbors said that Ray Smith (Margaret Sullavan) was a "fast" girl because she played poker with the salesmen who called at her stepmother's notions shop. But morally, Ray was all right. Then Walter Saxel (Charles Boyer) entered her life. Curt Stanton (Richard Carlson) loved her. Curt had the bicycle repair shop next door to the notions shop. Curt proposed many times.

Ed Porter (Frank McHugh), a drummer, introduces Ray to Walter. They fall in love, but Walter tells Ray that he is engaged to another girl and is going to marry her. . . .

Five years later, Ray is in New York. She is now a successful designer for a dress manufacturer. She collides with Walter on the street and as time passes their love returns more strongly than ever, although Walter is married and a father. Walter procures an apartment and maintains her in it. They give their names as Mr. and Mrs. Smith. They have a serious quarrel and Ray leaves Walter, but he ferrets her out and she returns to him. The Saxel family and Ray, occupying a lower-deck stateroom, sail for Paris. In Paris Richard Saxel (Tim Holt), Walter's son, demands that Ray leave his father alone. Walter overhears and the following day is stricken with a heart ailment. Walter's death causes Ray to sicken. On her dying bed she visions what her life would have been if they had married when they first met.

CAST

Walter Saxel.....Charles Boyer
Ray Smith.....Margaret Sullavan
Curt Stanton.....Richard Carlson
Ed Porter.....Frank McHugh
Harry ..... Frank Jenks
Richard Saxel ..... Tim Holt
Freda Smith ..... Peggy Stewart
Darren .....Samuel S. Hinds

Release date, February 7, 1941

Reviews of the five pictures on this page have appeared in* Motion Picture Herald *but synopses on them have not previously been carried in Product Digest. They are carried now for their reference value.

THE PHILADELPHIA STORY (Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer)

Comedy of Manners

Produced by Joseph L. Mankiewicz. Directed by George Cukor. Based on the play by Philip Barry as produced by the Theatre Guild, Inc.

SYNOPSIS

Tracy Lord (Katharine Hepburn) is to wed George Kittredge (John Howard), when her ex-husband, Dexter Haven (Cary Grant), arrives unexpectedly at the Lord home. Tracy is furious, but Margaret Lord (Mary Nash), Dinah Lord (Virginia Weidler) and Uncle Willie (Roland Young) greet Dexter with open arms. Through a snoop magazine, Dexter blackmails Tracy by bringing two supposed friends to the wedding, Macaulay Connor (James Stewart), a reporter, and Liz Imbrie (Ruth Hussey), photographer and Connor's girl friend. The blackmail concerns an unpleasant story about a dancer and Tracy's father, Seth Lord (John Halliday). The Lord family belongs to Philadelphia's "Main Line."

Tracy sets out to make fools of Connor and Miss Imbrie, and succeeds only in making a fool of herself. Tracy discovers that Dexter's real reason for returning is that he still loves her but that he considers her a prig. At the party before her wedding, she quarrels with Kittredge and goes home with Connor. They both become intoxicated and go for a swim.

As Connor carries Tracy back to the house, he meets Dexter and Kittredge. Next morning Tracy can't recall what happened to her. But Tracy, confused as she is about the night before, sees one thing clearly. She doesn't want to marry Kittredge. Instead she re-marries Dexter as Connor and Liz attend them.

CAST

C. K. Dexter Haven.....Cary Grant
Tracy Lord.....Katharine Hepburn
Macaulay Connor.....James Stewart
Elizabeth Imbrie.....Ruth Hussey
George Kittredge.....John Howard
Uncle Willie.....Roland Young
Seth Lord.....John Halliday
Margaret Lord.....Virginia Weidler
Sidney Lord.....Henry Daniell
Edward .....Lionel Pape

Release date, January 17, 1941.

FLIGHT FROM DESTINY (Warner Brothers)

Drama

Directed by Vincent Sherman.

SYNOPSIS

Betty Farroway (Geraldine Fitzgerald) confides to an old friend, Professor Todhunter (Thomas Mitchell) that her husband, Michael (Jeffrey Lynn) is drifting away from her. The professor takes Betty to Michael's art studio to talk things over with Michael and by chance they see Michael leave the building with Ketti Moret (Mona Maris).

The professor learns that Ketti has a peculiar hold on Michael. She runs an art gallery and had hired Michael to paint copies of old masterpieces. Ketti then sold the copies as originals and threatened to expose Michael as a fraud when he wanted to quit. The professor, keeping secret the knowledge that Dr. Stevens (James Stephenson) has given him only six months to live, takes justice into his own hands to straighten things out for Michael and Betty by murdering Ketti.

CAST

Betty Farroway.....Geraldine Fitzgerald
Professor Todhunter.....Thomas Mitchell
Michael Farroway.....Jeffrey Lynn
Dr. Stevens.....James Stephenson
Ketti Moret.....Mona Maris
District Attorney.....Jonathan Hale
Saunders ..... David Bruce
Dean Somers.....Thurston Hall
Martha ..... Mary Gordon
Peterson ..... John Eldredge
Ferrers .....Hardie Albright

Release date, February 8, 1941

MISSING TEN DAYS (Columbia)

Espionage and Romance

Produced by Irving Asher in England. Directed by Tim Whelan. Based on the novel, "The Disappearance of Roger Tremayne," by Bruce Graeme.

SYNOPSIS

When the victim of a nightclub shooting comes to in a Paris hospital he gives his name as Robert Stevens (Rex Harrison) but can tell nothing that has happened for 10 days past. Mistaken for a spy he is approached by a man named Andre (John Abbott), who instructs Stevens to meet Diane De Guermantes (Karen Verne) at a fashion show. Stevens discovers he is supposed to be Diane's chauffeur.

Later Andre finds out that Stevens is not the spy and tries to kill him but it is Andre who dies in the attempt. Stevens sees Denise (Joan Marion), Diane's maid, photographing scale models of the Maginot Line. He confides the story to Diane and they set out to warn the authorities. On the way they are captured and held in a deserted chateau. Escaping, Stevens halts a munitions train entering the fortifications. He had overheard a plot by which a bomb was to be attached to the train. The train is destroyed by the bomb but the fort is unharmed.

CAST

Robert Stevens .....Rex Harrison
Diane De Guermantes.....Karen Verne
General De Guermantes.....C. V. France
Denise .....Joan Marion
Lanson .....Leo Glenn
Francois .....Anthony Holles
Sir James Stevens.....Robert Rendell
Victor .....Andre Morell
Andre .....John Abbott

SPECIAL REMARKS

Released in England as "Ten Days in Paris," this production was reviewed in Motion Picture Herald, October 28, 1939, by Aubrey Flanagan from London.

Release date, February 28, 1941

1940-41 FEATURE SERVICE DATA

To Aid Showmen in Checking—Production Numbers—Running Time—Round Table Exploitation—Audience Classification—Dates and Page Numbers of Herald Reviews.

Adam Had Four Sons (Col.)
Release Date February 18, 1941
Production No. 2006.
Running Time 80 Minutes
Reviewed February 22, 1941, Page 36
Audience Classification—Adult

Blondie Goes Latin (Col.)
Release Date February 27, 1941
Production No 2015
Running Time 69 Minutes
Reviewed March 1, 1941, Page 41
Audience Classification—General

Devil Commands, The (Col.)
Release Date February 3, 1941
Production No. 2028
Running Time 65 Minutes
Reviewed February 22, 1941, Page 38
Audience Classification—Adult
Legion of Decency Rating—Class B

Missing Ten Days (Col.)
Release Date February 28, 1941
Production No. 2044
Running Time 82 Minutes
Reviewed October 28, 1939, Page 46 under the title "Ten Days in Paris"
Audience Classification—Adult

This Thing Called Love (Col.)
Release Date January 2, 1941
Production No. 2005
Running Time 93 Minutes
Reviewed December 28, 1940, Page 36
Audience Classification—Adult
Legion of Decency Rating—Class B
(Revised Version—Originally Class C)
Round Table Exploitation—Mar. 1, '41, Page 74

Wildcat of Tucson (Col.)
Release Date December 31, 1940
Production No. 2211
Running Time 59 Minutes
Legion of Decency Rating—Class A-1

Andy Hardy's Private Secretary (MGM)
Release Date February 21, 1941
Production No. 126
Running time 101 Minutes
Reviewed February 22, 1941, Page 36
Audience Classification—General
Legion of Decency Rating—Class A-1

Blonde Inspiration (MGM)
Release Date February 7, 1941
Production No. 123
Running Time 72 Minutes
Reviewed February 22, 1941, Page 36
Audience Classification—Adult
Legion of Decency Rating—Class A-2

Comrade X (MGM)
Release Date December 13, 1940
Production No. 113
Running Time 90 Minutes
Reviewed December 7, 1940, Page 42
Audience Classification—General
Legion of Decency Rating—Class A-2
Round Table Exploitation—Dec. 21, '40, Page 63; Feb. 1, '41, Pages 62, 64, 65: Feb. 8, '41, Page 54; Feb. 15, '41, Page 56; Feb. 22, '41, Page 56; Mar. 1, '41, Page 68

Land of Liberty (MGM)
Release Date January 24, 1941
Production No. 120
Running Time 98 Minutes
Reviewed February 8, 1941, Page 36
Audience Classification—General
Legion of Decency Rating—Class A-1
Round Table Exploitation—Dec. 28, '40, Page 66; Jan. 18, '41, Page 59; Feb. 8, '41, Pages 53. 54; Feb. 15, '41, Page 59; Feb. 22, '41, Page 55

Flying Wild (Mono.)
Release Date March 10, 1941
Running Time 63 Minutes
Reviewed March 1, 1941, Page 37
Audience Classification—General

Ridin' the Cherokee Trail (Mono.)
Release Date February 25, 1941
Running Time 62 Minutes
Reviewed February 22, 1941, Page 38
Audience Classification—General

Hard-Boiled Canary (Par.)
Release Date March 7, 1941
Production No 4021
Running Time 80 Minutes
Reviewed March 1, 1941, Page 41
Audience Classification—General
Legion of Decency Rating—Class A-2

In Old Colorado (Par.)
Release Date March 14, 1941
Production No. 4052
Running Time 67 Minutes
Reviewed February 22, 1941, Page 38
Audience Classification—General
Legion of Decency Rating—Class A-1

Lady Eve, The (Par.)
Release Date March 21, 1941
Production No. 4022
Running Time 95 Minutes
Reviewed March 1, 1941, Page 37
Audience Classification—Adult
Legion of Decency Rating—Class B

Love Thy Neighbor (Par.)
Release Date December 27, 1940
Production No. 4013
Running Time 83 Minutes
Reviewed December 21, 1940, Page 44
Audience Classification—General
Legion of Decency Rating—Class A-2
Round Table Exploitation—Dec. 28, '40, Page 66; Feb. 8, '41, Page 54; Feb. 22, '41, Page 53; Mar. 1, '41, Page 74

Outlaws of the Rio Grande (Prod.)
Release Date March 7, 1941
Production No. 155
Running Time 63 Minutes
Reviewed March 1, 1941, Page 41
Audience Classification—General
Legion of Decency Rating—Class A-1

LEGION of DECENCY Ratings

Class A-1	Unobjectionable
Class A-2	Unobjectionable for Adults
Class B	Objectionable in part
Class C	Condemned

Kitty Foyle (RKO)
Release Date December 27, 1940
Production No. 112
Running Time 105 Minutes
Reviewed December 21, 1940, Page 41
Audience Classification—General
Legion of Decency Rating—Class B
Round Table Exploitation—Jan. 11, '41, Page 53; Jan. 18, '41, Page 60; Jan. 25, '41, Page 83; Feb. 1, '41, Page 64; Feb. 8, '41, Page 54; Feb. 15, '41, Pages 58, 60; Feb. 22, '41, Pages 54, 56; Mar. 1, '41, Pages 70, 74

Prairie Pioneers (Rep.)
Release Date February 16, 1941
Production No. 065
Running Time 58 Minutes
Reviewed March 1, 1941, Page 41
Audience Classification—General
Legion of Decency Rating—Class A-1

Golden Hoofs (20th-Fox)
Release Date February 14, 1941
Production No. 130
Running Time 67 Minutes
Reviewed February 22, 1941, Page 36
Audience Classification—General
Legion of Decency Rating—Class A-1

Tobacco Road (20th-Fox)
Release Date March 7, 1941
Production No. 133
Running Time 84 Minutes
Reviewed March 1, 1941, Page 36
Audience Classification—Adult
Legion of Decency Rating—Class B

Invisible Woman, The (Univ.)
Release Date December 27, 1940
Production No. 5018
Running Time 70 Minutes
Reviewed January 4, 1941, Page 31
Audience Classification—Adult
Legion of Decency Rating—Class B
Round Table Exploitation—Feb. 8, '41, Page 52; Mar. 1, '41, Page 74

Meet the Chump (Univ.)
Release Date February 14, 1941
Production No. 5032.
Running Time 60 Minutes
Reviewed February 15, 1941, Page 42
Audience Classification—General
Legion of Decency Rating—Class A-1

Father's Son (WB)
Release Date February 1, 1941
Production No. 520
Running Time 57 Minutes
Reviewed March 1, 1941, Page 37
Audience Classification—General
Legion of Decency Rating—Class A-1

Flight from Destiny (WB)
Release Date February 8, 1941
Production No. 514
Running Time 74 Minutes
Reviewed December 28, 1940, Page 36
Audience Classification—Adult
Legion of Decency Rating—Class A-2

1940-41 FEATURES

In Sequence of Release
With Coming Attractions

COLUMBIA

Prod. No.	Title	Release Date
2201	Durango Kid	Aug. 15,'40
2032	Fugitive From a Prison Camp	Sept. 5,'40
2209	Prairie Schooners	Sept. 30,'40
2018	So You Won't Talk	Oct. 3,'40
2030	Nobody's Children	Oct. 17,'40
2202	West of Abilene	Oct. 21,'40
2038	Girls Under 21	Oct. 24,'40
2016	Blondie Plays Cupid	Oct. 31,'40
2210	Beyond the Sacramento	Nov. 14,'40
2021	The Lone Wolf Keeps a Date	Nov. 23,'40
2012	Escape to Glory	Nov. 28,'40
2024	Ellery Queen	Nov. 30,'40
2203	The Thundering Frontier	Dec. 5,'40
2031	The Great Plane Robbery	Dec. 9,'40
2033	Phantom Submarine	Dec. 20,'40
2101	Arizona	Dec. 25,'40
2211	Wildcat of Tucson	Dec. 31,'40
2005	This Thing Called Love	Jan. 2,'41
2204	The Pinto Kid	Jan. 9,'41
2029	Face Behind the Mask	Jan. 16,'41
2028	The Devil Commands	Feb. 3,'41
2212	Across the Sierras	Feb. 13,'41
2006	Adam Had Four Sons	Feb. 18,'41
2027	Meet Boston Blackie	Feb. 20,'41
2205	Outlaws of the Panhandle	Feb. 27,'41
2015	Blondie Goes Latin	Feb. 27,'41
2044	Missing Ten Days	Feb. 28,'41
....	Lone Wolf Takes a Chance	Mar. 6,'41
....	Ellery Queen's Penthouse Mystery	Mar. 24,'41
2213	North from the Lone Star	Mar. 31,'41
....	Penny Serenade	Apr. 17,'41
....	Under Age	Apr. 24,'41
....	The Great Swindle	Apr. 30,'41
....	Fight For Life
....	And Now Good-Bye
....	Senate Page Boys
....	They Dare Not Love
....	Her First Beau
....	She Knew All the Answers
....	Chain Gang
....	Naval Academy
....	Time Out for Rhythm
....	Texas

M-G-M

Prod. No.	Title	Release Date
101	Dr. Kildare Goes Home	Sept. 6,'40
102	Wyoming	Sept. 13,'40
104	Haunted Honeymoon	Sept. 20,'40
103	Strike Up the Band	Sept. 27,'40
105	Sky Murder	Sept. 27,'40
106	Dulcy	Oct. 4,'40
107	Third Finger, Left Hand	Oct. 11,'40
109	Hullabaloo	Oct. 25,'40
108	Escape	Nov. 1,'40
110	Bitter Sweet	Nov. 8,'40
111	Gallant Sons	Nov. 15,'40
112	Little Nellie Kelly	Nov. 22,'40
115	Dr. Kildare's Crisis	Nov. 29,'40
114	Go West	Dec. 6,'40
113	Comrade X	Dec. 13,'40
116	Keeping Company	Dec. 27,'40
117	Flight Command	Jan. 3,'41
118	Maisie Was a Lady	Jan. 10,'41
...	Gone With the Wind	Jan. 17,'41
119	Philadelphia Story	Jan. 17,'41
121	Wild Man of Borneo	Jan. 24,'41
120	Land of Liberty	Jan. 24,'41
122	Come Live With Me	Jan. 31,'41
123	Blonde Inspiration	Feb. 7,'41
125	Trial of Mary Dugan	Feb. 14,'41
126	Andy Hardy's Private Secretary	Feb. 21,'41
127	Free and Easy	Feb. 28,'41
128	Rage in Heaven	Mar. 7,'41
129	The Penalty	Mar. 14,'41
124	The Bad Man	Mar. 28,'41
...	Ziegfeld Girl
...	The Stars Look Down
...	Billy the Kid
...	Men of Boys Town
...	Love Crazy
...	A Woman's Face
...	Blossoms in the Dust
...	Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde
...	The Uniform
...	Washington Melodrama
...	Lady Be Good

MONOGRAM

....	Range Busters	Aug. 22,'40
....	Outsider, The	Sept. 15,'40
....	That Gang of Mine	Sept. 23,'40
....	Ape, The	Sept. 30,'40
....	Trailing Double Trouble	Oct. 1,'40
....	Drums of the Desert	Oct. 7,'40
....	Ole Swimmin' Hole	Oct. 21,'40
....	Take Me Back to Oklahoma	Nov. 11,'40
....	Phantom of Chinatown	Nov. 18,'40
....	West of Pinto Basin	Nov. 25,'40
....	Pride of the Bowery	Dec. 15,'40
....	Chamber of Horrors	Dec. 20,'40
....	Her First Romance	Dec. 25,'40
....	Trail of the Silver Spurs	Jan. 4,'41
....	Dead Man's Shoes	Jan. 15,'41
....	You're Out of Luck	Jan. 20,'41
....	The Kid's Last Ride	Feb. 10,'41
....	Ridin' The Cherokee Trail	Feb. 25,'41
....	Flying Wild	Mar. 10,'41
....	Sign of the Wolf	Mar. 15,'41
....	Tumbledown Ranch in Arizona	Mar. 28,'41

PARAMOUNT

Prod. No.	Title	Release Date
4001	Rhythm on the River	Sept. 6,'40
4002	I Want a Divorce	Sept. 20,'40
4003	Rangers of Fortune	Sept. 27,'40
4004	The Quarterback	Oct. 4,'40
4005	Cherokee Strip	Oct. 11,'40
4006	Moon Over Burma	Oct. 18,'40
Spec.	World In Flames	Oct. 25,'40
4007	Christmas In July	Oct. 25,'40
4008	Dancing on a Dime	Nov. 1,'40
4009	Arise My Love	Nov. 8,'40
4050	Three Men From Texas	Nov. 15,'40
4011	A Night at Earl Carroll's	Dec. 6,'40
4012	Texas Rangers Ride Again	Dec. 13,'40
4013	Love Thy Neighbor	Dec. 27,'40
4014	Second Chorus	Jan. 3,'41
4051	Doomed Caravan	Jan. 10,'41
4015	Victory	Jan. 17,'41
4016	Life With Henry	Jan. 24,'41
4017	You're the One	Feb. 7,'41
4018	The Mad Doctor	Feb. 14,'41
4019	Virginia	Feb. 21,'41
4020	The Monster and the Girl	Feb. 28,'41
4021	Hard Boiled Canary	Mar. 7,'41
4052	In Old Colorado	Mar. 14,'41
4022	Lady Eve	Mar. 21,'41
4023	Las Vegas Night	Mar. 28,'41
4024	The Round-Up	Apr. 4,'41
4025	Road to Zanzibar	Apr. 11,'41
4053	Border Vigilantes	Apr. 18,'41
....	Power Dive	Apr. 25,'41
....	Reaching for the Sun	May 2,'41
....	One Night in Lisbon	May 16,'41
....	Caught in the Draft	May 30,'41
....	Pirates on Horseback	June 6,'41
....	Shepherd of the Hills	June 13,'41
....	Kiss the Boys Goodbye	July 4,'41
....	I Wanted Wings	Aug. 8,'41
....	Men of Action
....	Skylark
....	Pioneer Woman
....	Nurses Don't Tell
....	Hold Back the Dawn
....	Night of January 16th

PRODUCERS REL. CORP.

Prod. No.	Title	Release Date
101	I Take This Oath	May 20,'40
151	Frontier Crusader	June 17,'40
102	Hold That Woman	June 28,'40
157	Billy the Kid Outlawed	July 20,'40
152	Gun Code	Aug. 3,'40
103	Marked Men	Aug. 28,'40
153	Arizona Gang Busters	Sept. 16,'40
158	Billy the Kid in Texas	Sept. 30,'40
154	Riders of Black Mountain	Nov. 11,'40
105	Devil Bat	Dec. 13,'40
104	Misbehaving Husbands	Dec. 20,'40
159	Billy the Kid's Gun Justice	Dec. 27,'40
163	Lone Rider Rides On	Jan. 10,'41
107	Caught in the Act	Jan. 17,'41
160	Billy the Kid's Range War	Jan. 24,'41
106	Secret Evidence	Jan. 31,'41
164	Lone Rider Crosses the Rio	Feb. 28,'41
155	Outlaws of the Rio Grande	Mar. 7,'41
161	Trigger Pals	Mar. 22,'41
108	Federal Fugitives	Mar. 29,'41
109	Emergency Landing	Apr. 11,'41
110	South of Panama	Apr. 18,'41
111	Murder in Khaki	Apr. 25,'41

RKO-RADIO

Prod. No.	Title	Release Date
171	Ramparts We Watch	Aug. 16,'40
101	Men Against the Sky	Sept. 6,'40
102	Dreaming Out Loud	Sept. 13,'40
103	I'm Still Alive	Sept. 27,'40
181	Wagon Train	Oct. 4,'40
105	The Villian Still Pursued Her	Oct. 11,'40
107	Laddie	Oct. 18,'40
104	They Knew What They Wanted	Oct. 25,'40
109	Li'l Abner	Nov. 1,'40
106	Too Many Girls	Nov. 8,'40
111	Mexican Spitfire Out West	Nov. 15,'40
108	You'll Find Out	Nov. 22,'40
113	Remedy for Riches	Nov. 29,'40
182	The Fargo Kid	Dec. 6,'40
114	No, No, Nanette	Dec. 20,'40
112	Kitty Foyle	Dec. 27,'40
161	Convoy	Jan. 3,'41
110	Little Men	Jan. 10,'41
115	Let's Make Music	Jan. 17,'41
116	The Saint In Palm Springs	Jan. 24,'41
117	Mr. and Mrs. Smith	Jan. 31,'41
183	Along the Rio Grande	Feb. 7,'41
121	Playgirl	Feb. 14,'41
123	Scattergood Baines	Feb. 21,'41
118	Citizen Kane	Feb. 28,'41
120	A Girl, a Guy and a Gob	Mar. 14,'41
119	Footlight Fever	Mar. 21,'41
124	Melody for Three	Mar. 28,'41
...	Vivacious Lady (Reissue)	Mar. 28,'41
125	Repent at Leisure	Apr. 4,'41
122	The Devil and Miss Jones	Apr. 11,'41
184	Robbers of the Range	Apr. 18,'41
128	They Met in Argentina	Apr. 25,'41
129	Leon Errol Picture	May 2,'41
126	Tom, Dick and Harry	May 9,'41
....	Hang Out the Moon
....	Sunny
....	Before the Fact
...	Reluctant Dragon (Disney)
....	My Life with Caroline
....	A Certain Mr. Scratch

1940-41 FEATURES

In Sequence of Release
With Coming Attractions

REPUBLIC

Prod. No.	Title	Rel. Date	Min.
071	The Tulsa Kid	Aug. 16,'40
061	Oklahoma Renegades	Aug. 29,'40
043	Ride, Tenderfoot, Ride	Sept. 6,'40
017	Girl from Havana	Sept. 11,'40
051	Colorado	Sept. 15,'40
062	Under Texas Skies	Sept. 30,'40
072	Frontier Vengeance	Oct. 10,'40
005	Melody and Moonlight	Oct. 11,'40
001	The Hit Parade of 1941	Oct. 15,'40
052	Young Bill Hickok	Oct. 21,'40
006	Who Killed Aunt Maggie	Nov. 1,'40
007	Friendly Neighbors	Nov. 7,'40
063	Trail Blazers	Nov. 11,'40
041	Melody Ranch	Nov. 15,'40
073	Texas Terrors	Nov. 22,'40
018	Meet the Missus	Nov. 29,'40
053	The Border Legion	Dec. 5,'40
008	Barnyard Follies	Dec. 6,'40
009	Behind the News	Dec. 20,'40
064	Lone Star Raiders	Dec. 23,'40
019	Bowery Boy	Dec. 27,'40
074	Wyoming Wildcat	Jan. 6,'41
054	Robin Hood of the Pecos	Jan. 14,'41
044	Ridin' on the Rainbow	Jan. 24,'41
010	Arkansas Judge	Jan. 28,'41
020	Petticoat Politics	Jan. 31,'41
075	The Phantom Cowboy	Feb. 14,'41
065	Prairie Pioneers	Feb. 16,'41
021	Great Train Robbery	Feb. 28,'41
011	A Man Betrayed	Mar. 7,'41
045	Back in the Saddle	Mar. 14,'41
012	Mr. District Attorney	Mar. 27,'41
055	In Old Cheyenne	Apr. 1,'41
002	Sis Hopkins	Apr. 6,'41
...	Two-Gun Sheriff	Apr. 11,'41
...	Pals of the Pecos
...	Rookies on Parade
...	Lady from New Orleans

20TH CENTURY-FOX

Prod. No.	Title	Release Date
101	The Man I Married	Aug. 2,'40
104	Girl from Avenue A	Aug. 9,'40
103	Return of Frank James	Aug. 16,'40
106	Pier 13	Aug. 23',40
109	Young People	Aug. 30,'40
110	Charlie Chan at the Wax Museum	Sept. 6,'40
105	Elsa Maxwell's Public Deb No. 1	Sept. 13,'40
116	Yesterday's Heroes	Sept. 20,'40
107	Brigham Young—Frontiersman	Sept. 27,'40
108	The Gay Caballero	Oct. 4,'40
113	Down Argentine Way	Oct. 11,'40
114	Night Train	Oct. 18,'40
111	The Great Profile	Oct. 25,'40
117	The Mark of Zorro	Nov. 8,'40
102	Street of Memories	Nov. 15,'40
119	Youth Will Be Served	Nov. 22,'40
120	Tin Pan Alley	Nov. 29,'40
118	Charter Pilot	Dec. 6,'40
121	Murder Over New York	Dec. 13,'40
122	Jennie	Dec. 20,'40
123	Chad Hanna	Dec. 27,'40
115	Hudson's Bay	Jan. 3,'41
124	Michael Shayne, Private Detective	Jan. 10,'41
125	Romance of the Rio Grande	Jan. 17,'41
128	Tall, Dark and Handsome	Jan. 24,'41
127	Girl in the News	Jan. 31,'41
129	Ride, Kelly, Ride	Feb. 7,'41
130	Golden Hoofs	Feb. 14,'41
126	Western Union	Feb. 21,'41
132	Murder Among Friends	Feb. 28,'41
133	Tobacco Road	Mar. 7,'41
134	Sleepers West	Mar. 14,'41
135	The Outlaw	Mar. 21,'41
136	Dead Men Tell	Mar. 28,'41
131	Scotland Yard	Apr. 4,'41
137	That Night in Rio	Apr. 11,'41
138	Ride on Vaquero	Apr. 18,'41
139	Inspector Hornleigh Goes to It	Apr. 25,'41
....	Great American Broadcast	May 2,'41
....	Man Hunt	May 16,'41
....	Cowboy and the Blonde	May 23,'41
....	Blood and Sand	May 30,'41
....	A Very Young Lady	June 6,'41
....	The Great Commandment	June 13,'41
....	Eagle Flies Again	June 20,'41
....	For Beauty's Sake	June 27,'41
....	Bride Wore Crutches	July 4,'41
....	Belle Starr	July 11,'41
....	Breach of Discipline	July 18,'41

UNITED ARTISTS

Prod. No.	Title	Rel. Date	Min.
....	South of Pago Pago	July 19,'40
....	Captain Caution	Aug. 9,'40
....	Foreign Correspondent	Aug. 16,'40
....	Kit Carson	Aug. 30,'40
....	Pastor Hall	Sept. 13,'40
....	The Westerner	Sept. 20,'40
....	Long Voyage Home	Nov. 22,'40
....	Blackout	Nov. 29,'40
....	Thief of Bagdad	Dec. 25,'40
....	Son of Monte Cristo	Jan. 10,'41
....	Road Show	Jan. 24,'41
....	So Ends Our Night	Feb. 14,'41
...	Cheers for Miss Bishop	Feb. 21,'41
....	The Great Dictator	Mar. 7,'41
....	Topper Returns	Mar. 21,'41
....	That Hamilton Woman
....	Major Barbara
....	Pot O' Gold
....	That Uncertain Feeling
....	Broadway Limited
....	New Wine

UNIVERSAL

Prod. No.	Title	Rel. Date	Min.
5013	Argentine Nights	Sept. 6,'40
5006	Hired Wife	Sept. 13,'40
5051	Leather Pushers	Sept. 13,'40
5020	The Mummy's Hand	Sept. 20,'40
5046	The Fugitive	Sept. 20,'40
5061	Ragtime Cowboy Joe	Sept. 20,'40
5001	Spring Parade	Sept. 27,'40
5019	Diamond Frontier	Oct. 4,'40
5017	A Little Bit of Heaven	Oct. 11,'40
5062	Law and Order	Oct. 18,'40
5024	Slightly Tempted	Oct. 18,'40
5007	Seven Sinners	Oct. 25,'40
5052	Devils Pipeline	Nov. 1,'40
5036	I'm Nobody's Sweetheart Now	Nov. 1,'40
5063	Pony Post	Nov. 8,'40
5021	Sandy Gets Her Man	Nov. 8,'40
5015	One Night in the Tropics	Nov. 15,'40
5023	Meet the Wildcat	Nov. 22,'40
5048	Next Time We Love (Re-issue)	Nov. 22'40
5010	The Bank Dick	Nov. 29,'40
5026	Margie	Dec. 6,'40
5008	Trail of the Vigilantes	Dec. 13,'40
5025	Give Us Wings	Dec. 20,'40
5018	The Invisible Woman	Dec. 27,'40
5053	Lucky Devils	Jan. 3,'41
5030	Where Did You Get That Girl?	Jan. 3,'41
5064	Boss of Bullion City	Jan. 10,'41
5027	San Francisco Docks	Jan. 10,'41
5022	Six Lessons from Madame Lazonga	Jan. 17,'41
5011	Buck Privates	Jan. 31,'41
5002	Back Street	Feb. 7,'41
5032	Meet the Chump	Feb. 14,'41
....	Nice Girl	Feb. 21,'41
5040	Dark Streets of Cairo	Feb. 28,'41
....	Mr. Dynamite	Mar. 7,'41
....	Double Date	Mar. 14,'41
5065	Bury Me Not on the Lone Prairie	Mar. 21,'41
....	Man Who Lost Himself	Mar. 21,'41
....	Horror Island	Mar. 28,'41
....	Man Made Monster	Mar. 28,'41
....	Lady from Cheyenne	Apr. 4,'41
....	Mutiny in the Artic	Apr. 4,'41
....	Flame of New Orleans	Apr. 11,'41
....	Model Wife	Apr. 25,'41
....	Black Cat	May 2,'41
....	Too Many Blondes	May 23,'41
....	Oh, Charlie	May 30,'41
....	Men of the Timberlands	June 6,'41
....	Tight Shoes	June 13,'41
5057	A Dangerous Game	Aug. 22,'41
....	Unfinished Business
....	Hit the Road

WARNER BROS.

Under 550 WB—Over 550 FN

Prod. No.	Title	Rel. Date	Min.
519	Calling All Husbands	Sept. 7,'40
554	No Time for Comedy	Sept. 14,'40
506	City for Conquest	Sept. 21,'40
502	Knute Rockne—All American	Oct. 5,'40
569	Father Is a Prince	Oct. 12,'40
511	Dispatch from Reuter's	Oct. 19,'40
561	Tugboat Annie Sails Again	Oct. 26,'40
570	Always a Bride	Nov. 2,'40
562	East of the River	Nov. 9,'40
513	South of Suez	Nov. 16,'40
552	The Letter	Nov. 23,'40
512	Lady With the Red Hair	Nov. 30,'40
571	She Couldn't Say No	Dec. 7,'40
525	Here Comes the Navy	Dec. 21,'40
551	Santa Fe Trail	Dec. 28,'40
503	Four Mothers	Jan. 4,'41
572	Case of the Black Parrot	Jan. 11,'41
510	Honeymoon for Three	Jan. 18,'41
556	High Sierra	Jan. 25,'41
520	Father's Son	Feb. 1,'41
514	Flight From Destiny	Feb. 8,'41
515	The Great Mr. Nobody	Feb. 15,'41
559	Strawberry Blonde	Feb. 22,'41
...	Shadows on the Stairs	Mar. 1,'41
509	Footsteps in the Dark	Mar. 8,'41
...	Here Comes Happiness	Mar. 15,'41
...	The Sea Wolf	Mar. 22,'41
...	Knockout	Mar. 29,'41
...	Meet John Doe
...	The Wagons Roll at Night
...	Bride Came C. O. D.
...	Affectionately Yours
...	The Great Lie
...	Kisses for Breakfast
...	Miss Wheelwright Discovers America
...	No Hard Feelings
...	Shining Victory
...	Singapore Woman
...	Strange Alibi
...	Sergeant York
...	Thirty Days Hath September
...	Bad Men of Missouri
...	The Gentle People
...	Three Sons O'Guns
...	Highway West
...	The Nurse's Secret
...	Underground
...	Manpower

1940-41 SHORTS

What They're All About
Who Made Them
Production Numbers
Release Dates

MAD ABOUT MOONSHINE (RKO)
Edgar Kennedy (13,404)

Edgar Kennedy is out of a job, and his wife (Vivian Oakland) tells him to make up his mind, or else. Edgar hears a radio broadcast in which an announcer states that there is a 640-acre estate in the south unclaimed and which belongs to William Franey (Himself), Edgar's father-in-law. The three of them set out for the estate and when they arrive there they are attacked by hillbillies, who are merely continuing their feud with the Franey clan. Edgar and Franey are besieged until the state police arrive, but Edgar is arrested when the police locate moonshine in the basement.

Release date, Feb. 21, 1941 19 Minutes

MEET THE FLEET (WB)
Technicolor Special (6003)

This two-reeler is about the training of young men for service in the Navy. The subject was produced with the cooperation of the United States Navy and has authentic background shots filmed at the San Diego Naval Base where the major portion of the subject was photographed. A story about three of the recruits affords the picture continuity as the different training courses are illustrated.

Release date, Feb. 8, 1941 20 Minutes

QUIZ BIZ (MGM)
Pete Smith Specialty (S-265)

In this Specialty, the fourth in his quiz series, Pete Smith presents a new batch of sticklers. The questions, with illustrations, include "what is an onion," "where did the word sabotage originate," "what is a skink," "what is a pickle boat" and others. The usual Smith comedy touch is present and involves the weighing of a St. Bernard dog who doesn't want to be weighed.

Release date, Feb. 8, 1941 9 Minutes

EYES ON BRAZIL (RKO)
Special (14,501)

Julien Bryan here compares the extent of U. S. and Nazi influence in Brazil. The subject points out that the whole populous, prosperous southern district of Brazil, which is larger than the U. S., is predominantly German. There are 1200 German schools with German teachers and German children, the subject points out, and the German youth is being trained to fly in glider clubs similar to those formed in Germany in the early days of the Nazis. The subject then illustrates how the combined effort of the U. S. and Brazil are aimed to counteract the Nazi campaign.

Release date, Feb. 21, 1941 11 Minutes

VARIETY REEL (Rep.)
Meet the Stars (028-3)

Some three score Hollywood celebrities are shown here in four different settings. The first is a kid fashion show at the Mark Twain Restaurant, the second a between the scenes tableau at the Republic studio, the third a gathering at Louella Parsons' ranch and the last the Redbook Magazine award dinner at Ciros, at which Bette Davis, last winner, presents the new award to Martha Scott.

Release date, Feb. 24, 1941 9 Minutes

Synopses Indexed

Page numbers on short subject synopses published in all the issues of the Product Digest Section to date are listed in the 1940-41 Shorts chart, Product Digest pages 81 and 82 of this issue.

THIRD-DIMENSIONAL MURDER (MGM)
Metroscopix (A-100)

This is the third third-dimensional subject that Pete Smith has made and, like its predecessors, requires that the patron wear cardboard glasses having one green lens and one red one. This time Smith has devised a murder mystery involving a haunted house, a skeleton, a cannibal, a wooden Indian, Frankenstein's monster and assorted other delectables. Missiles are tossed at the audience, molten lead is poured on them, a clutching hand reaches out for them and snakes are put in their laps, which, with the illusion, has the audience "participating" in the mystery and looking to their own "safety."

Release date, March 1, 1941 7 Minutes

WILD OYSTERS (Par.)
Animated Antics (HO-5)

Mom and Pop are mice who live on the other side of a hole in the kitchen wall. When Mom sends Pop out for the morning milk and cheese, he must first outwit the household pets, a cat and a dog, both of whom stand guard over the kitchen and the food. Pop outwits the cat and the dog but some oysters on the kitchen sink are almost his undoing. Mom comes to the rescue in the nick of time.

Release date, Feb. 14, 1941 7 Minutes

THE CRACKPOT QUAIL (WB)
Merrie Melodie (6712)

Willoughby, the good natured, but dumb dog, decides to go quail hunting. He comes across a quail, but is not aware of the fact that it is a quail until the quail tells him so. A chase then ensues between the two of them in which Willoughby comes out second best and so he resolves never to go quail hunting again.

Release date, Feb. 15, 1941 7 Minutes

INFORMATION PLEASE, No. 7 (RKO)
(14,207)

The opening query gives the experts a chance to try their hands at weight guessing, with ladies of various sizes offering the problem. Another question involves distinguishing between animals that look alike, such as an alligator, and a crocodile; a turtle and a tortoise. Anna Neagle, guest expert, answers a query on hair styles. Oscar Levant demonstrates his knowledge of nagging wives of literature. The reel concludes with a rendition by Franklin P. Adams and Miss Neagle of a duet from Gilbert and Sullivan.

Release date, Feb. 21, 1941 10 Minutes

THE HOME GUARD (20th Cent.-Fox)
Terry-Toon (Color) (1558)

Gandy the Goose hears the call to arms and rushes to join his company but not before bidding farewell to the girl friend. Gandy is roughly handled by the mechanized commissary department and has his troubles when it comes to learning the finer points of close order drill. To make matters worse the captain of his company is a rival suitor. Gandy, however, becomes a hero when he routs two sinister vultures intent on wrecking the barnyard, headquarters for Gandy's company.

Release date March 7, 1941 7 Minutes

THE HAUNTED MOUSE (WB)
Looney Tune (6607)

A weary cat arrives at the deserted Village of Ghost Town in search of food. He enters a house where he is confronted by a ghost mouse. The ghost mouse takes this opportunity to get even with all cats by feeding the cat ghost food which disappears when the cat is about to eat it. The mouse has a great time at the cat's expense appearing and disappearing at will, but finally the mouse becomes frightened by a ghost cat.

Release date, Feb. 15, 1941 7 Minutes

STRANGER THAN FICTION, 86 (Univ.)
(5376)

The six subjects covered in this issue of the series are a Japanese stenographer in San Francisco who has three thousand "characters" to use in her "typing"; an architect in Miami who has invented an automatic lifeboat launching device to prevent capsizing; a man in Portland, Ore., who plants trees upside down; a lilliputian city; a train that runs through water and a boy in Indianapolis who paints with his teeth.

Release date, Feb. 3, 1941

FORBIDDEN PASSAGE (MGM)
Crime Does Not Pay (P-204)

Because of the urgency of their situation many refugees have resorted to illegal methods to gain entry to this country. Inspectors of the Immigration Service start a hunt for the ring of smugglers when refugee victims are washed ashore, wrapped in sacks and weighed down by chains. With the help of an American Consulate in a European port the movements of a refugee, known to be seeking entry into the United States, are followed. The path leads to the ring and the immigration officers close in.

Release date, Feb. 8, 1941 21 Minutes

WHISPERS (MGM)
Passing Parade (K-282)

In this Passing Parade subject John Nesbitt tells of a man whose life's ambition was ruined and his personal reputation destroyed because of a whispering campaign started by his enemies and continued by the unknowing cooperation of the very people he tried to help, a whispering campaign that had no basis in fact. The man, whose reputation was ruined by tenement interest was the sponsor of a slum clearing project.

Release date, Feb. 8, 1941 10 Minutes

(Synopses continued on page 83)

1940-41 SHORTS

Production Numbers
Release Dates
Running Time

For Synopses of 1940-41 short subjects turn to the Product Digest Section pages indicated by the numbers which follow the titles and release dates in the listing. Product Digest pages are numbered consecutively and are separate from Motion Picture Herald page numbers. The Product Digest Section is published every other week, alternately with the Release Chart.

COLUMBIA

Prod. No.	Title	Rel. Date	P.D. Page
	ALL STAR COMEDIES (Average 17 Min.)
2401	From Nurse to Worse (Stooges)	8-23-40	..
2421	Pleased to Mitt You (Glove Slingers)	9-6-40	18
2422	The Spook Speaks (Keaton & Ames)	9-20-40	10
2402	No Census, No Feeling (Stooges)	10-4-40	10
2423	Cold Turkey (Langdon)	10-18-40	10
2424	A Bundle of Bliss (Clyde)	11-1-40	..
2403	Cookoo Cavaliers (Stooges)	11-15-40	26
2425	Blondes and Blunders	11-29-40	26
2426	His Ex Marks the Spot (Walter Catlett)	12-13-40	..
2404	Boob in Arms (Stooges)	12-27-40	..
2427	The Watchman Takes a Wife (Clyde)	1-10-41	..
2628	Fresh As a Freshman (Glove Singers)	1-29-41	..
2405	So Long Mr. Chumps (Stooges)	2-7-41	..
	COLOR RHAPSODIES (7 Minutes)
2501	Tangled Television	8-30-40	18
2502	Mr. Elephant Goes to Town	10-4-40	18
2503	The Mad Hatter	11-3-40	..
2504	Wise Owl	11-6-40	27
2505	A Helping Paw	1-7-41	51
2506	Way of All Pests	2-28-41	..
	PHANTASIES CARTOONS (Average 6 Min.)
2701	Schoolboy Dreams	9-24-40	10
2702	Happy Holidays	10-25-40	..
2703	The Little Theatre	2-7-41	..
2704	There's Music In Your Hair	3-28-41	..
	FABLES (6 Minutes)
2751	Farmer Tom Thumb	9-27-40	10
2752	Mouse Meets Lion	10-25-40	18
2753	Paunch 'n' Judy	12-13-40	57
2754	The Streamlined Donkey	1-17-41	..
2755	It Happened to Crusoe	3-4-41	..
	CINESCOPES (Average 9 Min.)
2971	Hobby Lobby	8-30-40	..
2972	Floating Elephants	10-4-40	..
2973	Nice Work, If You Can Do It	11-8-40	18
2974	Unusual Crafts	12-25-40	57
2075	Feathers (Cosmocolor)	1-31-41	..
	WASHINGTON PARADE (Series 3) (10 Minutes)
2901	No. 1 (The Mint)	10-25-40	..
2902	No. 2 (U. S. Military Academy)	12-13-40	..
2903	No. 3 (United States Naval Academy)	1-3-41	..
2904	No. 4	2-21-41	..
	COMMUNITY SING (Series 5) (10 Minutes)
2651	No. 1 (Jolly Tunes)	10-2-40	18
2652	No. 2 (Popular Love Songs)	11-8-40	18
2653	No. 3 (Melodies That Linger)	12-13-40	..
2654	No. 4 (Gay Tunes)	1-1-41	..
2655	No. 5—Fun With Songs (L. White)	2-7-41	..
	QUIZ REELS (Average 10 Min.)
2601	Take It Or Leave It	12-5-40	26
2602	Take It Or Leave It No. 2	12-25-40	57
2603	Take It Or Leave It No. 3	2-7-41	..
2604	Junior I. Q. Parade	3-7-41	..
	NEW YORK PARADE (10 Minutes)
2951	The New York Parade	1-24-41	71
	HAPPY-HOUR (10 Minutes)
2441	Puss in Boots (Re-issue)	12-21-40	..
	TOURS (10 Minutes)
2551	Historic Virginia	8-16-40	10
2552	Savoy in the Alps	9-13-40	10
2553	Old and New Arizona	9-27-40	..
2554	Islands of the West Indies	10-25-40	18
2555	Sojourn in Havana	11-25-40	27
2556	Beautiful British Columbia	12-20-40	57
2557	From Singapore to Hong-Kong	1-10-41	..
	20TH ANNIVERSARY SNAPSHOTS (10 Minutes)
2851	No. 1 (Ken Murray)	9-6-40	10
2852	No. 2 (Don Wilson)	10-18-40	18
2853	No. 3 (Ken Murrray)	11-22-40	27
2854	No. 4 (Ken Murray)	12-27-40	..
2855	No. 5 (Bob Hope)	2-2-41	..
2856	No. 6	3-14-41	..
	SPORT REELS (9 Minutes)
2801	Master of Cue	10-4-40	10
2802	Hunting Wild Deer	11-22-40	27
2803	All the Giant Killer	12-27-40	51
2804	Ice Capers	1-24-41	..
2805	Splits, Spares and Strikes	2-21-41	..

M-G-M

Prod. No.	Title	Rel. Date	P.D. Page
	CRIME DOES NOT PAY (Average 20 Min.)
P-201	Eyes of the Navy	10-26-40	..
P-202	You, the People	11-30-40	26
P-203	Respect the Law	1-4-41	..
P-204	Forbidden Passage	2-8-41	80
	FITZPATRICK TRAVELTALKS (Tech) (9 Minutes)
T-211	The Capital City	9-7-40	..
T-212	Cavalcade of San Francisco	9-28-40	..
T-213	Old New Mexico	10-26-40	..
T-214	Beautiful Bali	11-23-40	26
T-215	Old New Orleans	12-21-40	..
T-216	Mediterranean Ports	1-4-41	57
T-217	Red Men on Parade	2-1-41	83
T-218	Alluring Alaska	3-8-41	..
	PETE SMITH SPECIALTIES (10 Minutes)
S-261	Quicker'n a Wink	10-12-40	..
S-262	Wedding Bills	11-30-40	27
S-263	Sea for Yourself	12-21-40	..
S-264	Penny to the Rescue	1-25-41	68
S-265	Quiz Biz (Sepia)	2-8-41	80
	PASSING PARADE (10 Minutes)
K-281	American Spoken Here	11-30-40	27
K-282	Whispers	2-8-41	80
	MINIATURES (10 Minutes)
M-231	Rodeo Dough	11-9-40	27
M-232	The Great Meddler	12-21-40	41
M-233	Happiest Man on Earth	12-28-40	..
M-234	More About Nostradamus	1-18-41	57
	OUR GANG COMEDIES (Average 11 Min.)
C-291	Good Bad Boys	9-7-40	..
C-292	Waldo's Last Stand	10-5-40	..
C-293	Goin' Fishin'	10-26-40	..
C-294	Kiddie Kure	11-23-40	26
C-295	Fightin' Fools	1-25-41	71
C-296	Baby Blues	2-15-41	..
	TECHNICOLOR CARTOONS (9 Minutes)
W-241	Lonesome Stranger	11-23-40	27
W-242	Mrs. Ladybug	12-21-40	..
W-243	Abdul the Bulbul Ameer	2-22-41	..
	METROSCOPIX (7 Minutes)
A-100	Third Dimensional Murder	3-1-41	80

PARAMOUNT

Prod. No.	Title	Rel. Date	P.D. Page
	SPECIAL (19 Minutes)
FFO-1	Raggedy Ann	4-11-41	..
	ANIMATED ANTICS (7 Minutes)
HO-1	The Dandy Lion	9-20-40	..
HO-2	Sneak, Snoop and Snitch	10-25-40	17
HO-3	Mommy Love Puppy	11-29-40	27
HO-4	Bring Himself Back Alive	12-20-40	34
HO-5	Pop and Mom in Wild Oysters	2-14-41	80
HO-6	Twinkletoes Gets the Bird	3-14-41	..
	UNUSUAL OCCUPATIONS (Color) (9 Minutes)
LO-1	No. 1	9-27-40	..
LO-2	No. 2	11-29-40	27
LO-3	No. 3	1-24-41	71
LO-4	No. 4	3-28-41	..
	BENCHLEY COMEDIES (10 Minutes)
SO-1	The Trouble with Husbands	11-8-40	..
SO-2	Waiting for Baby	1-24-41	71
SO-3	Controlling the Nerves	4-11-41	..
	FASCINATING JOURNEYS (Tech) (10 Minutes)
MO-1	River Thames, Yesterday	11-8-40	18
MO-2	The Sacred Ganges	12-27-40	51
MO-3	A Village in India	1-31-41	71
MO-4	Delhi	3-14-41	..
	GABBY COLOR CARTOONS (7 Minutes)
GO-1	King for a Day	10-18-40	..
GO-2	The Constable	11-15-40	17
GO-3	All's Well	1-17-41	51
GO-4	Two for the Zoo	2-21-41	68
GO-5	Swing Cleaning	3-21-41	..
	HEADLINERS (10 Minutes)
AO-1	Moments of Charm (Tech)	9-13-40	..
AO-2	Listen to Larry	10-25-40	..
AO-3	Johnny Messner & Orch.	12-13-40	34
AO-4	Gene Krupa and His Orch	1-31-41	71
AO-5	Bob Chester and Orch.	3-21-41	..
	MADCAP MODELS (Color) (9 Minutes)
UO-1	Western Daze	1-17-41	..
UO-2	Dipsy Gypsy	2-28-41	..
	PARAGRAPHICS (10 Minutes)
VO-1	Nature's Nursery	10-11-40	..
VO-2	Seeing Is Believing	11-22-40	27
VO-3	Breezy Little Bears	12-27-40	..
VO-4	Red, White and Blue Hawaii	2-28-41	..
	POPEYE THE SAILOR (7 Minutes)
EO-1	Popeye Meets Wm. Tell	9-20-40	..
EO-2	My Pop, My Pop	10-18-40	..
EO-3	With Poopdeck Pappy	11-15-40	27
EO-4	Eugene, the Jeep	12-15-40	41
EO-5	Problem Pappy	1-10-41	51
EO-6	Quiet Pleeze	2-7-41	..
EO-7	Olive's Sweepstake Ticket	3-7-41	..
	POPULAR SCIENCE (Color) (10 Minutes)
JO-1	No. 1	9-8-40	..
JO-2	No. 2	11-1-40	17
JO-3	No. 3	12-20-40	34
JO-4	No. 4	2-21-41	..
	SPORTLIGHTS (9 Minutes)
RO-1	Diving Demons (Ted Husing)	9-6-40	..
RO-2	Sporting Everglades (Husing)	10-4-40	..
RO-3	Motorcycle Stunting (Husing)	11-1-40	18
RO-4	Marine Round-up	12-6-40	26
RO-5	Feminine Fitness	1-3-41	41
RO-6	Acrobatic Aces	2-7-41	..
RO-7	Fishing Fever	2-28-41	..
RO-8	Canine Sketches	3-28-41	..

PRODUCERS

Prod. No.	Title	Rel. Date	P.D. Page
	AMERICAN HISTORY (22 Minutes)
0.1	Our Bill of Rights	3-1-41	..
0.2	Our Declaration of Independence	3-1-41	..
0.3	Our Constitution	3-1-41	..
0.4	Our Monroe Doctrine	3-1-41	..

RKO

Prod. No.	Title	Rel. Date	P.D. Page
	SPECIAL (18 Minutes)
13.801	Growing Up	12-13-40	34

1940-41 SHORTS

Production Numbers
Release Dates
Running Time

SPECIAL

(Average 11 Min.)

Prod. No.	Title	Rel. Date	P.D. Page
14,501	Eyes on Brazil	2-21-41	80
14,502	What's Happening in Argentina?	3-21-41	..
14,503	The Swastika in Chile	4-18-41	..

MARCH OF TIME

(Average 20 Min.)

13,101	On Foreign News Fronts	9-13-40	..
13,102	Britain's R.A.F.	10-4-40	..
13,103	Mexico	10-25-40	..
13,104	Arms and the Men—U. S. A.	11-22-40	..
13,105	Labor and Defense	12-20-40	..
13,106	Uncle Sam, The Non-Belligerent	1-17-41	..
13,107	American's All!	2-14-41	83

WALT DISNEY CARTOONS

(8 Minutes)

14,101	No. 1 Golden Eggs	3-7-41	68
14,102	A Gentleman's Gentleman	3-28-41	..
14,103	Baggage Buster	4-18-41	..
14,104	A Good Time for a Dime	5-9-41	..
14,105	Canine Caddy	5-30-41	..
14,106	How to Ride a Horse	6-20-41	..
14,107	Nifty Nineties	7-11-41	..
14,108	Early to Bed	8-1-41	..
14,109	Truant Officer Donald	8-22-41	..
14,110	Donald's Camera	9-12-41	..
14,111	Lend a Paw	10-3-41	...
14,112	Old MacDonald Duck	10-24-41	..
14,113	Symphony Hour	11-14-41	..
14,114	Chef Donald	12-5-41	..
14,115	Donald's Snow Fight	12-26-41	..
14,116	How to Ski	1-16-42	..
14,117	How to Become An Olympic Champ	2-7-42	..
14,118	The Sleep Walker	2-28-42	..

INFORMATION PLEASE

(Average 11 Min.)

14,201	No. 1 Anna Neagle	9-6-40	..
14,202	No. 2 Ruth Gordon	10-4-40	..
14,203	No. 3 Alice Marble	11-1-40	18
14,204	No. 4 Louis Bromfield	11-29-40	34
14,205	No. 5 Wendell Willkie	12-27-40	51
14,206	No. 6 Jan Struther	1-24-41	68
14,207	No. 7 Anna Neagle	2-21-41	80

SPORTSCOPE

(Average 9 Min.)

14,301	Quail Quest	8-30-40	..
14,302	Kentucky Royalty	9-27-40	..
14,303	Sportsman's Partner	10-25-40	17
14,304	Snow Fun	11-22-40	34
14,305	Snow Eagles	12-20-40	57
14,306	Mat Men	1-17-41	57
14,307	Caballero College	2-14-41	83

PICTURE PEOPLE

(10 Minutes)

14,401	No. 1	9-13-40	..
14,402	No. 2	10-11-40	..
14,403	No. 3	11-8-40	27
14,404	No. 4	12-8-40	34
14,405	No. 5	1-3-41	57
14,406	No. 6	1-31-41	71
14,407	No. 7	2-28-41	83

EDGAR KENNEDY

(Average 18 Min.)

13,401	Sunk by the Census	9-6-40	..
13,402	Trailer Tragedy	10-18-40	..
13,403	Drafted in the Depot	12-20-40	51
13,404	Mad About Moonshine	2-21-41	80
13,405	It Happened All Night	4-4-41	..

LEON ERROL

(Average 19 Min.)

13,701	He Asked For It	9-27-40	..
13,702	Tattle Television	11-29-40	26
13,703	The Fired Man	1-10-41	..
13,704	When Wifies Away	3-14-41	..

RAY WHITLEY

(Average 15 Min.)

13,501	Bar Buckaroos	11-8-40	18
13,502	Prairie Spooners	1-31-41	71
13,503	Red Skins & Red Heads	4-25-41	..

REPUBLIC

MEET THE STARS

(10 Minutes)

028-1	Chinese Garden Festival	12-24-40	..
028-2	Baby Stars	1-24-41	..
028-3	Variety Reel	2-24-41	80

20TH CENTURY-FOX

ADVENTURES NEWSCAMERAMAN

(Average 9 Min.)

1201	Midget Motor Mania	11-8-40	10
1202	Training Police Horses	1-17-41	68
1203	The Modern Highway	1-31-41	..

BELIEVE IT OR NOT

(10 Minutes)

1601	Acquitted By the Sea	9-27-40	10

LEW LEHR

(9 Minutes)

1401	Grunters and Groaners	8-30-40	..
1402	Tale of Butch the Parrot	2-28-41	..

FATHER HUBBARD

(10 Minutes)

1101	Eskimo Trails	8-2-40	..

MAGIC CARPET

(9 Minutes)

1102	Land of Flowers (Tech)	9-15-40	..
1104	Old Dominion State (Tech)	11-22-40	26
1105	Spotlight on Indo China	12-20-40	57
1106	Sentinels of the Caribbean	2-14-41	..

SPORTS REVIEWS

(8 Minutes)

1301	Vacation Time (Tech)	8-16-40	..
1302	Lure of the Trout	10-11-40	10
1303	Bowling for Strikes	12-20-40	17
1304	The Rodeo Goes to Town	1-3-41	57
1305	Playing with Neptune	2-14-41	..
1306	Symphony in Snow	3-14-41	..

TERRYTOONS (Tech)

(7 Minutes)

1551	Billy Mouse's Akwakade	8-9-40	..
1552	Lucky Duck	9-6-40	..
1553	How Wet Was My Ocean	10-4-40	10
1554	Landing of the Pilgrims	11-1-40	10
1555	Plane Goofy	11-29-40	26
1556	Temperamental Lion	12-27-40	34
1557	Mississippi Swing	2-7-41	71
1558	The Home Guard	3-7-41	80

TERRYTOONS (Black & White)

(7 Minutes)

1501	Club Life in Stone Age	8-23-40	10
1502	Touchdown Demons	9-20-40	10
1503	Happy Hunting Grounds	10-18-40	10
1504	Magic Pencil	11-15-40	27
1505	Snow Man	12-13-40	34
1506	What a Little Sneeze Will Do	1-10-41	57
1507	Hairless Hector	1-24-41	68
1508	Fishing Made Easy	2-21-41	..
1509	When Knights Were Bold	3-21-41	..

UNIVERSAL

SPECIAL

(19 Minutes)

5110	Swing With Bing	9-4-41	..

COLOR CARTOON

(7 Minutes)

5241	Crazy House	9-23-40	..
5242	Recruiting Daze	10-28-40	..
5243	Knock-Knock	11-25-40	26
5244	Syncopated Sioux	12-30-40	41
5245	Mouse Trappers	1-27-41	68
5246	Fair Today	2-24-31	68

STRANGER THAN FICTION

(9 Minutes)

5371	No. 81	9-16-40	..
5372	No. 82	10-14-40	..
5373	No. 83	11-4-40	..
5374	No. 84	12-2-40	34
5375	No. 85	1-1-41	41
5376	No. 86	2-3-41	80
5377	No. 87	3-10-41	..
5378	No. 88	3-24-41	..

GOING PLACES

(9 Minutes)

5351	No. 81	9-23-40	..
5352	No. 82	10-14-40	..
5353	No. 83	11-11-40	..
5354	No. 84	12-23-40	57
5355	No. 85	1-22-41	51
5356	No. 86	2-19-41	71
5357	No. 87	3-17-41	..
5358	No. 88	3-31-41	..

MUSICALS

(Average 18 Min.)

5221	Class in Swing	9-11-40	..
5222	Gongamania	10-16-40	17
5223	Torrid Tempos	11-27-40	34
5224	Tickled Pinky	12-25-40	41
5225	Beat Me Daddy	1-22-41	..
5226	Bagdad Daddy	2-19-41	83
5227	Music in the Morgan Manner	3-19-41	..

COLOR CARTOONS (Re-issues)

(Average 8 Min.)

5261 to 5266	inclusive	6-3-40 to 8-10-40	..

VITAPHONE

SPECIAL

(10 Minutes)

....	London Can Take It	10-26-40	..
....	Christmas Under Fire	1-24-41	..

TECHNICOLOR SPECIALS

(Average 20 Min.)

6001	Flag of Humanity	10-19-40	..
6002	March on Marines	12-14-40	34
C003	Meet the Fleet	2-8-41	80

ELSA MAXWELL COMEDIES

(19 Minutes)

6101	Riding Into Society	8-7-40	..

BROADWAY BREVITIES

(20 Minutes)

6201	Just a Cute Kid	10-5-40	17
6202	Alice in Movieland	11-16-40	27
6203	Love's Intrigue	12-28-40	57
6204	Dog in the Orchard	1-25-41	..
C205	Take the Air	2-22-41	83

HOLLYWOOD NOVELTIES

(10 Minutes)

6301	Football Highlights	9-28-40	..
6302	Shark Hunting	11-8-40	..
6303	Mexican Jumping Beans	12-7-40	26
6304	History Repeats Itself	1-18-41	..
6305	Wild Boar Hunt	3-15-41	..

THE SPORTS PARADE

(10 Minutes)

6401	Fly Fishing	9-21-40	..
6402	Dogs You Seldom See	11-2-40	..
6403	Diary of a Racing Pigeon	11-23-40	27
6404	California Thoroughbreds	1-11-41	51
6405	Fight, Fish, Fight	3-1-41	..

MELODY MASTERS BANDS

(10 Minutes)

6501	Matty Malneck & Orch.	9-14-40	..
6502	Joe Reichman & Orch.	10-26-40	..
6503	Jan Garber & Orch.	11-23-40	..
6504	Skinnay Ennis & Orch.	1-4-41	41
6505	Henry Busse & Orch.	11-30-40	27
6506	Cliff Edwards and His Buckaroos	3-8-41	..

LOONEY TUNES CARTOONS

(7 Minutes)

6601	Calling Dr. Porky	9-21-40	10
6602	Pre Historic Porky	10-12-40	..
6603	Sour Puss	11-2-40	27
6604	Porky's Hired Hand	11-30-40	34
6605	Timid Toreador	12-21-40	51
6606	Porky's Snooze	1-11-41	71
6607	The Haunted Mouse	2-15-41	80

MERRIE MELODIES CARTOONS (Tech)

(7 Minutes)

6701	Malibu Beach Party	9-14-40	..
6702	Stagefright	9-28-40	..
6703	Holiday Highlights	10-12-40	..
6704	Good Night Elmer	10-26-40	18
6705	Wacky Wildlife	11-9-40	27
6706	Bedtime for Sniffles	11-23-40	27
6707	Of Fox and Hounds	12-7-40	..
6708	Shop, Look and Listen	12-21-40	41
6709	Elmer's Pet Rabbit	1-4-41	41
6710	The Fighting 69½	1-18-41	..
6711	Sniffles Bells the Cat	2-1-41	83
6712	The Crackpot Quail	2-15-41	80

BOB HOPE RE-ISSUES

(Average 18 Min.)

6901	Calling All Tars	2-1-41	88
6902	Shop Talk	2-22-41	83
6903	Old Grey Mayor	3-15-41	83
6904	Double Exposure	4-5-41	..
6905	Watch the Birdie	4-26-41	..

SERIALS

COLUMBIA

1120	Green Archer, The (15 Episodes)	10-25-40	..
2120	White Eagle (12 Episodes)	1-31-41	41

REPUBLIC

081	King of the Royal Mounted (12 Episodes)	9-20-40	..
082	Mysterious Dr. Satan (15 Episodes)	12-13-40	18
083	Adventure of Captain Marvel (12 Episodes)	3-28-41	68

UNIVERSAL

5681-92	Junior G-Men (12 Episodes)	10-1-40	..
5781-95	The Green Hornet Strikes Again (15 Episodes)	12-24-40	..
5881-92	Sky Raiders (12 Episodes)	4-8-41	..

INDEX

[Continued from page 84]

Title	Synopsis	Data
One Night in the Tropics, Univ.	5	16
Outlaws of the Panhandle, Col.	55	..
Outlaws of the Rio Grande, Prod.	..	77
Outsider, Mon.	..	7
PASTOR Hall, UA	..	9
Penalty, The, MGM	64	..
Penny Serenade, Col.	29
Petticoat Politics, Rep.	..	65
Pier 13, 20th-Fox	..	8
Phantom of Chinatown, Mono.	..	32
Phantom Cowboy, The, Rep. (Formerly Bad Man from Rio)	55	65
Phantom Submarine, The, Col.	23	..
Philadelphia Story, MGM	76	56
Pinto Kid, The, Col.	31	65
Playgirl, RKO	15	32
Pony Post, Univ.	5	32
Pot O' Gold, UA	63	..
Prairie Pioneers, Rep.	47	77
Prairie Schooners, Col.	..	32
Pride of the Bowery, Mono.	23	48
QUARTERBACK, The, Par.	..	7
RAGE in Heaven, MGM	55	..
Ragtime Cowboy Joe, Univ.	..	9
Ramparts We Watch, RKO	..	48
Range Busters, Mono.	..	7
Rangers of Fortune, Par.	..	48
Remedy for Riches, RKO	2	24
Return of Frank James, 20th-Fox	..	9
Rhythm on the River, Par..	..	8
Ride, Kelly, Ride, 20th-Fox	38	65
Ride On, Vaquero, 20th-Fox	64	..
Ride, Tenderfoot, Ride, Rep.	..	8
Riders of Black Mountain, Prod.	..	65
Ridin' the Cherokee Trail, Mono.	..	77
Ridin' on a Rainbow, Rep.	38	56
Road Show, UA	6	65
Road to Zanzibar, Par.	73	..
Robin Hood of the Pecos, Rep.	31	48
Rolling Home to Texas, Mono.	..	56
Romance of the Rio Grande, 20th-Fox	..	40
SAINT in Palm Springs, RKO	31	48
San Francisco Docks, Univ.	..	40
Sandy Gets Her Man, Univ.	..	16
Santa Fe Trail, WB-FN	15	32
Scattergood Baines, RKO	54	65
Second Chorus, Par.	14	32
Secret Evidence, Prod.	..	65
Sea Wolf, The, WB	74	..
Seven Sinners, Univ.	..	9
Scotland Yard, 20th-Fox	47	..
Shadows on the Stairs, WB-FN	75	..
She Couldn't Say No, WB-FN	..	40
Sign of the Wolf, Mono.	62	..
Six Lessons from Madame La Zonga, Univ.	..	56
Sky Murder, MGM	..	7
Sleepers West, 20th-Fox	54	..
Slightly Tempted, Univ.	..	9
So Ends Our Night, UA	14	56
Son of Monte Cristo, UA	13	25
South of Pago Pago, UA	..	9
South of Suez, WB	5	32
So You Won't Talk, Col.	..	7
Spring Parade, Univ.	..	25
Strawberry Blonde, WB-FN	30	65
Street of Memories, 20th-Fox	..	16
Strike Up the Band, MGM	..	24
TAKE Me Back to Oklahoma, Mono.	..	24
Tall, Dark and Handsome, 20th-Fox	43	56
Texas Rangers Ride Again, Par.	..	24
Texas Terrors, Rep.	..	25
That Gang of Mine, Mono.	..	16
That Hamilton Woman, UA (See Lady Hamilton)	31	..
That Night in Rio, 20th-Fox (See Road to Rio)	45	..
That Uncertain Feeling, UA	46	..
They Knew What They Wanted, RKO	..	8
Thief of Bagdad, UA	..	40
Third Finger, Left Hand, MGM	..	24
This Thing Caled Love, Col.	14	77
Three Men From Texas, Par.	..	16
Thundering Frontier, The, Col.	..	24
Tin Pan Alley, 20th-Fox	1	65
Too Many Girls, RKO	..	8
Tobacco Road, 20th-Fox	73	77
Topper Returns, UA	54	..
Trail Blazers, Rep.	..	16
Trail of the Silver Spurs, Mono.	..	56
Trail of the Vigilantes, Univ.	..	32
Trailing Double Trouble, Mono.		7
Trial of Mary Dugan, MGM	53	65
Tulsa Kid, The, Rep.	..	8
Tugboat Annie Sails Again, WB-FN	..	16
UNDER Texas Skies, Rep.	..	16
VICTORY, Par.	13	32
Villain Still Pursued Her, RKO	..	8
Virginia, Par.	38	56
WAGON TRAIN, RKO	..	8
Wagons Roll at Night, The, WB	29	..
Western Union, 20th-Fox	30	65
Westerner, The, UA	..	25
West of Abilene, Col.	..	7
West of Pinto Basin, Mono.	..	24
Where Did You Get That Girl? Univ.	..	65
Who Killed Aunt Maggie, Rep.	..	16
Wild Cat of Tucson, Col.	22	77
Wild Man of Borneo, MGM	39	65
World in Flames, Par.	..	8
Wyoming, MGM	..	7
Wyoming Wildcat, Rep.	..	48
YESTERDAY'S Heroes, 20th-Fox	..	9
You'll Find Out, RKO	2	48
You're the One, Par.	37	65
You're Out of Luck, Mono.	..	48
Young Bill Hickok, Rep.	..	16
Young People, The, 20th-Fox	..	9
Youth Will Be Served, 20th-Fox	..	16
ZIEGFELD Girl, MGM	62	..

[Synopses continued from page 80]

TAKE THE AIR (WB)

Broadway Brevity (6205)

William Orr is hitch-hiking back to New York after an unsuccessful attempt to crash the movies. At an over-night camp he earns his lodging by entertaining the guests. There he meets Eddie Foy, Jr., who is a talent scout for his father's radio chain. Orr steals a ride in Foy's car and gets to the radio station where he barges into a rehearsal of Mary Brodel. By mistake the rehearsal is piped into the sponsor's room, but Orr loses his chance when he starts his imitations. After a series of madcap experiences he gets on the program.

Release date, Feb. 22, 1941 20 Minutes

AMERICANS ALL (RKO)

March of Time, No. 7 (13,107)

This is a subject on the people of the United States, both native born and immigrants alike. Shown are the many ways in which the five million U. S. immigrants are today working to preserve their adopted land. Also covered are the small groups that comprise the U. S. Fifth Column.

Release date, Feb. 14, 1941 19 Minutes

BAGDAD DADDY (Univ.)

Musical (5226)

The performers in this two reel musical are Gertrude Niesen, singing star; Marion Wilkins, impressionistic dancer; Stop, Look and Listen, singing trio; Fuzzy Knight, screen comedian, generally seen in westerns; Mavis Mims, dancer, and Jack Gwynne, magician.

Release date Feb. 19, 1941 18 Minutes

REDMEN ON PARADE (MGM)

Traveltalk (Color) (T-217)

The annual American Indian Inter-Tribal Ceremonies at Gallup, New Mexico, is the subject here of a camera study by James A. FitzPatrick. A Navajo rug weaver and a Hopi Indian making pottery are seen. The principal part of the reel shows some of the tribal dances, including the Apache Devil Dance. The subject concludes with scenes of a rodeo.

Release date, Feb. 1, 1941 9 Minutes

THE OLD GREY MAYOR (WB)

Bob Hope Re-issue (6903)

Bob Hope and the mayor's daughter are in love. The mayor, however, wants his daughter to marry an alderman. Bob threatens to marry the daughter regardless but the mayor and the alderman trick Bob so that he cannot obtain a license. The mayor's daughter stages a fake suicide and Bob, pretending to be an ambulance doctor, spirits her out of the house.

Release date March 15, 1941 17 Minutes

CABALLERO COLLEGE (RKO)

Sportscope (14,307)

The Chilean Cavalry School near Valparaiso is the setting and the principal performers are the four members of the Chilean jumping team, which has appeared in horse shows in this country yearly. A sequence on their training shows in slow-motion the split-second timing required to clear a jump without checking speed or breaking stride. In another sequence the Chilean team take the jumps in formation.

Release date, Feb. 14, 1941 9 Minutes

PICTURE PEOPLE, No. 7 (RKO)

(14,407)

Jack Benney headlines this number of the series with a bit of hilarity showing how scripts are written. Benny does all the work while his gag men play casino and Rochester has menu-trouble. In another sequence Gracie Allen and George Burns are shown. Also included in the subject are Margaret Lindsay doing the rhumba, Lum and Abner as they appear out of character, and Joe E. Brown displaying the collection in his sports museum.

Release date, Feb. 28, 1941 10 Minutes

SNIFFLES BELLS THE CAT (WB)

Merrie Melodie (6711)

The mice hold a meeting to choose someone for the difficult task of belling the cast. They decide to draw straws and Sniffles becomes the victim. He encounters the cat and a lively chase ensues with Sniffles accidentally belling the cat. When the rest of the mice ask Sniffles how he did it, he invents a fantastic story.

Release date, Feb. 1, 1941 7 Minutes

SHOP TALK (WB)

Bob Hope Re-issue (6902)

Bob (Bob Hope) has just returned from Europe to take over the duties of his father from whom he has inherited a large department store. By the terms of the will, Bob cannot assume full charge until he has proven his ability. The store manager places him in charge of the personnel department and sends him queer characters to be interviewed for jobs. Bob, however, fires the incompetent help, including the manager.

Release date Feb. 22, 1941 19 Minutes

1940-41 ALPHABETICAL INDEX

For information about features listed in this index turn to Product Digest pages, designated by the numerals following title. The pages are numbered consecutively starting with the first issue of the Digest.

This index is cumulative and covers all issues of PRODUCT DIGEST published to date

Title	Synopsis	Data
ACROSS the Sierras, Col.	25
Adam Had Four Sons, Col.	38	77
Ape, The, Mon.	..	7
Along the Rio Grande, RKO	30	56
Always a Bride, WB-FN	..	32
Andy Hardy's Private Secretary, MGM	55	77
Argentine Nights, Univ.	..	25
Arise, My Love, Par.	..	24
Arizona, Col.	..	56
Arizona Gang Busters, Prod.	..	65
Arkansas Judge, Rep.	43	56
BACK in the Saddle, Rep.	74	..
Back Street, Univ.	76	65
Bad Man, The, MGM	47	..
Bank Dick, Univ.	4	32
Barnyard Follies, Rep.	..	24
Behind the News, Rep.	..	32
Beyond the Sacramento, Col.	3	65
Billy the Kid Outlawed, Prod.	..	32
Billy the Kid in Texas, Prod.	..	65
Bitter Sweet, MGM	4	40
Blackout, UA	4	25
Blonde Goes Latin, Col.	46	77
Blonde Inspiration MGM	45	77
Blondie Plays Cupid, Col.	..	16
Border Legion, The, Rep.	..	25
Boss of Bullion City, Univ.	..	65
Bowery Boy, Rep.	22	40
Bride Came C.O.D., The, WB	61	..
Bride Wore Crutches, The, 20th-Fox	30	..
Brigham Young, 20th-Fox	..	40
Buck Privates, Univ.	..	56
Bury Me Not on the Lone Prairie, Univ.	47	..
CALLING All Husbands, WB	..	9
Captain Caution, UA	..	9
Case of the Black Parrot, WB-FN	..	48
Chad Hanna, 20th-Fox	1	56
Charlie Chan at the Wax Museum, 20th-Fox	..	8
Charter Pilot, 20th-Fox	2	25
Cheers for Miss Bishop, UA	37	56
Cherokee Strip, Par.	..	7
Christmas in July, Par.		7
Citizen Kane, RKO	61	..
City for Conquest, WB	..	9
Colorado, Rep.	..	8
Come Live With Me, MGM	39	56
Comrade X, MGM	3	77
Convoy, RKO	..	32
DANCING on a Dime, Par.	..	7
Dangerous Game, A, Univ.	39	..
Dark Streets of Cairo, Univ.	14	40
Dead Men Tell, 20th-Fox	63	..
Devil and Miss Jones, The, RKO	63	..
Devil Commands, The	..	77
Devil's Pipeline, Univ.	4	16
Diamond Frontier, Univ.	..	9
Dispatch from Reuters, A, WB	..	40
Dr. Kildare's Crisis, MGM	..	24
Dr. Kildare Goes Home, MGM	..	7
Doomed Caravan, Par.	22	48
Double Date, Univ.	74	..
Down Argentine Way, 20th-Fox	..	25
Dreaming Out Loud, RKO	..	40
Drums of the Desert, Mono.	..	24
Dulcy, MGM	..	7
Durango Kid, Col.	..	7
EAST of the River, WB-FN	..	16
Ellery Queen—Master Detective, Col.	2	32
Ellery Queen's Penthouse Mystery, Col.	74	..
Elsa Maxwell's Public Deb. No. 1, 20th-Fox	..	8
Escape, MGM	..	24
Escape to Glory, Col.	6	24
FACE Behind the Mask, The, Col.		65
Fantasia, Disney	2	25
Fargo Kid, The, RKO		16
Father Is a Prince, WB-FN	..	9
Father's Son, WB	46	77
Federal Fugitives, Prod.	75	..
Flame of New Orleans, Univ.	53	..
Flight Command, MGM	5	56
Flight from Destiny, WB	76	77
Flying Wild, Mono. (Formerly Air Devils)	63	77
Footlight Fever, RKO	74	..
Footsteps in the Dark, WB	45	..
Foreign Correspondent, UA	..	9
Four Mothers, WB	21	56
Free and Easy, MGM	63	..
Friendly Neighbors, Rep.	4	16
Frontier Crusader, Prod.	..	16
Frontier Vengeance, Rep.	..	8
Fugitive, The, Univ.	..	9
Fugitive From Prison Camp, Col.	..	7
GALLANT Sons, MGM	6	48
Gay Caballero, The, 20th-Fox	..	8
Girl From Avenue A, 20th-Fox	..	8
Girl From Havana, Rep.		8
Girl, a Guy and a Gob, A, RKO	21	..
Girl in the News, 20th-Fox	..	56
Girls Under 21, Col.	..	24
Give Us Wings, Univ.		25
Golden Hoofs, 20th-Fox	31	77
Gone With the Wind, MGM	..	24
Go West, MGM	13	56
Great Dictator, The UA	76	25
Great Lie, The, WB	54	..
Great Mr. Nobody, The, WB (See Stuff of Heroes)	39	..
Great Plane Robbery, The, Col.		24
Great Train Robbery, Rep.	62	..
Great Profile, The, 20th-Fox		8
Great Swindle, The, Col.	64	..
Gun Code, Prod.		32
HARD Boiled Canary, The, Par.	46	77
Haunted Honeymoon, MGM	..	7
Her First Romance, Mono.	..	40
Here Comes Happiness, WB	39	..
Here Comes the Navy, WB	..	48
High Sierra, WB-FN	13	56
Hired Wife, Univ.		9
Hit Parade of 1941, Rep.		8
Hold That Woman, Prod.		16
Honeymoon for Three, WB	14	56
Hudson's Bay, 20th-Fox	23	40
Hullabaloo, MGM		16
I'M Nobody's Sweetheart Now, Univ.	..	9
I'm Still Alive, RKO	..	40
In Old Colorado, Par.	47	77
Invisible Woman, The, Univ.	23	77
I Take This Oath, Prod.	..	16
I Want a Divorce, Par.	..	40
JENNIE, 20th-Fox	15	25
KEEPING Company, MGM	21	40
Kit Carson, UA		9
Kitty Foyle, RKO	5	77
Knockout, WB-FN	55	..
Knute Rockne, WB	..	48
LADDIE, RKO		8
Lady Eve, The, Par.	53	77
Lady from Cheyenne, The, Univ.	61	..
Lady With the Red Hair, WB	3	16
Land of Liberty, MGM	..	77
Las Vegas Nights, Par.	62	..
Law and Order, Univ.	..	25
Leather Pushers, Univ.	..	9
Let's Make Music, RKO	1	32
Letter, The, WB-FN	3	48
Life With Henry, Par.	14	48
Li'l' Abner, RKO	..	48
Little Bit of Heaven, A, Univ.	..	40
Little Men, RKO	6	24
Little Nellie Kelly, MGM	2	40
Lone Rider Rides On, The, Prod.	..	65
Lone Wolf Keeps a Date, The, Col.	3	24
Lone Wolf Takes a Chance, The, Col.	64	..
Long Voyage Home, UA	..	48
Love Thy Neighbor, Par.	22	77
Lucky Devils, Univ.	30	65
MAD Doctor, The, Par.	43	65
Maisie Was a Lady, MGM	22	48
Man Betrayed, A, Rep.	75	..
Man I Married, The, 20th-Fox		8
Man Who Lost Himself, The, Univ.	64	..
Margie, Univ.	..	25
Marked Men, Prod.	..	48
Mark of Zorro, The, 20th-Fox	3	56
Meet Boston Blackie, Col.	54	..
Meet the Chump, Univ.	38	77
Meet John Doe, WB	73	..
Meet the Missus, Rep.	..	25
Meet the Wildcat, Univ.	..	16
Melody and Moonlight, Rep.	..	8
Melody Ranch, Rep.	..	25
Melody for Three, RKO	55	..
Men Against the Sky, RKO	..	8
Men of Boys Town, MGM	37	..
Mexican Spitfire Out West, RKO	..	8
Michael Shayne, Private Detective, 20th-Fox	23	40
Misbehaving Husbands, Prod.	..	65
Missing Ten Days, Col.	76	77
Model Wife, Univ.	62	..
Moon Over Burma, Par.	..	7
Monster and the Girl, The, Par.	..	65
Mr. District Attorney, Rep.	75	..
Mr. Dynamite, Univ.	75	..
Mr. and Mrs. Smith, RKO	15	56
Mummy's Hand, Univ.	..	9
Murder Among Friends, 20th-Fox	46	..
Murder Over New York, 20th-Fox	..	25
NICE Girl, Univ.	29	..
Night at Earl Carroll's, A, Par.	4	24
Night Train, 20th-Fox	..	48
Nobody's Children, Col.	..	65
No, No, Nanette, RKO	..	40
No Time for Comedy, WB-FN	..	9
OKLAHOMA Renegades, Rep.	..	8
Ole Swimmin' Hole, Mono.	..	24

[Continued on page 83]

Listings of all 1940-41 Features released to date on page 78

Short subjects, with synopses indexed, are listed on page 81

Get Full Measure of Profits by giving full measure of enjoyment

HIGH INTENSITY PROJECTION POSSESSES BOX OFFICE MAGIC

● It gives you full measure of profits because your patrons receive full measure of enjoyment from this high quality screen illumination. The snow white light of daylight quality assures clearer reproduction of black and white pictures — color that is really natural — and clear, comfortable vision at all times.

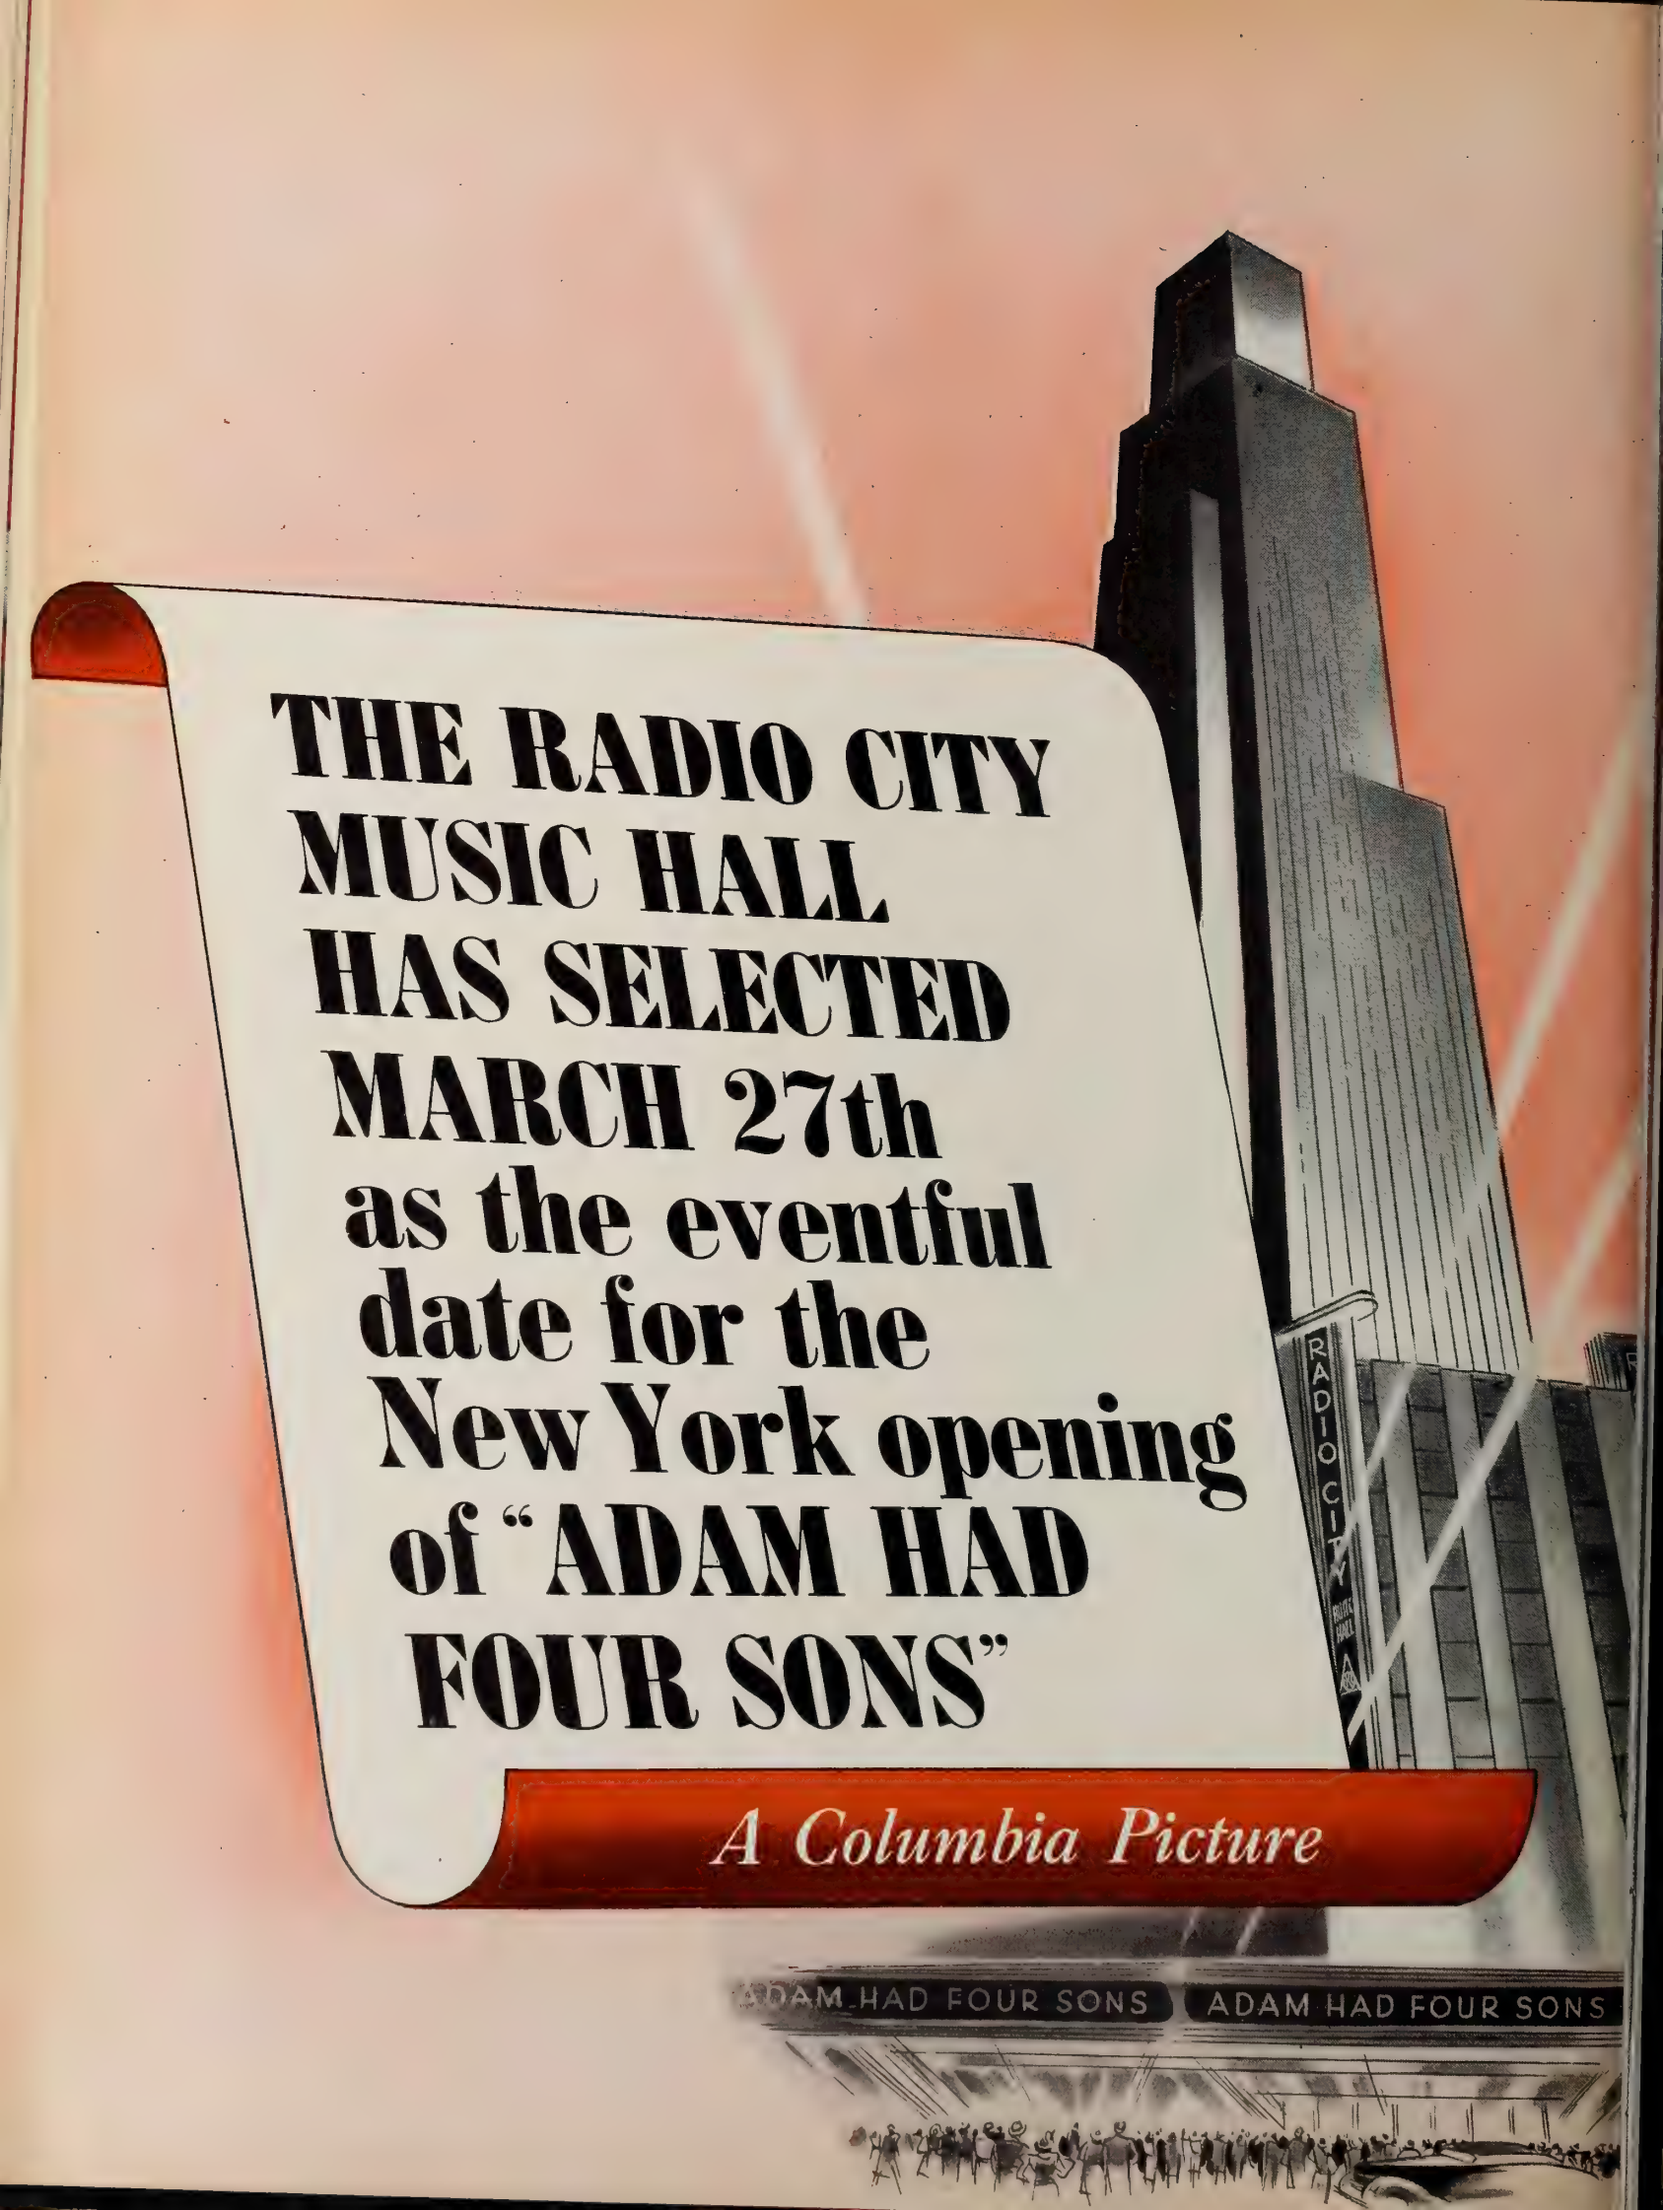
Even the smallest theatre can now offer the comfort and enjoyment which High Intensity projection affords. The modern "One Kilowatt" High Intensity arcs are designed especially for small theatre operation. Fifty to one hundred per cent more screen light than Low Intensity projection at no higher cost.

Give your patrons a High Intensity show with pleasant and safe supplementary lighting and they will respond at the box office. If you are not now using High Intensity projection ask your dealer for a demonstration. It's a profitable investment.

THE MODERN "ONE KILOWATT" ARCS USE "NATIONAL," "SUPREX" AND "OROTIP" CARBONS

1881 LEADERS THEN — 1941 LEADERS NOW

The pioneer organization, from which National Carbon Company, Inc. has grown, was founded in 1881. Throughout the intervening 60 years "National" carbons, by constant research and development, have been steadily improved and adapted to the needs of the time.



THE WORDS "NATIONAL", "SUPREX" AND "OROTIP" ARE TRADE-MARKS OF NATIONAL CARBON COMPANY, INC.

NATIONAL CARBON COMPANY, INC.
Unit of Union Carbide and Carbon Corporation
UCC

CARBON SALES DIVISION, CLEVELAND, OHIO
General Offices:
30 East 42nd Street, New York, N. Y.
Branch Sales Offices:
New York - Pittsburgh - Chicago - St. Louis - San Francisco

THE RADIO CITY MUSIC HALL HAS SELECTED MARCH 27th as the eventful date for the New York opening of "ADAM HAD FOUR SONS"

A Columbia Picture

MOTION PICTURE HERALD

Better Theatres

EQUIPMENT • FURNISHINGS • DESIGN • PHYSICAL OPERATION

Getting and Applying a Practical Understanding of Air-Conditioning—an exhibitor's own story

. . . AND OTHER SPECIAL ARTICLES ON AIR-CONDITIONING METHODS & EQUIPMENT beginning

"Suggestions by Burton"
—a new regular feature on design, lighting, decoration

MARCH 8, 1941

SECTION TWO

PREMIERES OF WALT DISNEY'S
Fantasia
AT THE APOLLO THEATRE—CHICAGO
GEARY THEATRE—SAN FRANCISCO

PROJECTED BY BRENKERT "80" continuously best PROJECTION

Fantasia is BRENKERT PROJECTED at the premiere openings in the Apollo Theatre in Chicago's famous Loop and the Geary Theatre of San Francisco. The Walt Disney organization thereby avail themselves of continuously best projection in presenting the spectacular Fantasia to the critical audiences in these important cities.

Follow the trend of true-vision projection and attract consistently greater audiences by making your projection room BRENKERT "80" equipped—the modern projector for continuously best projection!

Brenkert factory-appointed distributors in all important film distributing centers throughout the nation will gladly show you the advanced features that make the Brenkert "80" motion picture projector "America's outstanding contribution to the motion picture industry"!

BRENKERT CORRECT ENGINEERING PLUS PRECISION MANUFACTURE EQUALS CONTINUOUSLY BEST PROJECTION

BRENKERT LIGHT PROJECTION CO.

ENGINEERS AND MANUFACTURERS • DETROIT, MICH., U.S.A.

Announcing the New

IRWIN CLIPPER

A chair that offers the latest and finest developments in theatre seating—at extremely moderate price!

This exceedingly fine new chair has been specifically developed for the "high quality, low cost" buyer—the man who wants all the boxoffice drawing power that good seating can contribute without paying a premium price for it. Note the beauty of its design and the highlights of construction given below:

Steel Seat Bucket completely encloses under side and edges of seat.

No Screws or Bolts Exposed anywhere on the chair.

Full Steel Back Panel with rolled edges covering and protecting the edges of back upholstery. Available with extension of back panel to protect seat covering from feet of occupants in the rear.

Seats—Unusually Wide and Deep. Available with the exclusive new FLEX-STEEL spring construction — the last word in comfort and durability.

Steel Panel Center Standard—full depth and extending to the floor with smooth tubular edges.

Back and Seat Upholstery quickly and easily replaceable.

Arm Rests attached without use of screws.

Seats and Backs align perfectly in all installations.

For a SUPER buy in theatre seating see the new CLIPPER and its superb running mate the CLIPPER DELUXE at the nearest display room of

NATIONAL THEATRE SUPPLY COMPANY, Distributors

SEATING COMPANY IRWIN GRAND RAPIDS, MICH.

IRWIN SEATING COMPANY · GRAND RAPIDS · MICHIGAN

AMERICA'S LARGEST SELLING THEATRE CARPET

1300 yards of especially designed Crestwood Carpet in the Beach Theatre, Miami, Fla.

ALEXANDER SMITH
GUARANTEED BY GOOD HOUSEKEEPING
ALL WOOL PILE

"NEARLY RIGHT WON'T DO"

Alexander Smith & Sons Carpet Co., 295 Fifth Avenue, New York, N. Y.

RECENT INSTALLATIONS

Recent theatre installations have been made as follows by the Mid-West Theatre Supply Co., Cincinnati:

Grand, Frankfort, Ky.—RCA sound system.

Alhambra, Dayton, O.—International chairs.

Palace, Huntington, W. Va.—RCA sound system, Brenkert projectors, Brenkert lamps, RCA screen.

Garden, Columbus, O.—International chairs.

Orpheum, Cincinnati, O.—International chairs.

Norwood, Norwood, O.—International chairs.

Wheelwright, Wheelwright, Ky.—International chairs.

Virginia, Somerset, Ky.—Brenkert lamps, Benwood Linze rectifiers.

Trimble, Mt. Sterling, Ky.—Brenkert lamps, Benwood Linze rectifiers.

Glenn, Georgetown, Ky.—Brenkert lamps, Benwood Linze rectifier.

Palace, Aurora, Ind.—Brenkert lamps, Benwood Linze rectifiers.

Fairview, Cincinnati, O.—Brenkert lamps, Benwood Linze rectifiers.

Ohio, Norwood, O.—Brenkert lamps, Benwood Linze rectifiers.

Sigma, Dayton, O.—Brenkert lamps, Benwood Linze rectifiers.

People, Dayton, O.—Brenkert lamps, Benwood Linze rectifier.

Rohs, Cynthiana, Ky.—Brenkert lamps, Benwood Linze rectifiers.

•

The following theatre installations are reported by the Droll Theatre Supply Company, Chicago:

Bremen, Bremen, Ind.—Da-Lite screen.

Zeneth, Davenport, Ind.—General Seating chairs.

Varsity, Champaign, Ill.—Motiograph projectors, Motiograph Mirrophonic sound system, Cyclex lamps.

Rialto, Champaign, Ill.—Motiograph projectors and Motiograph Mirrophonic sound system.

Glencoe, Glencoe, Ill.—Motiograph projectors.

•

The National Theatre Supply Company, New York City branch, reports the following theatre installations:

Loew's American, New York—Simplex sound system and projectors, Peerless lamps.

Paramount's Beach, Miami Beach, Fla.—Simplex sound system.

•

Recent theatre installations are reported by Wil-Kin Theatre Supply, Inc., Atlanta, as follows:

Paramount, Newport News, Va.—Brenkert projectors, Motiograph-Mirrophonic sound.

Colonial, Florence, S. C.—Motiograph sound system.

Roswell, Roswell, Ga.—Da-Lite screen, Alexander Smith carpeting.

Carolina, Kinston, N. C.—Da-Lite screen.

Capitol, Raleigh, N. C.—Da-Lite screen.

Midway, Bluff City, Tenn.—Da-Lite screen, International auditorium chairs, U. S. Air ventilating equipment.

Carolina, Fayetteville, N. C.—Da-Lite screen, International auditorium chairs.

Reliance, Orangeburg, S. C.—International auditorium chairs, U. S. Air ventilating equipment.

Drake, Wilson, N. C.—International auditorium chairs.

Georgia, Statesboro, Ga.—International auditorium chairs.

Carolina, Burlington, N. C.—International auditorium chairs.

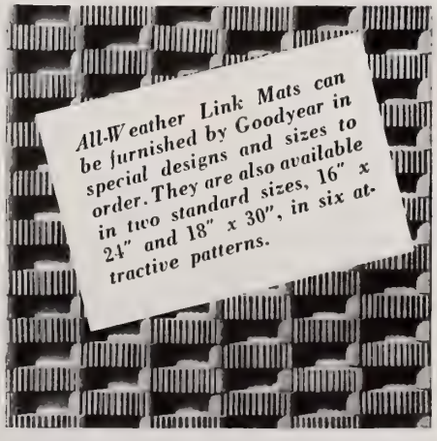
Imperial, Tarrant City, Ala.—U. S. Air ventilating equipment.

Trianon, Central Park, Ala.—U. S. Air ventilating equipment.

You can count on a Goodyear All-Weather Link Mat to provide a safer surface wherever people walk — and a cleaner surface wherever dirt is likely to collect.

The unique corrugated construction of these mats means sure footing at all times and greater protection against people slipping on rainy days.

Cleaning them takes but a few moments, for dirt and mud are flushed away with a hose through drainage channels on the underside.



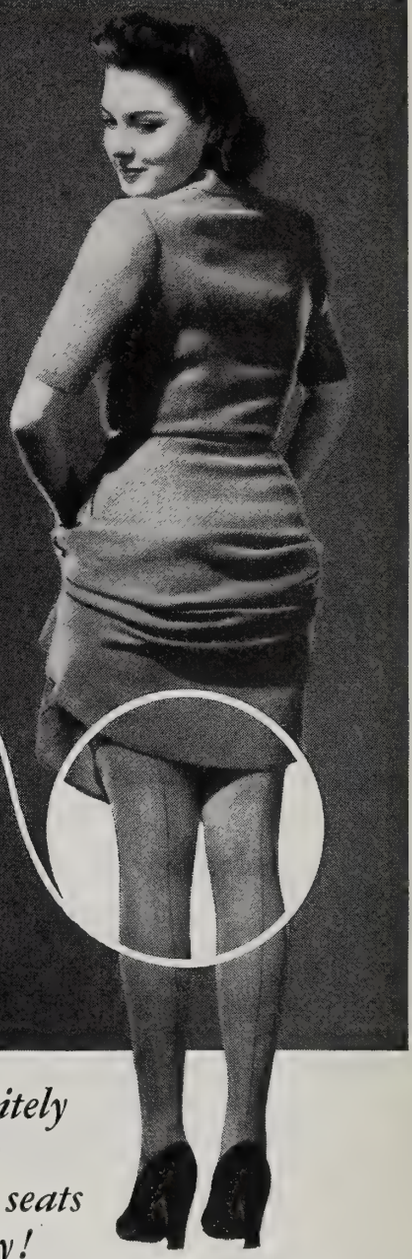
And you can count on their bright colors and attractive designs to brighten up entrances, lobbies and corridors.

Names, addresses or other devices may be woven into special-design All-Weather Link Mats, which you can obtain in a wide range of standard colors — either in one piece or in sections.

You can count on their durability, too — because these long-wearing mats are made of tough blocks of specially-compounded rubber linked together with heavy, rust-resisting steel wire.

If you have a place that calls for a safe, handsome and sturdy mat, simply explain your needs to Goodyear, Akron, Ohio—or Los Angeles, California.

All-Weather—T.M. The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company



THE GREATEST NAME IN RUBBER

GOODYEAR

ALL-WEATHER LINK MATS

THE TALK OF THE THEATRE WORLD!

American Seating's revolutionary new seats with Feather Foam Front take the pressure off the Popliteal

POPLITEAL—Webster's defines the Popliteal as the "back part of the leg behind the knee joint." It is very sensitive because arteries, veins, and nerves are close to the skin surface. Pressure on the Popliteal causes legs to "go to sleep," is responsible for discomfort and nervousness.

Feather Foam Front

—Available at no extra charge on AMERICAN BODIFORM, COMMODORE, ZEPHYR AND ZENITH CHAIRS

ESPECIALLY SOFT WHERE A SEAT SHOULD BE SOFT!

See these exquisitely comfortable new-type theatre seats before you buy!

HERE'S news—good news, BIG news! News that means dividends in patron satisfaction. It's Feather Foam Front—American Seating's new-type theatre seat that takes the pressure off the Popliteal!

Feather Foam Front is so soft, legs won't go to sleep . . . because the popliteal area sinks deep into the cushion. No hard steel wires . . . no rolled or stuffed packing across the front edge . . . no "spring edge." Feather Foam Front is truly soft, truly comfortable!

See American's great line of brilliantly built theatre chairs before you buy. Glorious new color schemes . . . streamlined designs . . . and Feather Foam Front seats!

American Seating Company

GRAND RAPIDS, MICHIGAN

World's leader in public seating • Manufacturers of Theatre, School, Auditorium, Stadium and Transportation Seating

Branch Offices and Distributors in Principal Cities

Better Theatres

ISSUE OF MARCH 8, 1941. VOLUME 142, NUMBER 10

Good Housekeeping By Government Decree

AMONG THE novelties of the Consent Decree—that famous or infamous document, according to your lights, by which the motion picture industry arranged a peace or at least an armistice with the U. S. Government—is the clearance factor introduced by Clause 3 of Section VIII, which definitely gives the theatre's appearance and exhibition facilities a voice of authority in determining priority rights to product. This is the clause specifying, as a factor to be considered by the Arbitrators in classifying theatres as to clearance, the following:

"The character and location of the theatre involved, including size, type of entertainment, appointments, transit facilities, etc."

Like a number of aspects of the Decree, one will be better able, say, a year from now, to measure the full significance of those few words in Section VIII. Certainly it is not necessary to point out here that the new factor can work for both sides of the issue. Nevertheless, for the first time in the history of our cabbage-patch business, which just "grewed up," appraisal of each theatre's product rights will be based on its own history, location and condition, rather than on corporate and contractual relations, with the physical "character" and "appointments" of the individual theatre a factor which the Arbitrators are instructed, by law, to consider.

▶ With an August 1st deadline for the operation of the Decree, circuit and independent operators of prior-runs have either begun or are planning renovation and modernization to support claims for another classification or retention of the present one. While it is difficult to trace ultimate motives in the remodeling and re-equipping now underway and planned—a lot of such work would be done any way, as part of the industry's program of exhibition plant modernization—there are indications that Clause 3 is already accounting for some of this activity. And of course the new status of good theatrical housekeeping bears upon the continuation of the priority rights possessed by a theatre, through the years of its operation, probably under more or less continuously changing competitive conditions.

One gathers from distributors that no great upheaval is expected in the prior-run situation throughout the country, it being pointed out that even to ignore the other determinants of clearance classification, the present prior-run theatres are likely to be, in most cases, those having the most seats and therefore the greatest gross possibilities, plus appointments and equipment at least comparable to, if not finer than, other houses in their zone. It behooves the operators of even these properties, however, to maintain them in a condition meriting their position, which, you may have observed, hasn't been a universal practice.

Mr. Powell's Larnin'

Some people would say, "Well, Fred Powell is smarter'n most exhibitors," expressing in that way their deeply-rooted conviction that you can't expect more than a few motion picture theatre operators and managers to understand anything except how to unlock the doors, hang out some posters, peddle handbills, and take tickets. Once they didn't have to do much more than that; today most of them do have to, so motion picture exhibition has gradually acquired and continues to extend a personnel of a calibre making notions that ours is a dumb-cluck business definitely dated. The average theatre today is not operated by a fellow who runs the pool hall next door. There are a lot of Fred Powell's around, both actually and potentially.

Fred Powell? Operator of several theatres in South Carolina who tells about his tussle with the problems of air-conditioning, begnning on page 9. Seems Fred wanted to air-condition his new theatre, decided that the most economical way of doing it (Continued on following page)

HISTORICAL NOTE; or, HOW TIME FLIES

This group of before-and-after pictures indicates what has happened at the Newman theatre in Kansas City. The Newman, built in the early 1920's from plans by H. Alexander Drake, was long a leading member of that group of theatres which so expensively glorified the motion picture. Recent remodeling, planned by Charles C. Burton for the Paramount Theatres Service Corporation, has wiped out all but the memories, with Wagner silhouette attraction boards, fluorescent-lamped marquee soffit, birch doors, mirrors and general tossing out of all that costly gingerbread that made it famous.

(Continued from preceding page) and operating the system would be to learn about air-conditioning. And being a fellow, who isn't afraid of the word tech-ni-cal, he did.

Fred's mentor, incidentally, was Carl Boester, who will be remembered for his air-conditioning articles in BETTER THEATRES a couple of years ago. Mr. Boester, while still maintaining his engineering offices in St. Louis, is now director of research in the housing department of Purdue University.

Also bearing upon the practical relationship between air-conditioning methods and the functions of the theatre operator and manager is Jack Knight's "open letter" on page 28, which is only one of three contributions from Mr. Knight to this Air-Conditioning Number.

Gas Compressor Drive

Most aspects of theatre air-conditioning are dealt with one way or another in this issue, suggesting that some notice be given the continued installation in Detroit theatres of air-conditioning systems having the compressors powered by gasoline engines using the natural gas available in that city. Something like half a dozen houses there so drive their compressors, one of the latest to use the method being the Parkside. Data on this installation is not at the moment available, but we have dug out file material on a similar job in Detroit's Beverly theatre, one of the first of its kind there. In this installation Ford V-8 motors were used, properly adapted with speed-limiting governors and with the two engines so hooked up to power the two compressors that any degree of adjustment from half to full capacity could be made. This installation also employed a cooling tower to supply water for cooling the engine, eliminating relatively expensive city water for that purpose.

▶ This method of powering compressors, using natural-gas, is of course not to be associated with a Diesel plant, the cost factors, particularly with respect to initial cost, being vastly higher in the case of Diesel equipment, the practical use of which for air-conditioning was analyzed in BETTER THEATRES some years ago, at the time certain exhibitor organizations were agitating Diesel power as a threat to the electric utilities in a dispute over rates.

Machinery room of the Parkside theatre in Detroit, showing two Worthington-Carbondale compressors mounted with internal combustion engines, which burn natural gas, used in place of electric motors to power the refrigeration machines.

There are quite a few sizeable areas in the United States which have natural gas, and in them use of gas-engine power for air-conditioning equipment should be given serious consideration.

Paragraphs

We have had considerable comment on the glass mural which Charles Burton suggested for a front design in one of his two sketches in the February issue. This idea applies in a rather unusual manner the new colored glass mosaic that is surely to find a merited place in theatre design soon, mostly of course for interior work.

Already contributing mightily to the architecture and decoration of theatres, glass seems likely to play yet a bigger part year by year. All-glass doors open the theatre to the street. Mirrors are being used more and more to "open up" the interior, give it life and spaciousness (and, incidentally, occupying space otherwise too often occupied by gaudy, meaningless, soon-monotonous stencil work, etc.).

Glass in blocks and tiles also provide a new practical material for partitions, doors, etc., while the new mosaic, as recently applied to the Toledo Public Library, is definitely a means of giving a theatre splashes of interesting color with dignity and at reasonable cost.

•

The number of theatres built or extensively remodeled in the 37 states east of the Rockies during 1940 is placed at 803 by the building report service of the F. W. Dodge Corporation.

•

Charlie Potwin—or didn't you know that C. C.'s name was Charlie?—has "made" the New Yorker. With some people, though we wouldn't include Charlie, this constitutes fame. It seems the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York has had an echo in its lecture room, a bad one, defying the assaults of assorted experts for years. Charlie fixed it. That made Charlie news to the New Yorker. The New Yorker doesn't know much about what's been going on in acoustics.

•

We'll conclude with this one: Mrs. Lethus Weaver Bailey is reported to be suing Tony Sudekum's Crescent Amusement Company, asking for $5,250 in damages for injuries alleged to have been sustained when an entrance door of the Princess theatre in Hopkinsville, Ky., hit her head. Mrs. Bailey is the wife of Melvin Bailey, an usher at the Princess when the accident occurred. —G. S.

GENERAL AND DEPARTMENTAL FEATURES OF THIS ISSUE:

A Practical Understanding of Air-Conditioning 9

SHOWPLACE:

A Compact Plan with Colorful Styling 11

Serving a Small Town 14

Suggestions by Burton 17

Applying Solid-Color Broadloom to the Theatre . . . 19

Selecting Rubber Mats According to Needs 22

Figuring Maintenance in Planning Air-Conditioning . . . 24

An Open Letter to Those Starting Air-Conditioning . . . 28

Transferring Old Chairs to Another Theatre 34

Schlanger: One Floor Versus Two 37

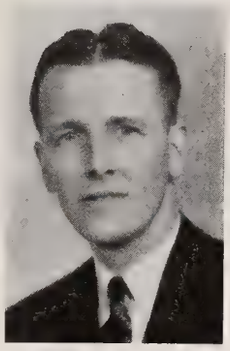
Allen: Liability in Injuries from Equipment 38

Potwin: Reverberation Times 39

Methods of Vending Popcorn Effective for Theatres . . . 40

Cleaning Aids & Methods 44

About People of the Theatre 45



Academy Acoustic Recommendations 47

F. H. Richardson's Comment 50

A section of Motion Picture Herald devoted to the physical theatre, published by the Quigley Publishing Company, Inc., Rockefeller Center, New York, every fourth week. Martin Quigley, publisher and editor-in-chief. George Schutz, editor. Colvin Brown, general manager. Ray Gallo, advertising manager. C. B. O'Neill, Western advertising manager, 624 S. Michigan Ave., Chicago. London Bureau: No. 4, Golden Square, WI. Consultants: J. T. Knight, Jr., physical operation; Ben Schlanger, architectural form; C. C. Potwin, acoustic design and treatment.

GETTING AND APPLYING

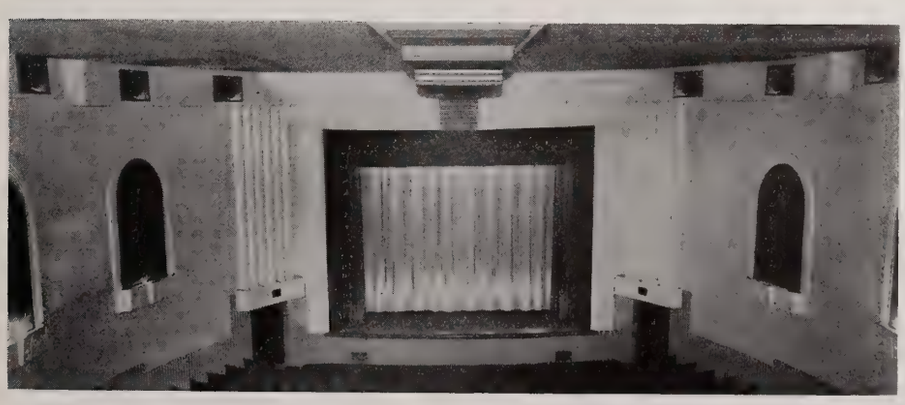
A Practical Understanding Of Theatre Air-Conditioning

By FRED POWELL

. . . head of Cherokee Theatres, Inc., which operates three theatres in Chester, and one in Gaffney, S. C. In Chester he has built his latest house, the Chester, and in this unusual article of an exhibitor's experience he presents a most interesting problem in the air-conditioning of that small-town theatre, and explains how it was successfully dealt with.

AS AN OPERATOR of a modest group of theatres in the Carolinas, I have always made it a policy to keep up-to-date in matters of theatre management and theatre equipment. For some years we have always acquired the latest in seating, projection and sound equipment, but air-conditioning—that seemed a pretty big thing for me to tackle.

The issue was forced to a conclusion, however, when it became necessary to protect one of our best towns, Chester, S. C., by building a completely new Class A house in this small city of 6,000 population. The two we had were not worth remodeling; also, the locations were not the best in town. We picked a location on the main street, which is also a state highway. Since we were going to have a completely new house, that also meant that the "last word" in year-around air-conditioning simply had to be a "must" on our equipment list.



The Theatre Problem

While this is about how we worked out the air-conditioning, a brief background of the theatre building itself is in order. Although for some time we had had plans for a theatre, no specific site had been in mind. I had made the plans of the theatre myself and they had been okayed by State-licensed engineers. The location we finally acquired was a corner one. There was a two-story store and garage building on the property. The ground floor was occupied by a garage, which was below the street grade, and its entrance was from the side street. It seemed a shame to wreck the building, which was in fair condition, so this meant, while fundamentally our plans could not be used, they could serve as a guide to general construction problems and theatre arrangement. In some ways we had more room, and in other ways we had less.

Because of this change in idea, no general contractor would tackle the job at anything like a reasonable cost. Having frequently watched construction of theatres of my own and others, I decided to turn all circuit management problems over entirely to a competent staff and become my own general contractor. It would be interesting to tell of all the problems encountered and of the things I learned about, but that is still another story. I completely gutted the old building, starting with just four walls and a roof.

As things turned out, when it came to the air-conditioning there was very little space for this equipment. In the original plans I had room for standardized package equipment and so I was told the installation would be relatively simple. The plans were of course changed now, and quotations on tailor-made installations by air-conditioning contractors really would throw my budget out of gear. I therefore decided to do my own work so that I would not need to give up the idea.

I secured books on the subject and dug up past articles on theatre air-conditioning in BETTER THEATRES and read up on the subject. While I gained a good understanding of the fundamentals, I wasn't quite sure about some practical application problems such as duct sizing, volume of air to be handled, compressor sizes, kind and size of heating boiler, etc., so I decided to obtain the services of a consultant on such matters and do the work myself. I had read with much interest the articles in BETTER THEATRES written by a certain air-conditioning engineer, Carl F. Boester of St. Louis. I was particularly impressed by his practical point of view and his ingenuity. I therefore wrote Mr. Boester telling him of my problems and the intention to do the work myself. Apparently he had some experience with theatre men in the past with such ideas and he wanted none of it.

Front view of the Chester theatre auditorium, showing sidewall air outlets.

Working Out the System

I later found out his hesitation was due to the fact that many theatre men want results without knowing the why and how of it; now here was a man who even wanted to do the work himself! He finally agreed, however, to meet me in Pittsburgh on one of his trips east and to talk the matter over. He agreed to help me with the work on the condition that I be tolerant with many problems that were sure to develop and that I would learn why this happened and why that was necessary, and so forth.

We had our talk and determined that

FRED POWELL FITS HIS GADGET KNACK INTO A GADGET BUSINESS

FRED POWELL'S debut into the exhibiting end of the motion picture industry dates back to 1922. He has handled every job from usher to manager, and finally to that of owner of Cherokee Theatres, a growing and profitable South Carolina circuit. He not only can tell a projectionist for example how to iron out some of his troubles, but he can actually show him how to do it. The same is true of lighting and other phases of theatre maintenance that require trouble shooting. To Fred it is all in a day's work.

One of Powell's main hobbies has been the making of drawings of apparatus, then doing the mechanical work to make them into a successful practical application. He had done a successful job of constructing and remodeling three of his other theatres before undertaking the new Chester theatre at Chester, S. C., a town of 6,000.

The Chester theatre buiding is 92 x 122 feet and is 34 feet high. The side walls are constructed of Winnsboro blue granite, the front of brick and tile, stuccoed with white cement. As the photograph shows, in addition to the theatre proper, there is a confectionery and a furniture store in the same building.

The interior walls and ceilings are of hard plaster. The balcony does not extend over the auditorium, but stops with the standee. The floor is of the bowl type, with seating set on a radius of 75.7 at the back, and 52.3 at the front, with each row carrying a variation in the radius. Each row also has a varying degree of incline, which Mr. Powell worked out. Chairs are 20 or 21 inches in width, spaced 36 inches. Aisles are four feet wide.

Lighting of the auditorium is controlled with dimmers, with three light troughs and also sconces arranged between five flutes in a curve in the front wall near the stage and on each side wall. Each trough contains 1,400 watts of lamping and is so wired that running lighting can be varied according to the reflection intensity of the screen image. The dimmers are controlled from the projection room and also from a remote control station in the foyer. During projection only 260 watts are used in the side walls. The walls contain corrugated areas calculated to diffuse this light.

Views of the front, lobby and auditorium of the Chester theatre.

for the 712-seat house the cooling load would be about equal to 40 horse-power. Mr. Boester, as many readers will recall, has specialized in the application of storage refrigeration to air-conditioning. We decided on this principle of application as the best for my theatre, after checking carefully on costs.

Before talking about this though, let's start with the auditorium. We seat 560 people downstairs, and 152 upstairs. The original theatre plans had called for overhead air ducts, but this was ruled out by the roof superstruction of the old building. Furthermore, Mr. Boester pointed out that ducts in the attic space would have to be insulated, adding to our costs; so we put them inside, as the auditorium photographs show. Since much plaster work had to be done inside, the roof and side walls served as two sides of the duct; the other two were formed of lath and plaster, and we had a reasonable cost for this item.

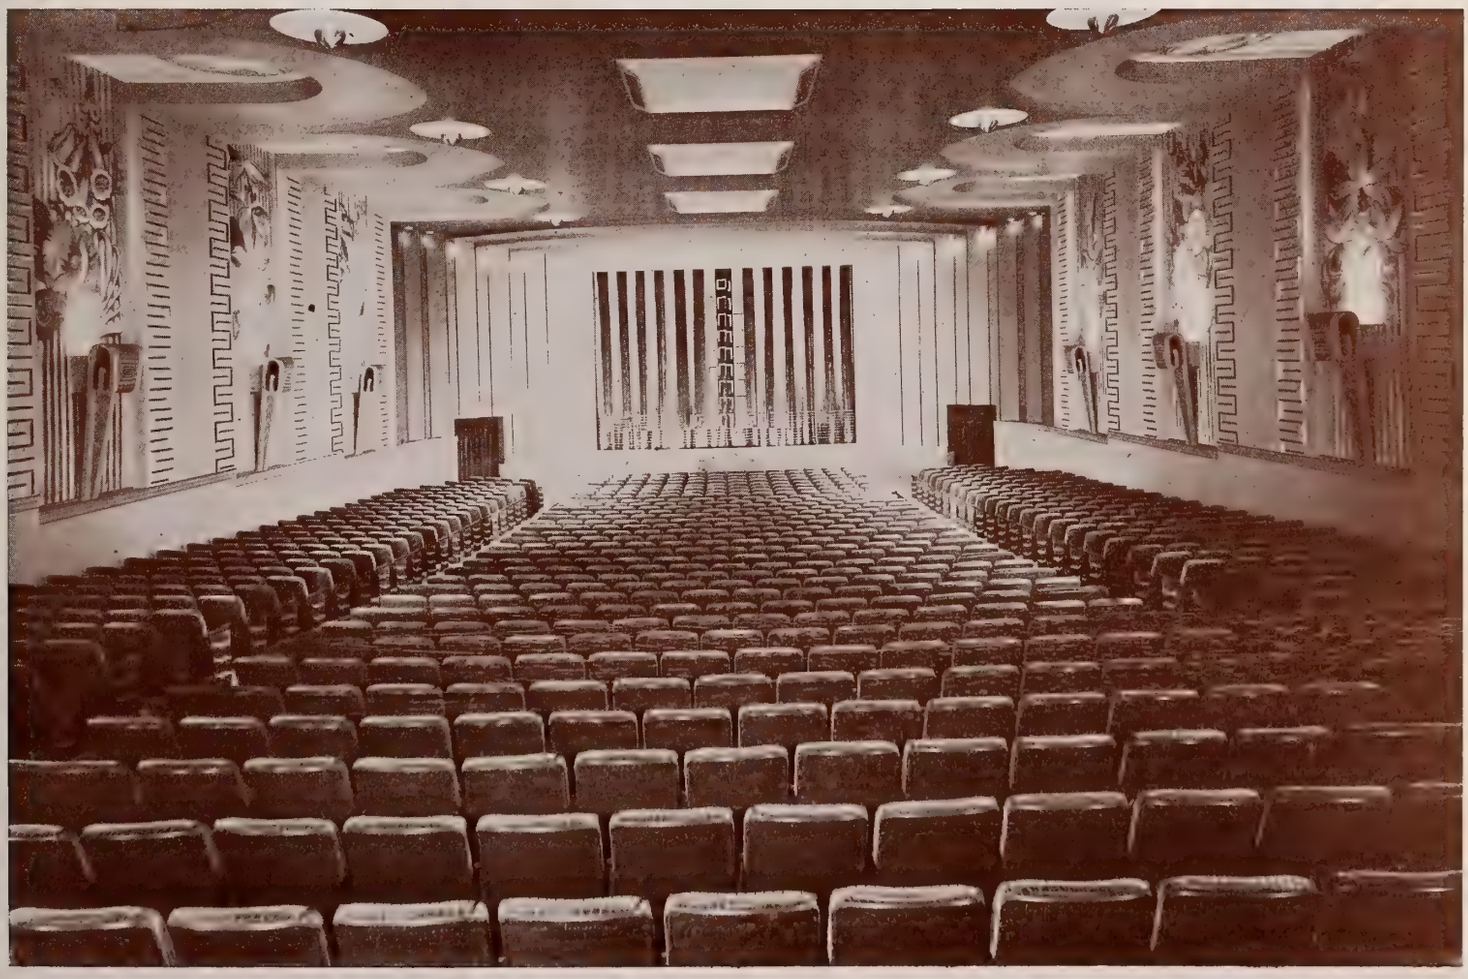
CARL F. BOESTER

I was awful finicky about the matter of drafts and had held out for overhead air distribution in the center of the ceiling; however, Mr. Boester pointed out that the new side-wall Anemostats, properly used, would give equal results with the ceiling type, so we used these as you can see [accompanying auditorium views], and the results did prove highly satisfactory.

I had an old fan I wanted to use, but this was too big, so I traded it in on a new double-width, double-inlet blower of correct capacity, and because it was more efficient than the old fan, it required less motor horsepower to operate it, so I saved operating costs here.

Finding the Method

I surely wish I could show pictures of the work as we went along, but the equipment space was so cramped we couldn't get the camera set anywhere that would give a good illustrative view, so I am trying to paint as good a word picture as I can. The space for the fan wasn't much bigger than the fan itself—at least we were limited in floor area, but we did have plenty of head room. The fan was located on a level about that of the supply ducts. The fan plenum was connected by a shaft to the small basement directly below where the air stream coils were placed. A return air tunnel ran the entire length of the theatre under the floor and connected to return grilles at the rear of the house. Some return air was additionally taken under the stage apron.



The fin coils in the air stream were six rows deep and so set that return air and outside air could be mixed before entering a bank of filters ahead of the coils. Air quantities were adjusted by dampers. The

(Continued on page 26)

Showplace

an eight-page insert devoted to architectural design, and interior decoration & furnishings

COMPACT PLAN WITH COLORFUL STYLING USING "BLACK LIGHT"

VIEW OF AUDITORIUM, BOULEVARD THEATRE, COLUMBUS, OHIO (described on following two pages).

BOULEVARD THEATRE
Columbus, Ohio

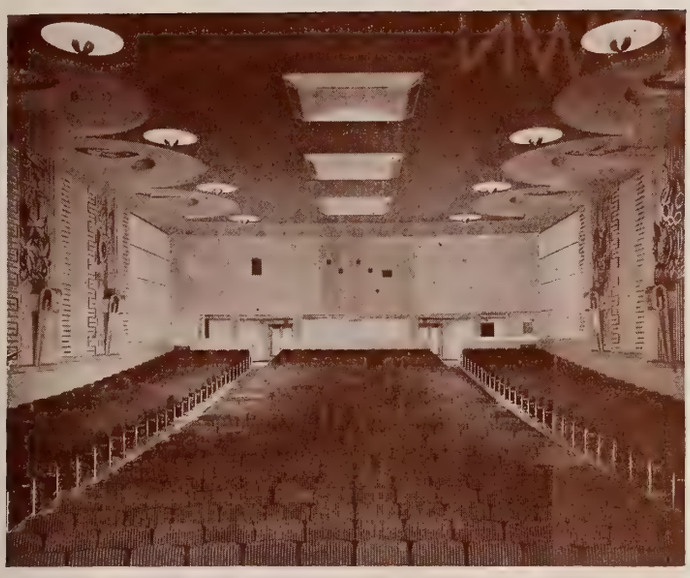
DESIGNERS AND ENGINEERS:

F & Y Building Service

ARCHITECTS:
Alcox, Maffit & Stritzel

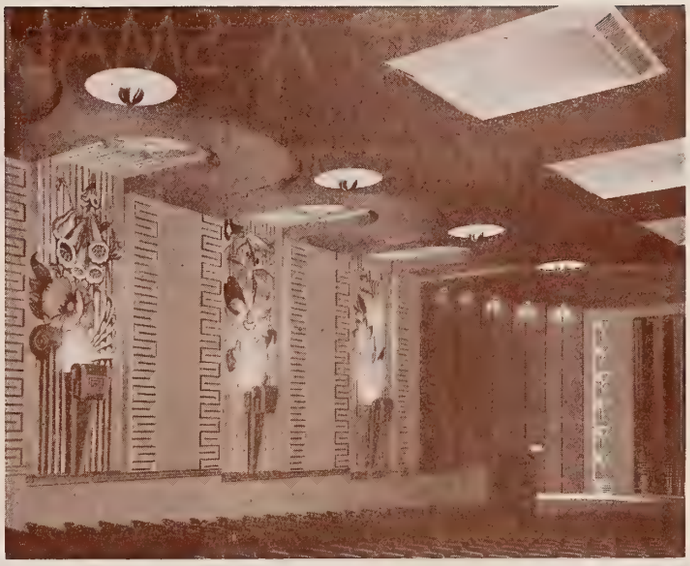
■ Designed in a colorful modern style, employing "black light" decoration, and with a compact plan that nevertheless suggests spaciousness, importantly because of the continuity of lobby and foyer-standee area, the new Boulevard theatre in Columbus, Ohio, is located in a small outlying shopping center and serves a new apartment house district populated mostly by office workers and small merchants. The Boulevard is owned and operated by Mrs. Marie H. MacDonald, who was associated in the project at the beginning of construction with her late husband, C. A. MacDonald. The building, which has no commercial space, is of steel and brick construction. Capacity is 950 on single floor.

FRONT: With the vestibule centrally located, the facade is designed in off-center balancing of masses which include, as integral architectural forces, the name sign and marquee. An upper central section supporting the sign follows a non-uniform curve and is faced in moderately deep blue terra cotta. The sign elements, finished in porcelain enamel, combine the same blue with Tuscan red and yellow (the latter backing the letters). Blue terra cotta also forms the base and vestibule walls, laid in broad, shallow flutings, except that to the right of the vestibule the base is exteneded upward into an ivory terra cotta panel aligned with the semi-circular marquee, drawing the latter into the off-center, or asymmetric, front pattern. Here at the right the upper facade is set back, faced in tangerine architectural brick. The upper left section is also faced in tangerine brick, here laid, however, in "stripe" effect produced by projecting lines of bricks. Sign letters are lighted in double lines of power green neon. The marquee, consisting essentially in multiple line continuous attraction board employing 16-, 10- and 4-inch Wagner silhouette letters, has a red and yellow incandescent chaser border top and bottom. The marquee soffit, of white porcelain enamel, continues into the vestibule to form its ceiling, with the lighting similarly continuous in a concentric arrangement of 15-watt exposed incandescent lamps. Semi-circular in plan, the vestibule thus complements the marquee in the formation of a full circle, which is further delineated by a circular pattern in a cement walk, alternating blue and red in bands from the rims of the marquee to the entrance doors. The ticket booth set centrally at the inner rim of the circle is finished in blue Carrara structural glass above a rouge antigue marble base, and is capped by peach-tinted mirrors. Doors are walnut-stained birch with plate glass. Display frames are built up of extruded aluminum and are lighted by fluorescent lamps at top.



SECTION OF LOBBY.

LOBBY: The main traffic area (see floor plan) radiates out from the entrance in a scheme more or less curvilinear from vestibule to auditorium seating area. Walnut, glazed, curtained doors on either side of a curving partition (this structure encloses stairs to the second level offices and equipment rooms) connect lobby and foyer. The lobby has plaster walls painted in vertical block panels of azure blue and burnt orange accenuated by ½-inch silver striping. The ceiling, also of plaster, is painted deep burgundy with concentric bands of ivory around lighting fixtures, which consist in three spun aluminum, louvered plaques, each having six incandescent lamps on two circuits for color combinations. The flooring is terrazzo in a circular band pattern with traffic lanes recessed for perforated rubber mats. Just inside these lanes, against the inner wall, is a confectionery dispensing area, with Columbus 48x22x40-inch candy cases having fluorescent lighting, and popcorn equipment facing doors. This area has special lighting by incandescent lamps in a plaster cove formed by recessing soffit of cornice.

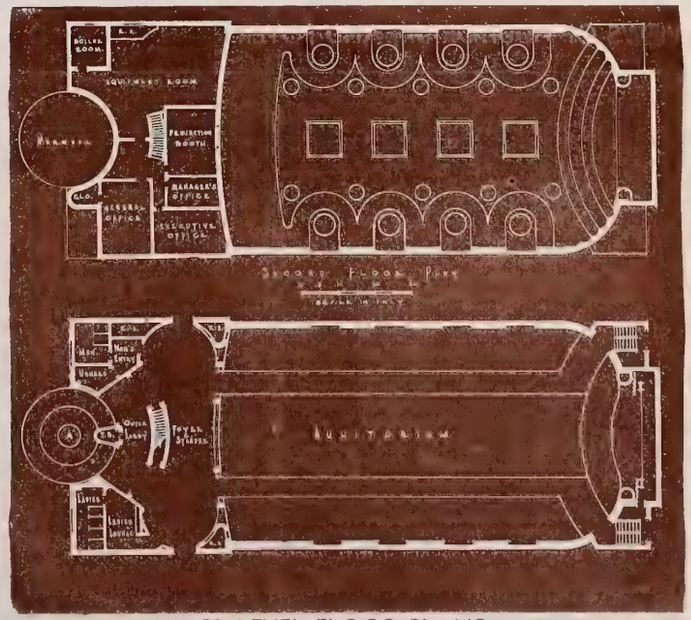


LOUNGES: Women's lounge (pictured at right) has plaster walls and ceiling...Wall with continuous cosmetic shelf and mirror in painted flesh color, other walls are burgundy, while the ceiling is painted pastel yellow. Lighting is by one small translucent glass trough pendant with incandescent lamps, and incandescent lamps in built-out plaster cove over cosmetic shelf. Latter is black glass; furniture is metal covered in bone-white simulated leather. . . . Men's entry has plaster walls tinted in blue, green and tan and a pastel yellow ceiling with burnt orange trim. Lighting is by a small glass ceiling pendant, and furniture is same as in women's lounge. . . . The toilet rooms have Tennessee marble compartment partitions, pink in the women's, gray in the men's. Floors are blue and white terrazzo, and walls in bluish green faience tile.

VIEW OF WOMEN'S LOUNGE.

VIEW OF AUDITORIUM TOWARD FOYER-STANDEE AREA.

SIDE VIEW OF AUDITORIUM SHOWING LIGHTING.



FOYER-STANDEE: The projection room and other second level quarters are above this area, which thus has reduced ceiling height and is further made a separate room by the narrowness of the open space above the standee raid. Walls are plaster painted blue, the ceiling (kidney-shaped following curvilinear floor plan) plaster painted flesh color and rimmed with a cove concealing gold neon. Standee rail is plaster painted burgundy with sienna trim, with cap at aisles of triple wood mouldings divided by rubber strips, and caps elsewhere of ivory simulated leather. The carpeting (continuous with lounge areas off each end, and with aisles) is Wilton in a large-scale pattern of modernized leaf devices in gold and black on a rust ground.

AUDITORIUM: Except in a rear section, the treatment is in a fanciful floral motivation dominated by a series of stepped wall murals, each 8x22 feet, painted on canvas. These are joined at the break line of the ceiling by similar ceiling murals set in arched recesses. General finish is plaster, and fret borders of wall murals are in precast gypsum. Each of the eight pairs of wall and ceiling murals have critical elements delineated in luminescent paint, which is activated by Conti-Glo "black light" units equipped with General Electric mercury lamps and Corning 587 filters. These are concealed in ornamental plaster urns, one to each wall mural, each urn containing two "black light" units, one with an EH-4, the other with a CH-4 lamp. Each urn also contains one reflector unit with a 250-watt incandescent lamp for house lighting. The "black light" decorative effect is one of vividly colored flowers growing from urns, and their glow, combined with the screen light, supplied the major portion of running illumination. Additionally, there are ten indirect, spun metal pendants in circular plaster recesses along each side of the ceiling; these are on dimmers, and when dimmed to low level during projection, these sources accenuate the ceiling treatment, which is painted a copper color with blue cornice "arches." Spaced down the center of the ceiling are four 10x10-foot plaster plaques having shallow-coffered soffits; these support, and obscure air outlets. The proscenium area, of plaster, is shaped in accordion-like steppings funcionally providing sound-reflecting surfaces in varied planes; for decorative effect, the steppings are painted cornflower blue outlined in black and silver by an overlaid striping, while the stepping divisions are further accenuated, down the walls, by downlight units. The stage curtain is an especially designed fabric or rust panne plush with an all-over design in silver and black. The rear section of the auditorium, 20 feet deep, is finished in coral velour over Kimsul acoustical treatment, the velour being attached by wood mouldings painted silver and black, forming 4x4-foot squares. . . . The 950 seats are arranged in three banks with the center bank in a stagger plan effected by extra-wide chairs at the ends of alternate rows, except in the first eight rows, where spacing is 31 inches, while elsewhere it is from 34 to 36 inches, increasing toward the rear. The floor slope is of the so-called "reverse" type. Chairs, mostly 20 inches wide, are streamlined models with end standards having silver trim on azure blue ground, backs azure blue mohair, seats in black simulated leather.

Projection and air supply specifications, and outline of equipment and furnishings of the Boulevard appear on page 42.

SECTION OF FOYER-STANDEE AREA.

MAIN AND UPPER LEVEL FLOOR PLANS.

SERVING A SMALL TOWN

RUSSELL THEATRE, Millersburg, Ohio. HARSH & DAVIES, Architects.

FRONT ILLUMINATION.

VIEWS OF AUDITORIUM AND FOYER.

■ An interesting example of today's small town theatre standards, in both appointments and service facilities, is the Russell theatre, recently completed in Millersburg, Ohio, by the C. J. Vogel Sons Construction Company of Wellsville, Ohio, from plans by Robert S. Harsh, Columbus architect. Seating 500, the Russell has inside measurements of 125x47 feet. Construction is of steel and brick, with concrete floors.

FRONT: The entire front and side exterior is of buff architectural brick, with the front relieved simply by three brick pilasters framing and extending above the marquee. The latter, of Artkraft prefabricated type in a modified triangular shape with an integrated small horizontal sign above Artkraft silhouette-letter display panels, has a soffit, lighted by exposed incandescent lamps, extending to form the ceiling of a shallow vestibule, the side walls of which are splayed out in an open effect from a pair of doors on each side of a central ticket booth. The latter has a base of illuminated glass blocks supporting continuous (unframed) plate glass.

LOBBY & FOYER: A square lobby (17x16 feet) separates vestibule and foyer-standee area. The lobby is of concrete dyed maroon with recessed rubber mats in the traffic lanes. Off one side is the manager's office, off the other a confectionery sales alcove where an attendant also can check wraps, parcels, etc. . . . The foyer, carpeted in a Crestwood Velvet of modernized circular pattern in rust, tan and gold, leads to women's and men's lounge and toilet facilities on either side, and by stairs at one end to the second level, where there is a "cry room" finished in natural maple.

AUDITORIUM: Side walls are of furred-out cinder block covered with velour in graduated colors forming a horizontal panel pattern, above a similarly striped painted concrete wainscot, along the top of which extends a lighting trough with incandescent lamps on four color circuits. The ceiling is plain except for a painted central panel, along which Anemostat air diffusers are spaced. The seating (by Irwin) is in three banks with two 4-foot aisles and back-to-back spacing uniformly 34 inches. The Russell's facilities include a dumb-waiter with shaft from second level to basement and accessible from an alley at one side, for both delivery of film (film messenger has key) and removal of ashes. . . . For summer cooling the Russell uses deep well water only, and both cooling and heating (hot water) is by Trane coils, with auditorium supplied by a single central duct through Anemostat ceiling outlets.

Formica in Colorful Inlays is Genuinely Decorative

● Panel Designed by JOHN and DREW EBERSON
For Times Theater, Cincinnati

In hundreds of theatres designed by these well-known theatre architects, Formica has been used for entrance doors, ticket office paneling, lobby wall covering, decorative panels behind water fountains, and similar uses. Its colors lend themselves to either highly theatrical or restrained effects.

COLOR in all degrees and combinations is available in Formica and many architects have found it a most flexible and striking decorative medium. The color is embedded in a hard, dense, durable plastic surface. It does not fade or change with time and it never requires refinishing.

Inlays of one color over another or of metal over color make an endless variety of simple designs possible so that individuality is easily attained.

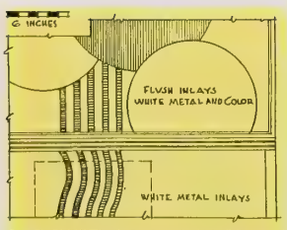
The material is suggested especially for wall covering and doors in stores, public buildings, theatres, ships and trains, and has been widely used for all of these purposes.

In addition to its decorative value it has practical qualities of great utility: it is not brittle and will not chip or crack; it is chemically inert and therefore cannot be stained by ordinary liquids; for horizontal surfaces it is available in a cigaretteproof grade.

The range of colors, pictures of typical uses, design suggestions and architects' details are available in literature that is yours for the asking. Send for it.

FORMICA

The Formica Insulation Company, 4620 Spring Grove Ave., Cincinnati, O.



FOR BUILDING PURPOSES

FORMICA DOORS The colorful doors were produced complete by Formica except for glazing and attaching the hardware. Cores are carefully built and reinforced with hardwood where hardware is attached.

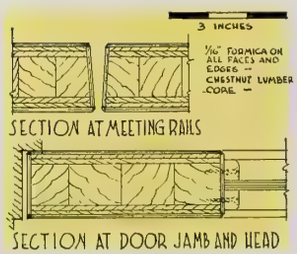
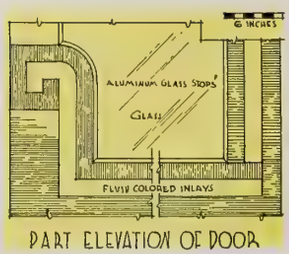
Details of Formica Application

FORMICA is available in three fundamental forms. It may be had as 1/16 of an inch thick veneer, which is veneered to plywood to form doors, table tops, counter tops, counter paneling, or wall paneling. It may be had as wall board 5/32 or 5/16 of an inch thick, which may be applied to vertical surfaces with the use of moldings. It may come fully veneered from the Formica factory in the form of doors, counter tops, table tops ready to install.



PART ELEVATION OF DRINKING FOUNTAIN

● The inlaid panel behind the water fountain is made with 1/16 inch inlaid Formica sheet veneered to plywood. The back of the panel is covered with a sealing ply of Formica to prevent warping. Screws at edges covered with molding.



SECTION AT DRINKING FOUNTAIN

● Sketch shows the black Formica ledge over the drinking fountain. It is 1–1/4 inches thick made of black Formica veneered on plywood with metal covered Formica edges that have been routed out to show alternate lines of black and silver.

SECTION AT DOOR JAMB AND HEAD

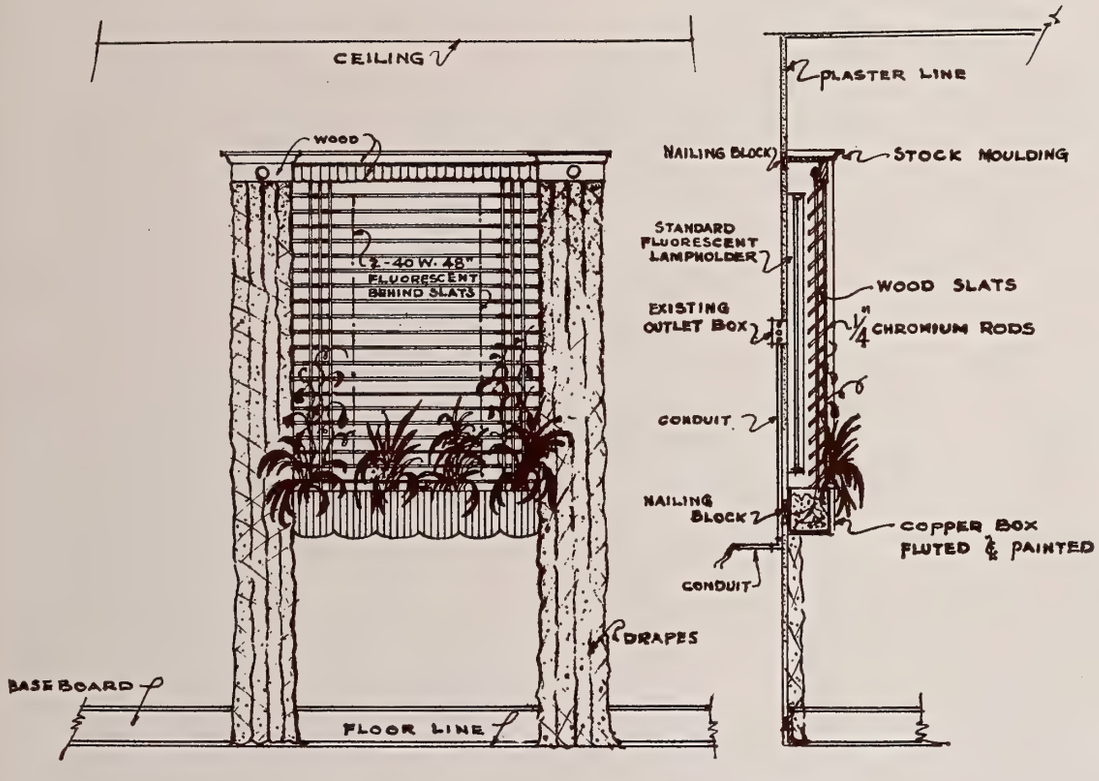
● The doors are 1–3/4 inches thick. A solid door without cutouts weighs 4 pounds per square foot. Doors must be covered with Formica on both sides to balance the assembly. Door edges are beveled at the factory.

PART ELEVATION OF DOOR

● Cutouts in the doors are made at the factory and aluminum glazing strips as shown in the detail may be provided with the doors or purchased separately by the contractor. The hardware is usually attached on the job by carpenters.

FORMICA

The Formica Insulation Company, 4620 Spring Grove Ave., Cincinnati, O.



FOR BUILDING PURPOSES

LIGHTED FALSE WINDOW FOR A LOUNGE LOBBY COVE LIGHTING SCHEME
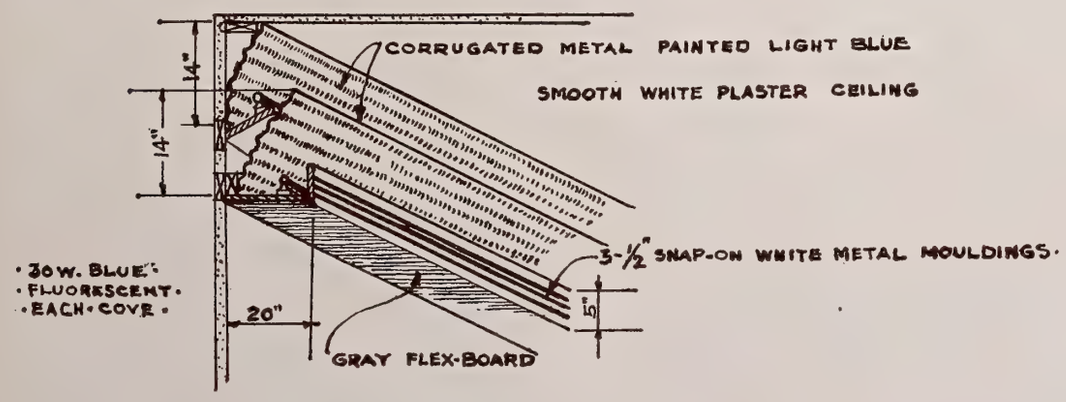
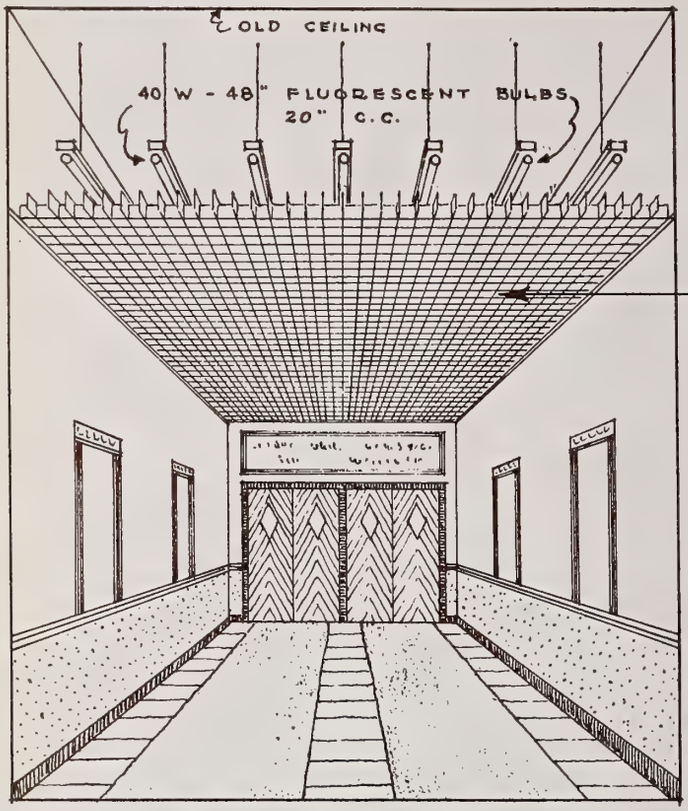
LUMINOUS CEILING ARRANGEMENT
PLASTER LIGHT COVE FOR LOBBY
LOBBY CEILING FLUORESCENT FIXTURE



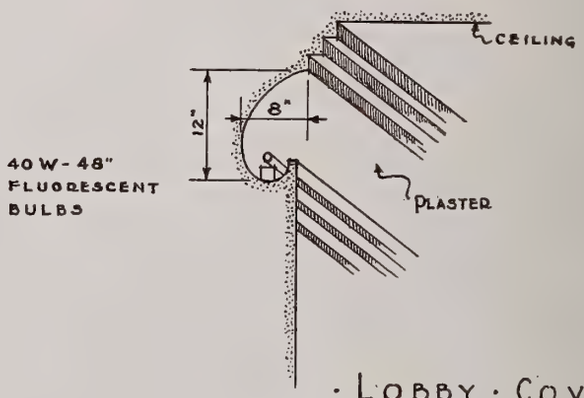
CHARLES C. BURTON
Architect & Engineer, Paramount Theatres Service Corporation

· FALSE · WINDOW · & · FLOWER · BOX ·
SCALE : ½" = 1'-0"



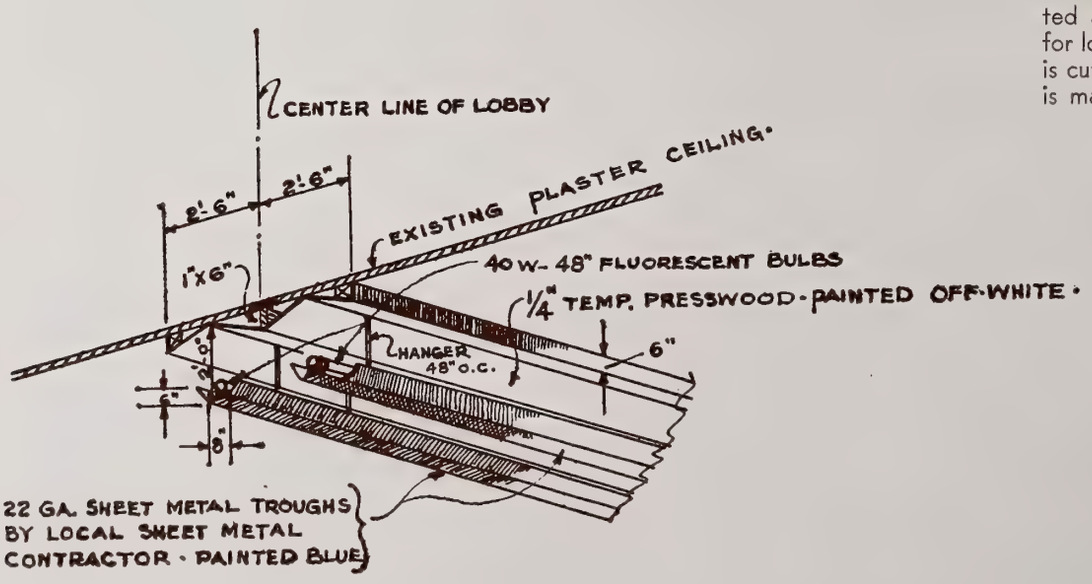
False window and flower box. I have here used the idea of a false window for small rooms, mostly in women's rooms and managers' offices in existing buildings, where the rooms have a feeling of crampedness. The false window can be used anywhere under these conditions when it is desired to replace a wall bracket. There is very little electrical work involved, the outlet box for the bracket is already installed, so a couple of hours of work by a good electrician can finish all the electrical work with time to spare. A visit to the local mill man will provide a top valance and Venetian blinds, and the local sheet metal man can build the flower pots. A local department store supplies the small drapes, and the job is completed.

· EFFECTIVE · ECONOMICAL · LOBBY · COVE · LIGHTING ·



Lobby cove lighting arrangement. This is a very economical way to obtain cove lighting and at a fraction of the cost of a plaster cove. The local sheet metal man supplies and installs the corrugated sheet metal (where local unions are not too strong I have supervised the local maintenance man in doing the work). The house electrician can make the electrical connections. Corrugated sheet metal produces a very interesting play of shade, shadows and high lighting.

Other Suggestions on following page

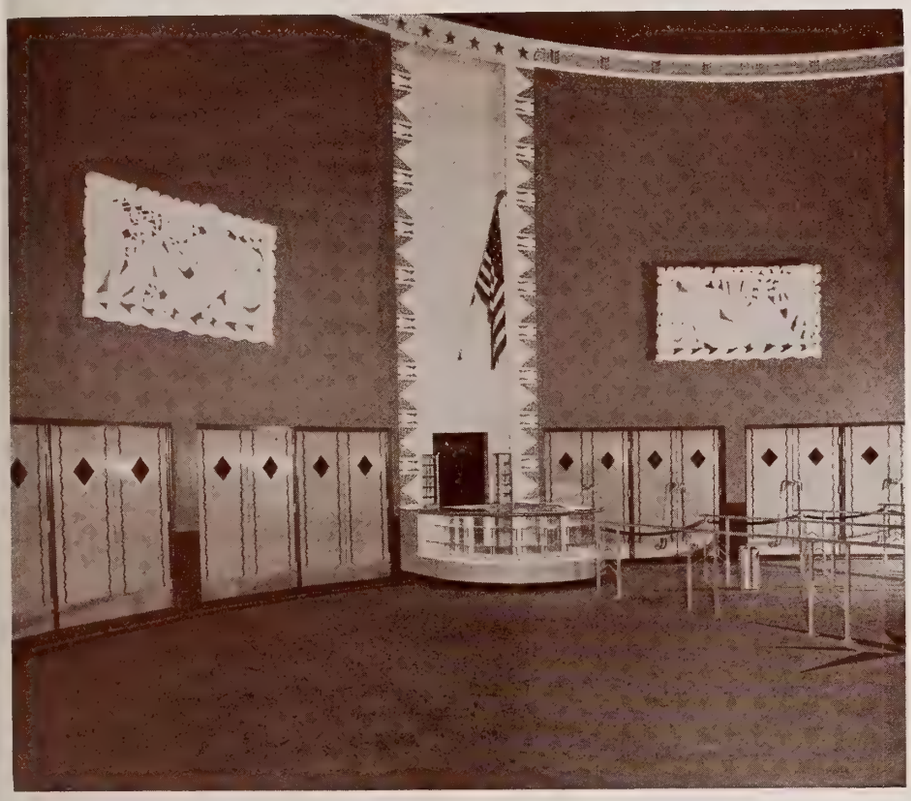


· LUMINOUS · CEILING ·

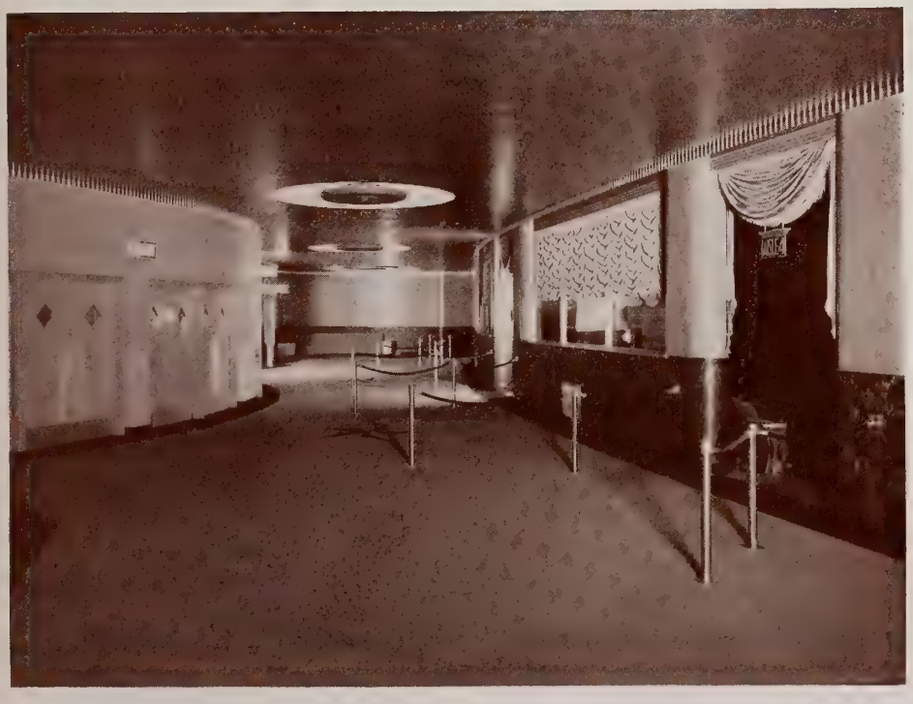
Luminous ceiling. I have used this scheme perhaps more than any other in old buildings for revamping the lobby lighting. A local carpenter supplies the labor in erecting the reflection board, a local sheet metal man supplies and erects the lighting trough. This scheme is very effective and has a minimum of electrical work, as most all lobbies have electrical outlets centered in the ceiling.

· LOBBY · COVE ·

The scheme above has been used many times when the budget permitted and is very effective for lobby coves. The wall is cut and the entire cove is made of white plaster.



· HOME-MADE · LOBBY · CEILING · FLUORESCENT · FIXTURE ·



The fluorescent fixture scheme above is useful where it is desirable to lower a very high ceiling. A limited budget mothered the idea. It can be readily applied when a plaster ceiling is too expensive. The local sheet metal man can fabricate and install sheet metal louvers of 20-gauge galvanized iron, painted white. Fluorescent lamp holders are lowered to 6 inches above the louvered ceiling. Connections are made to existing outlet boxes in the ceiling. A pleasing job at a fraction of the cost of a plaster ceiling can thus be obtained.

Carpeting

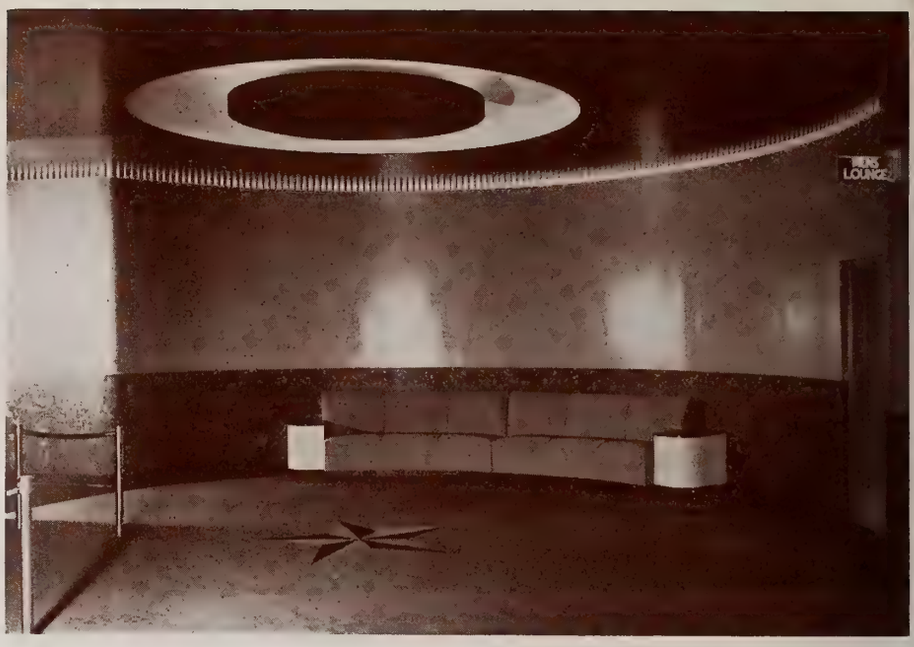
Applying Solid-Color Broadloom to the Theatre

■ Two views of the Royal Theatre in Detroit, with its continuous and "roving" lobby-foyer-lounge area having traffic lanes marked off by ornamental metallic rails. The carpeting is a solid-color broadloom in patent-back Lokweave with ornamental inserts and continuous border.

In considering carpeting for the theatre one is commonly dealing with pattern, meaning over-all pattern. There is the matter of scale in its relationship to area dimensions, the colors and the "feeling" of the patterns in relation to general interior decoration. But what of carpeting of solid color? What advises its consideration for a specific theatre? We asked H. R. Hoss, head of the contract department of the Bigelow-Sanford Carpet Company, whose line for theatres includes solid-color broadlooms in both regular and patent-back types, as well as carpeting in woven over-all designs.

"In the first place," he replied, "you get better value—that is, a more durable piece of carpeting for the price—in a solid-color broadloom than in weaves in over-all designs."

It is a point that Mr. Hoss believes is overlooked in selecting carpeting for situations which entail particularly hard usage and which also lend themselves decoratively to the use of broad expanses of one color, devoid of pattern. The reason of course is that creation of the design, with its several colors, requires steps in manufacture contributing to the total cost of production, which steps are absent in the making of broadloom. . . . Mr. Hoss continued:



There are theatres of a definite modern style which can use solid-color broadloom to advantage, and the patent-back principle permits a certain amount of variation in the field, and also effective border arrangements at a price not more than 10%, as a general thing, than the cost of regular broadloom having no variation whatever. An interesting job of this kind which we recently completed, using Lokweave patent-back carpeting in a good grade of broadloom, was in the Royal theatre in Detroit. Here we had a large, continuous lobby-foyer-lounge section to deal with, just about every square foot of it open to constant traffic, and some parts of it extremely broad, while others were narrow and confined. The solid color eliminated all scale factors and also strengthened the sweep of the floor plan. At the same time the patent-back feature allowed introduction of relief ornament here and there, and economical use of a border to give pattern to the floor.

MARKING OFF FLOOR PLAN

In such discussions in the press as patent-back carpeting has had, the idea of using insert panels to mark off certain foyer space as a lounge and also to give directional effect in theatres having a rather complicated traffic arrangement, has been brought out. There are still other functional applications that can make patent-back carpeting a solution to certain tough problems presented by the floor plan, such as where the space between the outer lobby and the auditorium really amounts to several rooms, but to partition them off would give a cramped effect. A good trick in an instance like that is to combine solid-color broadloom with pattern carpeting, breaking up this space by interrupting the pattern carpeting with a patent-back broadloom having directional inserts.

Combinations of pattern carpeting with broadloom in foyer areas have been used on a number of occasions, and right now we are carpeting a new theatre with bordered broadlooms in the main foyer space and with Wilton on the stairs.

■ Lounge area of the foyer of the Royal theatre in Detroit, showing contoured Lokweave carpeting with inserted star ornament under baffled light coffer.

ALTERNATELY TONED STEPS

Aside from serving the decorative preferences of the designer, the figured Wilton on the stairs doubtless defines the steppings more than a solid color would, reducing hazard. But this suggests another scheme in which broadloom could make stairs safer, and that is to use different solid colors on alternate steps, which can be economically done with patent-back carpet.

It should be borne in mind that with such a stair scheme the alternate colors must not be boldly contrasting, otherwise you get a strong bar effect that would tend to be confusing rather than a device with which to promote safety.

A Lokweave patent-back installation is really a tailor-made job. The carpet is designed, cut and made to fit the area, and since the border is not sewn on, but cemented to the backing with the rest of the carpeting, odd-shaped areas are readily fitted and of course there are no seams. For design inserts the extra cost is only 25c a lineal foot, and ordinarily there is no decorative reason for more than a few relatively small inserts.

The inserts or borders, in whole or in part, are easily replaced as desired because of wear or a wish to change the effect.

Not so many years ago one seldom ran across a theatre operator who would consider a solid color for his house, probably in part because he felt that plain colors showed soil more easily than all-over designs, and partly because plain colors did not strike him as being interesting or colorful enough. Today, however, we note greater receptiveness among theatre men to solid colors, which can always be considered for lounges, while certain floor plans and decorative schemes really suggest their use. When that is the case one may well take advantage of the value offered.

Illustrating how inserts for patent-back carpeting are made. These views show a Lokweave strip with pattern outlined on the back. At left a star has been cut out with a circle knife, and at right a star of another tone of carpet is being inserted, after which it is fixed with Lokweave sealer.

"BOX OFFICE" AT ANY THEATRE... BIGELOW CARPET COUNSEL

because it helps you "glamorize" your theatre with the right carpet ...at no extra cost per yard

Are you planning a new theatre? Are you modernizing your present house?

Then give yourself the immediate advantage of letting Bigelow's Carpet Counsel work on your carpet problems from the start.

Hundreds of other successful theatre operators can testify to the high quality of Bigelow Carpet . . . and to the expert advice and guidance of Carpet Counsel.

This service includes help in the selection of the right grades and patterns and colors for your spaces . . . special weaves and patterns for special problems . . . delivery on time. Consult your dealer, who will bring you to one of our offices . . . Bigelow-Sanford Carpet Co., Inc., 140 Madison Avenue, New York, N. Y.

THE SERVICES OF CONTRACT SPECIALISTS ARE AVAILABLE IN BIGELOW OFFICES IN:

ALBANY, N. Y. • ATLANTA • BOSTON • BUFFALO
CHICAGO • CINCINNATI • CLEVELAND • COLUMBUS
DALLAS • DENVER • DES MOINES • DETROIT
GRAND RAPIDS • HARTFORD • HIGH POINT, N. C.
INDIANAPOLIS • KANSAS CITY, MO. • LOS ANGELES • MEMPHIS
MILWAUKEE • MINNEAPOLIS • NEW YORK • PHILADELPHIA
PITTSBURGH • SAN FRANCISCO • SEATTLE • ST. LOUIS

ADELPHI THEATRE, CHICAGO, PAYS TRIBUTE TO LONG WEAR OF ITS BIGELOW CARPET

Bigelow Alba Wilton carpet (shown above) was laid in November, 1933 by the Reuter-Dahl-Blodgett Company of Chicago. Mr. L. Sussman, Adelphi manager reports: "We have had an approximate attendance of 5 million, which means that 10 million have walked in and out over this carpet. This does not include the wear given by ushers, janitors, electricians and patrons visiting the drinking fountain."

The Bigelow "Hartford-Saxony" rug in the lobby has been down 9 years. Mr. Sussman states: "in the writer's opinion, these carpets are good for 3 years' more service, and we compliment you on the long wearing qualities."

BIGELOW WEAVERS

THINK OF CARPET... ... THINK OF BIGELOW

CARPET COUNSEL by BIGELOW WEAVERS

Selecting Protective Mats According to Your Specific Needs

• There are various kinds of mats and matting—and at various prices, too. This article considers them in the light of the primary purposes of mats and their several price classifications

By H. BURLAND PATTERSON

THE QUESTION of what to buy for the purpose of providing what we may call underfoot protection, to take care of the problems of snow and sleet, rain and mud and grime, merits the considered thought of the theatre operator. Regardless of location, any or all of these conditions are encountered some time.

In the following discussion the reader will come upon one or more capital letters in parentheses. These refer to cost, or price, classifications. The type of product referred to is thus identified with a certain general price level. These levels are arranged as follows: (A) means highest price level; (B) medium high; (C) medium low; and (D) low. When letters are combined in parentheses, it means that the type of mat or matting referred to varies accordingly in price, due to the grades or special styles obtainable.

¶ THE VESTIBULE

Here the problem of differences in walking-surface texture, degree of slope, and appearance, in addition to the amount of traffic presents itself. A patron stepping from a cement sidewalk onto the vestibule floor encounters an entirely different medium (if there are not proper mats), one far smoother. To provide friction is therefore a primary function of rubber mats at this point, and the mat which doesn't do this, no matter how pretty, is no good for the purpose.

The mats should of course lay in recesses, the surface flush with the floor. Where recesses are not provided, the mats should have beveled edges at the approaches so that patrons will not be tripped. Mats here also begin the job of removing moisture and dirt from the shoes. Mats for this area are made in corrugated and perforated rubber types, solid rubber, and in link types of rubber and composition materials. Perforated and corrugated rubber mats come in varied designs (A), in plain and fancy colors (A, B), and lend themselves to all sorts of decorative and directional schemes. The price is governed by the design, color and thickness.

The rubber link mats (A, B), come in plain and fancy colors and also designs and are generally of one thickness. The composition link mats (A, B) are plainer in color. It should be noted that almost without exception, mats made of old tire fabrics (C) and composition materials (C) which break easily, are not recommended for theatre use. The reason is that tire fabric mats, in addition to being unsightly, are generally loosely constructed and are apt to cause women's heels to catch and also to cause stumbling by others. Breakable composition materials leave a space between the links when broken out and present the same dangers.

Solid smooth rubber matting (B, C) should only be used where there is no incline and very little bad weather conditions exist.

¶ LOBBY

Here again the problem of difference of floor texture presents itself. If there is a pronounced slope, permanent mats (A, B) should be installed in recesses or placed in a safe manner in traffic lanes. If there is not a pronounced slope, but heavy traffic, link corrugated rubber mats (A, B) are the best protection for occasional bad weather use.

For the smaller theatre with minimum budget matting runners might suffice. Rubber matting runners come in various thicknesses, widths, colors and types. Most theatres require a 3/16-inch (C) or ¼-inch (B) matting in either a standard corrugated or wide corrugated type. The wide corrugated type is seasier to clean and lies flatter; with the wide range of colors and widths it is not necessary to have incongruous color combinations or insufficient protection. The light-weight standard black corrugated runner (D) is seldom heavy enough for theatre use.

¶ CARPETED LOBBY

Here the problem is one of wear and dirt upon the surface of the carpet and furnishings in general. For heavy traffic a mat is usually placed permanently in a recess or cut-out inside the entrance doors. This should be large enough for a person to take at least two steps on it before stepping onto the carpet.

Among the materials suitable for covering the traffic lane on the carpet are "KLeerflax" (A), a very substantial varicolored flax matting in widths up to 12 feet; and "Skandia-Flax" (B), a similar product in simpler colors; a "Waite-Sisal" matting (B), of good durability and available in widths to 12 feet and a wide range of plain colors; cocoa matting (C, D), coming in various widths, colors and designs. Cocoa matting is a lighter-weight product and can give acceptable service only in the smaller theatre. For larger carpeted areas, among other products there is "Cordemon Carpets" (D), a flexible canvas-like material which should be fastened securely to the carpet with fasteners provided for this purpose. This can be sewn together into various widths and large over-all patterns. All of the above products serve satisfactorily in their respective fields as temporary carpet coverings.

[The author has been identified with the rubber and composition floor coverings field for many years, and has laid out such installations for many theatres.]

This group of pictures illustrates the primary function of rubber mats in the entrance area, covering the path of a patron's progress to foyer, stepping from a high-friction cement sidewalk into a vestibule. Mats provide friction comparable to that of the sidewalk, and door saddles and mat-recess dividers should not defeat that purpose. Lobby mats should also be efficient in scraping dirt and grime from the shoes in order to serve their other purpose of protecting the interior furnishings, particularly the carpeting.

PHOTOS BY STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER

"Biggest crowd we've had since we gave away the 1479 St. Bernard dogs!"

THERE are certain things which draw patrons to your theatre like a magnet attracts steel chips. One of these is an interior that glows with color and life. Sparkling wall panels of Pittsburgh Mirrors . . . cheerful PC Glass Blocks for daylight and decoration . . . the brilliance of rich, colored Plate Glass . . . things like these give your foyer and rest rooms the kind of interiors which help you get the edge on competition. Interiors which set your theatre apart in people's minds as "the place to go."

Call in a design expert and let him show you the possibilities of Pittsburgh Glass. If you need help in getting in touch with a qualified interior designer or architect, we will be glad to help you. Pittsburgh Glass Products are available the country over through leading glass jobbers and mirror manufacturers, as well as through our own branches.

Look what Glass can do to give a theatre lobby personality! This is a section of the foyer of the West Twins Theatre, St. Paul, Minn. Architect Perry E. Crosier has used many panels of Pittsburgh Mirrors to give the lobby the atmosphere of smartness and gayety that attracts patrons.

For best results . . . use

PITTSBURGH GLASS

MIRRORS • PLATE GLASS • CARRARA

"PITTSBURGH" stands for Quality Glass and Paint

Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company
2089-1 Grant Bldg., Pittsburgh, Pa.

Please send me, without obligation, your free, illustrated book "Better Interiors for Better Business . . . with Glass".

Name_____

Theatre Name _____

Address_____

City_____ State_____

" . . today the theatre must assure its public breathing comfort."

■ ■ ■

Figuring the Maintenance Factor In Planning for Air-Conditioning

● Offering actual figures on costs to dispel some of the mystery of what theatre air-conditioning really means to the operating budget of the theatre

By J. T. KNIGHT, JR.

MOST OF THE brow-furrowing done in planning a major equipment installation is caused by the costs. Initial cost is just one phase of costs and is important; it is not, however, the most important cost. Initial cost is no mystery —it can easily be determined, and knowing the initial cost we can figure 5% or 10% of it as a yearly fixed charge as necessary return on investment. But cost of operation and cost of maintenance form a large part of our costs, and it is these two divisions of the total cost that have been so definitely confusing to the prospective buyer.

Very little data has been made available to the theatre operator on the costs of air-conditioning except by the sellers of air-conditioning equipment, and it is only natural that such figures should not be accepted entirely on their face value, since they are frequently presented as a sales argument. Manufacturers of air-conditioning equipment should now realize that thinking theatre operators nowadays don't have to be "sold" on air-conditioning; the very history of air-conditioning in relation to the theatre industry speaks so loud in favor of air-conditioning that selling the idea is a fact accomplished. The Air-Conditioning Equipment Manufacturers Association could very profitably afford to gather together some down to earth facts and figures on operating costs, including labor, material and power costs, and on depreciation rates, which is an important item of overall costs; and on maintenance costs, which should include everything, such as freon replacement, instrument repair, lubricating oil and general repairs and renewal items. All of the above should be reduced to a per ton and per seat and per operating hour unit value. With this sort of information many of the ghosts and hobgoblins of air-conditioning would fade.

During the past season the writer has had an unusual opportunity to study the cost of maintaining air-conditioning equipment and I am going to give you some facts pertinent to maintenance costs. These costs I believe to be typical and proper to apply to any central air-conditioning installations. It will probably be another year before similar facts are available on operating costs, but plans are definitely in progress so that we can count on definite information in the not-too-distant future.

A Composite Example

The following data applies to a situation composed of twenty-eight theatres located in a section of the country where air-conditioning is required about eight months out of the twelve months. All of these theatres have central air-conditioning plants. Three of the theatres have CO_2 plants, one has a centrifugal compressor, and the balance are freon jobs. Of the freon jobs there are four leading makes of equipment represented, and the freon jobs are from one to six years old. The CO_2 plants are about twelve to fifteen years old, and the centrifugal job fifteen years old.

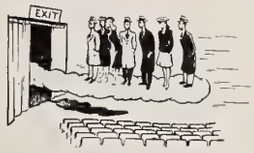
The twenty-eight theatres contain 33,801 seats, and the total refrigeration tonnage is 2,290.

The smallest theatre in the group has 450 seats and a 30-ton plant, while the largest has 3,400 seats and a 225-ton plant. Between these two extremes you can understand that the cross-section is quite typical.

All but one of the freon plants might be classified as automatic in operation. All compressors are electric motor-driven. One plant has well water for condensing purposes, two plants have natural draft or atmospheric towers, one plant has an induced draft tower, and the remainder have evaporative condensers. One freon plant has a storage tank for cold water for indirect cooling as well as direct expansion coils, all the rest of the plants have direct expansion only

Maintenance Costs

The servicing of these plants was undertaken after a period of two years of operating under the unsatisfactory supervision, therefore the plants were not in A-1 condition at the beginning of this period.



The figures below include the expense of pre-season repairs, the operating season repairs, and maintenance, including replacement of refrigerant and lubricating oil and all supplies of every nature, and the shut-down seasons costs. Basically these costs represent every item except electric current and water costs. Of course items of interest on investment and depreciation, which are fixed charges, are not included, nor do these figures include the salary of engineers or any others of the regular theatre staff. Two field men were required most of the season and their salary and board, lodging and travel expense amounted to $5,585. We will call this a service charge. The unit charges for service were:

worried about the draft?

TURN TO GE

Movie patrons are the most fickle people in the world. Sometimes even a few wafts of extra hot or cold air carry them right out to be seen no more!...Then there's objectionable stale air, and improper humidity...nothing like these to pull patrons out of a theatre. (As if you didn't know!)

Now if you're worried about one of these conditions, or any combination of them, turn to General Electric. All the improved apparatus you need for a 1941 air conditioning system can be had through G-E—condensing units, controls, compressors; water conserving devices; oil or gas fired units for winter air conditioning—whatever you need!

Get an all year 'round, efficient system by the world's largest electrical manufacturer—who has gained an enviable reputation in commercial refrigeration and air conditioning through 25 years of research, manufacture, sales and installation.

There's a complete G-E brochure, "Air Conditioning for Business," that you should own. Send for yours today. Read it, and then call in your local engineer or contractor to discuss a G-E installation. It's the first step toward making your air conditioning headaches disappear!

GENERAL ELECTRIC COMPANY
Div. 157, Bloomfield, N. J.
Please let me have your brochure, "Air Conditioning for Business," by return mail.

*Name*_____

*Address*_____

*City*_____ *State*_____

GENERAL ELECTRIC

AIR CONDITIONING

Per seat, $.164; per ton, $2.44. Other charges were:

Freon replacement	$1,921.00
Dieline replacement	748.00
CO_2 replacement	343.00
Total refrigerant replacement	$3,012.00
Refrigerant replacement per seat	$ .089
Refrigerant replacement per ton	1.32

General replacement, which includes all repairs, renewals, oil, tools, instruments, controls, some minor changes in ducts, location of outlets, in fact every other charge to the various plants, amounted to $13,769. Thus we have a unit charge for general replacement of 40c per seat, and $6 per ton.

To summarize:

Service charge per seat	$0.164
Refrigerant replacement per seat	0.089
General replacement per seat	0.40
Total per seat	$0.653
Service charge per ton	$2.44
Refrigerant replacement per ton	1.32
General replacement per ton	6.00
Total per ton	$9.76

Let's carry the analysis a step further: Of the total tonnage there is 350 tons of CO_2 equipment, and 150 tons of centrifugal equipment, or a total 500 tons of other than freon equipment. The total tonnage is 2,290 tons, therefore the non-freon equipment is only 22% of the total. Yet the cost of replacement of refrigerant of the non-freon equipment was $1,191.00 of the total of $3,012.00, or 39.5% of the refrigerant costs.

What Figures Show

The conclusion to be drawn from this is that because of the vast improvement in freon equipment and the more satisfactory pressure ranges, the cost of refrigerant replacement is less on freon plants. This is particularly interesting in light of the fact that the non-freon plants were all attended by operating engineers.

Another point is that in the general replacement items the expenditures on the non-freon plants represent $4,043, or 29.4%, which again reflects credit in favor of the freon jobs.

With the above figures, plus current charges, plus any house salaries that might be charged to the operation, we would have total operating costs.

Remember that these plants were not in the condition at the beginning of this period that they are today, and in the above figures are amounts representing some neglect during the previous two years. Now at this writing these plants really are in A-1 shape, the compressor rooms are painted and the equipment looks as if it were aboard a Navy ship, it is so well cared for. There is every expectation that the above costs will be reduced by at least 30% during the coming season.

It is hoped that with these facts some of the mystery of after-installation costs of air-conditioning has been dissipated.

GETTING AND APPLYING

A Practical Understanding Of Theatre Air-Conditioning

(Continued from page 10)

coils were for use with hot or cold water, and I'll explain why in a moment.

The system was designed to keep an inside summer temperature of 80° with about 50% Relative Humidity. Sixteen thousand cubic feet of air per minute were circulated by the fan against the static pressure (friction to me and probably also to you) of the ducts, coils, and filters. The coils had a cooling capacity equal to the effect of melting 40 tons of ice.

Before we start talking about some of the more complicated equipment it should be stated that I relied somewhat on the judgment of Mr. Boester as to size and kind best for my needs.

Storage refrigeration is a principle familiar to many BETTER THEATRES readers. It's simply the employment of a relatively small compressor, operating for a longer period to make and store up the refrigeration energy needed during the short hours the theatre is operated. The advantages have proved manifold. It saved on power by cutting my total connected horsepower from 50 to 20; the demand charge was therefore just that much less, and the kilowatts of energy were no more than for a full capacity, direct expansion system. I also liked the idea of the small compressor because I can get parts for it from stock at nearby Charlotte, N. C., in case I ever do need parts for it. The compressor has an ice-making capacity of 10 tons every 24 hours. It is powered by a 15-horsepower motor which also drives the fan of a uniquely designed saturated air-cooled condenser. The compressor, motor, condenser, and receiver were all built into a compact unit to fit in a special place in the small basement.

The basement was too tiny for the ice-accumulating and storage tank, so we excavated a tank in the basement floor about 8 feet wide, 15 feet long, and 9 feet deep. This was the size of the tank inside, which was made of water-tight concrete. Because it was in the ground I was told no insulation was needed, so I saved money.

The next procedure was to secure the evaporator coils in the tank which made the ice. I bought the copper tubing and the return bends, and with the help of a good welder from a local garage we made the coils. Really it was so simple that my young son caught on how to weld up the return bends, and from then on he was an enthusiastic helper on the whole job. I was told that ice evaporator coils have a high freight rate because of the bulk rather than the weight so I made another saving in money here.

Oh, yes, the coils had leaks, but only at seven out of some 1,600 welds on the coils. We tested for leaks with dry CO_2 gas and repaired the leaks. Also, the coils developed two leaks because of unavoidable rough-handling when placed in the tank. These leaks were found on a Sunday morning when the welder was at church, and it surely was fun to watch Boester in his bare skin go down in the tank of water between the coils to repair the leaks!

Piping the System

Now that the coils and compressor unit were in place, we began the job of piping up the system. We ran a 2-inch copper suction line between the ice coil suction manifolds and the compressor. In this line we placed a huge drier (more about this in a minute), then between the drier and the coils a hand shut-off valve of the packless type. This valve could serve to isolate the drier by closing it and the suction stop valve on the compressor. The drier could then be removed and regenerated. It was filled with coarse grade silica gel (it looks like ice cream salt). This stuff has the wonderful ability of absorbing any water that is in or gets in refrigerating systems.

As careful as we were it is a good thing we used the drier. It was 3 inches in diameter and 36 inches long. We made it ourselves out of a piece of iron pipe and steel caps screwed on with litharge. Steel wool and a piece of fine mesh screen was put at each end. The coarse grade silica gel permitted the refrigerant to go through the drier with less pressure drop. You certainly could tell when the drier was working because it would become warm as the latent heat in the water was changed to sensible heat as the water was trapped out of the refrigerant gas by the silica gel. Water can cause lots of trouble in cooling systems if it freezes and sticks the valves open or closed. Water is rarely present in large amounts, yet I found out that one very tiny drop can foul an expansion valve.

We next piped up the refrigerant liquid line. This was three-quarters of an inch in size. The expansion valves of the multi-outlet type were used. Three eight port valves served six four circuit coils. Insert type remote bulbs gave much closer expansion valve control. By proper setting of the expansion valve super heat adjust, the valves were quite sensitive also to coil pressure and thereby gave more critical valve control.

Those expansion valves were interesting. It is wonderful how those things meter the flow of freon to the ice coils in just the right amount, according to the load on the coils. If they had fed too much freon, the refrigerant would flood back and damage the compressor. Freon should be fed just fast enough to be boiled into freon gas by the heat picked up in changing the water into ice. The heat of the water warms the coils and the warm coil boils the freon, for freon, you know, boils at 20° below zero. This heat-carrying freon gas is then pumped out of the coils by the compressor, where it is compressed and thereby raised in temperature and pressure so then it can give up its heat in the condenser and condense into liquid freon and be circulated again to pick up more heat. The heat from the hot freon gas is surrendered to the air blowing over the condensing coil, and losing its heat in this way it becomes a liquid again.

Protective Measures

I'm getting a little bit ahead of my story. After the expansion valves were in place we put in strainers ahead of each valve to protect it from being fouled by dirt. We then installed a sight glass so we could always see that liquid freon was flowing to the expansion valves. A solid flow of liquid freon is important. For if freon gas is mixed with the liquid it cuts down the valve capacity, also the high gas velocity through the valve opening eats out the seat of the opening and then a leaky valve develops and you lose control and flood the coils with freon, which will slop over, hurting the compressor by breaking its valves.

Next comes a master strainer of the cleanable type, then an electric magnet valve, then a hand stop valve, then a charging valve, and finally the receiver valve. There was also installed a heat exchanger between the suction and liquid refrigerant lines. The cool, wet freon suction gas cools the warm freon liquid further and in turn the heat from the warm liquid heats and dries the suction gas, increasing the system efficiency and preventing a possible damage to the compressor.

We next installed an oil separator in the hot freon gas discharge line between the compressor and condensing coil. The only place oil belongs in a refrigerating system is in the crankcase of the compressor, and this device keeps it there. Hot freon gas and oil mix freely, so the trap catches it and returns it to the crankcase of the compressor. A hand stop valve was placed in the liquid freon line between the condenser coil and the receiver. We could thus isolate the freon charge, store it there over winter or during any time repair to the system was needed.

A thermostat of the remote bulb type placed near the ice coils controls the ice thickness and operates the magnet valve in the freon liquid line. When this valve is closed by the thermostat because of ice thickness, the compressor pumps the freon gas out of the ice coils and shut off on low pressure by a pressure switch. When the magnet valve is opened by the thermostat, freon liquid flows again, the coil pressure builds up, and the pressure switch starts the compressor.

With the refrigerating system in place we put some special water piping in to control the flow of water in the tank so the ice would melt fast enough to cool the water. This cold water was pumped through the water coils in the air stream, thereby cooling and dehumidifying (condensing water out of it) the air. The pump circulating this ice water to the coils was started and stopped by a combination thermostat and humidistat known as a "Comfortrol" and calibrated in Effective Temperature. The pump was also controlled by a winter "Comfortrol" because, by a special piping arrangement, the same pump circulated hot water through these same coils. I practically got my winter heating system free because all I had to buy was a compact all steel oil-fired boiler to heat the water in winter. An immersion thermostat in the boiler controls the oil burner.

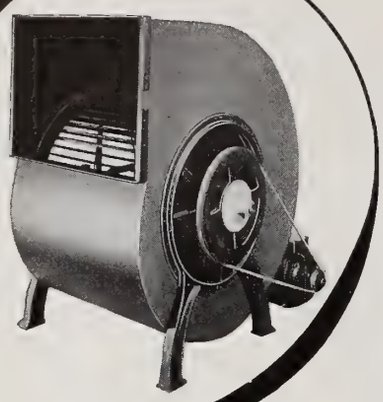
One of the problems in winter air-conditioning which I solved was that of overheating in winter. As many other exhibi-

END UNCOMFORTABLE AIR CONDITIONS IN YOUR THEATRE WITH ANEMOSTAT DRAFTLESS AIR DIFFUSERS!

Ceiling ANEMOSTATS installed in both Orchestra and Lobby of new Hollywood Theatre, Sioux Falls, S. D.— Harold Spitznagel, Architect; Rose & Harris, Engineers.

"NO AIR CONDITIONING SYSTEM IS BETTER THAN ITS AIR DISTRIBUTION"

DRAFTS, wide temperature differences and other uncomfortable conditions in a theatre that has an air conditioning, air heating, cooling or ventilating system, are invariably due to one thing—inadequate means of introducing and distributing the air from the system.



With old fashioned grilles or registers, which merely cover the duct openings while permitting the air to pass through, you are bound to get swiftly moving currents of air, marked variations in temperature and improper air distribution.

You can end these conditions quickly and at reasonable cost by simply equipping all air supply outlets with modern, scientifically designed ANEMOSTATS. These units take the high velocity air from the ducts and diffuse it in a way that positively eliminates drafts and equalizes temperature and humidity throughout the entire conditioned or ventilated area.

ANEMOSTATS have ended air distribution troubles for many theatres all over the country. In newly installed systems their use is now practically a rule.

WRITE TODAY FOR FULL ANEMOSTAT DETAILS

ANEMOSTAT
CORPORATION OF AMERICA
Dep't B, 10 East 39th Street New York, N. Y.
Representatives in Principal Cities

Prevent Next Summer's Box Office Beating Now!

Keep that business you could never hold before. Follow the lead of the many theatres which have installed

REYNOLDS BLOWERS

Decide right now to cool and ventilate your theatre economically.

12 sizes from 1,500 cfm to 30,000 cfm only $22.50 up, including variable speed drive, belts and motor pulleys. Equipped with Fafnir ball bearings set in solid rubber pillow blocks. Write for folder.

Also used for exhaust, circulating warm air in winter, and with washed air and refrigeration.

REYNOLDS MFG. CO.
412 Prospect Ave., N. E.
Grand Rapids, Michigan

BEN SCHLANGER
Theatre Architect • Consultant

¶ Serving the exhibitor and the builder everywhere. Address inquiries to—

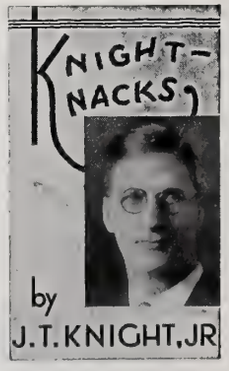
Ben Schlanger
117 W. 46th St., New York City

tors undoubtedly have experienced, it is necessary to maintain somewhere between 68° and 74° temperature inside, depending on the severity of the weather outside, with only maybe as few as 25 people in the theatre. Then with the early evening box office rush of some five to six hundred people, the temperature in a very short time rises very rapidly to a point where all the patrons are most uncomfortable. Since we do not as a rule like to keep the summer refrigerating system ready for operation for such occasions some other way had to be worked out to restore a proper comfort condition. Many times in the past we would simply introduce outside air, which created quite a sensation of drafts and was very undesirable from the viewpoint of the patrons.

In this particular installation we whipped this problem by installing and operating a large exhaust fan, pulling air up through the attic space from the auditorium. Of course, this meant the replenishing of air, for every cubic foot that was exhausted had to be supplied from somewhere. This also was still outside air, but it was brought in through the outside air intake of the conditioning system and very gently heated by the heating coil, so that there would be no severity of temperature difference when such outside air was introduced into the theatre air. By tempering this air we avoided the sensation of drafts and yet at the same time provided the equivalent of a refrigeration effect to offset the sudden heat gain as a result of a large number of people coming in a very short time.

We all know that to maintain a comfortable condition for 25 people or so during the period from 5 to 7 o'clock means that a certain amount of heat is also stored in the walls, seats and the like in the building, to say nothing of, in a sense, a certain amount of heat also stored in the large quantity of air in the theatre proper; and so while this heat has been necessary for the comfort of the 25 people it is entirely too much for the larger number of people, and we compensated for this difficulty as described above.

All in all, we surely had a wonderful experience. You bet we had trouble. We lost some freon, got water in the system, the controls would stick once in a while, but because I put it in I was familiar with the system and learned where and how to shoot trouble. I saved plenty on service calls by knowing how to fix things myself —and best of all, because of this my customers were never without cooling or heating long. It was a swell experience and I'm going to do it again soon. It was indeed profitable and I'd recommend the idea to anyone providing they have, as Mr. Boester specified, "tolerance and a will to understand."



What did it cost, you ask? For a 100% full year-around air-conditioning system the cost was $5,487, heating and cooling complete.

An Open Letter to Those Who Start Air-Conditioning This Year

THIS IS AN open letter to the fortunate theatre managers of the country who are getting new air-conditioning plants in their theatres this season. There are a lot of 'em called Bill. So——

Dear Bill:

Coincident with the public interest and the marked improvement in the methods of air-conditioning, your management recognizes the necessity of air-conditioning for your theatre. Therefore, your theatre, your business home, has been selected and will be completely air-conditioned in time for the coming warm weather — and also for the cold weather which is to come next winter. The system which has been selected and especially designed to meet your particular requirements will provide the best available today for the promotion of the health and comfort of your patrons. It should prove a very definite business asset to you and you should familiarize yourself and your patrons with what to expect from it. I recommend that you read carefully the following.

•

In order to understand something of air-conditioning, you must understand some often used term of the business. Just as the theatre business has certain terms and expressions common to it, so has air-conditioning. These are important (and there's really nothing tricky about them):

Dry-Bulb Temperature—The air temperature by the ordinary thermometer—it is not affected by the moisture contained in the air nor by the motion of the air.

Comfort Zone—This is a range of temperature and air motion, taking into consideration moisture contained in the air, over which the majority of your patrons will feel comfortable.

Effective Temperature—An arbitrary index of the degree of warmth or cold felt by the human body in response to temperature, relative Humidity and the movement of air, all combined into a single value.

Humidity—This refers to the water vapor mixed with the air. Relative Humidity is the Humidity expressed as a percentage of the total amount the air could hold.

Wet-Bulb Temperature—This is the lowest temperature which a "water-wetted" surface will attain when exposed to the air. It is important in air-conditioning because it is a measure of the total heat in the air.

Solar radiation—Means the heat absorbed from the sun's rays and radiated from the walls and ceiling into your theatre. The sunny side wall of your theatre may be hotter by 20° over the temperature of the outside air.

•

Now your new system for conditioning your theatre will consist generally of three component parts: (1) Refrigerating plant, (2) air treating plant, (3) air distribution system.

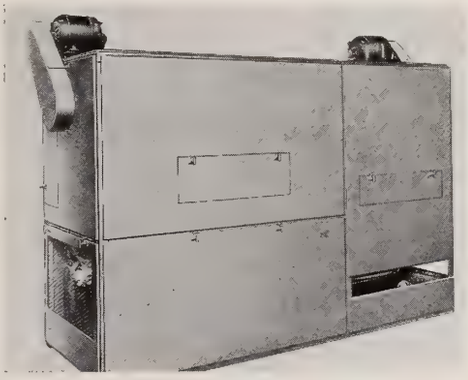
While refrigerating plants vary in mechanical details, they fundamentally perform the same function. You have a right to all possible data on your plant.

Your air treatment plant will consist of apparatus for cleaning, cooling, heating, de-humidifying and humidifying and a blower to force the air into the distribution system. In this operation adequate means have been provided for the introduction of fresh air from the outside into the system. By means of controls that are more accurate and more sensitive than human beings, the proper temperature, humidity and mixture of fresh and recirculated air will be maintained. Have faith in these controls and give them a real chance before you criticize or condemn them.

The air distribution system consists of a scientifically designed net work of sheet metal ducts with splitters and dampers located at strategic points and louvers or grilles at the air outlets to diffuse and mix the heated air with the air in the theatre.

•

Fundamentally, you are a typical American Business Man, while your patrons are not primarily interested in temperature, humidity air motion, dust removal or other theoretical considerations of air-conditioning; yet you are interested in keeping and being comfortable.



Your new plant is going to depend largely upon you—your intelligence, your co-operation, your appreciation of what it can do for you—and this will determine its final degree of satisfaction, its lifetime, its cost of maintenance, and its cost of operation. —J. T. K.

New Conditioning Unit Available in Six Capacities

AIR-CONDITIONING units providing direct expansion cooling with compressor-condensing equipment built into the assembly, have been developed for marketing under the trade-name of "Refrigerated Kooler-Aire" by the United States Air-Conditioning Corporation of Minneapolis, also manufacturers of Kooler-Aire air washers and of blowers.

The new Kooler-Aire equipment is available in six cooling capacities, from 5 to 25 tons refrigeration.

The fan equipment, of squirrel-cage type, handles 2,000 cubic feet per minute in the 5-ton size, and 10,000 in the largest. Com-pressor and motor are mounted on heavy channel iron, with sliding rails for the motor, which is 3-phase, 60-cycle, 220-volt. Lubrication is by forced feed through drilled crankshaft.

The direct expansion coils are copper-finned with staggered copper tubes, each row welded into suction headers on the return side and fed counter-flow into each tube from the expansion valves, which have dispensing feeders to each individual coil row. The cooling coil is fitted into a heavy galvanized iron condensation pan with drain to condenser water tank. The controls provide automatic cutoff for high and low pressure, interlocking with the motor control switch, which has under-voltage and overload protection.

CATALOG COMMENT

WATER PUMPS

AMONG THE recent catalog issues of the Worthington Pump & Machinery Corporation, Harrison, N. J., the Carbondale Division of which is a leading source of air-conditioning compressors and condensers, there is a most interesting one on pumps. In practical terms such a reputation means successful experience, and in the final analysis that is what we pay for when we buy successful operation.

With air-conditioning becoming really a necessity in theatres, no longer to be con-

TO GET THEIR Cooling Equipment IN SHAPE FOR Bigger SUMMER PROFITS

You get more Comfort Cooling for your money from USAIRCO — efficient layout, 17 years of engineering experience and modern cooling equipment, simply designed for low-cost, trouble-free operation. Regardless of the size or design of your house, USAIRCO has the system that will give Comfort Cooling that earns profits.

Kooler-aire Evaporative Cooling* — The finest low-cost comfort cooling. 100% fresh air is cooled, washed, cleaned and filtered — a complete air change every 2½ minutes or oftener. Kooler-aire effects temperature reductions from 10-25 degrees below outside reading, depending on climatic conditions. Equipped with Hydraulic Variable Speed Pulley and Dual Deflectors.

Cold Water Kooler-aire* — Where cold water (55°) is economically available, Cold Water Kooler-aire is the ideal cooling system — a combination of 100% fresh air, washed, filtered, cooled and dehumidified for complete comfort. A complete air change every 4 to 5 minutes.

Easy to Buy with USAIRCO's Convenient Finance Plan. USAIRCO Engineers have made a host of improvements in low cost Comfort Cooling. Write for this book and get all the facts.

USAIRCO Theatre AIR CONDITIONING

UNITED STATES AIR CONDITIONING CORP.
NORTHWESTERN TERMINAL, MINNEAPOLIS, MINN GA-341
Send me your Book on Theatre Air Conditioning.
Name .....
Theatre .....
Town ..... State .....

» Savings on Everything in « MODERN AIR-CONDITIONING
Anything from a blower to a complete electric system for any size auditorium, at savings of from 25% to 40% NOW!
SEND FOR ILLUSTRATED CATALOG
S. O. S. CINEMA SUPPLY CORP.
636 Eleventh Ave., N. Y. C., Cable: "Sosound"

READ THE ADS—
they're news!
. . . and if you don't see what you are looking for, write BETTER THEATRES, Rockefeller Center, N. Y. . . . If you prefer, use the coupon on page 56.

sidered a novelty or just a refinement in theatre operation, the question of water for condensing purposes or for cooling is of vital importance. With a recent article in this department I submitted a map which can be used to indicate to the theatre operator his chances of successfully topping sub-surface sources of water. If it is decided to have a well, no finer—nor, in the long run, no more economical equipment—can be specified for handling water supply than Worthington turbine pumping equipment.

Worthington turbine pumps may be had either water- or oil-lubricated (the writer recommends the oil-lubricated), a type and size for all well requirements, and a wide variety of arrangements for motor drives, engine drives and belt drives sufficient to satisfy any installation requirements. In addition to the equipment, they supply excellent engineering advice and recommendations, as I know from actual experience.

An Example of Savings

While we're on this subject, let's look at a typical problem:

Water required for condensing purposes, 150 gallons per minute.

Water rate $1.10 per 1,000 cubic feet.

Cost of water per hour $\frac{1{,}200 \times $1.10}{1{,}000} = $1.32.$

The air-conditioning equipment operates 10 hours per day—

$1.32 × 10 = $13.20 cost per day

The air-conditioning equipment operates 70 days per year—

$13.20 × 70 = $924 cost per year (city water)

Compared with a Worthington pump and a well—

150 gallons per minute against 50 pounds discharge pressure from 100 foot well with a 30 foot draw down.

Consumption 150 gallons per minute (g.p.m.) = 1,200 cubic feet per hour.

Electric power used:

$$\frac{150 \text{ g.p.m.} \times (50 \text{ lbs.} \times 2.31 + 30 \text{ feet})}{3{,}960 \times 58\frac{1}{2}\%} = 9.42 \text{ effective h.p.}$$

Current (at 2½c per kilowatt hour)—

9.42 e.h.p. × .746 = 7.027 Kw.

7.027 × .025 = $1.756 cost per hour—

Cost per 10*-hour day—*

$.1756 × 10 = $1.756 cost per day

Cost for 70 days—

$1.756 × 70 = $122.92

Figure the well and equipment cost $40 per gallon ready to run.

Cost of well $40 × 150 g.p.m. = $6,000.

Interest on investment @ 5%	$300.00
Depreciation and maintenance @ 7%	420.00
Electric power	122.92
	$842.92
COST OF CITY WATER	$924.00
COST OF WELL WATER	842.92
	$81.08

How to Figure Water Costs

The above is very conservative figuring and does not completely indicate the advantages of such an installation. With such a well and pump there is no reason why it should not supply all water requirements for the theatre the year around and thereby create savings in operation which would be very attractive. Here is how to figure your own water costs:

1. Total yearly cost of purchasing water: Yearly consumption in cubic feet × water rate per 1,000 cubic feet =
2. Total yearly cost of power to operate your own pump: Yearly consumption in cubic feet × total head = ?

   ———————————
   1,000,000
3. Gallons per minute (g.p.m.): Yearly consumption in cubic feet × 7.48 gal. per cu. ft. = ?

   ———————————
   working hours per year × 60 minutes
4. Initial cost of well and pump with motor ready to run: G.P.M. × $40.00 = ?
5. Yearly interest on initial cost: 5% of Item 4.
6. Yearly depreciation and maintenance: 7% of Item 4.
7. Total yearly cost of pumping water:
   Item 2 ————
   Item 5 ————
   Item 6 ————
   Total ————
8. Your reduced water costs:
   Item 1 ————
   Minus Item 7 ———— Savings ————
9. Percent. savings: Item 8 divided by Item 1.

There is one other important type of pump that can be put to useful service in a theatre—the sump pump. When due to seepage or other conditions where water collects in a sump below the sewer well, the Worthington No. 5 sump pump will admirably handle the situation. Sump pumps may be had in one-, two- or three-stage types to handle from 5 to 40 gallons per minute. They are automatic and operate from a float switch. —J. T. Knight, Jr.

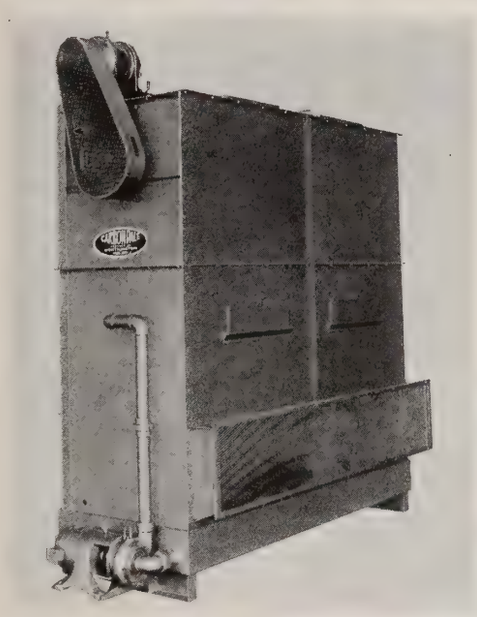
AIR-CONDITIONING EQUIPMENT for Every Theatre Need

¶ A Review of air treatment and ventilating devices reflecting advances in today's methods of efficiently supplying conditioned air to theatres of all capacties, classes and locations

CARBONDALE

THE LINE of machinery and mechanical accessories manufactured by the Worthington Pump & Machinery Corporation of Harrison, N. J., with its Carbondale Division, includes every air-conditioning application, from the smallest to the largest commercial and industrial requirements. For the larger theatres, the line provides a centrifugal type cooling system notable not only for its flexibility, but for the compactness of its streamlined design (this newer addition to Worthington-Carbondale products, obtainable in capacities from 150 to 650 tons of refrigeration, was pictured and described in the January issue).

The 30- to 60-ton freon refrigeration machine illustrated here is the model most generally suited to theatre needs, being adapted to the variable load requirements of seating capacities from 700 to 1,200. Employing a V-type 4-cylinder compressor equipped with Worthington "Feather" valves designed to give maximum efficiency at the highest speeds, this model can be supplied either with a horizontal, cleanable type of shell-and-tube condenser mounted on the unit, or for use with the shower condenser cited below. Automatic unloader devices permit fullest flexibility in capacity through four steps—25%, 50%, 75% and 100%.



Thirty-to-sixty-ton model refrigerating machine.

Application of this model to gas engine drive is noted elsewhere in this issue (PAGE 8), and it is similarly available for use with Diesel power equipment.

Worthington-Carbondale shower condensers, available up to 128 tons capacity, provide gas-cooling means requiring a minimum of water. The saving of water is rated at 95%. The shower condensers have heavy casing construction (rated as being heavier, due to factory production methods, than similar housing fabricated "on the job") and each section of the casing is "Bonderized" by the Parker process, at the factory, to prevent rust and corrosion.

The Worthington-Carbondale line also includes a full range of air-conditioners providing in compact, factory-cased units, equipment for cooling, heating, filtering, humidifying and circulating the air. These Shower type condenser.

conditioners are available in both horizontal and vertical models, and for floor or suspended installation, to meet varying space and structural conditions. In capacities up to 30 tons each, and with up to 12,000 cubic feet per minute flow capacity, these units have large, slow-speed freon-12 compressor, and can be equipped either with direct expansion or with chilled water coils. Precise adjustment to theatre capacity is obtained by fitting the unit with a coil exactly suited to the load—there are from three to eight rows of cooling coils for each of the five sizes of the unit—and the refrigerating unit is similarly matched to each step. The casings are of 12- and 14-guage galvanized steel and are completely "Bonderized."

Air-conditioning unit equipment.

(Also see discussion of water pump equipment in "J. T. K.'s Catalog Comment" on page 00.)

GENERAL ELECTRIC

AVAILABLE from any responsible distributor of heating, ventilating and air-conditioning equipment (instead of certain authorized dealers only), the line of General Electric air-treatment equipment includes refrigeration machines, condensers, heat transfer coils, self-contained air-conditioners, and oil- or gas-fired boilers.

Refrigeration machines, combining with condensing units up to 60 tons capacity in a single unit, are designed for multiple operation to provide flexibility according to varying load requirements.

Refrigeration machines, available up to 60 tons.

Self-contained water-cooled condensing units can be obtained with shell-and-coil condensers for use with city water, or with Evaporative condenser unit.

mechanically cleanable shell-and-tube condensers for systems employing a water cooling tower or deep well. GE evaporative condensers, for water economy, are designed for convenient location inside or outside the theatre.

The self-contained air-conditioners have

Refrigerated Kooler-aire

Engineered Into A Single Unit For Efficiency and Economy

Refrigerated Kooler-aire is a complete, automatic refrigerated air cooling and dehumidifying system engineered into one integrally-related, balanced unit. As a result, Refrigerated Kooler-aire does the job better and—

Costs Less to Own and Operate

Installed in a few hours. No cooling towers, special superstructures, deep wells, or intricate wiring and piping. No engineer needed to run it. Comes factory engineered, assembled, and tested, fully equipped and ready to operate. Write for "Your Best Air Defense" —and learn how this amazing Refrigerated Kooler-aire can boost the box office and beat the nut in any theater, large or small.

Address your request to Department RK-2

USAIRCO Theatre AIR CONDITIONING

Refrigerated Kooler-aire

Manufactured by

UNITED STATES AIR CONDITIONING CORPORATION

NORTHWEST TERMINAL · MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.

a cooling capacity range up to 30 tons per unit and provide all of the functions of a central conditioning plant for year-around operation to meet singly or in multiples the needs of a theatre of small capacity.

The GE coil catalog embraces water coils for indirect expansion systems with a water chiller, or for use as precooling coils with well water; expansion coils for direct transfer of heat from air to gas; and heating coils for steam or hot water, either of sealed or cleanable type. The oil- or gas-fired boilers, which may be arranged in multiple according to load demands, are obtainable for either steam or hot water.

One of the GE self-contained conditioners.

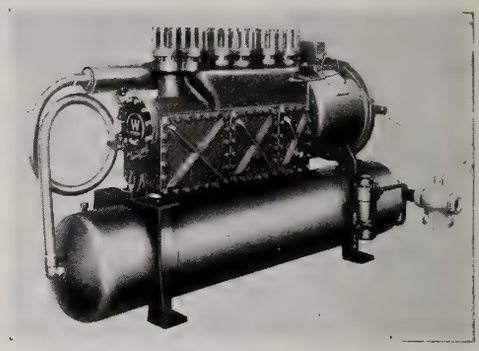
The GE motors used with this line of equipment have been designed for air-conditioning service, with emphasis in all sizes on quietness, while the larger sizes have line fluctuation controls.

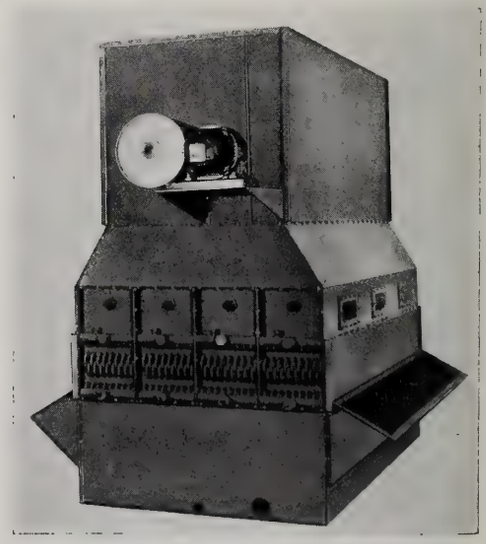


WESTINGHOUSE

WITH COMPRESSOR and condenser units of hermetically sealed design and capacities per unit up to 100 tons, the Westinghouse line of air-conditioning equipment also embraces all the necessary heat-transfer media for year-around operation, water-saving condensers, and self-contained units for central plant installation.

As the illustration of the 25-ton refrigerating machine indicates, the design of the compressor-condenser unit throughout the range features a compact arrangement requiring relatively little space, and hermetical sealing of the compressor is a specification of all capacities to eliminate shaft-seal leak. Enclosing the motor with the compressor is another general specification to prevent dirt and moisture from reaching working parts. The drives are self-lubricating, and a reversible oil pump is used to assure positive lubrication regardless of direction of rotation. For servicing the entire operating mechanism can be exposed by removing the side plates from the crankcase, without disconnecting any pipe.

Heat transfer units, characterized by staggered tube construction and close fin spacing, are obtainable in several types, according to installation and system features, providing high-efficiency heat transfer with steam, hot-water and cold-water as the heating or cooling medium, and a type with cast-iron headers and cleanable tubes is included.



The Westinghouse water-saving evaporative condenser is given the trade name of Westinghouse refrigerating machine, indicative of the design for the middle capacities.

"Aquamiser." It combines, for condensing service where water is limited or costly, or where there is a problem of disposing of the warmed water from a water-cooled condenser, features of a water-cooled condenser, an air-cooled condenser, and a cooling tower. It has the standard water-saving rating of 95%.

In "Unitaires" the Westinghouse line provides self-contained air-conditioning units designed for installation with supply and return air ducts. Each unit contains a freon-12 compressor with water-cooled condenser, an evaporator for air cooling and summer dehumidification, blower-type fan, and mounting for standard filters. These units may be adapted to year-around air-conditioning by installation as part of the unit of a heating coil and humidifiers. They are also available with external by-pass dampers, installed at the factory, to give control features of a by-pass system.

An "Aquamiser" evaporative condenser.

[A second section of this review of today's air-conditioning equipment market, dealing especially with air distribution, will appear in the April issue of Better Theatres.]

Coils made of Copper, Aluminum, Brass, Admiralty metal, etc., for air conditioning and industrial processing. Over 10,000 standard sizes from 1½"x1½" to 60"x120"; available 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, etc., rows deep. Continuous fins across coil face — for easy cleaning. Continuous fins in coil depth — for non-clogging. Send for the McQuay Coil Catalog. McQuay, Inc., 1633 Broadway Street, Minneapolis, Minn.

McQuay INC. HEATING, COOLING, AIR CONDITIONING AND REFRIGERATION EQUIPMENT

EVERY time and everywhere that it is installed the Heywood Cameo makes money for the box-office. These swanky chairs give your patrons genuine spring edge comfort over the full area of the seat. The Cameo is distinctive in appearance . . . lends flash and sparkle to your interior. The Cameo is reasonably priced because it is produced in such tremendous volume. And . . . the Cameo is so rich in deep, luxurious comfort that it will make every show seem just so much better to your patrons. May we furnish details?

HEYWOOD-WAKEFIELD
Theatre Seating Division
GARDNER •• MASSACHUSETTS

PUSH BUTTON SIMPLICITY
autodrape
CURTAIN MACHINES
Simple as pushing a button to operate. The AUTODRAPE gives you perfect performance at every performance. Lower operating cost—32% more power capacity—automatic overload protective breaker—many other advantages . . . all at no increase in price.

AUTOMATIC DEVICES CO.
1033 Linden Street - Allentown, Pa.
Export Office: 220 West 42nd Street, New York City
Also Manufacturers of Steel Curtain Track and Projection Motor Generators

MODERNIZE YOUR THEATRE WITH NEW GLEAMING METAL FRAMES FOR PHOTOS AND POSTERS
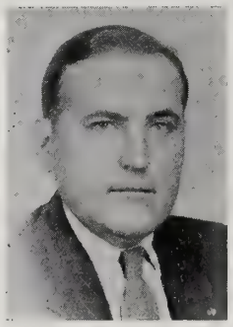
●
ALL SIZES AND TYPES OF METAL FRAMES AND CASES IN CHROMIUM, STAINLESS STEEL, BRONZE, ETC.
●
MOULDINGS AND EDGINGS
IN ALL METALS
MANUFACTURED BY
COLONIAL SALES Corp.
928 Broadway, New York City

AIR-CONDITIONING
By CHARLES A. FULLER
. . . written so the layman can understand it. 567 pages. $4.00, postpaid
$4.00, postpaid
QUIGLEY BOOKSHOP
Rockefeller Center - - New York

SEATING the auditorium

". . . no theatre can be better than its seating."



Transferring Old Chairs to Another Theatre in Reseating

● In keeping the better type of theatre equipped with attractive, comfortable seating, a theatre in which relatively low standards are permissible may fall heir to the replaced equipment. And then the headaches begin. But they can be reduced to a minimum with the procedure that's prescribed here

By JOHN J. SEFING

THERE COMES a time in nearly every theatre operator's life when, among other things, the serious question of renovating or remodeling his theatre comes up. In many cases the theatre owner has a modern house getting good prices, probably showing first- or second-run pictures, and otherwise catering, in a large measure, to discriminating people; and also another theatre charging low admission prices and located in a not-so-good district. It stands to reason that the deluxe houses should be first in the remodeling scheme and the installation of up-to-date equipment; however, the other theatres cannot be neglected entirely as they too are subject to the same wear and tear as the deluxe theatre and will likewise need repairs and equipment. The writer has noted many such situations and has observed the practice of transferring equipment from the deluxe house to the one of lower standards.

J. J. SEFING

That is good practice if carried out with good judgment and care, not indiscriminately. The high-class theatre thus can always have the newest and best equipment, while the other theatre will have equipment that is at least better than it had. There are, however, many precautions that must be taken and pitfalls to be avoided before this switch of equipment can be made successfully. And auditorium seating is the item most often the source of such problems. New chairs of the latest design are purchased with intentions of "picking-up" the existing old chairs, re-installing them in some other theatre and setting in their place the new chairs. Here extreme care must be taken.

Removing Chairs for Re-Use

The old chairs must be "picked-up" so that the threads on the floor bolts are not stripped or marred and that provisions are made for setting aside the removed chairs without interference with the installation of the new ones.

In any case, however, not all of the old floor bolt fasteners can or will be used because the latest type chair standards have differently spaced holes for fastening. In most instances the old floor bolts are loose anyhow and rather than to attempt to fasten new chair standards to them it is best to clip them close to the floor as possible with "bolt-cutters" and hammer flat any extension beyond the floor pitch. This will leave the floor smooth and sound with no obstruction for patrons to trip on.

The theatre owner must hire only competent and careful installation men who have his best interests in mind. Careless and reckless "picking-up" of the old chairs can cause the owner or lessee of the theatre serious trouble and costly experience in ruined floors, and in broken or bent chair standards. Old chairs that have bolt threads stripped or nuts rusted should never be forcibly pulled off the floor. A chair removed by rocking it "to and fro" might come off the floor easier, but also with it will come out the entire expansion bolt and a chunk of concrete, making it quite hard to fasten a new chair standard in its place. Ten or fifteen such chair standard removals will leave the floor in a bad condition, and if the theatre is operated under a lease, the lessee will be liable for the repairs.

The best thing to do when a standard is hard to remove is to use a cold-chisel and hammer and split the nut or the bolt. This will take a little longer, but it will save trouble and expense.

Another important thing to do when removing old chairs for re-installation is to tag or mark each chair standard as to its seat size and floor incline. When 500 or 1,000 chairs are "picked-up" off the floor and piled-up haphazardly it is impossible to guess where they will belong on a different floor. Then it will take hours to sort them and mistakes are bound to happen.

Re-Installing on Different Floor

As the old chairs will be installed on a floor of entirely different pitches, proper shims must be provided for leveling of the chairs. Many "hot" arguments arise over such a small item as chair shims, especially when the installation man assumes that the theatre owner will provide them, and the theatre owner insists that the installation man furnish them. This should be straightened out beforehand.

Another thing that must be watched carefully is the piling-up of the chairs during removal off the floor and loading or unloading off the delivery truck. Many chair standards and seat hinges are bent out of shape and even broken when they are carelessly handled. When there are just so many old chairs available to fill an installation, a few broken or scarred chair standards can be a very serious complication. A very thorough check should be made of the floor where the old chairs are intended for re-installation. When the floor is of concrete any large "crack," especially at the expansion joints that run across the width of the theatre, should be filled with new concrete and properly set.

Any old bolt fastener not to be used should be sheared off clean with the level of the floor. All new holes should be drilled as far as practicable from the old so as to give the new expansion bolt a solid foundation. All shims used under the chair standards should be from a reliable chair manufacturer and not "home-made" so as not to shift or slip under the chair after a little usage. If the floor is a concrete slab over a cinder fill, and the concrete tends to drip on the underside when drilling the holes, hot lead should be poured around the expansion bolts, otherwise the bolts will become loose in a short time.

When Floor is of Wood

Should the floor be of wood construction, extreme care should be taken not to fasten the chair standards by using the old holes, especially if the wood is "chewed" quite a bit. In this case all the chairs should be shifted a couple of inches to the right or left, or behind or in front of the old holes. If the wood of the floor is badly chipped or splintered, or has large cracks, the only thing to do is to lay a new wood floor in order to have a rigid fastening for the chairs.

The best thing to do where the wood floor is in a very bad condition is to install a new composition floor, such as one of "Marbloid." Such new flooring costs a little more than wood flooring, but is easily applied over old wood, will set overnight, and is fireproof. It can be had in

"Here's the chair we bought!"

"and it's the Ideal Chair for your theatre. We know positively that installing the Ideal Aristocrat Chair increases your business.

"We looked at all the lines of seating made, but Ideal had a finer looking chair, a more comfortable chair, one that obviously was better made . . . would last longer, had more of the desirable features. Yet it actually cost no more than the others!"

You, too, should write for literature. There's an Ideal Chair to fit every budget . . . "built to excel, not just to compete."

IDEAL SEATING COMPANY
GRAND RAPIDS, MICHIGAN

Export Office: 330 West 42nd Street New York City Attention: J. E. Robin

NEXT ISSUE—THE SPRING BUYERS NUMBER

Genuine U.S. NAUGAHYDE
REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.

THE LOW-COST
LONG-WEARING SEAT COVERING
...made with Rubber for Flexibility... and ground Leather for Durability
UNITED STATES RUBBER COMPANY
COATED FABRICS DIVISION
MISHAWAKA, INDIANA

NEW LOW PRICES

ON ARTKRAFT* patented 9¼" oversized CHANGEABLE LETTERS

- Die embossed 18 gauge steel—the strongest made.
- Mounting lugs welded on before plating. Snug fit. Easily removed and replaced.
- Copper plating makes letters and lugs rust proof.
- Beautiful black baked wrinkle finish.
- Most modernly designed letter made.
- Readable at greater distance by actual test.

QUARTER-INCH DRAWN ALUMINUM HANGING RODS FOR ARTKRAFT* LETTERS

The finest, safest, strongest method. No sag. No rust. No rattle.

Write for catalog, prices and terms, giving width of front, width of sidewalk and name of theatre.

SIGNS* OF LONG LIFE

THE ARTKRAFT SIGN CO.

LIMA, OHIO, U. S. A.

- Pre-fabricated marquees
- Cast aluminum poster frames
- Embossed changeable letters

*Reg. U. S. Pat. Office

The Right Plan

The Undivided Responsibility plan as performed by The F & Y Building Service Theatre Division . . .

Will Save You Time - Money - Worry - Costly Mistakes

Ask any client.

The F & Y Building Service
Theatre Division
328 East Town St., Columbus, O.

The buildings we build Build Our Business

We furnish the services of Registered Architects and Engineers.

McFADDEN LIGHTING

Will Beautify Your Theatre in Gorgeous Colorful Splendor

See your dealer or write us.

McFADDEN LIGHTING CO. INC.
1710 Madison Street St. Louis, Mo.

For Sensational "Blacklight" Effects

USE STROBLITE

FLUORESCENT U. V. COLORS

U. V. Lighting Equipment for every purpose. Write for complete information

Stroblite Co., Dept. H, 35 W. 52, New York almost any color or design and will give long service. A "Marbloid" composition floor is about ¾-inch thick and can be drilled with a regular wood drill, which holds a screw solidly in place. This material is very light in weight and has worked out successfully in several installations, especially in balconies where there were old wooden floors and concrete could not be used because of its heavy load.

[John J. Sefing writes from many years of experience in the practical affairs of the physical theatre, covering both construction and equipment specifications. He is now attached to the New York branch of the National Theatre Supply Company, and is a member of two committees of the Society of Motion Picture Engineers.]

Installation Aids Mark Design of The "Clipper" Chair

THE NEW "Clipper" model auditorium chair of the Irwin Seating Company line, recently introduced in two classifications, the "deluxe" and the "standard," presents interesting departures from previous Irwin design, not only in the outward pattern, but in mechanical features. The general appearance is substantially the same in each classification, with shaped seat bucket, broad arm rests, and flush enclosing panels inside the standards. Construction is of steel throughout, except that cast-iron end standards are obtainable in the "deluxe" classification.

The "standard" type has a back panel with top edge rolled; the "deluxe" has a full-length embossed back which protects the rear edge of the seat. Backs are fabricated of heavy-gauge metal with the kick-plate as a unit. The upholstering fabric is held in place by a slot and the entire upholstered framework can be removed for inspection or repair without dismantling the back.

At each side of the back flat upright metal runners are inserted into grooves of the standard wings. These grooves have two bolt fastener holes and are so designed that they hold the side runners of the back rigidly in place by friction as well as by the bolts. The effect is to facilitate installation since the installation man has only to slip the backs in place in the grooves after setting up his floor standards and tightening two bolts at each wing. The kick-plates are part of the back and installed in one operation. The wings of the standards can be adjusted to two different angles for the backs to accommodate balcony riser installation and extra back-to-back spacing.

The "deluxe" chair, departing radically from previous Irwin spring construction, has springs of flat "Swedish" steel bands interconnected, and in turn connected to the framework. The entire seat, springs and framework can be removed from the seat panel without taking apart the hinges or the hinge arms.

The hinges are of the insert rod type with helical springs to throw the seat up when no weight is upon it. The hinges have stops that gradually limit the downward as well as the upward swing. The hinges are so designed to give a horizontal position which will eliminate any binding with a sharp radius or when a standard is a little off the radius line. In installing, it is necessary only to drop the hinge rods in the holes of the standards, and no lining up of the hinge brockets and screwing on the seat panels to the brockets are required.

Aisle standards have a metal enclosed trough the full width and height of the standard. At the bottom of this trough "knockouts" are provided for the electrician to make his connections properly even if the conducts in the floor are a little off from the standard. This trough plate can be removed.

The arm rests have new slots at the bottom that wedge the arms permanently into place by running slightly on the diagonal instead of a straight line. The fabric or upholstery on the backs and seats is fastened by metal clips, instead of tacks, to the framework. These clips are slightly V-shaped and hold the material tautly in place by friction between the V-shaped metal and the lip on the framework. Thus the fabric is also readily removable for reupholstering.

In his column this month Ben Schlanger deals with an interesting aspect of auditorium seating in discussing whether a one- or a two-floor plan is more economical. His article begins on the following page.

Plan & Materials

By BEN SCHLANGER
Theatre Architect & Consultant

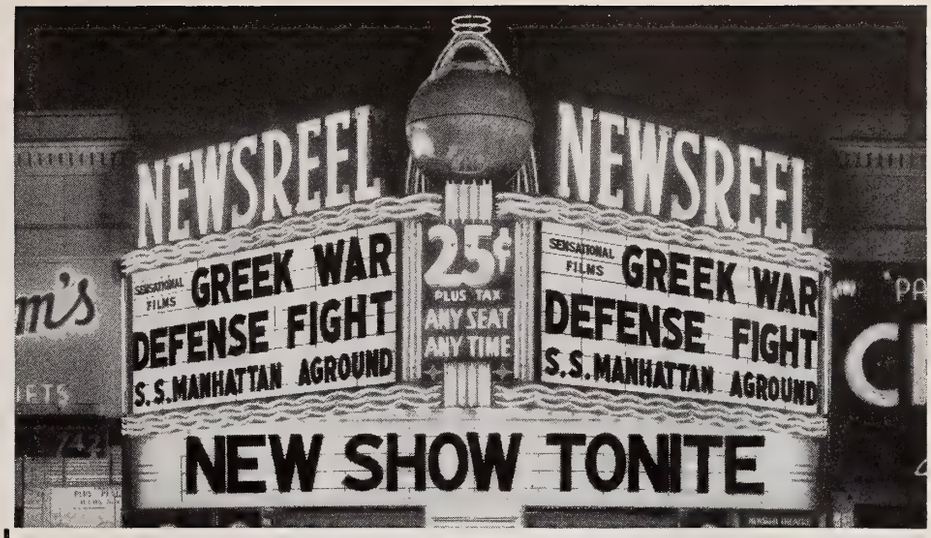
ONE FLOOR VERSUS TWO

A QUESTION frequently asked regarding the comparative costs of different types of motion picture structures, deals with the disposition of seating: Should it be entirely on one floor level, or on two or more levels, when the seating capacity would be the same in either case? The answer to this question is not a simple one because in one instance a single level scheme may be more economical, and in another it would be less.

Making the Choice

Before an attempt is made to answer this question a list of the requirements of the structure should be outlined, and the type and approximate sizes of the auxiliary rooms and spaces should be decided upon. A separate computation should be made, so that an estimate could be made of the approximate cubic foot volume contained in the auxiliary rooms and spaces. This cubage will incorporate the lobby, foyer areas, lounges, toilets, managers' office, etc. If the same spaces and cubage is incorporated into the single floor scheme as in the multi level scheme, it will be found that the single level scheme may involve an appreciably greater total cubic foot volume for the entire structure than does the multi level scheme.

Two-Floor Advantages



This difference is due to the fact that in the multi level scheme the auxiliary spaces and rooms might be provided for under the upper level of seating, while in the single level scheme the building area has to be extended to provide the same space.

The saving in cubic volume is especially worthwhile when the total height of the multi level structure is minimized, as it can be by the use of a floor slope modified to keep pitches as small as possible, which in turn reduces the height of the upper level seating platform risers.

The smaller total cubage possible for the multi-level scheme does not necessarily make for more economical construction, because the cost of the extra level of construction within the envelope of the smaller structure tends to branch out and more or less make the basic cost of both types of structures ultimately come out about the same.

It would follow logically, then, to ask: Why adapt one scheme in favor of the

(Continued on following page, column 3)

WAGNER '41 FRAME

100% Proof Against Water Damage!

The ONLY structure in which water drains to the FRONT of the frame—protecting wiring against 'shorts' and frame against rusting. See what rain does to ANY OTHER frame.

NEW! THE WAGNER DUO-COLOR SILHOUETTE LETTER

Consists of a colored Catlin insert framed in aluminum. Special construction makes it practically unbreakable under ordinary use. If green fluorescent lighting is used and white incandescent lamps are flashed on and off, it gives the effect alternately of a solid silhouette letter and a letter with neon illuminated center.

WAGNER SIGN SERVICE, INC.

218 S. Hoyne Ave.....CHICAGO
123 W. 64th St.....NEW YORK
706 E. Hancock Ave..DETROIT
6 Britain St.....TORONTO

From 15 to 30 watts of illumination with a 7-watt Climax Reflector
(IN NATURAL GLASS COLORS)
No fading—Less Breakage
Easy to keep clean.

SAVE MONEY—SAVE MONEY SAVE MONEY

Balaban & Katz Management Corporation, Chicago, have installed 7 watt-Climax Sparkle-lite Reflectors, replacing up to 30 watt Mazda bulbs in the Chicago, Marbro and Paradise Theatres during the past three months. They will save thousands of dollars on demand rate and current consumption yearly. Write to-day.

CLIMAX REFLECTOR, INC.

401-3 SCHROYER AVENUE, S.W. - - - - - - CANTON, OHIO

Question:

Are you sure you have solved your Rubber Mat and Matting problems most economically? Are you interested in installing Rubber Stair-treads or Flooring to give you lowest possible maintenance and replacement costs?

Answer:

Our personal Designing, Fabricating and Installing services are yours for the asking—any time—anywhere.

GUILD RUBBER COMPANY

GUILDCRAFT RUBBER PRODUCTS

48 WEST 48TH STREET - - - - - - - NEW YORK, N. Y.

A LINE O' LAW OR TWO

Liability in Injuries from Equipment

By RUDOLPH ALLEN
Member New York Bar

HOW often, Mr. Exhibitor, do you examine your theatre equipment to determine the possibility of injuries to your customers? It might be wise to do so at regular intervals, preferably once a day before closing. Should you take this precaution, you will not only prevent a loss of good will, but will most certainly protect yourself in the event of a suit for damages. The problem of accidents to theatre patrons as a result of defective or worn-out equipment arises constantly, and it is well to determine the legal questions involved.

An interesting situation involving theatre seats recently presented itself in the New York case of Nabson vs. Mordall Realty Corporation (reported in 15 N. Y. Supp., 2nd Edition, page 38). The facts in this case are as follows:

A theatre patron arose to change her seat, and a splinter of wood projecting from the seat came into contact with her leg, causing her to sustain "painful injuries," for which she brought an action against the theatre owner.

She was successful in obtaining a verdict from the jury. The owner appealed to a higher court, however, and the judgment was set aside. The higher court said:

1. The duty of a theatre owner to the public is one of reasonable care, not that of an insurer of a patron's safety.

2. The owner must be actively vigilant in the protection of the public but, on the other hand, cannot be deprived of an opportunity to discover and remedy a wrong before he can be charged with negligence.

3. Negligence is a question of fact, and the owner is permitted to present evidence showing that reasonable periodic examinations were made of the theatre seats, thereby overcoming any imputation of wrong.

The principles as indicated above apply to almost every other kind of theatrical equipment in use in theatres. The one causing most damage is the carpet. Thus, in Weingard vs. Putnam Theatrical Corporation (New York, 232 N. Y. Supp. 296) an action was brought to recover damages for injuries sustained by reason of a fall occasioned by a torn carpet. A judgment of the lower court was reversed because of erroneous instructions given to the jury by the presiding judge. The higher court, in the reversal of this judgment, stated the law to be as follows:

"Liability could not be imposed upon the defendant unless it was also shown that this condition of the carpet was known to the defendant or had existed for such a length of time that defendant should have known of it, or was of such a nature that it must have existed for such a length of time as to give it notice."

Also see Smith vs. Warner Brothers Theatres (16 N. Y. Supp. 2nd Edison, 752).

From the cases cited above, it can be readily seen that no recovery can be had against the theatre owner by reason of injuries sustained due to defective equipmnt, unless it first be shown that the defendant had notice of the defect or that the defect existed for a reasonably long time.

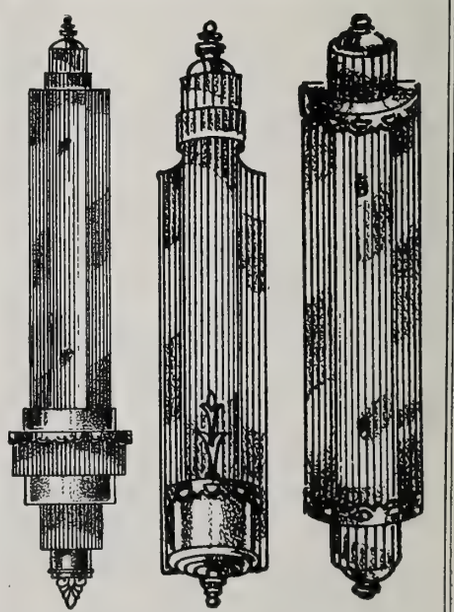
However, on February 6, 1941, the Appellate Division, Second Department, in the case of Heddink vs. Loew's Theatres and Realty Corporation, rendered a decision, which on its face, would be contrary to the law as indicated above. In this particular case, an action was brought for personal injuries sustained by the plaintiff when she was projected to the ground by reason of a hole in the rubber matting in the outer lobby of a theatre.

The Court distinguished this case from Nabson vs. Mordall Realty Corporation and Weingard vs. Putnam Theatrical Corporation (above) by stating that in those two cases the defendant had no control or opportunity to observe the existence of the defects, and therefore, it was necessary for the plaintiff to show that knowledge of the defect existed, whereas in the case at bar the defendant was not so restricted in its opportunity to inspect and repair, for the defective condition was on part of the matting in the outer lobby, therefore it had many opportunities to observe the condition and make the necessary repairs.

The Appellate Court in this case decided that it was unnecessary for the plaintiff to prove that the owner had notice of the defect. Mere proof of the happening of the event was sufficient to establish a prima facie case.

While Better Theatres cannot perform the service of legal counsel, inquiries from readers are invited and will be answered as fully as permissible.

Schlanger on PLAN & MATERIALS



(Continued from preceding page)

other? The multi level scheme has many advantages over the single level scheme, among which are:

1. Less land needed.
2. More intimate seating arrangement.
3. Smaller auditorium volume and break up of auditorium form makes for much improved acoustics.
4. Allows for isolated smoking sections.
5. Allows for higher admission price for a loge section. If such a section is desired.
6. Total unobstructed vision of the picture more easily developed.

Avoiding "Skimpy" Effect

The single level scheme may offer a more economical structure only if the auxiliary requirements are provided for in a very skimpy manner. You will recognize this undesirable type of plan which has a small lobby, and narrow standee space from which both seats and small toilet rooms are reached. Such planning is of the past, not only because of its skimpiness, but also because it is uninviting and it is difficult to stop undesirable drafts and light from entering the auditorium. The warmth and beauty of the motion picture structure must be found between the main entrance and the auditorium, the link which holds all of the important auxiliary spaces and rooms.

Three recent additions to the decorative lighting fixture line of the McFadden Lighting Company of St. Louis. The left-hand model provides indirect color lighting, with colors blended by fluted metal reflecting surface finished in white enamels. It is 48 inches long. The center fixture is of fluted metal with glass tube at upper end. Its length is 28 inches. The other type is adapted to both walls and ceilings. Colored light is indirect with bright light radiating from top glass tube. It is 24 inches long.

Potwin on Sound Control

C. C. POTWIN, Consultant in Acoustics
Fellow, Acoustical Society of America

REVERBERATION TIMES

IN THE FEBRUARY issue the importance of analyzing theatres acoustically for more than one frequency was discussed. In making such an analysis, it should be carefully noted that to begin with the amount of absorption required at different frequencies depends not only upon the absorption present in upholstered seats, carpet, audience, etc., but also varies with the size or cubic-foot volume of the theatre.

Large Auditoriums

Early in 1930, an optimum frequency reverberation characteristic (desirable times or periods of reverberation at different frequencies) was proposed by MacNair, based on data obtained from research work on hearing. Taking one frequency as an example, this characteristic suggested that for all theatres the reverberation period at 128 cycles per second should be approximately one and a half times the period at 512 c.p.s. It has been found that the MacNair values hold very well for large theatres such as those having volumes of approximately 500,000 cubic feet or more.

Small Auditoriums

For smaller auditoriums, however, and particularly for those of more average size, ranging from 75,000 to 200,000 cubic feet, recent acoustical measurements and design practice indicate that the reverberation period at 128 c.p.s. should be appreciably less than one and one half times the period at 512 c.p.s.

In the same way for successively smaller auditoriums, the acceptable difference between reverberation times at 128 and 512 c.p.s. becomes less and less so that in the case of a very small auditorium (a review for example the time at 128 c.p.s. should be almost equal to the time at 512 c.p.s.

These differences in the reverberation time between frequencies, which gradually bcome greater with increasing cubic foot volumes, affect principally the frequencies below 512 c.p.s. For frequencies above 512 c.p.s., the MacNair curve essentially holds for theatres of both small and large volumes, except for slight modifications introduced as a result of more recent hearing data presented by Fletcher and Munson.

The differences between the desirable times of reverberation for various frequencies within this part of the range are small, and these differences remain constant, so that they all increase in the same proportion with increasing cubic foot volumes.

IT'S AMAZING — WHAT A WORLD OF DIFFERENCE ACOUSTI-CELOTEX* TREATMENT CAN MAKE IN ATTENDANCE!

Acousti-Celotex ceiling and walls, Nile Theatre, Minneapolis. Perry Crozier, Architect Give Your Patrons the Benefit of Improved Sound and Watch Them Respond with Dimes and Quarters!

Patrons of the Nile Theatre in Minneapolis enjoy the benefit of famous Acousti-Celotex* sound-conditioning—a complete absence of annoying echoes and disturbing overtones which handicap good sound equipment in so many picture houses.

Acousti-Celotex can be installed quickly, at moderate cost. Its efficiency is not impaired by repeated painting or cleaning—an important consideration when redecoration is called for. Let us make a FREE Noise Survey of your theatre! Write today, on your letterhead!

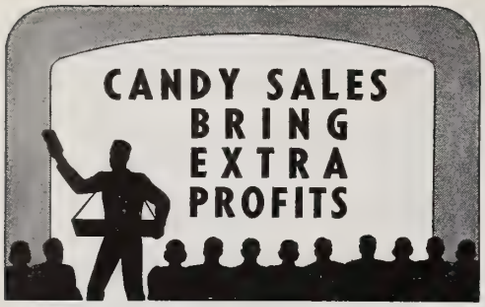
PAINTABLE PERMANENT
ACOUSTI-CELOTEX
TRADE MARK REGISTERED U. S. PATENT OFFICE

Other Celotex Brand Acoustical Products:
CALISTONE • CALICEL • ABSORBEX
MUFFLETONE • ACOUSTEEL-B

★ WE FAVOR ADEQUATE PREPAREDNESS FOR NATIONAL DEFENSE ★

*The word Acousti-Celotex is a brand name identifying a patented, perforated acoustical fibre tile marketed by The Celotex Corporation.

THE CELOTEX CORPORATION • 919 NORTH MICHIGAN AVENUE • CHICAGO, ILLINOIS



NEW improved
RECT-O-LITE
A BETTER RECTIFIER
FOR 1 KILOWATT ARC

RECT-O-LITE Rectifier No. 45 is the latest development in Rectifiers and produces Clear, Bright, Flickerless pictures. No moving parts; no servicing; saves enough current to pay for itself. 1 YEAR GUARANTEE. $135.00

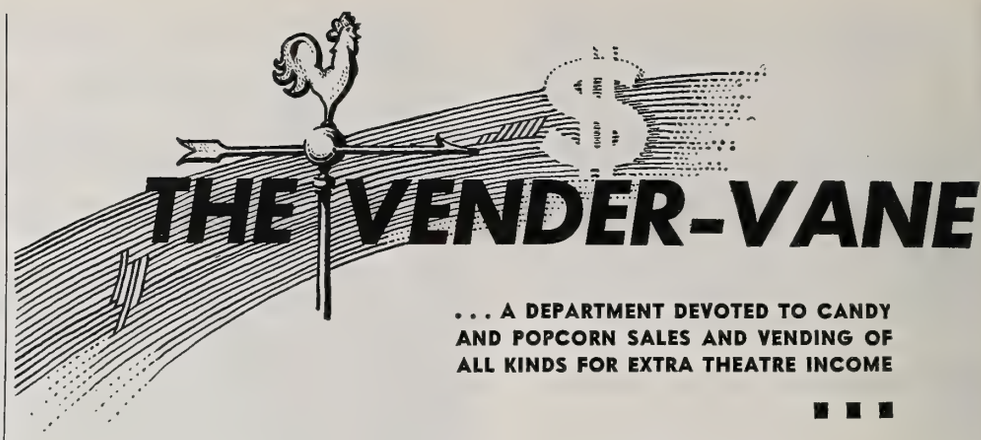
ASK FOR BULLETIN 81

BALDOR ELECTRIC COMPANY
4367 DUNCAN AVE. ST. LOUIS, MO.

The theatre "butcher" of days gone by stalked the aisles hawking his wares through the tunes of a tinkling piano.

Today the modern theatre owner silently and effectively sells candy and other tasty items theatregoers enjoy during and after the show from an appetite-stimulating display in beautiful Columbus Show Cases. Cool fluorescent lighting attractively illuminates the merchandise, giving off no damaging heat. Beautiful cabinet wood bases and extruded bronze frames "set them off" to best advantage.

Enjoy the extra income made possible by installing such a department in your theatre. Write for information on a variety of cases suitable for this purpose.



This installation in the Boulevard Theatre, Columbus, Ohio, is described in a feature article in this issue.

The Columbus Show Case Co.
850 W. 5th Ave. Columbus, Ohio

The Catalog Bureau appears on page 56

. . . A DEPARTMENT DEVOTED TO CANDY AND POPCORN SALES AND VENDING OF ALL KINDS FOR EXTRA THEATRE INCOME

Methods of Vending Popcorn Found Effective for Theatres

• The second of a group of articles on confectionery selling, presenting in this discussion a digest of the methods successfully followed among both circuit and independent operators

POPCORN VENDING sales in theatres are steadily increasing. The number of theatres that have popcorn dispensing equipment is growing, and sales, per theatre, are mounting. There are two principal reasons for these developments: improved equipment, and better management. A third reason, particularly stressed by some managers, is the greater attention being paid to selection of personnel for handling popcorn sales.

There appears to be little or no uniformity of practice in locating popcorn machines. Among circuit managers, however, the statement is frequently heard that except when special conditions seem to warrant or call for it, the equipment is preferably placed inside the lobby or foyer, where sales are made only to patrons of the theatre, rather than to pedestrians as well.

Locating Equipment

It is pointed out that the equipment is provided, and popcorn vending set up, primarily for patrons; that selling only to patrons is profitable, so that sales to nonpatrons are not needed to make the vending worth while. A preferred position in many instances, especially for smaller theatres, appears to be just behind the box office, so that patrons will pass it immediately after buying tickets, when many have change in their hands. It is convenient for them to buy then, and the appeal is effective at that moment. Possibly, managers point out, if located outside, the popcorn machine and its fragrance of fresh corn might not catch the attention of patrons as surely as after they have their first business—the buying of tickets—off their minds.

Specific local conditions, of the community and of the theatre plan, may however, make it desirable to locate equipment in or adjoining the vestibule, particularly if the box office is located at one side and there is space near it for popcorn equipment. Naturally, there are seasonal factors here, since such a location, if in the open, would not be conducive to high sales.

Practice differs among circuits with respect to both installation and operation of popcorn equipment. In some cases each manager acts on his own initiative, though equipment and supplies may be handled by a central office. In other cases, a circuit purchasing agent may direct and oversee both installation and methods of operation, or provide general suggestions for all managers. Some circuits definitely provide for popcorn vending in all their theatres and have developed well defined procedure for all details of location and selling.

Hiring Attendants

Practice also differs in various theatres and groups, with respect to personnel. Circuits leaving actual selection and hiring of attendants to local managers, are inclined to set up standards for such employes to meet throughout the circuit, with the requirements tending to be of a level raising the dignity of popcorn vending to the rank of "salesmanship," according with the service plan and general tone of the theatre in its physical character and other phases of serving the public.

Some managers prefer boys as attendants at popcorn machines, one reason being that a bright boy can be found who also has mechanical inclinations and is thus well equipped to keep the equipment in good order. Boys selected must be clean-looking, and if possible should have an attractive personality.

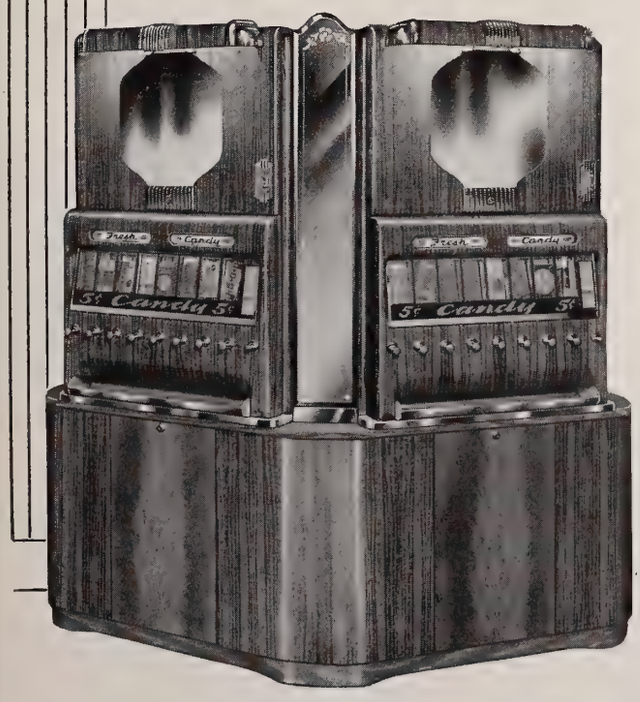
Some theatre operators prefer girls, however. Girls, they say, can more often be found who can be relied upon to keep the equipment spic and span. Cleanliness is naturally a primary requisite for successful popcorn dispensing. Whether girls or boys, the practice differs as to payment. Some pay commissions, some salaries.

The H. J. Griffith circuit has many theatres, chiefly in smaller cities, with pop corn machines and these houses have a larger number of girls than boys to operate them. Harold Harris, general manager of the circuit, points out that the girls have no other duties than those of attending the machines. All wear white uniforms, supplied from the Kansas City headquarters; and they are paid salaries—almost as much as cashiers. The character of girl selected by the local managers is such that many of the popcorn equipment attendants have been promoted to assistant cashier. Such girls are good material for cashiers and, indeed, for any theatre position that a young woman can fill. Only local girls are employed.

Handling Sales

Where there is an afternoon performance and evening shows, the attendant works about three hours in the afternoon and about the same in the evening, but is not on the job between shows. Where continuous programs are run, the attendants are relieved, for an hour or so at a time, by one of the other house employes.



With girls who keep the machines clean all the time, there is seldom, if ever, any need for mechanical attention. Once in every six months each machine is given a thorough going-over by men familiar with the design and mechanical details and they thus maintain it in condition so that the girl can keep it clean and operating smoothly.

Popcorn sales in the Griffith theatres is under audit control. The manager checks out to the attendant numbered sacks and boxes—numbered with a numbering machine—so that the attendant's daily report shows the serial numbers of sacks, and that of boxes, with which the day's business began and ended. A daily check is thus obtained on volume for purposes of guiding promotional and other plans.

Mr. Harris stresses the precaution—as several leading retailers of department stores in Kansas City have done—that excessive pressing of additional purchases on a patron should be avoided. At Griffith theatres the attendant rarely approaches anybody in an effort to sell; she is there, the goods are shown and available. If, however, a group of four or five patrons should enter together, the attendant may suggest to them, "Popcorn?" This exception is suggested by the fact that a group obscures the presence of the popcorn facilities, attention being on conversation or on keeping out of each other's way. And the reminder can be spoken, as it should be, impersonally and unobtrusively.

There are theatres that have popcorn vending equipment, and no other refreshments on sale; theatres with both popcorn and candy; theatres with candy, but no popcorn; theatres with popcorn and automatic candy vending equipment. Whatever the practice, however, the old objection to confectionery sales in the theatre, that it raised maintenance cost, is seldom heard any more. Patrons bring in popcorn if they can't buy it inside, anyway, and theatres today have better routine systems of daily cleaning than they used to. Then, too, the profit in popcorn vending—around 70%—is such that even if popcorn did cause materially increased trouble and expense for cleaning, it would be worth it. A helpful aid is portable work lamp equipment, operated on a battery.

[Further discussion of confectionery vending methods in theatres will deal with beverage dispensing and sales promotion.]

Modernize

WITH THIS NEW, MORE BEAUTIFUL

Univendor

Out-of-date vending equipment has no place in the modern theatre — not when you can enjoy all the advantages of this smart, completely new Univendor. This DeLuxe candy vendor is styled to enhance the beauty of the most luxurious surroundings. It offers a wider selection, large capacity, has heatless fluorescent lighting, trouble-free operation, is tamperproof and equipped with positive slug detection. Investigate this truly superior vendor for your theatre today.

STONER CORPORATION 338 Gale Ave. Aurora, Ill.

Univendor Exclusive Features

16 selections
320 bar capacity
Heatless fluorescent lighting of top panels and display windows
Equipped with positive slug detection
Tamperproof
Front-opening storage compartment in base

Conti-Glo

Black Lights and Fluorescent Paint contributed to the attractiveness of the new

BOULEVARD THEATRE

COLUMBUS, OHIO

CONTI-GLO DIVISION, DEPT. B
CONTINENTAL LITHOGRAPH CORP.
CLEVELAND, OHIO

You may send me literature descriptive of Conti-Glo Products.

NAME .....

ADDRESS .....

We Build Theatres

We Plan Your Theatre from a Showman's Viewpoint, being Exhibitors as well as as Builders.

PLANS • SPECIFICATIONS • CONTRACT

Every Detail Developed for Your Approval.

OUR PURCHASING POWER SAVES YOU MONEY

May We Refer You to Our Many Satisfied Clients

C. J. VOGEL SONS
CONSTRUCTION CORPORATION
1900 Euclid Bldg. - Cleveland, Ohio

NATIONAL THEATRE SUPPLY COMPANY
NATIONAL
EVERY STORE A LOCAL INSTITUTION WITH A NATIONAL REPUTATION FOR RELIABLE SERVICE
"GET IT FROM NATIONAL"

EQUIPMENT AND FURNISHINGS OF THE BOULEVARD THEATRE IN COLUMBUS, OHIO

FOLLOWING ARE arrangements for projection and air supply in the Boulevard theatre, Columbus, Ohio, described in the "Showplace" section of this issue:

Projection—Measuring 18 feet wide, 13 feet deep, and 8 feet high, the projection room is walls of acoustic plaster, painted in a wainscot of olive green and buff above; an acoustic plaster ceiling painted buff; and floor of gray battleship linoleum. Lighting is by flush-set translucent glass fixtures. The screen image is 20 feet wide, the angle of projection 5°.

Air Supply—The Boulevard is provided conditioned air the year around in all divisions, with areas outside the auditorium and foyer served by transfer coils and fan separate from the auditorium plant. Air in either the heating or cooling cycle is conducted to overhead aspirating grilles down the center of the auditorium, and exhausted through rear and forward floor grilles for recirculation. Water is the air cooling agent, with mechanical refrigeration. Heating is by a gas-burning boiler.

Outline of Equipment & Furnishings:

Ticket register (General Register), ticket chopper (Golde), projectors, screen, film cabinets, changeovers (Gardiner), projection lamps (Ashcraft), rewinder (Neumade), lenses (Projection Optics) lounge and foyer furniture (Heywood-Wakefield), carpeting (Alexander Smith): American Theatre Equipment Company, Columbus.

Marquee, sign, reflectors: Carlisle Signs, Inc., New Carlisle, Ohio. Display frames: Cast Auminum Push Bar Company, Columbus.

Dimmers: Cutler-Hammer Inc., Milwaukee. Auditorium chairs: International Seat Corporation, Union City, Ind. Popcorn machines: Advance Manufacturing Company, St. Louis. Sound equipment and loudspeakers: RCA Manufacturing Company, Inc., Camden, N. J. Switchboard: Ward-Leonard Electric Company, Mt. Vernon, N. Y. Flashers: Sangamo Electric Company, Springfield, Ill.

Interior fixtures (Vim-Lite), curtain control and stage rigging and hardware (Clancy), attraction boards and letters (Wagner): Business Boosters Equipment Company, Columbus.

Black light units: Continental Lithograph Corporation, Conti-Glo Division, Cleveland. Luminescent paints: Continental Lithograph Corporation.

Fans: Garden City Fan Company, Chicago, and Bishop & Babcock Manufacturing Company, Cleveland. Pumps: Fairbanks, Morse & Company, Chicago. Coils: McQuay, Inc., Minneapolis. (Air conditioning and supply equipment contractor: Tneatre Air Conditioning Supply Company, Columbus.)

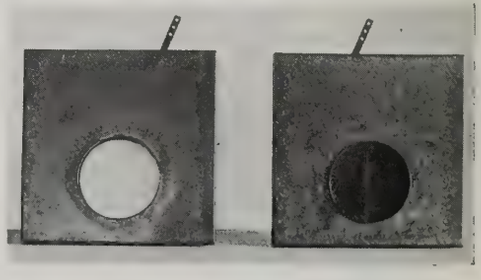
MARKET NOTES

¶ News reports concerning equipment and materials, and those who make them

Lamp Cost Reduced

CHANGES IN terms of sale which have the effect of reducing net lamp costs to theatres, are announced by the lamp department of the General Electric Company.



Non-contract purchasers of G. E. lamps will enjoy a discount of 20%, instead of 15% as hitherto, on orders totaling between $5 and $15. Others totaling more than $15 entitle the purchaser to a 25% discount. Contract terms, for theatres contracting to use not less than $300 worth of lamps per year, have also been revised to offer more favorable prices to the majority of such contract purchasers.

Booklet on Air Dispersion

BEARING THE challenging title, "Air Conditioning—Success or Failure?" a new folder has been issued by the Anemostat Corporation on the importance of aspirating air diffusers in securing draftless air distribution, equalization of temperatures, and elimination of stale air pockets. The folder is printed in two colors.

New Port-Type Changeover

A MECHANICALLY operated porthole changeover has been developed by the Armstrong Company of Charleston, Ill. The device consists in two units, each finished in black wrinkle enamel, which are fastened to the front wall of the projection room and connected by a cross bar. Changeover is effected by moving this bar through a distance of about 1½ inches. The cut-off blades are made of sheet aluminum for extreme lightness and ease of operation. Quiet performance is assured by cushioning their action with rubber.

The design of the device has been reduced to maximum mechanical simplicity for ease of installation and trouble-free operation. Absence of electrical connections enhances the neatness of its appearance on the front wall.

Individual Car Speaker

A NEW loudspeaker for drive-in theatres, to be placed inside each car, has been developed by RCA. The unit is fitted with a bracket by which it can be hung on either the glass or the sill of the car door. Both the back of the unit and the bracket are rubber-cushioned to provide full protection for paint finishes. The housing is, circular, with a diameter of 8 inches, and is 5 inches deep. It is painted brown, with crackle finish.

A volume control, which the patron adjusts to suit himself, is mounted on the top of the housing where it will be equally accessible regardless of whether the unit is hung on the right-hand or the left-hand door.

A 15-foot waterproof cable connects the speaker to the plug-in receptacles of the drive-in theatre. The cable is fitted with a specially designed waterproof plug, a quickly-adjustable device for taking up slack, and a car bumper fastener.

3-Foot, 65-Watt Fluorescent Lamp

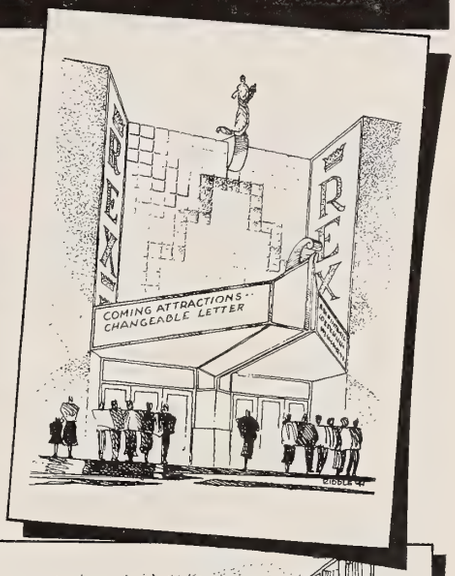
THE VARIETY of fluorescent lamps available for theatre lighting has been further increased by development of a new 65-watt, 3-foot tube which General Electric Company will place on the market on April 1st. The new tube is 2⅛ inches in diameter, fits a Mogul Bipin base, and will be supplied in white and daylight. The white color is equivalent to a temperature of 3,500°, at 2,100 lumens; the intensity of the daylight lamp is 1,800 lumens.

New Territorial Representatives

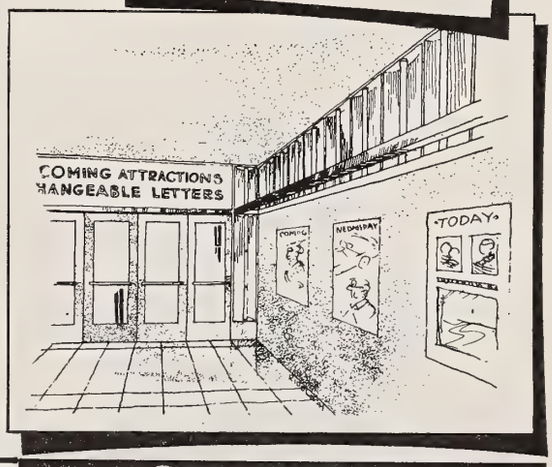
ANEMOSTAT Corporation of America, makers of Anemostat air diffusers, have appointed Control Engineering Company as their representative in the Kansas City area.

J. Roger White, of New York, has been appointed sales manager of the Formica Company, manufacturers of laminated architectural plastics. William C. Steiner of the Formica organization, is now associated with the Moreland Advertising Agency, where his duties will include those of executive in charge of the Formica company account.

Robert C. Colman, vice-president in charge of sales for McQuay, Inc., of Minneapolis, manufacturers of air-conditioning coils, announces the appointment of E. K. Sweeney as McQuay's Philadelphia district manager. Mr. Sweeney will represent all McQuay products, including heating and cooling coils, unit heaters, convectors, and air-conditioning and refrigerating units.



LUMINOUS COLOR AND MOTION WITH G-E MAZDA F AND FILAMENT LAMPS



Inside and out—new spectacular effects at new low cost!

THIS new light source offers amazing opportunity for publicity value and showmanship. Striking luminous color changes are possible at an operating cost no higher than the static lighting with filament lamps alone. Cool, efficient, G-E MAZDA "F" Lamps give more light per foot than other tubular sources practical for theatre use.

The exterior shown here utilizes large luminous surfaces, with colored Fluorescent Lamps creating effects from bold silhouettes to shimmering variegated patterns. Brilliance and color, from a combination of fluorescent and filament lamps, change with magic smoothness rather than with sharp flashes in the theatre front and marquee sign. Projector lamps in the soffit "blast" light below.

Colored or white fluorescent lamps in architectural elements offer a wide treatment for the lobby. In the sketch, corrugated reflecting elements illustrate an example. Fluorescent lamps in a reflector strip direct light down on posters attached to walls. Fluorescent lamps in changeable letter panel give color contrast.

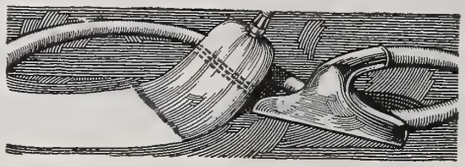
G-E MAZDA F LAMPS now sell at new low prices. Your G-E MAZDA Lamp Distributor will be glad to work with you in planning interesting new effects for theatre front, marquee, lobby or poster panel lighting.

G-E MAZDA LAMPS

GENERAL ELECTRIC

THEATRE PLANNING SERVICE

¶ Better Theatres is glad to answer the questions of exhibitors concerning theatre planning. Better Theatres' Service Department annually deals with hundreds of inquiries regarding planning problems.



¶ In order that questions may be dealt with effectively, they should be specific, and all conditions bearing upon them should be clearly given. Often a rough sketch is helpful. It is of course understood that this service is in no way intended to supplant that of licensed architects and Better Theatres cannot supply working plans, design sketches, etc.

¶ Although Better Theatres' Service Department has leading specialists regularly available for consultation when and as an inquiry may advise this, all inquiries are answered by this department and should be addressed to it, as follows:

BETTER THEATRES
SERVICE DEPARTMENT
ROCKEFELLER CENTER, NEW YORK, N. Y.

CLEANING AIDS & METHODS

■ ■ ■ including DEODORIZATION AND SANITATION

MAINTENANCE INQUIRIES

The Catalog Bureau in this issue lists types of maintenance supplies, and for information concerning any of these, readers are requested to use the Catalog Bureau coupon as directed. Additionally, Better Theatres will be glad to answer questions concerning methods of cleaning, vermin eradication, sanitation, etc.

Write, explaining your problem, to—

Better Theatres,
Service Department,
Rockefeller Center,
New York

A Floor Cleaning System To Get Results Economically

• Presenting methods of removing dirt and stain from marble, terrazzo and tile floors at reasonable cost for materials, in minimum amount of labor and time

THE CLEANING of floors is a problem common to all theatres, in which use of the correct method is all-important from the point of view results obtained and economy of material and labor. The variety of surfacing materials used in theatres is very great, but experience has shown the correct and most efficient way of cleaning every type of surface. For best results, janitors and porters should be instructed to follow methods which experience has shown to be most desirable for the surface in question. The present discussion will be confined to floors of marble, terrazzo or tile.

The first step in cleaning such floors is to remove as much as possible of loose, free dirt, which is done by sweeping. This saves the labor of taking up such dirt with the mop. A good quality hair broom should be used.

Two-Man Crew Preferable

In the case of a floor of any great area, maximum economy is achieved by using a two-man crew. The first man sweeps, the second applies the wetting and mopping process described below; the first man then does the final rinsing and mopping up with clean water.

The floor is swept and mopped one area at a time, each area being six or eight feet deep and the entire width of the space to be cleaned, unless the width is very great or is interrupted by pillars or other obvious partitions of area. The first step after sweeping a given area is to sprinkle it with water. This is followed by sprinkling, shaking or otherwise scattering a portion of cleaning compound over the wetted space.

A paste-like substance is formed by the mixture of water and cleaning compound. This paste is thoroughly worked over the surface with a mop or brush.

The time and effort needed in working the cleaning paste over a given surface, as well as the amount of cleaning compound to be used, are not constant, but vary according to condition of the surface in general and also according to its degree of dirtiness on a given night. The janitor or porter must be guided by his experience and by common sense. It is especially important not to use too much cleaning compound. Doing so not only wastes the compound, but wastes labor in unnecessary rinsings and moppings to get the excess off the floor.

Cleaning Area to Area

When a given area has been thoroughly scrubbed or mopped it will be covered with a pasty mass consisting of soap, detergent, dirt and water. This mass is pushed onto the next section of floor to be cleaned by means of a rubber squeegee, which leaves very little material behind to be removed by rinsing. This is done with a second mop (preferably by a second man, the one who did the initial sweeping) and with clean water. The rinsing mop is wrung dry, and the rinsing water changed, as often as necessary. The rinsing is continued until the last trace of soap and detergent have been removed.

The mass of paste that was pushed onto the next area is used for cleaning that area, only small amounts of cleaning compound being added to replace that left behind by the squeegee.

This method of dealing with tile, marble or terrazzo floors is the most economical in material and labor, and has been found to give the most satisfactory results.

Getting and Keeping Rid of Roaches

• THESE ARE times when roaches are likely to give the theatre special annoyance. They are not by any means seasonal pests, but they make their appearance during the cool months with extraordinary persistence. More importantly, the increasing amount of confectionery vending in theatres is aggravating to some extent the cause. It is not difficult to get and keep rid of roaches, so far as their being any real nuisance is concerned; to do so merely means consistent application of effective methods.

In all cracks of toilet rooms, beneath baseboards, in ventilating outlets located where there might be a means of entry, a powder consisting of sodium fluoride, full strength or adulterated one-half with powdered gypsum or wheat flour, may be dusted with good results. This should be done every night until the roaches are gone, and as often thereafter as their reappearance indicates. This powder will bring them out of their "lairs" soon to die, and they may be swept up and burned.

Roach powders are of course obtainable. Many of them contain borax. Borax itself is also obtainable; it should not be used in its pure state, but be mixed with flour or sugar and placed around in the manner indicated above. The pure borax is not attractive to roaches.

An effective and especially clean method of dealing with roaches is to use phosphorous. Phosphorous, of course, is a poison and painfully injurious to the skin. The method consists in making up a paste of flour and powdered sugar with 2% of phosphorous, which is placed on old tin can lids, pieces of cardboard or something serving the same purpose, which in turn are placed in all likely sources of the pest.

Since it is food that attracts the roaches, a fundamental part of keeping rid of them is to keep the theatre as clean of bits of candy, popcorn, etc., as possible. If any workmen making repairs, etc., eat their lunches in the theatre, care should be taken to see that bits of their food are not left around.

about People of the Theatre

news of their activities reported from all sections — and briefly told.

EBB DUNCAN is manager of the Playhouse, a new $25,000 theatre at Carrollton, Ga. It is that city's third theatre and the first house to be opened outside the business section.

Architects F. J. BRIMEYER and A. E. GRELLINGER, in charge of the office of Kirchhoff & Rose, of Milwaukee, Wis., are working on plans for the modernization of the Majestic theatre in Sheboygan, Wis., a Warner Brothers house.

PERRY McGOWAN of Columbus, Miss., is the new manager of the Royal theatre in Gulfport, Miss. Mr. McGowan was at one time owner of the Princess theatre at Columbus but sold his property to ED KUYKENDALL, the MPTOA president.

LOUIS WIETHE of Cincinnati, has acquired the Ada at Ada, Ohio, formerly a unit of the late Clarence A. MacDonald circuit. Mr. Wiethe also operates the Bond, Roselawn and Westwood in Cincinnati and the Kentucky in Latonia, Ky.

HENRY NASSER, manager of the Royal theatre in San Francisco, has been elected president of the Polk-Van Ness-Larkin District Merchants' Association, an organization famous for its frontier days festivals.

The newly reconstructed Ken theatre in Chicago, operated by BENJAMIN BANOVITZ, has been opened. The theatre has a 40-foot vertical sign and a tower with maroon and ivory porcelain illuminated by colored flood lighting. The interior features murals of the Chicago skyline. Mr. Banovitz also operates the Harmony and Plaisance in Chicago. The house was formerly a unit of the Schoenstadt circuit. Plans for the remodeling were by ROY B. BLASS, Chicago architect.

MILTON YASSENOFF has been appointed manager of the Beechwold, new Columbus, Ohio, suburban theatre. The house was recently completed by the interests of the late Clarence A. MacDonald.

Projectionists of Allentown, Pa., held their annual ball recently at the Keystone Trail Inn. JIM RAU, projectionist of the Rialto theatre, is business agent of the union.

LEWIS LEPOVITZ, manager of the Iowa theatre in Des Moines, is now also managing the Iowa at Madrid, while his father, ROY LEPOVITZ, is at Onawa, Ia., where he has recently purchased the Onawa and New Iowa theatres from R. A. OLIVER.

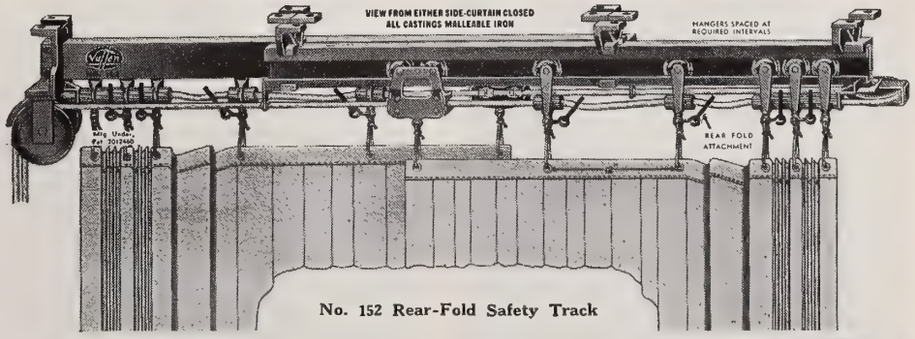
The remodeled Pratt City theatre in Birmingham, Ala., has been opened. T. PAUL LIGNON is manager.

BOB TALBERT, city manager of three theatres in Spartanburg, S. C., operated by Wilby-Kincy, has been named a director of the merchants' bureau of the local Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Talbert will be in charge of amusement activities.

WILLIAM WOBBER, long interested with his brother, HERMAN WOBBER, in theatre holdings in San Francisco, has been elected president of the San Francisco Board of Police Commissioners.

The Oakley in Chicago, Ill., which was recently purchased by LESTER RETCHIN, who some time ago sold the Howard theatre to Balaban & Katz, has been opened after remodeling. Cost of the renovation work reached $40,000, according to Mr. Retchin.

The Colonial theatre, Wheeling, W. Va., has been acquired by the Shea Theatrical Enterprises, Inc., of New York. The house, formerly operated by Laskey & Harris, will be remodeled.



HERBERT ROSENER, who operates the Larkin theatre in San Francisco, plans to change the name of the house to Studio.

The Tacoma theatre, 500 seat house in Indianapolis operated by ALF J. ACKERMAN, suffered extensive damage from smoke and fire when flames originating in an adjoining building spread to it. No one was in the theatre at the time.

ALVIN F. SLOAN of the St. Cloud Amusement Corporation, Washington, N. J., has announced acquisition of three theatres in Hunterton, Sussex and Warren counties, in New Jersey.

The Ideal Seating Company was host in February to all employes and wives at a banquet at the Hotel Pantlind in Grand Rapids, Mich. The occasion marked the completion of twenty years in business. The principal speaker of the evening was Mayor George Walsh of Grand Rapids. WILLIAM A. GEDRIS, president of the company, addressed the gathering, tendering the thanks

TWO REASONS WHY VALLEN LEADS

No. 152 Rear-Fold Safety Track

When dependable equipment is available to all and really costs less, why take chances?

Rear-Fold Feature

Jr. Control Curtain Speed 125 fpm. with Pillow Action

VALLEN, INC., Akron, Ohio

their loyalty and service. Sterling Silver merit buttons were awarded employes who have been with the company five years or more. Those who have been with the company ten years or more were the recipients of gold buttons.

T. Grayson Poats, for the past several years manager of the Ritz theatre, Columbia, S. C., has been transferred to Rochingham, N. C., as city manager for three houses. Succeeding Mr. Poats at the Ritz is Curtis H. Mees, who has been manager of the Strand in Columbia; and replacing Mr. Mees is Jack Jordan, formerly assistant manager of the Palmetto. Tom Allen, formerly assistant manager of the Ritz, succeeded Mr. Jordan at the Palmetto, and Mr. Allen's post has been awarded to Frank D. Bryant of Marsion, S. C.

W. V. Tony of Des Moines, head of the Tri-States circuit maintenance department, is supervising the redecorating of the Ottumwa and Capitol theatres in Ottumwa, Ia.

Fred Quatrano of the Lido theatre in Waterbury, Conn., expects to build a new 700 seat house in Newington, Conn., a locality previously without a motion picture theatre.

A second theatre adjoining that of the Victory at Rogers, Ark., will be ready for an April opening, according to an announcement made by John L. Cooper, owner of the Victory. The second house will seat 300. The Victory seats 700.

Bill O'Donnell, district manager of Texas Consolidated, an Interstate holding, has announced March openings for the Palace at Corsicana, 800 seats, rebuilt after a fire; and the Rio in the same city, seating 450. The Rex, with 400 seats, at Paris, and the Bowie in Brownwood are expected to open in April.

United California Theatres, Inc., headed by R. A. McNeill, owners with associated companies of 86 theatres in Northern California, has moved to 995 Market St., San Francisco, where a ten-year lease has been taken on the entire second floor.

Philip Schwartz will enlarge his Parkway, Bridgeport, Conn., increasing the capacity by 200 seats.

The new RKO-Reade Trent theatre in Trenton, N. J., has been opened. Thomas W. Lamb was the architect.

P. G. Held and his son, Gordon, operators of the Strand in Griswold, Ia., for many years, have sold their business to Neely & Coskin, owners of the Globe, who closed the theatre. The Odd Fellows lodge, owners of the building housing the Globe, will build an addition that will allow space for 125 more seats in the auditorium. Mr. Held is seeking a new location.

■ ■ ■

R. Molzon is constructing a theatre at Paincourtville, La., the first motion picture house in that community. Mr. Molzon also operates theatres in three nearby communities.

The Arcadia theatre, Reading, Pa., has been reopened as the Ritz theatre upon the completion of a renovation program. Dark for several years, the house was recently leased and modernized by the Wilmer & Vincent circuit.

Bob Russell, Loew-Poli manager in New Haven, Conn., is celebrating his 22nd anniversary with the Poli theatre circuit. Mr. Russell was first employed by the late S. Z. Poli, founder, as an auditor.

Negotiations have been completed for the renewal of RCA service covering the 90 houses of the Tri-States Theatres Corporation of Des Moines, Iowa, and for the addition of the Wineland group of theatres, according to W. L. Jones, national service manager. The Tri-States deal was handled by Myron Blank for the circuit, and by Mr. Jones, Edward Auger, Photophone sales executive; and W. F. Hardman, Photophone district service manager, for RCA. Lloyd Wineland and U. Hollingsworth signed for their five houses,, the Highland, Congress and Fairlawn in Washington, the Laurel at Laurel, Md., and the Capitol at Capitol Heights, Md. C. H. Taylor, district service manager, handled the negotiations for RCA.

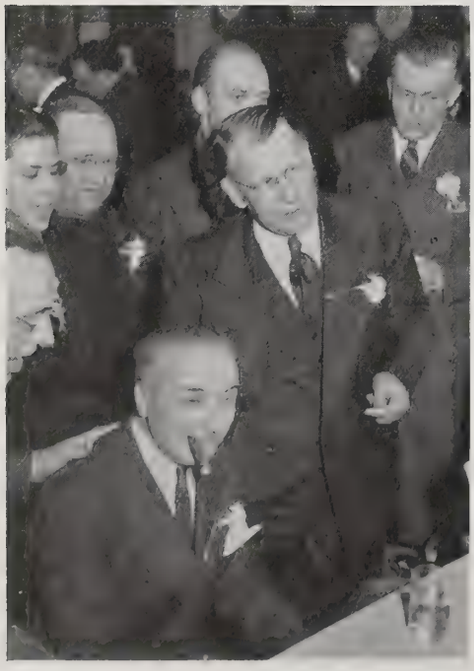
Alvin S. Hatch has reopened the Half Moon Bay theatre in Half Moon Bay, Calif.

Comerford Theatres, Inc., has purchased the Lyric theatre in Binghamton, N. Y., for a reported price of $125,000. Included in the sale was a garage in the rear and a one story brick building adjoining the theatre. The house will continue under the same name. The property was acquired from Dr. H. Jackson King and George King, sons of the late George King, who erected the theatre several years ago.

Charles E. Staples, half owner and general manager of the State theatre in Calais, Me., and the Queen theatre in St. Stephen, N. B., has sold his interests in the State and has become the sole owner of the Queen. The State was purchased by the Lockwood & Gordon Enterprises of Boston, Mass., and will be operated by a local company, Calais Theatre, Inc.

■ ■ ■

Morris Wax, head of a circuit of colored patronage houses in Philadelphia, has purchased the long dark Lincoln.



Rorerto Nahle of the El Palacio Mercantil, Rio Grande, Zac., has just finished re-equipping his projection room with S.O.S. Superior Eagle projectors, Super Arc lamphouses and Gyro-Stabilizer sound systems with inverse feed-back amplifier. The same types of equipment have been installed in the Teatro Encanto in Guadalajara, Ja.

Ervin Koenigsreiter, manager of the Greendale theatre in Greendale, Wis., the Government's low-cost housing project, has been named general manager of all Greendale co-operative enterprises for the ensuing year.

Nat Williams has contracted for Altec Service in his five Interstate Enterprises theatres in Southern Georgia. L. W. McClung negotiated for Altec.

United California Theatres has purchased the new Turlock theatre, Turlock, Calif., from Dan Numan.

Herb Graef, formerly with Warner Brothers in Sheboygan, Wis., has been named manager of the Chilton theatre, Chilton, Wis., succeeding Elmer Nitzke.

After the National Theatre Supply Company managers' convention in New York a few weeks ago, these goings-on were staged by Oscar Neu at the Neumade Products offices. At left is indicated how they made Rudy Kneuer of International Projector work at the piano, and he liked it! Among Rudy's fans are A. B. Smith of Dallas, E. J. Purvis and H. LaMore of Irwin Seating; and J. W. Schreve of Kansas City. Above Bill Kunsman of National Carbon; Harry Strong (you know 'im); and Herb Griffin of Simplex fame are discovered listening attentively to each other.

Academy Acoustic Recommendations

¶ Examining the latest standards of the Research Council for better sound

By GEORGE SCHUTZ

WITH PUBLICATION in the March issue of the Society of Motion Picture Engineers Journal, the acoustical recommendations of the Research Council may be taken as official, and they now become available for general promulgation and comment. Developed by the Standardization Committee of the Research Council which is the technical division of Hollywood's Academy of Motion Picture Arts & Sciences, these recommendations represent further effort of Production to bring about a greater competence among theatres to complete the job begun in the studios.

The Council established a group of technicians for study of theatre practices several years ago, and standards on a number of aspects of sound reproduction have resulted. In view of the haphazard practices that have generally characterized handling of the acoustic factors in theatre design, the acoustical recommendations must be praised as another expression of the Council's practical, serious interest in what happens to film product after the creative community gets done with it.

Noting the year of these recommendations, and recalling that of the establishment of sound, one may remark, perhaps profanely but also quite plausibly, that this is a hell of a time for the industry to take some official, constructive notice of acoustics as part of the sound transmission system. The delay cannot be blamed, however, on the Research Council, which, at least in its present structure and purpose, is of quite recent origin. Then, too, it has been the habit of the business to shy away from all operations and processes of the business not immediately concerned with "showmanship," which has been (and still is in many quarters) thought to be exclusively a matter of shouting as loudly as possible about a picture—a natural hangover from the film's carnival-like beginnings. Being an integral part of the business, the Research Council, in both its efforts to standardize studio practices and its comparable interest in the theatre, gives rather official recognition of the fundamental differences between the Motion Picture and the other kinds of showbusiness.

The acoustical recommendations cover much the same ground as the material on acoustics that has been published in BETTER THEATRES, particularly during the last three or four years, and notably in the special articles and regular column of C. C. Potwin. In presenting the standards recommended by the Council, it is therefore proper to consider wherein they run counter to practices that have been either recommended or presented as permissible in these pages.

The Defects of Rules

At the outset, of course, the theatre operator and designer may properly bear in mind that it is difficult to lay down a set of rules that will cover every variation in conditions encountered among all theatres. There are things that one should do, things that one must not do; but these still leave a lot of things that one can do without being guilty of giving only casual, rule-of-thumb consideration to the acoustical side of sound reproduction.

First of all, the acoustical design and treatment should not be treated in such general terms that the theatre operator or his architect is left more or less in the dark as to how to proceed with an actual design problem. Since each theatre involves a different design, in view of essential variations in the contour and the dimensions of the plot, the arrangement of seating, variations of floor pitch, etc., it is axiomatic that the fundamental requirements for acoustical planning will change with each theatre. Ideally, the theatre structure would be developed around the acoustical and other engineering requiremnts, but in many cases there are other limiting factors which make it necessary that a suitable compromise be accepted. At the same time, the architect must be given some freedom in design. While acoustical shaping undoubtedly does have architectural value, the designer usually requires more guidance than a general recommendation will give him if he is to develop a structure that will ultimately satisfy the demands of both sound and appearance.

Cubage and Proportions

For example, the committee's recommendations begin:

"The cubical contents should be kept to a minimum consistent with the number of seats required. . . ."

We might justifiably ask, "What is the minimum in relation to seating?" and, "What is the maximum limitation?" Data covering this point have been published, but do not appear in the Journal's presentation of the recommendations. Again:

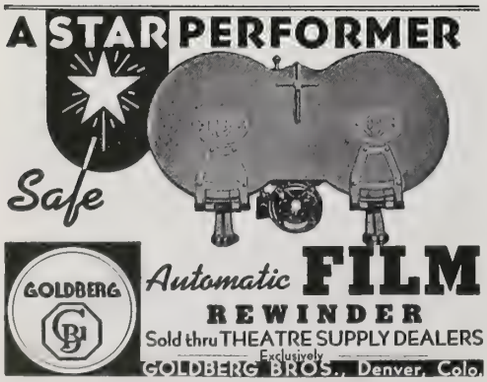
"The auditorium width should be from 50% to 70% of the length and the ceiling height should not be more than 40% of the length."

Now in acoustical design today, the concept of average ceiling height is losing its significance. There is a good deal of variation in ceiling height with variations in floor pitch, independent of architectural considerations, and rather than to give a percentage of auditorium length that should be used as a standard for ceiling height, which can lead to misunderstandings, it would seem to be more practical to let the ceiling height be determined by the desirable cubic volume (as well as by the projection and other acoustic requirements) after the floor plan proportions have been established. As shown diagrammatically in the June 1940, issue of BETTER THEATRES, the length of the floor plan of the auditorium proper should not be less than 1.4 times the width, nor greater than twice the width. In determining ceiling height, it should be borne in mind that it is possible to bring the ceiling down to a point too close to the audience, so that objectionable reflections may be encountered even though the ceiling is splayed or tilted. In other words, sufficient height should be assured

Revised

SIXTH EDITION--SUPPLEMENTED WITH

SOUND TROUBLE SHOOTING CHARTS



This is the second revision of the sixth edition of F. H. Richardson's Bluebook of Projection. Brought right up to the minute, it includes over 700 pages of the very latest data on assembly, wiring and functioning of all sound and projection apparatus. It also contains, for the first time, a comprehensive group of practical trouble-shooting charts and a lightning-fast alphabetical index system. Here is the most advanced textbook on sound reproduction and projection—a quick practical trouble-shooter and a sure solution to all the perplexing problems of projection room routine.

$7.25 POSTPAID

QUIGLEY BOOKSHOP

ROCKEFELLER CENTER, NEW YORK

A STAR PERFORMER

Safe

GOLDBERG

Automatic FILM REWINDER

Sold thru THEATRE SUPPLY DEALERS Exclusively

GOLDBERG BROS., Denver, Colo.

in the design to begin with, in order to avoid an effect of "cramping" the sound.

Surface Shape and Position

Also the paper in the Journal states, "Non-parallel surfaces should be used . . ." whereas it is the writer's understanding of the use of non-parallel surfaces, that a proper use of these surfaces is frequently helpful. The trouble lies in the improper use of them. This is a very good example of the difficulty in many instances of applying general rules to specific cases. The arrangement of the non-parallel surfaces and the amount of "non-parallelism" used depend upon the position of the sources of sound, the desired shape of the seating area, and the location of other reflecting and absorbing surfaces.

Related to this is the statement, "Convex rather than concave walls and ceiling sections should be provided. The wall and ceiling surfaces should otherwise be broken up so as to diffuse the sound. . . ."

Now at various times in BETTER THEATRES it has been indicated that concave surfaces should be avoided! Moreover, in stating that convex sections should be provided, a definite limitation is immediately placed on the architectural design! We take the Council to mean that when large surfaces must be curved for reasons of architectural design (decorative effect), convex rather than concave surfaces should be used. Actual, as a number of theatres described in these pages have shown, there are many ways in which the walls and ceiling surfaces can be broken up for sound control, such as the use of angular forms, pilasters, offset section, corrugations, etc.

Floor Area Absorption

Another statement is true enough, but it tends to be misleading. It is this:

"The average absorption per square foot on the floor and ceiling should not be appreciably different from the average absorption per square foot on the side walls. . . ."

Well, by the very nature of things, the audience, which provides a great deal of sound absorption, is concentrated in the floor area! This means that the floor area has too much absorption to begin with! It is difficult to see how the recommended condition could be achieved while at the same time permitting the auditorium to have a reverberation time anywhere near its optimum. A high absorption on the side walls and the ceiling equivalent to that of the floor—which is to say, the audience zone—would result in a "dead" house particularly with today's efficient acoustic correction materials.

It is also known that the shaping of the side wall and ceiling surfaces (as done in a number of buildings, theatrical and otherwise, during the past couple of years) can solve this very problem. Several theatres have been dealt with in BETTER THEATRES in which no absorbing material was used on either the side walls or the ceiling.

Other Recommendations

The other recommendations do not seem to be open to question and the real purpose of this discussion—to report what the Research Council has painstakingly prepared for the guidance of theatre operators, projectionists and architects—can from here on be more apparent. These other recommendations are:

Aisles and Seating

"Well upholstered seats and ozite-lined carpet should be provided." (No plug for "Ozite," a specific make of all-hair carpet lining, is intended, we take it.)

Back-Stage Resonance

"The back-stage should be so shaped and so treated acoustically that resonant reinforcement of sound will not be reflected into the auditorium to distort sound quality." The only comment that occurs to us on this is that the recommendations would have been more complete and helpful if specific information had been given on the shaping of the space behind the screen to control resonance.

Proscenium Treatment

"A heavily carpeted proscenium, designed for good viewing conditions from the front seating section" is recommended, and since this cannot mean floor area immediately in front of the first row of seats (how many theatres have substantial floor space there?), it must mean the apron of the stage or screen platform and possibly steps leading up to it. Carpeting or equivalent padding should of course be laid here if the specific design of the auditorium and the relationship of the seating area to the horns are such that interfering sound is reflected by the apron or steps. An exception to this is possible, however, for it is conceivable that reflections from the apron could benefit the acoustics of the auditorium in particular instances.

Noise Exclusion

The paper also includes several references regarding control of extraneous noise. It is recommended that:

"Auditorium walls [be treated] with sufficient sound insulation material to prevent extraneous noise [from] entering the auditorium. . . ."

"The projection room [be] acoustically treated with fireproof material and projection ports equipped with acoustic baffles." (This follows the SMPE standards, concurring in their insistence—which may or may not be always wholly justified—that ports be acoustically baffled rather than closed with optical glass.)

"All equipment subject to vibration and hum, such as arc generators, voltage regulators, lighting control equipment, etc., [be] always acoustically isolated from the auditorium."

"Air-conditioning equipment of a high-volume, low-velocity type with air ducts [be] provided with acoustic baffles."

Thus has the Theatre Standards Committee of the Research Council undertaken to recognize the importance that acoustics should be consistently given in practical, businesslike direction of motion picture theatre affairs.

Here's your  QUIZ, KIDS!  There's a POT OF  GOLD awaiting all exhibitors who know these answers. You can TAKE IT OR LEAVE IT. But just  remember that today when you think of light it must be DOUBLE OR NOTHING. And, now  PROFESSOR QUIZ, more  INFORMATION PLEASE!

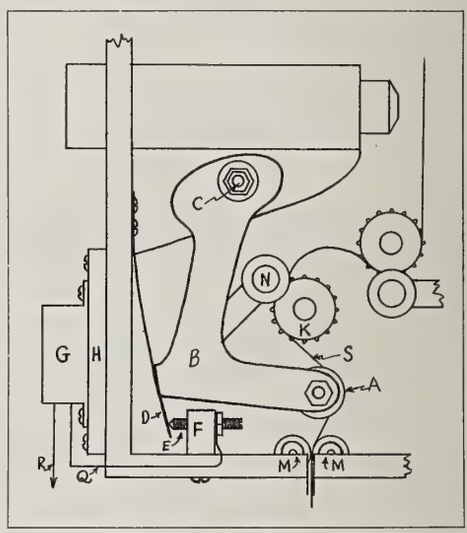
? ? ?	&	ANS.
Why are so many moderate sized theatres installing the new intermediate capacity high intensity projection arc lamps?		Because today, much more light, snow-white light, is absolutely necessary to the satisfactory projection of colored pictures and present dense black and white films.
Does this mean that low intensity lamps can no longer be used satisfactorily?		It does. Furthermore, there is no longer a reason for theaters with screens up to 18 feet in width denying themselves the vivid brilliancy of high intensity projection.
But why didn't they replace their low intensities with high intensities before now?		Because, up to the time the Strong Utility was introduced, the operating cost was considered prohibitive by many of them.
How much more light does the Strong Utility project?		Twice as much as any low intensity lamp, but this is not all . . . it projects light of the same characteristics as that used in the studios where the pictures are shot.
. . . and does this doubling in light double the operating cost?		No. Strong has made it possible at an increased combined current and carbon cost of less than 2c an hour.
Who sells Strong Utility lamps?		Your Independent Theatre Supply Dealer. He'll arrange a demonstration in your theatre without obligation.
Who manufactures them?		The Strong Electric Corporation, 2501 Lagrange Street, Toledo, Ohio.

F. H. Richardson's COMMENT

An Automatic Alarm When Film Piles Up

FROM AN OLD and valued correspondent, Jack Prater, projectionist at the Congress theatre in Palouse, Wash., comes a letter with an interesting idea. I both like and admire Prater. He is not one of those tight-wads who, having got hold of an idea of value, proceeds to dig a deep hole and bury it. On the contrary, when he makes a discovery that seems to have value he loses no time in spreading it abroad for the benefit of all: In his present communication he says:

F. H. R.



"Despite the fact that projectors already have had an abundance of gadgets wished on them, the one I shall describe is proving to have an added safety value in protecting audiences and property from fire. It is an automatically operated alarm calling the attention of the projectionist when the take-up fails or is in danger of failing. In addition it serves as a shock absorber to relieve uneven or sudden strain on the film, especially when the projector is in process of gaining speed in starting.

"The gadget is herewith diagrammatically illustrated. It consists of a flanged idler roller A, mounted on movable arm B, which latter is so pivoted at C that B-A is permitted to move freely forward or backward. A flat spring, such as a piece of old clock spring, D, pushes arm, B, forward until it (spring D) contacts adjustment screw E, which is mounted in insulated block F, and by wire Q is connected to one terminal of an ordinary buzzer, G. From the other buzzer terminal, wire R extends to the 'hot' or ungrounded side of the exciter lamp supply. Most buzzers have one of their terminals connected to the casing. If so, it is necessary to insulate the buzzer case from the projector with a block of insulating material H.

"When the film, S, passes over the idler roller A on its way from lower holdback sprocket K to lower magazine valve rollers M-M, the normal pull of the projector takeup causes the film to push roller arm B backward against spring D, forcing the spring away from contact screw E. Should the takeup tension fail or become dangerously weak, spring D is able to push arm B forward until the spring makes contact with screw E, whereupon the buzzer gives warning.

"But that is not all, for should a bent reel rub against the inside of the magazine, the buzzer will advise of the fact every time the takeup reel loses speed. Should the reel stop, or the film break, the buzzer will ring continuously until it is switched off or the contact broken, which may be done by switching the exciter current either off or to the other projector. To prevent the buzzer from ringing when the magazine is empty and it is desired to burn the exciter lamp, roller arm B may be so placed that when holdback sprocket idler N is swung open it strikes arm B and forces it backward, thus breaking contact between D and E, as well as holding roller A in a more convenient position for threading.

"In the six months since I have made and installed these alarms, my attention has been directed to three takeup failures which otherwise would not have been discovered until considerable damage had resulted.

Two were due to bent reels, and by aiding the normal pull by hand power the show was not interrupted.

"The third case was a freak worthy of note. A splice had held while it ran through the entire projector, including the sound mechanism, but pulled apart just before reaching the take-up reel. The alarm described was on the job and started doing its stuff, though the reel itself was turning okay and both picture and sound gave no indication of anything wrong. I was tempted to call the alarm a prevaricator, but opened the magazine door and saw about 30 feet of film doubled back and forth around the half-filled rotating reel. I was able to stop the projector without any damage being done, other than momentary stoppage of the show.

"Without the alarm on duty, a much larger quantity of film might easily have piled up before the trouble was detected. In fact, I have known of 250 feet of film being piled up in the lower magazine on top of and around the rotating reel before the film jammed in the soundhead and the trouble was discovered. Though skeptical at first, I am now well convinced of the value of this alarm, especially in one-man rooms, where the projectionist is busy threading the other projector — or the 'operator' is reading the news, building a radio, or what-have-you!"

Interesting, Brother Prater. Many thanks for letting us all in on the design of your gadget and your experience with it.

YOUR CUSTOMERS APPRECIATE THE BEST

The name "Bausch & Lomb" on your projection lens is your guarantee of the finest precision-made optical instruments.

That's why leading theaters all over the Americas use B&L Super Cinephor Lenses. For years they have been noted for more screen brilliance and images of greater definition. Now, with the new coated projection lenses, image contrast is still further improved, and the focus sharpened by cutting down reflection and increasing light transmission.

Send for descriptive literature on the Super Cinephor to Bausch & Lomb Optical Co., 679 St. Paul Street, Rochester, N. Y.

BAUSCH & LOMB OPTICAL COMPANY

EST. 1853

FOR YOUR EYES, INSIST ON BAUSCH & LOMB EYEWEAR, MADE FROM BAUSCH & LOMB GLASS TO BAUSCH & LOMB HIGH STANDARDS OF PRECISION

Communications for F. H. Richardson will reach him if addressed to him either at BETTER THEATRES, Rockefeller Center, New York . . . or at No. 3 Tudor Lane, Scarsdale, N. Y.

The Problem of the Small Town Projectionist

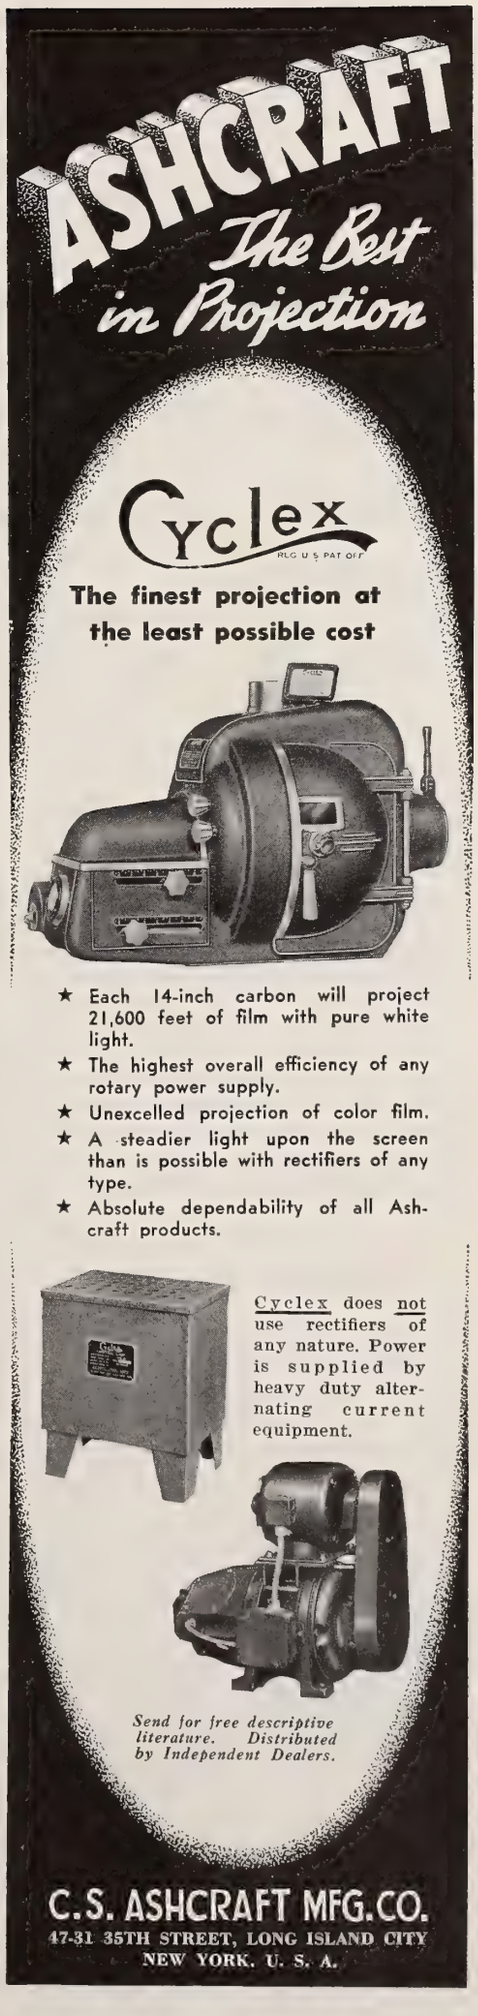
I DO NOT know what portion of the total motion picture business is done by the small town theatres, but it must be considerable and anyway small town folks make up an important part of the motion picture's audience. Yet, in looking over the various trade publications, I find BETTER THEATRES is the only one that pays any appreciable attention to their operating problems. . . . From a southern projectionist comes a letter which will be given almost in its entirety, since it so evidently comes from this man's heart. He writes:

"Dear Mr. Richardson: I wish to lay before those many who read your writings a condition that has existed ever since the beginning of the industry, though as far as I know no real effort has ever been made to find a solution for the injustice it presents. Please understand, Mr. Richardson, I am not one who is continually raising a rumpus about my too-low wages, but right now I believe the time has arrived when every projectionist who really believes himself to be a projectionist, but who still does not belong to a union (not because he hasn't tried to join one, but because the union has rejected his application for membership without just reason) should start raising plenty of rumpus. Why, if these small-town men have both worked and studied hard to perfect themselves in the practice and the technique of projection, should they not be justly entitled to their chance in the field?

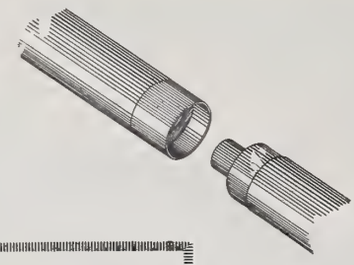
"The non-union projectionist (note that I say projectionist) who is unable to win membership in a union, hence is unable to advance in his profession, has every moral right to start raising a rumpus. He is often obliged to work for a salary far too low to meet ordinary needs—in fact, many are obliged to work for as low as ten dollars a week, for which sum they are not only expected to do all the work of projection, but must sweep floors, receive and deliver films from the express company, build fires, change fronts after the show and run errands in their spare time. When a breakdown occurs this small town man is seldom permitted to call in help. He must wade in and do it all himself (thereby, of course, gaining knowledge the city theatre man will never have). Many are forced to work without even a social security card, and as far as the Wages and Hours Act is concerned, it doesn't mean a thing to him. If one does not like the long hours imposed, one can always quit!

"I have struggled for eight years now, trying to better myself by joining a union. I know my job. I have handled every kind of breakdown known in our field, I have studied what books I could get my hands on, I have always striven to place before the audience the very best picture show possible with the equipment I have had to work with. But how many placed as I am are going on trying to attain the skill and knowledge sufficient to place upon the screen effectively all the bits of excellence recorded on films by the camera, working in conjunction with the marvelous sound equipment of today? If we cannot soon be able to better our conditions, then we must give up entirely. As matters now stand we cannot be called projectionists. A more fitting title would be Jack-of-all-trades."

Any man who is at all familiar with the motion picture business must know the justice of this man's plea. While all small town men are certainly not abused, I will wager that the above conditions hold true for a goodly part of them. I have tried to interest the unions in the plight of these men many times before, but the unions have other problems apparently of more urgent concern—or so they like to regard them.



Some Ideas That Show the Right Spirit



CY BARNES, projectionist at the Mode theatre in Cresco, Ia., writes, "I have read your Comment in BETTER THEATRES for some time. They have supplied me with many ideas that I found to be of practical value. Being a projectionist (if I may assume that title) with four years of practical experience. I have gathered together a few ideas that might be of use to others. Here they are:

"My employer had an old nickelodeon [presumably a mechanical music-maker] in the basement. I dug it out and cleaned it up, repaired it and placed it back of the screen. By connecting it with a switch in the projection room I can start or stop it at will. I dim the lights in the auditorium and run that nickelodeon from the time the doors open until the show is ready to start. The patrons seem well pleased—and, believe it or not, some of them come early just to hear the music! They say it is much better than a silent theatre and the time passes twice as fast.

"Another idea (though others may have used it): Near the rewind, within easy reach of same, I have installed a wall bracket (available at any hardware store), the same extending out so that an empty reel will hang on it. The use of this is to hang up a reel when one is breaking down a show and needs a small spot in which to wind up trailers, ads, etc.

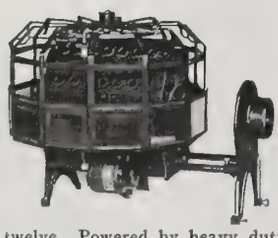
"I have also changed a hand-rewind into one that is motor driven, as follows. Bought a special pulley for the rewind. Drilled holes in the workbench top and placed the motor (an old fan motor will serve) under the bench top on a hinged base. The weight of the motor will serve to give ample ten-

CUT YOUR CARBON COSTS 10% TO 25%

USE DROLL PROCESSED NATIONAL CARBON COMPANY SUPREX AND *HIGH INTENSITY CARBONS

No short lengths of carbons need be thrown away. Simply insert male end of fresh carbon into female end of burnt stub, using copper sleeve for contact. Replace it in the projector. It is consumed, sleeve and all, giving light of unaltered quality and intensity.

Every joint a perfect fit. No delay. No dirt. No machine to buy. No work to do.



Now used in over 600 theatres and spreading fast.

(*Adapter used with High Intensity carbons provides 20 minutes more burning time.)

Write for full information.

DROLL Theatre Supply Co.
351 East Ohio St., Chicago, Ill.
709 West Wells St., Milwaukee, Wis.

Best Automatic Slide Projectors

Extensively used in theatre projection booths, theatre lobbies, and on rooftops with outdoor screens. The 500-watt model accommodates ten standard size (3¼" x 4") or smaller slides, the 1000 and 1500 watt models handle twelve. Powered by heavy duty motors.

Come ready for use completely equipped (except lamp bulb) with an easily focused mirror (which obtains maximum efficiency from the lamp source), approved cord and control switch, and any focus objective lens from 6" up to 36".

"Best" Hand Operated Slide Projectors also come in three sizes. See them at your dealers or write direct for literature.

BEST DEVICES CO. 10516 Western Ave. CLEVELAND, OHIO

sion to the belt; also this arrangement permits quick removal of belt if it is desired to operate it as a hand rewind. Just now I am working on an automatic shut-off switch for the rewind. Will send particulars as soon as complete."

All right, youse guys, ask me why I am publishing elementary matters of this kind! Maybe you forget that for every three or four theatres with all the fixings there is one serving a tiny, obscure community to the limit of that community's ability to support it. And those communities deem what is offered worthwhile motion picture entertainment. Such little theatres serve millions of people living in and around those small places; they would have to travel a considerable distance to reach larger theatres, which probably charge an admission price that they could afford only at very long intervals.

Good work, Brother Barnes.

From One of My Old Home Towns

FROM A STATE and city long beloved by myself because of past associations (I made it my home for several years) comes a letter advising that another of my old union comrades has passed into the Great Beyond. However, not all the contents of this letter is sad, for Brother R. C. Beecher, secretary of the projectionists local union in Pueblo, Colo., says:

"Conditions in the field in and around Pueblo are fair. Pueblo has four downtown theatres in operation, plus one located in what we might call upper Pueblo, all of which employ two projectionists. They operate 40 hours per week, and the scale is $46, which we must admit is not bad.

"In addition there are two suburban houses which open evenings only, except Sundays, when a matinee is played. The scale for these houses is $35, per week, plus $5 for the Sunday matinee."

Yes, when a young gaffer I was engineer of the Central Block in Pueblo and lived there for something like five years. Heigh-ho, how time flies!

An Arc Condition That Poses a Puzzler

BEFORE ME lies a letter which puzzles me—the puzzle being how it may be best answered. It reads:

"At present I am using low-intensity lamps which supply what I think is good screen illumination. The lamps are fed by two 30-ampere rectifiers supplying single-phase, 110-volt power, which gives me an open voltage of about 65. With this set-up I have a lot of trouble with the arc-feed motors, as the percentage in drop at the arc is a large percentage of the total voltage. Further difficulty is experienced by line voltage variation, so that all in all obtain very good results.

I have been trying to induce the manager to install a generator and 3-phase power, my argument being that we would get very much more screen illumination with the same amount of power taken from the line. This would in part be due to the fact that the a.c. ripple in the rectifiers would be eliminated, also because of the fact that the carbon craters cool to some extent at every alternation. I am also told that the cost of operating a generator would be lower, considered over a period of time, and that the lamps would feed better. We have the power available and installation cost would be small.

The best selling point in your argument is that undoubtedly, with the same amperage you certainly would get a somewhat increased screen illumination, which illumination would not only be higher, but also it would be more steady. There are, however, other things to consider, first of which is the fact that, presuming you are to be the one who will operate the plant, suppose something happens to make a change in projectionist necessary. Very possibly that might transform the winner into a loser. You might, and from what you say I believe you would, be able to operate the plant you suggest economically. The man who succeeds you might not.

Reduce the cost of operation of the new plant as nearly as possible to dollars and cents. Estimate the probable improvement in results, and comparing these two, make your own decision as to whether the change would or would not be profitable to the management. Not a very satisfactory answer, perhaps, but really the best that can be given without being in immediate contact with your particular situation.

Our Mr. Isaac Defines Projectionist for the English

READING THE November issue of The Projectionist, an English publication, I found an article by Lester Isaacs, director of projection for Loew's, Inc., wherein he defines projectionist in a way well worth our consideration here. It runs as follows:

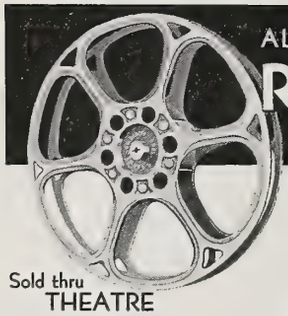
"When a man has practical knowledge of optics, electricity and mechanics—when he has learned how to handle a delicate and inflammable material in conjunction with a high-amperage illuminant, knows time, color and sound—has experienced the peculiarity of managers and the sensibility of actors or musicians, when he has learned how to work irregular hours during 365 days of the year—when he can work effectively with constantly changing associates, in what is all too often an improperly designed and constructed projection room—when he has merged all this he becomes a showman and a projectionist."

A Leaf That Can Keep Films from Drying Out?

FRED A. MILLER, projectionist of the Hollywood theatre in Montevideo, Minn., is interested in securing all

"Cut out the sad parts once more, Snitkin, and you're fired."

Courtesy "Sketch"——



Weep No More, Exhibitor!

Exhibitors need no longer be unhappy about dismal screen lighting. They eliminate their old low intensity lamps and install the Simplex High. Then, for the first time they see how beautiful colored pictures can be. They find much joy in the fact that operating costs are but slightly higher. Any National Theatre Supply Company branch will be glad to demonstrate.

SUPER-LITE LENSES
PRO-JEX SOUND UNITS
It pays to install the best—
Your patrons will appreciate it!
A TRY-OUT WILL CONVINCE YOU
PROJECTION OPTICS CO. INC.
330 LYELL AVE., ROCHESTER, N.Y., U.S.A.

FOR PEAK PERFORMANCE of any high grade lamp use

GARVER
45-60 Ampere ROYAL RECTIFIER for efficient operation of Suprex-Type high intensity projection lamps. See your dealer or write for folder.
GARVER ELECTRIC CO. • UNION CITY, IND.
GARVER
KURRENT CHANGER
The ideal 15-30 ampere rectifier, for efficient low intensity operation. See your dealer or write for folder.
GARVER ELECTRIC CO. • UNION CITY, IND.

ALUMINUM
REELS
GOLDBERG BROS.
DENVER, COLO.
Sold thru
THEATRE SUPPLY
DEALERS · Exclusively ·
ASK YOUR DEALER
GOLDBERG

QUICK AS A WINK
PORTHOLE CHANGEOVERS
Strictly Mechanical - Fast, Positive, Double-Action Blades - No Wires - Easily Installed
For Descriptive Literature write
THE ARMSTRONG CO. 1448 Ninth Street Charleston, Ill.

SOUND
TROUBLE-SHOOTING CHARTS
$1.00 POSTPAID
QUIGLEY BOOKSHOP
Rockefeller Center, New York

the information and details available on the new "control track sound" and the equipment needed for same. He also says, "A film ad salesman told me that there is a certain kind of leaf that can be placed in the film can to prevent stored film from drying out."

Articles detailing the technical features of Fantasound and Vitasound were published in the November and December issues of BETTER THEATRES.

As to a kind of leaf which, if placed in a film can, will keep the films fresh, I am sure the exchanges would be glad to know of it if such a thing is possible. Personally, I have never heard of any that would do the trick. Friend daughter chimes in to tell me that all good cooks know that an apple placed in a cookie jar will keep cookies moist, so maybe we had better include a course on cooking in our study of projection.

A Move to Define Projection Light Sources

E. R. GEIB of the National Carbon Company, has requested the Projection Practice Committee of the SMPE to prepare exact definitions of the various types of electric arc now in use for projection purposes. This is an action for which there is distinct need.

In the past there were many and rapid changes in electric arc light sources, but things have now reached a point where changes will not be nearly so frequent, therefore defining what we now have in exact terms is in order.

Plight of the Union Projectionist on Strike

BEFORE ME lies a letter from a projectionist in which rather bitter complaint is voiced as to procedure under circumstances described in lengthy detail. With a lot of words squeezed out, the matter boils down to this: This chap joined a union, no matter where, and after a lapse of time was called out on strike. Here is what he says about it:

"I carried the banner until the job grew monotonous. Finally I was chucked into the city bastile on a charge of distributing hand-bills [They were circulars calling attention to the strike.—F.H.R.] without a permit. . . .

"Finally the union was unable longer to pay strike benefits, or even buy meals for the pickets, yet refused to call the strike off, so this complainant finding himself unable to function without food, "was granted a permit to work within the jurisdiction of a sister local, where work was obtained."

There is much more, but the question submitted seems to be this: Has one union the right to discharge a member of another local union, working by permit within its jurisdiction, when one of its own members happens to be out of work? The answer is, yes, the union has that right. The union in question permitted this projectionist temporarily to fill a position for which it temporarily had no members available. When it had one of its own members available, that job was of course his. Nothing wrong with that.

This question has been presented to me perhaps a hundred times during the last 30 years. A union man out of work may obtain employment if, and only if, a sister local has an opening and no member of its own to fill it.

A Reply to Some Letters on Qualifications

EVERY ONCE in a while I get a letter from some young projectionist or chap yearning to be one, asking me to list the qualifications of a projectionist. Although I have variously discussed this subject through the years, I do so again, in the hope of answering many of these fellows at one swoop.

We must assume at the outset that the projectionist know his job. He must have that high respect for his profession which will cause him to feel embarrassment under circumstances that force him to place before audiences anything less than the best results the equipment in his charge can produce. The projection room is no proper place for a lazy man.

In a sense all duties of the projectionist are "most important," since the final performance which places picture and sound before audiences is dependent upon the perfect interlocking of all those many minor items that go to make up the whole. The following items are named as those possible of enumeration without prohibitive consumption of space.

Promptness: It gets him on the job i nample time to prepare, without undue haste and therefore possibility of mechanical defects, all things so that the show may start at the appointed moment of time and be assured of effective continuance. It also finds him ready when any known act must be performed—not almost ready, but fully prepared. Promptness is always highly important.

Method: An established method of procedure makes for excellence in results in many ways. It causes the making of complete, careful inspections of all equipments and their parts at fixed, periodic times, it employs duplicate reports of inspections and of requisitions for replacement parts and supplies, one copy to be delivered to the manager's office, and one retained in the projection room files. Other highly important duties may be set forth as follows:

Keep all parts of port fire shutter system in perfect condition, testing it once each day. See to it that carbons are thoroughly dry before using. See to it that all parts of the lamps and projector mechanism are in good condition, that all lenses are perfectly clean, that glass port covers are as clean as it is possible to make them, that all travel ghost is removed; that definition of the screen image is critically sharp; that the projection room and all equipment therein is maintained in a state of cleanliness; that the atmospheric dust content is kept as low as possible; that all equipment parts are in correct adjustment; that lubrication of the proper sort is applied at the proper time; that unless away attending to some other necessary duty, he is beside the working projector every moment it is in operation.

The projectionist should remember that the exhibitor purchases his time and knowledge. Those things are the exhibitor's property just as much as is the hat he buys. He has the right to demand that every moment of the projectionist's working hours shall be employed for his benefit, insofar as it is possible so to devote it, which is all the time he is on duty with the exception that where there are two projectionists there may be some moments when there is really no duty for one of them to perform. In a one-man room there is never even so much as one moment while the show runs when he can find no duty to perform, even though it be no more than standing beside the working projector, watching the screen, ready to act instantly should need arise.

Then there is the imperative duty to acquire the knowledge necessary to do the job well. In an old scrapbook I read:

"'Tis a very healthy plan as a sane, progessive man
To get knowledge where you can and get a lot;
But the wisest thing of all is to find, 'fore curtain falls
How to use the little knowledge that you've got."

This bit of wisdom is worthy of deep consideration and study by both theatre managers and projectionists. It is truly astonishing how few men rise to the point of making efficient use of the little knowledge they have got. Wise, indeed, is the man who realizes how very small is the knowledge in his possession compared with what he might possess did he really and earnestly apply himself to study; and who realizes that the highest value of his present knowledge is that it makes him the more able to learn more.

Not Letting Good Enough Alone

That is why a scientist is a scientist. He stores up a fund of basic knowledge. He then goes forth, using that small fund as a pick and shovel with which to dig into the great mountain of knowledge.

Once it was thought engineers had accomplished a marvel when they had actually perfected a mechanism by means of which sixteen photographs could be impressed upon photographic emulsion each second of time, and a means to project them on a screen so as to simulate the actions of life. But the engineers did not stop there, as witness the splendid screen images of today as compared with those of 1896. Then came the addition of sound —another marvel! But still the engineers had merely added to their tools and they continued to dig with renewed energy until —well, look and listen to the results in even the smallest theatre of today!

The projectionist endeavors to get good pay, he therefore should place himself in a position to give expert service. Now "expert service" includes many things, among which are ability to take such competent care of the costly equipment that it will not only produce the results it is made to give, but do so with maximum economy in upkeep and power costs. The theatre manned by a really competent manager and an equally competent projectionist, will place before its patrons a sparklingly reproduced film, which is what the public pays for—and more and more demands that it get.

"The pay isn't always good," some may say. But to say that because of the low pay one cannot be expected to have expert knowledge, seems just a bit like reasoning in reverse. The logical reasoning would seem to be something like this: I will first equip myself with expert knowledge; this will enable me to perform expert service, then I will demand pay commensurate with that kind of service.

Unions are the leaders in pay increase demands, yet many of them make no adequate effort to induce their members, or to compel them, if necessary, to attain any high standard of knowledge commensurate with their demands for wage increases. Both projectionists and theatre managers should be well paid, but by all rules of common sense, they should put themselves in a position to be worth to the boss all that they ask for.

CHAMPIONS WIN through their ability to ALWAYS deliver a FINE PERFORMANCE

That's the 25-year record of the

TransVerteR

The theatre owner and projectionist using the Transverter know that these super values can be depended upon. . . . Long years of uninterrupted service . . . with low cost of operation . . . and that FIRST COST IS THE ONLY COST.

Ask your nearest dealer . . .
National Theatre Supply Company in the U. S. A. or General Theatre Supply Co. in Canada
. . . about the Hertner Transverter

THE HERTNER ELECTRIC CO. 12690 ELMWOOD AVENUE CLEVELAND, OHIO, U. S. A.

Exclusive Manufacturers of the Transverter

CATALOG BUREAU

Authentic information on equipment, furnishings and materials will be sent theatre executives, architects and projectionists indicating their interests in the coupon below. Refer to item by number from following list whenever possible; otherwise explain in the space indicated for numbers in the coupon.

ADVERTISING
101—Advertising projectors
102—Cutout devices
103—Display frames
104—Flashers
105—Lamps, incand, reflector
106—Lamps, incand, flood
107—Letters, changeable
108—Marquees
109—Reflectors, roundel type
110—Signs, theatre name
111—Neon transformers

AIR SUPPLY
201—Air Cleaners, electrical
202—Air washers
203—Blowers & fans
204—Coils (heat transfer)
205—Compressors
206—Control equipment
207—Cooling towers
208—Diffusers
209—Filters
210—Furnaces & boilers
211—Grilles, ornamental
212—Heaters, gas unit
213—Humidifiers
214—Insulation
215—Motors
216—Oil burners
217—Ozone generators
218—Radiators
219—Stokers
220—Temperature indicators
221—Well water pumps

ARCHIT'RE & DECORATION
301—Decorating service
302—Drapes
303—Fabric, wall
304—Fibre boards & tiles
305—Glass blocks & tiles
306—Leatherette for walls
307—Luminescent paints
308—Paint, lacquers, etc.
309—Porcelain enamel
310—Roofing
311—Terrazzo
312—Wood veneer

GENERAL MAINTENANCE
401—Brooms & brushes
402—Carpet shampoo
403—Cleaning compounds
404—Detergents
405—Disinfectants
406—Gum remover
407—Ladders, safety
408—Perfumes
409—Polishes
410—Sand urns
411—Snow melting crystals
412—Soap, liquid
413—Vacuum cleaners

FLOOR COVERINGS
501—Asphalt tile
502—Carpeting
503—Carpet, fluorescent
504—Carpet lining
505—Concrete paint
506—Linoleum
507—Mats, rubber

LIGHTING
601—Black-light equipment
602—Cove strips & reflectors
603—Dimmers
604—Downlighting equipment
605—Fluorescent lamps
606—Lumiline lamps
607—Luminaires
(See also Advertising, Stage)

LOUNGE FURNISHINGS
701—Ash trays
702—Chairs, sofas, tables
703—Cosmetic tables, chairs
704—Mirrors
705—Statuary

OFFICE
801—Accounting systems
802—Communicating systems

PROJECTION
901—Acoustic materials
902—Acoustic service
903—Amplifiers
904—Amplifier tubes
905—Cabinets, accessory
906—Cabinets, carbon
907—Cabinets, film
908—Changeovers
909—Condenser lenses
910—Effect projectors
911—Exciter lamps
912—Fire extinguishers
913—Fire shutters
914—Hearing aids
915—Lamps, projection arc
916—Microphones
917—Mirror guards
918—Motor-generators
919—Photoelectric cells
920—Projectors, standard
921—Projectors, 16-mm.
922—Projector parts
923—Projection, rear
924—Public address systems
925—Rectifiers
926—Reel end alarms
927—Reels
928—Reflectors (arc)
929—Renovators, film
930—Rewinders
931—Rheostats
932—Safety devices, projector
933—Screens
934—Speakers & horns
935—Splicers
936—Soundheads
937—Stereopticons
938—Tables
939—Voltage regulators
940—Waste cans, self-closing

SEATING
1001—Ash trays (chair back)
1002—Chairs
1003—Chair covers
1004—Chair refinishing
1005—Expansion bolts
1006—Fastening cement
1007—Latex cushions
1008—Upholstering fabrics

SERVICE & TRAFFIC
1101—Directional signs
1102—Drinking cups
1103—Drinking fountains
1104—Uniforms

STAGE
1201—Curtains & drapes
1202—Curtain controls
1203—Curtain tracks
1204—Lighting equipment
1205—Rigging & hardware
1206—Scenery
1207—Switchboards

TICKET SALES
1301—Box offices
1302—Changemakers
1303—Signs, price
1304—Speaking tubes
1305—Tickets
1306—Ticket choppers
1307—Ticket holders
1308—Ticket registers

TOILET
1401—Fixtures
1402—Paper dispensers
1403—Paper towels
1404—Soap dispensers
(See also Maintenance)

VENDING
1501—Candy counters
1502—Candy machines
1503—Pop corn machines
1504—Weighing scales
1505—Phonographs, automatic

BETTER THEATRES CATALOG BUREAU COUPON

Mail to Better Theatres, Rockefeller Center, New York. Write in numbers.

_____ _____ _____ _____ _____ _____

_____ _____ _____ _____ _____ _____

_____ _____ _____ _____ _____ _____

_____ _____ _____ _____ _____ _____

Name ..... Theatre .....

Address .....

Index to Advertisers

American Seating Co. 6
Anemostat Corp. of America 27
Armstrong Co. 54
Artkraft Sign Co., The 36
Ashcraft Mfg. Co., C. S. 51
Automatic Devices Co. 34

Baldor Electric Co. 39
Bausch & Lomb Optical Co. 50
Best Devices Co. 52
Bigelow-Sanford Carpet Co. 21
Brenkert Light Projection Co. Second Cover

Celotex Corp., The 39
Climax Reflector, Inc. 37
Colonial Sales Corp. 34
Columbus Show Case Co. 40
Continental Lithograph Corp. 42

Droll Theatre Supply Co. 52

F & Y Building Service, The 36
Formica Insulation Co., The 15-16

Garver Electric Co. 54
General Electric Co., Air-Conditioning Dept. 25
General Electric Co., Lamp Dept. 43
Goldberg Bros. 40-48-54
Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., Inc. 5
Guild Rubber Co. 37

Hertner Electric Co., The 55
Heywood-Wakefield Co. 33

Ideal Seating Co. 35
International Projector Corp. Third Cover
Irwin Seating Co. 3

McFadden Lighting Co., Inc. 36
McQuay, Inc. 32

National Theatre Supply Co. 42-53

Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co. 23
Projection Optics Co., Inc. 54

RCA Mfg. Co., Inc. ..... Fourth Cover
Reynolds Mfg. Co. 28

S. O. S. Cinema Supply Corp. 29
Schlanger, Ben 28
Smith & Sons Carpet Co., Alexander 4
Stoner Corp., The 41
Stroblite Co. 36
Strong Electric Corp., The 49

U. S. Air Conditioning Corp. 29-31
U. S. Rubber Co., Coated Fabrics Div. 35

Vallen, Inc. 45
Vogel Sons Construction Co., C. J. 42

Wagner Sign Service, Inc. 37

COMPLETE Simplex REG. U.S. PAT. OFF. EQUIPMENT

E-7

Simplex FOUR ★★★★ STAR Sound

Installed in the Splendid New Neighborhood House

LOEW'S AMERICAN

Parkchester • New York City

100% Simplex REG. U.S. PAT. OFF. EQUIPPED

Designed and Constructed to meet the exacting demands of Loew's Inc. and the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, Builders of Parkchester, the world's newest, largest and finest community development.

MANUFACTURED BY INTERNATIONAL PROJECTOR CORPORATION
90-96 GOLD STREET, NEW YORK, N.Y.

Simplex SERVICE SUPPLEMENTS Simplex QUALITY

DISTRIBUTED BY NATIONAL THEATRE SUPPLY COMPANY
BRANCHES IN PRINCIPAL CITIES

HOLLYWOOD GIVES YOU MODERN SOUND

BUT IS THIS WHAT YOU GIVE YOUR PATRONS?

For Profits . . . Replace your old Sound System with

RCA PHOTOPHONE MAGIC VOICE OF THE SCREEN

Streamlined skate suits and streamlined skates! Makers of ice-skating equipment have found them real sales stimulants—just as you will find streamlined RCA Photophone Magic Voice of the Screen a real box-office builder. For here is the finest equipment for the reproduction of modern movie sound. And remember—good sound means good box-office!

But don't take our word for it! Ask the movie makers in Hollywood how important sound is to the box-office value of any picture. Ask your patrons, too. You'll find it's plenty important! That's why we say: You'll boost your business when you match Hollywood's modern sound with equipment that will properly reproduce it in your theatre.

And that equipment is the RCA Photophone Magic Voice of the Screen. Styled and priced for any and all size theatres, it's the box-office tonic you've been looking for!

•

Trademarks "Victor," "Victrola," Reg. United States Patent Office by RCA Mfg. Co., Inc.

Better sound means better box-office . . . RCA Tubes mean better sound.

VICTOR and BLUEBIRD RECORDS

The music you want when you want it

THEATRE EQUIPMENT

Complete Sound Systems . . . Screens . . . Theatre Record Players . . . Projectors . . . Sound Reinforcing Equipment . . . Inter-Communication Systems . . . Hearing Aids . . . Service and Maintenance. See your RCA Photophone Representatives or affiliated theatre supply dealers. Photophone Division, RCA Manufacturing Company, Inc., Camden, N. J. In Canada, RCA Victor Company, Ltd., Montreal • A Service of the Radio Corporation of America.

MOTION PICTURE HERALD

FEATURES REVIEWED:

Road to Zanzibar
Topper Returns
The Penalty
Round-Up
Men of Boys Town
Mr. Dynamite
Murder Among Friends
Back in the Saddle
A Man Betrayed
Double Date

RELEASE CHART

MOTION PICTURE PROD. &
DIST. OF AMERICA,
28 W. 44TH ST.,
NEW YORK,
N. Y.

BLOCKS-OF-FIVE MADE STATES RIGHTS ISSUE

CANADA FEARS ARMY PROJECTIONIST DRAFT

SEEK OPM RATING AS 'ESSENTIAL INDUSTRY'

FOUR HOUR PROGRAMS IN ST. LOUIS BATTLE

VOL. 142, NO. 11 MARCH 15, 1941

Entered as second-class matter, January 12, 1931, at the Post Office, at New York City, U. S. A., under the act of March 3, 1879. Published weekly by Quigley Publishing Co., Inc., at 1270 Sixth Avenue, Rockefeller Center, New York. Subscription prices: $5.00 a year in the Americas, $10.00 a year Foreign. Single copy, 25 cents.
All contents copyright 1941 by Quigley Publishing Company.

METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER'S LION'S ROAR

Published in this space every month

The greatest star of the screen!

"Daddy, do you remember 'The Ziegfeld Follies'?", said Little Cub, looking up at us with large leonine eyes.

★ ★ ★ ★

And, reaching back into the haunted wings of the New Amsterdam Theatre, we were launched on the bedtime story of those nights of stars provided by the memorable Flo.

★ ★ ★ ★

Soon we worked our way to the chapter wherein M-G-M immortalized "The Great Ziegfeld", and we drifted naturally into the glamour story of 1941:

★ ★ ★ ★

THE ZIEGFELD GIRL

★ ★ ★ ★

For many moons Robert Z. Leonard, the director, and Pandro Berman, the producer, have been studding the stars in a cluster designed to give the Aurora Borealis second billing.

★ ★ ★ ★

As Tony Martin softly sings "You Stepped Out of A Dream", which is Public Melody No. 1, you will step into a dream of glorified girls—of Hedy Lamarr and Lana Turner.

Romance, in a beaming web, is spun around the personal problems of a guy played by James Stewart, the last three letters of whose name typify his work. Give up?

★ ★ ★ ★

And Judy Garland! Words fail us.

★ ★ ★ ★

Lush, plush and splendiferous, this Eyeful Tower gives us a hall of fame for a cast.

★ ★ ★ ★

For in addition to Garland, Stewart, Lamarr, Turner and Martin, there are (to name but a few) Jackie Cooper, Ian Hunter, Charlie Winninger, Edward Everett Horton, Philip Dorn, Felix Bressart, Eve Arden, Rose Hobart, Al Shean, Dan Dailey Jr., Paul Kelly, Mae Busch, Fay Holden, Ed McNamara and Girls, Girls, Girls, Girls.

★ ★ ★ ★

Settings by Gibbons, Gowns by Adrian.

★ ★ ★ ★

Magnificent! Glamorous! Mighty!

★ ★ ★ ★

THE ZIEGFELD GIRL

★ ★ ★ ★

Glorifying the American lion.

—Leo

Advertisement for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Pictures

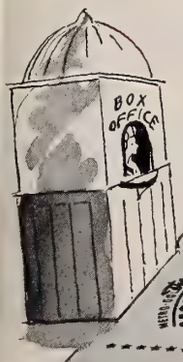
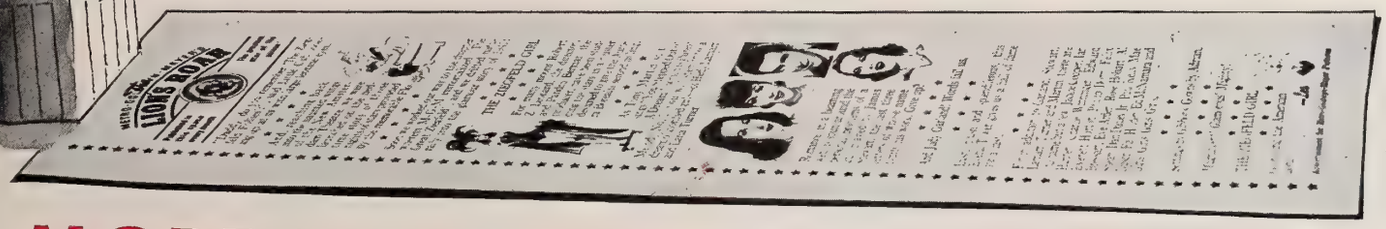
SURVEYS SHOW IT'S No. 1



Leading authorities who analyze the reading habits of America state that LION'S ROAR on a comparative basis is the most effective magazine advertising today

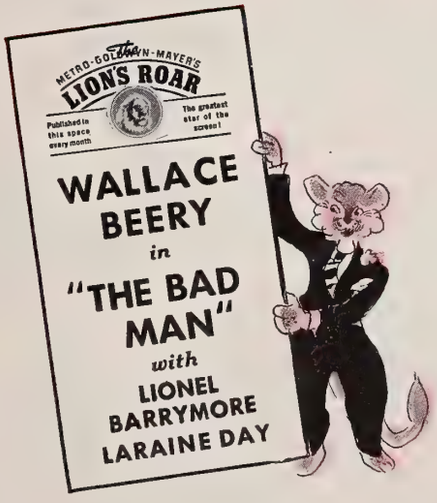
108 MILLION READERS MONTHLY!



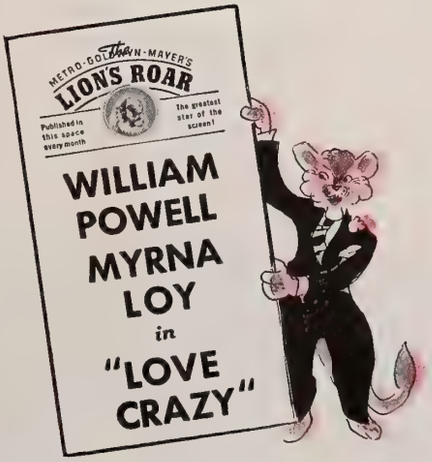
What a list this column appears in!

Cosmopolitan, True Story, Redbook, American Magazine, Ladies' Home Journal, Parents' Magazine, Liberty, Saturday Evening Post, Look, Hollywood Screen Life, Movie Story, Motion Pictures, Photoplay-Movie Mirror, Screen Romances, Modern Screen, Silver Screen, Screenland Movies, Movie Life, Screen Guide, Glamour, Picture Play, Country Gentleman, Capper's Farmer, Successful Farming, Farm Journal & Farmer's Wife, Progressive Farmer & So. Ruralist.

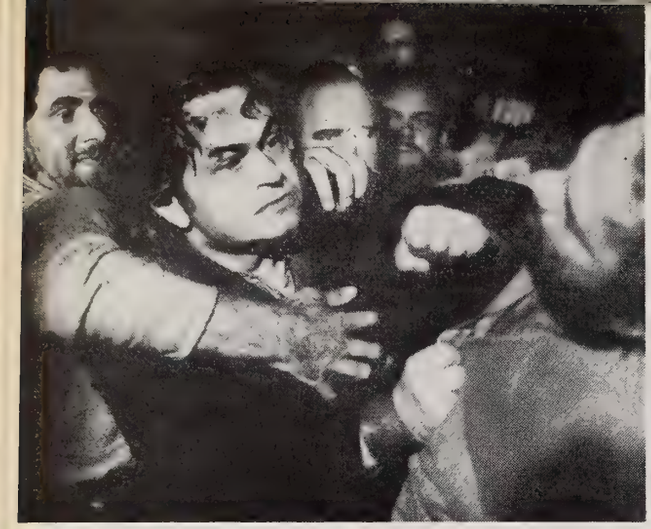
THE BIGGEST LITTLE SEAT SELLER IN FILM BUSINESS!



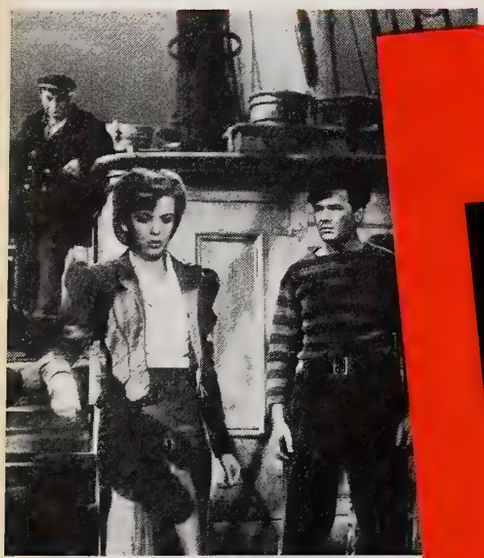
Your customers read LION'S ROAR, the column that leads direct to your box-office!



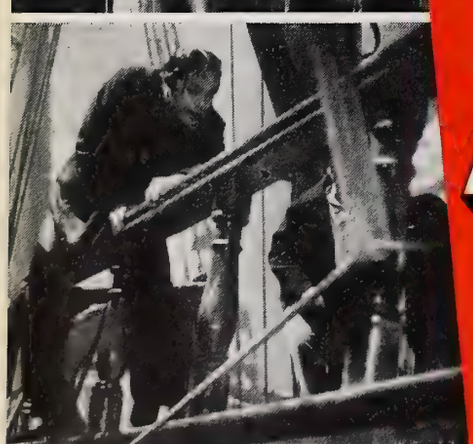
MORE HITS THEY'LL READ ABOUT!



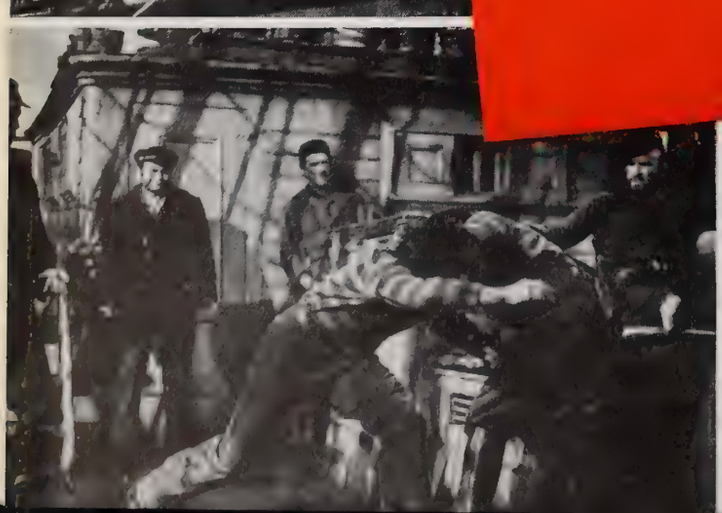
ONLY ONE COMPANY DOES IT!



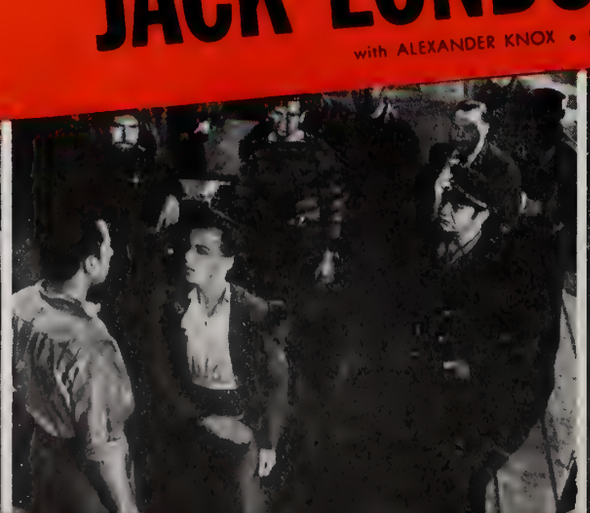
NEVER SO MUCH WARNER ACTION!



EDWARD. G.

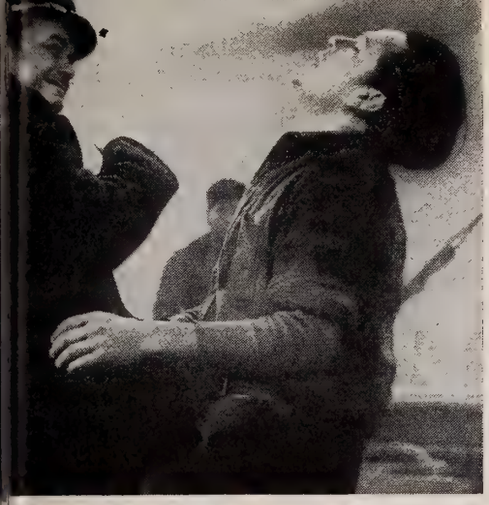


ROBINSON · LU



THE Sea

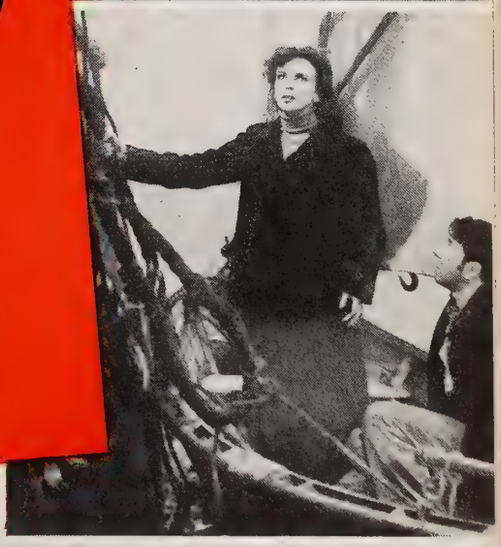
JACK LONDON'S ST



with ALEXANDER KNOX • GENE LOCKHART • BARRY FITZGER

NEVER SO MANY WARNER THRILLS!

JOHN



...NO·GARFIELD

...Wolf

...RY OF TERROR AFLOAT

...reen Play by Robert Rossen • Music by Erich Wolfgang Korngold

Directed by

MICHAEL CURTIZ

He never misses! Here's just a part of his hit list: 'Robin Hood' • 'Four Daughters' 'Angels with Dirty Faces' • 'Dodge City' 'Virginia City' • 'Sea Hawk • 'Santa Fe Trail'

«REVIEWS»

"That Night In Rio"

with Alice Faye, Don Ameche, Carmen Miranda 90 Mins.

20th-Fox

A NATURAL IN ANY LANGUAGE, ANY THEATER, ANY COUNTRY; SHOULD BE TERRIFIC B.O. SMASH.

It's a pleasure, as the expression goes. When a better musical comedy is made, it will really have to be something to top this new 20th-Fox release. Exhibitors should do SRO business every place with this as it is a box office natural for all audiences; Twentieth should get a gross that will hit the records set by "Alexander," and the public at large will get an immeasurable amount of sheer and thoroughly enjoyable entertainment from the film. At the same time, a picture of this type does an inestimable amount of industry advertising that helps to bring errant customers back to theaters.

Lavishly mounted and superbly filmed in Technicolor, it starts off with a bang and never once lets up in pace right through to a corking climax. The cast is excellent from top to bottom, direction is smooth and sure, the story is smart and brisk, the photography is top-flight and nothing has been stinted on the production end. Credit for the grade A production job goes to Fred Kohlmar, but the master of musicals, Darryl F. Zanuck, undoubtedly deserves a lot of the credit.

Irving Cummings was responsible for the swell job of direction, and George Seaton, Bess Meredyth and Hal Long contributed the high-geared screenplay. Hermes Pan staged the dances and the corking musical score was written by Mack Gordon and Harry Warren. At least two of the songs should jump right up into prominence as hit tunes. Leon Shamroy and Ray Rennahan deserve a big hand for their superb photography, with Miss Faye photographed magnificently.

Ameche for ambassador of good-will might be appropriate for that gentleman until something better comes along. To put it mildly, he is slightly terrific in the film. Playing a dual role, he exudes personality, puts over his songs with a bang and is the epitome of the suave boulevardier and lover in the best role he probably has ever had for suitability. Alice Faye is beautiful to look at, does everything asked of her with finesse and puts over her own musical numbers effectively.

However, it is the brunette Brazilian bombshell, Carmen Miranda, who provides most of the fireworks in the film. When she sings a song she gives it everything from the top of her head to her toenails and she has a pair of hands that are just about the most expressive things a person could ever watch. In her case its not so much a question of what she sings as how she sings it, "and how." Two numbers that she sings are sensational. Strong support is afforded the principals by S. Z. Sakall, J. Carrol Naish, Leonid Kinsky, Curt Bois and Frank Puglia. Sakall and Bois are particularly funny.

Every extra ounce of energy exhibitors put behind this picture will bring them back handsome returns at the box office as it can't be oversold on the basis of being bangup entertainment everybody will enjoy. At the same time it should get a big word-of-mouth campaign which it richly deserves, as it is a picture that a lot of people will want to see again.

The story concerns Ameche as the husband of Miss Faye, a suave Brazilian financier known as Baron Duarte, and as Larry Martin, an American entertainer appearing in a Rio night club with Miss Miranda as the trouble and love of his life. His impersonation of Duarte as Martin so impresses Duarte and his business partners, Sakall and Bois, that when Duarte is called out of town to try and arrange a loan to salvage their fortunes, Ameche as Martin is pressed into service to impersonate the Baron to allay suspicions.

A hilarious and delightful situation then ensues as Duarte suddenly returns and two Barons are on the scene at the same time. Miss Faye also has her moments of anxiety when her husband, who has been neglecting her for some time, suddenly becomes very amorous and the next day she is not quite sure where she spent the night. The situation is handled subtly and in excellent taste, and is highly amusing at all times. Naturally, everything turns out to be very proper, but while it lasts it is a full 90 minutes of solid entertainment.

CAST: Alice Faye, Don Ameche, Carmen Miranda, S. Z. Sakall, J. Carrol Naish, Curt Bois, Leonid Kinsky, Carmen Miranda's orchestra, Frank Puglia, Lillian Porter, Maria Montez, Georges Renavent, Edward Conrad, Fortunio Bonanova, Flores Brothers.

CREDITS: Associate Producer, Fred Kohlmar; Director, Irving Cummings; Screenplay, George Seaton, Bess Meredyth and Hal Long; Based on a play by Rudolph Lothar and Hans Adler; Cameramen, Leon Shamroy and Ray Rennahan; Technicolor Director, Natalie Kalmus; Editor, Walter Thompson.

DIRECTION, Top Notch. PHOTOGRAPHY, Excellent.

from FILM DAILY

BUSINESS AT THE ROXY PROVES THAT THE PUBLIC AGREES WITH EVERY WORD OF THIS!

20th CENTURY FOX

MOTION PICTURE HERALD

MARTIN QUIGLEY, Editor-in-Chief and Publisher

Vol. 142, No. 11 March 15, 1941

PREPAREDNESS

THE War is a war of machines and metals. War demands and war metallurgy are reaching into every manufacturing plant, every technological industry in America.

Exhibition and production of motion pictures, alike, depend inescapably on an intricate technology with many vital metallurgical requirements, absolute necessities.

The part of America's mines, smelters, mills and machine shops in the war tends, at increasing pace—to be noted by days, not weeks—to divert, to war enterprises, both materials and facilities.

It may just as well be said, plainly, and now, that if you want equipment, machines, parts, replacements, right about now and today is an excellent time to get them or arrange to get them.

The indications are many, and on the whole explicit. Only the other day the wife of the President had a message to housewives about rationing themselves on such matters as aluminum pots and pans. Also it would take a rather obtuse reader not to discover in the advertising of General Motors a certain suggestion in an advertisement last week which remarked: "So you will get your Buicks . . . as long as this squares with national safety; whenever it doesn't—well, we know that with you, as with us, the big idea is America first!"

And Chrysler, too, was in the papers the other day suggesting that the company was right busy on national defense.

Each day's news tells of priority orders.

The public is hearing a lot about metals these days. Supplies of such items as magnesium, titanium, caesium, vanadium, tungsten are being made matters of public concern.

These, and many others, pertain to all matters that are involved in sound and picture. There is probably plenty of grey cast iron, enough common low-carbon steel. There's plenty of silver, and far too much gold. But for what makes the more tiny and vital mechanisms click there's not too much.

IT is just a whimsical and irrelevant notion, but most of what we may be short of are those items which in the years of long agone when your editor was in technology were known as "fifth group" metals. They go into the fifth column of the chemist's periodic table. Certainly they bear watching. That's coincidence.

The makers of motion picture equipment are, so far, having nothing to say about the subject, but it is more than obvious that the technology of the motion picture involves all of the skills and materials that are highly in demand in the technology of war. Also, while we are not supposed to know about it, there is more than one plant making picture and sound equipment today which can be approached only by special pass and entered only by key.

Out of another field, the motor car again, came remarks the other day from an authority not to be put on the spot in print, who observed: "Probably this fall there'll be new cars enough, and probably prices will reflect only the increases in labour costs, but as to materials how are you going to be sure that you will be getting the same stuff that we are delivering for 1941 models?"

And that reminds one that some of the radio set makers are saying about that same thing in almost equivalent words, about radio sets. Radio sets, you'll be knowing, have a lot in common, in material and technical requirements, with motion picture sound systems.

In sum, it may be said that, if it's anything you want in metals and in manufacturing skill—very soon, if not now, War will be first.

And this is set down in full consciousness that it is to be expected that government ruling will find maintenance of the motion picture, as medium and mechanism, essential to the naitonal welfare in this time and stress. That can not and will not alter the fact of special pressures and demands of war on both men and machines. When there is War, it is always first.

△ △ △

COLOUR FORECAST

FOR some years now colour, and all kinds of it, has been ascendant. It seems to have begun back yonder about the time of the first flowering of the yellow-cabs and swept onward with light signs led off by flaming neon.

The psychologists would have us believe that all this is intimately related to public states of mind; so now, with more interest than surprise, we read in "More Business", published under copyright of the American Photo-Engravers Association:

"Today, with world conditions decidedly calamitous, and with people's nerves on the ragged edge, more color and better color is sure to be wanted. . . . This is likely to show most promptly in the decoration of places frequented by the most of us—theatres, hotels, all forms of transportation. Advertising, too, will be driven to compete with a sudden patriotic love of the flag colors. In consequence, printed matter, displays, show windows will begin to blaze forth. . . . Because we lead more exciting lives, the things we buy will have to be more exciting to our eyes. . . . "

△ △ △

ONE MAN RIGHTS

THE rights of the individual, which "no ruler or classes or majorities may annul," are discussed in the leading article of "Kodak," the Eastman house organ, for February, in an article made up of expressions from a brochure by H. W. Prentis, Jr., president of the Armstrong Cork Company and former president of the National Association of Manufacturers.

"No government commission will ever write a great book; no committee . . . will ever paint a great picture; no labor union will ever compose a symphony; no chamber of commerce will ever invent a radio; no college faculty will ever conceive a theory of relativity. . . . The individual . . . accounts for all human progress. . . . "

And he adds: "Whoever tries to take away our right to argue will face a real argument. . . . "

—Terry Ramsaye

This Week in the News

MPPDA vs. Neely

THE motion picture industry was again this week the guinea pig of clinical specimen for the Temporary National Economic Committee with the delivery of another monograph on lobbying and "the relationship between political activity and the concentration of economic power."

Last week a TNEC monograph (see MOTION PICTURE HERALD of March 8) discussed the whole structure and evolution of the industry as an example of "symptoms which are common to many of our great enterprises."

Concurrently TNEC heard a statement from its chairman, Senator Joseph C. O'Mahoney, Wyoming Democrat, arguing for federal licensing and charters for interstate corporations, "to save private enterprise."

Wednesday's monograph came from Donald Blaisdell, economist of the committee, giving complete credit for the defeat of the Neely anti-block-booking bill to the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America. His subject was economic power and political pressure.

Tracing the efforts of the independent exhibitors to secure the legislation, Mr. Blaisdell relates that the bill passed the Senate in 1938 and was referred to the House Interstate Commerce Committee, where Chairman Lea (Democrat, California) said "I just don't see how we can do anything about the bill this session; I should not like to report it out without hearing and I cannot see where we can find time to have any at this late date."

"Thus," the monograph commented, "the bill was not acted upon by the House.

"The Hays organization brought powerful pressure against the bill. It did not reach the floor of the House in 1938, and in July, 1939, it again passed the Senate, only to be again held up in the House. Hearings were held in the Spring of 1940 by the House Interstate Commerce Committee but no action was taken."

STATES RIGHTS issue complicates blocks-of-five selling as two state legislatures act on bills to nullify decree provisions Page 12

"ESSENTIAL INDUSTRY" rating with OPM sought for motion picture industry Page 13

ARBITRATION hearings open on first complaints; new cases filed by exhibitors Page 14

FOUR-HOUR SHOWS planned by independents in St. Louis fight with F. & M. over triple features Page 21

CANADIAN EXHIBITORS fear projectionists will be drafted for army and navy service Page 23

EXHIBITORS urged to cooperate under decree, warned to watch product supply this summer Page 24

WELLES TO RKO: "I'll be suing you," as "Citizen Kane" reviews appear Page 27

RENTAL RECEIPTS at film exchanges increased 10 per cent in 10-year period, census shows Page 32

NEWSREELS reflect increased audience appetite for war and defense topics; special campaigns tried Page 43

NO AUCTION BLOCK selling of new groups of five in MGM program, Rodgers pledges to exhibitors Page 47

WAGES-HOURS ACT applies to 22,000 film workers, Hollywood is told by Administrator Page 49

U. S. PRESSURE seen settlement factor in stalemated ASCAP dispute with radio broadcasters Page 52

DELAWARE kills 200-year-old blue law; Michigan moves to repeal Sunday show statute Page 54

FIRST 'SUPER' FM station license issued to Major Armstrong for Alpine transmitter Page 56

SERVICE DEPARTMENTS

Asides and Interludes Page 42

Hollywood Scene Page 41

Release Chart Page 73

Reviews Page 36

What the Picture Did for Me Page 60

For the benefit of those inclined to put on a little extra pressure to sell seasonal activities, now that the robins are coming, this week's Round Table devotes sizeable space to tell what the membership has done in previous years and intends repeating to turn spring fever to the advantage of the box office Page 65

Television Hopes

COMMERCIAL television appeared more imminent this week than at any time since the Federal Communications Commission rescinded its "limited sponsorship" order a year ago. All interested parties were preparing for a television hearing to be held in Washington March 20th.

The following events of the week were considered indicative, according to industry opinion, of impending action:

1. Members of the Federal Communications Commission expressed satisfaction with developments seen on a tour of Philco laboratories in Philadelphia and the Allen B. DuMont and Bell Telephone laboratories in New York City. James L. Fly, FCC chairman, said he was "greatly impressed."

2. The National Television Systems Committee reached a compromise agreement on the troublesome question of the number of lines in a television picture and voted to indorse 525 lines instead of 441 previously approved.

3. The National Broadcasting Company continued experiments with what was described as the first transmissions over the air of "live" color television in this country.

4. Telephone Company demonstrations, by optical means, of what various television systems can do under ideal conditions definitely settled a number of problems.

The principal points still to be argued at the FCC hearing are flexibility, color and polarization. The principal proponents of flexibility are the Paramount television interests, including DuMont and Television Productions. The Columbia Broadcasting System in recent months has been backing color television. The third controversial issue concerns the design of antennas.

U. S. 'Camera Internes'

PRESSURE of national defense training has increased to 21 the number of men assigned from the four federal armed services to March of Time offices for instruction in still and motion picture camera technique. Picked enlisted men from the Coast Guard, Marines, Army and Navy accompany March of Time crews on assignment to observe operations. In some cases they take their own equipment and shoot film under the tutelage of the professional cameramen but they do no work for March of Time. The "interne" system started about a year ago when the Coast Guard, a pioneer in making service training films, arranged with Louis de Rochemont to have several Guard cameramen observe Time technique. Other services joined in the plan until March of Time today boasts a sizeable "home defense" corps. The students wear mufti, and spend about two months each in the training course. The Coast Guard has 8 men on duty at the New York offices, the Navy 6, Army 4, and Marines 3.

Mr. Chaplin Says

NOW THAT "The Great Dictator" is about to go into general release, Charles Chaplin last week set about stirring a bit of interest by calling his first Hollywood press conference in all his career on pretext of announcing a project for a new production. He said that he was coming to New York to start work on a picture about "a bibulous refugee in a dress suit, lost in the big city."

It is to be remembered that in late 1916 Mr. Chaplin made a Lone Star-Mutual two reeler entitled "One A.M." in which he portrayed a bibulous person in a dinner jacket and lost in his own home. It was his least successful picture.

In "One A.M." Mr. Chaplin appeared entirely alone in what is probably the only cinema solo. In this new picture he is talking about, he has indicated he probably will be supported by Paulette Goddard as the principal feminine character.

No Pictures!

THE motion picture industry's own "supreme court," the arbitration appeal board, was presented formally Wednesday afternoon at a reception given by the American Arbitration Association on the 67th floor of the RCA Building in Rockefeller Center, New York.

Judge Henry W. Goddard, the man who put the whole film arbitration machinery into being by signing the consent decree last November, was among those scheduled to be present. It was only after being assured that no photographers would be present that Judge Goddard accepted the invitation.

P. S.: Judge Goddard did not attend.

Other arbitration developments of the week are on page 14.

Billion for Fun

AMUSEMENT corporations active in 1938 had a gross income for that year of $1,140,769,000 and a net income of $51,906,000 on which they paid income taxes of $11,614,000 and excess profits taxes of $88,000, it was reported last week by the Bureau of Internal Revenue, in Washington.

Analysis of the 1938 returns of these corporations, numbering 9,165, showed that they paid dividends during the year of $43,285,000 in cash and assets other than their own stock and $319,000 in stock.

The gross income of the reporting companies included $58,358,000 from sales and $1,023,426,000 from operations other than sales; $22,680,000 from rents and royalties; $17,986,000 in dividends from other corporations, of which $3,041,000 was from foreign corporations, and $113,000 in interest on Government obligations, of which $77,000 was wholly tax exempt.

Their deductions includued $37,660,000 for cost of goods sold, $349,017,000 for cost of operations, $29,836,000 in compensation of officers, $85,730,000 for rent, $22,122,000 for interest, $33,593,000 for taxes other than income or excess profits, and $37,983,000 for depreciation. Miscellaneous deductions, for which no break-down was given, totaled $488,417,000, and the total compiled deductions were $1,088,785,000.

On the basis of gross receipts of $1,140,769,000 and deductions of $1,088,785,000, the 9,165 corporations had a combined net profit of $51,983,000 and a taxable income of $51,906,000 after the deduction of tax-exempt interest. The combined net profit, after taxes was $40,281,000.

Leo's Voice

EXPANDING interests of Loew's, Inc., in the radio field received a boost this week when the Federal Communications Commission gave the company's station in New York, WHN, authority to increase its power to 50,000 watts. This will make the radio voice of Leo the Lion as strong as that of any regular station in the country. WHN now operates with only 5,000 watts during the daytime and 1,000 at night.

WHN has also received authorization for a FM radio station to cover the New York Metropolitan area. The FM transmitter will be erected at the Palisades Amusement Park.

An application of MGM for a FM station in Los Angeles is still pending before the FCC. Loew's, Inc., is reported to be interested in the formation of a national FM network.

Advertising & Art

NEW YORK's Belmont Theatre, long housing fragments from foreign film makers, and oddments from U. S. Government agencies—and rarely housing them long—this week prepared for a new fate: to be the home, the first such, of documentary films in this country, and also to be a first run New York showcase for the larger product of commercial film makers. The commercial films—"carefully selected"—are to be shown in eight-reel programs from 10:30 A.M. to 6:30 PM., admission by free tickets obtainable from sponsors. The documentaries are to be displayed evenings at "nominal admissions."

The theatre opens in April with the new fare under operation of the National Documentary Theatre Co., Inc., president of which is Harold McCracken, explorer, photographer, and writer.

Envisioned first, several months ago, was a theatre to house only documentary films, to be gleaned from Government vaults, from smaller producers, from political factions, from the better producers for commercial ventures, from Hollywood, in whatever instances the films appeared documentary.

Not Legion's Voice

THE "anti-blocks-of-five" bill sponsored by Northwest Allied was approved Wednesday by the House judiciary committee of the Minnesota legislature. The state Senate held hearings on a companion bill but deferred action. (Story on page 12.) Before recommending the measure the House judiciary committee added an amendment permitting cancellation of films by exhibitors on moral, racial or religious grounds. It was said that this amendment had been suggested by the Minneapolis Legion of Decency.

From the National Legion of Decency office, through Mrs. James F. Looram, chairman of the reviewing committee, came disavowal of the status of testimony and representations of the Minneapolis unit of the Legion made by Miss Helen Lynch. Miss Lynch said the Legion approved the bill. Mrs. Looram observed that the only authorized spokesmen for the Legion in Minneapolis were the Very Reverend Donald J. Gregory, chancellor of the diocese of St. Paul and Father Martin Larkin of Duluth. She said Chancellor Gregory had been asked to make plain the Legion's position. Also, said Mrs. Looram, the Legion has not considered the Minnesota measure, which it regards as entirely an industry matter.

Sees President

WILL HAYS visited the White House Wednesday to acquaint President Roosevelt with current details of what the motion picture industry is doing to forward the defense program.

The industry head reported on the work being done on the production of films supporting the administration's rearmament effort, on the cooperation extended in the improvement of relations with Latin American countries and other projects on which the motion picture producers are active.

(See page 13 on the motion picture as "essential industry" and priority requirements.)

Louella To Lifebuoy

HER own radio program—"Louella Parsons Will Present"—brimming with Hollywood talent, and running one-half hour per week, will be served to the nation's ears beginning 10:00 P.M., E.S.T. March 28th, by the Hearst newspapers' film affairs chronicler.

The broadcasts will be over the Columbia system, and will be for 13 weeks. The first will feature Marlene Dietrich and Bruce Cabot. The orchestra will be under Felix Mills; the announcer will be Harlow Wilcox; publicity director, Arthur Eddy. The sponsor is Lifebuoy Soap.

Closing of the deal apparently ends the reported conflict between Miss Parsons and the Screen Actors Guild, over actors' pay.

MOTION PICTURE HERALD, published every Thursday by Quigley Publishing Company, Rockefeller Center, New York City. Telephone Circle 7-3100. Cable address "Quigpubco, New York." Martin Quigley, Editor-in-Chief and Publisher; Colvin Brown, Vice-President and General Manager; Watterson R. Rothacker, Vice-President; Terry Ramsaye, Editor; Ernest A. Rovelstad, Managing Editor; James P. Cunningham, News Editor; Chicago Bureau, 624 South Michigan Avenue, C. B. O'Neill, manager; Hollywood Bureau, Postal Union Life Building. Leon Friedman, manager, William R. Weaver, editor; Toronto Bureau, Ste. 811, 21 Dunas Sq., Toronto, Ontario, Canada. Alister Grosart, representative; Montreal Bureau, Press Bureau, 224 Canada Cement Building, Montreal, Canada. C. A. Haworth, representative; London Bureau, 4, Golden Square, London W 1, Hope Williams Burnup, manager; cable Quigpubco London; Paris Bureau, Pierre Autre, representative, c/o Monsieur Autre, chez Madame Erable, Les Mathes, Charante Inferieure, France; Melbourne Bureau, The Regent Theatre, 191 Collins St., Melbourne, Australia, Cliff Holt, representative; Sydney Bureau, 17 Archbold Rd., Roseville, Sydney, N.S.W., Australia. Lin Endean, representative. Mexico City Bureau, Apartado 269, Mexico City, Luis Becerra Celis, representative; Buenos Aires Bureau, Corrientes 2470, Buenos Aires, Argentina, Natalio Bruski, representative; Rio de Janeiro Bureau, Caixa Postal 3358, Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, L. S. Marinho, representative; India Bureau, Post Office Box 147, Bunder Road, Karachi, India, G. A. Thakur, representative; Montevideo Bureau, P. O. Box 664, Montevideo, Uruguay, Paul Bodo, representative, cable Argus Montevideo; Amsterdam Bureau, 87 Waalstraat, Amsterdam Z., Holland, Philip de Schaap, representative. Member Audit Bureau of Circulations. All contents copyright 1941 by Quigley Publishing Company. Address all correspondence to the New York Office. Other Quigley Publications: Better Theatres, Motion Picture Daily, International Motion Picture Almanac, and Fame.

THIS WEEK IN PICTURES

By Staff Photographer

EARLE W. HAMMONS, former head of Educational and Grand National, in New York this week prepared to reenter production with three features a year, probably of eastern manufacture, with unnamed financial backing. He has taken an option on Nell Shipman's "Tomorrow For Sale" and, immediately, will produce a new short subject series, "Hands of Destiny", directed by Al Christie.

By Staff Photographer

CIRCUIT TRANSFER. Laurence Bolognino, seller, explains operating details of his 21 Consolidated circuit theatres in Manhattan and the Bronx to Julius Joelson, buyer, this week, of the houses. Mr. Joelson is the former operator of a Massachusetts circuit which he sold to Mullin & Pinanski.

By Staff Photographer

M. A. LIGHTMAN, independent operator and Paramount circuit partner, in New York this week reiterated the Paramount partners' attack on the Consent Decree provisions. (See page 12.)

By Staff Photographer

UNITY in the industry, especially now under the Consent Decree, was urged by William F. Rodgers, left, at an AMPA luncheon in New York at which he was honored, also sharing the dais and microphone with Howard Dietz, right, who: 1. Offered some of his house furnishings for sale; 2. Thought he was addressing an MGM convention; 3. Predicted MGM soon would be known as the "positively affectionate company"; 4. Attacked the sales department of which Mr. Rodgers is the head as a useless appendage.

By Staff Photographer

LEO ABRAMS, new National Screen Service branch manager for New York, as of March 10.

RAY MacDONALD, 19 year old dancer and son of William McDonnell, sales promotion manager of Quigley Publications, has been signed by MGM to appear in "Babes on Broadway" with Mickey Rooney.

HONORED. Everett C. Callow, director of publicity and advertising for Warner theatres in Philadelphia and Quigley Silver Award winner for 1940, is made an honorary member of the Notre Dame Club of Philadelphia just before leaving for the Awards presentation in Hollywood next week. The Club honored him for his exploitation campaign on Warners' "Knute Rockne-All American." Left to right: Rev. George I. Baldwin, Canon of the Eauclair Episcopal Cathedral; Rev. Bernard C. Farley, chaplain of the University of Notre Dame Club of Philadelphia; Mr. Callow; William A. A. Castellini, president of the Notre Dame Club; Harry Goldberg, advertising director of the Warner circuit, and E. Bradley Bailey, secretary of the Club. The membership presentation was made at a dinner at Palumbo's. Mr. Callow left for Hollywood this week, as guest of Quigley Publications, to receive, with Ray Wheeler of South Bend, Ind., Bronze winner, the Grand Awards next Tuesday. The winners will remain on the coast a week.

DAVID E. ROSE, Paramount managing director for Great Britain, takes to the microphone, immediately upon his return to London from the United States, to tell Britain and the Empire by shortwave of the aid being given by Hollywood and particularly by British actors and actresses. Ron Read and J. Harding, left, of British Paramount News are filming the broadcast, on the program, "In Town Tonight", for a subject to be released in California.

BRITISH EXHIBITOR LEADERS. Councillor H. P. E. Mears, left, president of the Cinematograph Exhibitors Association, earned the unique distinction of being nominated for a second year in office, but lost the election Wednesday to Sidney K. Lewis, last year's vice-president. Sid Hyams, director of the Gaumont Super Cinemas, is 1941-42 chairman of the London and Home Counties Branch of the CEA.

LEGISLATIVE ATTACKS MAKE STATES RIGHTS ISSUE OUT OF BLOCKS-OF-FIVE

Georgia Senate Passes Bill to Nullify Decree Provisions in State; Northwest Allied Presses Minnesota Measure

Now crystallizing, legislatively, are the exhibitor threats hurled variously in warning against the inclusion of the blocks-of-five picture selling restriction imposed by the Department of Justice upon the "Big Five" distributors in the U. S. trust suit consent decree settlement.

In Minnesota, Northwest Allied this week lined up legal talent to steer its sponsored proposal to outlaw the decree's blocks of five provision in that state, with the majors —RKO, Loew's, Warners, 20th Century-Fox and United Artists, but not Paramount —arrayed against them to block a proposed law which would permit large-block selling with 20 per cent cancellation privileges.

In Georgia, where circuit exhibitor sentiment has been strong against the blocks-of-five decree clause, sponsors of a bill similar to the one pending in Minnesota, succeeded in securing a quick and unexpected Senate passage and almost immediate approval by a House committee.

Southern exhibitors went on record during the formulation of the blocks-of-five provision, last fall, that such imposition by the Government upon their operations was a violation of their states rights. Particularly vigorous in their denunciation were several of Paramount's partners, who, for a while, appeared on the verge of bolting against any such new order in motion pictures.

The Georgia House on Friday, March 7th, appeared scheduled soon to consider the anti-decree measure, after a special committee had reported the bill favorably upon its emergence from an easy Senate vote. The bill, introduced by Senator Homer Edenfield, of Kingsland, would allow distributors to offer their full season's product for sale, with a 20 per cent cancellation privilege, and in degree, apes the measure now being considered by the Minnesota legislature.

Allied Employs Counsel

From the chief city of that state, Minneapolis, it was reported early this week that Northwest Allied, proponent of the anti-decree measure after weeks of inter-organization debate, had employed Clarence Holten as counsel to defend the constitutionality of the measure. This action was the result of charges by David Shearer, attorney representing four companies in the decree, Twentieth Century-Fox, RKO, Loew's, and Warner Brothers, that the bill violated federal laws, because it regulates distribution and sale of a product shipped interstate. The charges were made at committee hearing last week. Mr. Holten and Fred Strom, executive secretary of the Allied unit, were to appear before Senate committee Wednesday to support their bill.

Speculation in New York home offices this week centered on the results, should the anti-decree legislation pass in Georgia and Minnesota, and should other states adopt similar measures. With the consenting companies bound by Federal regulation to observe the decree selling provisions, it was predicted they would be forced to cease operations entirely in the objecting states.

The Georgia measure would not allow a distributor to license films to an exhibitor, unless all films he will license during the exhibition season are in that license. Further, it would allow the exhibitor "the right to cancel a minimum of 20 per cent of the total number of feature motion pictures included in such license"; would disallow "forcing" of any sort; would provide punishment of violators by fine of $1,000 or by a year in jail in default of such fine; would visit such penalties for violations, in the instances of corporations, upon officers, agents, and directors of such; and would have all other provisions of the Act still apply, even though one provision of the measure sure might be declared unconstitutional.

One of the authors of the measure, along with the Senator, is Alpha Howler, operator of theatres at Atlanta, and Douglasville.

The attack upon the Minnesota measure by the attorney for the four majors, Fox, RKO, Warners, and Loew's—David Shearer, a Minneapolis lawyer—was made at a House judiciary committee of the Minnesota legislature, last week, and it emphasized that a state has no right to regulate sale and shipment of product in interstate shipment, and that films were such product. Calling the proposed measure a "dangerous reversion to a business method much criticized in the past," Mr. Shearer said, of the decree's selling provisions, that they gave the exhibitor the right to cancel pictures, under the arbitration system specifically provided for complaints.

He was answered by E. L. Peaslee, president of Northwest Allied, who called the arbitration plan "too unwieldy, and too complicated" and said of it that "there is so much red tape connected with an appeal that a picture would be pretty much out of date by the time the case was settled.

"Minneapolis exhibitors have studied the decree, and we don't want it."

Mr. Shearer also attacked the bill, before the Senate General Legislative Committee, causing it to reconsider approval it had virtually given because it thought the bill noncontroversial, and causing it to postpone the hearing until Wednesday, at which time the Northwest Allied people were to give their rejoinder to Mr. Shearer.

United Artists joined the array of objectors at the hearing Wednesday, when Haskell Masters, its western sales manager, appeared, with a Minneapolis attorney employed under orders from the New York home office. In New York it was emphasized that UA's opposition to the bill rested upon its policy of selling for its producers individually. It was assumed that a measure making mandatory selling of an entire season's product in advance and en bloc, and providing a 20 per cent cancellation, would make business for the company in Minnesota, impossible.

Lightman Sees Faults in the Decree For Exhibitors, Virtue for Distributors

The three "little majors" not in the Federal consent decree will not be forced to adopt it, nor will the five consenting majors be harmed by their acceptance of the decree, in the opinion of M. A. Lightman, independent owner and Paramount partner in the operation of the Malco theatres in the Memphis territory. Mr. Lightman was in New York last week for home office conferences and was scheduled to leave for Miami this week.

The three companies not in the decree will not adopt it because of its obvious inequities, he believes. Those companies enforcing it will benefit because it is obviously in their interests, he declared, reiterating in this stand the opposition to the decree that the Paramount theatre partners adopted last summer.

Mr. Lightman thinks the selling provisions of the decree—selling in "blocks of five"—will cause more pictures to be bought than are necessary; will cause the exhibitor to overbuy, to protect himself against an opposition which has equal claim to the blocks; will allow distributors to include one or more "weak sisters" with one good picture, thus forcing the exhibitor to sacrifice much more than he did under a former cancellation system, in order to buy one exceptionally good picture; and will "inevitably" bring legislation in various states which will nullify or equalize the decree's selling system.

He criticized the factor in the arbitration system which "apparently" allows a man unfamiliar with the film industry, the arbitrator, to judge clearance cases. This means, he said, that seniority, standing, superior operation, all other factors which have heretofore gained clearance for a theatre, may be nullified by an operator who erects a new house, buys an old one and renovates it, has perhaps a few more seats, or offers what the arbitrator may conceive to be a superior type of service.

SEEK OPM RATING AS "ESSENTIAL INDUSTRY" FOR MOTION PICTURE

Defense Work Requires Metals, Plant Facilities, Labor Used for Film Equipment; Aluminum Shortage Felt Now

War and defense requirements in metallurgy and the attention of the government to priority ratings this week gave concern to the Motion Picture Producers and Distribu- special technological requirements.

The general subject has the attention of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, Inc., which has had meetings and conferences at the New York office, out of which it is certain that representations will be made in due official form to the Office of Production Management in Washington, with expectation of action calculated to recognize the importance of the maintenance of the motion picture and its mechanisms as a medium of national service and morale.

It is to be noted that a number of defense projects now in progress are dependent on motion pictures, for both internal official purposes and for presentation to the public. This more than implies that the motion picture is an "essential industry."

There are also indications, as revealed by the Herald's inquiries of the week, that there is at present a considerable stock-pile of the materials most concerned now in the hands of the manufacturers of equipment.

Aside from materials, there remains the question of the continued availability of complete plant facilities, what with the demand for both skilled mechanics and the facilities of machine tools which might be applied to the making of war devices. Facilities may be quite as important as materials.

No "Critical Shortage" Seen

The consensus of informed dealers held that while the quota of metals, chemicals, and other raw materials allotted to motion picture manufacturers might be decreased during the national emergency there will be no critical shortage such as occurred in 1917 when a large proportion of film equipment and raw material was imported from abroad. Today the United States is almost entirely self-sufficient in the substances used in film, its processing and motion picture machinery. Many supplies essential to the film industry, however, are also vital to defense projects and subject to prior call by the government.

None of the manufacturers queried reported any recent increase in prices, or the immediate prospect of a rise, due to the diversion of supplies, labor and plants to national defense work. Many firms producing machinery, films, chemicals for developing and printing processes, fine optical glass, and other items used in picture production or exhibition are also working on government contracts. There is general belief they can meet the industry's current needs without boosting prices, although few manufacturers will guarantee output or stable prices in the event of war.

Aluminum, first of the principal metals placed on the national priority list, appears to be the only commodity used in the motion picture and radio industry of which there is an immediate shortage.

Broadcasting transcriptions, and recording disks in use by motion picture producers for recording and playing-back music and dialogue consist of an acetate impression compound on a rolled aluminum disk. Glass, steel, brass, bakelite, and various alloys and synthetics have been tried as substitutes for the aluminum core without success. None can be rolled as smooth or are as little subject to warpage as the aluminum disks.

Radio and the films consumed less than 10 per cent of the 600,000,000 pounds of aluminum produced last year. The OPM's priority order issued February 24th by Edward B. Stettinius, Jr., director of priorities, curbs the industry's supply proportionate to 1940 consumption, along with the supply for household utensil, auto manufacturers, and other aluminum users. Many of the sound equipment manufacturers say that while the industry does not use large quantities of the metal, it is indispensable where used, and that the aluminum quota recently assigned works disproportionate hardship.

A spokesman for RCA-Victor Company at Camden reported that the company had several months' supply of aluminum on hand and was not pessimistic in regard to the possibility of price rises, or a shortage of the recording blanks. He said the company was also equipped to turn out the older type of wax recording disc, which, although not suited to immediate playbacks can in many cases be substituted for metal platters.

Hazzard E. Reeves, president of Audio Devices, Inc., one of several recording firms in New York believes the shortage locally is more acute. He predicted that unless the OPM revised the quota within a few weeks retailers would be forced to ration their output among the broadcasters, film companies, schools and universities, and government agencies who now use the aluminum sound discs. Mr. Reeves indicated that no satisfactory substitute for aluminum as yet had been found although Audio, and other research organizations were pushing experiments.

Prices of aluminum sound discs have not risen yet and distributors indicate they will ration output among established customers rather than increase prices. Raw aluminum, sold in milled sheets, chiefly by Aluminum Company of America, continues to sell at from 45 to 60 cents a pound. The raw metal is pegged at 17 cents a pound but scrap sales were reported to have reached 28 cents a pound, until pegged on a pre-emergency standard of 11 cents.

Output of aluminum here is expected to top 700,000,000 pounds next year, with defense needs claiming up to 500,000,000 pounds of the metal. Film and radio requirements will remain at about 1,500,000 pounds per year. New aluminum plants, notably in the Tennessee Valley and southwest, are expected to bring the country's production capacity up to 825,000,000 pounds annually by the middle of 1942.

Film stocks are plentiful, queries to Eastman and DuPont, principal producers of negative and positive cinema film indicate. Spokesmen for both firms say supplies of cotton, source of celulose, and acids used for the manufacture of celulose nitrate and acetate film are plentiful. Although Eastman and DuPont hold numerous government contracts these do not directly interfere with their film output, it is claimed.

Lowest Prices in History

Prices continue to be the lowest in history, with positive film selling for approximately .0085 cents per foot and camera negative costing about 3½ cents a foot. Both companies reduced prices during 1940. The film supply contrasts sharply with the situation during the first World War when film prices skyrocketed to levels two to four times the present cost. But American manufacturers became self-sufficient when German sources of film and chemicals were blockaded and today the amount of imported film or processing chemicals is negligible.

Magnesium, nickel, certain types of steel, and practically all machine tool output is also under strict government control through the OPM or through restrictions in Army and Navy contracts. What effect, direct or indirect, this further rationing will have on the cinema equipment market has not been predicted. Individual manufacturers are wary of forecasts, but point out that many of the materials vital for armaments are required for the making of studio and projection equipment.

A defense note was behind a recent announcement by Walt Disney productions that "Fantasia" would be limited to 12 cities for its initial showings, and that only a dozen units would be able to make subsequent road tours. Mr. Disney reports that government demands on RCA and other radio and electrical firms manufacturing special "Fantasound" units used in "Fantasia" had limited output of the equipment. The 12 units are now in use or being installed for "Fantasia" at New York, Los Angeles, Philadelphia, Boston, Chicago, Detroit, Minneapolis, Pittsburgh, Cleveland, San Francisco, St. Louis and Washington.

EXHIBITOR PLANS AVIATION CIRCUIT

Joy N. Houck, who in a decade expanded his exhibiton business from a tent show to a chain of 44 theatres in Louisiana, Mississippi, Arkansas and Georgia, has announced plans for another circuit, this time a link of airports and aviation schools throughout the South.

Mr. Houck leased the unoccupied Menefee Airport on the outskirts of New Orleans and renamed it the Joy Airport. He then opened an aviation school, which has since gained considerable reputation. He has now announced opening of No. 2 Joy Airport at Pascagoulas, Miss., and says negotiations are under way at two other nearby airports for opening of branch schools.

Committee's Defense Film Ready for Distribution

The Motion Picture Committee Cooperating for National Defense reports that 8,000 theatres have signed pledges to aid the industry program to publicize national defense work. "Power for Defense," first of a series of shorts on defense activity, was ready this week for free distribution to theatres joining the committee.

The 11-minute reel depicts defense manufacture in the Tennessee Valley area. Along with 12 one-minute defense trailers, and subsequent documentary shorts, the picture will be available to other theatres following circulation among houses that have signed the committee pledge. Meanwhile the drive continues to enroll every theatre in the country in the national defense committee.

FIRST ARBITRATION CASES GO TO 'TRIAL' UNDER CONSENT DECREE

Boston and Chicago Arbitrators Hear Complaints; Washington Case Settled Before Hearing; Panel Announced for Albany

The arbitration system established for the motion picture industry by the consent decree received its first "court" tests this week when hearings were held in the Boston and Chicago tribunals on cases brought by exhibitors seeking "some run" relief from the distributors who signed the decree.

Meanwhile the first official "out-of-court" settlement of a dispute which was to be arbitrated was announced. The case settled was the number two—Washington.

By mutual consent, on the basis of an agreement the terms of which were not disclosed, the complaint brought by John H. Taylor, operator of the Charles Theatre, La Plata, Md., protesting the 14-day clearance given Sidney Lust, operator of the Marlboro Theatre at Marlboro, Md., 30 miles away, was withdrawn and the issue closed. Distributors named in the original complaint were Paramount, Twentieth Century-Fox, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer and RKO. Under the regulations of the arbitration system, parties to a complaint are free to resolve their differences among themselves, if they so desire, and may apply, by stipulation, for withdrawal of a case without reporting the basis of settlement.

Hearing in Boston

The first arbitration hearing was scheduled for Friday at the office of the AAA in Boston before Arthur L. Brown, professor of law at Boston University. The case to be considered was the number one—Boston, brought by Benjamin Gold of Paulston, Inc., operator of the Park, Nashua, N. H., against Paramount, RKO, Twentieth Century-Fox and Vitagraph (Warner Brothers). The Colonial Theatres were also named in the dispute which involves "some run."

The first arbitrator to hear a motion picture case in the system established by the decree, Mr. Brown, is a graduate of Harvard and said to be an expert in business and government law. He is a trained arbitrator having served for the AAA in various cases and also was arbiter for the Newspaper Guild and the New England Publishers Association. His name was chosen by the parties involved from a list of 12. Mr. Brown is 36 years old and has served as law secretary to the Massachusetts Supreme Court.

In Chicago the second arbitration hearing will be held. Charles Zane Henkle, vice-president of the Continental Illinois National Bank, has been selected from a list of ten names submitted by the local AAA tribunal to hear the case brought by E. F. Vanderveer, operator of the State, Morris, Illinois, against Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. The Anderson circuit was also named in the demand which asked for "some run." Mr. Henkle is a graduate of Cornell and served as officer in charge of civilian affairs for the army of occupation during the World War.

On Wednesday the AAA held a reception on the 67th floor of the RCA Building in Rockefeller Center for the members of the appeal board of the motion picture industry arbitration system, Van Vechten Veeder, George W. Alger and Albert W. Putnam. No formal speeches were made at the official opening of the board which will hear appeals from the 31 local tribunals located in the principal key cities.

Among those who were invited to the reception for the appeal board were the following: Judge Henry W. Goddard, who signed the consent decree which set in operation the whole machinery; Barney Balaban, president of Paramount; Neil Agnew, vice-president and general sales manager of Paramount; T. J. Connors, eastern, southern and Canadian sales manager for MGM; Leonard Goldenson, Paramount theatres; Pete Harrison; I. Howard Levinson, Warner Brothers home office legal staff; Louis Phillips, law department, Paramount; Martin Quigley; Gradwell L. Sears, general sales manager for Warners; William Sussman, eastern sales manager, Twentieth Century-Fox; William Zimmerman, RKO legal; C. V. Whitney, head of the AAA; all the members of the AAA administrative committee for the motion picture industry; J. Noble Braden, executive secretary of the AAA and director of the motion picture tribunals; Miss Frances Kellor, vice-president; Lawrence Stessin, public relations director; Pelham St. George Bissell, chief magistrate of the New York Municipal Court and Judge Moses H. Grossman.

Nicholas M. Schenck, president of Loew's; Joseph Hazen, vice-president of Warners; E. K. O'Shea, central division manager of MGM; Judge Joseph Proskauer, counsel for Warners.

On Tuesday the AAA announced the members of the arbitration panel for Albany. Names of arbiters for the other 30 districts were previously published. From time to time the AAA will add additional names. The last board announced follows:

ALBANY

(Arbitration district—central New York state.)

JOHN BRAUN, lawyer, 100 State Street.
JOHN B. CANTWELL, CPA; vice-president Delaware Telephone Company, 100 State Street.
THOMAS FITZGERALD, investment broker, 483 State Street.
LOUIS GROCH, manager J. S. Bache & Company, Hotel Ten Eyck.
MORTON J. HALL, Massachusetts Mutual Life Insurance Company, 11 No. Pearl Street.
ADDISON KEIM, executive vice-president First Trust Company of Albany, c/o Trust Co.
EUGENE ORVIS, industrialist, 112 State Street (home).
DAVID M. SCHNEIDER, director Bureau of Research & Statistics, Department of Social Welfare, 112 State Street.
ALFRED J. SPORBORG, Steefel Brothers, Inc., 80 State Street.
CHARLES J. TOBIN, lawyer, 100 State Street.

The distributors are planning to be represented at the first arbitration hearings by some of their chief lawyers. Each company is expected to have a home office lawyer present at each case in which it is involved and at the beginning at other cases to observe procedure, it was reported.

Hearing on the first case filed anywhere, the number one—Washington, has been scheduled for March 25th before E. Barrett Prettyman, former corporation counsel for the District of Columbia. The action was brought by the Walbrook Amusement Company, Baltimore, against Warner Brothers and 20th Century-Fox. The Durkee circuit was also named in the dispute which involves clearance.

In the number three—Washington action, the Westway, Baltimore, case against MGM, 20th Century-Fox and Warners, a list of prospective arbiters has been mailed to all parties. The Durkee circuit was also said to be involved.

Additional arbitration cases were filed during the last week in Buffalo, Minneapolis, New Orleans and New York.

The second Buffalo case was brought by A. A. Carlson, operator of the Carlson theatre in Mayville, N. Y., against all five distributors which signed the decree. The Jamestown theatre in the same city was also named. Day and date run was requested in a clearance dispute.

In Minneapolis the first demand filed with that tribunal was presented by David Ratner, operator of the White Bear, White Bear Lake, Minn. Loew's, Warners, RKO and 20th Century-Fox were named, and the State theatre, White Bear Lake, was said to be involved. "Some run" was requested.

Charles Wollner filed a second demand for his Drive-In at New Orleans, this time involving clearance, with Paramount named. In the first case filed, Mr. Wollner asked "some run" from the same distributor.

The fifth New York demand was made by the River Theatre Corporation, operator of the Central in Pearl River, N. Y. All five distributors were named in a clearance dispute. Also said to be involved was the Pascack, Westwood, N. J., a Skouras Theatres house. It was asserted that the Skouras theatres get 49 days clearance and the houses should have day and date or 7 days maximum clearance.

Braden on Decree

J. Noble Braden, executive secretary of the American Arbitration Association and director of the motion picture tribunals, addressing members of the Harvard School of Business Administration at the Harvard Club in New York Tuesday, said the consent decree was an important contribution to the national defense program.

"The decree and its provisions for the arbitration of disputes," Mr. Braden said, "lifted a huge economic burden from both the Government and the movie industry at a time when all our resources should be directed towards maintaining internal unity and peace. . . ."

"And now by virtue of a consent decree, the Government, instead of prosecuting, is cooperating—instead of dictating, is helping self-regulation, and instead of drastic legislation, there exists a body of guiding principles which can well become the model for other industries to follow."

The relatively low cost of arbitration as established in the film consent decree also was stressed by Mr. Braden.

ARBITRATION CASES

The following is a summary of the arbitration cases filed to date:

Filed this week:

Buffalo—One on Clearance.
Minneapolis—One on Some Run.
New Orleans—One on Clearance.
New York—One on Clearance.
Total in week—four.

Previously published:

Clearance	11
Some Run	7
Withholding Prints	1
Total to March 12th	23

Paramount's Idea of a
Happy Easter and Yours Too!

Bing, Bob and

LET'S HIT THE ROAD TO ZANZIBAR...

PARAMOUNT'S

"ROAD ZAN

Paramount Pictures

ttie Tour Brightest LAFF-RICA!

THE SLYEST KIDDER!

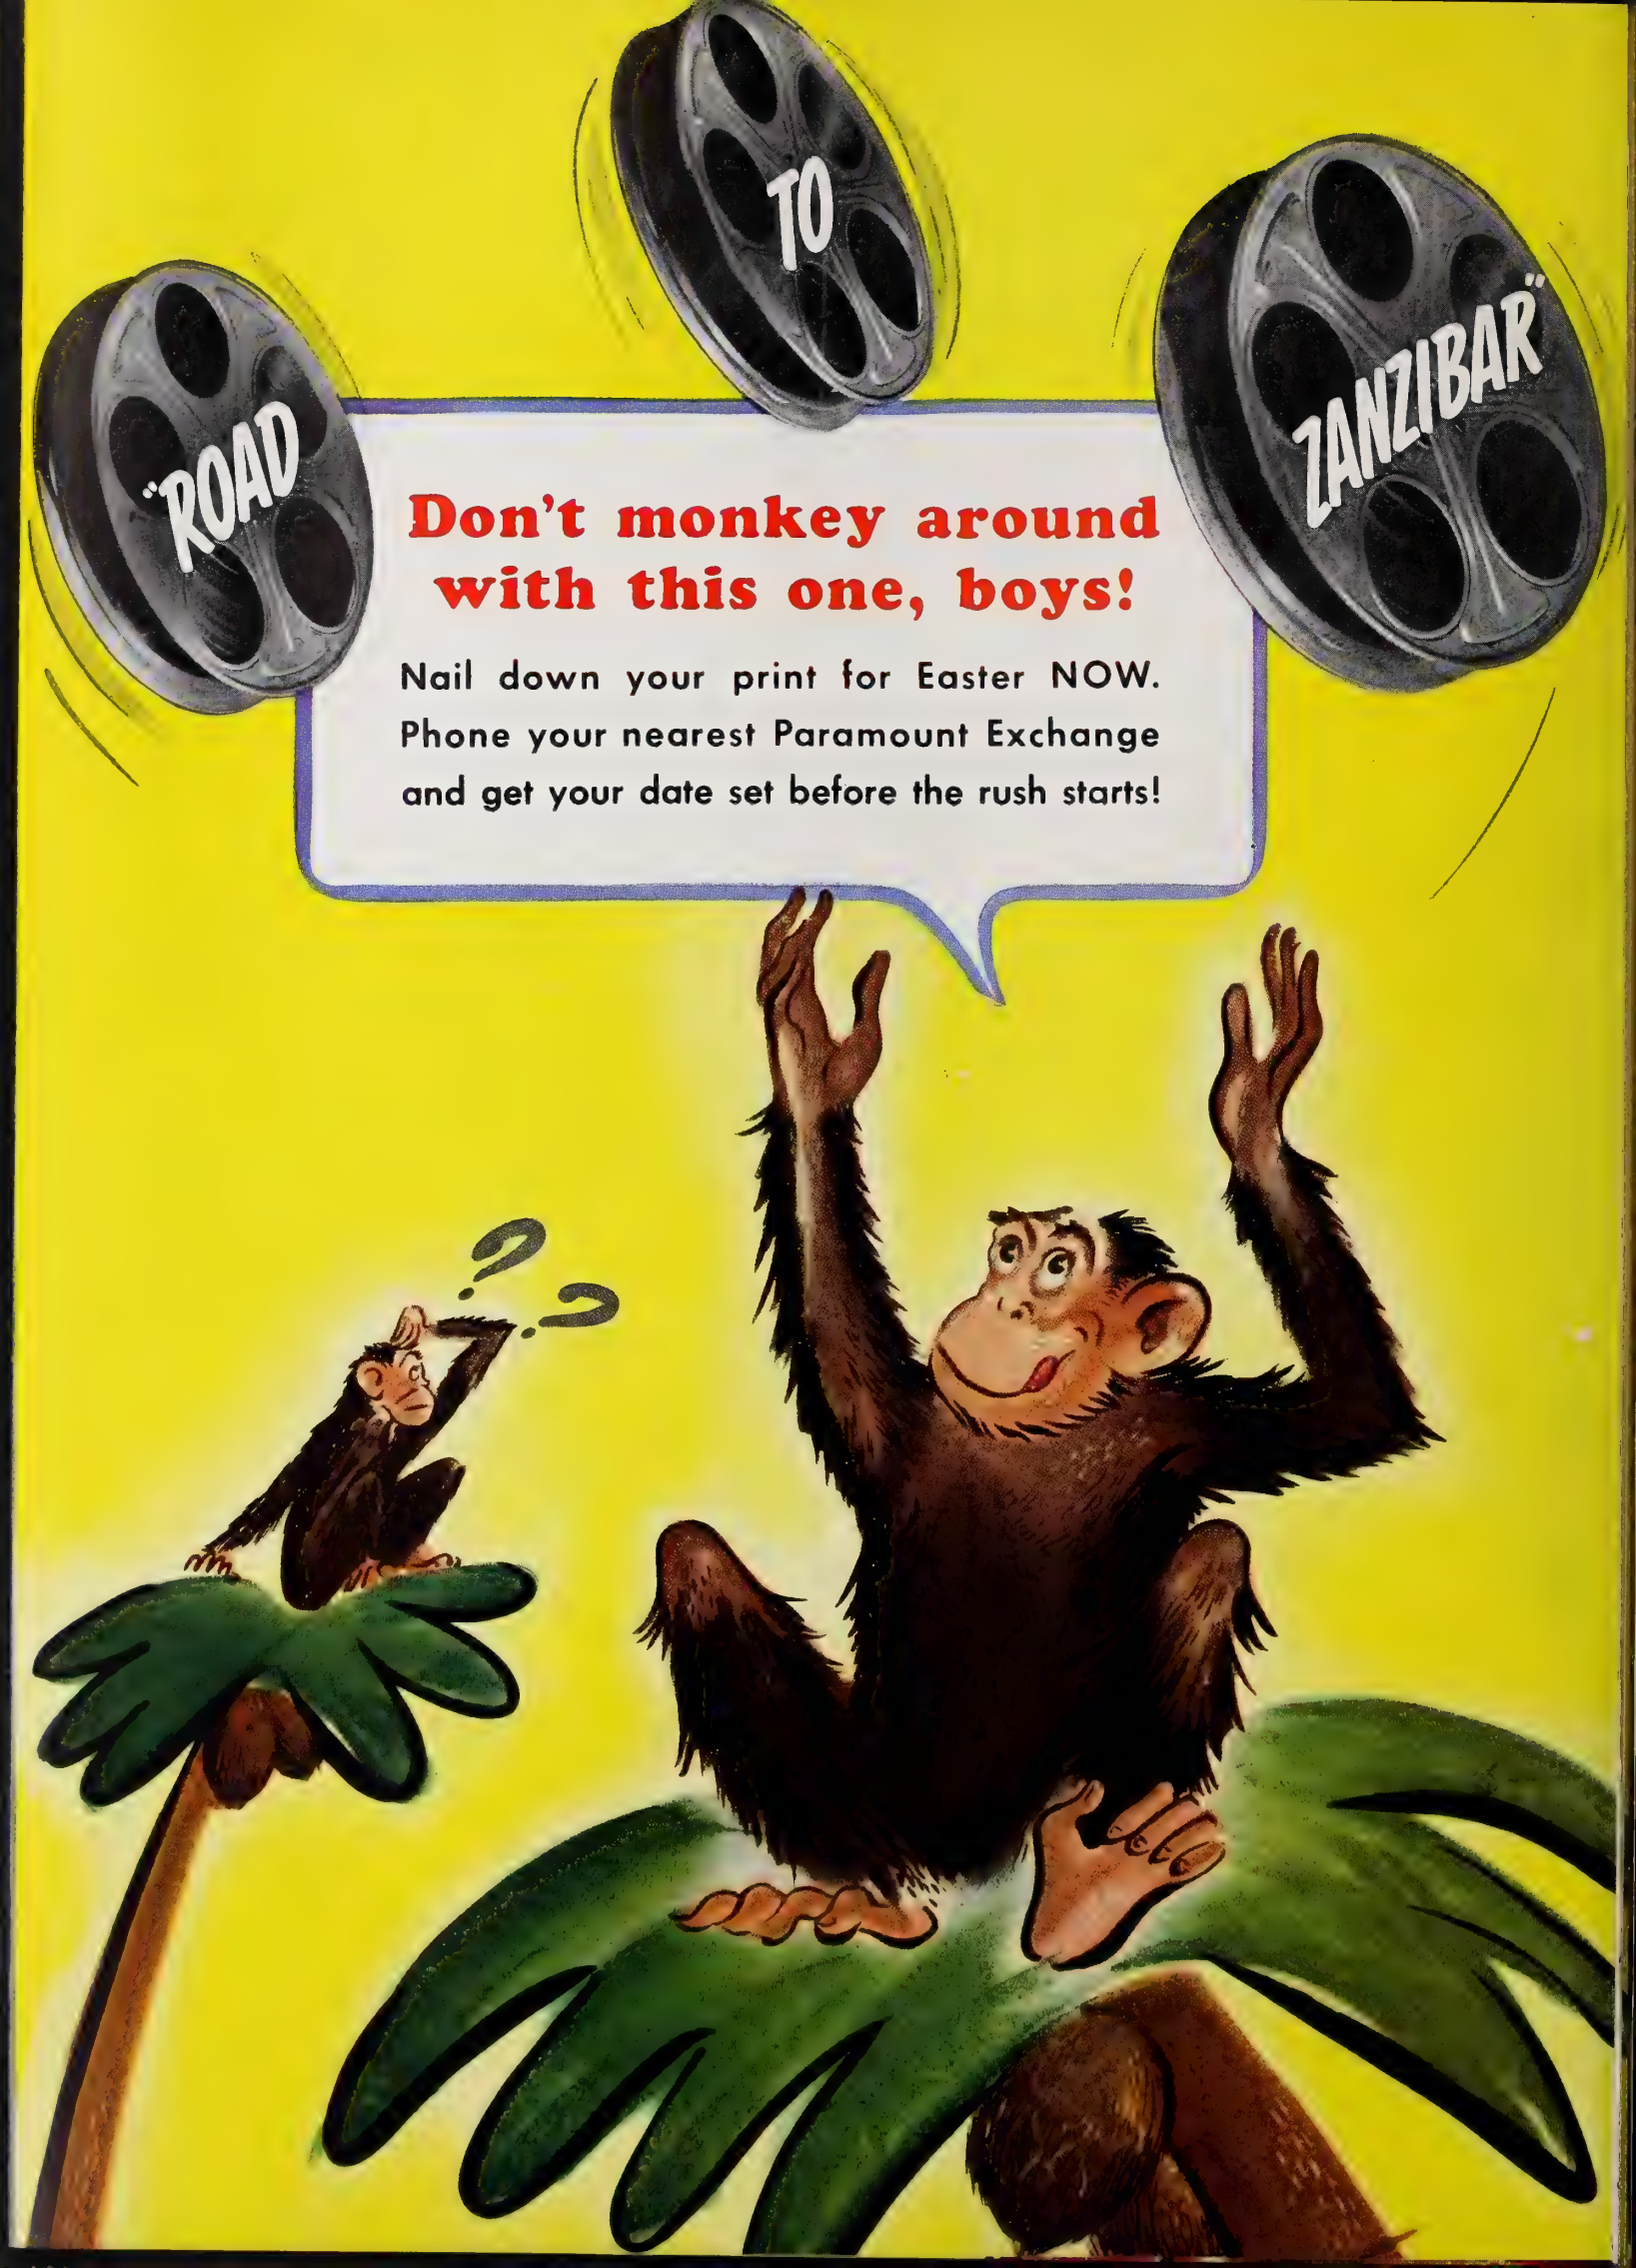
DON'T GIVE UP, HOPE!

SAWING A WOMAN IN HALF!

HOPE GOES OFF ON A BAT!

TO ZIBAR

PATTY-CAKE, PATTY-CAKE... BINGO!



WATCH OUT, BING, YOU'LL TIP THE CANOE!

"ROAD
TO ZANZIBAR"
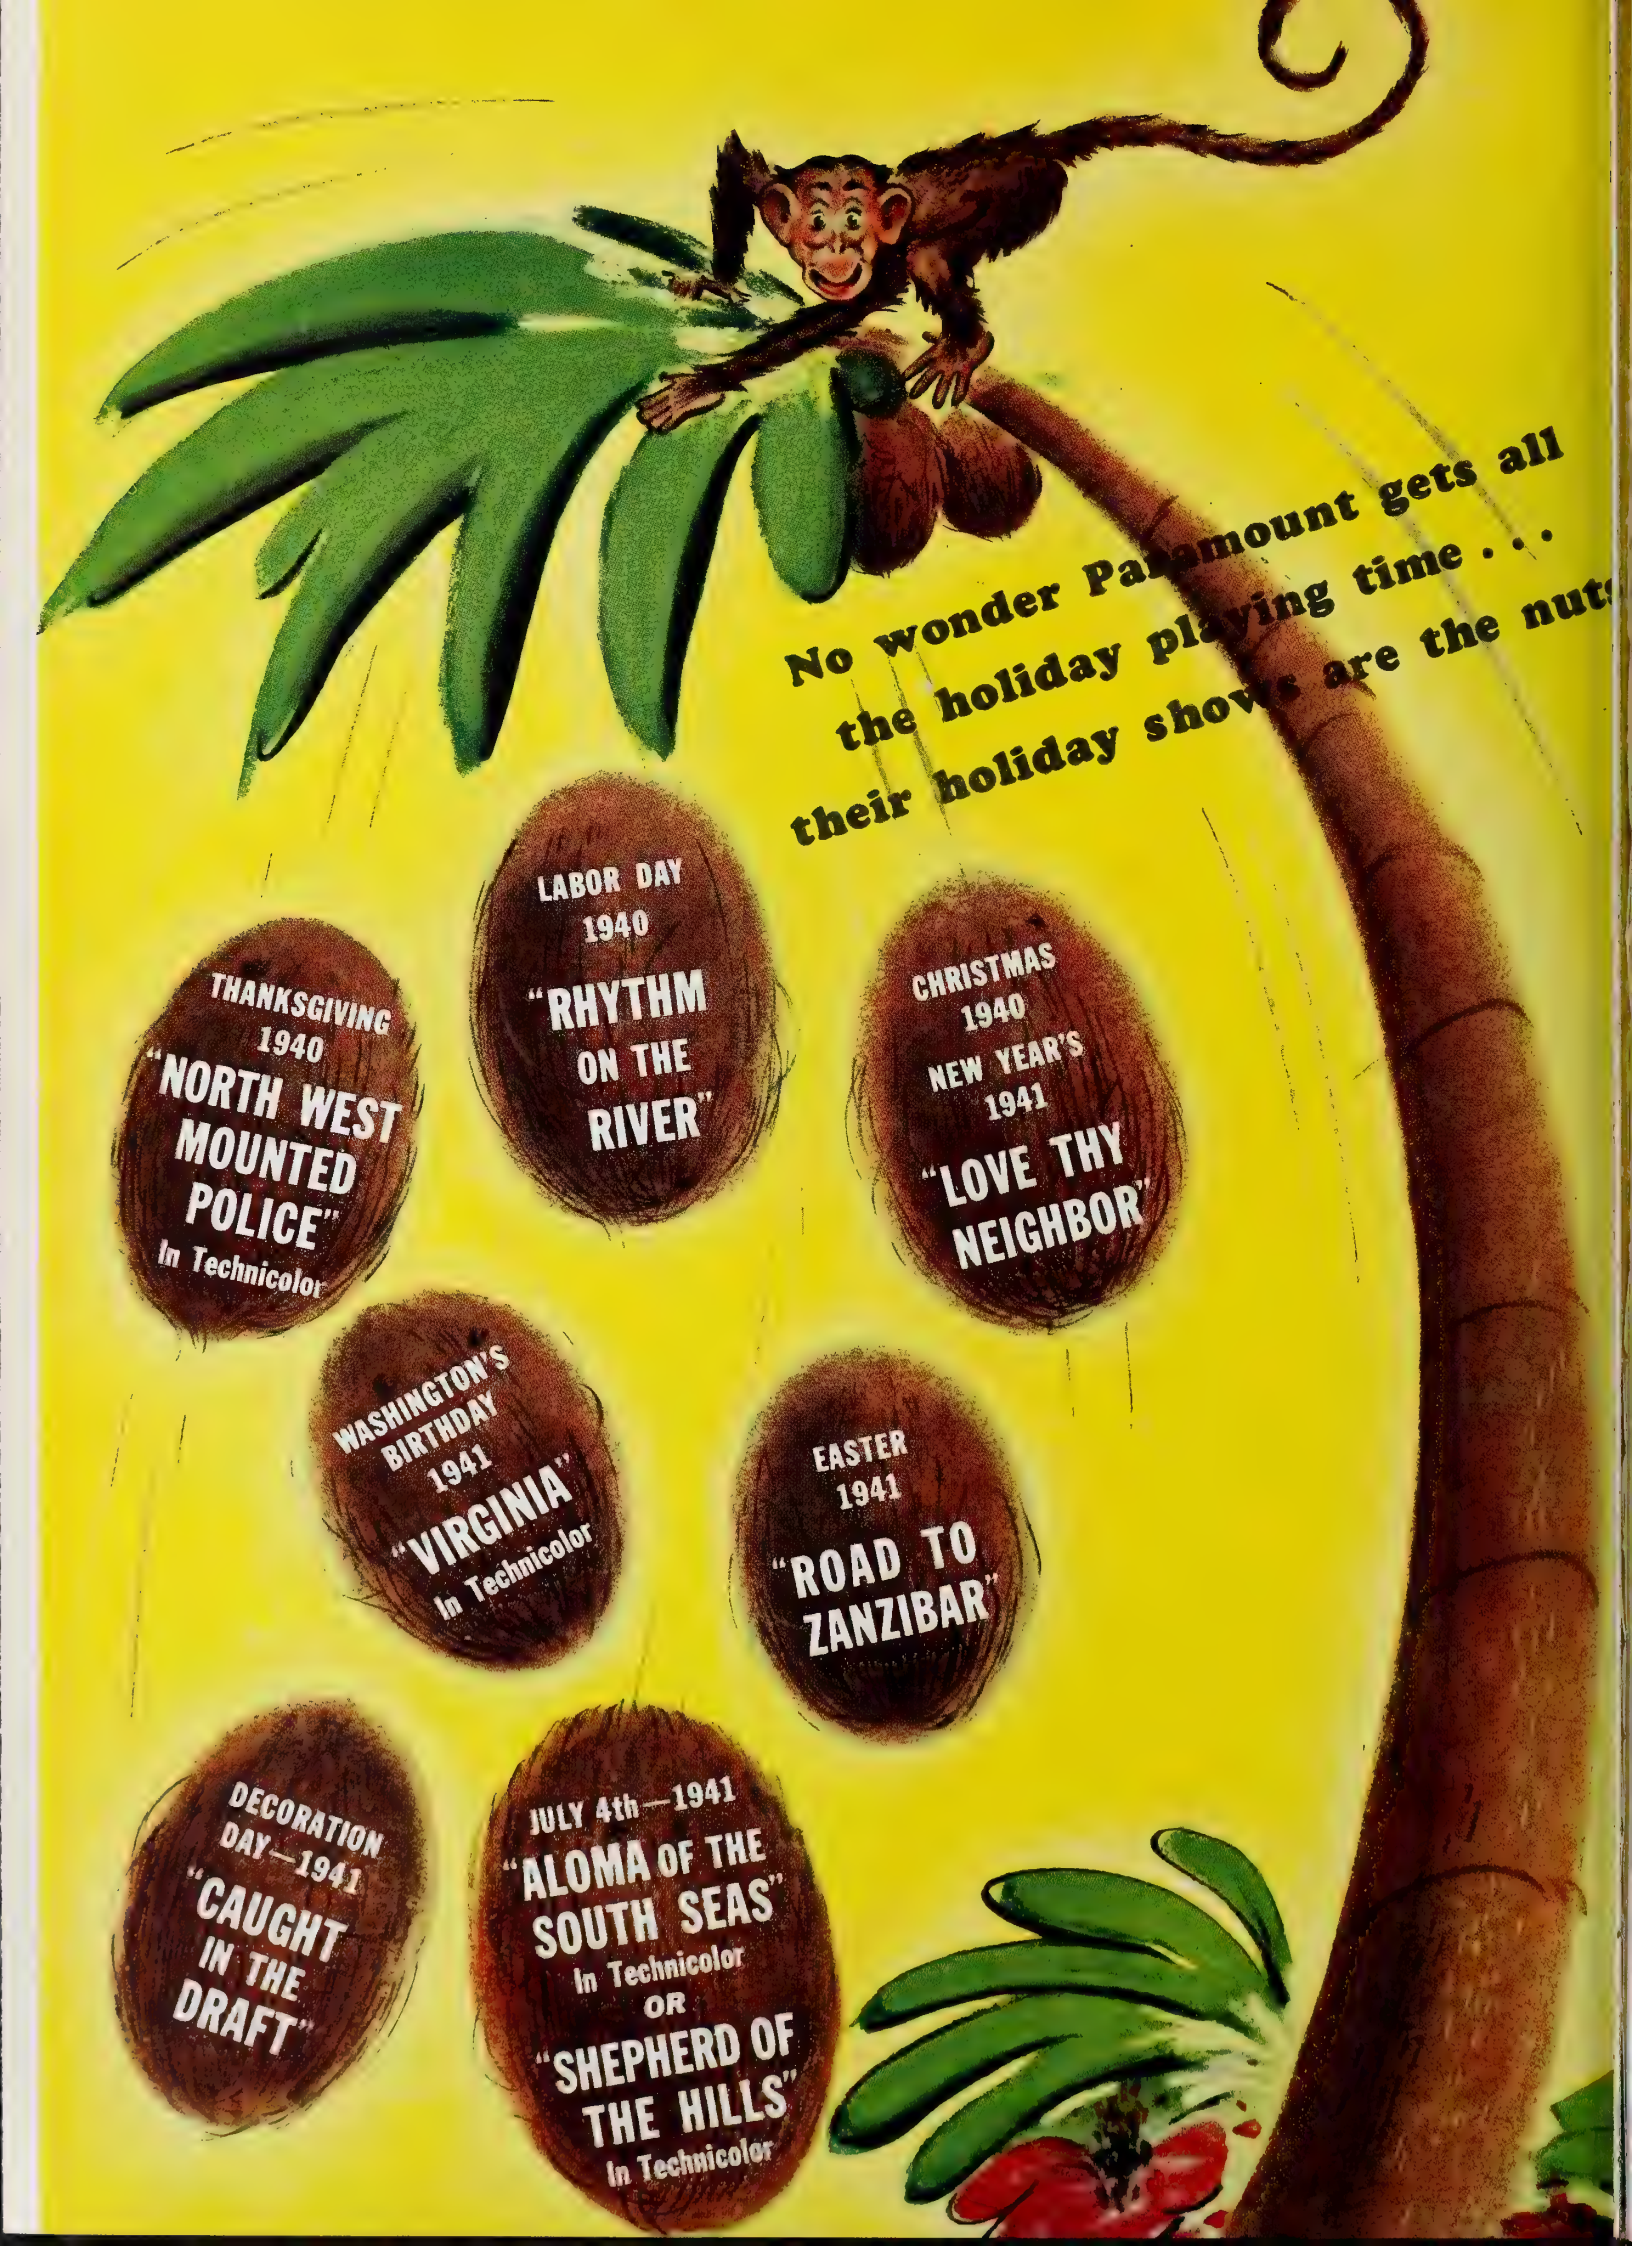
Don't monkey around with this one, boys!
Nail down your print for Easter NOW. Phone your nearest Paramount Exchange and get your date set before the rush starts!

The Men Who Came to Dinner ...and Their Gal Friend!

BING CROSBY ★ BOB HOPE ★ DOROTHY LAMOUR



in

"ROAD TO ZANZIBAR"

with UNA MERKEL · ERIC BLORE

Screen Play by Frank Butler and Don Hartman

A Paramount Picture · Directed by VICTOR SCHERTZINGER

No wonder Paramount gets all the holiday playing time . . .
their holiday shows are the nuts
LABOR DAY
1940
"RHYTHM ON THE RIVER" THANKSGIVING
1940
"NORTH WEST
MOUNTED POLICE"
In Technicolor
CHRISTMAS
1940
NEW YEAR'S 1941
"LOVE THY NEIGHBOR"
WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY
1941
"VIRGINIA"
In Technicolor
EASTER
1941
"ROAD TO ZANZIBAR" DECORATION
DAY—1941
"CAUGHT IN THE DRAFT"
JULY 4th—1941
"ALOMA OF THE SOUTH SEAS"
In Technicolor
OR
"SHEPHERD OF THE HILLS"
In Technicolor

ST. LOUIS INDEPENDENTS HIT F & M TRIPLES WITH 4-HOUR SHOWS, GAMES

Wehrenberg Announces Program of Two Features, Shorts to Compete; Better Films Council Sponsors Control Bill

In retaliation for the St. Louis Amusement Company-Fanchon and Marco policy of triple features in some of its neighborhood theatres, the 25 Wehrenberg-Kaimann houses will inaugurate four-hour performances three nights a week, beginning this week.

"Nothing will be repeated; we'll have two features and about an hour of short subjects and news," explained Fred Wehrenberg, co-partner of the circuit and president of the MPTO of the area. He added that an independent, the Apollo, West End house, would start triple features in competition to the nearby Pageant, owned by the amusement company. The Apollo will reduce its prices from 28 cents to 20 cents on the night of triple features, said Mr. Wehrenberg explaining the policy.

The MPTO president said the independents had sought in vain to persuade the amusement company and F & M officials to discontinue the triple features and had been supporting the Better Films Council's drive against this project.

The new four-hour shows will be held on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of each week. The theatres will be open from 7 to 11 p. m. Mr. Wehrenberg said giveaways would not be discontinued, and added "If 'dish night' should fall on the same night as a four-hour show the patron will benefit."

Milton Napier, attorney for the Better Films Council of Greater St. Louis, said a bill limiting the length of theatrical performances to three hours would be introduced in the Missouri Legislature this week —deadline for new measures.

Early Screening Plan Tried

With new and intensified attacks on double and triple bills within the industry and by outside groups, an increasing number of exhibitors believe they have found a solution to the problem by changing the screening time of the principal feature at evening shows. Experiments with "nine o'clock plans" and similar rescheduling of the main feature in trial circuit and independent houses in the New York area are being watched closely.

Meanwhile, Better Films Councils in Illinois and Missouri launched new attacks on multiple bills. At Evanston, Ill., wealthy suburb on Chicago's North Shore, the Better Films Council, headed by Mrs. Gordon S. Graham, president, this week circulated petitions asking a special referendum on municipal regulation of picture bills. According to Mrs. Graham, a poll taken by her group indicated that 73 per cent of the Evanston voters questioned were against dual programs. Members of the Films Council are canvassing Evanston women's clubs for petition signatures. Mrs. Graham was reported to have enlisted the unanimous backing of the Evanston League of Women Voters. The petition is to be submitted to the Mayor and City Council of that city.

Early screening of the principal feature on twin bills appears to answer objections to double features with which a sizeable segment of the theatre public has long plagued exhibitors. Two New York circuits, Loew's and RKO, which inaugurated "nine o'clock" and "nine-thirty" plans in some of their key neighborhood houses last month, report the new policy is receiving a very favorable reception. Other circuits and independent exhibitors are studying the operation of the early screening with a view to try the "nine o'clock" policy in their own theatres.

Both circuits meanwhile are keeping a careful check on attendance, customer reaction, and changes in the peak evening hours. RKO has changed the screening order in 33 metropolitan neighborhood houses. Loew's are advertising their plan for 31 New York, Jersey and Long Island houses. Both circuits still regard it as an experiment and are devoting special advertising effort towards educating the public to the change in screening time whereby single feature fans may see the principal picture and be out of the theatre by an early hour.

Decision as to which is the main feature is left to individual managers, who schedule the early-spot picture in accord with what they think is the neighborhood's preference. The order of billing varies greatly in different sections of the city. Strictly residential sections usually prefer family pictures, domestic drama, and romance in the early spot. Houses drawing clientele from diversified neighborhoods generally schedule musical, comedy or adventure pictures in the top spot.

Trailers, Posters Utilized

Trailers, lobby posters, and newspaper advertising are being used to call attention to the plan. Loew's currently prints excerpts from letters from patrons in praise of the plan in their newspaper advertising. The Keith circuit lists both the nine o'clock and nine-thirty shows in their advertised copy with an explanatory footnote on the new policy. The nine-thirty screening is generally restricted to houses where the program includes games, quiz contests, or similar specialties.

The plan is still experimental in both circuits, officials report, and there will be no extension of it until figures on its success are available. It is expected to take several months to fully test audience reaction. Managers are allowing for the element of novelty in the initial success. Unofficially, however, it was indicated that the plan is exceeding the expectations of its originators and it is possible that eventually it will be extended to a majority of the circuit houses.

Independent exhibitors and other circuits are watching the competitive effects of the RKO and Loew plans closely, and several are inaugurating trial periods for the early screening. Last week the Century circuit adopted nine o'clock showings of the lead feature in 20 of their 35 New York houses. Skouras Brothers, who have used a similar system in outlying suburban houses for several months, are reported considering the policy for their Manhattan houses, particularly in the north Broadway sector.

Brandt Theatres have tried the plan in two New York houses and one in Brooklyn, and may switch all their residential district houses to a nine or nine-thirty plan. Warner Brothers, who have run the principal feature first in their New Jersey suburban houses for several years, may extend it to all the circuit theatres in the Newark and Jersey City district. The circuit also uses a single feature with a special newsreel compilation and short subjects program in houses in localities where most of the patrons are early-rising commuters.

Upstate Houses Studying Plan

As yet there has been no general extension of the plan outside of New York. RKO managers in Rochester and Syracuse are studying the plan for upstate New York use, however. In Albany the Fabian circuit started a nine o'clock feature show at its first run Palace on February 24th. The early screening is run only on Mondays, Tuesday and Wednesdays, but will be extended if public reaction is favorable.

Fox West Coast launched trial runs of the earl screening system at key houses in Los Angeles and San Francisco and will extend the practice if it boosts grosses. The Detroit Fox theatre reached a unique compromise between double and single bills, scheduling the twin program for matinees, at which the children and women's audience voted four-to-one for two pictures. In the evening it shows only the principal feature, plus extra shorts and newsreels, in response to a ten-to-one vote against the double feature. The management claims the policy has increased the weekly gross, and is attracting a larger number of men to the evening shows. David Idzal, manager, reports that letters comment favorably on the change, which releases audiences before midnight.

The Town theatre, also in Detroit, operated by the Broder circuit, this week introduced a stage show plus two pictures. Admission prices were cut to 20 cents, with occasional increases for big name stage acts. The bill will change weekly.

At Indianapolis the ultimate in full programs appeared at the Fountain Square when Earl Cunningham, manager, announced that the de luxe neighborhood house would present three features on one "preview night" a week. The Apollo, downtown subsequent run house, is also using three pictures for special "bargain nights."

ANTI-TRIPLES MEASURE "BACKED" BY ARTHUR

Harry C. Arthur, Jr., general manager of the Fanchon & Marco and St. Louis Amusement Company circuits of that city, has endorsed the bill against triple features, scheduled to be introduced in the legislature this week by the St. Louis Better Films Council. Mr. Arthur's endorsement came over the telephone from Los Angeles. In part he said: "We sincerely believe the contemplated bill does not go far enough, in that it attempts only to abolish the thinly adopted policy of triple feature programs. . . . The bill should insist on an elimination of not only the triple feature program, but the far more injurious double feature." Mr. Arthur also asked that the bill abolish premiums "which, to a degree, are responsible . . . for the three feature policy."

Lubitsch Joins Fox

Ernst Lubitsch has signed a long-term contract as a producer-director at Twentieth Century-Fox. At present Mr. Lubitsch is committed to make one more picture for United Artists, and is expected to report to Twentieth Century-Fox this summer.

Universal, UA Again Request Suit Dismissal

Once more, Universal Pictures and United Artists asked for dismissal of the suit against them, answering the Government's amended complaints, in the New York anti-trust case. The requests were made Monday, and were attached to general denials of the Government charges. Columbia has been given a brief extension of time in which to answer. The Government's amended complaints were voluminous; the defendants' answers were two pages each.

Department officials in Washington on Tuesday confirmed reports of a consent decree forthcoming in its suit against the Schine circuit and the majors, in Buffalo. The decree would be with the circuit, and would probably follow the expected dropping of the five majors who are parties to the decree arrived at in the New York suit.

The Washington statement caused some surprise in Buffalo, among circuit and Federal officials there, and in New York, where it was recalled that, but a few weeks ago, a Department official in New York had said the settlement negotiations were off, and that the Department would proceed with its suit against the circuit.

Willard S. McKay, attorney for the Schines, refused on Tuesday, in New York, to comment, apart from noting he would when advised officially by the Department of its viewpoint.

The major distributors expect dismissal next Monday in federal court in Buffalo. The hearing set for last week was postponed one week at the request of George Grobe, assistant U. S. attorney general.

Although trial is set for next Tuesday in the damage suit by Lou Bard's Colcata Corporation, against the Fox West Coast circuit, the suit may be settled before it reaches court. Mr. Bard charges inability to obtain product for his Colorado Theatre, in Pasadena.

The defendants in the Crescent Amusement Company anti-trust suit, in Nashville, has been given until April 28th to answer the Government interrogatories.

Theatre League Sues Dramatists' Guild as Trust

The League of New York Theatres on Monday sued the Authors' League of America, in New York Supreme Court, alleging violation of the anti-trust laws, and asking a temporary injunction against the enforcement of the Dramatists' Guild new five year pact, which was to take effect March 1st, and copies of which were sent to the owners of New York theatres with an allegedly "take-it-or-leave-it" attitude.

The Authors' League is the parent body of the Guild. Shows written by members of either cannot be performed in theatres not signatories to the agreement.

According to the theatre league complaint, many theatre owners are not willing to accept the new pact, finding, in particular, its closed shop provisions applicable to foreign dramatists, objectionable.

FOUR-REEL FEATURES PLANNED BY ROACH

Four reel featurettes will soon be released by United Artists in behalf of Hal Roach as a solution to the double feature problem, Mr. Roach indicated during his visit in New York last week. He plans to produce the four reel pictures with the same preparation and production care as is customary with full length features. Story situations will be fashioned on a "short story pattern" and produced with top casts, direction, and art work, he said.

Nazi Film Chief Replies to FDR

A reply to President Roosevelt's speech to the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences in which he had praised the industry for its reflection of "the aims and aspirations and ideals of a free people and of freedom" was forthcoming from Berlin this week.

Fritz Hippler, head of the German Propaganda Ministry's cinema division, in a story carried by the New York Times on March 9th, blasted the American film industry as "artistically inferior" and declared "German honor" required a ban on all American-made motion pictures. Herr Hippler assailed what he termed "an unofficial boycott of German films in the United States" which, he charged, has limited Nazi product to less than fifteen theatres throughout the country since 1933.

"If it is true that the American movie has carried the 'ideals of a free nation' throughout the world then America's ideals must be light amusement, song hits, and tap dancing," he declared. Few films of real value or actual artistry come from America, he charged, adding that when American movies turn to serious subjects "they present social disproportion, disorder and lawlessness."

Officially, the German reply to the President was ignored. The Non-Sectarian Anti-Nazi League in New York, however, asked a government embargo on German films in retaliation and protested "anti-American and anti-democratic propaganda contained in films now shown in 'German quarters.'"

New Light Tool

Containing no wire or foil, a new "Speed Midget" photoflash lamp is announced by the Westinghouse Lamp Division, Bloomfield, N. J. It will enable amateur photographers to take action flash shots with inexpensive cameras, and is expected to prove valuable to professionals in close-up, color, clinical and general shots. The photographic light is obtained from a heavy chemical deposit on the small resistance filament and the lead wires. Although the lamp's total output is about 2500 or 3000 lumen seconds, its peak output is about 500,000 lumens.

New Goldwyn Press Agent

Samuel Goldwyn in Hollywood this week appointed Myron Lustig, former San Diego newspaperman, his publicity and advertising director. Mr. Lustig was MGM publicity and advertising director in Australia for seven years. Recently he has handled Coast publicity on the industry's contribution to the Greek War Relief Association.

'Back Street' Heads For Record Gross; 'Wings' March 26

Universal home office executives expect the company's "Back Street," which had its world premiere in Miami recently, to set records in total grosses on the strength of holdover engagements thus far. Up to Monday, the feature had been given 26 holdover bookings in 50 key cities.

The cities, and the theatres in which the feature played, follow:

Miami (Lincoln and Surf), Rochester (Palace), Syracuse (Keith), Kansas City (Esquire and Uptown), Baltimore (Keith), Cincinnati (Albee), Columbus (Palace), Dayton (Keith), Detroit (Fox), Louisville (Rialto), Portland, Oregon (United Artists), Washington (Keith), Worcester (Capitol), New York City (Rivoli), Buffalo (Lafayette), Denver (Denver), Pittsburgh (Fulton), Troy (Troy), Utica (Stanley), Atlanta (Fox), Chicago (Palace), New Orleans (Orpheum), Cleveland (Hippodrome), and Hartford (E. M. Loews). In Detroit, Denver and Washington, D. C., the picture held over three weeks, and at the Rivoli, New York City, it is playing its fourth week.

Twentieth Century Fox's "Tobacco Road" is scheduled to open in Denver next Tuesday.

United Artists Charles Chaplin production, "The Great Dictator," will open shortly at the Loew's Theatre, Toronto, for its first showing in that city at regular prices.

The United States Army and official Washington will turn out in full for the world premiere of Paramount's drama of the Army Air Corp, "I Wanted Wings," opening at the Astor theatre in New York on March 26th, Robert M. Gillham, director of publicity and advertising for the company, announced this week.

"Sis Hopkins," Republic feature, will open for first theatre showing on the evening of April 4th at the Fox Theatre, St. Louis, with Judy Canova, star, and other Hollywood personalities attending.

United Artists' Hal Roach comedy, "Topper Returns," was shown to exhibitors in 24 trade centers this week.

"John Doe" Opens

Warner Brothers opened "Meet John Doe," a Frank Capra production with a dual premiere at the Rivoli and Hollywood theatres in New York on Wednesday evening. Among the industry executives at the premiere were: Gradwell L. Sears, Joseph Bernhard, Carl Leserman, Mort Blumenstock, Sam Schneider, Sam Morris, Leonard Schlesinger, Ed Schnitzer, Neil Agnew, Jack Cohn, Jack Schaefer, Abe Schneider, Joe Hummell, Arthur Kelly, Joseph Hazen, Meyer Schine, Arthur Sachson and others.

Up to the beginning of the week, Warner Brothers' "John Doe" had been dated into 25 locations, at a single feature policy and advanced admissions. All of the dates are to follow the world premiere Wednesday in New York, Miami and Los Angeles.

Posel Circuit Adds Theatre

Leo Posel has added a fourth house to his independent circuit in Philadelphia named the Benner theatre. It is an 800-seat house.

Kilburg Receives MGM Award

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer has awarded an Honor Roll button to Gene Kilburg, Wisconsin theatre, Milwaukee, for his campaign on "Philadelphia Story."

CANADIAN EXHIBITORS FEAR ARMY WILL CALL ALL PROJECTIONISTS

Owners in Eastern Provinces May Face Closings If Men Are Called for Defense in Renewed Undersea Warfare

by VICTOR SERVICE
in St. Johns, N. B.

The possibility that projection machine operators now doing reserve war duty, may be called into active continuing service and that the resultant shortage may involve the forced closing of theatres or replacement by stage shows, is a serious problem at present causing concern to exhibitors in the eastern provinces, who would be vitally affected if the Axis plan for greatly increased U-boat attacks on British soil and shipping is implemented, starting this Spring. It is felt by some that seaports on the Atlantic would be vulnerable in the event of the intensified undersea warfare during the Spring, Summer and Fall.

Being adapted by their employment to handle searchlights, a number of operators are serving as part time soldiers, attending training sessions two mornings weekly, and handling giant searchlights for detection of sea and air marauders. At St. John, all the operators are in the local searchlight battery, and if they were placed on permanent duty, the theatres would be without boothmen.

The same situation, partly or wholly, prevails at all the cities and towns located on the coasts of New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island, eastern Quebec, and Newfoundland. With no apprenticeships permitted by the union, the exhibitor would have no licensed boothmen to fill the voids, unless the help were imported.

Box Office Boom

Record breaking business prevails at the theatres of Halifax and Dartmouth, N. S., on opposite shores of Halifax harbor and connected by a municipal ferry service. Because of the unprecedented demand for seating, all the theatres are now functioning continuously from 1 to 11 and 11.30 P.M., replacing the former supper hour break between 5.30 and 7. The diphtheria, spinal meningitis and flue epidemics have affected Halifax-Dartmouth more than any other section in Canada, per population, but there has been no unfavorable reaction at the theatre boxoffices. All of the 11 theatres involved are sharing in the heavy patronage, and seats are at a premium after 6 P.M.

The Sunday shows in the FPC Capitol, have developed from the trial stage and now are being continued indefinitely by the committee in charge which is representative of the army, navy, air force, city council and the campaign organization which led the fight for Sunday picture entertainment.

A lively stimulant for theatre business in St. John's, Newfoundland, has been the establishment of a U. S. army base there with the garrison proving consistent picture patrons. All Newfoundland theatres are supplied by the exchanges at St. John, N. B.

Bingo is increasing in opposition to theatres in a number of eastern Canadian centres. In St. John, N. B., the bingo promoters went to such extremes several years ago, that the local exhibitors banded together and demanded action by the council and police, resulting in some restrictions. The revision called for professional promoters to be excluded and the sponsors limited to church, welfare and charitable organizations, with the proceeds of the games to be for charity.

Professional Promoters Return

The professional promoters have returned, using dummy organizations or, if the latter are genuine, they receive only a lump sum or a small percentage, for the use of their names as sponsors. About the only place the charity appears is in the advertisement announcing the game. After the picture exhibitors started their campaign, merchandise only was offered as prizes, but cash has reappeared, with from $30 to $100 stipulated in the games ballyhoo.

▽

James A. Golding, 38, assistant manager of the Community, St. John, N. B., died last week, less than a year after the death of his father, John N. Golding, assistant manager of the Capitol, St. John. He had been assisting his brother, Walter R., lessee and manager of the Community for several years. A widow and two young children survive.

▽

E. A. Whelpley of St. John, N. B., who had been manager of the RKO exchange at St. John for many years up to last summer and since then has been unattached, is back in picture distribution as a salesman for the Empire-Universal exchange, St. John. Whelpley has been selling pictures about 25 years.

▽

"Gone With the Wind" made its reappearance in the maritime provinces at the Famous Players Canadian Capitols in Halifax, N. S., and St. John, N. B. at 40 and 50 cents, including and excluding tax, respectively. At Halifax, the continuous shows begin at 11 A.M. and at St. John at 12 Noon. The 50 cent price prevailed after 2 P.M. with children at 25 cents up to 6 P.M.

▽

The New Brunswick Board of Censors has placed a 16-year minimum age limit for "Chad Hanna" at the Capitol, St. John, N. B., and this will prevail through the province at other theatres. The restriction came just before the booking started.

SKILLED LABOR SHORTAGE SEEN

Shortage of technical help in the British film industry will become acute if impending government reclassification of labor removes studio and theatre skilled labor from the reserve lists, it was reported in London this week. Producers, exhibitors and labor officials fear industrial catastrophe if cutters, cameramen, directors, electricians, make-up men, artists, sound engineers, producers, and scenarists, now on the reserve list at a 30 years age minimum and projectionists at a 25 years age minimum, are taken off the reserve. The Association of Cine Technicians will ask the government to set up a Films Commission to prevent current and post war disruption of the industry.

Re-incorporation of Grand National Films, Ltd., of Canada as Producers Releasing Corporation of Canada and Newfoundland was completed this week in New York. Six branches will start operating on Monday in St. Johns, Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg, Calgary and Vancouver. PRC also announced that a deal had been closed with Abdul Karim and Company for PRC distribution in Iraq, Iran, Syria, Palestine, Egypt and Turkey.

More Odeon Expansion

In Toronto, the new Odeon Theatres circuit, with which Paul Nathanson and Oscar Hanson of the N. L. Nathanson enterprises are identified, announced Monday that it has completed plans for the construction of a theatre at Owen Sound, Ont.

It was reported but not confirmed that Odeon has acquired the Palace at Galt, Ont., from Harry Goldhar, Famous Players Canadian, of which N. L. Nathanson is head, operates the Capitol and Grand at Galt and the Paramount at Owen Sound.

The new circuit previously acquired 12 houses in Western Canada and another here, and has a theatre under construction at Kingston, Ont. Negotiations for other theatres also have been reported.

Election of officers of Famous Players Canadian will be held here next July. N. L. Nathanson's five-year contract with Paramount as president will expire in June. His final option to purchase 11,000 shares of Famous Players Canadian common stock at $16 a share recently was extended to April. Four previous annual options to acquire 11,000 shares each at prices ranging from $12 to $15 a share were exercised by Nathanson.

A dividend of 25 cents a share on the common stock was declared recently for the first quarter of 1941.

Navy Expands Film, Photographic Units

Preparing to expand its motion picture service, as part of a development program of welfare and recreation for Naval personnel, the Navy Department has been given an additional $250,000 in a supplemental appropriation bill reported to the House by the appropriations committee.

Only a small part of the fund is to be expended on films, for which the Navy already has $85,000. The bill carried no break-down, it being left to Naval authorities to expend the sum as they find necessary. The Department plans to increase the number of prints taken from distributors for circulation through Naval vessels and shore stations.

At Hollywood a Naval Reserve photographic unit is in process of formation. According to Lieutenant Commander A. J. Bolton it is the "first motion picture unit to be organized by the Navy for general service." Duties will consist of photographing terrain, locale, and naval manouvers. Gregg Toland, chief cameraman for Samuel Goldwyn, Hal Rosson, MGM cameraman, and Joe August, RKO lens expert, are among the 180 men who have joined the reserve unit.

Cappler Joins Republic

Francis Cappler has been appointed booker at the Republic exchange in Des Moines.

COOPERATION URGED AT EXHIBITOR CONVENTIONS

Richey, Kuykendall Press for Unity under Decree; See Possibility of Future Changes

"Go forward, make the decree work; cooperate with each other, with men in other branches of the industry. The result will be improved relationships between the film industry's varied factors." This was the advice given Monday to the Des Moines convention of the Allied Independent Theatre Owners of Iowa-Nebraska, by Henderson M. Richey, MGM's director of exhibitor relations. He added: "Should there develop in the decree parts that are obviously unworkable, it will then be a combined industry dictating changes that may at some time need to be made."

Mr. Richey, further, made some remarks on legislation, among them that the best way to avoid unfavorable attention was to stop frequenting state capitals and continually asking for favorable legislation. He reminisced that the Michigan Allied unit, of which he was formerly business manager, obtained better results by maintaining personalized contact with legislators in their home communities. He criticized the theatre owners for keeping infrequent contact with lawmakers they elected, and said that "too many times" such lawmakers had a distorted view of the film business.

Kuykendall Urges Cooperation

A surprise speaker on the program, Edward L. Kuykendall, president of the Motion Picture Theatre Owners of America, asked for cooperation among exchangemen and exhibitors, with the end in mind that the small exhibitor be kept in business. The industry, he said, would collapse without the small independent.

The decree, with its difficulties, can always be handled in a friendly manner, Mr. Kuykendall said.

"It was forced on us," he said at this point. "We don't know what will come out of it; but we should cooperate, individually and collectively."

He noted the friendliness at the convention between the exchangemen and exhibitors, and called upon home offices to allow the exchange executives more authority to run "things as they should be run."

Leo Wolcott, president of the Iowa-Nebraska Allied, opened the meeting Monday, asking for goodwill because constant quarreling among persons in the film industry made it a target for outside enemies. Examples, he said, were the decree, and varied adverse legislation.

A luncheon at the Hotel Savery opened the convention.

Tuesday, closing day, resolutions were adopted opposing new theatre taxes, and endorsing cooperation with the consent decree, and with arbitration in the decree. A committee was appointed to investigate the practicability of reorganizing the unit, and Mr. Wolcott was reelected president, W. B. Franke vice-president, and W. A. Dutton secretary. Elected directors were C. A. Myrick and Harold Hall.

The national MPTOA, through Mr. Kuykendall, and some units of the National Allied States Association, are warning exhibitors that they must have enough product bought for the summer months, at the end of which the selling provisions of the decree become effective.

Mr. Kuykendall, in the latest issue of the MPTOA bulletin, warns members to have enough product "on hand and on order, so that they will not me caught short and have to sign up at fancy prices in order to keep their theatres open." He adds:

"This is going to be a real test of your ability as a film buyer. You will need good product, and you will expect to pay what it is worth in your own judgment, and you may have to get tough to prevent a precedent being established for excessive precises that will dog you all year.

"Don't forget that instead of one deal with these companies for their product, under this new system, you will have to make eight or ten separate deals for the same number of pictures with the same company."

Mr. Kuykendall suspects there will be a lack of good pictures during the summer because they will have been withdrawn in order to dress up the first blocks of five offered.

"No pictures are identified in these contracts," he warned, "which makes it a very simple matter to hold back the release of any picture until after September 1st. Do you think the distributor will be able to resist this temptation?" he asked, adding: "The type and quality of pictures scheduled and announced for release the end of this season will tell the story."

Leo F. Wolcott, president of the Allied ITO of Iowa-Nebraska, wrote in an organizational bulletin, that exhibitors should "create a backlog of pictures now under contract, so they will not be forced to jump into buying too early next fall."

New York Allied Meets

The new New York Allied will hold an organizational meeting next Tuesday in Buffalo. Two representatives will be chosen, to be on the organization committee, and complement the two each from the New York and Albany areas.

On the organizational committee thus far are Max Cohen and Robert Goldblatt, from the New York City area; and Abe Stone and Leonard Rosenthal, of the Albany.

McElligott Elected Civic Head

Byron C. McElligott, manager of the Minnesota Amusement Company's three theatres in Aberdeen, S. D., has been elected president of the Aberdeen Civic Association.

Pierce Joins MGM

William Pierce, Jr., has joined the Metro Goldwyn Mayer publicity department in Hollywood.

KUYKENDALL SAYS "NO MORE"

Ed Kuykendall, president of the MPTOA, said this week he would not seek reelection to his post when the exhibitor organization's board of directors meets at the national convention in June. Mr. Kuykendall indicated he would not be a candidate as he left New York on Monday for Washington. No other candidates have been mentioned for the MPTOA chieftainship however, and it is held likely that the directors will draft Mr. Kuykendall for another term. He has held the office for six years.

National Theatres Officers, Managers Meet on Policy

National Theatres' fifth annual convention opened at the Arrowhead Springs Hotel at Arrowhead Springs, Cal., last Thursday, March 6th, and more than 70 motion picture executives attending the conclave.

Charles Skouras started the first meeting with an address to the division managers, their assistants and district executives. Business sessions were held in the morning and afternoon and screenings of the latest product were held in the hotel-theatre during the evenings.

Spyros Skouras, head of the organization, flew from New York to California to attend the conclave, which had a greater attendance than any of the four previous meetings. Added importance was given the impending consent decree, which was explained in full as it pertained to the buying of pictures by the National Theatre group.

Among those attending were, New York: Spyros P. Skouras, Pete Lundgren, Fred Pride, Harry Cox, John Healy, M. Hosfeldt, Aubrey Schenck, John Caskey, William Powers, I. Barry and Edward Zabel. Detroit: Dave Itzel. Milwaukee: Harold Fitzgerald, Ed Alperson and G. W. Brown. Kansas City: Elmer C. Rhoden, Lon Cox and Lou Pope.

From Denver: Rick Ricketson, Hal Baetz, W. Woods, H. Stuart and J. Franz. Seattle: Frank Newman, Al Finke, H. Schultz, John Hamrick, Al Rosenberg and Carl Ennig. San Francisco: Arch Bowles, C. Thall, Mike Naify, N. Turner, H. Seipl, E. Hanks, B. Speir and Paul Phillips.

From Los Angeles: Charles P. Skouras, C. A. Buckley, Mike Rosenberg, Oscar Oldknow, A. J. Krapman, George Topper, Larry Kent, R. H. McCullough, J. Epstein, Cullen Espy, B. V. Sturdivant, Thornton Sargent, Homer Gill, K. Bertero, Tom Page, W. H. Lollier, Fred Stein, D. Dickson, William Lyris, George Bowser, George Waters, Lew Christ, Dean Hyskell, Earl Hines and Ed Klassen.

In attendance from the American Seating Company were L. Owndey, R. Zimmerman, Al Hoven and Hilliard Brooks.

Golden Heads New Company

Edward A. Golden, long associated with Monogram enterprises, this week announced University Film Productions, Inc., with offices at 608 Fifth Avenue in New York and 6233 Hollywood Boulevard, Hollywood, with Mr. Golden as president. The first project is under a working title of "The Kiss of Death," involving problems of social hygiene. It is an original script by M. C. Ransome. A release date of June 1, for "roadshow" exploitation, has been set. Mr. Golden says he has the cooperation of public health officials.

MPA To Open Offices

The Motion Picture Associates soon will open permanent quarters at the Hotel Lincoln in New York, it was decided at a meeting last Saturday. The session was the first conducted by the organization's new president, Joseph L. Lee, and was attended by 70 members. Mr. Lee announced that Jack Ellis, former president and now a board member, will be in charge of all entertainment activities.

WANTED!

By Every Exhibitor in the United States—Young, Beautiful Singing Star. Must Have Terrific Voice. Must be Able to Play Strong Emotional Parts. Must Look Like Typical Attractive American Girl.

PARAMOUNT ANSWERS A WANT AD...

AND HOW!

Paramount Pictures

PARAMOUNT PRESENTS THE ANSWER TO EVERY EXHIBITOR'S PRAYER . . .

THE CRITIC'S TOAST...

SUSANNA FOSTER

"Hitting a new high in original film musicals . . . Paramount's 'The Hard-Boiled Canary,' starring that youthful vocal wonder, Susanna Foster!"
—Jimmy Starr, L. A. Herald and Express

"Delightful and completely captivating . . . Susanna Foster is a revelation."
—Dorothy Manners, L. A. Examiner

"The most daring film of its type ever produced . . . Susanna Foster, practically carries the picture."
—Edwin Schallert, Los Angeles Times

"Susanna Foster is terrific. Her amazing voice, plus her acting ability, make her a natural for stardom."
—Harry Crocker, Los Angeles Examiner

"A glorious experience. This Foster lass has progressed in other directions than musically. In this picture she shows she can act."
—The Hollywood Reporter

"Susanna Foster, whose voice ranges clearly high above the proverbial high C, place her among the top canaries of the screen . . . in a musical film with plenty of music . . . a rare and delightful entry."
—Daily Variety

"A feast of music, youthful joie de vivre and comedy . . . magnificent singing!"
—Hedda Hopper

"THE HARD-BOILED CANARY"

with ALLAN JONES · SUSANNA FOSTER
MARGARET LINDSAY · LYNNE OVERMAN
GRACE BRADLEY · WILLIAM COLLIER, Sr.

Produced and Directed by Andrew L. Stone • Screen Play by Frederick Jackson • From a Story by Andrew L. Stone and Robert Lively • Based on an Idea by Ann Ronell

Paramount Pictures

Mr. Welles, in militant state, phones RKO: "I'll be suing you."

To be or Not to be Released Still Question as "Kane" Reviews are Printed

THE now celebrated case of Orson Welles vs. RKO vs. William Randolph Hearst and including George Schaefer, the art, the industry, publicity, publishers, Hollywood, et al., this week developed into as pretty a kettle of fish and foible as this kaleidoscopic cinema world has seen.

At last accounts at late mid-week, Mr. Welles was talking about lawsuits, issuing a statement from his lawyer's office and giving RKO a deadline to March 30 to release the picture, which will have then been completed some three months past. He professed also to have capital to buy it and release it on his own "in tents" if need be. It's an $800,000 item.

In the course of a press audience in New York Mr. Welles, with flourish, ever with flourish, read his statement to RKO officials in Hollywood. The reaction was not made public.

Either . . . Or . . .

Much was made clear. The picture is or is not revelant to the career of Mr. Hearst. It is about a publisher, hypothetical or not, depending on who says or what. RKO has approved and there has been published a national magazine campaign on the picture. The picture is or is not to be released, or what.

As has been recorded in these pages, Mr. Hearst, who presumably has not seen the picture, has heard enough about it so that he is not exactly sold on the notion. He maybe perhaps has had something to do with the fact that the Hearst papers gave Mr. Schaefer full benefit of headline attention from coast to coast in connection with a minor lawsuit. Another fact of interest was the arrival in Hollywood a fortnight ago of Walter Howey, dynamic Boston editor and figure in many Hearst undertakings. Mr. Howey, the editor about whom the famous play "Front Page" was written, was not supposed to be in California for his personal health.

Early in its history the film was shown to Louella Parsons who immediately took a determined position against it, summoning to her side various executives of the Hearst organization together with several leading Hollywood executives.

Miss Parsons and others insisted that the production mirrored the career of Mr. Hearst and at the same time presented an unfavorable picture of the noted editor and publisher. In view of this, several key executives in Hollywood declared that the production should not be publicly exhibited because of the opposition, insisting the publisher had always been a friend of the industry and also pointing out that the industry could ill-afford to be made the object of counter attack by the Hearst newspapers.

A proposal was tentatively advanced in Hollywood that the principal companies share the cost of the production and shelve it.

Last week another of several "in camera" showings to publishers and the like of them was held in an RKO projection room for a party headed by Henry Luce of Time, Life and Fortune. This week Mr. Luce's Time comes forth with a review of the picture—the same of which has not so far been disclosed to the motion picture industry. In the course of this Time piece it is said:

"THE PICTURE. The objection of Mr. Hearst, who founded a publishing empire on sensationalism, is ironic. For to most of the several hundred people who have seen the film at private showings, 'Citizen Kane' is the most sensational product of the U. S. movie industry. It has found important new techniques in picture-making and story-telling. . . . It is as psychiatrically sound as a fine novel. . . . It is a work of art created by grown people for grown people.

"New Technique"

"THE STORY begins with the death of Charles Foster Kane (Orson Welles), at one time the world's third richest man, overlord of mines and factories and steamship lines, boss of newspapers, news services and radio chains, possessor of a vast castle in Florida, a staggering agglomeration of art, two wives, millions of enemies. The 'News on the March' is running off rushes of its Kane biography in its projection room. But when they are shown, the editor does not think the facts reveal the man. 'It might be any rich publisher—Pulitzer, Hearst or John Doe,' he complains. 'Get me something that will show it is Kane. Find out his last words. Maybe they meant something.'

"Kane's last word was 'rosebud.' Thompson (William Alland), the newsreel reporter, spends two feverish weeks in interviewing five people. Thompson talks to Kane's trollopish second wife (Dorothy Comingore), whom he tried to make a singer, finally established in the castle. There she passed the years assembling jigsaw puzzles until she walked out in boredom. Then there is Kane's rich guardian (George Coulouris) whom Kane hated; Kane's general manager (Everett Sloan), the sad, loyal, philosophical Jew who stuck by to the end; his former drama editor and best friend (Joseph Cotten) with whom Kane broke after Kane's disastrous try for the Governorship of New York; Kane's butler (Paul Stewart). None knew the meaning of 'rosebud.' But each in his way understood a little of the man: he was not cruel, but he did cruel things; he was not generous, but he did generous things; he was willful, capricious, and he wanted to be loved—on his own terms. The 'News on the March' never finds the meaning of 'rosebud,' nor the key to Kane's frustrations, but, almost by accident, the audience does."

"Public Is Entitled"

Mr. Welles' formal statement issued at mid-week said:

"I believe that the public is entitled to see 'Citizen Kane.' For me to stand by while this picture was being suppressed would constitute a breach of faith with the public on my part as a producer. I have at this moment sufficient financial backing to buy 'Citizen Kane' from RKO and to release it myself. Under my contract with RKO I have the right to demand that the picture be released and to bring legal action to force its release. RKO must release 'Citizen Kane.' If it does not do so immediately, I have instructed my attorney to commence proceedings.

"I have been advised that strong pressure is being brought to bear in certain quarters to cause the withdrawal of my picture 'Citizen Kane' because of an alleged resemblance between incidents in the picture and incidents in the life of Mr. William Randolph Hearst.

"Any such attempts at suppression would involve a serious interference with freedom of speech and with the integrity of the moving picture industry as the foremost medium of artistic expression in the country.

"Not Intended"

"There is nothing in the facts to warrant the situation that has arisen. 'Citizen Kane' was not intended to have nor has it any reference whatsoever to Mr. Hearst or to any other living person. No statement to the contrary has ever been authorized by me. 'Citizen Kane' is the story of a wholly fictitious character.

"The script for 'Citizen Kane' was scrutinized and approved by both RKO Radio Pictures and the Hays office. No one in those organizations nor anyone associated with me in the production of the picture believed that it represented anything but psychologial analysis of an imaginary individual. I regret exceedingly that anyone should interpret 'Citizen Kane' to have a bearing upon any living person, or should impugn the artistic purposes of its producers."

Mr. Welles, it would appear was showing the picture to almost everyone who might be interested except the showmen who might have to deal with it, and to the press concerned with reporting to the showman. It is possible that he has not yet, in his preoccupations, heard about the exhibitor.

"NIGHT TRAIN" REVERSES RUN

First playing second run and then first run, the British-made "Night Train," has reversed the usual exhibition schedule in Indianapolis. It opened in the suburbs and finally came to the downtown district. Running for 23 days at the Esquire of the Cantor circuit, the film brought that theatre new records for receipts and attendance and then repeated plenty at the box offices of the Rivoli and Sheridan. The picture was then moved to the Ambassador, a downtown theatre, for a three day engagement.

Western Electric Doubles Earnings

Consolidated net earnings for 1940 were reported Monday by the Western Electric Company at $32,787,030 compared with the net of $16,476,086 for 1939. The company's investment in Electrical Research Products, Inc., a wholly owned subsidiary, amounted to $16,033,524 at the end of 1940. This valuation was reduced by $650,000 during the year to add to the reserve to cover possible loss due to the war and other world conditions. The reserve at the end of the year amounted to $2,400,000.

At a meeting of the Western Electric directors on Tuesday a dividend of 75 cents per share on its common stock was declared, payable March 31st to stockholders on record at the close of business March 26th, 1941.

Universal Quarter $500,000

Net profit for the first quarter of Universal's current fiscal year is estimated by Wall Street sources in excess of $500,000, or substantially above the net profit of $460,631 reported by the company for the corresponding quarter the year before.

Peyton Gibson, secretary of the company, was proposed and elected to Universal's board of directors at a meeting of stockholders in New York, Wednesday. Mr. Gibson's election to the board fills the position left vacant by the resignation of William Freiday some time ago. Mr. Gibson had been serving on the board until his election to fill out the unexpired term of Mr. Freiday. All present members of the board of directors were reelected.

In addition, the stockholders acted on the new seven-year contracts for the company's seven key executives.

The Sonotone Corporation, manufacturers of hearing aids for theatres and other places of public assembly, reported a net income of $272,760 for the year of 1940, after depreciation, amortization, interest and Federal income and excess profits taxes had been allowed for, in a statement issued last week. The net is equivalent to 34 cents per share of the 792,878 shares of common stock after allowance for preferred dividends. This earning compares with the 31 cents per share earned in 1939.

Five Dividends Declared

Five dividends were declared by motion picture and related companies in the past week. The board of directors of Loew's, Inc., declared a dividend of 50 cents a share on the common stock, payable March 31st to stockholders of record March 18th.

Walt Disney Productions, Inc., have declared a regular quarterly dividend on one and one-half per cent amounting to 37½ cents per share on the six per cent convertible preferred stock of $25 par value, payable April 1st to stockholders of record March 15th.

Dr. Herbert T. Kalmus, president and general manager of Technicolor, Inc., announced that at a meeting held on Thursday, March 6th, the board of directors of the company had declared a dividend of 25 cents per share payable March 31st, to stockholders of record at the close of business on March 17th, 1941.

Quarterly dividends on the outstanding shares of Radio Corporation of America's $3.50 cumulative convertible first preferred stock and outstanding shares of the "B" preferred stock, were declared and announced by David Sarnoff, president of RCA, following the regular meeting of the board of directors.

The dividend of the first preferred stock is 87½ cents per share, and the dividend on the "B" preferred stock is $1.25 per share. These dividends are for the period from January 1st, 1941, to March 31st, 1941, and will be paid April 1st to stockholders of record at the close of busines March 14th.

In Philadelphia last week, the board of directors of the Philco Corp. declared a dividend of 25 cents per share, payable March 26th to stockholders of record at the close of business March 14th.

Directors of Famous Players Canadian in Montreal have declared the regular dividend of 25 cents a share on the common stock, of no-par-value, payable March 29th, to shareholders of record March 15th.

Trans-Lux Report

The board of directors of the Trans-Lux Corporation reported Monday that the net profits for the year of 1940 were $76,083.11, equivalent to 10½ cents a share on the outstanding stock (exclusive of the shares held in the treasury) after allowing $15,924.55 for Federal, state and Canadian taxes, and a reserve of $60,065.15 for depreciation and amortization. For the year 1939 the net profit of the corporation was $85,858.40, equivalent to 11½ cents a share.

It was also announced that the Trans-Lux Movie Ticker Corporation in which the corporation has approximately 70 per cent interest declined during 1940 to 1107 installations in operation as compared to the 1417 installation operating during 1939.

The Trans-Lux Movie Corporation, a wholly owned subsidiary, has reported a profit of $11,101.11, as compared to the loss in 1939 of $29,774.84.

12 FIREMEN KILLED IN THEATRE FIRE

Twelve Brockton, Mass., firemen died early Monday morning when the snow-burdened roof of the Strand theatre collapsed as they fought a fire in the auditorium of the 30-year-old theatre. Approximately 25 firemen were trapped when the roof gave way above the balcony. Many of the dead were driven through the balcony flooring. The fire was discovered two hours after the last audience had left the house at midnight, averting many possible additional casualties. The accident parallels the Knickerbocker theatre disaster in Washington on January 28, 1922, when the snow-laden roof fell on a matinee audience, killing 98 persons.

Two Theatres for Shea

E. C. Grainger, head of the Shea Circuit, announces that the circuit has purchased the stock of the late Edward Finch and Edward Stewart in the C. & M. Amusement Co., which operated the Colonial and Strand theatres in Cambridge, Ohio, and the Hippodrome and Putnam in Marietta, Ohio.

Stokes Promoted

Sam Stokes, for the past 13 years a manager of three theatres in McAlester, Oklahoma, for the Robb and Rowley circuit, has been made manager of 13 of the chain's theatres in Corpus Christi, same state. Alex Blue succeeds him in McAlester.

General Theatres Dividend

Directors of General Theatres Equipment, in New York, Tuesday, declared a dividend of 25 cents per share on the capital stock, payable March 17th to stockholders of record March 10th.

Majors Push Sales In Product Drives

Pressure is on among the sales crews of the major distributors to clear bookings for the final quarter of 1940-41 by the earliest possible date, it appeared this week, as the results of special drives were reported from exchanges in every section of the field. Home offices are offering numerous bonuses and special awards to spur their field forces.

Columbia has posted special awards for leading branch managers, salesmen, bookers, and office managers in the annual Columbia Exhibitors Good Will Campaign now getting underway. The entire sales staffs of the 12 branches which show the greatest improvement over billings quotas during the 13 weeks ending May 30th will get awards from the home office. Quotas are set according to each branch's billings during the fiscal year ended June 28, 1940. In addition bonuses will go to the ten salesmen showing the greatest increase in accounts sold by May 30th, compared with last year.

Twentieth Century-Fox released final standings in the S. R. Kent drive over the weekend. The Washington branch, managed by Sam Wheeler, topped the national group while Salt Lake City, under C. S. Walker, was first in the international group. Washington also led in the short subjects division. Prizes in the winning exchanges ranged from 60 per cent of weekly salary to three weeks extra pay for employees.

RKO Exchanges Over Quota

With five weeks of the Ned Depinet Drive elapsed, RKO reports that ten exchanges are over quota. The leading offices are Atlanta, Philadelphia, New Orleans, St. Louis, Oklahoma City, Kansas City, Washington, Milwaukee, Indianapolis and Buffalo. The Southeastern district is also over quota and ahead of the eight other districts. The Eastern Division leads Canada and the Western and Central divisions.

Andy Smith, general sales chief for RKO joined the Ned Depinet Drive touring squad this week with drive captain Leo Daveney, Harry Michalson, short subjects sales managers and Bob Mochrie, eastern division chief. On March 11th they met with David Prince, southeastern manager and the branch staff headed by H. M. Lyons. Exchanges in Atlanta, Charlotte, New Orleans, and Memphis will honor Mr. Prince with a special sales effort during the week of May 3rd. The touring squad will visit other key exchanges in the next few weeks.

Universal's branch in Cincinnati will mark Peter Rosian's first anniversary as manager on April 6th with a special playdate drive from April 6th to May 10th. Frank Schriber, Nate Le Vene, Jr., George Gommersall, and Harry Young are on the drive committee. The Cincinnati branch currently leads the country in Universal sales.

1,500 at Warner Ball

The Warner Club played host to 1,500 members and guests at its 12th annual banquet and ball at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York on Saturday, March 8th. Jack L. Warner, vice-president in charge of production headed the list of executives who were present. A. W. Schwalberg and Harry Mayer were co-chairmen of the entertainment committee.

RKO leads the EASTER PARADE with a show made to order for Holiday
Playing Time

RKO
RADIO PICTURES

SWING INTO SPR

FRANK ROSS and NORMAN KRASNA PRESENT

JEAN ARTHUR

The "Devil" a

Directed by SAM WOOD
Director of "KITTY FOYLE"

ZIG
With the gayest, freshest, brightest comedy romance you could ever hope for! A sprightly, speedy, spicy delight directed by the man who gave you "Kitty Foyle," and written by the author of "Mr. and Mrs. Smith."... BOOKED AS THE GALA EASTER WEEK ATTRACTION BY SCORES OF FIRST RUNS EVERYWHERE!
Miss Jones
with ROBERT • CHARLES
CUMMINGS • COBURN
EDMUND GWENN • SPRING BYINGTON • S. Z. SAKALL
WILLIAM DEMAREST • PRODUCED BY FRANK ROSS
RKO RADIO PICTURES

Gross Rental Up 10% in 10 Years

U.S. Census of Film Exchanges, State by State, Compares Receipts

by FRANCIS L. BURT
in Washington

A 10.4 per cent increase in the rental receipts of film exchanges between 1929 and 1939 was reported this week by the Census Bureau in Washington in preliminary figures on that branch of the motion picture industry. The bureau found there were 517 exchanges in operation in 1939, with total receipts of $243,482,000, compared with 533 exchanges with receipts of $220,605,000 ten years earlier.

Although the volume of receipts increased, operating expenses showed a slight reduction, amounting to $33,839,000 in 1939, against $34,639,000 in 1929, although payroll totals increased during the period from $17,978,000 to $21,195,000. The number of persons employed in the exchanges increased from 9,342 to 11,332, it was shown.

In an analysis of the results of the 1939 canvass, the bureau showed that producer exchanges numbered 303, or 60 per cent of the total, but did over 85 per cent of the business, reporting receipts of $210,938,000. There were 214 independent exchanges, with a gross of $32,544,000. The producer exchanges had average receipts of $696,000, while the independents had an average of $152,000.

The producer exchanges also operated less expensively per dollar of receipts, their operating costs of $26,914,000 being 12.8 per cent, while the independents' operating expenses of $6,925,000 was 21.3 per cent of the intake. The producer exchanges employed 9,639 persons who were paid $17,088,000, and the independents, with 1,693 employees, had a payroll of $4,107,000, it was stated.

Details of the 1939 business, by states, follow:

State and Type of Exchange	Number of Establishments	Sales (add 000)	Operating Expenses (including pay roll) (add 000)	Active proprietors of unincorporated businesses	Number of Employees* Average for year	Total Payroll* (add 000)	Stocks on hand, end of year, at cost (add 000)
UNITED STATES.....1939...	517	$243,482	$33,839	64	11,332	$21,195	$8,440
Independent exchanges	214	32,544	6,925	64	1,693	4,107	3,241
Producer exchanges	303	210,938	26,914	..	9,639	17,088	5,199
California	44	26,055	2,441	8	780	1,575	1,222
Independent exchanges	23	8,792	614	8	139	346	805
Producer exchanges	21	17,263	1,827	..	641	1,229	417
Colorado	15	3,165	616	4	233	370	74
Independent exchanges	5	101	47	4	16	25	..
Producer exchanges	10	3,064	569	..	217	345	74
Connecticut	11	3,906	414	1	147	255	85
Independent exchanges	1	(x)	(x)	(x)	(x)	(x)	(x)
Producer exchanges	10	(x)	(x)	(x)	(x)	(x)	(x)
District of Columbia	16	8,812	1,126	..	403	688	210
Independent exchanges	5	302	98	..	26	62	..
Producer exchanges	11	8,510	1,028	..	377	626	210
Georgia	15	7,884	1,149	2	429	732	173
Independent exchanges	4	199	79	2	31	40	1
Producer exchanges	11	7,685	1,070	..	398	692	172
Illinois	21	13,367	1,667	2	584	1,096	273
Independent exchanges	10	1,033	194	2	65	128	24
Producer exchanges	11	12,334	1,473	..	519	968	249
Indiana	15	3,814	619	..	234	376	121
Independent exchanges	6	193	51	..	21	26	1
Producer exchanges	9	3,621	568	..	213	350	120
Iowa	11	3,070	591	1	228	350	76
Independent exchanges	3	173	54	1	23	29	1
Producer exchanges	8	2,897	537	..	205	321	75
Louisiana	13	(x)	(x)	(x)	(x)	(x)	(x)
Independent exchanges	2	(x)	(x)	(x)	(x)	(x)	(x)
Producer exchanges	11	3,433	611	..	248	368	73
Massachusetts	22	13,843	1,552	3	542	998	309
Independent exchanges	11	442	201	3	68	137	32
Producer exchanges	11	13,401	1,351	..	474	861	277
Michigan	12	(x)	(x)	(x)	(x)	(x)	(x)
Independent exchanges	2	(x)	(x)	(x)	(x)	(x)	(x)
Producer exchanges	10	8,022	926	..	332	626	174
Minnesota	16	5,923	1,124	1	400	659	128
Independent exchanges	6	327	143	1	41	72	2
Producer exchanges	10	5,596	981	..	359	587	126
Missouri	31	9,889	1,974	3	709	1,203	250
Independent exchanges	11	453	163	3	57	100	11
Producer exchanges	20	9,436	1,811	..	652	1,103	239

[Continued on opposite page]

Operating Expenses Reduced

[Continued fom opposite page]

State and Type of Exchange	Number of Establishments	Sales (add 000)	Operating Expenses (including pay roll) (add 000)	Active proprietors of unincorporated businesses	Number of Employees* Average for year	Total Payroll* (add 000)	Stocks on hand, end of year, at cost (add 000)
Nebraska	11	1,923	485	..	179	277	59
Independent exchanges	3	48	21	..	11	11	10
Producer exchanges	8	1,875	464	..	168	266	49
New Jersey	3	14,554	610	..	75	324	736
Independent exchanges	2	(x)	(x)	(x)	(x)	(x)	(x)
Producer exchanges	1	(x)	(x)	(x)	(x)	(x)	(x)
New York	98	$49,598	$7,886	12	2,065	$5,198	$2,842
Independent exchanges	67	9,839	3,713	12	726	2,273	1,894
Producer exchanges	31	39,759	4,173	.	1,339	2,925	948
North Carolina	14	4,450	754	..	316	462	109
Independent exchanges	3	138	52	..	22	28	..
Producer exchanges	11	4,312	702	..	294	434	109
Ohio	26	14,054	2,108	2	741	1,271	376
Independent exchanges	8	1,052	372	2	110	217	56
Producer exchanges	18	13,002	1,736	..	631	1,054	320
Oklahoma	10	2,561	507	..	188	308	73
Independent exchanges	3	204	57	..	21	37	..
Producer exchanges	7	2,357	450	..	167	271	73
Oregon	13	1,908	414	5	160	250	50
Independent exchanges	5	102	56	5	23	29	..
Producer exchanges	8	1,806	358	..	137	221	50
Pennsylvania	25	21,715	2,446	2	895	1,513	505
Independent exchanges	7	439	186	2	67	95	1
Producer exchanges	18	21,276	2,260	..	828	1,418	504
Tennessee	11	2,406	470	..	212	303	68
Independent exchanges	2	(x)	(x)	(x)	(x)	(x)	(x)
Producer exchanges	9	(x)	(x)	(x)	(x)	(x)	(x)
Texas	17	8,316	1,283	6	493	804	195
Independent exchanges	8	779	237	6	72	132	12
Producer exchanges	9	7,537	1,046	..	421	672	183
Utah	11	2,715	608	3	203	334	74
Independent exchanges	3	53	31	3	10	16	2
Producer exchanges	8	2,662	577	..	193	318	72
Washington	14	3,330	634	2	219	371	73
Independent exchanges	4	78	52	2	18	30	..
Producer exchanges	10	3,252	582	..	201	341	73
Wisconsin	15	4,173	659	1	251	397	93
Independent exchanges	6	158	54	1	25	33	2
Producer exchanges	9	4,015	605	..	226	364	91
All Other States	7	460	111	3	43	56	..
Independent exchanges	4	(x)	(x)	(x)	(x)	(x)	(x)
Producer exchanges	3	(x)	(x)	(x)	(x)	(x)	(x)

* Employees and pay roll include paid executives of corporations but not the number and compensation of proprietors of unincorporated businesses. x Withheld to avoid disclosure.

Schenck Trial In Second Week

Trial of the Government tax case against Joseph M. Schenck, chairman of the board of Twentieth Century-Fox, and Joseph M. Moskowitz, eastern studio representative, who aided in the preparation of Mr. Schenck's income tax returns before Judge Grover M. Moscowitz and a jury went into its second week on Wednesday in federal court in New York.

The Government contends Mr. Schenck received $2,016,007 during the three years of 1935-36-37, instead of $1,601,832 as he reported and that he failed by $412,045 to meet his proper tax obligations to the Treasury. Harold R. Corbin, attorney for the defendants, said in his opening statement that Mr. Schenck had overpaid $165,000 in income taxes, rather than underpaying $412,000. U. S. Attorney Matthias F. Correa estimated that the trial would last from 10 days to two weeks, while Mr. Corbin predicted that it would continue for from five to six weeks.

Eight Witnesses Testify

Witnesses testifying the first week included William J. O'Brien, deputy tax collector; John B. Codd, west coast comptroller for Twentieth Century-Fox; Victor Johnson, formerly captain of Mr. Schenck's yacht, Caroline; Harpo Marx, who was called as a prosecution witness to testify on his winnings from Mr. Schenck at bridge; Chico Marx; Dolph Schadler, head of the tax department of Loew's, Inc., who testified that he prepared Mr. Schenck's tax returns from figures submitted to him by Mr. Moskowitz; Sam Silver, studio barber; and Catherine Sullivan, secretary to Mr. Moskowitz.

Mr. Schenck issued a brief statement to the press before the trial, as follows: "I enter this trial with complete confidence. No man ever complained that I did him any wrong—much less have I wronged my Government."

Win MGM Exploit Honor

Gene Lutes, manager of the Capitol Theatre in Frankfort, Ky., and Ken Prickett of the El Rancho, Victoria, Tex., received MGM Honor Roll buttons this week for exploitation campaigns on "Land of Liberty" and "Flight Command." Mr. Lutes's campaign enlisted civic, school, and religious support for the "Land of Liberty" screening. An Army recruiting booth, and aviation school exhibit were secured for the lobby by Mr. Pickett during the picture's run.

HAROLD LLOYD'S ROUGH, ROWDY and A BROADSIDE HIT

SAN FRANCISCO holds over after record-breaking opening day and sensational first week at Golden Gate Theatre, hailed by rave notices like this one from the Chronicle: "If this film doesn't tickle every rib in your body, brother, you're ready for the ash heap."... NEW LONDON opens 'way ahead of anything in months and months... PORTSMOUTH, N. H. crowds 'em in on opening to figures high atop all recent biggest attractions...

Boys, the fleet's IN!...All the good things you've been hearing about Harold Lloyd's first production are true!...It's ROUGH, ROWDY, ROMANTIC —AND OUTSTANDINGLY BOX OFFICE!

RKO RADIO PICTURES

ROMANTIC LAUGH SHOW IN SMASH OPENINGS!

A GIRL A GUY and A GOB

Produced by

HAROLD LLOYD

GEORGE MURPHY

LUCILLE BALL

EDMOND O'BRIEN

HENRY TRAVERS • FRANKLIN PANGBORN DIRECTED BY RICHARD WALLACE

SCREEN PLAY BY FRANK RYAN AND BERT GRANET

SHOWMEN'S REVIEWS

This department deals with new product from the point of view of the exhibitor who is to purvey it to his own public.

Road to Zanzibar

(Paramount)

Light Comedy in Dark Africa

The things "Road to Singapore" did to and for the witnesses of its previewing, going on from there to do the same for enough millions of customers to make it a money-maker among money-makers, "Road to Zanzibar" did to and for its guests at Paramount's studio in Hollywood this week Monday. That is to say, it put them in stitches and kept them that way for an hour and half during which it banished from their minds all thoughts of proceedings in the Balkans, all memories of Lease-Lend Bills, even of income taxes due on Saturday.

Again presenting Bing Crosby, Bob Hope and Dorothy Lamour as Americans adventuring in surroundings and circumstances such as never were on land or sea—a caricature of Africa serving this time—as setting, the film informs onlookers in its first minute that any resemblance to reality, plausibility or seriousness is to be a coincidence beyond control of the producer, his staff and the players. None intrudes to embarrass them. Crosby sings, Miss Lamour sings, a negro chorus sings and, for a moment or two, Hope sings with Crosby. There is, however, no seriousness in the music or the manner of its doing, nor in any other department of the entertainment.

A bit of by-play in midpicture hearkens back to "Road to Singapore" and the paddy-cake game which keyed that picture for laughs is resorted to thereafter in this one. Again, too, Messrs. Hope and Crosby compete for the affections of Miss Lamour, though not even the romance is permitted to supplant comedy in prominence for a moment.

Produced by Paul Jones, with direction by Victor Schertzinger, Johnny Burke and Jimmie Van Heusen supplying the songs, the film is fashioned to satisfy the fancy of the public that voiced in terms of profits its approval of "Road to Singapore" and the fashioning is of a sort that permits of no criticism.

Previewed in studio projection room.—WILLIAM R. WEAVER.

Produced and distributed by Paramount Pictures. Producer, Paul Jones. Director, Victor Schertzinger. Based on a story by Don Hartman and Sy Bartlett. Sound mixer, Earl Heyman. Film editor, Alma Macrorie. Cameraman, Ted Tetzlaff. P.C.A. Certificate No. 6869. Release date, April 11, 1941. Running time, 92 minutes. General audience classification.

CAST

Chuck.....Bing Crosby
Fearless.....Bob Hope
Donna Latour.....Dorothy Lamour
Julia.....Una Merkel
Charles Kimble.....Eric Blore
Proprietor—native booth.....Luis Alberni
Dimples.....Joan Marsh
Fat Lady.....Ethel Greer
French Soubrette in cafe.....Iris Adrian
Saunders.....Georges Renavent
Monsieur Lebec.....Lionel Royce
Solomon.....Jules Strangbow

Men of Boys Town

(MGM)

Successful Sequel

That this sequel will match the successful "Boys Town" of 1938 in audience accolades and box office is a conclusion that the most cautious showman may hazard without fear of disappointment. The entertainment material, both player and plot, that boosted the initial screen study of Father Flanagan's social settlement into a phenomenal gross-getter is retained in the second film visit to the Omaha juvenile institution. move the audience to laughter, excitement, and delight at sequences which call out all the sentimental stops.

Again in the leads are Spencer Tracy as the cleric who heads Boys Town and Mickey Rooney as student mayor. These two stars, rated by the MOTION PICTURE HERALD-Fame poll as top money making personalities, should be a combination for marquee billing that can tally box office receipts to any showman's liking. Mr. Tracy again offers a simple, sincere portrayal of the padre of social service, Mickey appears in this sequel as a thoroughly reformed young man, not the little "toughy" of the early picture. Under such character regulations, his performance, except for one ludicrous slow motion wrestling bout, is considerably subdued from his usual manner of emoting. He is nonetheless effective. The leads are once more surrounded by capable child actors. Outstanding among the juveniles are Bobs Watson, Larry Nunn, lovesick adolescent in "Strike Up the Band" who this time plays an emotional assignment with skill, and Darryl Hickman, a new moppet with a resemblance to Jackie Coogan and a "little tough guy" patter that makes "Dead End Kids" sound like sissies. As in the first picture, Bobs will stir hearts and tear ducts with his cherubic expressions, efforts to win a radio contest, candy hunting and his tear-stained grief over the death of the school's dog.

Events in the sequel are not as closely knit into a story whole as in the initial production. They concern several separate plots. There is the financial problem that ever besets Father Flanagan. There is the story of "Ted Martley," an embittered and crippled ex-reformatory inmate, who comes to Boys Town, learns to smile and finally walks into a rich adoption. There is the story of "Whitey," who has been adopted by the wealthy "Maitlands," aids a refugee from a cruel reform school, "Flip," and then is sent to the same institution. Through Father Flanagan and an expose by "Whitey," better juvenile correctional practice is instituted and the lad graduates from Boys Town. With money from the "Maitlands," who exchange "Whitey" for "Ted," the financial difficulties of Boys Town are eased as all ends happily.

Previewed in New York where an audience of newspaper and magazines reviewing personnel found much in the picturization of the aims and works of the famed institution to laugh over and much to be respectfully silent and appreciative.—JOSEPH F. COUGHLIN.

Produced and distributed by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. Producer, John W. Considine, Jr. Director, Norman Taurog. Director of photography, Harold Rosson. Musical score, Herbert Stothart. Recording director, Douglas Shearer. Art director, Cedric Gibbons. Associate, Harry McAfee. Set decorations, Edwin B. Willis. Film editor, Frederick Y. Smith. P. C. A. Certificate No. 6992. Release date, April 11, 1941. Running time, 196 minutes. General audience classification.

CAST

Father Flanagan ..... Spencer Tracy
Whitey Marsh ..... Mickey Rooney
Pee Wee ..... Bobs Watson
Ted Martley ..... Larry Nunn
Flip ..... Darryl Hickman
Mr. Maitland ..... Henry O'Neill
Mrs. Maitland ..... Mary Nash
Dave Morris ..... Lee J. Cobb
Mo Kahn ..... Sidney Miller
The Judge ..... Addison Richards
Roger Gorton ..... Lloyd Corrigan
Bradford Stone ..... George Lessey
Burton ..... Robert Emmett Keane
Guard ..... Arthur Hohl
Superintendent ..... Ben Weldon
Mrs. Fenely ..... Anne Revere

Topper Returns

(UA-Roach)

Spooks, Living and Dead

By crossing with the implements of entertainment which made his "Topper" a topper, those devices which have characterized house-of-mystery melodrama from "Over the River, Charley" to "Ghost Breakers," Hal Roach has produced a hybrid which elicits laughs and shudders with neither sacrificed in the interests of the other. It kept a houseful of tradefolk in a ripple of chuckles, rising now and again to a peak of laughter obliterating dialogue.

This time, the girl, whose wraith returns to heckle "Topper," is played by Joan Blondell, killed at the start of the picture by the man exposed and killed at close of it. Between these points the wraith, making herself visible and invisible at will, complicates life for "Topper" and the others, including the detective, who suspects everybody in the cast and the colored servant, played by Rochester, who is all for getting out of it, but can't. Wall panels, disappearing chairs, subterranean passages, hooded men and the other familiars of the formula are utilized in profusion.

"Topper" again is played by Roland Young, and his wife by Billie Burke. Miss Burke and Rochester monopolize the laughs, although Donald McBride as the detective supplied plenty and the others have their moments.

Opening with a burst of melodrama and proceeding then into a planting of personalities, points and motives, the film gets going full tilt when the slapstickery starts and maintains its pitch throughout.

Trade shown to some 200 exhibitors at FMC's Boulevard Theatres, Los Angeles, with what appeared to be favorable response.—W. R. W.

Produced by Hal Roach. Distributed by United Artists, Director, Roy Del Ruth. Based on the fictional characters conceived by the late Thorne Smith. Director of photography, Norbert Brodine. Photographic effects, Roy Seawright. Film editor, James Newcom. Art director, Nicolai Remisoff. Set decorations, W. L. Stevens. Sound recording, William Randall. Musical score, Werner R. Heymann. Orchestra conducted by Irwin Talbot. Gowns, Royer. Assistant director, Bernard Carr. P.C.A. Certificate No. 6963. Release date, March 21, 1941. Running time. when seen in Hollywood, 90 minutes. General audience classification.

CAST

Gail Richards.....Joan Blondell
Cosmo Topper.....Roland Young
Ann Carrington.....Carole Landis
Mrs. Topper.....Billy Burke
Bob.....Dennis O'Keefe
Maid.....Patsy Kelly
Mr. Carrington.....H. B. Warner
Chauffeur.....Eddie (Rochester) Anderson
Dr. Jeris.....George Zucco
Sgt. Roberts.....Donald MacBride
Lillian.....Rafaela Ottiano

The Penalty

(MGM)

Making of a Man

The story of a boy's reformation, this is a movie tale designed to attract customers who like their entertainment to have a fresh slant, as well as those who want action a-plenty.

In casting, as in story, emphasis has been of a kind created for word of mouth comment. Edward Arnold appears as an egotistical killer with only one soft spot, the love he bears his son, interpreted by Gene Reynolds. Reared in the tradition of violence, the boy is tough in the manner of those who believe the world against them. He is finally taught the value of tolerance over contempt, of kindliness over murder.

(Continued from opposite page)

Those who create a new sense of values for the lad are the same "hicks" he so despises (and, incidentally, so designates) when police send him from reform school to a farm in order that his father may be lured out of hiding. Lionel Barrymore enacts an understanding country neighbor; Marsha Hunt, his granddaughter, who also provides romantic interest coupled with Robert Sterling, the young farmer who takes the boy in hopes of reaping reward for his father's capture.

The action elements of gunfight and chase, in the earlier parts of the film, are balanced against the humor of farm and farmyard effects on a hardened city boy, in the latter sequences; both blending with the main theme of the lad's awakening to new values.

Producer Jack Chertok, in his first full length film venture since entering the feature field from his post as head of MGM short subject production, and director Harold S. Bucquet, whose training derives from the same department, show its influence in the vigorous pace made manifest throughout the picture.

Previewed in the studio projection room to a press and professional audience which indicated absorbtion in and enjoyment of the film.—WALTER SELDEN.

Produced and distributed by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. Director, Harold S. Bucquet. Producer, Jack Chertok. Based on a play by Martin Berkeley. Director of photography, Harold Rosson. Musical score, David Snell. Recording director, Douglas Shearer. Art director, Cedric Gibbons. Associate, Randall Duell. Set decorations, Edwin B. Willis. Wardrobe, Dolly Tree. Film editor, Ralph Winters. P.C.A. Certificate No. 7082. Running time, 80 minutes. Release date, March 14, 1941. General audience classification.

CAST

Martin "Stuff" Nelson.....Edward Arnold
"Gandpop" Logan.....Lionel Barrymore
Katherine Logan.....Marsha Hunt
Edward McCormick.....Robert Sterling
"Roosty".....Gene Reynolds
"Ma" McCormick.....Emma Dunn
Julie.....Veda Ann Borg
Craig.....Richard Lane
Anne Logan.....Gloria DeHaven
Judge.....Grant Mitchell
Hobo.....Phil Silvers
Jay.....Warren Ashe
Van.....William Haade
Brock.....Ralph Byrd
Burns.....Edgar Barrier

Double Date

(Universal)

Comedy

Universal's "Double Date" is a comedy which makes use of patent formulae for producing laughs and deals with the efforts of a boy and a girl to drive apart their respective romantically inclined father and aunt. Edmund Lowe plays the father, Una Merkel, the aunt, and Peggy Moran and Rand Brooks the girl and the boy. They are supported by Tommy Kelly, Hattie Noel, Eddy Waller, William Ruhl, Sam Flint, Pat O'Malley, Joey Ray and Charlie Smith.

After a series of adventures which involve a mixed up series of police reports of stolen cars, holdups, and elopements, the romance of the younger generation gets a head start.

Glenn Tryon directed this Joseph G. Sanford production.

Previewed at the Universal studio projection room.—V. K.

Produced and distributed by Universal. Associate producer, Joseph G. Sanford. Directed by Glenn Tryon. Photographed by John Boyle. Art director, Jack Otterson. Associate, Ralph M. DeLacey. Musical director, H. J. Salter. Edited by Otto Ludwig. P. C. A. Certificate No. 7147. Running time, when seen in Hollywood, 60 minutes. Release date, March 14, 1941. General audience classification.

CAST

Roger .....Edmund Lowe
Elsie .....Una Merkel
Penny .....Peggy Moran
Jerry .....Rand Brooks
Hodges .....Tommy Kelly
Lilac .....Hattie Noel
Truck Driver.....Eddy Waller
Motorcycle Cop.....William Ruhl
Doctor .....Sam Flint
Policeman .....Pat O'Malley

The Round-Up

(Paramount)

Harry Sherman Special

Oldsters in the industry and outside of it will remember "The Round Up" as a great among the greats of the stage in the era when Macklyn Arbuckle was a name to conjure with, but it is not necessary to be an oldster or to look to the past for reasons why this film from the Harry Sherman facet of the Paramount setup is entertainment for the masses who, by their number and their perseverance in their predilections, have enthroned the western as king among the dependables in the world of box-office. The film, as producer Sherman remarked prior to its unveiling, "Modernizes the original somewhat, but preserves the spirit of it." The modernization is imperceptible and the spirit remains that of the open spaces where men were men and lead poisoning was the phrase for death by six-shooter.

Into this 1940 version of a play that was dynamite on Broadway when most of us were kids, producer Sherman has introduced such talents as those of Richard Dix, hero of "Cimarron," Preston Foster, tops in his field of villains addicted to sacrifice. Ruth Donnelly, Douglas Dumbrille and, for a surprise that registers a hit, Don Wilson of the radio in a casting as sheriff which is something for Jack Benny to begin worrying about if he hopes to retain him as announcer on the Jello program. The man has what it takes.

Measured by standard in use today, the story is, for all its years, possessed of more freshness and power than contemporaries in its sphere of interest. A matter of triangle at bottom, it is developed in a manner to satisfy the most exacting of family audiences and to teach the junior generation that a lady's good name is something a gentleman shoots a scoundrel to defend. A pair of gentlemen, one married to the lady and the other also in love with her, shoot a plentitude of scoundrels, many of them redskins, in the course of proving the point.

Direction is by Lesley Selander and he missed no opportunity to send the horses dashing over the plains and through the mountains, varying the pitch now and then to get in comedy that clicks and romance that has about it the ring of earnestness.

Previewed at studio.—W. R. W.

Distributed by Paramount. A Harry Sherman Production. Produced by Harry Sherman. Directed by Lesley Selander. Assistant director, Derwin Abrahams. Photography, Russell Harlan. Based on a story by Edmund Day. P.C.A. Certificate No. 6823. Running time, 90 minutes. Release date, April 4, 1941. General audience classification.

CAST

Steve ..... Richard Dix
Janet .....Patricia Morison
Greg .....Preston Foster
Slim .....Don Wilson
Polly .....Ruth Donnelly
Mary .....Betty Brewer
Capt. Lane.....Douglas Dumbrille
Wade McGee..... Jerome Cowan
Ed Crandall.....Dick Curtis
Frane Battles.....William Haade
Parenthesis .....Morris Ankrum
Mrs. Wilson.....Clara Kimball Young
Trooper .....Douglas Kennedy

Murder Among Friends

(20th Century-Fox)

Murder Mystery

More dollars have been spent in production of many a comedy which netted fewer laughs than are conveyed in this film fabricated with economy of investment and prodigality of entertainment effected at one and the same time. Offering John Hubbard and Marjorie Weaver as the pair in quest hither and yon for the identity of the murderer in the cast, the film neither tips its secret nor dubs its points, but bubbles along at a clip that may be enjoyed without concentration yet generates a lot of it.

The mystery to be solved is the reason for the deaths in sequence of beneficiaries of a group insurance policy and, of course, the identity of the murderer. It is a setup which allows suspicion to shift from one character to another in a manner to keep the onlooker changing his theory from sequence to sequence. As handled by director Ray McCarey, the subject also allows for introduction of situations which create laughter to offset the melodrama purveyed.

Cobina Wright, Jr., making her debut in films, is a name, is one believes the newsprints, to be mentioned in billing the film.

Ralph Dietrich and Walter Morosco share associate producer credit for the picture.

Previewed at Grauman's Chinese theatre, Hollywood, where it was run in connection with "Tobacco Road."—W.R.W.

Produced and distributed by 20th Century-Fox. Associate producers, Ralph Dietrich and Walter Morosco. Director, Ray McCarey. Photographed by Charles Clarke. Edited by Harry Reynolds. P.C.A. certificate No. 6987. Release date, February 28, 1941. Running time, when seen in Hollywood, 67 minutes. General audience classification.

CAST

Mary Lou.....Majorie Weaver
Dr. Wilson.....John Hubbard
Jessica Gerald.....Cobina Wright, Jr.
Claire Turk.....Mona Barrie
Stephenson.....Douglas Dumbrille
Wheeler.....Sidney Blackmer
McAndrews.....Truman Bradley
Dr. Turk.....Lucien Littlefield
Dr. Gerald.....William Halligan
Ellis.....Don Douglas

Mr. Dynamite

(Universal)

Murder Melodrama

Lloyd Nolan is hero instead of villain in this melodrama of lower New York which revolves around the efforts of a Canadian secret service operative and a St. Louis baseball pitcher to identify and cause arrest of persons responsible for the blowing up of munitions factories in the United States. Emphasis is upon the narrowness of the escapes through which hero and heroine (the Canadian operative) progress toward success in their undertaking, rather than upon plausibility or the gravity of the crimes their quarry are charged with.

Most of the activity takes place in New York's "Street of Bagdad," a section given over to operation of attractions for the tourist trade, and it is in one of these, a ventriloquist show, that the two murders, one at start of the picture, the other at close of it, occur. Mystery misunderstanding and much scurrying about and ducking of bullets stretch between these incidents.

Produced by Marshall Grant and directed by John Rawlins, the film appears to have been designed for the trade which thrives upon thrills for their own sake and asks nothing of logic or probability. Caught up in the swirl of what goes on is a performance by Ann Gillis which is an asset.

Previewed at studio.—W. R. W.

Produced and distributed by Universal. Associate producer, Marshall Grant. Director, John Rawlins. Photographed by John Boyle. Edited by Ted Kent. P.C.A. certificate No. 7114. Release date, March 7, 1941. Running time, when seen at studio, 63 minutes. General audience classification.

CAST

Tommy N. Thornton.....Lloyd Nolan
Vicki Martin.....Irene Hervey
Professor.....J. Carrol Naish
Paul .....Robert Armstrong
Joey.....Ann Gillis
Valla.....Frank Gaby
Achilles.....Elisabeth Risdon
Abdullah.....Shemp Howard
Man.....Cliff Nazarro
Skinnay.....Monte (Sonny) Brewer

A Man Betrayed

(Republic)

Political Exposé

Republic continues its record of improved product with "A Man Betrayed," a story of corruption in high places of an unnamed, but recognizable, city's government. The tale deals with a small town attorney's attempting to find out the real cause of the death of a basketball player in a large city, and his perseverance until the exposure of graft and corruption of the town's "Boss." It stars John Wayne, and features Frances Dee and Edward Ellis, has action comedy, suspense and romance in sufficient quantities to enable it to stand up with product of much higher budgets.

(Continued on following page)

SHOWMEN'S REVIEWS

(Continued from preceding page)

Taken from a story first named "Gangs of Kansas City" and made under the title of "Citadel of Crime," the film was directed by John H. Auer. The cast includes Wallace Ford, Ward Bond, Harold Huber, Alexander Granach, Barnett Parker, Ed Stanley, Tim Ryan, Harry Hayden, Russell Hicks, Pierre Watkin and Ferris Taylor.

The Armand Schaefer production is open for the type of exploitation campaigns bordering on the "expose" type. It merits added advertising and exploitation drives.

Previewed to a press-professional audience at the Studio City Theatre, Studio City, where it evidently was enjoyed.—V. K.

Produced and distributed by Republic. Associate producer, Armand Schaefer. Directed by John H. Auer. Photographed by Jack Marta. Supervising editor, Murray Seldeen. Edited by Charles Craft. Art director, John Victor Mackay. Musical director, Cy Feuer. P. C. A. Certificate No. 7055. Running time, when seen in Studio City, 80 minutes. Release date, Feb. 27, 1941. General audience classification.

CAST

Lynn Hollister.....John Wayne
Sabra Cameron.....Frances Dee
Tom Cameron.....Edward Ellis
Casey.....Wallace Ford
Floyd.....Ward Bond
Morris Slade.....Harold Huber
T. Amato.....Alexander Granach
George (Butler).....Barnett Parker
Prosecutor.....Ed Stanley

Back in the Saddle

(Republic)

Musical Western

Republic's "Back in the Saddle" tells the story of a modern fight between copper miners and cattlemen over the poisoning of a stream by dumping waste acids used in metal processing. It stars Gene Autry, Number One Western star of the MOTION PICTURE HERALD-Fame poll of exhibitors, and features Gene Autry and Little Mary Lee. Others in the cast are Edward Morris, Jacqueline Wells, Addison Richards, Arthur Loft, Edmund Elton, Joe McGulinn, Edmund Cobb and Robert Barron.

There are eight songs used in the film and musical numbers feature Autry, Burnett and Misses Lee and Wells.

Lew Landers directed this Harry Grey production, in which Autry playing himself as leader of cattlemen, manages through legal action backed by gunfire to overthrow the power of an unscrupulous mining company head who refuses to stop polluting the stream and killing the cattle.

Previewed in a studio projection room—V. K.

Produced and distributed by Republic Pictures. Associate producer, Harry Grey. Director, Lew Landers. Production manager, Al Wilson. Cameraman, Ernest Miller. Film editor, Tony Martinelli. Musical supervisor, Raoul Kraushaar. P. C. A. Certificate No. 7122. Running time, 71 minutes. Release date, March 14, 1941. General audience classification.

CAST

Gene.....Gene Autry
Frog.....Smiley Burnette
Patsy.....Mary Lee
Tom Bennett.....Edward Norris
Taffy.....Jacqueline Wells
Duke Winston.....Addison Richards
E. G. Blaine.....Arthur Loft
Judge Bent.....Edmund Elton
Sheriff Simpson.....Joe McGuinn

Australia at War

(RKO - March of Time)

Vol. VII, No. 8

The March of Time this month centers attention on the position of Australia in World War II. The Anzac's contribution to Britain's Libyan successes are pictured as are their shipments of foodstuffs but the issue is primarily devoted to Australia's role in the Pacific. This role puts Australia in the position of preparing to ward off an invasion for the first time since the Commonwealth was formed. The Anzacs are shown at the British Naval base in Singapore and at other strategic points to discourage further Japanese aggression. Australia's relation to the Dutch East Indies and the United States is also taken into consideration. It amounts to a pictorial review of the developments in the Pacific, as it affects Australia principally, that have appeared in the news quite frequently of late. It is presented in the documentary March of Time manner.—Running time, 18 minutes.

SHORT PRODUCT PLAYING BROADWAY

Week of March 8

CAPITOL
Old New Orleans..... MGM
The Happiest Man on Earth. MGM
Information Please, No. 3... RKO Radio
Feature: Andy Hardy's Private Secretary..... MGM

CRITERION
The Fired Man..... RKO Radio
Feature: The Trial of Mary Dugan..... MGM

MUSIC HALL
Information Please, No. 5... RKO Radio
Feature: So Ends Our Night. United Artists

PARAMOUNT
My Pop, My Pop..... Paramount
Power for Defense..... U. S. Government
Feature: The Lady Eve..... Paramount

RIALTO
Boobs in Arms..... Columbia
Jan Garber and Orchestra. Vitaphone
Feature: Ellery Queen's Penthouse Mystery..... Columbia

RIVOLI
The Tortoise Beats the Hare. Vitaphone
Feature: Meet John Doe.... Warner Bros.

ROXY
Fishing with Neptune..... 20th Cent.-Fox
Men of the Lightship..... 20th Cent.-Fox
Feature: That Night in Rio. 20th Cent.-Fox

STRAND
Elmer's Pet Rabbit..... Vitaphone
Points for Pointers..... Vitaphone
Take the Air..... Vitaphone
Power for Defense..... U. S. Government
Feature: Strawberry Blonde.. First National

Greek Relief Film Released

Paramount will distribute the special short subject "Greece Fights Back," for benefit of the Greek War Relief, it was announced Tuesday by Neil Agnew, general sales manager of the company. The film is a one-reel subject produced by March of Time, and will be made available to theatres on a rental basis. All proceeds from the sale of the film will be contributed by Paramount to the Greek War Relief Association.

PRC Convention March 22nd-24th

First annual sales convention of Producers Releasing Corporation will be held at Chicago from March 22nd through March 24th at the Congress Hotel, under supervision of O. Henry Briggs, president, and with all officials, franchise holders, and branch managers for the first time in general session. The company has 28 branches in this country, and six in Canada, Mr. Briggs announced this week. Recently the company obtained $1,000,000 in a financing agreement with Consolidated Film Industries. New season product will total 63 films, 26 of them westerns.

Guest of honor at the convention will be William Gell, managing director of Pathe Pictures, Ltd., in Great Britain, and distributor of PRC product there.

The meeting will open with an executive session of the directors, followed by a conference of franchise holders. The second day will feature a report from Mr. Briggs, and announcement by him of new plans; an address on finances and foreign distribution, by Leon Fromkess; and a talk by Joseph O'Sullivan, on sales promotion.

Expected to attend are:

From the home office: O. Henry Briggs, president; Leon Fromkess, vice-president in charge of sales, and Joseph O'Sullivan, director of publicity and advertising.

Directors: George Gill, Harry Asher, Abe Fischer, Lee L. Goldberg, Bert Kulick, M. & L. Lefton, Jack Adams, Louis Rutstein, and Bill Flemion.

Production Supervisors: George Batcheller and Sigmund Neufeld. Producers: John T. Coyle, E. B. Derr, Ted Richmond and Jed Buell.

Franchise Holders and Exchange Managers: Ike Katz, Atlanta; Harry Asher, Boston; Ed. E. Heller, Charlotte; Abe Fischer, Chicago; Nat B. Kaplan, Cincinnati; Lee L. Goldberg, Cleveland; Jack Adams, Dallas; Bernie Newman, Denver; Bill Flemion, Detroit; Sam. H. Abrams, Indianapolis; John Muchmore, Kansas City; S. A. Arnold, Little Rock; Louis Rutstein, Los Angeles; Chas. Weiner, Minneapolis; F. F. Goodrow, New Orleans; Bert Kulick, New York City; E. B. Walker, Oklahoma City; Herb Given, Philadelphia; M. & L. Lefton, Pittsburgh; A. R. Dietz, St. Louis; Dave Nathanson, San Francisco; Ollie Wog, Seattle; George Gill, Washington, D. C.

Testimonials for Benn, Rosian, and Beattie

Philadelphia exhibitors are planning a luncheon testimonial for Marcus Benn, veteran operator, who lately observed his 75th birthday. Chairman of the sponsoring committee is Lou Krause, IATSE head.

Peter Rosian, Universal branch manager in Cincinnati, will be honored by his staff with a special playdate drive from April 6th to May 10th.

George Beattie, made sales manager of the Paramount Philadelphia office, will be feted by his friends in Scranton on March 25th. He had been a salesman in the territory.

No Wisconsin Summer Time

The Wisconsin Senate on Wednesday finally killed the daylight saving bill introduced by Senator Murray. The measure had been revived twice following earlier rejections.

"ZIEGFELD GIRL" by Gilbert Bundy, one of the celebrated artists' series in M-G-M's national competition to capture the spirit of the Ziegfeld Girl of 1941. Among other famed artists who have contributed are John La Gatta, McClelland Barclay, Neysa McMein and Albert Varga.

The Spotlight, America!

ZIEGFELD GIRL

METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER'S

LION'S ROAR

Published in this space every month

The greatest star of the screen!

"Daddy, do you remember 'The Ziegfeld Follies'?", said Little Cub, looking up at us with large leonine eyes.

★ ★ ★ ★

And, reaching back into the haunted wings of the New Amsterdam Theatre, we were launched on the bedtime story of those nights of stars provided by the memorable Flo.

★ ★ ★ ★

Soon we worked our way to the chapter wherein M-G-M immortalized "The Great Ziegfeld", and we drifted naturally into the glamour story of 1941:

★ ★ ★ ★

THE ZIEGFELD GIRL

★ ★ ★ ★

For many moons Robert Z. Leonard, the director, and Pandro Berman, the producer, have been studding the stars in a cluster designed to give the Aurora Borealis second billing.

★ ★ ★ ★

As Tony Martin softly sings "You Stepped Out of A Dream", which is Public Melody No. 1, you will step into a dream of glorified girls—of Hedy Lamarr and Lana Turner.

Romance, in a beaming web, is spun around the personal problems of a guy played by James Stewart, the last three letters of whose name typify his work. Give up?

★ ★ ★ ★

And Judy Garland! Words fail us.

★ ★ ★ ★

Lush, plush and splendiferous, this Eyeful Tower gives us a hall of fame for a cast.

★ ★ ★ ★

For in addition to Garland, Stewart, Lamarr, Turner and Martin, there are (to name but a few) Jackie Cooper, Ian Hunter, Charlie Winninger, Edward Everett Horton, Philip Dorn, Felix Bressart, Eve Arden, Rose Hobart, Al Shean, Dan Dailey Jr., Paul Kelly, Mae Busch, Fay Holden, Ed McNamara and Girls, Girls, Girls, Girls.

★ ★ ★ ★

Settings by Gibbons, Gowns by Adrian.

★ ★ ★ ★

Magnificent! Glamorous! Mighty!

★ ★ ★ ★

THE ZIEGFELD GIRL

★ ★ ★ ★

Glorifying the American lion.

—Leo

Advertisement for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Pictures

This column appears in: Cosmopolitan, True Story, Redbook, American Magazine, Ladies' Home Journal, Parents' Magazine, Liberty, Saturday Evening Post, Look, Hollywood Screen Life, Movie Story, Motion Pictures, Photoplay-Movie Mirror, Screen Romances, Modern Screen, Silver Screen, Screenland Movies, Movie Life, Screen Guide, Glamour, Picture Play, Country Gentleman, Capper's Farmer, Successful Farming, Farm Journal & Farmers' Wife, Progressive Farmer & So. Ruralist.

THE HOLLYWOOD SCENE

Same Level

Production remained at almost exactly the same level this week as last, with eight pictures completed, nine started and 43 shooting, compared to the nine finished, nine begun and 42 before the cameras last week. Being prepared were 17, three more than in the week before, while 68 were being edited, the same number as in the week before.

The week's tabulation:

COMPLETED

COLUMBIA
Her First Beau
Chain Gang
PARAMOUNT
Caught in the Draft
REPUBLIC
Sis Hopkins
Two Gun Sheriff
UNIVERSAL
The Flame of New Orleans
Hit the Road
WARNERS
Affectionately Yours

STARTED

COLUMBIA
Return of Daniel Boone
MGM
Untitled Dr. Kildare
RKO
Hurry, Charlie, Hurry
A Certain Mr. Scratch
REPUBLIC
Singing Hills
20TH-FOX
Miami
UNIVERSAL
Cracked Nuts
Horror Island
Sandy Steps Out

SHOOTING

COLUMBIA
Senate Page Boys
Naval Academy
Time Out for Rhythm
MGM
Billy the Kid
A Woman's Face
Blossoms in the Dust
Love Crazy
Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde
The Uniform
Lady Be Good
Washington Melodrama
MONOGRAM
Tumbledown Ranch in Arizona
PARAMOUNT
Skylark
Pioneer Woman
Little Miss Muffet
Hold Back the Dawn
Night of January 16th
RKO
Sunny
Before the Fact
Tom, Dick and Harry
My Life with Caroline
REPUBLIC
Pals of the Pecos
Rookies on Parade
The Lady from New Orleans
20TH-FOX
Blood and Sand
The Great American Broadcast
UNIVERSAL
Unfinished Business
The Black Cat
WARNERS
The Bride Came C.O.D
Sergeant York
Three Sons O'Guns
Highway West
The Gentle People
Underground

One short subject was completed, but work was not begun on any.

▽

Music Ahead

Emphasis on musical comedies as a means of providing a war-worried public with light entertainment will be one of the keynotes of the 1941-42 Twentieth Century-Fox schedule, according to preliminary announcements coming from the studio this week.

At present a minimum of 12 musicals are scheduled for the new season, the most extensive line-up in the company's history. Even now the swing is away from biography, documentary drama and historical pictures, although some pictures of these types are of course being made.

Recently completed was the tuneful "That Night in Rio," Technicolor musical starring Alice Faye, Don Ameche and Carmen Miranda. Now in production, with Archie Mayo directing, is "The Great American Broadcast," which has Miss Faye, John Payne, Jack Oakie, Cesar Romero, Mary Beth Hughes and such specialties as the "Ink Spots" in its cast.

Set to start this week is "Miami," with Betty Grable and Don Ameche in top spots, and this month will also see the start of "Sun Valley," starring Sonja Henie.

Among the other musicals planned for this season are "The Song and Dance Man," based on the George M. Cohan play, and starring Jack Oakie; "Pearl Harbor," starring Betty Grable, and "Straight Left," which will again unite Alice Faye and John Payne.

▽

Hedda Hopper, who has been doing broadcasts over the Columbia Broadcasting System for the past 16 months three times a week and writes a daily newspaper column under the title of "Hedda Hopper's Hollywood," has been signed by the Roach studios to do six one-reel short subjects a year under the same title. The short subjects will feature the news and highlights of Hollywood.

▽

Martin Broones, former head of the music department for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, has been signed as an associate producer by Republic.

PARAMOUNT SETS FOUR

In line with the currently prevalent policy of setting up future plans to as great an extent as feasible, Paramount this week set four pictures for June release.

Heading the list is "The Shepherd of the Hills", Harold Bell Wright story, produced in Technicolor and directed by Henry Hathaway. John Wayne, Betty Field and Harry Carey are in the cast.

Others are "The Parson of Panamint", western drama based on Peter B. Kyne's novel, a Harry Sherman production; "Forced Landing", starring Richard Arlen, the second of the William Pine - William Thomas productions, and another Harry Sherman film, "Pirates on Horseback", a Hopalong Cassidy starring William Boyd.

More Stories

Hollywood, in the past fortnight, has shown no signs of abating the unusual activity it has displayed since the start of the new year in acquiring story properties for its future production schedule.

During the last two weeks, Columbia has purchased a play and four short stories; Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer an original and a novel; Warners a novel and a play; RKO a novel and an original; Twentieth Century-Fox a play; Paramount an original; David O. Selznick a play and rights to 25 magazine stories and two novels built around the same character, and Republic two originals.

"My Sister Eileen," current Broadway stage play, was bought by Columbia for $225,000, and stage producer Max Gordon signed to produce the picture. The four short stories are "Take Back Your Dreams," "Women in the Navy," from an unpublished story by Hilary Lynn; and two stories which appeared in "This Week," syndicated Sunday newspaper magazine section: "Just Another Dame" by Robert Hyde, and "The Man Who Came to Life," by Samuel Taylor.

"Side Streets," original bought by MGM, was writen by that studio's producer, Samuel Marx, and will be assigned to him. The plot deals with the adventures of a tabloid newspaper editor in the post-war period. Also acquired by MGM was "The Strange Adventure."

Adding to its reservoir of Broadway stage plays, Warners purchased "Old Acquaintance," by John Van Druten. The theme concerns two successful authors, both feminine, and their friendships, rivalries and jealousies. That studio also bought "The Gay Sisters," novel by Stephen Longstreet, which will become a Bette Davis starring vehicle. The leading character is an heiress to vast Manhattan real estate holdings.

As a starring vehicle for Michele Morgan, RKO has obtained "Journey Into Fear," Eric Rambler novel, and will make it as a David Hempstead production, with screen play by Ben Hecht. Also for Miss Morgan, according to the studio, is "Joan of Paris," an original about the Paris of today.

Twentieth-Fox entered the lists with "Private Confusion," a play written by Hardie Albright and Austin Parker, produced in England. For Bing Crosby, Paramount recently got rights to "Cupid With a Beard."

John Golden's stage production of "Claudia," written by Rose Franken, was bought by David O. Selznick, his first major story purchase since "Rebecca." The acquisition also includes rights to 22 "Claudia" stories which have appeared in Red Book magazine, and to two novels concerning the same character.

Republic has purchased two originals, "Hurricane Smith," by Charles Booth, described as the story of a fugitive who makes a dead town come to life, and "Pardon My Stripes," by Adrian Johnson.

ASIDES and INTERLUDES

By JAMES P. CUNNINGHAM

Bill Schell, from the Regent Theatre, in Newark, bemoans that he only feels his age when he resurrects some of the oddities of the past, such as programs he forwards from his files of 25 years ago, when he was running the Grand theatre, at a dime top admission.

Valeska Suratt in 'The Heart of a Wicked Woman' (or The Soul of Broadway), was on the Grand Theatre bill one day in 1916. Bill billed that one as "A sensational play of New York life, of the tempters and sinners who cavort under the dazzling lights that make them forget their mother's prayers."

Another "tear-jerker" was Mary Miles Minter's 'Emmy of Stork's Nest'. That one was "A story of a diamond in the rough where paint and powder is not an asset, just a mountain jewel and beauty and charm who is like the favorite wild flower that blooms near her rudely constructed cabin on the mountain side. This bare foot queen of the wilds is an example of innocence in its purest form and gives you an opportunity to compare the city doll with a girl of the hills." Some comparison.

Another favorite of the day was, 'What a Man Will Do', in which Dustin Farnum played "Captain Courtesy," "whose brain was devoured by desire to revenge those who sinned against his mother."

Clara Kimball was "Frisco Kate" in "Deep Purple," "A story of the underworld and the apaches and white slavers in obtaining money from the little lambs who fall into the coils of the serpents of a great city." Still another, "The Family Cupboard," with Holbrook Blinn was also pretty bare.

▽

The honesty of some West Virginia mountainers was displayed the other day at Wheeling by one Abel Nicholson, an aging man from "back in the hills." He sat through "High Sierra," the first picture he had ever seen. He left the auditorium and a moment later approached the cashier and said,

"That certainly was elegant entertainment. I'd like to buy another ticket and see it again."

▽

MGM press agents in New York tell us that Vivien Leigh, now in London, dispatched a letter to David Selznick, producer in Hollywood, in which she quoted Prime Minister Churchill. After seeing Mr. Selznick's four-hour-long "Gone With the Wind," Miss (Scarlet O'Hara) Leigh wrote Selznick how the fiery Churchill said, "I have been reduced to a pulp. There isn't a bone left in my body. Now I can get back to my own war."

▽

Film Daily reports that "Twentieth Century-Fox has bought the film adaptation of Theodore Dreiser's biography of his brother Paul Dresser, 'My Brother Paul', under the title of 'My Gal Sal'."

▽

Jimmy (he's in the Marine Corps now) Roosevelt's new, and first, feature motion picture, "Pot O' Gold," arrives soon. It will feature two little song numbers, entitled, "Do You Believe in Fairy Tales," "When Johnny Toots His Horn."

▽

Any time you get a little downcast over what's happening in the world, including the United States, Advertising Age advises you to just remember that liberty is being defended and protected at all times by Walter Winchell.

MONEY . . .
Workers earn it,
Spendthrifts burn it,
Bankers lend it,
Women spend it,
Forgers fake it,
Taxes take it,
Dying leave it,
Heirs receive it,
Thrifty save it,
Misers crave it,
Robbers seize it,
Rich increase it,
Gamblers lose it . . .
I could use it.
—With apologies to Richard Armour.

Walter Kofeldt, now manager of the Tower Theatre, Roseville, Cal., was manager of the Berlin office of Pathe News several years ago. One day he saw a movie travelogue of East China, made by Sven Hedin, explorer and pacifist. Upon his return to the United States he tried to book the film as a document for world peace. He secured no bookings and one day, while he was in San Francisco, some Berlin connections wired that someone wanted to purchase the world rights to the film. He accepted the offer, received payment, but never knew the purchaser's identity. Two years later, in Tokyo, he learned that the purchaser had been the Japanese government and that it had been shown to the Japanese army prior to the invasion of Manchukuo. The travelogue of pacifist Sven Hedin was just the film needed to explain topography to the invading troops.

▽

The Norwegian aversion to propaganda films which form the major part of motion picture programs sponsored by the Nazis, are reflected by boycotts of theatres in many parts of Norway, according to the Inter-Allied Information Centre, in New York.

The Nazis are finding Norwegian behaviour during "enlightenment films" so deplorable that strict orders forbidding demonstrations in theatres have been issued. In the Oslo district, for example, three uniformed policemen are present at every screen performance, to insure "proper public decorum." Demonstrators are jailed for loud laughter, for "meaningless" applause, stamping with the feet, whistling, coughing or even clearing one's throat.

▽

Imagine Nebraska circuit owner R. W. Huffman's embarrassment when he listened to the Lincoln Theaters Corp. Hollywood broadcast, which he sponsors. Movie news reporter Mrs. Barney Oldfield, cutting out her gab to make room for Announcer Bill Messmer's mid-commercial, found to her amazement that a too-recently-read grocery ad was still tangling Messmer's mind. So, he announced the Lincoln theatre copy closer in this fashion:

"Don't fail to see that swell picture, 'The Son of Monte Crisco.'"

"Local banks tell me that news releases have misrepresented the actual conditions of the latest currency regulations as regards the U. S.-Canadian border situation," writes our correspondent, Pat Donovan, in Canada.

"Exchange officials here inform me that for good and lawful reason—every Canadian visitor to the U. S. must have a good and lawful reason—Canadians have been permitted to take a sum of money across the border . . . BUT, the sum must be in Canadian funds, and must not be spent. (The italics are our's).

"The boys here tell me that the $5.00, or whatever stipulated sum, is permitted to cross the border only as 'comfort' money for the possessor. He is not permitted to spend it except in extreme circumstances, when the Canadian Customs board will be judge as to whether he has committed a criminal offense or whether he is to be excused." There's not much comfort in that.

▽

Mr. James (so-called music czar) Petrillo's American Federation of Musicians, pushing its drive to force instrumentalists out of other guilds and into his union, believes that even Bob Burns is an 'instrumentalist', with his bazooka, a contraption consisting of two lengths of pipe running into a tin funnel. The pipe looks more like something you'd find in a plumper's union.

▽

Benito Mussolini banned the foreign-made "Mad Emperor," according to the film's U. S. distributors, because "It's not necessary to show people how to kill a tyrant."

▽

Harry L. (Laddie) Hancock, Twentieth Century-Fox salesman in Indianapolis, tells this one:

King George VI has a friend, a little merchant who runs a shop not far from Buckingham Palace. The King likes to slip down to the shop when his worries are heaviest and gain new hope from his friend's philosophy.

The other week, things looked particularly dark. German invasion was again threatening. Bombings were heavy. The weather was thick.

"My good friend," said the King, "I rely on your judgment. Tell me, how do things look to you?"

"Well, you're asking me," answered the little merchant, "and I'm going to tell you. You better put Canada in your wife's name."

▽

Savage dogs have been running loose around the New York City, N. Y., countryside, including the estate of Adolph Zukor, spreading terror and devouring smaller dogs, forcing delivery men and residents to carry guns to shoot on sight. They're described as ferocious, big Great Danes, returned to a savage state and stalking sheep, deer and other animals in the vicinity. Carcasses have been found on Mr. Zukor's place, and elsewhere.

▽

A few more visits and the robbers who have been pilfering from the Fox Denver theatre, managed by Bernie Hynes, will have moved away the massive theatre organ complete.

One year ago the thieves made off with 50 pipes from inside the big music box, cramping much of the style of the chief organist. Now, almost a year to the day, they return their visit to make off with 40 more pipes. One more trip and that organ won't play at all.

U. S. WAR AID AND DEFENSE BRINGS DEMANDS FOR MORE WAR NEWSREELS

Increased Public Appetite for Screen News Reported; Theatres Get Response from Special Promotion of War News

Germany's capture or control of the lowlands and middle Europe, allowing the release of concentrated attention on England, with a resultant aid-to-Britain attitude developing in the Americas, has brought about a new order in motion picture newsreel exhibition in the U. S. Now the public wants increasing coverage of national defense and the war in their newsreels, and exhibitors who formerly restricted the amount of war news shown on their screens, on the earlier advice of some of their patrons, are currently demanding more martial footage in the news film releases. This was established from newsreel managements in New York this week. The greater interest in the war, which appears to be widespread throughout the country, marks a considerable change in public opinion during the last six months.

Newsreel business is heavier and local news reel theatres are benefiting.

Distributors attribute the demand for military news from abroad, and for coverage of the national defense activities here, to the extensive discussion on the air, in the press and otherwise, of the Aid-to-Britain program, to the U. S. Army draft, and the extensive publicity being afforded the expansion of national defense facilities here. Newsreel companies are meeting the demand with special reports on progress of construction at new army camps, shots of new equipment in action, and extensive coverage of Washington activities. Between 20 and 30 per cent of the current news releases are devoted to war and defense, newsreel editors indicated.

Featured by Theatres

Theatremen are likewise taking notice of public interest in the war and are featuring special news releases in their promotion, advertising, and theatre displays. Recent reels such as the scenes of British naval and military activity in North Africa and the fall of Bardia, attracted wide attention. Theatres showing newsreels only are reported to be doing better than average business and attract record crowds with new installments of overseas action pictures and pictures depicting America's growing participation in international affairs.

Other theatres are devoting marquee, advertising, and display space to news subjects in an increasing ratio. Several of the first run Broadway houses displayed time schedules for their screening of such important news reports as the arrival of Lord Halifax, Wendell Willkie's testimony on the Aid-Britain bill, and pictures of the British North African campaign. Managers say that complaints against the screening of "war-horrors" have decreased. For the first time in many months pictures of the action at Bardia included brief glimpses of the bodies of dead soldiers.

William Montague, Paramount News assignment editor, estimated that the average 1,000-foot newsreel contains between 200 and 300 feet of war action. The ratio varies with the availability of material. Uncertain delivery through censorships and trans-oceanic air schedules subject to frequent disruption, influence the amount of war coverage in the semi-weekly releases. With the arrival of new shipments, the best material is clipped for the first release and the rest held for subsequent issues. All of the news companies are frequently faced with a lack of product from their overseas cameramen.

Joseph O'Brien, Universal Newsreel executive, reported a growing interest in reels devoted to American defense activity. Military, naval, and air training sequences are proving popular with the public, and all news companies are covering the expansion of production facilities. Tank, combat car, and mechanized cavalry manouevers make interesting subject matter, they report. Oscar Morgan, Paramount short subject sales chief, and B. B. Kreisler, Universal shorts executives, confirmed a growing demand for national defense newsreels.

Fox-Movietone releases devote up to 30 per cent of some issues to the war, Dan Dougherty, home office executive, indicated. Coverage is split between home defense and overseas war subjects. He reported no complaints from exhibitors on the amount of space devoted to the subject, and reported several instances where exhibitors have asked for advance information on coming issues of the newsreel so that they could plug important topics in their advertising.

Public interest in the personalities occupied with national defense is growing. Coverage of the House and Senate hearings on the H. R. 1776 bill, interviews with Mr. Willkie, Lord Halifax, Harry Hopkins and other persons returning from Britain, and interviews with William Knudsen and executives of the Office of Production Management have found favor recently with newsreel audiences.

Mr. Morgan said that Paramount newsreel distributors have reported a definite shift in the public sentiment which a year ago, through various polls, expressed disfavor with war pictures. Managers and operators who formerly trimmed war news from the regular releases are now requesting more war and defense news for their audiences. Demand for lighter news material, sports, comedy, and fashion topics is not affected by the increasing war interest.

Recruiting Holds Interest

Pathe News and News-of-the-Day spokesmen also report an increased demand among their customers for news of the war abroad, and for coverage on what America is doing. They report particular interest in the induction of the first recruits under the Selective Service Act, and regional interest in the entry of National Guard units into the federal service. Defense and war coverage is featured prominently in their sales prospectuses and promotion.

Going directly to the field, to determine an answer to the question, "What Is the War Doing to Newsreels and to Local Newsreel Theatres," correspondents returned with first hand reports on the growth and status today of local theatres showing only newsreels, with shorts. Policies, prices and other considerations were reported in connection with the new importance given to newsreel theatres; the field reports follow:

In Minneapolis where there are no newsreel theatres exhibitors have found that women, generally, oppose war newsreel material and men are interested in the subject.

Last Fall a four-week experiment was made at the Gopher theatre, a 1,000-seat house operated by the Minnesota Amusement Company. All war shots were deleted from the newsreels, no short subjects mentioning war were booked and all features were of a strictly non-belligerent nature. Many more complaints were received from men on account of the deletion of war news than praise for the policy from women. At the end of the test period the house went back to running newsreels as received but continues to stress light entertainment in its feature booking. Exhibitors found that the experiment failed to solve the problem of war news.

It was also noted that reaction to special war shorts has been more favorable than that given to war scenes in the regular newsreels.

Two Phiadelphia News Houses

In Philadelphia, there are two center-city theatres dedicated to the newsreel. The 493-seat Translux, operated by the Translux Movie Corporation, and managed by Harry Jordon, opened in January, 1935. Hourly programs are presented with the admission "always 25 cents" (plus tax), from 10:30 A.M. to 11:30 P.M. daily, 10 A.M. to 12 midnight on Saturday and 2 P.M. to 12 midnight on Sunday.

Four newsreels are edited to form a half-hour review and four shorts complete the program. Newsreels are changed twice weekly and shorts once a week.

The editing of the newsreel follows a regular pattern, first emphasizing foreign news, then local, national defense and sports. Since the advent of the European war, news shots of the conflict have taken prominence. However, according to the management, in recent weeks, not much has been coming through to satisfy the patrons. First pictures of a battle or invasion are advertised by one-sheets in front of the house. Blow-ups are used for regular advertising. When war newsreel pictures are unusual special attention is given, as the pictures of the incendiary bombing of London were sold as "The Burning of London."

The other Philadelphia newsreel house is the News Theatre, operated by William Goldman Theatres, Inc., independent circuit. Seating 385, the house was first opened in 1937 with a policy similar to that of the Translux, offering shorts and edited newsreels. The following year, the house experimented by featuring a revival instead of the short subject. This proved so successful that it was adopted as a regular policy. As a result, the News offers a two-hour program, changed weekly, of a feature picture revival and a 25-minute giant newsreel, edited from all five newsreels. The house is open from 10 A.M. to 11:30 P.M. weekdays, 10 A.M. to 12 midnight on Saturday and 2 P.M. to 12 on Sunday, charging 15 cents until 6 P.M. and 25 cents (plus tax) in the evening.

War news is the chief newsreel attraction, according to the management, but interest is equally keen when there is some item of special importance. Moreover, during the football

(Continued on following page)

ECUADOR, COSTA RICA ALLOW "DICTATOR"

Ecuador and Costa Rica have decided to permit the exhibition of "The Great Dictator," it was learned in New York this week, despite objections of German and Italian legations. Reports from San Jose indicated the new Government of Costa Rica had reversed the policy of its predecessor which had refused to permit showing of films to which the legations of the totalitarian countries objected.

CAMPAIGNS FOR WAR NEWSREELS

(Continued from preceding page)
season news shots of the principal games are as popular as war happenings.

In January Warner Brothers gave special attention to the newsreel at two of its second run houses in the downtown area, the Karlton and the Palace. A 25-minute digest from the five newsreels is presented and advertising follows the headlines of the day.

Chicago's newsreel theatres are the Telenews, operated by the Mid-West Newsreel Theatres which has similar houses in Cleveland and San Francisco, and Today which was recently completed. The Telenews opened on December 23, 1939.

The Telenews charges 25 cents plus tax at all times and operates from 8:45 A.M. to midnight every day but Saturday when the last show is over at 1:00 A.M. The show lasts one hour. War news is usually featured in theatre and newspaper advertising and a Trans-Radio teletype machine has been installed in the lobby to flash the latest news to patrons. The house located just south of the Chicago theatre was built for a newsreel theatre.

Newsreel Theatre Opened

The second newsreel house scheduled to open about the middle of this month is called Today and was built by Richard Beck who operated the Alcazar, Rose, Casino and Castle theatre in Chicago for many years. The new house which seats 325 persons was designed by David Chapman.

Edwin Silverman of the Essaness Theatres said that in the past they "plugged" several newsreels containing war scenes but found that this was not well received in outlying houses. Mr. Silverman also pointed out that there have been several complaints from customers about the number of war shots in the newsreels.

Tom Gorman, district manager of RKO theatres in the Mid-west said that he believes that war newsreels should not be shown in theatres generally. Recently the Palace theatre in Chicago played "Dance Girls Dance" and "Argentine Nights," and in the newspaper copy Mr. Gorman had the words "positively no war or bombing pictures shown this week" with the result that the house did record business.

Jack Rose head of the Illinois-Indiana Theatres said that no special emphasis is placed on war newsreels, remarking "the less emphasis placed on such subjects the better it will be." He also said that in many cases there had been objection to this type of newsreels.

Balaban and Katz houses have not given special attention in newspaper or theatre advertising to war material in the newsreels.

New Cleveland Newsreel

The Telenews theatre, a new newsreel house constructed at a reported cost of $180,000, was opened on January 31st in Cleveland by the Telenews Theatres Corporation. The circuit is headed by Herbert Sheftel.

The 480-seat house shows one-hour program of newsreels and shorts. Located within a block of the railroad station the theatre features a large lounge room for transients and a permanent art exhibit furnished by the Cleveland Artists' Guild.

The program, edited from the five newsreels, includes considerable war material. Irving Reuben, formerly of Warner's Colony, is the manager.

The Colony theatre in suburban Shaker Square has experimented with a special "Newsreel Night" on Thursdays. A special half-hour reel is used in addition to the regular program. If the event is popular it will be adopted as a regular feature. Marvin Samuelson is the manager of the theatre.

War pictures help boost boxoffice returns at the Newsreel theatre, the only house of its kind in Pittsburgh, according to John McGreevey, booker for the Harris Amusement Company. The Newsreel theatre has been slowly but steadily increasing its business since its conversion 16 months ago from a fourth-run grind policy. Open 9:30 A.M. to 11:00 P.M., the theatre charges 10 cents until noon, 15 cents after. It is managed for the Harris Company by John P. Harris III, son of former senator Frank Harris.

Prime media for promotion are the daily newspapers, where newsreel ads sometimes are run separately to announce special news pictures, and other times are attached to the Harris chain layout advertising the circuit's eight local houses. Mailings are also used occasionally, when a reel's coverage of some specialized subject lends itself for promotion to organizations, colleges or similar groups.

The most popular subjects are those relating to the war, according to Mr. McGreevey. Other subjects attracting attention are sports and travel. The Newsreel Theatre shows product of Paramount, Pathe, Twentieth Century-Fox, and Universal. Pictures are received here air-mail from the source, then cut and edited. Only short subjects shown besides news are the M-G-M crime series, and "The March of Time" sequences.

Most theatres in the Pittsburgh district are playing up war pictures on their lobby displays, but otherwise, military coverage advertising is kept at a minimum. Newspaper columnists, however, mention war newsreels periodically.

Newsreels in Los Angeles

Two newsreel theatres are located in Los Angeles. One, the Newsreel Theatre is on Broadway, downtown, and is operated by the Downtown Theatres, Lawrence and Sherrill Cohn, executives. The other theatre, the News-View, is on Hollywood Boulevard and is operated by Adler, Boos, and Carter.

Originally a subsequent run house named the President, the Newsreel was converted to its present policy about two and a half years ago, with Harold Citron as manager of the house. The policy of the house is to show only newsreels and factual shorts. No specialties or cartoons based on fiction are shown. According to Mr. Citron, the newsreels are edited and shown in a pattern derived from the daily newspaper and the program is called "the Visual Newspapers." Price of admission, including federal tax, is 28 cents. The show runs an hour and ten minutes—55 minutes of newsreels and 15 minutes of short subjects. When "March of Time" is issued, all other short subjects are eliminated. Two newscasting radio programs emanate from the Newsreel Theatre, one at 1:30 P.M.; the other at 4:30 P.M. Monday through Friday. In the lobby and foyer are teletype machines connected with a news service.

The News-View Theatre on Hollywood Boulevard is managed by Russell Desmond. Admission price is 30 cents, including federal tax. The show runs one hour. This house, opened several months ago, was especially built as a newsreel theatre, the second to be so built in Hollywood. The other house, formerly known as the Tele-View, also on Hollywood Boulevard, has recently changed its name to The Hitching Post and has adopted a policy of showing only western films.

Theatre Edits Reels

Unlike the downtown house, the News-View shows a copyrighted idea, "The News-View Magazine." Following the lines of Time Magazine fairly closely, this theatre edits its shorts and newsreels according to topics such as foreign, national and local news. The program consists of all newsreels, shorts, cartoons, documentaries. Both fact and fiction are presented.

Regular theatres in Hollywood advertise "hot" war stuff on marquees and in ads, some houses constantly carrying "full newsreel show" in their copy.

There are no newsreel theatres in Indianapolis, nor is there any indication that exhibitors are giving their newsreel offerings more than normal exploitation. The Apollo, 1,100-seat downtown second run house, reopened several months ago as a newsreel theatre, experimentally, but soon changed to double feature policy.

Interstate Policy Discontinued

The Interstate Circuit in Dallas experimented with showing all war scenes from the newsreels at one theatre with the idea that some patrons did not want to see them. After a few months the policy was discontinued. Special attention is given to outstanding newsreel material, however, at the regular houses in the area.

In Kansas City some exhibitors believe that the public expects current news of the war in the regular issues of the newsreels and for that reason no special advertising is needed. Other showmen take the position that people patronize a theatre for entertainment and hence no stress should be put on war news. But increased interest in war scenes is indicated by an increase in the number of theatres taking news reels. Some theatres in the territory which formerly did not show newsreels now book them. Theatres generally, however, do not emphasize or even mention newsreel war subjests in advertising or on marquees.

No Promotion in Cincinnati

No theatres in the Cincinnati area were reported to be giving special attention to newsreels on war subjects.

Seattle exhibitors do not consider the European war an important newsreel subject and theatres have not at any time made a feature of war films in their advertising or promotional programs. Special war shorts have not been advertised by the downtown theatres either. Exhibitors remarked that the public today wants to be amused above all else and consequently war shots are not a drawing card.

The only theatres in Iowa reported to be giving special attention to newsreel war subjects are those in Davenport where the state arsenal is located. About three months ago Joe Kinsky, district manager of the Tri-State theatres in that section of the State and managers of the circuit's theatres in Davenport, Rock Island and Moline, met with the editors of the Davenport and Rock Island newspapers, and arranged with them to edit the newsreels

NEWSREEL CUTS AT MINIMUM IN OHIO

Study in connection with a bill in the Ohio legislature to eliminate newsreels from censorship provisions, disclosed that in the past two years there have been only two eliminations from newsreels. The censors of the state reviewed 438 "regular" theatrical reels in February, 1940, ordering 39 eliminations. In that month of 1939 it reviewed 459 reels, making 47 eliminations.

From 20th, the company that discovered the big grosses
DOWN ARGENTINE WAY!

1941's great glamor-musical . . . the show of your dreams!

Alice
FAYE

Don AMECHE

Carmen
MIRANDA

that Night in Rio

Imagine it! IN TECHNICOLOR!

Song Hits!

"I'yi, Yi, Yi, Yi"
(I Like You Very Much)
"Chica, Chica, Boom, Chic"
"Boa Noite" (Good Night)
"They Met in Rio"
"The Baron Is In Conference"
by Mack Gordon and Harry Warren

S. Z. SAKALL
J. CARROLL NAISH
CURT BOIS
LEONID KINSKEY

Directed by
IRVING CUMMINGS

Associate Producer Fred Kohlmar
Screen Play by George Seaton, Bess
Meredyth and Hal Long • Additional Dialogue by Samuel Hoffenstein
Based on a play by Rudolph Lothar and Hans Adler • Adapted by Jessie Ernst
Dances Staged by Hermes Pan

20th CENTURY FOX

NO AUCTION-BLOCK SALES FOR M-G-M UNDER DECREE, DECLARES RODGERS

MGM Sales Manager Says "Regular Customers" Will Be Given Preference in Buying; Pledges Decree Cooperation

The "auction" system of selling, with each block-of-five features knocked-down to the highest bidder by every salesman acting as an auctioneer, will not be adopted by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer as its consent decree sales policy but the company's pictures generally will be offered first to the exhibitors now showing MGM films, W. F. Rodgers, general sales manager, said this week.

The sales policy of MGM for the first season under the consent decree system of advance trade shows and blocks-of-five selling was outlined by Mr. Rodgers in a letter to all the company's present customers.

The first expression of distributor sales policy under the consent decree was made four months ago by Barney Balaban, president of Paramount, when it was indicated that no buyers' "field day" would be provided by putting up a large number of blocks of five pictures for sale at any one time. (See MOTION PICTURE HERALD, November 23, 1940.)

"Stand on Merits"

"We will not price our merchandise beyond the possibilities of our customers to pay; we are not now, nor will we in the future, seek any subterfuges in selling short subjects, newsreels or trailers. Every unit of our output will stand on its own merit," Mr. Rodgers said in his announcement.

The company will deliver not less than the minimum commitment of features and shorts in the 1940-41 season, it was pointed out. The first trade shows of the blocks-of-five probably will be held by MGM in June or July but if that cannot be done "far enough in advance to protect the playing time" of exhibitor customers.

On the subject of the consent decree Mr. Rodgers said, "We will respect the consent decree in all of its contents, we will not tolerate, much less countenance any violations on the part of our representatives."

Speaking of the decree in general Mr. Rodgers said:

"It appears to me that there is far too much emphasis placed upon the mistaken theory that it is impractical, and too little evidence of a desire to give its principles the support necessary for at least a fair trial. The time has passed for debate regarding either its virtues or its disadvantages. It is a matter of record and an instrument under which we will conduct our business to the best of our ability. We did not desire a consent decree, but it seemed to be the best means of settling the dispute between us and the Government.

"We will recognize any claim for arbitration as provided for in the decree, and will vigorously yet fairly defend our position where we feel we are right; yet in any instance where the final judgment is rendered against us, it will be accepted graciously and without any hard feelings in any direction."

Asking a fair trial for the decree he said, "We have accepted it 100 per cent and what is more we will support its administration so that may be given full and proper opportunity to demonstrate its values. We hope they are many."

Mr. Rodgers abandoned a prepared speech for a frank discussion, extempore, of industry problems during which he reiterated his stated views at the AMPA luncheon at the Hotel Edison last week where he was honored for his 16 years of service with Metro.

"This is no time for misunderstanding among us. This is no time for quarreling," he said. "Let us go forward together toward our common objective." Citing the new era imminent under the consent decree and the growing stress of the national defense effort, he declared, "In times of industrial and national crises such as all of us are facing now, we should do all we can for unity."

Operation of the decree may prove costly, but the industry should give it unanimous support, for sales and theatre operation must continue, he declared. Selling in blocks-of-five will make no difference on distributor-exhibitor relations as long as they continue to be founded on fair dealing, Mr. Rodgers said. Mistakes may occur in the new era, but, he urged, "recognize the new methods and waive past misunderstandings and industrial unity will result."

"Conciliate First"

Arbitration provides a means to minimize misunderstandings, Mr. Rodgers said, but added that he hoped that conciliation would be used first in an attempt to settle differences. "Conciliate first, but failing in this let us make use of the machinery which has been set up to settle our differences by arbitration. "Use the instrument," he urged. "Don't let discontent smolder."

"This is no time for misunderstanding among people who have the same objective. There is a bond of friendship—even affection—among us in the various branches of the industry. It's fair dealing we want on both sides, and if we have that, what difference does it make if we sell pictures in blocks of two, five, ten or twenty. I think it is high time to abandon mistrust of one another."

As an example of confidence and good will between exhibitor and distributor Mr. Rodgers cited the circumstances under which MGM marketed "Gone With the Wind" and "Boom Town."

"On 'Boom Town' 4,500 exhibitors voluntarily advanced their box-office scales and when we offered 'Gone With the Wind' at terms of 70-30, with a profit guaranty of 10 per cent, 80 per cent of those who bought the picture didn't ask for the guaranty, knowing we would make good," Mr. Rodgers said.

Salesmen, exchange managers and regional officials of MGM have been instructed to take an increased part in the life of their community, Mr. Rodgers said. They have been urged to join civic organizations such as the Rotary, Kiwanis, Chambers of Commerce, Better Films Council, and Parent-Teacher groups. As an important community enterprise the industry should have closer contact with local civic affairs, he indicated. Hence MGM representatives are being urged to show greater activity.

Harry Goldberg, director of Warner Theatre advertising, introduced Mr. Rodgers. He was preceded by Howard Dietz, Loew's advertising and publicity chief who, in an amusing ad lib speech, said that under Mr. Rodgers sales leadership MGM was changing from "the friendly to the positively affectionate company." Leon Bamberger, AMPA president, directed the proceedings. Among those on the dias were E. K. O'Shea, MGM central division manager; Mr. Dietz and H. M. Richey, Mr. Rodgers' assistant in charge of exhibitor relations.

The list of guests included Jack Bowen, MGM district manager; Ralph Pielow, New York branch manager; George Skouras, George Lynch, Schine circuit director; Max A. Cohen, William White, Si Fabian, Fred Schwartz, Bob Wolf, George Lynch, Arthur Rapf, Sam Straussberg, Maurice Gibbons of Bermuda, Frank A. J. McCarthy, Universal division manager; Louis Pollock, Universal's Eastern advertising manager; Dave Levy, Universal's New York branch manager; Art Schmidt of Loew's, Ben Grauer, Larry Mowen, Leo Brecher and Pete Harrison.

27,761 FILMS FOR SHUT-INS

The motion picture industry during 1940 supplied a total of 27,761 motion pictures free for the entertainment of invalids and shut-ins in 1,273 institutions throughout the United States, according to the annual report recently issued by the Conservation Department of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America.

Of the total number of films donated by the industry, 13,357 were feature pictures and 14,404 were short subjects. The motion pictures were donated for exhibition in homes for crippled children, orphanages, hospitals, reformatories, prisons, homes for the aged, schools supported by charity, war veterans' convalescent homes and institutions for underprivileged boys and girls.

Warner Sales Managers Meet in New York

Warner Brothers zone managers gathered at the home office in New York on Tuesday for a session on sales and discussion of tactics under the consent decree. Joseph Bernhard, general manager of Warner Theatres, presided.

Among those attending were: James Coston, Chicago; Nat Wolf, Cleveland; I. J. Hoffman, New Haven; Don Jacocks, Newark; Moe Silver, Albany; Ted Schlanger, Philadelphia; Harry Kalmine, Pittsburgh; John J. Payette, Washington. Home office executives who participated are: Clayton Bond, Ed Hinchy, Harry Goldberg, Leonard Schlesinger, Frank Phelps, Sam Morris, Nat Fellman, Abel Vigard, W. S. McDonald, Harry Rosenquest, Louis Kaufman, Herman Maier and Frank Cahill.

Harry M. Warner, president, is expected to arrive from the Coast on Saturday for an executive session on production plans.

Brandt Acquires Theatres

The Brandt Theatres in New York, headed by Harry Brandt, has acquired the Rialto theatre in Poughkeepsie, N. Y., a 1,600-seat theatre, from the Elite Amusement Enterprises, Inc., and, with David Weinstock, the Queen Anne, from the Queen Amusement Enterprises at Bogota, N. J. The Queen Anne is a 1,399-seat house, and is the 17th Mr. Brandt and Mr. Weinstock have in partnership. Berk and Krumgold, theatre realty specialists of New York, negotiated the New Jersey deal.

Mexico City Run of 'Wind' Cut

by LOUIS BECERRA CELIS
in Mexico City

"Gone With the Wind," which opened here for simultaneous runs at two theatres has been withdrawn from one. After three weeks of the dual exhibition at the Cines Alameda and Iris, the latter theatre, which had not been doing so very well with the film, dropped it. It continues at the Alameda which has been drawing most of the patronage.

There are some reports that although the Alameda did record business with "GWTW"—a $15,500 gross in the first week, a new record for Mexico—it will not be able to keep the picture for its scheduled six weeks. This indicates that the local public is not amenable to high admission prices—55 to 70c—for a picture and that there are not enough cinema-goers here to sustain a film for a long run at those prices.

Two other films are having extraordinarily long runs "All This and Heaven, Too," is now in its ninth week at the Cine Rex, a 1,000-seater. No other film in Mexico has stayed so long at one theatre. This picture was priced at 77c during its first two weeks, then went down to 45c. The other long run film now here is "Arlette and Her Two Papas," the French film which the supreme court approved after the censors had banned it. It is in its sixth week at the Cine Regis, seating 1,200. Admissions began at 45c, then went to 35c.

Pact Assures Labor Peace

Exhibitors here are assured freedom from labor troubles until 1943 with the signing of the collective contract that the national cinematographic workers union has been demanding since October, 1939. This contract allows the continuance of high wage scales for most of the theatre employees besides a ten per cent increase for other workers. The union called five strikes in its campaign to conclude the pact. Union leaders deny reports that there is labor trouble brewing for the exhibitors. They declare that the contract will be fully respected by the workers during its life.

The Ministry of the Interior would have sole charge of supervising and censoring pictures under a bill presented to congress requiring that this function be removed from the local government. This centralized censoring proposition is desired by the industry. The plan provides charges of $1.10 each for attending all pictures and 65c for Mexican films that are to be exported, and allows the Ministry $8,000 to cover expenses this year. It is expected that congress will pass the bill soon.

The Association of Cinematographic Journalists of Mexico has elected the following officers for 1941: president, Roberto Cantu Robert; vice-president, Tomas G. Perrin; secretary, Severo Corte; and treasurer, Salvador Ortigoza. The Association cited the following foreign films exhibited in Mexico last year: American: "Grapes of Wrath"; French: "The Day Has Dawned," and Argentine, "Traidos de la Tierra" ("Tillers of the Soil"). Diplomas of merit are to be issued the producers of these pictures by the Association.

Guaranteed Gets Chaplin Films

Guaranteed Pictures Co., Inc., has acquired the exclusive world distribution rights to a group of 12 two-reel "Mutual Chaplin" films, which were synchronized and released formerly by RKO.

MORE ON NAZIS IN ARGENTINA

Nazi plans to gain control of the film industry in Argentina, as reported in MOTION PICTURE HERALD, February 22, in a story by Natalio Bruski, are described in a series of articles in the Chicago Times by Irving Pflaum, foreign editor of the paper. Major strategy of the Germans, it is reported, is directed toward financial control of feature and newsreel production through bankruptcy proceedings filed after unusually generous credit has been granted producers. Other points include the importation and exhibition of propaganda pictures from Germany. Chief agents are said to be Agfa de la Argentine and the Banco Germanico.

Republic Acquires Three Exchanges

Republic now has the distribution franchise rights to the Chicago, Milwaukee, and Indianapolis territories, James R. Grainger, its president, announced during the Eastern regional convention in New York City Thursday and Friday last, March 6th and 7th. The territories were acquired from Harry Mandel. The deal gives the company eight exchanges directly operated. It is already in effect. No changes in the personnel of the offices just acquired will be made, Mr. Grainger promised.

Previous franchises acquired by the company from former franchise holders have been those in New York, Philadelphia, Des Moines, St. Louis, and Omaha.

Attending the New York meeting were Herbert J. Yates, Grover Schaefer, John O'Connell, Charles Reed Jones, Jack Pindat, Frank Soule, Sam Seplowin, Jake and George Flax, J. H. Alexander, Sam Fineberg, Max Gillis, Arthur Newman, M. E. Morey, Jack Bellman, Sam Seletsky, Morris Epstein, Nat Lefton, Sam Gorrel, and George Kirby.

The fifth, final, regional meeting of the year will be held April 1st and 2nd in Toronto.

Vincent Hart Gets Commission

Vincent G. Hart, a motion picture attorney and partner of the firm of Friend, Holbrook, Reiskind & Hart in New York, has been appointed a Captain in the Adjutant's General's office of the State of New York on the State staff. Captain Hart was a former American Legion Post and County Commander, and will be stationed in New York City.

Three Paramount Changes

Arnold Van Lear has joined the Paramount exchange in Philadelphia in the publicity department filling Bill Brocker's post upon his promotion to direct exploitation in the Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and Washington areas. Nat Harris, student salesman at the Paramount exchange in Philadelphia, has returned to the home office.

English Theatres Fight Sunday Tax

by AUBREY FLANAGAN
in London

The Cinematograph Exhibitors Association will take immediate steps to bring about a reduction in the charity tax for Sunday operation of film theatres, following the recent Government order which permitted competitive entertainment to operate on Sunday without being subject to the same tax.

The CEA is understood to feel it would be bad policy to oppose operation of other forms of entertainment on Sundays, but that it is justified in asking a reduction of the tax on film houses. It is felt that with the greater part of the weekly business on weekends, the tax is unfair. The Government has indicated that it will not amend or remove the tax clause.

While film houses in England are compelled to pay a charity tax for Sunday operation, legitimate and vaudeville houses and music halls are permitted to open without being taxed. Now, under the new ruling, other types of entertainment are also tax-free. Boxing, wrestling and dance halls are excluded from this privilege, however. The provision permits local municipal councils on request of either the military authorities or a representative of the Ministry of Labor, to place a request for Sunday opening before the Home Secretary for presentation to and approval by Parliament.

The only concession to film houses in the new order is the right of the local industrial authorities to make a formal request for Sunday entertainment, whereas previously only the military authority could make such a request.

Beginning this week, film theatres in the West End area of London were to be permitted to extend their operating hours to 8:30 and 9 P.M. daily, including Sundays.

Collect $1,700 for Greeks

The Greek War Relief campaign drive, sponsored in Terre Haute, Ind., by the Orpheum theatre, of the Gregory circuit, and the Fountain theatre in cooperation with the city's two papers, the Star and the Tribune, and radio station WBOW, collected $1,700 for the fund it was announced by A. H. Kaufman of the Fountain. The greater part of the contributions were collected during Tag Day on Saturday, March 1st and the midnight shows at the two theatres on the same date.

Two Resign from Republic

George Jones, booker for Republic in the Atlanta, Ga., and Al Rouk, exchange salesman in that territory, have resigned. Mr. Jones will establish his own independent booking office, and Mr. Rouk will join his brother, Charles, in operating a theatre in Montgomery, Ala.

Bookers Party Set

The annual party of the Motion Picture Bookers Club in New York has been set for May 18th, at the Astor Roof. Dan Ponticelle of Warner Brothers is in charge of the arrangements.

U. S. RULES WAGES AND HOURS ACT APPLIES TO 22,000 FILM WORKERS

Status of Categories Disputed by Producers, Labor To Be Decided at Hearing Mar. 25; Locals Ask Internationals' Aid

More than six months of investigation by the Los Angeles regional officials of the National Wage and Hour Act, aided by special surveyors from the Act Administration in Washington, resulted in the announcement, over the weekend, that more than 22,000 of the 28,000 film employees classified are subject to the provisions of the Act.

The companies are observing these provisions, it was reported, except for certain categories the status of which will be argued at a special hearing March 25th in the Los Angeles Federal Building. Whether certain classifications should receive retroactive pay in instances where their pay did not reach the Act's level, is also expected to be decided at the hearing.

The announcement came from Wesley O. Ash, regional director of the Department of Labor's Wages and Hours division after the submission of an exhaustive report from E. M. Cocking, survey analyst of the national Wage and Hour Division, who had spent six months in Hollywood, observing the 585 occupations he listed in the film in dustry. Twenty-nine of Mr. Cocking's classifications are disputed by unions and producers who disagree with Mr. Cocking's exemption rulings. Ten more classifications were regarded as exempt, but their status is uncertain.

Producers, Unions Disagree

The 29 classifications occur in the following categories: art department, camera department, construction section, directors' group, mechanical department, plant engineering and maintenance group, police, projection, property, sound, and wardrobe departments, and the talent group. The producers had asked exemptions for all the 29 classifications in these categories. The unions had asked non-exemption for all classifications except actors, in the talent group.

The 10 classifications mentioned occur in the following departments: make-up, music, property, publicity, and scenario. The producers had asked that a "shooting unit" be exempted; this was refused by Mr. Cocking, after he had spent several days on sets.

It was estimated there were some 1,500 workers, including 778 actors, under the disputed classifications.

Meanwhile, in Hollywood, studio locals pressing the producers for a stand on demands for alterations in working hours and wages under the basic labor agreement entered into by six studio internationals, this week began appealing, as they had warned they would, to the officers of their internationals. The decision to appeal was made last week at a meeting between business agents of the costumers, laborers, projectionists, and grips. The Property Men's Local 44 already has asked its International for aid.

Last week, in New York, officials of the Warner Brothers and Loew's New York home offices testified before Daniel Baker, National Labor Relations Board trial examiner, in the petition by the Screen Publicists Guild Eastern unit for certification as the bargaining agency for the advertising and publicity workers for the majors' home offices. Testimony in the case of the Guild versus the other companies, had already been taken.

The guild this week was to appoint a five man negotiating committee for expected meetings with majors' representatives on a proposed closed shop contract, submitted by the guild several months ago but delayed because of the majors' insistence that the Guild obtain an NLRB certificate.

In Detroit, the Schulte circuit of neighborhood theatres was threatened with a strike by the Theatre Managers and Assistant Managers Union, which complained to the state labor board that its members had been forced to do janitors' work.

The Missouri House is considering Representative Forrest Mittendorf's bill to establish wage-hour conditions for workers now exempt from the Federal Wage Hour Act, excepting those in domestic and agricultural occupations. The bill sets 30 cents per hour as minimum wage for the first year of the bill's application, 35 cents per hour for six years, and 40 cents per hour thereafter. Maximum working hours per week would be 44 hours the first year, 42 the second, and 40 thereafter.

Philadelphia Union

Philadelphia has a new union for "front of the house" workers: the Employees of Independent Theatres, which asserts it has support of the American Federation of Labor. The city already has an IATSE union for the same type of employees, including assistant managers, and with a membership in the Warner circuit. It had not, however, secured recognition from independent theatre owners, in whose houses the new union is seeking membership.

The IA local is now negotiating with the Warner circuit for a new contract embodying a $45 weekly minimum for assistant managers, and a similar minimum for doormen and cashiers of $25.

In Seattle, janitors of theatres are to receive a wage increase of eight per cent, effective until January 1st, 1943. The increase is the result of negotiations between the local Building Service Employees Union, and the Seattle Theatre Managers Association. Fifty six janitors are said to be affected.

Negotiations are now occurring, in the same city, for an increase in wages for the ushers, doorman, and cashiers.

Detroit theatre janitors, members of the Building Service Employees union there, were encouraged last week by a vote of support given them by the executive board, meeting in Chicago and presided over by William McFetridge, president.

The Metropolitan Projectionists' Union, of New York City, announced this week it would file a new petition with the State Labor Relations Board, for certification as the bargaining agency for employees in six theatres of the Casey and Wheeler, and Prudential circuits, on Long Island.

A previous petition was dismissed two weeks ago, because the theatres it mentioned did not, according to the board, constitute an appropriate employer unit.

In the same city, the Alliance of Motion Picture Machine Operators has been formed, of members who broke away from the United Theatrical and Motion Picture Workers union. Head of the new union is Irving Friedlander; its secretary, Peter Waxberg. Members, approximately 12, are employed in Brooklyn independent theatres.

The American Federation of Musicians appeared this week to be renewing its pressure on radio, for the employment of more musicians; and upon radio's allies, the transcription and record companies. James Caesar Petrillo, president of the AFM, appointed Benjamin Selvin head of a committee, to investigate the latter type of company, in relation to musician employment. Mr. Selvin is vice-president of Associated Music Publishers.

In Gardner, Massachusetts, more than 1,300 employees of the Heywood-Wakefield Company, manufacturers of theatre chairs, have received wage increases of five per cent, Richard N. Greenwood, the company president, announcing that improved business conditions had made the increase possible.

MICHIGAN STUDIES STATE HOURS LAW

The Michigan legislature is mulling a new minimum wages-and-hours bill, specifically directed at the state's theatres, and replacing a former bill regulating women employees, and since pigeon-holed. The bill provides a 44 hour maximum work week the first year, 42 the second, 40 the third. It also sets minimum wages at 40 cents per hour the first year, 45 the second, and 50 cents thereafter.

Jack Benny's Contract Renewed for One Year

After much discussion and many reports that Jack Benny would not renew his contract with General Foods, it was announced Monday in New York that the radio and screen star and his radio sponsor had agreed on the terms of a new contract to become effective upon the expiration of his current pact, June 1st.

Terms of the new contract were not revealed. Under his present one Mr. Benny receives $18,500 for each Jello-O broadcast out of which he must pay all costs of the program, including talent. His radio show has the highest rating of any program regularly on the air.

New Quarters for Filmack

Irving Mack, president of the Filmack Trailer Company in Chicago, has announced that the company has leased the entire building formerly occupied by Metro-Goldwyn-Meyer at 1327 South Wabash Avenue. The new quarters have approximately 20,000 square feet, which are now being remodeled.

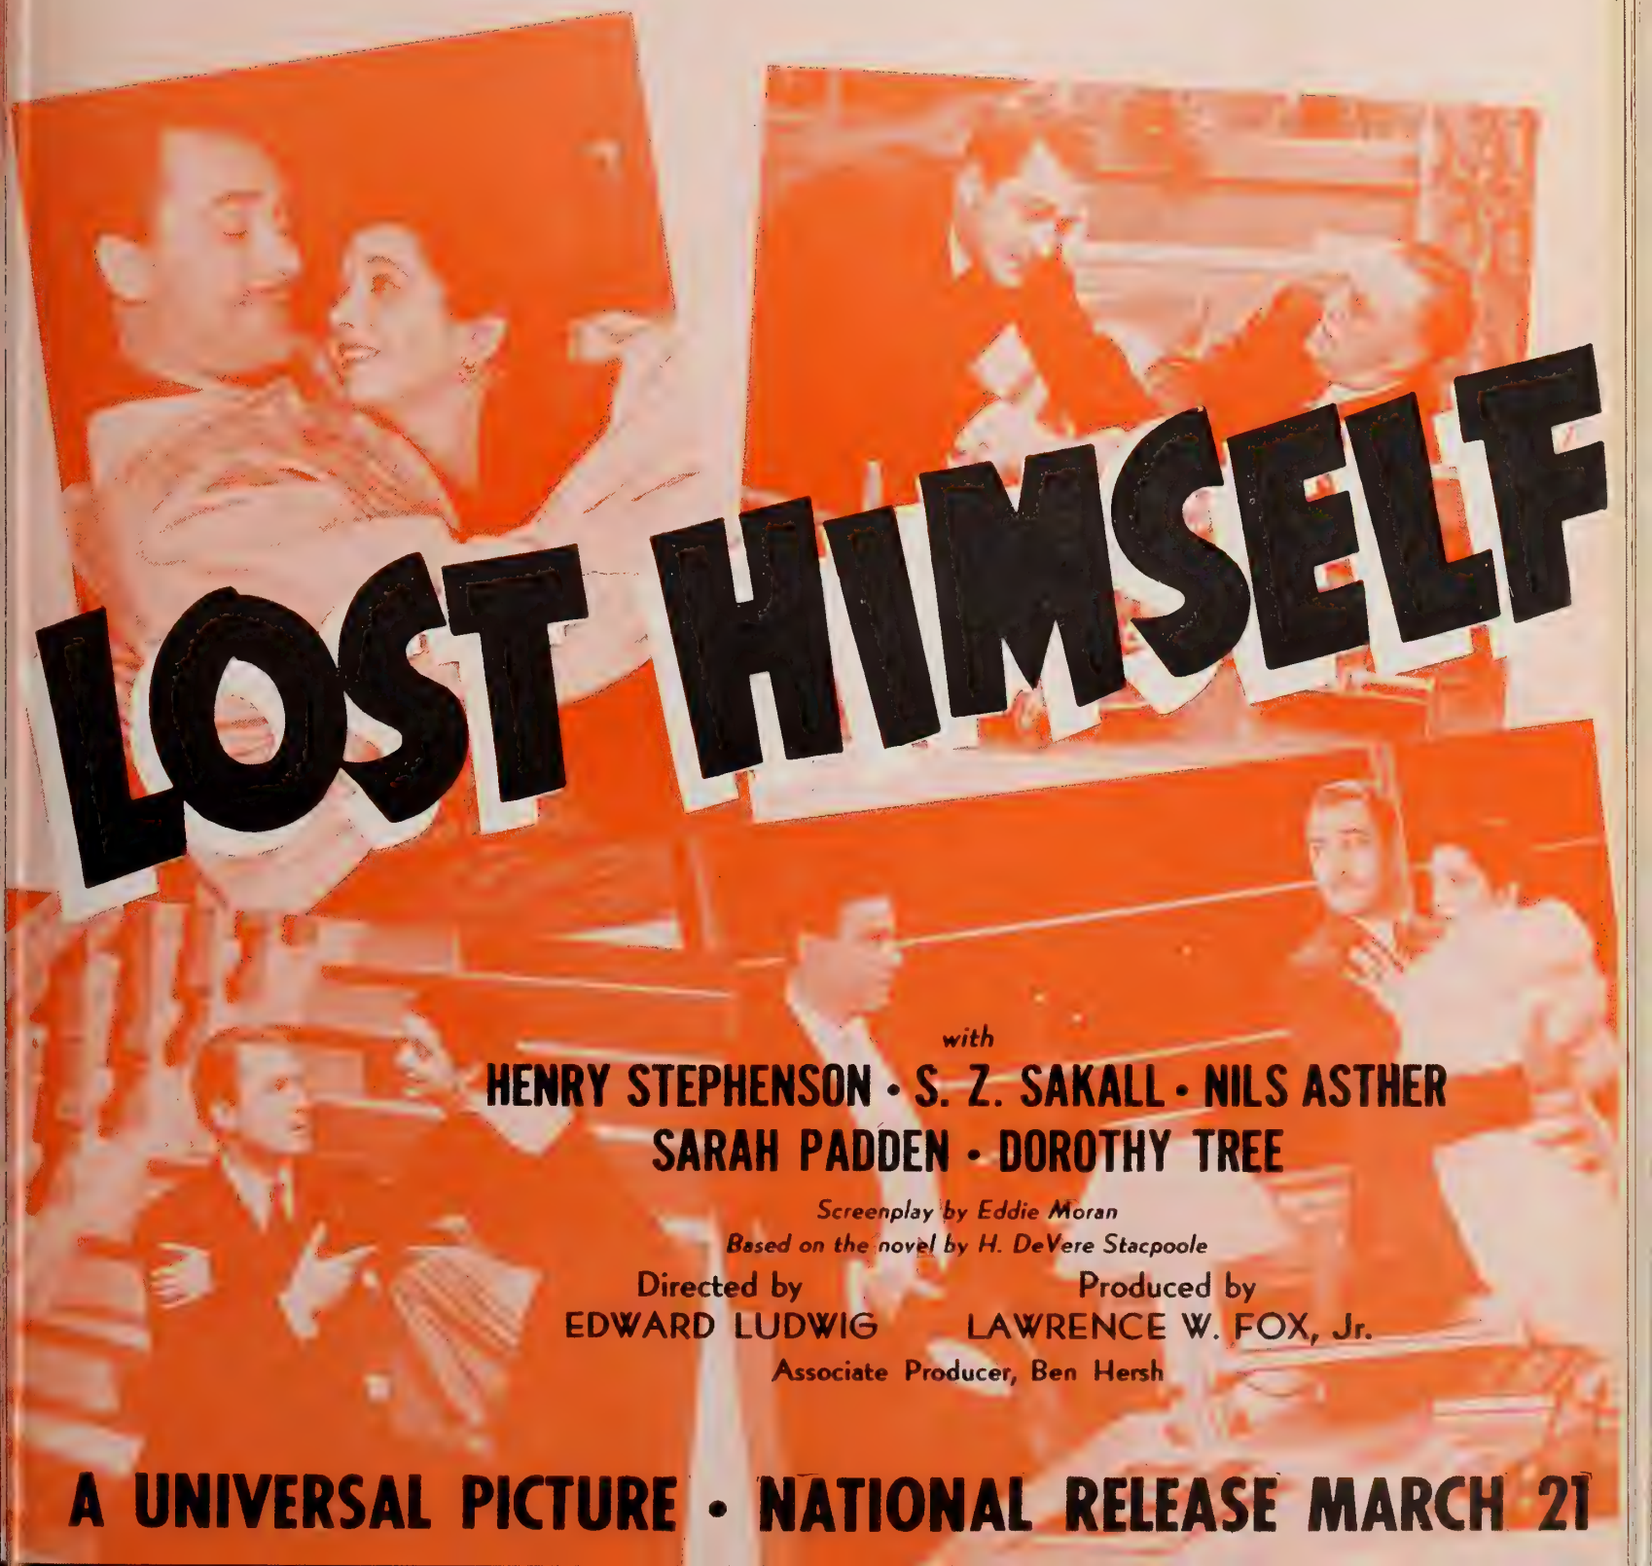
Union Plans Shows

The Greater Cincinnati Industrial Union Council, a CIO affiliate in Cincinnati, Ohio, will launch a series of monthly picture programs for members and the public, beginning with "The Wave," a Mexican production with English titles.

Hellinger Leaves Warners

Mark Hellinger, Warner producer, has settled his contract with that studio.

MARCH 21ST STARTS
UNIVERSAL HELPS YOU



SPRING—Officially!

START IT—Box-Officially!

It's the release date for a comedy-honey... that will rib-rouse the whole country... set ten million wives laughing and thinking about the gal whose husband "doubled" up on her!

LOST HIMSELF

with

HENRY STEPHENSON • S. Z. SAKALL • NILS ASTHER
SARAH PADDEN • DOROTHY TREE

Screenplay by Eddie Moran
Based on the novel by H. DeVere Stacpoole

Directed by EDWARD LUDWIG

Produced by
LAWRENCE W. FOX, Jr.

Associate Producer, Ben Hersh

A UNIVERSAL PICTURE • NATIONAL RELEASE MARCH 21

PRESSURE SEEN FOR ASCAP-BMI SETTLEMENT

Justice Department Reported Ready to Force Agreement; Negotiation Offer Rejected

With broadcasters and the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers showing little indication of getting together to reach a settlement of the music war which has kept ASCAP music off the networks since January 1st, and both sides still blaming each other, prospects increased this week for a peace dictated by the Department of Justice just as the Government made both parties accept consent decrees.

Radio interests which have backed Broadcast Music, Inc. as a rival to ASCAP want the Society to submit another proposed contract. The Society's position is that negotiations should begin around the contract originally proposed last fall which was the occasion of the war. ASCAP leaders feel that if the radio people do not like the proposed contract, as is obviously the case, the obligation is theirs, not the Society's, to make alternative suggestions.

Tuesday a spokesman for ASCAP said the Society would accept any opportunity to negotiate with the broadcasters that "it is given a chance to" and added he did not think it would be necessary to prepare a provisional contract as requested by the radio interests.

A special ASCAP committee was giving attention to revision of the by-laws of the organization required by the consent decree signed on Tuesday of last week by Federal Judge Henry W. Goddard who signed the motion picture decree four months ago.

On Tuesday Mutual informed the National Association of Broadcasters that it would negotiate directly with ASCAP over terms of a new music contract. This was reported to be the first "break" in the radio industry's "united front" against the society.

Negotiation Offer Made

The day after the decree was signed, on Wednesday of last week, ASCAP made a formal offer to the National Association of Broadcasters to resume negotiations. It was reported the NAB would not accept that offer because it was not accompanied by any specific proposal. If discussions between the two groups do not begin shortly the Department of Justice is expected to step in and direct the negotiations.

A hearing was scheduled in Milwaukee this week at which the Society was to pay a fine reported at $24,000 and the criminal information filed by the Government was to be dismissed. Victor O. Waters, special assistant to the U. S. attorney general has been handling the case in Milwaukee for the Government. Judge F. Ryan Duffy was expected to hear the arguments.

Nebraska's anti-ASCAP law which is before the U. S. Supreme Court on an appeal by the state from a decision of the U. S. district court will probably be reviewed shortly, according to William J. Holtz, special prosecutor for the attorney general of Nebraska.

Mr. Holtz said this week he believed there was no relief in the music consent decree for the theatre, hotel or ballroom operator because they were still subject to "the whims" of ASCAP representatives.

It was pointed out that the district court had not objected to all the points in the Nebraska law which was passed in 1937 but had ruled that allowable portions were so interlocked with invasions of rights of individuals guaranteed by the constitution that the whole measure could be ruled "inoperative." Mr. Holtz said that if the law was not upheld by the Supreme Court indications might be had as to how far state legislatures could go in attempting to control ASCAP.

Hearings on the bill before the Supreme Court are now scheduled for the week of April 3rd. It was reported that a further appropriation would be necessary to finance the state of Nebraska's share of the expenses of the appeal.

Last week before a committee of the Massachusetts Legislature Louis Frohlich, counsel for the society, asserted that the National Broadcasting Company and the Columbia Broadcasting System were backing anti-ASCAP bills introduced in that legislature. The bill was also opposed by a representative of 20 radio stations in the state of Massachusetts.

SOUND FILMS FOR BROOKLYN SCHOOLS

The Board of Education, in Brooklyn, N. Y., has approved the purchase of 105 sound motion pictures for exhibition in the schools of that borough. Similar to the silent films that have been used, the sound films include subjects on art, aviation, economics, home-making, machine-shop practice, modern European history and the sciences.

A year ago the board approved the use of sound films in education, but considered those films available objectionable because they had musical scores instead of commentaries. The new subjects, all 16mm films, were approved by the board as available for selection by school principals.

Three Join Cinemasters

Bert Wilson has been named chief cutter and editor for Dick Hyland's and Arthur Leonard's Cinemasters Inc., producers of three-minute subjects for James Roosevelt's coin-in-the-slot films. John E. Graham has been named assistant director and casting head for the company and Don Malkames, chief cameraman.

Reorganize U.D.T. Publicity

The publicity department of United Detroit Theatres in Detroit, Mich., is being reorganized under Ralph Stitt, following the recent split of the circuit into three groups under supervisiors for each section of theatres.

Gann Purchases Comedy

Michael J. Gann has purchased the distribution rights of the feature-comedy "One Foggy Night," starring Zasu Pitts, which will be released through Musart Film Productions, Inc.

Musicals from Fox, Columbia for 1941-1942

Public demand for lighter film fare appears to have evoked quick response from major producers, with musicals and comedy dramas occupying a large proportion of the production schedules for 1941-42. Both Twentieth Century-Fox and Columbia this week announced extensive plans for musical product.

20th Century-Fox, with its current release of "That Night in Rio," color musical starring Alice Faye, Carmen Miranda, and Don Ameche, leads off the most extensive musical picture schedule ever undertaken by the company. A minimum of 12 major musicals are currently on the company's 1941-42 release plan.

"The Great American Broadcast," with a cast including Alice Faye, John Payne, Jack Oakie, and Cesar Romero is scheduled to follow "That Night in Rio." The picture is now in production under the direction of Archie Mayo. Another musical color film, "Miami," gets under way this week with a cast headed by Betty Grable, Don Ameche, Carol Landis, Charlotte Greenwood and Jack Haley. "Sun Valley," starring Sonja Henie with John Payne opposite her and Milton Berle and Joan Davis as the comedy team, will go before the cameras late in March. Other musical productions planned this year are "Song and Dance Man," starring Jack Oakie, and based on the George M. Cohan show, "Pearl Harbor," starring Betty Grable, and "Straight Left," with Alice Faye and John Payne.

Joseph M. Schenck, chairman of the board of 20th Century-Fox, in New York last week said that no biography or heavy drama has as yet been scheduled in the company's 1941-42 output. Comedy dramas will predominate, plus a dozen or more musicals, he said. No over-all production budget has been set, he indicated. Individual production budgets will be allocated as each picture is planned.

Ernst Lubitsch was signed by 20th Century-Fox on March 6th for a three-year producer-director contract. He will start production at Fox after completing one more picture for Sol Lesser for United Artists distribution.

Six Columbia Musicals

Columbia, with six musical comedies in production or preparation, is well in the van of demand for tune films. "Time Out for Rhythm," formerly titled "Show Business," was first before the Columbia cameras. Rudy Vallee, Ann Miller, Rosemary Lane, Allen Jenkins, Brenda and Cobina, Joan Merrill, Three Stooges, and Glen Gray and his Casa Loma orchestra are among stage and radio musicians in the cast. Sammy Cahn and Saul Chaplin have written seven songs for the picture. Sidney Salkow is directing and Le Roy Printz is supervising dance routines.

"Betty Coed" with Ruby Keeler, Harriet Hilliard, Ozzie Nelson and his band is also in production. Robert Andrews wrote the original story and screen play.

Cole Porter has written the songs for "He's My Uncle," musical treatment of life in the draft army. The screen play is by Earl Baldwin. Sam Bischoff will produce the picture. Mr. Porter is also writing music for "Eadie Was a Lady," first picture written by Gene Markey under his new long-term contract with Columbia. Kathryn Scola wrote the original. Markey is also preparing "But Beautiful" from a story by Everett Freeman.

"Pal Joey," current Broadway hit written by John O'Hara with music by Rogers and Hart, will be filmed by Columbia this summer.

Industry Support Spurs Greek War Relief Program

Plans for the amusement industry's participation in the Greek War Relief Drive reached the boom stage this week, according to Adolph Zukor, chairman of the industry committee. Over 6,000 theatres in every section of the country will participate in the drive during the week of March 25th, Mr. Zukor said, adding that he was "extremely gratified by the warm and spontaneous response of exhibitors."

Approximately 500 theatres will stage special midnight shows, augmenting their features with special stage programs. In the New York metropolitan area alone more than 50 theatres have announced special programs for the Greek cause. Other theatres will take lobby collections from March 25th to 30th, and distribute approximately 5,000,000 blue and white Greek War Relief buttons.

Music Hall Benefit

Leading the benefit performances is the midnight "Greek Festival for Freedom" to be staged at the Radio City Music Hall in New York on Friday March 28th. W. G. Van Schmus, managing director of the Music Hall and J. R. Vogel of Loew's are directing the program. Tickets, ranging from $1 to $10 have already been distributed to New York brokers and placed on sale at the Music Hall.

Melvyn Douglas, in a trailer produced by MGM for theatres participating in the Greek Relief Drive, sets forth the need for aid to Greek women and children. Scenes of civilian hardships, and military preparation behind the Greek lines are included in the 175 foot trailer. It will be distributed without cost by National Screen Service.

Mr. Zukor also reported that midnight shows were being planned in many other major cities. At Chicago the benefit is headed by Jules J. Rubens and John Balaban. In Minneapolis, John J. Friedl has arranged to have a special show featuring the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra; a big midnight show has been set at the Fox Theatre, Detroit; in Buffalo, Vincent McFaul is holding a gala show in Shea's Great Lakes Theatre; in Boston, M. J. Mullin has arranged a midnight show at the Metropolitan Theatre as well as 55 Special Midnight Shows throughout New England; in Oklahoma, the Griffith Amusement Company announced that they will hold 50 special shows; in the Pittsburgh area, 48 shows have been arranged under the direction of Harry Kalmine.

Greek Campaign in Field

Albany exhibitors at a meeting in the office of M. A. Silver, Warner zone official, laid plans to top their $15,000 Greek aid quota. More than 60 exhibitors met with Mr. Silver and his co-chairman, B. G. Kranze, of RKO. A midnight show with ten stage acts at Lou Golding's Palace will open the Albany drive on March 22nd.

A radio committee includes: Harold Smith of WOKO and WABY, Colin Hager, WGY, Scott Bowen, WIBX, and Bill Ripple, WTRY. Labor is represented by Andy Antoinette of the Albany Motion Picture Operators and Henry Harris of Stagehands' Local.

Among exhibitors at the Albany meeting were: William Benton, Benton Circuit, Saratoga; Chris Buckley, Bennington, Vt.; Ernie Dodds, Lake Placid; Sid Dwore, Schenectady; Harvey English, Hancock; Henry Frieder, Hudson; John Gardner, Schenectady; Louis R. Golding, Fabian district manager; Charles Gordon, Ithaca, Neil Hellman; Mike Kallet, Oneida; Alex Papayanakos, Canton; Jim Papayanakos; Sam Milberg, Watervliet; Walter Reade, Jr., Saratoga Springs; J. Meyer and Louis Schine, Gloversville; Bill Smalley, Cooperstown; Abe Stone; Leonard Rosenthal, Troy; Charles Wilson, Troy; John Yanakis, Potsdam; Alex Sayles, Al LaFlamme, Larry Cowan and Mel Conheim, Albany.

At Kansas City showmen under the leadership of R. F. Withers, Republic Branch manager, and J. R. Thompson, RKO, have completed plans for a midnight show at the downtown Midland to open the Greek campaign. Subsequent midnight galas will be held at the Isis and Oak Park, key neighborhood houses. Other houses will collect funds in the lobby and run the special Greek War Relief Drive trailer, Jerry Zigmond, Kansas City chairman, reported.

Sorority girls from the University of Cincinnati's Pan-Hellenic council have been enlisted by the Cincinnati Greek Drive committee to assist in a benefit preview at the RKO Grand on March 22nd. A major picture will get a special pre-release screening at the Cincinnati theatre. Advanced prices will be charged and girls from the campus sororities, wearing Greek peasant costumes, will usher. All proceeds will go to the Greek War Relief Association, along with funds collected in the lobbies of other local theatres.

More than 200 St. Louis and Southern Illinois theatres are participating in the Greek aid program, co-chairmen Harry C. Arthur, Jr., of Fanchon and Marco, and Maurice Schweitzer, Paramount exchange chief, announced. Girls, garbed in traditional Greek costumes, will solicit funds in local night clubs. Fred Wehrenberg, MPTOA president, aided by Morrie Davis, A. Pappas, Thomas James and Sam Schucart are directing the independent's midnight shows and lobby collections for the Greek Relief Association.

Goldwyn-UA Contract Settled; $300,000 Cash for Stock Reported

Purchase of Samuel Goldwyn's one-fifth share in United Artists Corporation and his release from an exclusive distrbution contract were announced at a U.A. directors' meeting in New York Tuesday. After three weeks of negotiation, punctuated by many rumors of new disputes between Mr. Goldwyn and the company, it was reported that Mr. Goldwyn would receive $300,000 cash for his stock in United Artists and full release from his distributing contract with that company. The pact had three more years to run. Under the settlement Mr. Goldwyn becomes a free agent with the right to release independently or through any distributor.

Uncollected foreign income, of which approximately $90,000 is due Mr. Goldwyn, was reportedly a major stumbling block in the discussions. It is understood that Mr. Goldwyn finally waived his claim in the interest of peace and quick freedom. Future plans have not been revealed by the former United Artists partner, although he is reported to be considering release agreements with several companies. Warners and Paramount are both reported to have offered an outlet for Goldwyn productions.

With Goldwyn stock repurchased by his former partners, it was reported that the one-fifth share held by the Douglas Fairbanks estate might also be purchased by the company. The Fairbanks estate, Mary Pickford, Charles Chaplin and Alexander Korda are the remaining owner members. At the time of Mr. Goldwyn's election to United Artists membership in 1927 the owner-members comprised Miss Pickford, Mr. Fairbanks, Norma Talmadge, Gloria Swanson, D. W. Griffith and Joseph M. Schenck.

Paramount - Kate Smith Tieup

Paramount has arranged a promotion campaign for four forthcoming films on Kate Smith's Friday evening hour over the Columbia Broadcasting System network. The promotion program calls for four successive Fridays, beginning March 28th. The films will be "Road to Zanzibar," "The Round-Up," "I Wanted Wings" and "Reaching for the Sun."

Pittsburgh's Variety Banquet Plans Set

The 14th annual Pittsburgh Variety Club annual banquet will be held November 2nd in that city, one day after the Pitt-Ohio State football game at the Pitt Stadium. C. J. Latta will be general chairman. C. C. Kellenberg is chief barker.

A tentative program for the National Variety Clubs convention in Atlantic City May 15th, 16th, and 17, has been set. Delegates and guests will register at the Traymore first day; officers and canvassmen will then meet, this to be followed by luncheon, and a fishing and boating party, with boxing and wrestling exhibitions that night. Business sessions will be on second day, followed by lobster dinner and a night club party. Final day, Saturday, will feature golf tournament in morning, boardwalk parade and pageant in afternoon, and banquet that night.

The Charlotte Variety Club opened Monday night.

New members of the Twin City Variety Club were inducted at a dinner meeting Monday evening at the Nicollet Hotel, Minneapolis.

The first social "get together" of the Boston Variety Club is to be held next Tuesday night at the Hotel Statler.

The Columbus tent was to hold a dinner Friday evening, with possibly Ohio's Governor and staff in attendance. Myron B. Gessaman is chairman of the affair.

Koliski Named Salesman

Charles Rich, Vitagraph branch manager in Cleveland, Ohio, has announced the appointment of Joe Koliski as city salesman, succeeding Joe Minsky, now serving in the Army.

Sottile Opens Albany Branch

Michael C. Sottile, operating a theatrical booking agency in Pittsfield, Mass., has opened a branch office in Albany, N. Y. H. L. Hickman of Albany is in charge.

DELAWARE KILLS 200 YEAR OLD BLUE LAW

Move Also Made in Michigan to Remove Old Sunday Statute from the State's Books

by GEORGE L. PATZER in Wilmington

After two years of waiting and weeks of wrangling in the State Legislature at Dover, repeal of Delaware's 200-year-old Sunday blue laws was voted last week by the General Assembly and only the signature of Governor Walter W. Bacon is needed before the antiquated statutes are wiped from the books and substituted by the liberal Sabbath bill passed by Senate and House last Friday.

The new liberal bill, introduced by Rep. Robert H. Richards, Jr., of Wilmington and adopted by the Senate 13-3 and House 18-16, is now before the Governor who was expected to sign the measure sometime this week. The new measure replaces the bill recently introduced by Senator Paul R. Rinard of Wilmington, which passed the Senate but was defeated in the House.

Attorney-General James R. Morford, whose strict enforcement drive of two weeks ago placed 493 persons in the state under arrest on charges of violating the ancient statutes, characterized the new bill as more liberal than the Rinard measure.

A highlight of the measure is that theatres and businesses in incorporated communities are given broad scope for operating unless city or town councils shall prohibit them. In rural, or unincorporated areas the new bill flatly prohibits movies or theatrical performances, public dancing and horse racing.

Sunday Hours Set

In incorporated communities movies, theatres, public dancing, auctions, horse racing are not unlawful between noon and 6 P.M., and from 8 P.M. to midnight.

Town councils have the power to regulate or prohibit any form of business other than those already mentioned before noon and between 6 P.M. and 8 P.M. The town councils also are given the right to prohibit or regulate "any worldly activity" between noon and 6 P.M., and from 8 P.M., to midnight.

Only 24 of the 493 persons arrested on Sunday, March 2, throughout the state in the wholesale roundup of blue laws enforcement, were fined. A total of 382 cases were dismissed and 87 dropped.

J. Gorman Walsh, manager of Wilmington radio stations WDEL and WILM, and Program Director Harvey Smith, were dismissed by Judge Henry Isaacs in the Municipal Court at Wilmington, when the judge ruled that the serving of news by either newspapers or radio was a necessity of the modern day world. Mr. Walsh and Mr. Smith were broadcasting sermons in Wilmington churches when they were taken into custody.

Michigan Repeal Sought

A repeal of the blue law which was put into effect in Michigan in 1864 is being sought by State Senator Ben Harrison in Detroit. The law, which prohibits being "present at any public diversion, show or entertainment," is considered a dead issue in the state but it is said by legal authorities to be effective in preventing the passage of blue law legislation by local municipalities and for that reason the Harrison bill may be sidetracked.

In Norfolk, Va., the blue law prohibiting the showing of motion pictures on Sunday will again be brought up for another of the innumerable tests that it has undergone in past years.

Contesting the legality of the law is Harl Wolever, who has been summoned to appear before a trial justice in Warwick County in connection with the Sunday operation of the recently opened Village theatre at Hilton Village. Until the case is settled, Mr. Wolever said there will be no Sunday showings. Mr. Wolever is district manager for Dominion Theatres.

A theatre admission tax proposal passed by the South Dakota Senate a few weeks ago, was killed last week when it reached the House on Wednesday, March 5th.

The bill proposed to place a tax of one cent on every admission, regardless of the scale. Revenue would be used for old age pensions.

A proposed three per cent sales tax which would have applied to amusement admissions and to virtually all other transactions in Indiana except the sales of food was dropped from consideration a few days prior to the ending of the Indiana General Assembly on Monday. The proposal had met strong opposition and did not reach the stage of being entered as a bill.

Before the ending of the session Assemblymen made amendments to bills calling for revision of the state gross income tax to reduce the levy from one per cent to one-half of one per cent for retailers, laundries and dry cleaners. The changes that were proposed did not apply directly to the motion picture industry.

Sunday night baseball games and ice hockey were made legal in a bill passed by both houses and signed by Governor Henry F. Schricker.

Indefinitely postponed by the Indiana General Assembly before its conclusion, was the licensing and state control of outdoor advertising, and also a bill which would have given Indianapolis daylight saving time. At present many northern Indiana cities have daylight saving, but the capital and central and southern Indiana generally have clung fast to standard time for many years.

The state of Mississippi has announced that the collection of taxes during February reached a new all-time high for that month at $35,027.24 compared with $30,090.12 collected during the same month in 1940.

New York Bills Proposed

A well-drafted bill to make it unlawful to refuse admission to theatres to anyone over 21 years of age, except for abusive conduct or language was introduced last week by Assemblyman Irwin D. Davidson, of New York City, and immediately commanded the attention of legislators meeting in Albany, N. Y.

The Davidson measure, an improvement over his bill in a previous session, similarly limits rejections, even with offer of ticket price refund, except for abusive or offensive conduct or speech. It adds to the civil rights law a section which gives adults the right to view theatre shows or performances providing they obtain and present their tickets at a reasonable time before the commencment of the stage show or during the operation of motion pictures.

Meanwhile, other discrimination bills came in for both praise and objection by the strong Citizens' Union of New York, a group which has much weight among metropolitan legislators. The Citizens' Union opposed Assemblyman W. T. Andrews's series of discrimination bills, this week introduced also by Senator Alex A. Falk.

However, three Burrows' measures introduced by the other Harlem Assemblyman were approved by the Union although mandatory suspension of theatre licenses for a month "seems a mistake, as it might be enough to put a concern out of business entirely." The Citizens' Union thought the bill, which applies to theatres, hotels and restaurants, should leave the first offense penalty discretionary with the court.

Meanwhile, New York motion picture exhibitors have been protesting to the legislators that air conditioning legislation will cause them excessive expense and the New York State Sheet Metal, Roofing and Air Conditioning Contractors upheld their point of view by also directing protests to the legislators. The air conditioning people claim the bill would cost New York business men $949,000 the first year in regulating installation and repair of air conditioning systems under the guise of setting up licensing of contractors to do the work. At present, exhibitors hire air conditioning concerns to handle the installation and repairs on a contract basis, usually by bid.

Child Bill Tested

Maryland exhibitors won a point recently against the child-adult admittance bill in an age-guessing contest staged by motion picture exhibitors who are opposing the bill which would divide films into two classifications—one for adults and one for children under 16 years old. The measure, sponsored by Senator Wilmer C. Carter, would impose a $5 fine on any exhibitor who admitted, either wilfully or by mistake a child under 16 to see a picture labelled "For Adults Only."

Five boys were produced at the hearing by exhibitors who demanded that the legislators try to guess their ages to illustrate the problem exhibitors would have to face if the bill was passed. All the guesses were wrong.

Reading, Pa., authorities are preparing a new ordinance regulating air-conditioning devices in theatres and other public buildings which use water from artesian wells instead of city water. An ordinance passed in 1939 was never put into effect and is to be replaced.

A bill which would authorize schools to show motion pictures of all sorts for educational purposes has been introduced in the California legislature by Assemblyman Alfred Robertson of Santa Barbara.

Illinois theatre companies organized under dummy names would be affected by a bill introduced in the Illinois Legislature by Representative John Ryan. The measure would prohibit companies from transacting business under assumed names. The names of the true owners of property would have to be filed with the county clerk.

RESORT MEN SEEK LABOR DAY CHANGE

A move, started early in January, to cause the New Jersey Legislature to change the date of Labor Day from the first Monday in September to the second Monday, gained impetus in the past few weeks as labor unions, chambers of commerce, motion picture exhibitors and the Travel Bureau of the Department of the Interior gave the move support. It was estimated the change would be worth at least a million dollars to the New Jersey resorts and indirectly benefit the local exhibitors. The customary date this year falls on September 1st.

T. A. Hughson, of the Hughfalk Amusement Company of Ocean Grove, N. J., operator of the Strand theatre in that city and originator of the plan in that territory, has secured the support of the Stagehands Union.

It wasn't nominated for an Academy Award, yet

"BLACKOUT" flares as an exhibitor's picture

that's consistently making money everywhere!

"top-line job!"—hollywood reporter • "exciting entertainment!"—motion picture daily • "skillful and convincing!"—daily variety • "knock-out melodrama!"—n. y. herald-tribune

"BLACKOUT" starring CONRAD VEIDT and VALERIE HOBSON • Released thru UNITED ARTISTS

FCC AUTHORIZES 'SUPER' TRANSMITTER FOR F-M

New Armstrong Station Will Serve 12,000,000 Audience; Others Compete in New York

Giving special recognition to the developer of radio's wide-band frequency modulation (FM), the Federal Communication Commission last week authorized Major Edwin H. Armstrong, radio inventor, to construct the first, and quite possibly the only "super" FM station, at his experimental transmitter at Alpine, N. J., where FM was demonstrated to be of commercial importance.

The new Armstrong FM station will operate on 43.1 mc. and serve 15,610 square miles, embracing more than 12,200,000 persons living in portions of New Jersey, New York, Connecticut and Pennsylvania, according to the FCC announcement.

Other FM stations recently authorized by the FCC were for the Moody Bible Institute in Chicago and the Stromberg-Carlson Telephone Manufacturing Company in Rochester, N. Y. Ten applications are now pending for the remaining four FM channels available for the New York metropolitan area.

Hollywood Application

The Columbia Broadcasting System has applied for an FM station in Hollywood, California, to cover an area of 20,560 square miles with an estimated population of 2,594,086.

The United Broadcasting Company has asked for permission to operate a FM station at Cleveland on 48.5 mc. to cover an area of 8,420 square miles with an estimated population of 1,314,595.

The FM station operated by WSM, Nashville, Tenn. and having the call letters W47NV, had the distinction last week of being the first of the new "staticless" stations to be allowed to broadcast sponsored programs The Standard Candy Company which also sponsored WSM's first commercial program 16 years years ago brought the first FM time.

This week W. G. H. Finch, president of Finch Telecommunications, Inc. of Passaic, N. J., announced the organization had been licensed by Major Armstrong to manufacture mobile FM communication and miscellaneous apparatus. The company also received permission from the FCC to operate an experimental facsimile station at the company's Bendix Airport laboratory at Bendix, N. J. The letters W2XAH were assigned and the station will use frequencies between 30 and 40 megacycles which are adjacent to FM channels and may use 1 kilowatt power.

Installation of FM equipment began this week at the headquarters of the King County Sheriff's office in Seattle where $17,500 will be spent on a 500-watt, two-way radio transmission system to provide direct communication with 14 automobiles used by the sheriff's office and with the headquarters in the County-City Building.

David Sarnoff, president of the Radio Corporation of America, announced last week the company would build, at Princeton, N. J., "the world's largest radio research laboratories." The new RCA Laboratories will be erected "to promote the growth of radio as an art and industry, and to meet the expanding demands of national defense." It was also said the new laboratories would facilitate the development of new radio products and services and help to take up the slack by providing new business and employment for the post-war period.

Otto S. Schairer will be vice-president in charge of RCA Laboratories; Ralph R. Beal, research director will head developmental activities and E. W. Engstrom will be director of the Princeton Laboratories.

The Mutual Broadcasting System announced that February gross billings totalled $442,157, an increase of 31 per cent over the same period last year. Total for the first two months of 1941 was $947,388, an increase of 44.6 over the first two months of 1940.

Pittsburgh Stage Grosses Increase

Boom-time boxoffices for four of the past five weeks at the Nixon, Pittsburgh's only legitimate theater, and bookings for at least seven more weeks this spring, indicate the season will finish as one of the more profitable during the past decade.

During February, "Tobacco Road" drew $19,000 at $1.65 top in nine performances, "Hellzapoppin" grossed $61,000 in two weeks at $3.30 top, and "The Male Animal" pulled $11,500 at $2.75. Extra matinees were given for "Road," which beat its last year's gross of $17,500, and for the Olsen-Johnson show. "The Male Animal" drew best in Washington on its current road tour, $20,000, writer-director-actor Elliott Nugent informed, before leaving the cast here to go to Hollywood where he will direct Bob Hope in "Nothing But the Truth," for Paramount. He will also direct "Animal" for Warner Bros. James Bell replaced Nugent in the stage cast.

Following "Night Must Fall" last week and the current "Blossom Time," the Nixon will present a return engagement of "The Man Who Came to Dinner," which grossed $40,000 in two weeks here a couple months ago, a return of "The Little Foxes" which premiered here two years ago, and "Twelfth Night" with Helen Hayes and Maurice Evans under American Theatre Society auspices. After a dark week, then comes "Cabin in the Sky" with Ethel Waters, the University of Pittsburgh annual Cap and Gown Show, and "DuBarry Was a Lady."

Raynor Joins P. R. C.

William T. Raynor, Jr., has been appointed west coast publicity representative of Producers Releasing Corporation. Mr. Raynor, who succeeds Eddie Graneman, resigned, was formerly with Monogram where he was pressbook editor.

IN NEWSREELS

MOVIETONE NEWS—No. 52, Vol. 23.—Ford scout cars under construction....Steel mills run at top speed....Warships for Free French....Troops salute Gen. Galway....RAF pre-training....Seventeen children in one family....Red Cross aids British....Sports.

MOVIETONE NEWS—No. 53, Vol. 23.—Battle of Tobruk....Churchill watches war drill....New cruiser launched in Britain....Menzies visits Australian Navy....Gas masks for U. S.....Naval reservists graduate....Camp hostesses signed....Sports.

NEWS OF THE DAY—No. 250, Vol. 12.—School boys train for RAF....Junior Red Cross aids London's children....Carnival in Rio....Buggies for Army....Fashions....Sports.

NEWS OF THE DAY—No. 251, Vol. 12.—Tobruk falls ....Churchill sees war games....Gas masks for U. S. ....Seattle black-out....James Farley returns from good-will tour....Fashions....Sports.

PARAMOUNT NEWS—No. 55.—Golden Glove bouts ....Connie Mack opens baseball season....Tokle breaks ski jump record....Trappers of Louisiana celebrate Christmas....Academy Awards....Science ....Search for lost child.

PARAMOUNT NEWS—No. 56.—Black-out in Seattle ....Drafttettes in Army....Wrecked seamen rescued ....Hitler satirized by art colony....Lend-lease bill passed....Films from Libya....Sports.

RKO PATHE NEWS—No. 55, Vol. 12.—Typical day in Sergeants life....Lord Baden-Powell buried in Africa....Ford combat cars tested....S.S. Rio De La Plata in service....Wallace addresses South American group....Rio Carnival....Chefs display art ....Seventeen children in family....Golden Gloves ....Sports.

RKO PATHE NEWS—No. 56, Vol. 12.—Lend-lease bill passed....Capture of Tobruk....Churchill sees war games....First Free France flag sails into U. S..... Government buys surplus fruit....Jackie Coogan's in the Army....Army hostesses drafted....Dog show in New York....Sports.

UNIVERSAL NEWSREEL—No. 960, Vol. 13.—Ford army cars tested....Navy graduates radio class.... Plane engines for RAF....Cargo ship launched.... Inventors show gadgets....British hold war games ....British Coast Guard busy....Auto race on ice ....Sports.

UNIVERSAL NEWSREEL—No. 961, Vol. 13.—Lease-lend bill passed....Indo-China bows to Japan.... Seattle tests black-out....Gas masks for U.S..... Hostesses drafted....Blizzard in Manhattan....Rescue ship's crew....Sports.

National Decency Legion Classifies Seven Films

Of the seven films classified by the National Legion of Decency in its listing for the current week two were found unobjectionable for general patronage, two were unobjectionable for adults, two were classified as objectionable in part and one was condemned. The pictures and their classifications follows:

Class A-1, Unobjectionable for General Patronage: "A Girl, a Guy and a Gob" and "Pirates on Horseback." Class A-2, Unobjectionable for Adults: "Missing Ten Days" and "Rage in Heaven." Class B, Objectionable in Part: "That Night in Rio" and "That Uncertain Feeling." Class C, Condemned: "Adolescence."

John Block Resigns

John Arthur Block has resigned as drama and motion picture editor and critic on the American Banker. Mr. Block will continue to review stage and films in a weekly program over a local radio station in New York which will be announced soon.

Metro Club Elects

The Metro Pep Club in New Haven, Conn., has elected new officers for the year. The officers are Rosemary Patterson, president; Molly Smith, vice-president; Anna Caparossi, treasurer, and Ethel Philips, secretary.

Rapper Promoted

Promoted to a directorship, Irving Rapper, Warner dialogue director, has been assigned to direct "Winged Victory."

THESE ARE THE ADS THAT ARE SELLING "ADAM HAD FOUR SONS" EVERYWHERE!

...ads that sell that rare thing... A REAL WOMAN'S PICTURE!

They're pulling 'em into...

- the Lafayette, BUFFALO
- the Fox, DETROIT
- the Earle and Ambassador (day and date) WASHINGTON
- the Pantages and HILL St. (day and date) LOS ANGELES
- the Lincoln, MIAMI BEACH
- the Bijou, SPRINGFIELD, Mass.
- the Malco, MEMPHIS
- the Palace, YOUNGSTOWN
- the Palace, CANTON

OBITUARIES

C. MacCulloch, Casting Head, Dies

Campbell MacCulloch, who resigned as head of Central Casting in Hollywood last year, died in that city on Friday, March 7th. Funeral services and burial took place Sunday.

Mr. MacCulloch was with the old Triangle motion picture company as a writer and later managed the New York office. He was brought to Hollywood 15 years ago by Louis B. Mayer as an efficiency expert, and later joined Universal in the same capacity.

In 1933 Mr. MacCulloch was appointed by President Roosevelt to organize the NRA in Los Angeles, and following its dissolution served as regional director of the National Labor Board. He was Central Casting head from 1934 to 1940.

Julian Eltinge

Julian Eltinge, known in this country and abroad as a leading female impersonator since 1907, died in New York Friday, March 7th, of a cerebral hemorrhage. He was 57 years old. Members of the Lambs Club to which Mr. Eltinge belonged, made the funeral arrangements in New York upon instructions from the actor's mother in Southern California.

William Otterbein

William Otterbein, 61, head of the American Stage Equipment Company of New York, died at his home on Sunday, March 9th of a cerebral hemorrhage. For some twenty years he was vice-president of the Peter Clark Co., in New York, which supplied stage equipment for the Radio City Music Hall, the Roxy theatre, the Brooklyn and New York Paramount theatres and the Center theatre. Surviving are his widow, four daughters and two sons.

Reese L. Wentzell

Reese L. Wentzell, 41, for many years a projectionist of Warner's Virginia theatre in Atlantic City, N. J., died March 5th, at his home in that city. He is survived by his wife, his father, a sister and two brothers.

William Hutchins

William Hutchins, operator of the State theatre in Corning, Ark., died February 28th. He is survived by his wife, a son, and two sisters.

Edwin Percival

Edwin Percival, 62, former Canadian theatre manager and uncle of Norma Shearer, died at his home near Santa Barbara, Cal., on March 4th.

Rufus A. Cooper

Rufus A. Cooper, 70, a retired motion picture theatre operator, banker and business man, died February 28th at his home in Statesville, N. C.

Alex Schulman

Alex Schulman, operator of the Best and Casino theatres in New Orleans, La., died March 3rd in that city. He was 51 years old. Surviving are two sons, Ernest and William Schulman who will continue operating the theatres, a daughter and two brothers.

B. F. Stapleton

B. F. Stapleton, 67, president of the Centre Amusement Company and connected with motion pictures for many years in Canada, died Sunday, March 9th, at his home in Ottawa. Mr. Stapleton was one of the organizers of First National Pictures in eastern Canada.

IN COURTS

Court Hears Arguments On Casanave Motions

Arguments were heard by Supreme Court Justice Mortimer B. Patterson in White Plains Monday on motions for consolidation of actions filed by Charles L. Casanave against officers of National Screen Service and against that company's subsidiaries, National Screen Accessories and American Display. Briefs were to be filed on the motions Tuesday and a decision was expected later in the week.

Hearings were set for March 17th on a motion by the defendants for a change of venue to New York where Herman Robbins and Toby Gruen, directors of National Screen Service, have filed an action against Mr. Casanave as vice-president and general manager of National Screen Accessories. Attorneys for the defendants were Joseph L. Hochman and Arthur B. Krim. Gustave Simons and William D. Cunningham appeared for Mr. Casanave.

The Casanave actions ask a declaratory judgment that his contract with National Screen Accessories and American Display is valid. The Robbins-Gruen action seeks an accounting of alleged secret profit made in a stock purchasing and manufacturing agreement between National Screen Accessories and American Display.

Levy Must Repay CBS

Isaac D. Levy, director of the Columbia Broadcasting System, has been ordered by Justice John Carewe of the New York supreme court to repay CBS $85,000 and interest after trial of a stockholders suit against CBS, its officers and its directors, brought by Henry G. Mason and Nat Gluck. The plaintiffs charged that Mr. Levy and his associates had participated in a transaction in which CBS had acquired the interest of the American Record Co. from Consolidated Film Industries, Inc.

ITOA Ruled Defendant

The Independent Theatre Owners Association was ruled as a proper defendant in a dispute involving its basic contract with Local 306 on Friday by Justice Aaron J. Levy in the New York supreme court in confirming an award against the People's Cinema, Inc., a Brooklyn theatre. The Cinema was ordered to employ only Local 306 men on the ground that it as a member of the ITOA was bound by their contract with the Local.

Court Decides Against Theatre in Injury Case

The superior court ruled "no error" recently in a personal injury case brought by a theatre patron against Poli-New England Theatres, Inc., and decided against the theatre company. The patron, Katherine Falso, fell in the Palace theatre in Hartford, Conn., one of the Loew-Poli chain.

The plaintiff claimed she entered the theatre and an usher informed her that seats were available in the right lower section. As she descended she claimed she could see the first and second step but not the third and smaller tread, plunged forward and sustained injuries. The lower court concluded the defendant had failed to employ reasonable care for the plaintiff's safety, in that it neglected to provide proper lighting for the steps.

Questioning in Warner Suit

Warner Brothers filed notice in the United States district court in New York Monday, that it will take testimony on Friday from Louis MacConnach, secretary of the National Broadcasting Company, in connection with Booth Tarkington's suit against Warners. The writer seeks damages of $100,000 and an injunction to restrain exhibition of "Penrod and His Twin Brother" on the ground that Warners used his literary property without authorization. The film company has entered a counter-claim. The film was released in 1938.

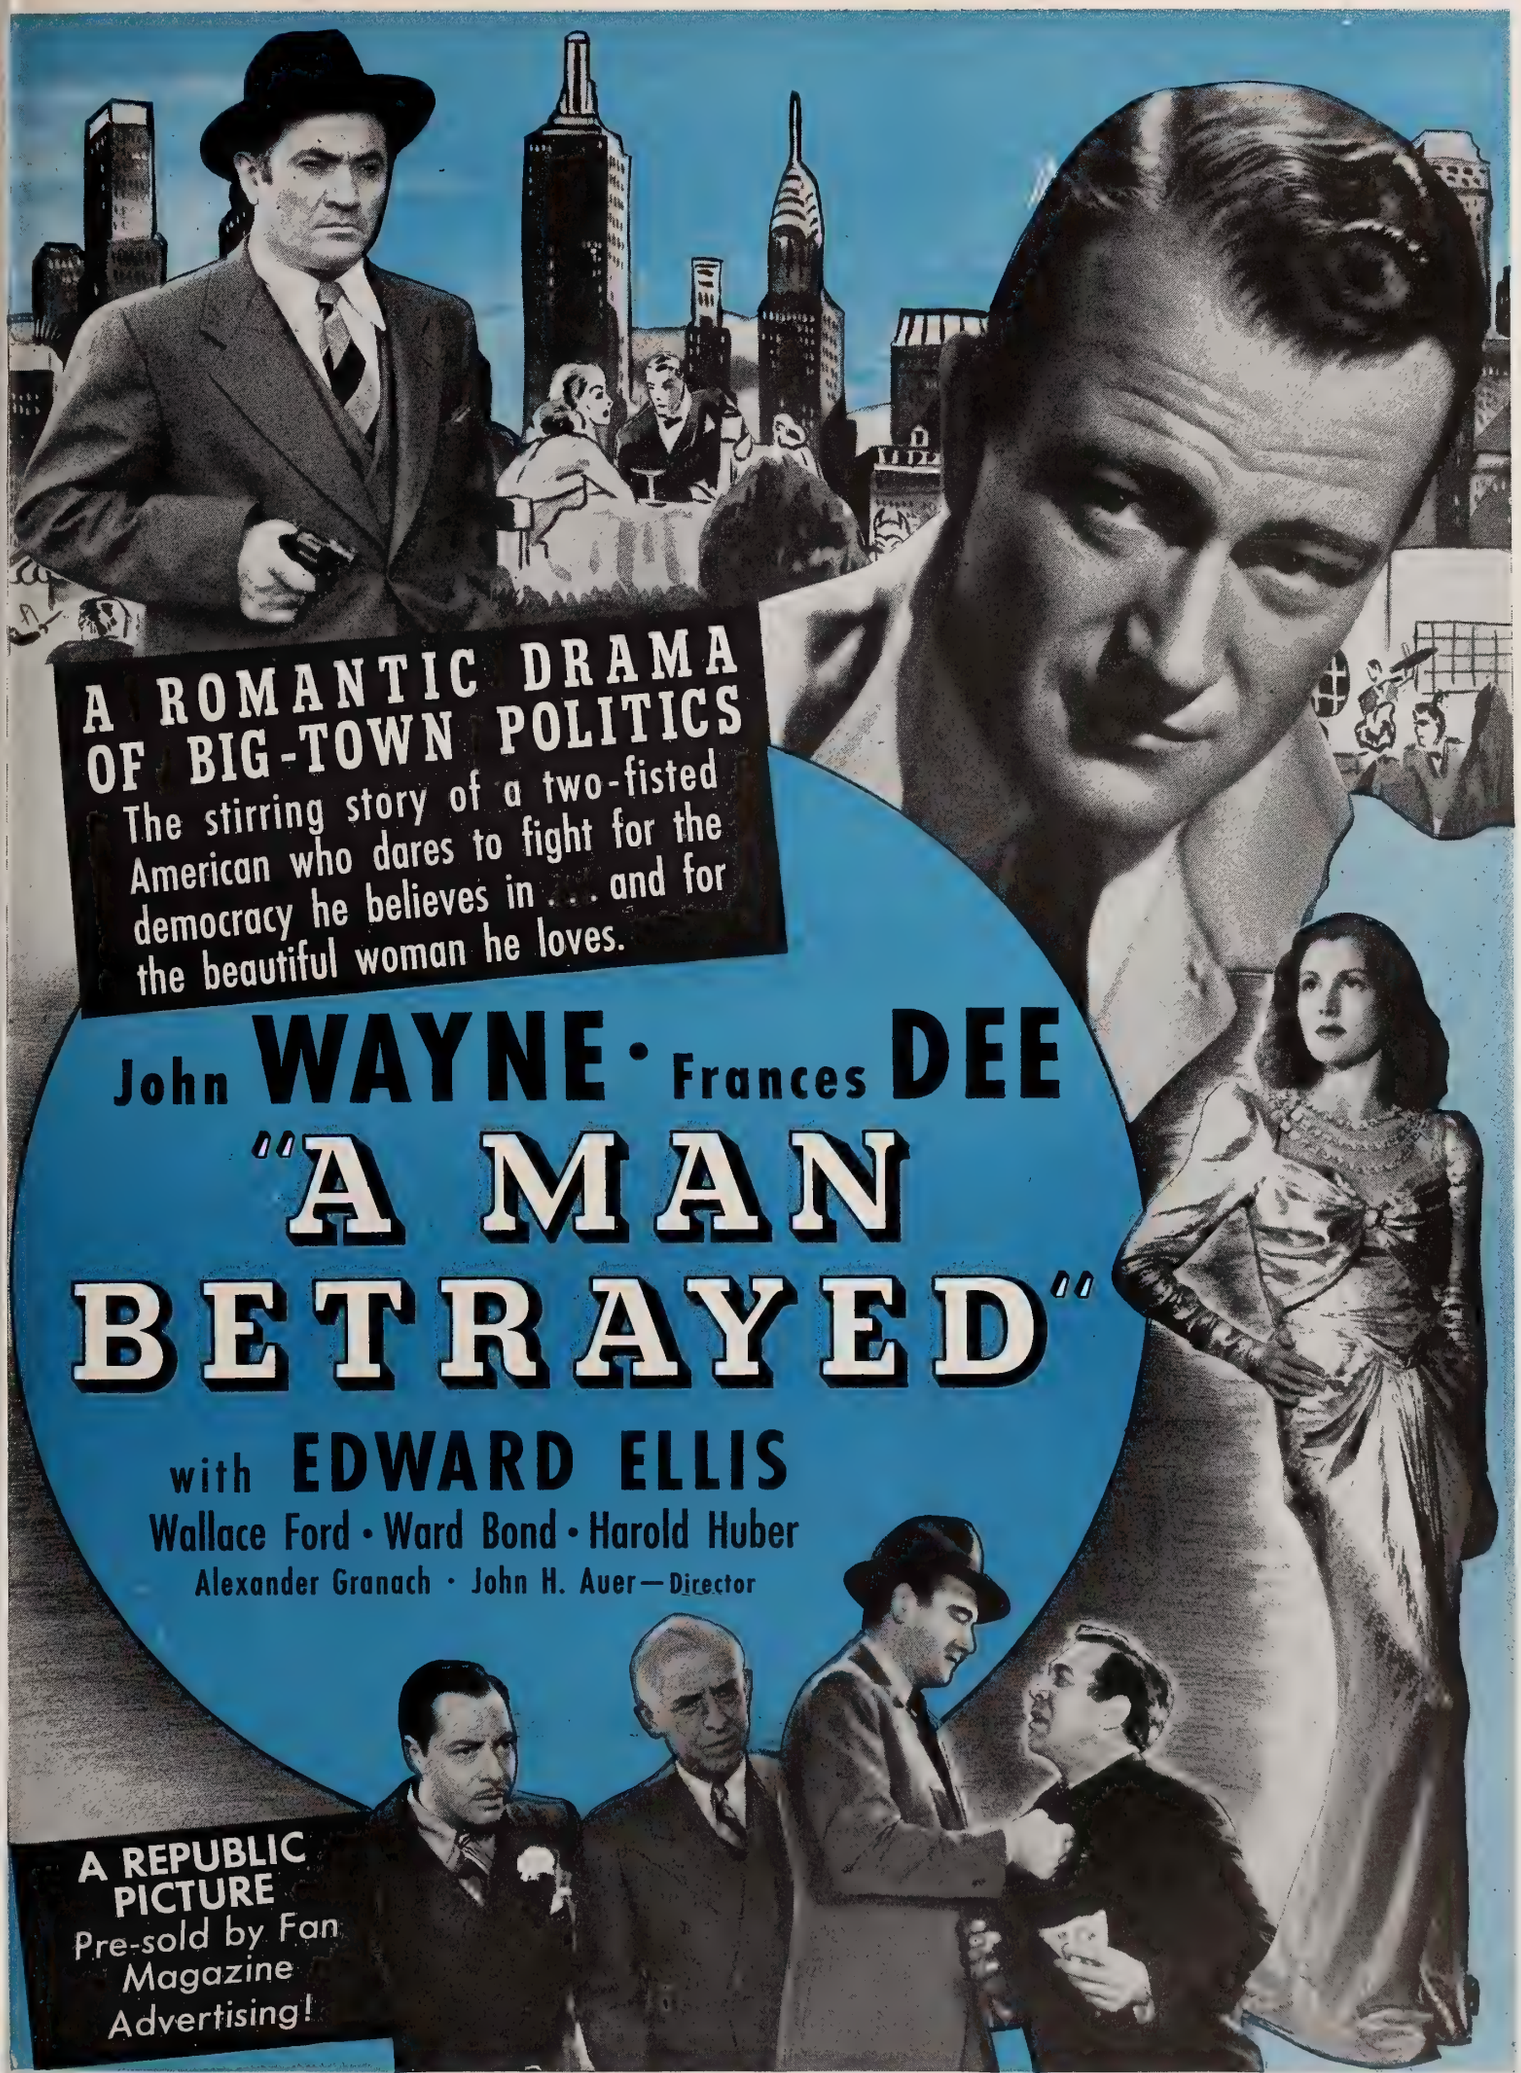
Carmen Case Reviewed

The Michigan supreme court will allow construction work on the Carmen theatre in Detroit to continue, modifying an earlier injunction by the circuit court. The theatre is practically completed and the owners intend to finish it, but cannot open for four years under the present injunction. The supreme court will review the entire case on April 15th, but no decision is expected until May.

Cliff Edwards Bankrupt

Cliff Edwards, also known as Ukulele Ike on the stage, screen and radio, has filed a voluntary bankruptcy petition in the United States court claiming his liabilities totaled $25,859 and his assets $460 in personal property including two ukuleles worth $10.

Settle Tax Claim



The Government has agreed to settle an income tax claim against the estate of the late Marlyn Miller for $20,000, after demanding $57,164 on 1930 and 1931 income. Miss Miller died in 1936, leaving an estate estimated at $91,539.

New Hampshire Report

During the past year, 72,976 pupils in New Hampshire schools viewed educational films, the state's visual educational department has reported. It was added, in the report, that more than one half of the state's secondary schools have projection machines.

O'Brien Joins Law Firm

Vincent O'Brien, Chicago attorney for Warner Brothers, is now a member of the law firm of Defrees, Buckingham, Fiske & O'Brien.

A ROMANTIC DRAMA OF BIG-TOWN POLITICS
The stirring story of a two-fisted American who dares to fight for the democracy he believes in . . . and for the beautiful woman he loves.
John WAYNE • Frances DEE
"A MAN BETRAYED"
with EDWARD ELLIS
Wallace Ford • Ward Bond • Harold Huber
Alexander Granach • John H. Auer—Director
A REPUBLIC PICTURE
Pre-sold by Fan Magazine Advertising!

WHAT THE PICTURE DID FOR ME

IN this, the exhibitors' own department, the theatremen of the nation serve one another with information on the box-office performance of product for their mutual benefit. It is a service of the exhibitor for the exhibitor. Address all communications to—
What the Picture Did for Me
Rockefeller Center, New York
MOTION PICTURE HERALD

Columbia

ANGELS OVER BROADWAY: Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., Rita Hayworth, Thomas Mitchell—This didn't click here. If it hadn't been for Photo Nite, I'm afraid it wouldn't have made us very happy.—Harland Rankin, Plaza Theatre, Tilbury, Ontario, Can. General patronage.

ESCAPE TO GLORY: Pat O'Brien, Constance Bennett—Even Pat O'Brien couldn't save this picture, and his acting gives the impression that he realizes it's all in vain. Too bad to waste such a fine actor in a picture with so few opportunities, especially after his build-up in "Knute Rockne." "Escape to Glory" has a few exciting moments, but on the whole, it is film wasted, and with an oversupply of such pictures, dealing with the present crisis in Europe, the result is none too pleasant. Why make pictures on this theme, expecting people to laugh at them, or expecting people to be entertained by seeing the worst side? Our box office certainly suffered on this picture and, I might add, the pain was excruciating! Running time, 74 minutes. Played February 19-20.— Mrs. W. A. Wight, Rex Theatre, Konawa, Okla. Small town and rural patronage.

MAN FROM TUMBLEWEEDS, THE: Bill Elliott, Iris Meredith, Dub Taylor—A western picture with a real modern tang to it that pleased most of our customers, we hope. Played with RKO Newsreel and a Phantasies Cartoon, "Man of Tin." Running time, 59 minutes. Played February 28-March 1.—W. J. Overstreet, Florida State Prison, Raiford, Fla. Prison patronage.

TOO MANY HUSBANDS: Jean Arthur, Melvyn Douglas, Fred MacMurray—This picture is really a scream. Columbia didn't carry this picture out too long for me. Patrons enjoyed all the way through. Business so-so. Running time, 84 minutes. Played February 16-19.—C. S. Caporal, Bison Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. General and neighborhood patronage.

TWO FISTED RANGERS: Charles Starrett, Lorna Gray, Sons of the Pioneers—Satisfactory western for a dual bill.—Harland Rankin, Plaza Theatre, Tilbury, Ontario, Can. General patronage.

First National

ANGEL FROM TEXAS, AN: Eddie Albert, Rosemary Lane, Wayne Morris, Jane Wyman, Ronald Reagan—The stars of "Brother Rat" pictures concocted a story that was tops. Hilarious comedy with a good romantic story running throughout the picture. Went over very well here. Played with RKO newsreel and a Merrie Melodies comedy entitled "Tom Thumb in Trouble." Running time, 71 minutes. Played February 24-25.—W. J. Overstreet, Florida State Prison, Raiford, Fla. Prison patronage.

FOUR MOTHERS: Lane Sisters, Gale Page, Jeffrey Lynn, Claude Rains—Good picture which failed to draw. Men and children were not interested. Running time, 86 minutes. Played February 23.—E. M. Freiburger, Paramount Theatre, Dewey, Okla. Small town patronage.

LETTER, THE: Bette Davis, Herbert Marshall—Many good comments. Fine production. Running time, 96 minutes.—E. H. Malone, Alma Theatre, Alma, Wis. General patronage.

LETTER, THE: Bette Davis, Herbert Marshall—Not a small town picture. It pleases the women but not the men. Business way below average here. Running time, 97 minutes. Played February 16-18.—K. A. Spears, Roxy Theatre, Winlock, Wash. Rural patronage.

NO TIME FOR COMEDY: James Stewart, Rosalind Russell—A good cast wasted on a silly story with failure at the box office.—R. C. Metzger, Ritz Theatre, Winner, S. D. General patronage.

SANTA FE TRAIL: Errol Flynn, Olivia de Havilland, Raymond Massey, Ronald Reagan—I don't believe any exhibitor could ask for a better picture than "Santa Fe Trail." Small town will find it has all the elements for entertainment, and bring extra business to the theatre. Errol Flynn and Olivia de Havilland are swell, but the neatest bit of acting seen on the screen in many a day, is Raymond Massey's portrayal of John Brown. Few of these glorified historical westerns can boast of a better supporting cast throughout and it's a down-to-earth picture everyone understands, with enough action in it to leave any audience thrillingly entertained. Too bad we had to battle the elements on this engagement, but with so much snow, sleet and rain, the rural patronage couldn't wade through the mud which, of course, is their misfortune and our hard luck. Running time, 110 minutes. Played February 23-25.—Mrs. W. A. Wight, Rex Theatre, Konawa, Okla. Small town and rural patronage.

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer

ANDY HARDY MEETS DEBUTANTE: Lewis Stone, Mickey Rooney, Judy Garland, Ann Rutherford —My patrons were rather disappointed in this one. Chiefly a Rooney show. Why not give his sister in the Hardy family, a very charming girl, some love in her life, and a better break? Judy Garland and her singing helped the show immensely, but very little of it. Running time, 86 minutes. Played February 22.—A. L. Dove, Bengough Theatre, Bengough, Saskatchewan, Canada. Small town and rural patronage.

COMRADE X: Clark Gable, Hedy Lamarr, Felix Bressert, Eve Arden—Here is another of those pictures dealing with the European crisis, a burlesque on Russia, and the foreign angle and subtle wit will go over the heads of most small town audiences. Some of our patrons voiced their objections to Hedy Lamarr obviously imitating Garbo in "Ninotchka." I am of the opinion that this selling point of the producers seeped into the picture too strongly for her own good. Felix Bressart is a fine character actor, but much too over-done in this picture. Our patrons like Clark Gable, and we exhibited this picture so close on the heels of "Gone with the Wind" our extra receipts were due to this circumstance. "Comrade X" is weak story material for Gable, after such a fine action picture as "Boom Town." Running time, 88 minutes. Played February 16-18.—Mrs. W. A. Wight, Rex Theatre, Konawa, Okla. Small town and rural patronage.

DULCY: Ann Sothern, Ian Hunter, Roland Young, Billie Burke—Cockeyed all the way through but everybody enjoyed it. Played February 5-6.—E. H. Malone, Alma Theatre, Alma, Wis. General patronage.

DULCY: Ann Sothern, Ian Hunter—Metro missed on this one. Did not satisfy.—C. L. Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. General patronage.

ESCAPE: Norma Shearer, Robert Taylor, Nazimova —They don't come any better than this one. Excellent. Best business in two months. Running time, 104 minutes. Played February 23-25.—E. H. Malone, Alma Theatre, Alma, Wis. General patronage.

FLIGHT COMMAND: Robert Taylor, Ruth Hussey, Walter Pidgeon—What could be sweeter than an aeroplane action-type picture, at the present time, made with the help of the United States Navy, with a good story and a swell cast? Any audience classification will find swell entertainment in "Flight Command." Give our people more pictures about the good old U. S. A. Running time, 115 minutes. Played February 12-13.—Mrs. W. A. Wight, Rex Theatre, Konawa, Okla. Small town and rural patronage.

GALLANT SONS: Jackie Cooper, Bonita Granville, Gene Reynolds, Gail Patrick—Hardly worth running. —R. C. Metzger, Ritz Theatre, Winner, S. D. General patronage.

GONE WITH THE WIND: Clark Gable, Vivien Leigh, Leslie Howard, Olivia de Havilland—Our box office blues were certainly "Gone With the Wind" on this engagement. We ran it on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, with very gratifying results. The small town exhibitor will do business on this. It's like the old-fashioned fruit cake, better when it gets older, at least better for the small towns. It is almost phenomenal the amount of people who will see this picture twice, and tell you they enjoyed it more the second time. There has been so much advance publicity, it will bring out people who never saw a picture in their lives, and the rural trade will go for it for this same reason. One of our rural native young men robbed the henhouse and walked five miles to town, with enough eggs to sell to buy a ticket to see "Gone With the Wind" on the matinee. He was so proud of himself, he told us he never went to shows very much, but he had "heerd" so much about it, his curiosity got him down. He didn't know who the stars were, or what the story was about. In my opinion, there will never be anything like it. Running time, 228 minutes. Played February 9-11.—Mrs. W. A. Wight, Rex Theatre, Konawa, Okla. Small town and rural patronage.

HULLABALOO: Frank Morgan, Billie Burke—Just got by. No strength or draw.—C. L. Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. General patronage.

YOUNG TOM EDISON: Mickey Rooney, Fay Bainter, George Bancroft, Virginia Weidler—Mickey portrayed the life of Tom Edison and the scenes of the picture followed very closely the true life of Mr. Edison. Played with "March of Time,"—"Gateways to Panama"—and an "Our Gang" comedy. "Captain Spanky's Showboat." Running time, 85 minutes. Played February 7-8.—W. J. Overstreet, Florida State Prison, Raiford, Fla. Prison patronage.

Paramount

ARISE, MY LOVE: Claudette Colbert, Ray Milland, Walter Abel—With this picture you get the tail with the hide. You get a title with a small-pox sign attached to it that will drive them away and keep them from coming in. A fair picture with a deadly title resulting in poor business. Will get by on Bank Nite.—R. C. Metzger, Ritz Theatre, Winner, S. D. General patronage.

I WANT A DIVORCE: Joan Blondell, Dick Powell, Gloria Dickson, Frank Fay—Fairly good picture that failed to get business. Two former stars trying to come back. No good at the box office.—R. C. Metzger, Ritz Theatre, Winner, S. D.—General patronage.

RANGERS OF FORTUNE: Fred MacMurray, Patricia Morison, Gilbert Roland, Betty Brewer—A western with no cowboys and too long to double bill. A combination of talent and title that never works and gets poor business and dissatisfaction.—R. C. Metzger, Ritz Theatre, Winner, S. D. General patronage.

RHYTHM ON THE RIVER: Bing Crosby, Mary Martin, Basil Rathbone, Oscar Levant—One of the company's so-called specials. The only thing special about it was the price. Paramount has no box office stars and people nowadays want them.—R. C. Metzger, Ritz Theatre, Winner, S. D. General patronage.

TEXAS RANGERS RIDE AGAIN: John Howard, Ellen Drew, May Robson—A very good western but belongs in the low allocation as a good western is a good western and you can not change its spots.—C. L. Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. General patronage.

RKO Radio

CONVOY: Clive Brooks, John Clements, Judy Campbell, Edward Chapman—Best of the English pictures. Pleased those that saw it but no box office. —C. L. Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. General patronage.

IRENE: Anna Neagle, Ray Milland, Roland Young, May Robson—Our advance information about this picture was correct to the very last detail. It was the type of picture that had something in it to please everybody. Played with RKO newsreel and Leon Errol Comedy, "The Wrong Room." Running time, 101 minutes. Played February 15-16.—W. J. Overstreet, Florida State Prison, Raiford, Fla. Prison patronage.

KITTY FOYLE: Ginger Rogers, Dennis Morgan—Excellent picture. Think this will be box office everywhere. Attendance off due to cold weather. Running

(Continued on page 62)

2600 years ago Democracy was born in Greece. For 2600 years the Greeks have kept its flame alive. Today they are fighting to preserve it. Democracy must not die. They want it to live and grow— as much as we do.

That's why we must not let them down. We must give them the allies they so desperately need; the pennies, dimes and dollars which are as important as soldiers.

Adolph Zukor has called upon us in the Amusement Industry to rally to the support of the women and children of Greece— to help — as best we can — the husbands and fathers who are so gallantly struggling.

We are therefore asking for every exhibitor's cooperation in staging special midnight shows, and in making theatre and lobby collections. The campaign is on at this moment and will reach its peak with Greek War Relief Week, March 25th - 30th.

As National Chairman of the Distributors' Committee, I earnestly request the aid of our entire Industry. Today — right now — get in touch with any branch manager or film salesman. He'll tell you what you can do to help.

Remember, the Greeks' fight is our fight!

Gradwell L. Sears

Chairman, Distributors' Committee,
Greek War Relief Association.

time, 104 minutes. Played February 16-18.—E. H. Malone, Alma Theatre, Alma, Wis. General patronage.

KITTY FOYLE: Ginger Rogers, Dennis Morgan, James Craig—A grand picture to good business.—C. L. Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. General patronage.

KITTY FOYLE: Ginger Rogers, Dennis Morgan—A real treat, in fact, one of the best in some time. Primarily it is a woman's picture, but the men like it too. Give it your best playing time. Box office results here were good. Running time, 106 minutes. Played February 23-25.—K. A. Spears, Roxy Theatre, Winlock, Wash. Rural patronage.

LADDIE: Tim Holt, Virginia Gilmore, Joan Carroll—Excellent picture; everybody satisfied. Running time, 70 minutes. Played February 12-13.—E. H. Malone, Alma Theatre, Alma, Wis.—General patronage.

NO, NO, NANETTE: Anna Neagle, Richard Carlson, Victor Mature, Roland Young—Not a bad picture. Too many flashbacks; audience did not understand it. Consequently, no business. Played January 26-28.—E. H. Malone, Alma Theatre, Alma, Wis. General patronage.

NURSE EDITH CAVELL: Anna Neagle, Edna May Oliver, May Robson, Zasu Pitts, George Sanders —Good picture but Anna Neagle always talks in a whisper. Carried out too long. Played with "Sandy Is a Lady." Fair business. Running time, 99 minutes. Played February 27-March 1.—C. S. Caporal, Bison Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. General and neighborhood patronage.

REMEDY FOR RICHES: Jean Hersholt, Edgar Kennedy—Well received on a dual bill with Charles Starrett western.—Harland Rankin, Plaza Theatre, Tilbury, Ontario, Can. General patronage.

TOO MANY GIRLS: Lucille Ball, Richard Carlson, Ann Miller, Desi Arnaz—College story, college background. Makes us think the Indians were civilized instead of the white people. Played February 19-20.—E. H. Malone, Alma Theatre, Alma, Wis. General patronage.

20th Century-Fox

MARK OF ZORRO, THE: Tyrone Power, Linda Darnell—Excellent picture that just grossed the film rental. Costume pictures ancient history in small towns.—C. L. Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. General patronage.

TIN PAN ALLEY: Alice Faye, Betty Grable, Jack Oakie, John Payne—A pip. This will please everyone. Not a dull moment. Give it your best time. Box office results here satisfactory. Running time, 94 minutes. Played February 20-22.—K. A. Spears, Roxy Theatre, Winlock, Wash. Rural patronage.

Service that snaps into ACTION!

When you want tickets in a hurry—and these are times when you do—call on GLOBE. With offices and factories located in principal cities throughout the country, your requirements will be handled promptly and efficiently.

GLOBE Roll or Machine Tickets and Coupon books are produced under exacting standards. Their accuracy is GUARANTEED. For prices, full information or consultation with your nearest representative, contact the head office—110 N. 12th St., Phila. Pa.

GLOBE TICKET COMPANY
A Nation-Wide Service

TWO CONTRIBUTORS JOIN DEPARTMENT

Two new contributors report this week to the What the Picture Did for Me department, and one has resumed reporting after a lapse of some months. The new members are:

C. S. CAPORAL, Bison Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla.

FLOYD B. PEEK, Main Theatre, Stonewall, Okla.

The prodigal contributor whose reports have been missing for some time is:

K. A. SPEARS, Roxy Theatre, Winlock, Wash.

Read the reports on pictures from these and other contributors in the adjoining columns.

United Artists

OUR TOWN: William Holden, Martha Scott, Fay Bainter, Beulah Bondi, Thomas Mitchell—Someone should explain how a picture like this ever got picked as one of the best ten of the year.—R. C. Metzger, Ritz Theatre, Winner, S. D. General patronage.

Universal

BACK STREET: Charles Boyer, Margaret Sullavan, Richard Carlson, Frank McHugh, Tim Holt—"Back Street," faultlessly played and with Richard Carlson, Frank McHugh, Tim Holt, et al., as good as the best in their several parts. Running time, 89 minutes. Played February 26-March 2.—William Noble. Criterion Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. General patronage.

BUCK PRIVATES: Bud Abbott, Lou Costello, Lew Bowman, Andrew Sisters, Alan Curtis, Jane Frazee, Nat Pendleton—The Buck Privates didn't remain privates, but merged into shavetails (2nd Lieutenants). The raw recruits, thinking they were entering a picture show, are enlisted before they know it. The Andrew Sisters in songs and dance, Lee Bowman, Alan Curtis, Jane Frazee, Nat Pendleton, all capable performers, make up one of the funniest pictures seen in a long time. Running time, 84 minutes. Played February 19-25.—William Noble, Criterion Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. General patronage.

LITTLE BIT OF HEAVEN, A: Gloria Jean, Robert Stack, Hugh Herbert, Nan Grey—A real sweet picture that should do business anywhere, but for some unknown reason, business was very poor with us.—Harland Rankin, Plaza Theatre, Tilbury, Ontario, Can. General patronage.

SANDY IS A LADY: Baby Sandy, Nan Grey, Tom Brown, Eugene Pallette, Edgar Kennedy—Played with "Nurse Edith Cavell." Fair business. Played February 27-March 1.—C. S. Caporal, Bison Theatre, Oklahoma City. Okla. General and neighborhood patronage.

TRAIL OF THE VIGILANTES: Franchot Tone, Warren William, Andy Devine, Mischa Auer—Best picture of its kind we have played in many months. Running time, 75 minutes. Played February 14-15.—E. H. Malone, Alma Theatre, Alma, Wis. General patronage.

Warner Brothers

FIGHTING 69TH, THE: James Cagney, Pat O'Brien, George Brent, Jeffrey Lynn, Alan Hale, Frank McHugh, Dennis Morgan—This picture would be better if there was more action to it. Very exciting in parts. Good acting by all stars. Would suggest this picture be played for a Thursday-Friday-Saturday program instead of a Sunday. Running time, 90 minutes. Played February 23-26.—C. S. Caporal, Bison Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. General and neighborhood patronage.

HERE COMES THE NAVY (REISSUE): James Cagney, Pat O'Brien, Gloria Stuart—Good picture to above average business. We played it February 9-11 had "North West Mounted Police" the following three days with two out-of-town checkers and the grosses on "Here Comes the Navy" beat "N. W. M. P." a great deal. If you're in a rural town, that isn't too fashion-conscious, by all means, play it. If you're in a country town that is fashion conscious, I'd still play it, because you will do above average business on it, as a navy picture is very timely now. Running time, 86 minutes. Played February 9-11.—Floyd B. Peek, Main Theatre, Stonewall, Okla. Small town and rural patronage.

HIGH SIERRA: Ida Lupino, Humphrey Bogart—No man ever reached greater heights to wait for death than did Humphrey Bogart ("Roy Earle"). What turned a good man with a kind heart into a robber, a murderer? "Fate." He wanted love and received love but from the wrong woman. Yet the wrong woman, Ida Lupino, loved him desperately and through thick and thin and would have made him the best love that could have been achieved in a life time had conditions been different. Lupino and Bogart were seen at their very best and each to date have reached their greatest roles. The support was excellent and the picture superb in acting and beautiful photography combined will appeal to each and every person seeing it, will want to see it on a return date on some future date. Running time, 107 minutes. Played February 27-March 5.—William Noble, Midwest Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. General patronage.

SEA HAWK, THE: Errol Flynn, Brenda Marshall, Claude Rains, Donald Crisp—This sea story of the time of good Queen Elizabeth savours of something of the present day for this Empire mastery of the sea. Good show for Canadian theatres. Packed with action and a very good cast. Would recommend this. Running time, 128 minutes. Played February 27.—A. L. Dove, Bengough Theatre, Bengough, Saskatchewan, Can. Small town and rural patronage.

Short Features

Columbia

COMMUNITY SING: No. 1—Real good. Our folks don't seem to like them, only sing crazily.—Harland Rankin, Plaza Theatre, Tilbury, Ontario, Can. General patronage.

MONEY SQUAWKS: Andy Clyde—This short even beat the Stooges. Andy Clyde really made one when he made this one.—C. S. Caporal, Bison Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. General and neighborhood patronage.

OH, YOU NAZTY SPY: Three Stooges—Columbia couldn't do better. This picture is a scream from start to finish. These Stooges just can't be beat.—C. S. Caporal, Bison Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. General and neighborhood patronage.

OILY TO BED, OILY TO RISE: Three Stooges—Had the audience in the aisles with this. Moe's slapping Curly and Larry around is getting a little old but the people still like it so I'm satisfied.—C. S. Caporal, Bison Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. General and neighborhood patronage.

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer

MRS. LADYBUG: Technicolor Cartoons—Another excellent colored cartoon from Metro. This series becoming one of the best colored cartoons in the market.—C. L. Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. General patronage.

NIGHT DESCENDS ON TREASURE ISLAND: FitzPatrick Traveltalk—Very good colored single reel of the San Francisco Fair. Running time, 8 minutes. —A. L. Dove, Bengough Theatre, Bengough, Saskatchewan, Can. Small town and rural patronage.

PENNY TO THE RESCUE: Pete Smith Specialties—A mighty struggle for supremacy and Penny was on the job and a right good job she does. Excellent.—William Noble, Midwest Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. General patronage.

YOU, THE PEOPLE: Crime Does Not Pay Series —Another excellent crime reel. This one especially strong on the idea of voting.—C. L. Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. General patronage.

Paramount

HUMAN FISH: Grantland Rice Sportlights—Real good.—Harland Rankin, Plaza Theatre, Tilbury, Ontario, Can. General patronage.

MOMENTS OF CHARM OF 1941: Phil Spitalny All Girl Orchestra—Very good, but not up to the previous "Moment of Charm" short. Color is beautiful. —Fred C. Allen, Piedmont Theatre, Piedmont, Ala. Small town patronage.

MOMMY LOVES PUPPY: Animated Antics—Very cute. Should have been in color. Running time, nine minutes.—Fred C. Allen, Piedmont Theatre, Piedmont, Ala. Small town patronage.

MOMMY LOVE PUPPY: Animated Antics—Impossible.—C. L. Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. General patronage.

MOTORCYCLE STUNTING: Grandland Rice Sportlights—All seeing this picture will like it. Trick riding very pleasing to see and all the rides, of course, far above the average. Running time, seven minutes.—William Noble, Criterion Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. General patronage.

PARAMOUNT NEWS: No. 50—Patrol bombers take off for Britain; American pilots arrive home on a British liner; Seattle airplane workers see bombers in flight; Hopkins back from Britain; "veiled mothers" protest Lend-Lease bill; Windsors see tennis match; ice boating at Mt. Clemens, Mich.; Frank Leahy new football coach at Notre Dame; New York A.C. games; girls in wrestling match. Running time, 10 minutes. —William Noble, Criterion Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. General patronage.

UNUSUAL OCCUPATIONS: No. 6—One of the finest colored shorts on the market.—C. L. Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. General patronage.

RKO Radio

CLOCK CLEANERS, THE: Walt Disney Cartoons —This is one of Walt Disney's best. "Donald Duck" and "Goofy" have been stealing the show from Mickey Mouse for quite a while now. Audience well pleased.—C. S. Caporal, Bison Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. General and neighborhood patronage.

GROWING UP: Dionne Quintuplets—Played with "Dulcy" to standing room only. Advertise it and play it. Running time, 20 minutes.—E. H. Malone, Alma Theatre, Alma, Wis. General patronage.

INFORMATION PLEASE SERIES: Very good. Well received.—Harland Rankin, Plaza Theatre, Tilbury, Ontario, Can. General patronage.

PANTRY PIRATE: Walt Disney Cartoons—"Pluto slipped out of his rope necktie and his frantic efforts as usual ended disastrously. Running time, eight minutes.—William Noble, Criterion Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. General patronage.

POWER AND THE LAND: This government film distributed by RKO is a fine plug for rural electrification. You who are in farming areas would not go wrong by dating this. I ran it as an assembly program for the agricultural college section of Alfred University and they praised it highly. Running time, 36 minutes.—W. Varick Nevins III, Alfred Co-Op Theatre, Alfred, N. Y. Small college town and rural patronage.

Twentieth Century-Fox

MOVIETONE NEWS: No. 47, Vol. 23—Hopkins back from Britain; Winant new envoy to Britain; French flags go into exile; Churchill inspects Portsmouth naval base; young men enter U. S. Naval Reserve; visiting day at Boeing plant; basketball: Notre Dame vs. N.Y.U.; Porter's Cap wins Santa Anita Derby; Hoppe retains billiard crown; Wallace takes gym exercise; Florida girls train baseball players. Running time, nine minutes.—William Noble, Midwest Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. General patronage.

MOVIETONE NEWS: No. 48, Vol. 23—British in Libya; Haile Selassie returns to Ethiopia; British light boats for convoy duty; Willkie visits King George; Queen Elizabeth inspects U. S. gifts; mystery blast wrecks Illinois factory; rodeo in Arizona; fashions; Brooklyn Dodgers in training at Havana; Joe Di Maggio in training; Pacific Northwest ski meets; ice boats in Wisconsin. Running time, nine minutes.—William Noble, Midwest Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. General patronage.

PLANE GOOFY: Terry-Toons—Fairly good. Running time, seven minutes.—Ray Peacock, Onalaska Theatre, Onalaska, Wash. Loggers and mill workers patronage.

SNOW MAN: Terrytoons—Again my cartoon lovers had a chance to glare at me on the way out. These black and white Terrytoons are usually an awful comedown after Disney and Schlesinger. However, it is okay for a kid matinee. Running time, seven minutes.—W. Varick Nevins III, Alfred Co-Op Theatre, Alfred, N. Y. Small college town and rural patronage.

VALLEY OF 10,000 SMOKES: Father Hubbard's Alaskan Adventures—This is a very interesting short. All about the volcanos in Alaska.—C. S. Caporal, Bison Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. General and neighborhood patronage.

Vitaphone

DOG IN THE ORCHARD: Broadway Brevities—A murder mystery story. A dog that was a real detective and its mournful howls were very harrowing and distressing to the killer, who had killed and buried his wife in the orchard, but the sheriff was suspicious and the crime was detected and punishment meted out. Running time, 20 minutes.—William Noble, Criterion Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. General patronage.

DOGS YOU SELDOM SEE: Sports Parade—Real good.—Harland Rankin, Plaza Theatre, Tilbury, Ontario, Can. General patronage.

FLAG OF HUMANITY: Technicolor Specials—An excellent colored two reeler. Play it.—C. L. Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. General patronage.

HOLIDAY HIGHLIGHTS: Merrie Melodies—A wow. Another good Merrie Melodie cartoon that will get plenty of laughs from any audience. Running time, nine minutes.—Fred C. Allen, Piedmont Theatre, Piedmont, Ala. Small town patronage.

PORKY IN WACKYLAND: Looney Tunes—These Porkys are always good. Audience enjoyed this very much.—C. S. Caporal, Bison Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. General and neighborhood patronage.

STAGEFRIGHT: Merrie Melodies—Very mediocre. —Harland Rankin, Plaza Theatre, Tilbury, Ontario, Can. General patronage.

TAKE THE AIR: Broadway Brevities—20 minutes of radio's most hilarious hijinks and tomfoolery. Ended swell and the big Indian chief and the two young lovers brought order out of chaos and a perfect weekly broadcast of things like they ought to be. Running time, 20 minutes.—William Noble, Criterion Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. General patronage.

TIMID TOREADOR: Looney Tunes—A Mexican bull fight. Hot tamales that are hot enough to explode. While the toreador was timid, the bull was more so and all that ends well ended swell. Running time, seven minutes.—William Noble, Midwest Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. General patronage.

Serial

Columbia

DEADWOOD DICK: Don Douglas, Lorna Gray—The best serial from Columbia yet. This serial was crammed full of action, suspense and anything else you would expect in a serial. Running time, first episode, 20 minutes.—Fred C. Allen, Princess Theatre, Piedmont, Ala. Small town patronage.

Republic

ADVENTURES OF RED RYDER: Don "Red" Barry—So far it is the best I have ever seen. A small town natural. By all means play this one. Running time, first episode, 35 minutes.—Fred C. Allen, Princess Theatre, Piedmont, Ala. Small town patronage.

Republic

DRUMS OF FU MANCHU: Henry Brandon—This is one of Republic's best. A thrill from the first chapter. Republic's makeup artist sure can make Fu Manchu's men of murder look horrible.—C. S. Caporal, Bison Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. General and neighborhood patronage.

Rudd Elected Vice-President

Major A. J. Rudd, general manager of the Newsreel Theatres, Inc., since July, 1937, has been elected a vice-president of the company. Other officers are: W. French Githens, president; Harold W. Wondsel, vice-president; F. C. Wood, secretary-treasurer.

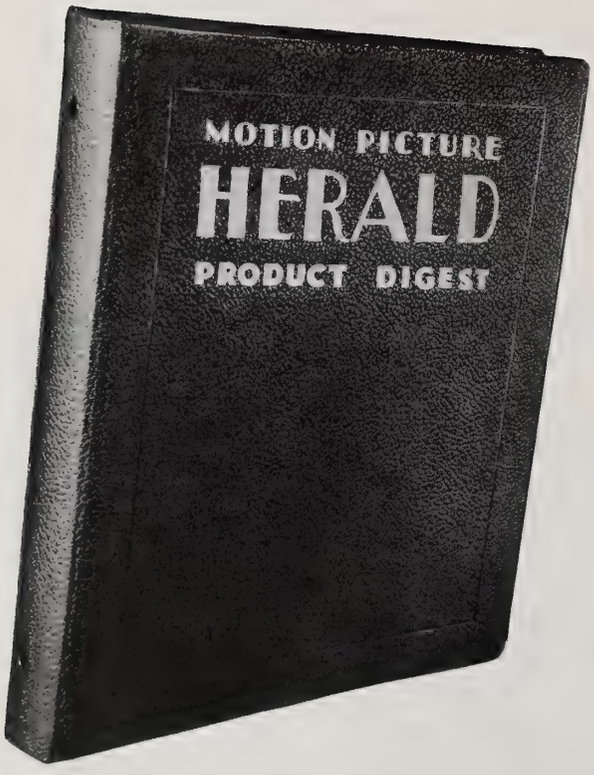
Warner Theatre Changes

Six staff changes have been announced for the Warner theatres in Pittsburgh, Pa., by Fred A. LeBelle, personnel director. They are: Al Skigen, formerly assistant manager of the Manor theatre, has been made manager of the New Oakland; Charles Alcott succeeds Edward Solomon, resigned as assistant manager of the Warner; Milton Ripp, formerly Schenley assistant manager, has been transferred to the Enright in a similar post. Victor Goldberg, formerly assistant manager of the Ambridge theatre, has been transferred to the Cambria in Johnstown, in a similar capacity. John Marini has been promoted from doorman to assistant manager at Mt. Oliver, and Alex Stratigos from doorman at the Rowland theatre to assistant manager of the State theatre in Wilkinsburg.

Mrs. Oldfield Broadcasts

The Hollywood broadcast of Barney Oldfield, Sunday Journal and Star columnist in Lincoln, Neb., on station KFOR for the Lincoln Theatres Corp., is now being sent over the air nightly by his wife. She has been signed for a year by R. W. Huffman, city manager of the theatres, with the understanding that her husband will resume the broadcast when his Army duties are completed.

Horowitz Interests Acquired



The entire interests of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Horowitz in the Fountain Square Theatre Corp., which operates the Fountain Square, Granada and Sanders theatres in Indianapolis, have been purchased by the Central Indiana Corporation.

Thousands of Theatres are using

PRODUCT DIGEST

PRODUCT DIGEST is MOTION PICTURE HERALD'S new and valuable exhibitor service section. It is a master index to all information available to date on 1940-41 product and provides synopses, casts, release dates, review dates, audience classification, Legion of Decency ratings, running time, production numbers and other information of inestimable value.

...and for your convenience

THIS BEAUTIFUL RING BINDER AT ACTUAL COST PLUS HANDLING

A well known manufacturer of ring binders has agreed to furnish leather ring binders (11″ x 12⅝″) for the PRODUCT DIGEST section which appears in the MOTION PICTURE HERALD every other week at the actual manufacturing cost of 54c which includes handling charges.

54c

CANADA . . . $1.00

(This includes Canadian Sales and War Tax.)

MAIL COUPON TODAY

QUIGLEY BOOKSHOP
ROCKEFELLER CENTER, NEW YORK, N. Y.

Please send me a leather ring binder for the PRODUCT DIGEST section of MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

I enclose 54c covering the manufacturing cost, which includes handling charges. (Canada $1.00 which includes Canadian Sales and War Tax.)

Name .....

Address .....

City..... State.....

Name of Theatre.....

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE

An international association of showmen meeting weekly in MOTION PICTURE HERALD for mutual aid and progress

A-MIKE VOGEL, Chairman and Editor GERTRUDE MERRIAM, Associate Editor

WITH OR WITHOUT

The statement directly to the right represents a circuit, firm believers from the very beginning in the value of the Awards and aggressively in the battle to win recognition. Now comes another reaction, as favorable, but come about through other channels of navigation.

This member is of a circuit that blows neither hot nor cold toward the Awards or managers' participation in Round Table activities. Managers are left on their own, so to speak, and the writer referred to chooses to be one of us. He claims salary rises and promotions because of such participation in the Awards, even though his superiors have yet to signify any recognition, official or otherwise, of these successes.

The brother explains it this way: He simply uses the Competitions to pace himself in his work, by contributing regularly to these pages. If he lands a "Fortnighter", the Round Tabler seeks to repeat his win in the next period. That keeps him up on the toes. If it happens that he misses in the following "Fortnight", then activities for the next two weeks are stepped up so as not to miss again.

Comes the "Quarter-Master". If the theatreman lands, he prepares immediately to better his score in the next "Quarter-Master". And if not, then more "pouring on" is the big order, and you can't see the lad for the dust.

Through the Awards, then, the theatreman has found an air-tight self-check upon the effectiveness of his labors to his own satisfaction and, judged by personal gain, to the satisfaction of the bossmen as well.

Thus, with or without home-office encouragement, the Awards prove to be, in a measure, "all things to all men", a dependable directional beam to fatter salaries and bigger jobs.

▽ ▽ ▽

"HANG TOGETHER—OR ALONE"

Cool and able heads finally prevail in effecting the "gentleman's agreement" among New York advertising directors from using critics' four-stars in advertising. Previously at odds over display of such ratings, the boys now get together in an endeavor to restrain these unhealthy influences upon grosses.

Added business brought about by publicizing of four-star ratings is too often counterbalanced by losses on pictures given less critical acclaim. No matter how honest or sincere the critic may be, it is unfair to saddle such dangerous responsibility upon the frailties of personal opinion.

"I'd like to place myself along with the rest of the fellows who have expressed themselves in favor of the Quigley Awards. They have helped me get the co-operation of my entire staff, as interested in the Awards as I am.

The Awards are undoubtedly the best way we managers have of gaining the attention of our superiors. I can personally say that it has helped me to receive my advance in salary."

—FROM JOHN R. SCHULTZ, MANAGER, WARNERS' COLUMBIA THEATRE, SHARON, PENNSYLVANIA.

THE TREND IS SIGNIFICANT

Material in this section on campaigns for Spring and Easter is assurance that the coming season will be ably supported at the boxoffice. As noted, planned activities of the Interstate, Griffiths, Loew's and Warner theatres, among others, point to an all-out attack in selling entertainment.

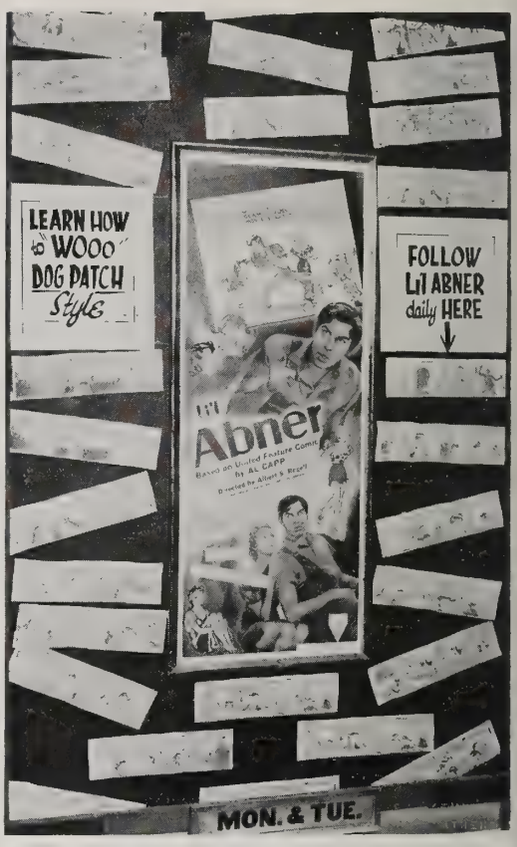
In perusing these suggestions, the observant will not miss the underlying note of "screwballery" which obviously is to play a heavier part in exploitation. In addition to gag pictures aimed strictly for belly laughs, theatremen seeking devices to dispel war jitters are going for Boogie Woogie Revues, April Fool's Prevue, and similar broad-comedy didoes.

The reacton is a healthy one. Entertainment menus would be better balanced were there more corn included along with the caviar.

▽ ▽ ▽

Fecundity and longevity at long last are honored by the industry as Harry Mandel, RKO theatres ad head, reports the tiein on "Mr. and Mrs. Smith" at the Brooklyn Albee. Largest local family and oldest couple of that name were invited to see the show on the house, the offer carried prominently in the metropolitan press.

A-Mike Vogel



Round Table In Pictures

To celebrate the first anniversary of "GWTW" at the Rialto, Lewistown, Pa., Paul Klingler erected giant compo cake atop his marquee, with candle which illuminated the confection at night. Through baker tieup, promoted cakes were distributed to patrons opening day.

Modeled after a cartoon advertisement which appeared in MOTION PICTURE HERALD was lobby display, left, constructed by Harold Belanger for "Bitter Sweet" at the Dixie in Abbeville, La.

Promoting 'Li'l Abner" comic strips from local paper, L. & J. city manager, Moon Corker, and publicist, Frank Bickerstaff, planted them on easel in lobby of the Georgia, Athens, Ga., for advance on that date. Lobby card invited patrons to follow the strip at the theatre. In addition, paper agreed to stuff heralds in issues.

In connection with recent Boy Scout Week, Fabian district publicist, Ed Goth, arranged exposition in loge of the St. George, Staten Island, as above illustrated. Stunt netted space in papers and plugs sent out by Scouts.

Promoting use of old spinning wheel, bark canoe and other paraphernalia for atmospheric background on "Hudson's Bay", A. Kent Craig at the Capitol, St. Catherines, Ont., Canada, planted the "props" for window display. Map in center showed actual Hudson Bay Posts.

IT WON'T BE LONG UNTIL THE SPRING

Fashion Shows, Egg Hunts, and Such Now Being Set by Theatremen— Between Sneezes

by A-MIKE VOGEL

The fashion show, bell-ringer to bow in Spring drives for better boxoffice, is being stressed in all parts and especially in suggestions from home office ad heads to men in the field. Interstate's "Things to Do for Spring" manual of suggestions for March compiled by adman Ray Beall, features this tiein plus the circuit's well-devised promotion, "Look Around Night" wherein the stage style show put on in cooperation with leading merchants is added to with a series of new showings in stores and windows.

In Kansas City, Johnny McManus made much of the style show at Loew's Midland hooked up to the merchant's association as a civic enterprise. The show was put on two mornings at the theatre and ad admission charged. The clothes exhibited were the newest rushed from New York and local socialites serving as models assured wide publicity. Locals were also called upon to model in the fashion revue sponsored by "Mac" MacEachron at the Malco Paramount, Jackson, Tenn., with well-known stylist serving as commentator. Here, shoes as well as clothes were exhibited. For decoration, Mac promoted furniture for stage and flowers for decoration.

Awards for Interstate Managers

Other style show variations to bring results in past years take in Jack Granara's Boston furrier tiein for newsreel pictures, merchant paying all expenses. In Boston, too, the Loew-men flavored their style show with audience voting for most popular model. And, of course, Louie Charninsky would put on a different show, with men and women patrons invited to parade on stage in their new Easter outfits for special prizes. Clyde Smith, in Hot Springs, also likes the two-sex idea, having boy and girl social leaders showing the styles.

Awards to Interstate managers for outstanding effort in the Spring campaign are offered by Karl Hoblitzelle, president, and R. J. O'Donnell, general manager. To equip the theatremen with added ammunition, further suggestions offered by Frank Starz' ad department stress a "Spring Hit Parade" to highlight the coming top attractions from the studios. For this purpose, special ad slugs, trailer copy and news stories are available.

Stress Soldier Gift Books

To tiein with the current popularity of the term and to capitalize upon it, it is also suggested that "Boogie Woogie Midnight Shows" be put on, to present local boogie-woogie piano players, dancers, etc. Success of the idea is presented in the fine boxoffice results obtained by Manager Jim Allard, of Vernon, who put on this presentation originally in addition to his regular screen show. The "boogie woogie" idea is urged especially in conjunction with such attractions as "Buck Privates."

Since the Texas National Guard is now in service at Camp Bowie, in Brownwood, the Interstate men are working on direct mail addressed to relatives of the soldiers for Gift Books at the circuit's theatres in that situation. Trailers have been running in many of the houses and also available are boxoffice cards and ad slugs.

Special all-short subject shows, for which the Texans are noted through Besa Short, short subject department, are additionaliy emphasized as an effective means of presenting unusual Spring entertainment. And directed at women is the suggestion for a Book Review matinee, in which an outstanding best seller is discussed by the leading local book reviewer. Interstate has found that these events have substantially increased revenues on pictures with a women angle story but not possessing outstanding stars.

NEWKIRK'S CLEVELAND LOBBY EGG COLORING CONTEST DISPLAY

Warner Cleveland Zone Plans

Getting up to the Eastertide, it is Manny Pearlstein, Warner Cleveland ad head, who suggests a number of apt ideas to the zone's managers. Pearlstein starts with the lobby display to plug the Easter Week show, pointing out the value of baby chick, rabbit and colored egg art for backgrounds of poster advertising. Cutouts and shadow boxes employing these devices are recommended, as are flower displays to be arranged through cooperation with wide-awake florists and nurserymen. The floral idea is extended in the note on competitive flower shows for amateurs as held in warmer climates at Easter.

The venerable and always effective "Egg Hunt" is also spotlighted. This reliable is put on in countless ways. Usually, the eggs, hardboiled and colored in advance, are hidden widely at the city park or other vacant space. The youngsters either meet at a designated spot, or march from the theatre to the hunt. Cash and merchandise prizes for eggs colored differently and guest admission to the Easter matinee following are offered. Often, the "hunt" is tied in with one of the papers for publicity, sometimes with participating merchants.

In Bridgeport, Ct., Matt Saunders has used papier mache eggs containing passes and new pennies, buried at the city park. Les Pollock once reported a tiein with cooperating daily wherein children were required to fill out coupons clipped from the paper and brought to the hunt, where entrants were given official tags to be eligible for the prizes. A "golden egg" took down the big prize.

Egg Rolling in Boston

Egg coloring is a Loew's Cleveland favorite and there employed annually by Johnny Newkirk, who has an arrangement with his community paper for publicity. Entries are shown in the lobby ahead. The downtown Loew houses have worked the coloring idea with one of the papers for like results with the eggs shown in prominent windows. In Boston, Joe Di Pesa utilizes the egg-rolling tiein, with the kids rolling their eggs at the city park.

Last year, Jack Campbell, in Brampton, Canada, had some 350 kids parade down

(Continued on following page)

That April Fool's Party Sure Brings the Folks

Down South, They Turn the Theatre Inside Out

Midnight of March 31 finds most folks to bed. But not down South where the Round Tablers have educated the public to come a-runnin' to that good ole "April Fool's Prevue," where anything can happen—and usually does.

One of the most representative of these performances is staged regularly by George Limerick, in Enid, Okla., and since there hardly is anything to be done that George has not already tried, what the Griffiths city manager put on last year will largely be perpetrated again this March 31. Here are a few of the gags that give the folks a lot of laughs.

In advance, doorman is dressed in girl's costume and women employees as boys, all distributing cards about the party as they make the rounds. Newspaper and lobby ads plug the free novelties to be distributed at the show. These are coat hangers and cigarette lighters, which usually turn out to be an ordinary nail and a match, prepared in advance and distributed in imprinted envelopes.

Public "Warned" of Events

Copy in advance in ads and handbills warns the public completely about what is about due. It boldly announces that the entire staff of the theatre is "going nuts" on April Fool's Eve to amuse the customers. Readers are told that the manager will probably try to buy a ticket from the patron, that the ushers will ask to be shown to seats. Little in the ad is said about the attraction, for this, too, is usually left as a surprise. Ads are decorated in keeping.

Lettering on the changeable sign and marquee is inverted and silly copy in double-talk is used for window displays, built up further with decorations of nuts and bolts. The latter also served as "props" on a street stunt with man dressed hind-sight-to, sold the hardware to passersby. Copy on back-banner said he was in town to dig up enough to take in the Prevue. Old bill folds and purses accumulating around the theatre's "lost-and-found" were dropped on the streets with heralds inside offering guest tickets to the show to those returned to the theatre.

Use Aisles for Bicycles

At the show, Limerick rigged up a giant punch-board, with each patron entitled to a punch. All numbers ending in "0" brought free admissions. The water fountain was adjusted to increase pressure and ushers showed patrons to seats with lanterns. The house staff sold peanuts and popcorn in the aisles, the manager wearing a baby cap and smoking a black cigar. Boys rode bicycles down the aisles and patrons were invited to get up and dance, do handsprings, or what have you. Then, the cartoon was run in reverse upside down with dialog in reverse, while the newsreel was run off on the other machine at the same time.

Gag games of all kinds are also suggested this year to compete with the war-atmosphere and managers intend going all out to get as many laughs as there are to be had. Thanksgiving contests will be elaborated and made funnier. Country store and other didoes will be hooked up considerably. In college towns, theatremen are sounding out segments of the student body for comedy slants, giving prizes for the funniest and most bizarre.

GETS SCHOLARSHIP ON "KITTY FOYLE"

Girls of Watertown, N. Y., were given an opportunity to win a commercial school scholarship on the date of "Kitty Foyle" at Schine's Avon, through tiein with prominent business school made by Manager Gary Jaffa.

In form of contest, those interested were asked to see the picture and then write 200 words or less on why they enjoyed it. Scholarship, to run for ten-weeks course, was valued at $50.00.

"LET'S HEAR FROM YOU"

"Four Sons" Producer Tied to Opening Date

For the opening of "Adam Had Four Sons" at the Lafayette, Buffalo, ad man Dick Walsh tied in the visit of Robert C. Sherwood, producer of the picture to a luncheon given to a local couple whose four sons were enlisted in the U. S. Army. As guests of the producer and manager George MacKenna, the couple was used to plant extra publicity since in the picture the four sons also served in the army.

All book shops and lending libraries carried special window displays of the best seller, "Legacy," on which the picture is based and Saturday Evening Post trucks were bannered appropriately. Fleet of cabs were furnished with cards in special frames which were used on backs of cabs and leading department store carried picture title in its newspaper advertising of men and boys' wear during film's run. Sunday Courier came through with special art in its roto section and local telegraph agency used large blowup of still showing the boys in uniform with tiein catchline.

"LET'S HEAR FROM YOU"

Holds "Buck Privates" Screening

Arranged by Les Kaufman, Fanchon & Marco, advertising head, in St. Louis, was a special preview of "Buck Privates" at the Fox Theatre for 2,200 soldiers from nearby Jefferson Barracks. Held four days ahead of opening, the soldiers chartered bannered eight buses to bring them from the post. Stunt broke papers with appropriate credits.

Window Egg Hunt Found Easter Aid

(Continued from preceding page)

the main street at 10 o'clock, escorted by the police and town band, to a vacant lot, where the youngsters hunted for small bags containing slips good for prizes. In Syracuse, the "hunt" is put over by the RKO-Schine theatres in cooperation with the Department of Parks.

Due to inclement weather last year in Minneapolis, Manager Tommy Martin, at the Uptown, switched his egg tiein to a hunt in store windows. Prizes were given for those guessing the number of eggs in each of the windows and entering the number on official blanks available at the theatre.

Millinery Contests Favored

Manny Pearlstein ties in to the always important Easter millinery by suggesting a fashion contest hooked to the woman star of the Easter Week attraction. Paper runs a sketch or photo of the player cut off at the forehead with contestants required to draw in their conception of a fitting bonnet The hat slant is also good in the Old Easter Bonnet contest, put over effectively by the Warnermen in previous years and notably in Round Tabler Dick Wright's district. The idea is to submit an old-fashioned outmoded Easter hat that once was the last word in fashion. Contestants bring their entries to the participating store where they are displayed and in advance the judges select the 12 hats that strike them as the most amusing.

Gift books found acceptable at Christmas are also sold by the Interstate circuit for Easter and another unique idea from the Texans is an Easter Eve Midnight Rabbit Show, where are given away white rabbits, ducks, dyed baby chicks, etc. The appeal is directed at adults to come and win a surprise Easter gift for the children.

Presentation ideas for Easter where organists are featured should include the favorite of Guy Martin, in South Bend, Ind., who had the instrument decorated with artificial flowers tied together with small branches, silvered. Atop the console, was placed a coop of baby chicks, and slides announced the "company" and "meet the company" as an amber spot was thrown upon the coop. Community sing with organ followed.

"LET'S HEAR FROM YOU"

Howes Uses "Abner" Comics As Promotion Springboard

Manager W. R. Howes of the Granada Theatre, Spokane, Wash., brought about a newspaper smash for his engagement of "Li'l Abner" through the Spokane Chronicle, user of the comics. Howes, co-operating with the Chronicle, arranged for a seven-column display announcement of the run of "Li'l Abner" in which the paper described both the comic and the screen vehicle. In addition, a lengthy reader was carried. This space, a street ballyhoo and several tie-ins were factors in the picture's holding over at the Granada Theatre for extended playing time.

"Dugan" Premiere Aids Greek Relief

World premiere of "Trial of Mary Dugan" held at Loew's Palace, Memphis, was tied to the Greek War Relief through the efforts of Manager Robert Kilgore, who also secured the sponsorship of the local Press-Scimitar. Advance in price was scheduled with theatre receiving regular admission, balance going to the fund.

In addition to the feature, a supplementary stage show was arranged by the theatreman, all talent being promoted with exception of band. For the opening itself, battery of lights were promoted from local fire department and front was decorated with Greek and American flags. Cooperating paper's radio station WMPS carried a 30-minute broadcast from the lobby with 60-piece Christian Brothers College band playing out front. Highlight was uniformed "Maids of Athens," who formed an Honor Guard in lobby, guests walking between two lines. Members of Junior League acted as receptionists and formally attired members of leading clubs served as usherettes on orchestra floor.

State Teachers College dramatic class presented excerpts from the play in school auditorium, postcard announcements of the engagement were mailed to members of Little Theatre Group and two-color window cards covering stage and screen show were spotted strategically.

Fitzpatrick Holds Laraine Day

Recent national publicity on the selection of Laraine Day as the most promising star of 1941 was utilized as a feature promotion by Ed Fitzpatrick for "Trial of Mary Dugan" at Loew's Poli, Waterbury, Conn., Fitzpatrick working out his own poll to tie in. This was done by blowing-up the newspaper stories on a 40 by 60 and alongside was planted similar sized display headed "Do you agree, or disagree?" Ballot boxes on which were piled polling blanks were placed between the two signs with patrons invited to make their selections.

Heralds containing plugs on Miss Day's first starring part in the new picture and urging voting in the poll were distributed at the theatre and stores cooperating on the tiein. These stores participated by placing ballot boxes and entry blanks prominently at the entrance and customers were told about it.

Ed tied the whole thing together by planting a newspaper contest in which readers were invited to write in their opinions on the subject. This was extended to radio announcements over WBRY for a week ahead in which the playdates were also stressed. Widespread interest was gained by the promotion, according to the Loewman, since it was put on coincidentally with the national publicity of the Academy Awards in Hollywood.

"LET'S HEAR FROM YOU"

Patrons Record in Lobby

A stunt that made Wichita "Philadelphia Story" conscious was that executed by Woody Barritt of the Miller Theatre in that city. Borrowing a radio set with a recorder attached, he permitted patrons to make records in the lobby reading from the film's script.

NEARS "QUARTER" END

Competition in the Fortnights continues spirited as names, old and new to the Awards, are herewith listed in the Fifth Fortnight of the current period. In all, 51 names share 48 Appointments given for exploitation on individual pictures, seasonal drives, institutional tieups, etc.

STAN ANDREWS
Capitol, Guelph, Ont., Can.

FRANK BICKERSTAFF
MOON CORKER
Palace, Athens, Ga.

LIGE BRIEN
Belmar, Pittsburgh, Pa.

ROBERT BUSCH
Jeffery, Chicago, Ill.

LOUIS CHARNINSKY
Capitol, Dallas, Tex.

HARVEY G. COCKS
JAMES CLAPPER
Palace, Fort Wayne, Ind.

GENE CURTIS
Strand, Syracuse, N. Y.

FRANCIS DEERING
Loew's, Houston, Tex.

JOHN E. DUFFUS
Arlington, Arlington, Va.

J. C. EBERSBERGER
Rex, Sheboygan, Wis.

ED FITZPATRICK
Loew-Poli, Waterbury, Conn.

GEORGE S. FRASER
Columbia, Portsmouth, Ohio

GEORGE FRENCH
BILL MORTON
RKO Albee, Providence, R. I.

EDGAR GOTH
Fabian's St. George, Staten Island

KEN GRIMES
Warner, Erie, Pa.

W. D. HARWELL
Ohio, Mansfield, Ohio

ROLAND HAYNES
Keystone, Philadelphia, Pa.

W. HEANEY
Mayfair, West New York, N. J.

A. J. KALBERER
Indiana, Washington, Ind.

STOCKTON LEIGH
Schine's Keith, Syracuse, N. Y.

PERRY LESSY
Lindley, Philadelphia, Pa.

J. R. MAC EACHRON
Paramount, Jackson, Tenn.

JOHNNY MANUEL
Schine's Strand, Delaware, Ohio

SEYMOUR MORRIS
Schine's Palace, Lockport, N. Y.

JOSEPH D. NEVISON
Bromley, Philadelphia, Pa.

PAT NOTARO
Columbia, Sharon, Pa.

E. A. PATCHEN
Mesa, Grand Junction, Colo.

FRED PATTERSON
Paramount, Amarillo, Tex.

MANNY PEARLSTEIN
Warners, Cleveland, Ohio

ROY PRYTZ
Granada, Duluth, Minn.

C. L. QUERRIE
Palace, Toronto, Ont., Can.

MATTY ROSENBLUTH
Colney, Philadelphia, Pa.

MORRIS ROSENTHAL
Majestic, Bridgeport, Conn.

A. M. ROY
Stanley, Utica, N. Y.

BERT RUDER
Schine's State, Fostoria, Ohio

F. B. SCHLAX
Kenosha, Kenosha, Wis.

JOHN R. SCHULTZ
Liberty, Sharon, Pa.

SID SCOTT
Capitol, Sudbury, Ont., Can.

SAMUEL L. SHAFER
Schine's Dixie, Rochester, N. Y.

CHUCK SHANNON
Whitehall, Pittsburgh, Pa.

AL SIMKO
Vernon, Philadelphia, Pa.

WILFORD N. SKLAR
Roxy, Clearfield, Pa.

RALPH STITT
United Detroit, Detroit, Mich.

ARNOLD STOLTZ
Avon, Utica, N. Y.

HAROLD H. THOMAS
Fulton, Fulton, Ky.

CHICK TOMPKINS
Hoosier, Whiting, Ind.

H. S. TWEDT
Lido, Manly, Iowa

AL ZIMBALIST
Warners, Philadelphia, Pa.

With this listing, one more Fortnight remains before the end of the First Quarter of the 1941 Quigley Awards. This is put down for the information of theatremen who wish to pile up as much material as possible for consideration by the judges. Last listing of the First Quarter names appears in the issue of March 29th.

Shaffer Ties "Escape" To Bundles for Britain

Working with a group of local club women, Frank Shaffer at the Dixie Theatre, in Staunton, Va., sold them on the idea of a benefit ticket sale on "Escape" in connection with "Bundles for Britain" week Starting a week ahead newspapers cooperated with daily stories and art work, starting with a six column ad which was paid for by local society group. Society pages of dailies came through with stories and cooperating women made a house-to-house canvass in an effort to reach their sale goal of 1,000 tickets. Opening was attended by local prominents who were interviewed over lobby broadcast.

Bird-Cage Invitations Aid "Hard Boiled Canary"

Novel invitations in the form of white bird cages containing a plant and a stuffed canary were sent out by Fred Bartow, Paramount mid-west exploiteer for a press luncheon held in Peoria, Ill., to honor Susanna Foster and Dolly Loehr, stars of "Hard Boiled Canary."

After making an appearance on WGN and the Mutual network, the two girls accompanied by Cliff Lewis of Paramount west coast studio publicity department, a teacher and chaperone, went to Peoria. That city had selected Miss Foster as "Miss Valentine of Peoria" and a huge reception preceded by a parade was held.

This advertising contribution to the status of the motion picture among the arts and in the service of society appeared on the amusement page of the Sunday News of New York. The Central Theatre is operated by enterprises under direction of Harry Brandt, New York exhibitor leader, president of Independent Theatre Owners (New York). Incidentally, the picture starring Danielle Darrieux, billed as "The Virgin Bride", came to America and passed examination as "Mademoiselle Ma Mere".

Sklar Holds Style Show For "All This, and Heaven Too"

Local ladies' specialty shop was promoted by Wilford N. Sklar for a style show in connection with his engagement of "All This and Heaven Too" at the Roxy, in Clearfield, Pa. Entire mailing list of cooperating merchant was circularized by postcard, one sheet was planted in lobby, and store and ads run in paper. Door prizes were furnished by the merchant and commenting on the show was done by local high school English instructor. Special trailer copy was prepared for the occasion, expense of which was met by store.

"LET'S HEAR FROM YOU"

Manicurists Aid Brien On "Mark of Zorro"

Contacting barber shops in his vicinity, Lige Brien at the Belmar, in Pittburgh for his engagement of "Mark of Zorro" instituted a teaser campaign whereby manicurists for guest tickets told their customers to look their best and get their nails manicured because Linda Darnell was coming to the Belmar. Scene stills were spotted under glass tops of all tables. In addition, barbers and boolblacks in the shops also did their part.

For "Florian," one of his staff reviewed the book at a local girls' club, after which each was presented with a promoted bookcover which they were requested to use on their school books, thus bringing the picture to the attention of other students. Also in connection with this date, numerous book windows were landed.

"Down Argentine Way" brought a weight tieup with five and ten whereby Brien offered guest tickets to anyone who presented card bearing photo of any tar in the picture. Post cards promoted from New York hotel were mailed to special list.

"LET'S HEAR FROM YOU"

"Andy Hardy" Broadcast Arranged by Perry

School presidents vied with private secretaries in a radio quiz based on an episode in "Andy Hardy's Private Secretary," in advance of opening at the New York Capitol. Titled, "Do Bosses Know More Than Their Private Secretaries?" the quiz was broadcast by WHN in a quarter-hour program the night preceding the premiere. Participants included the senior class presidents of Columbia, Fordham and New York universities—representing the "bosses"—and the private secretaries of Jack Dempsey, Nathan Tufts of Vox Pop, and Walter Batchellor, Fred Allen's manager. The stunt was set by Perry Charles of M-G-M's publicity department.

Nelson Ties Date To "Escape" Sale

Use of the title as a catchline in various ways to put over a local sales drive proved the highlight of Manager Jack Nelson's campaign on "Escape" at the Capitol, in North Bay, Canada. This was activated by a special eight-page, two-color section in the local paper on the tiein. The hookup was sold further with a contest in which an autographed copy of the book by Norma Shearer was given to the reader best using the word "escape" in a phrase to promote the sale of Canadian War Savings Stamps or Certificates. Guest tickets were given for the next 10 selected by the judges who were headed by Mayor of the city.

Throughout the contest, the titles were emphasized in the co-op ads, with such lines as "Escape discomfort on wash day," "Escape from bad plumbing," etc., etc. Added interest was gained by a series of house ads contributed by the paper, each given over to details of the contest and entry blanks for the proffered slogans. Success of the promotion was noted in a letter from the publisher of the daily, who stated that over 3,000 entries were the result, the paper publishing 2,000 extra copies of the issue to insure the widest circulation.

The title was headlined further with two-color stickers reading "You can't Escape," and placed on car windows. Elaborate displays and cutouts were shown in many stores holding sales. Banners and other exploitation devices were also gainfully employed.

"LET'S HEAR FROM YOU"

Spring Jubilee Planned By McGowan for F. & M.

Started March 15th and running through April 15th, eight neighborhood theatres of the St. Louis Amusement Company, under the direction of Ralph A. McGowan, district supervisor, plans have been completed for the featuring of a Spring Jubilee aimed to offset the expected slump.

First to report on his plans, is Joe Goldstein at the Mikado Theatre, in suburban Wellston, who has lined up a special fashion show sponsored by 10 leading merchants and the Lions Club. Stories have already been planted in the two weekly newspapers with special lobby and window displays in cooperating stores. Handbills have been distributed house-to-house, bumper strips planted on all public service busses and two-sheets posted throughout the area.

For the style show itself, eight models have been engaged in addition to a five-piece orchestra. Fashion expert of Station KXOK will do the commenting.

"LET'S HEAR FROM YOU"

Girl Typist for "Foyle"

Tying in with local business college, Ed Fitzpatrick at Loew's Poli, Waterbury, Conn., arranged for the distribution of special teaser postcards to be mailed to students in connection with opening of "Kitty Foyle." Business school also availed the theatreman of the services of a typist who struck out letters in lobby, containing picture copy. These were distributed to patrons leaving theatre.

PHILADELPHIA WARNERMEN REPORT ON BARUTIO DISTRICT ACTIVITIES

Neighborhood Managers Employ Comprehensive Promotions to Sell Attractions; Contests and Civic Campaigns Featured

Organized for the purpose of reporting to the Round Table exploitation campaigns in the Steve Barutio Warner Philadelphia district, the committee headed by Stan Benford, manager of the Colonial, currently forwards highlights of recent activities with which the Warnermen are stimulating the boxoffice. Ably covered were various forms of promotions including Perry Lessy's tieup with furniture store adjacent to theatre for "Arise My Love" at the Lindley, whereby store featured a large red question mark in window for four days ahead, in addition to "look" directional arrows from store to theatre. Attractive girl was planted in bed in window, with promoted prizes going to those correctly guessing time girl would arise. Appropriate explanatory copy was included in window.

Mechanical lobby display planted in the lobby of the Colney by Marty Rosenbluth for his run on "Go West," consisted of multi-colored cutout horse with Marx Brothers in caricature poses sitting astride. Legs of the horse were attached to a motor which produced a galloping motion. Hooked up to the display was a bicycle speedometer that registered the speed and mileage the horse would run. Contest angle here included guest tickets to those coming closest to guessing distance the Brothers would travel in their latest rip-roaring hit.

Second contest was featured by window display of nuts, tickets awarded here, too, for correct guessing. Teaser cards were planted in tap rooms, drugstores, etc., and distributed to patrons leaving theatre week in advance.

Plants Directional Map Contest

With the City Traffic Department supplying school children with maps showing the safest way to walk home, Mort Almes at the Felton got in on the publicity bandwagon by offering tickets to children drawing maps showing best way to get home from the theatre. Local newspaper carried stories, highlight of which was the judging of the maps by City Traffic engineer. Follow-up stories were run carrying winners' names in which theatre was again mentioned.

On "Long Voyage Home," Almes ran a contest in neighborhood daily with tickets to those submitting best 200-word essay on their "Most Exciting Journey." Paper here, too, ran winning entries.

Most Popular Girl Sought

Search for a local "Little Nellie Kelly" was instituted by Roland Haynes at the Keystone in advance of that date with voting coupons run daily in cooperating paper. Most popular girls between the ages of 10 and 14 were eligible, winner presented on stage opening night with a Judy Garland "Nellie Kelly" doll. Opening day, Garland scarfs were presented to the first 200 women attending and special letters sent to all Irish societies. A careful drivers' contest was held with local traffic officer giving out passes to those qualified; this was publicized through newspaper story and 40 by 60 in lobby.

KLINE'S ANIMATED SETPIECE

Staged with police cooperation was Joe Nevison's safety campaign in connection with "The Long Voyage Home" at the Bromley with posters printed for the occasion reading: "Drive carefully; remember the Long Voyage Home is via the hospital. Keep healthy and see," etc., etc. These were stationed at busy intersections with police permission and lobby display featured photo of copy pointing to one of the posters. Through tieup with local restaurant sponsor, a sidewalk broadcast was held with passersby queried on scenes from the picture. Guest tickets were awarded here to following week's show.

Model Ship Stunt Clicks

Telegraph forms were promoted and offset with copy addressed to Mr. and Mrs. Bromley Theatre Patron. These carrying picture copy were mailed in specially imprinted envelopes and distributed house-to-house. Jumbo blanks were lettered and posted on newsstands, telephone booths, etc. Kid patronage was solicited through a model ship building contest and radio coverage included free copies of the book going to listeners furthest from Philadelphia who dropped a postcard into the station so advising.

Nevison's lobby display for "Go West" consisted of wire cage set on platform inside of which was planted stuffed squirrels. Card in front of cage read: "Please don't feed the animals." Overall copy "Ye Olde Squirrel Food Inn" also carried gag menu listing walnuts, chestnuts, hickory nuts, and special nuts a la Groucho, Chico, etc. Special advance was prepared by use of laughing record on special disc, Nevison recording "Pardon the hilarity, folks; we're just trying to give you an idea of the audience reaction at a recent preview of the screwiest, laugh-a-minute comedy sensation of the season." This recording was run with traveler closed and played into beginning of regular talking trailer.

Among the lobby stoppers used by R. Lee Kline at the Orpheum on "Thief of Bagdad" was a giant cutout of the genie which was hung from the ceiling. At base of display was easel with picture plug and copy reading: "Our own 20th century magic, a flag waging in the still air." Large arrow pointed to automatic flag waver above which was kept in motion by a hidden motor at the base of flag pole. Kline reports this animation created plenty of comment. A transparent setpiece was created by Kline for "The Invisible Woman" (see photo), made up of large lamp back of the display which was hooked up to a flasher. When the lamp lit, it would disclose a silhouette figure of a woman.

"LET'S HEAR FROM YOU"

Additional Warnermen Report Their Activities

Tieing up with pool rooms for "Pride and the Bowery," Dick Kirsh, manager of Warners' Aldine Theatre, Wilmington, Del., offered passes to players who were able to pocket two balls or more on opening break in a rotation game. Numerous window tieups, special trailer arrangements, prologue, advance and special appeal ads plus radio plugs were included in the campaign.

An eye-appealing patron-stopper was designed by Haddon Matthews, manager of Warners' 69th St. Theatre, Philadelphia, for "The Invisible Woman." Planted in the lobby was a chair, a very sensitive microphone and a young lady. The copy was attractive, and when patrons walked over for a closer view, the sensitive microphone picked up their remarks. Hearing this through a peep-hole, the young lady would then answer with gags as the Invisible Woman.

Bennie Blumberg, of Warners' Lane Theatre, Philadelphia, for "Queen of Destiny," contacted all schools first by letter and arranged for ads in Jewish newspapers playing up "Disraeli" angle. Front cover of press book was blown up and used in lobby on 40 x 60. Advance stories were placed in local papers and ads played up "see" angles as well as the vivid love story.

Service Organiaztions Aid "Back Street"

Harry Olmstead, at Warners' Strand, York, Pa., brought "Back Street" to the limelight through distribution of book-marks in local high school, window displays at book shops and local department stores. Notice was planted on bulletin boards in service organizaitons; trailerettes at the circuit's other houses and eleven by fourteens in restaurants, beauty shops, barber shops, bowling alleys and cigar stores.

• personalities

W. P. BERNFIELD
former exploiteer for United Artists in Kansas City, is managing the Calvin Theatre, in Northampton, Mass.

▽

TOM WARD
formerly with Gibraltar Theatres, in Raton, N. M., has been transferred to Santa Fe, New Mexico, as city manager of the three theatres there.

▽

BILL BURKE
former manager of the Schine State, in Fostoria, Ohio, has been transferred to the circuit's Rialto, in Amsterdam, succeeding F. K. O'KELLY, who goes to the Strand in Cumberland, Md. BERT RUDER has replaced Burke in Fostoria.

▽

MILTON YASSENOFF
has been named manager of the Beechwold, Columbus, Ohio.

▽

JOHN NEUER
assistant manager of Warner's Hamilton, Lancaster, Pa., has succeeded JACK DAY as manager of the Lemoyne, Lemoyne, Pa.

▽

GEORGE DEBER
is now managing the Schine Madison, in Rochester, N. Y.

▽

LOU LEVITCH
manager of Schine's Riviera, Rochester, has been transferred to Buffalo where he will serve as manager of the Granada.

▽

ROBERT BERGIN
former student assistant, has been moved up to assistant at the Elm Street, Worcester, Mass., replacing MAX NEVETSKY, who was promoted to assistant at the Poli.

▽

EDDIE LEWIS
is now managing the Metro Theatre, in the Bronx.

▽

CHARLES T. ROOK
announces the association with him of his brother, Albert, as associate manager of the Charles Theatre, in Montgomery, Ala.

▽

L. D. PARRETT
auditor for Commonwealth Amusement Corp. in Kansas City has been shifted to Creston, Ia., as manager for the Commonwealth houses there. He succeeds MERL HILLYER, who will manage the Benton, Kansas City. HOWARD WOLF goes from Benton to the Variety at Lawrence, Kan., as manager under STANLEY SCHWAHN, city manager. HAZEL RALPH becomes auditor for the circuit.

▽

SAM FRANKS
has taken over the Park Theatre, Merchantville, N. J., formerly operated by JENNIE COHEN.

▽

HARRY KRIEGSMAN
has been appointed manager of the Gables Theatre, Merrick, L. I.

HELEN VIRGINIA ELLISON, of East Rochester, N. Y. to CLAYTON CORNELL, on Sunday, February 9, at the Presbyterian Church, Tupper Lake. Groom is manager of Schine's State, Tupper Lake, N. Y.

▽

SAM SHAFER
has been transferred from the Schine Liberty, Herkimer, N. Y., to the Dixie, Rochester.

▽

STANLEY KEEGAN
manager of Warners' Venetian Theatre, Racine, Wis., has resigned that post to become film buyer for the United Detroit Theatres, in Detroit. STANLEY LAMBERT, manager of the Rialto, has succeeded Keegan.

Birthday Greetings

Sam J. Aaron
David W. Bayne
C. J. Bolender
Dave Borland
Cecil L. Brusegard
Claude D. Burrows
John Capano
Frestle F. Chenoweth
C. C. Coates
J. C. Combs
William G. Cooke, Jr.
Charles C. Coolbroth
Joseph W. Crocket
Laurin J. Derenzy
Ben A. Dyer
Boydell J. Edwards
J. B. Edwards
James A. Field
Fred R. Fisher
Malcolm Gilbert
Ernest A. Grecula
H. T. Grissom, Jr.
Ben Gross
Basil R. Hall
Roy Hanson
Russell Hardwick
Milton Harris
Raymond M. Hay
George A. Hodge
Earle M. Holden
Russell N. Hurt
George W. Jinks
Murray Keillor
Jack Kleinman
Albert Knopp
Herman Kopf
Dan E. Krendel
Martin S. Lane
George E. Langness
Harold C. Lee
W. A. Lee
Norman M. Linz
Jerry Lynch
Edward C. McGovern
John F. Mackenzie
Charles Martin
Ralph G. Maser
Joe Miklos
Marshall Nakamura
Bill Nelson
T. W. North, Jr.
Murray Peck
F. Mallory Pittman
Gerald S. Raines
Paul D. Rainsberger
Frank Reid
Truman Riley
Joseph Rogatnick
George T. Rybica
Israel Schancupp
Richard C. Shaw
Fletcher L. Shea
John D. Shultz
Lloyd E. Sinclair
Alfred L. Singer
Larry Stone
George F. Strandt
Ted Stump
Milton Swanson
Morris Swartz
William E. Tinkler
Harry Wade
Dick Walsh
Leon Webb
Rodney White
Herman G. Wilson
Herman D. Wood
Warren Wood

HAROLD SLITER
head of Schine's publicity department in Gloversville, has taken over the Schine theatre operations in Amsterdam, Gloversville, Herkimer, Ilion, Little Falls and other nearby spots. HERB JENNINGS of the Glove, in Gloversville, goes to the Colonial, in Norwich.

▽

BILL PEIRCE, JR.
has joined the Metro publicity department in Hollywood.

▽

HY PASTMAN
former manager of the Modern Theatre, in Marlboro, Mass., is now managing the Rialto, in Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

▽

BEN SCHWARTZ
manager of Warner's Lake, Cleveland, until it closed recently, has assumed management of the Capitol there.

▽

EARLE KELLY
manager of the Strand, at Meridian, Miss., has been transferred to manager of the Globe with BERT BICKERT, formerly of New Orleans, succeeding.

▽

MARION PARKINSON
manager of the Spencer, at Spencer, Ia., has resigned that post. Other Max Factor theatre changes include: ART FARRELL, of the Rapids, Rock Rapids, Ia., goes to Atlantic to manage the Iowa and Grand; LEE BECKLEY of the Fraser at Spencer will manage the Iowa and Rapids at Rock Rapids; GORDON McKINNON, manager of the Perry at Perry, goes to Spencer to manage the Fraser and Spencer and CLIFF LINDBLATT, formerly at Atlantic, goes to Perry to manage the Perry and Fox.

▽

FRED GREENWAY
for the past four years manager of Loew's State, Boston, has been made manager of the Loew-Poli Palace, Hartford, replacing Lou Cohen, who was moved to the Loew-Poli.

▽

VERNON REAVER
is holding down the managerial reins at the Fortway Theatre, Brooklyn, N. Y.

▽

A. A. COSTAR
of Albany, N. Y., has taken over the operation of the Victory Theatre, in Trenton, N. J.

▽

JOHN NEUER
assistant manager of Warner's Hamilton, Lancaster, Pa., succeeded JACK DAY as manager of the Lemoyne, Lemoyne, Pa.

▽

MORRIS PHILLIPS
former owner of the Upsal Theatre, Philadelphia, has been named manager of the Band Box there and BEN ZIMMERMAN goes into the 56th Street Theatre.

▽

ROBERT BERGIN
former student assistant at the Elm Street, Worcester, has been promoted to assistant, replacing MAX NESVETSKY, promoted to assistant at the Poli.

THE RELEASE CHART

INDEX

ACROSS the Sierras....Col
Adam Had Four Sons....Col
Affectionately Yours....WB
Along the Rio Grande....RKO
Always a Bride....WB-FN
Among Human Wolves....Foreign
And Now Good-Bye....Col
Andy Hardy's Private Secretary....MGM
Arise My Love....Para
Arizona....Col
Arkansas Judge....Rep

BACK in the Saddle....Rep
Back Street....Univ
Bad Man, The....MGM
Bank Dick, The....Univ
Barnyard Follies....Rep
Before the Fact....RKO
Behind the News....Rep
Beyond the Sacramento....Col
Billy the Kid....MGM
Billy the Kid's Gun Justice....Producers
Billy the Kid's Range War....Producers
Bitter Sweet....MGM
Black Cat....Univ
Blackout....UA
Blonde Inspiration....MGM
Blondie Goes Latin....Col
Blondie Plays Cupid....Col
Blood and Sand....20th-Fox
Blossoms In the Dust....MGM
Border Legion, The....Rep
Border Vigilantes....Para
Boss of Bullion City....Univ
Bowery Boy....Rep
Bride Came C. O. D.....WB
Bride Wore Crutches....20th-Fox
Broadway Limited....UA
Buck Privates....Univ
Bury Me Not on the Lone Prairie..Univ

CASE of the Black Parrot....WB-FN
Caught in the Act....Producers
Caught in the Draft....Para
Cavalcade of Faith....St. Rts
Certain Mr. Scratch, A....RKO
Chad Hanna....20th-Fox
Chain Gang....Col
Chamber of Horrors....Mono
Charter Pilot....20th-Fox
Cheers for Miss Bishop....UA
Cherokee Strip....Para
Christmas in July....Para
Citizen Kane....RKO
Come Live with Me....MGM
Comrade X....MGM
Convoy....RKO
Cowboy and the Blonde....20th-Fox
Cracked Nuts....Univ

DANCING on a Dime....Para
Dangerous Game, A....Univ
Dark Streets of Cairo....Univ
Dead Man's Shoes....Mono
Dead Men Tell....20th-Fox
Devil and Miss Jones, The....RKO
Devil Bat....Producers
Devil Commands, The....Col
Devil's Pipeline....Univ
Diamond Frontier....Univ
Dispatch from Reuter's, A....WB
Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde....MGM
Dr. Kildare's Crisis....MGM
Dr. Kildare (Untitled)....MGM
Doomed Caravan....Para
Double Date....Univ
Down Argentine Way....20th-Fox
Drums of the Desert....Mono
Duley....MGM

EAST of the River....WB-FN
Ellery Queen—Master Detective....Col
Ellery Queen's Penthouse Mystery...Col
Escape....MGM
Escape to Glory....Col

FACE at the Window....Foreign
Face Behind the Mask, The....Col
Fantasia....Disney
Fargo Kid, The....RKO
Father's Sons....WB
Father Is a Prince....WB-FN
Federal Fugitives....Prod
Fight for Life....Col
Flame of New Orleans, The....Univ
Flight Command....MGM
Flight From Destiny....WB
Flying Wild....Mono
Footlight Fever....RKO
Footsteps in the Dark....WB
For Beauty's Sake....20th-Fox
Four Mothers....WB
Free and Easy....MGM
Friendly Neighbors....Rep
Frontier Vengeance....Rep

GALLANT Sons....MGM
Gay Caballero, The....20th-Fox
Gentle People, The....WB
Girl, A Guy and a Gob, A....RKO
Girl in the News....20th-Fox
Girl Must Live, A....20th-Fox
Girls Under 21....Col
Give Us Wings....Univ
Golden Hoofs....20th-Fox
Gone With the Wind....MGM
Go West....MGM
Great Dictator, The....UA
Great American Broadcast....20th-Fox
Great Lie, The....WB
Great Mr. Nobody, The....WB
Great Plane Robbery....Col
Great Train Robbery, The....Rep
Great Profile, The....20th-Fox
Great Swindle, The....Col

HANG Out the Moon....RKO
Hard Boiled Canary....Para
Hatred....Foreign
Here Comes Happiness....WB
Here Comes The Navy....WB
Here Is Ireland....Foreign
Her First Beau....Col
Her First Romance....Mono
Heritage....Foreign
High Sierra....WB-FN
Highway West....WB
Hit Parade of 1941, The....Rep
Hit the Road....Univ
Hold Back the Dawn....Para
Honeymoon for Three....WB
Horror Island....Univ
Hudson's Bay....20th-Fox
Hullabaloo....MGM
Hurry, Charlie, Hurry....RKO

I'M Nobody's Sweetheart Now....Univ
In Old Cheyenne....Rep
In Old Colorado....Para
Inspector Hornleigh Goes To It 20*th-Fox*
Invisible Woman....Univ
It Happened to One Man....RKO
I Wanted Wings....Para

JENNIE....20th-Fox

KEEPING Company....MGM
Kid's Last Ride, The....Mono
Kiss of Fire, The....Foreign
Kiss the Boys Goodbye....Para
Kisses for Breakfast....WB
Kitty Foyle....RKO
Knockout....WB-FN
Knute Rockne—All American....WB

LADDIE....RKO
Lady Be Good....MGM
Lady Eve, The....Para
Lady from Cheyenne....Univ
Lady from New Orleans....Rep
Lady with Red Hair, The....WB
Land of Liberty....MGM
Las Vegas Nights....Para
Law and Order....Univ
Let's Make Music....RKO
Letter, The....WB-FN
Life With Henry....Para
Li'l Abner....RKO
Lilac Domino....Foreign
Little Bit of Heaven, A....Univ
Little Miss Muffett....Para
Little Men....RKO
Little Nellie Kelly....MGM
Living Dead....St. Rts
Lone Rider Crosses the Rio....Prod
Lone Rider Rides On....Prod
Lone Star Raiders....Rep
Lone Wolf Keeps a Date, The....Col
Lone Wolf Takes a Chance....Col
Long Voyage Home....UA
Love Crazy....MGM
Love Thy Neighbor....Para
Lucky Devils....Univ

MAD Doctor, The....Para
Maisie Was a Lady....MGM
Major Barbara....UA
Man Betrayed, A....Rep
Man Made Monster....Univ
Man of the Hour, The....Foreign Manpower....WB
Man Who Lost Himself, The....Univ
Margie....Univ
Mark of Zorro, The....20th-Fox
Mayerling to Sarajevo....Foreign
Meet Boston Blackie....Col
Meet John Doe....WB
Meet the Chump....Univ
Meet the Missus....Rep
Meet the Wildcat....Univ
Melody and Moonlight....Rep
Melody for Three....RKO
Melody Ranch....Rep
Men of Action....Para
Men of the Timberlands....Univ
Men of Boys Town....MGM
Merry Wives, The....Foreign
Mexican Spitfire Out West....RKO
Miami....20th-Fox
Michael Shayne, Private Detective....20th-Fox
Misbehaving Husbands....Producers
Missing Ten Days....Col
Miss Wheelwright Discovers America WB
Mr. and Mrs. Smith....RKO
Model Wife....Univ
Monster and the Girl, The....Para
Moon Over Burma....Para
Mozart....Foreign
Mr. District Attorney....Rep
Mr. Dynamite....Univ
Murder Among Friends....20th-Fox
Murder at the Baskervilles....Foreign
Murder Over New York....20th-Fox
Mutiny in the Arctic....Univ
My Life with Caroline....RKO

NAVAL Academy....Col
Neutral Port....Foreign
New Wine....UA
Next Time We Love....Univ
Nice Girl....Univ
Night at Earl Carroll's....Para
Night of January 16th....Para
Night Train....20th-Fox
Nobody's Children....Col
No, No, Nanette....RKO
North from the Lone Star....Col
North West Mounted Police....Para
Nurses Don't Tell....Para
Nurse's Secret....WB

OH Charlie....Univ
Old Bill and Son....Foreign
Ole Swimmin' Hole....Mono
One Night in Lisbon....Para
One Night in the Tropics....Univ
Open Road....Foreign
Outlaw, The....20th-Fox
Outlaws of the Panhandle....Col
Outlaws of the Rio Grande....Prod

PALS of the Pecos....Rep
Penalty, The....MGM
Penny Serenade....Col
Pepe Le Moko....Foreign
Personal Column....Foreign
Petticoat Politics....Rep
Phantom of Chinatown....Mono
Phantom Cowboy, The....Rep
Phantom Submarine....Col
Philadelphia Story....MGM
Pinto Kid, The....Col
Pioneer Woman....Para
Pirates on Horesback....Para
Playgirl....RKO
Pony Post....Univ
Pot O' Gold....UA
Power Dive....Para
Prairie Schooners....Col
Pride of the Bowery....Mono

QUARTERBACK, The....Para
Quiet Wedding....Foreign

RAGE in Heaven....MGM
Reaching for the Sun....Para
Reluctant Dragon....RKO
Remedy for Riches....RKO
Repent at Leisure....RKO
Return of Daniel Boone....Col
Ride Kelly Ride....20th-Fox
Ride On Vaquero....20th-Fox
Riders of Black Mountain....Producers
Ridin' on a Rainbow....Rep
Ridin' The Cherokee Trail....Mono
Road Show....UA
Road to Zanzibar....Para
Robbers of the Range....RKO
Robin Hood of the Pecos....Rep
Rolling Home to Texas....Mono
Romance of the Rio Grande....20th-Fox
Rookies on Parade....Rep
Round Up, The....Para

SAILORS Three....Foreign
Saint In Palm Springs....RKO
Sandy Gets Her Man....Univ
Sandy Steps Out....Univ
San Francisco Docks....Univ
Santa Fe Trail....WB-FN
Scattergood Baines....RKO
Scotland Yard....20th-Fox
Sea Wolf, The....WB
Second Chorus....Para
Secret Evidence....Producers
Senate Page Boys....Col
Sergeant York....WB
Seven Sinners....Univ
Shadows on the Stairs....WB-FN
She Couldn't Say, No....WB-FN
She Knew All the Answers....Col
Shepherd of the Hills....Para
Shining Victory....WB
Shot in the Dark....WB
Sign of the Wolf....Mono
Singapore Woman....WB
Singing Hills....Rep
Sis Hopkins....Rep
Six Lessons from Madame Lazonga....Univ
Skylark....Para
Sleepers West....20th-Fox
Slightly Tempted....Univ
So Ends Our Night....UA
Son of Monte Cristo....UA
South of Suez....WB
South to Panama....Prod
So You Won't Talk....Col
Spellbound....Foreign
Stars Look Down, The....MGM
Strange Alibi....WB-FN
Strawberry Blonde....WB-FN
Street of Memories....20th-Fox
Sunny....RKO

The production number, cast, audience classification, running time, release date and date reviewed are listed in THE CHART alphabetically under company names. Coming Attractions are printed in Italics.

TAKE Me Back to Oklahoma.....Mono
Tall, Dark and Handsome.....20th-Fox
Texas .....Col
Texas Rangers Ride Again.....Para
Texas Terrors .....Rep
That Hamilton Woman!.....UA
That Night in Rio.....20th-Fox
That Uncertain Feeling.....UA
They Dare Not Love.....Col
They Met in Argentina .....RKO
They Met on Skis.....Foreign
They Knew What They Wanted.....RKO
Thief of Bagdad.....UA
Third Finger, Left Hand.....MGM
Thirty Days Hath September.....WB
This England .....Foreign
This Thing Called Love.....Col
Three Men from Texas.....Para
Three Sons O'Guns.....WB
Thundering Frontier .....Col
Time Out for Rhythm.....Col
Tin Pan Alley.....20th-Fox
Tobacco Road 20th-Fox
Tom, Dick and Harry.....RKO
Too Many Blondes.....Univ
Too Many Girls.....RKO
Topper Returns .....UA
Trail Blazers .....Rep
Trailing Double Trouble.....Mono
Trail of the Silver Spurs.....Mono
Trail of the Vigilantes.....Univ
Trial of Mary Dugan.....MGM
Trigger Pals .....Prod
Tugboat Annie Sails Again.....WB-FN
Tumbledown Ranch in Arizona....Mono
Two-Gun Sheriff.....Rep
Two Women .....Foreign
UNDER Age .....Col
Underground .....WB
Unfinished Business .....Univ
Uniform, The .....MGM
VERY Young Lady, A.....20th-Fox
Victory .....Para
Villain Still Pursued Her.....RKO
Virginia .....Para
Vivacious Lady .....RKO
WAGONS Roll at Night.....WB-FN
Wagon Train .....RKO
Washington Melodrama .....MGM
Western Union 20th-Fox
West of Abilene .....Col
West of Pinto Basin.....Mono
Where Did You Get That Girl?.....Univ
Who Killed Aunt Maggie?.....Rep
Wildcat of Tucson .....Col
Wild Man of Borneo.....MGM
Winged Victory .....WB
Woman's Face, The.....MGM
World in Flames .....Para
Wyoming Wildcat .....Rep
YOU'LL Find Out.....RKO
Young Bill Hickok .....Rep
You're the One.....Para
You're Out of Luck.....Mono
Youth Will Be Served.....20th-Fox
You Will Remember .....Foreign
ZIEGFELD Girl, The .....MGM

THE CHART

Productions are listed alphabetically under distributors. Parenthesis after title denotes audience classification: (A) Adult, (G) General.
Numbers following titles are production numbers.
Release dates are furnished as soon as available (advance dates are tentative and subject to change).
Running time is subject to change.
Managers' Round Table exploitation references may be found in the Product Digest Section, which is published every other week alternately with the release chart.
For complete listing of 1940-41 Short Subjects see Product Digest, page 81.

COMING ATTRACTIONS

are listed in alphabetical order with the other productions of each distributor, and may be identified at a glance by reason of being in italic type.

COLUMBIA

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Across the Sierras 2212 (See Product Digest, page 25)	Bill Elliott-Luana Walters	Feb. 13,'41	58
Adam Had Four Sons (A) 2006	Warner Baxter-Ingrid Bergman-Fay Wray	Feb. 18,'41	80	Feb. 22,'41
And Now Good-Bye	Joan Fontaine-Brian Aherne	Not Set
Arizona (G) 2101	Jean Arthur-Wm. Holden	Dec. 25,'40	125	Nov. 23,'40
Beyond the Sacramento 2210 (See Product Digest, page 3)	Bill Elliott-Evelyn Keyes	Nov. 14,'40	58
Blondie Goes Latin (G) 2015	P. Singleton-A. Lake-L. Simms	Feb. 27,'41	69	Mar. 1,'41
Blondie Plays Cupid (G) 2016	P. Singleton-A. Lake-L. Simms	Oct. 31,'40	68	Nov. 2,'40
Chain Gang	Otto Kruger-Gloria Dickson	Not Set
Devil Commands, The (A) 2028	Boris Karloff - Amanda Duff - Richard Fiske-Ann Revere	Feb. 3,'41	65	Feb. 22,'41
Ellery Queen—Master Detective (G) 2024	Ralph Bellamy-Marg't Lindsay	Nov. 30,'40	69	Nov. 30,'40
Ellery Queen's Penthouse Mystery (G)	Ralph Bellamy-M. Lindsay-Chas. Grapewin	Mar. 24,'41	65	Mar. 1,'41
Escape to Glory (G) 2012	Pat O'Brien-Constance Bennett	Nov. 28,'40	74	Nov. 23,'40
Face Behind the Mask, The (A) 2029	Peter Lorre-Evelyn Keyser	Jan. 16,'41	69	Feb. 15,'41
Fight for Life (A)	Myron McCormick	Not Set	69	Mar. 16,'40
Glamour for Sale (A) 1040	Roger Pryor-Anita Louise	Sept. 30,'40	57	Nov. 9,'40
Girls Under 21 (G) 2038	Paul Kelly-Rochelle Hudson	Oct. 24,'40	64	Nov. 16,'40
Great Plane Robbery, The (G) 2031	Jack Holt-Vicki Lester	Dec. 9,'40	53	Nov. 23,'40
Great Swindle, The (See Product Digest, page 64)	Jack Holt-Marjorie Reynolds	Apr. 30,'41
Her First Beau	Jane Withers-Jackie Cooper-Edith Fellows	Not Set
Lone Wolf Keeps a Date, The (G) 2021	Warren William-Francis Robinson	Nov. 23,'40	67	Nov. 16,'40
Lone Wolf Takes a Chance (See Product Digest, page 64)	Warren William - Henry Wilcoxon-June Storey	Mar. 6,'41
Meet Boston Blackie (G) 2027	Chester Morris-Rochelle Hudson	Feb. 20,'41	58	Mar. 8,'41
Missing Ten Days (A) 2044 (Reviewed under title, "Ten Days in Paris.")	Rex Harrison-Karen Verne	Feb. 28,'41	82	Oct. 28,'39
Naval Acadamy	Jimmy Lydon-Freddie Bartholomew-Joe Brown, Jr.	Not Set
North from the Lone Star 2213	Bill Elliott	Mar. 31,'41
Nobody's Children 2030	Edith Fellows-Lois Wilson	Oct. 17,'40	65
Outlaws of the Panhandle 2205 (See Product Digest, page 55)	Chas. Starrett-Francis Robinson	Feb. 27,'41	59
Penny Serenade (See Product Digest, page 29)	Irene Dunne-Cary Grant	Apr. 17,'41
Phantom Submarine, The 2033 (See Product Digest, page 23)	Anita Louise-Bruce Bennett	Dec. 20,'40	70
Pinto Kid, The 2204 (See Product Digest, page 31)	Chas. Starrett-Louis Currie	Jan. 9,'41	61
Return of Daniel Boone	Bill Elliott	Not Set
Senate Page Boys	H. Marshall-Virginia Bruce	Not Set
She Knew All the Answers	Joan Bennett-Franchot Tone	Not Set
So You Won't Talk (G) 2018	Joe E. Brown-Frances Robinson	Oct. 3,'40	69	Sept. 28,'40
Texas	Wm. Holden-Warren William	Not Set
They Dare Not Love	George Brent-Martha Scott-Paul Lukas-Richard Lyon	Apr. 24,'41
This Thing Called Love (A) 2005	Rosalind Russell-Melvyn Douglas	Jan. 2,'41	98	Dec. 28,'40
Thundering Frontier, The (G) 2203	Chas. Starrett - Iris Meredith -	Dec. 5,'40	57	Sept. 21,'40
Time Out for Rhythm	Rudy Vallee-Rosemary Lane-Ann Miller	Not Set
Under Age	Nan Grey-Alan Baxter-Mary Anderson	Apr. 24,'41
West of Abilene (G) 2202	Chas. Starrett-Marjorie Cooley-	Oct. 21,'40	57	July 20,'40
Wildcat of Tucson 2211 (See Product Digest, page 22)	Bill Elliott-Evelyn Young	Dec. 31,'40	59

METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Andy Hardy's Private Secretary (G) 126	M. Rooney-L. Stone-I. Hunter	Feb. 21,'41	101	Feb. 22,'41
Bad Man, The 124 (See Product Digest, page 47)	Wallace Beery-Lionel Barrymore-Laraine Day	Mar. 28,'41
Billy the Kid	Robt. Taylor-Brian Donlevy-Ian Hunter-M. O'Sullivan	Not Set
Bitter Sweet (G) 110 (Color)	Jeanette MacDonald - Nelson Eddy	Nov. 8,'40	94	Nov. 16,'40
Blonde Inspiration (A) 123	John Shelton - Virginia Grey - Albert Dekker-L. Nolan	Feb. 7,'41	72	Feb. 22,'41
Blossoms In the Dust (Color)	Greer Garson-W. Pidgeon-Marsha Hunt	Not Set
Comrade X (G) 113	Clark Gable-Hedy Lamarr	Dec. 13,'40	89	Dec. 7,'40
Come Live With Me (A) 122	James Stewart-Hedy Lamarr	Jan. 31,'41	85	Jan. 25,'41
Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde	Spencer Tracy-Ingrid Bergman-Lana Turner	Not Set
Dr. Kildare's Crisis 115 (G)	Lionel Barrymore-Lew Ayres	Nov. 29,'40	75	Nov. 30,'40
Dr. Kildare (Untitled)	Lionel Barrymore-L. Ayres-Laraine Day	Not Set
Dulcy (G) 106	Ann Sothern-Ian Hunter	Oct. 4,'40	75	Oct. 5,'40
Escape (A) 108	N. Shearer-R. Taylor-Nazimova	Nov. 1,'40	104	Nov. 2,'40
Flight Command (G) 117	Robert Taylor-Ruth Hussey	Jan. 3,'41	113	Dec. 21,'40
Free and Easy 127 (See Product Digest, page 63)	Ruth Hussey-Robert Cummings	Feb. 28,'41	55
Gallant Sons (G) 111	Jackie Cooper-Gene Reynolds	Nov. 15,'40	70	Nov. 16,'40
Go West (G) 114	Marx Bros.	Dec. 6,'40	82	Dec. 14,'40
Gone With the Wind (A) (Color)	Vivien Leigh - Clark Gable - Leslie Howard - Olivia de Haviland	Jan. 17,'41	228	Dec. 16,'39
Hullabaloo (G) 109	Frank Morgan-Billie Burke	Oct. 25,'40	77	Oct. 26,'40
Keeping Company (G) 116	John Shelton-Ann Rutherford	Dec. 27,'40	80	Jan. 4,'41
Lady Be Good	Ann Sothern-Eleanor Powell-Robert Young	Not Set
Land of Liberty (G) 120	Historical	Jan. 24,'41	98	Feb. 8,'41
Little Nelly Kelly (G) 112	Judy Garland-George Murphy	Nov. 22,'40	100	Nov. 16,'40
Love Crazy	William Powell-Myrna Loy-Fay Bainter	Not Set
Maisie Was a Lady (G) 118	Ann Sothern-Lew Ayres-Maureen O'Sullivan	Jan. 10,'41	79	Jan. 11,'41
Men of Boys Town (G)	S. Tracy-M. Rooney-B. Watson	Apr. 11,'41	106	Mar. 15,'41
Penalty, The (G) 129	L. Barrymore-Edw. Arnold	Mar. 14,'41	80	Mar. 15,'41
Philadelphia Story (A) 119	K. Hepburn-C. Grant-J. Stewart	Jan. 17,'41	112	Nov. 30,'40
Rage in Heaven (A) 128	Robt. Montgomery-Ingrid Bergman-George Sanders	Mar. 7,'41	85	Mar. 8,'41
Stars Look Down, The (A)	Margaret Lockwood-Michael Redgrave	Not Set	103	Jan. 27,'40

THE RELEASE CHART

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Third Finger, Left Hand (G) 107	Melvyn Douglas-Myrna Loy	Oct.	11,'40	96. Oct. 12,'40
Trial of Mary Dugan (A) 125	Laraine Day-Robert Young	Feb.	14,'41	90. Feb. 15,'41
Uniform, The	Clark Gable-Rosalind Russell	Not Set
Washington Melodrama	Frank Morgan-Kent Taylor-Ann Rutherford	Apr.	4,'41
Wild Man of Borneo 121 (See Product Digest, page 39)	F. Morgan-B. Burke-J. Preisser	Jan.	24,'41
Woman's Face, A	Joan Crawford - Melvyn Douglas-Conrad Veidt	Not Set
Ziegfeld Girl, The	J. Stewart - J. Garland - H. Lamarr-T. Martin	Apr.	18,'41

(See Product Digest, page 62)

MONOGRAM

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Chamber of Horrors	Leslie Banks-Gina Malo	Dec.	20,'40
Dead Man's Shoes	Leslie Banks-Wilfrid Lawson	Jan.	15,'41
Drums of the Desert (G)	Ralph Byrd-Lorna Gray	Oct.	7,'40	64. Oct. 12,'40
Flying Wild	Leo Gorcey-Bobby Jordan	Mar.	10,'41	63. Mar. 1,'41
Her First Romance (G)	Edith Fellows-Wilbur Evans	Dec.	25,'40	77. Dec. 28,'40
Kid's Last Ride, The	Ray Corrigan-John King	Feb.	10,'41
Ole Swimmin' Hole (G)	Jackie Moran-Marcia Mae Jones	Oct.	21,'40	78. Oct. 26,'40
Phantom of Chinatown (G)	Keye Luke-Grant Withers	Nov.	19,'40	62. Nov. 23,'40
Pride of the Bowery (G)	Leo Gorcey-Bobby Jordan	Dec.	15,'40	63. Jan. 18,'41
Ridin' the Cherokee Trail (G)	Tex Ritter	Feb.	25,'41	62. Feb. 22,'41
Rolling Home to Texas (G)	Tex Ritter	Dec.	30,'40	62. Feb. 1,'41
Sign of the Wolf (See Product Digest, page 62)	Grace Bradley-M. Whalen	Mar.	15,'41
Take Me Back to Oklahoma (G)	Tex Ritter-Terry Walker	Nov.	11,'40	64. Nov. 30,'40
Trail of the Silver Spurs (G)	John King-Ray Corrigan	Jan.	4,'41	58. Jan. 25,'41
Trailing Double Trouble (G)	John King-Ray Corrigan	Oct.	1,'40	58. Oct. 19,'40
Tumbledown Ranch in Arizona	Ray Corrigan-John King	Mar.	28,'41
West of Pinto Basin (G)	Ray Corrigan-John King	Nov.	25,'40	56. Dec. 7,'40
You're Out of Luck (G)	Frankie Darro	Jan.	20,'41	62. Jan. 11,'41

PARAMOUNT

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Arise My Love (A) 4009	Claudette Colbert-Ray Milland	Nov.	8,'40	113. Oct. 19,'40
Border Vigilantes 4053	Wm. Boyd-Russel Hayden-Andy Clyde	Apr.	18,'41
Caught in the Draft	Bob Hope-Dorothy Lamour-Lynne Overman	May	30,'41
Cherokee Strip (G) 4005	Richard Dix-Florence Rice	Oct.	11,'40	86. Oct. 5,'40
Christmas In July (G) 4007	Dick Powell-Ellen Drew	Oct.	25,'40	72. Sept. 21,'40
Dancing on a Dime (G) 4008	Grace MacDonald-Robt. Paige	Nov.	1,'40	75. Oct. 12,'40
Doomed Caravan (G) 4051	W. Boyd-R. Hayden-A. Clyde	Jan.	10,'41	61. Jan. 11,'41
Hard Boiled Canary (G) 4021	Allan Jones-Margaret Lindsay	Mar.	7,'41	80. Mar. 1,'41
Hold Back the Dawn	Charles Boyer - Olivia de Havilland-P. Goddard	Not Set
In Old Colorado (G) 4052	W. Boyd-R. Hayden-A. Clyde	Mar.	14,'41	67. Feb. 22,'41
I Wanted Wings	Brian Donlevy-R. Milland-W. Holden	Aug.	8,'41
Kiss the Boys Goodbye	Mary Martin-Don Ameche	July	4,'41
Lady Eve, The (A) 4022	Barbara Stanwyck-H. Fonda-Chas. Colburn-E. Pallette	Mar.	21,'41	95. Mar. 1,'41
Las Vegas Nights 4023 (See Product Digest, page 62)	Phil Regan-Bert Wheeler-Tommy Dorsey	Mar.	28,'41
Life with Henry (G) 4016	Jackie Cooper-Leila Ernest	Jan.	24,'41	74. Jan. 18,'41
Little Miss Muffett	Ann Shirley-Richard Carlson	Not Set
Love Thy Neighbor (G) 4013	Jack Benny-Fred Allen-Mary Martin-"Rochester"	Dec.	27,'40	82. Dec. 21,'40
Mad Doctor, The (A) 4018	B. Rathbone-E. Drew-J. Howard	Feb.	14,'41	90. Feb. 8,'41
Men of Action	Wm. Boyd-Russell Hayden	Not Set
Monster and the Girl, The (G) 4020	Ellen Drew-Red Cameron	Feb.	28,'41	63. Feb. 15,'41
Moon Over Burma (G) 4006	Dorothy Lamour-Robert Preston	Oct.	18,'40	75. Oct. 19,'40
Night at Earl Carroll's, A (G) 4011	Ken Murray-Rose Hobart	Dec.	6,'40	63. Nov. 16,'40
Night of January 16th	Robert Preston-Ellen Drew	Not Set
North West Mounted Police (G) 3946 (Color) ('39-'40 Production)	Gary Cooper-Madeleine Carroll-Robt. Preston-P. Goddard	Dec.	27,'40	125. Oct. 26,'40
Nurses Don't Tell	Anne Shirley-Rich'd Carlson	Not Set
One Night in Lisbon	Madeleine Carroll-Fred Mc-Murray-Dame May Whitty	May	16,'41
Pioneer Woman	Barbara Stanwyck-Joel Mc-Crea-Brian Donlevy	Not Set
Pirates on Horseback	Wm. Boyd-Russell Hayden	June	6,'41
Power Dive	Richard Arlen-Jean Parker-Billy Lee	Apr.	25,'41
Quarterback, The (G) 4004	Wayne Morris-Virginia Dale	Oct.	4,'40	69. Oct. 5,'40
Reaching for the Sun	Joel McCrea-Ellen Drew-E. Bracken-C. Coburn	May	2,'41
Road to Zanzibar, The (G) 4025	Bing Crosby - Bob Hope - Dorothy Lamour	Apr.	11,'41	90. Mar. 15,'41
Round Up, The (G) 4024	R. Dix-P. Morison-P. Foster	Apr.	4,'41	90. Mar. 15,'41
Second Chorus (G) 4014	Fred Astaire-Paulette Goddard	Jan.	3,'41	83. Dec. 7,'40
Shepherd of the Hills (Color)	John Wayne - Betty Field - Harry Carey-Beulah Bondi	June	13,'41
Skylark	Claudette Colbert-Ray Milland-Brian Aherne	Not Set
Texas Rangers Ride Again (G) 4012	J. Howard-E. Drew-M. Robson	Dec.	13,'40	67. Nov. 2,'40
Three Men from Texas (G) 4050	W. Boyd-R. Hayden-A. Clyde	Nov.	15,'40	76. Sept. 14,'40
Victory (A) 4015	Fredric March-Betty Field	Jan.	17,'41	80. Dec. 21,'40
Virginia (A) 4019 (Color)	Madeleine Carroll-Fred Mac-Murray	Feb.	21,'41	110. Jan. 18,'41
World in Flames (G) 4010	Documentary	Nov.	15,'40	60. Oct. 19,'40
You're the One (G) 4017	Bonnie Baker-O. Tucker's Orch.-Jerry Colonna-E. E. Horton	Feb.	7,'41	81. Feb. 8,'41

PRODUCERS RELEASING CORP.

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Billy the Kid's Gun Justice 159	Bob Steele	Dec.	27,'40	63
Billy the Kid's Range War 160	Bob Steele	Jan.	24,'41	60
Caught in the Act 107	Henry Armetta	Jan.	17,'41	62
Devil Bat 105	Bela Lugosi	Dec.	13,'40	68
Federal Fugitive 108 (See Product Digest, page 75)	Neil Hamilton	Mar.	29,'41
Lone Rider Crosses the Rio 164	George Houston	Feb.	28,'41
Lone Rider Rides On, The 163	George Houston	Jan.	10,'41	64
MisBehaving Husbands (G) 104	Harry Landon-Ralph Byrd	Dec.	20,'40	65. Dec. 21,'40
Outlaws of the Rio Grande (G) 155	Tim McCoy	Mar.	7,'41	63. Mar. 1,'41
Riders of Black Mountain 154	Tim McCoy-Pauline Haddon	Nov.	11,'40	59
Secret Evidence (G) 106	M. Reynolds-C. Quigley	Jan.	31,'41	65. Feb. 8,'41
South to Panama 110	Roger Pryor-Virginia Vale	Apr.	18,'41
Trigger Pals 161	Bob Steele	Mar.	22,'41

REPUBLIC

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Arkansas Judge (G) 010	Weaver Brothers and Elviry	Jan.	28,'41	72. Jan. 25,'41
Back in the Saddle (G) 045	Gene Autry-Smiley Burnette	Mar.	14,'41	71. Mar. 15,'41
Barnyard Follies (G) 008	M. Lee-R. Davis-J. Storey	Dec.	6,'40	67. Nov. 23,'40
Border Legion, The (G) 053	R. Rogers-G. Hayes-C. Hughes	Dec.	5,'40	57. Nov. 30,'40
Behind the News (G) 009	Lloyd Nolan-Doris Davenport	Dec.	20,'40	75. Dec. 14,'40
Bowery Boy (G) 019	Dennis O'Keefe-Jimmy Lydon	Dec.	27,'40	70. Jan. 4,'41
Friendly Neighbors (G) 007	Weaver Bros. and Elviry	Nov.	7,'40	67. Nov. 16,'40
Frontier Vengeance (G) 072	Don Barry-Betty Moran	Oct.	10,'40	57. Oct. 12,'40
Great Train Robbery, The (G) 021	Bob Steele-Claire Carleton	Feb.	28,'41	61. Mar. 8,'41
Hit Parade of 1941, The (G) 001	Kenny Baker-Frances Langford	Oct.	15,'40	88. Oct. 19,'40
In Old Cheyenne 055	Roy Rogers-"Gabby" Hayes	Apr.	1,'41
Lady from New Orleans	John Wayne-Ona Munson-Ray Middleton	Not Set
Lone Star Raiders (G) 064	3 Mesquiteers-June Johnson	Dec.	23,'40	57. Dec. 21,'40
Man Betrayed, A (G) 011	John Wayne-Frances Dee-Edw. Ellis	Mar.	7,'41	80. Mar. 15,'41
Meet the Missus (G) 018	Roscoe Karns - Ruth Donnelly	Nov.	29,'40	68. Nov. 23,'40
Melody and Moonlight (G) 005	Johnny Downs-Vera Vague	Oct.	11,'40	73. Oct. 5,'40
Melody Ranch (G) 041	Gene Autry-Jimmy Durante	Nov.	15,'40	84. Nov. 23,'40
Mr. District Attorney 012	Dennis O'Keefe-Peter Lorre-Florence Rice	Mar.	27,'41
Pals of the Pecos	Three Mesquiteers	Not Set
Petticoat Politics (G) 020	Roscoe Karns-Ruth Donnelly-Spencer Charters	Jan.	31,'41	67. Feb. 15,'41
Phantom Cowboy, The 075	Don Barry-Virginia Carrol	Feb.	14,'41	56. Feb. 15,'41
Prairie Pioneers (G) 065	Bob Livingston-Bob Steele	Feb.	16,'41	58. Mar. 1,'41
Ridin' on a Rainbow (G) 044	Gene Autry - Smiley Burnette-Mary Lee-Carol Adams	Jan.	24,'41	79. Feb. 1,'41
Robin Hood of the Pecos (G) 054	Roy Rogers-Geo. "Gabby" Hayes -Sally Payne	Jan.	14,'41	59. Jan. 18,'41
Rookies on Parade	Bob Crosby-Marie Wilson-Ruth Terry	Not Set
Singing Hills	Gene Autry-Smiley Burnette-Mary Lee	Not Set
Sis Hopkins 002	Judy Canova-Bob Crosby-Chas. Butterworth	Apr.	6,'41
Texas Terrors (G) 073	Don Barry-Julie Duncan	Nov.	22,'40	57. Nov. 23,'40
Trail Blazers (G) 063	3 Mesquiteers-Pauline Moore	Nov.	11,'40	58. Nov. 2,'40
Two-Gun Sheriff	Don Barry	Apr.	11,'41
Who Killed Aunt Maggie? (G) 006	J. Hubbard-W. Barrie-W. Abel	Nov.	1,'40	70. Nov. 2,'40
Young Bill Hickok (G) 052	Don "Red" Barry-Julie Duncan	Jan.	6,'41	56. Jan. 11,'41
Wyoming Wildcat (G) 074	Roy Rogers-Geo. "Gabby" Hayes	Oct.	21,'40	59. Oct. 5,'40

RKO RADIO

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Along the Rio Grande (G) 183	Tim Holt-Ray Whitley	Feb.	7,'41	64. Jan. 25,'41
Before the Fact	Cary Grant-Joan Fontaine Sir Cedric Hardwicke	Not Set
Certain Mr. Scratch, A	Thomas Mitchell-W. Huston-Anne Shirley	Not Set
Citizen Kane 118 (See Product Digest, page 61)	Orson Welles-Dorothy Comingore	Feb.	28,'41

THE RELEASE CHART

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Convoy (A) 161	Clive Brook-John Clements-Judy-Campbell-Edward Chapman	Jan. 3,'41	78.	June 29,'40
Devil and Miss Jones, The 122 (See Product Digest, page 63)	Jean Arthur-Charles Coburn	Apr. 11,'41
Fargo Kid, The (G) 182	Tim Holt-Ray Whitley	Dec. 6,'40	63.	Nov. 2,'40
Footlight Fever 119 (See Product Digest, page 74)	Alan Mowbray-Donald Mc-Bride-Carol Hughes	Mar. 21,'41
Girl, a Guy and a Gob, A (G) 120	George Murphy-Lucille Ball	Mar. 14,'41	91.	Mar. 8,'41
Hang Out the Moon	Rosemary Lane-D. O'Keefe	Not Set
Hurry, Charlie, Hurry 129	Leon Errol-Mildred Coles-Russell Gleason	May 2,'41
It Happened to One Man (A)	Wilfrid Lawson-Nora Swinburne	Not Set	80.	Mar. 1,'41
Kitty Foyle (G) 112	Ginger Rogers-Dennis Morgan	Dec. 27,'40	108.	Dec. 21,'40
Laddie (G) 107	T. Hole-V. Gilmore-J. Carroll	Oct. 18,'40	70.	Sept. 21,'40
Let's Make Music (G) 115	Bob Crosby-Jean Rogers-Elizabeth Risdon-Joseph Buloff	Jan. 17,'41	85.	Dec. 14,'40
Li'l Abner (G) 100	Granville Owen-Mona Ray-Johnnie Morris-Martha O'Driscoll	Nov. 1,'40	78.	Nov. 9,'40
Little Men (G) 110	Kay Francis-Geo. Bancroft-Jack Oakie-Jimmy Lydon	Jan. 10,'41	84.	Dec. 7,'40
Melody for Three (G) 124	Jean Hersholt-Fay Wray	Mar. 28,'41	67.	Mar. 8,'41
Mexican Spitfire Out West (G) 111	Lupe Velez-Leon Errol	Nov. 15,'40	76.	Oct. 12,'40
Mr. and Mrs. Smith (A) 117	Carole Lombard-Robt. Montgomery-Gene Raymond	Jan. 31,'41	95.	Jan. 25,'41
My Life with Caroline	Ronald Colman-Anna Lee-Katharine Leslie	Not Set
No, No Nanette (G) 114	Anna Neagle-Richard Carlson	Dec. 20,'40	96.	Dec. 28,'40
Playgirl (G) 121	Kay Francis-James Ellison	Mar. 7,'41	75.	Dec. 14,'40
Reluctant Dragon	Disney Cartoon Feature	Not Set
Remedy for Riches (G) 113	Jean Hersholt-Dorothy Lovett	Nov. 29,'40	66.	Nov. 23,'40
Repent at Leisure	Kent Taylor-Wendy Barrie	Apr. 4,'41
Robbers of the Range 184	Tim Holt-Virginia Vale	Apr. 18,'41
Saint in Palm Springs, The (G) 116	George Sanders-Wendy Barrie	Jan. 24,'41	66.	Jan. 4,'41
Scattergood Baines (G) 123	Guy Kibbee-Dink Trout-Carol Hughes	Feb. 21,'41	69.	Feb. 15,'41
Sunny	Anna Neagle-John Carroll-Ray Bolger	Not Set
They Knew What They Wanted (A) 104	Chas. Laughton-Carole Lombard	Oct. 25,'40	96.	Oct. 12,'40
They Met in Argentina 128	Gene Raymond - Maureen O'Hara-Alberto Vila	Apr. 25,'41
Tom, Dick and Harry 126	Ginger Rogers-G. Murphy-B. Meredith-A. Marshal	May 9,'41
Too Many Girls (G) 106	Lucille Ball-Richard Carlson	Nov. 8,'40	85.	Oct. 12,'40
Villain Still Pursued Her, The (G) 105	Anita Louise-Richard Cromwell	Oct. 11,'40	67.	July 27,'40
Vivacious Lady (re-issue)	Ginger Rogers-Jas. Stewart	Mar. 28,'41	90.	May 7,'38
Wagon Train (G) 181	Tim Holt-Ray Whitley	Oct. 4,'40	59.	Oct. 12,'40
You'll Find Out (G) 108	Kay Kyser & Orch.-Peter Lorre-Boris Karloff-Bela Lugosi	Nov. 22,'40	97.	Nov. 16,'40

TWENTIETH CENTURY-FOX

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Blood and Sand (Color)	Tyrone Power-Linda Darnell-John Carradine-L. Cregar	May 30,'41
Bride Wore Crutches, The 112 (See Product Digest, page 30)	Lynne Roberts-Ted North	July 4,'41
Chad Hanna (A) 123 (Color)	Henry Fonda - Linda Darnell - Dorothy Lamour-Guy Kibbee-Jane Darwell	Dec. 27,'40	88.	Dec. 14,'40
Charter Pilot 118	Lynn Bari-Lloyd Nolan	Dec. 6,'40	70.	Nov. 30,'40
Cowboy and the Blonde, The	George Montgomery - Mary Beth Hughes	May 23,'41
Dead Men Tell 136 (See Product Digest, page 63)	Sidney Toler-Sen Yung-Jean Rogers	Mar. 28,'41
Down Argentine Way (G) 113 (Color)	Don Ameche - Betty Grable - C. Greenwood-C. Miranda	Oct. 11,'40	88.	Oct. 5,'40
For Beauty's Sake	Ted North-Marjorie Weaver	June 27,'41
Gay Caballero, The (G) 108	Cesar Romero - Sheila Ryan	Oct. 4,'40	57.	Sept. 28,'40
Girl in the News (A) 127	Marg't Lockwood-Barry Barnes	Jan. 31,'41	78.	Oct. 12,'40
Girl Must Live, A (A)	Lilli Palmer-M'g't Lockwood	Apr. 25,'41	92.	May 13,'39
Golden Hoofs (G) 130	Jane Withers-Charles Rogers	Feb. 14,'41	67.	Feb. 22,'41
Great American Broadcast	Alice Faye-Jack Oakie-John Payne	May 2,'41
Great Profile, The (G) 111	John Barrymore-Johne Payne	Oct. 25,'40	71.	Aug. 24,'40
Hudson's Bay (G) 115	Paul Muni-Gene Tierney-Virginia Field-John Sutton	Jan. 3,'41	94.	Dec. 28,'40
Inspector Hornleigh Goes To It 139	Gordon Harker-P. Calvert	Apr. 25,'41
Jennie 122 (A)	Virginia Gilmore-Wm. Henry	Dec. 20,'40	78.	Dec. 7,'40
Mark of Zorro, The (G) 117	Tyrone Power-Linda Darnell	Nov. 8,'40	93.	Nov. 9,'40
Miami (Color) ('41-'42 Production)	Don Ameche-Betty Grable-Robert Cummings	Not Set
Michael Shayne, Private Detective (G) 124	Lloyd Nolan-Marjorie Weaver	Jan. 10,'41	77.	Dec. 28,'40
Murder Among Friends (G) 132	John Hubbard-Marjorie Weaver	Feb. 28,'41	67.	Mar. 15,'41
Murder Over New York (G) 121	Sidney Toler-Marjorie Weaver	Dec. 13,'40	65.	Dec. 7,'40
Night Train (A) 114 (Reviewed under title, "Gestapo")	Marg't Lockwood-Rex Harrison	Oct. 18,'40	93.	June 8,'40
Outlaw, The 135	Walter Huston-T. Mitchell-Jane Russell-Jack Buetel	Mar. 21,'41
Ride Kelly Ride (G) 129	Marvin Stephens-Rita Quigley-Eugene Pallette	Feb. 7,'41	59.	Feb. 15,'41
Ride On Vaquero 138 (See Product Digest, page 64)	C. Romero-Mary B. Hughes	Apr. 18,'41
Romance of the Rio Grande (G) 125	C. Romero-R. Cortez-P. Morison	Jan. 17,'41	73.	Jan. 4,'41
Scotland Yard 131 (See Product Digest, page 47)	Nancy Kelly-John Loder-Edmund Gwenn	Apr. 4,'41
Sleepers West 134 (See Product Digest, page 54)	Lloyd Nolan-Lynn Bari-Mary Beth Hughes	Mar. 14,'41
Street of Memories (G) 102	Lynne Roberts-Guy Kibbee	Nov. 15,'40	70.	June 29,'40
Tall, Dark and Handsome (G) 128	Cesar Romero-Milton Berle-Virginia Gilmore	Jan. 24,'41	78.	Jan. 25,'41
That Night in Rio (A) (Color) 137	Alice Faye-Don Ameche-Carmen Miranda	Apr. 11,'41	90.	Mar. 8,'41
Tin Pan Alley (G) 120	Alice Faye-Betty Grable-Jack Oakie-John Payne	Nov. 29,'40	92.	Nov. 23,'40
Tobacco Road (A) 133	Gene Tierney-Charley Grapewin-Marjorie Rambeau	Mar. 7,'41	84.	Mar. 1,'41
Very Young Lady, A	Jane Withers-Nancy Kelly	June 6,'41
Western Union (G) 126 (Color)	Robt. Young - Randolph Scott - Dean Jagger-Brenda Joyce	Feb. 21,'41	95.	Feb. 8,'41
Youth Will Be Served (G) 119	J. Withers-J. Darwell-R. Conway	Nov. 22,'40	66.	Sept. 21,'40

UNITED ARTISTS

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Blackout (G) (Reviewed under title, "Contraband")	Valerie Hobson-Conrad Veidt	Nov. 29,'40	80.	Apr. 13,'40
Broadway Limited	Victor McLaglen - Marjorie Reynolds-Dennis O'Keefe	Not Set
Cheers for Miss Bishop (G)	Martha Scott-Wm. Gargan	Feb. 21,'41	95.	Jan. 18,'41
Great Dictator, The (G)	Charles Chaplin-Paulette Goddard-Jack Oakie	Mar. 7,'41	126.	Oct. 19,'40
Long Voyage Home (A)	J. Wayne-T. Mitchell-I. Hunter	Nov. 22,'40	105.	Oct. 12,'40
Major Barbara	Wendy Hiller-Robt. Morley	Not Set
New Wine	Ilona Massey-Binnie Barnes-Alan Curtis	Not Set
Pot O'Gold (See Product Digest, page 63)	James Stewart-Paulette Goddard-Horace Heidt	Apr. 11,'41
Roadshow (G)	Adolphe Menjou-John Hubbard-Carole Landis	Jan. 24,'41	85.	Feb. 15,'41
So Ends Our Night (G)	Fredric March-Marg't Sullivan-Glenn Ford-Frances Dee	Feb. 14,'41	120.	Jan. 25,'41
Son of Monte Criste (G)	Louis Hayward - Joan Bennett - George Sanders	Jan. 10,'41	102.	Dec. 7,'40
That Hamilton Woman! (See "Lady Hamilton," Product Digest, page 31)	Vivien Leigh-L. Olivier	Apr. 30,'41
That Uncertain Feeling (See Product Digest, page 46)	M. Oberon-Melvyn Douglas-Burgess Meredith	Apr. 20,'41
Thief of Bagdad (G) (Color)	Sabu-J. Duprez-C. Veidt	Dec. 25,'40	109	Oct. 19,'40
Topper Returns	Joan Blondell-Roland Young-Carole Landis-'Rochester'	Mar. 21,'41	90.	Mar. 15,'41

UNIVERSAL

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Back Street (A) 5002	M. Sullavan-C. Boyer-R. Carlson	Feb. 7,'41	89.	Feb. 8,'41
Bank Dick, The (G) 5010	W. C. Fields-Una Merkel	Nov. 29,'40	73.	Dec. 7,'40
Black Cat, The	B. Rathbone-Hugh Herbert-Gale Sondergaard	May 2,'41
Boss of Bullion City 5064	Johnny Mack Brown	Jan. 10,'41
Buck Privates (G) 5011	Andrews Sisters - Abbott & Costello-Jane Frazee	Jan. 31,'41	84.	Feb. 1,'41
Bury Me Not on the Lone Prairie 5065 (See Product Digest, page 47)	Johnny Mack Brown	Mar. 21,'41
Cracked Nuts	Mischa Auer-Una Merkel-Stuart Erwin	Not Set
Dangerous Game, A 5057 (See Product Digest, page 39)	Richard Arlen-Andy Devine	Aug. 22,'41
Dark Street of Cairo (G) 5040	Sigrid Gurie-Ralph Byrd	Feb. 28,'41	59.	Dec. 7,'40
Devil's Pipeline 5052	Richard Arlen-Andy Devine	Nov. 1,'40	65.	Nov. 16,'40
Diamond Frontier (G) 5019	V. McLaglen-J. Loder-A. Nagel	Oct. 4,'40	71.	Oct. 12,'40
Double Date (G)	Edmund Lowe-Una Merkel	Mar. 14,'41	60.	Mar. 15,'41
Flame of New Orleans, The (See Product Digest, page 53)	Marlene Dietrich-R. Young-Bruce Cabot	Apr. 11,'41
Give Us Wings (G) 5025	"Dead End Kids"-W. Ford	Dec. 20,'40	62.	Nov. 16,'40
Hit the Road	Gladys George-Barton MacLane	Not Set
Horror Island	Dick Foran-Peggy Moran	Mar. 28,'41
I'm Nobody's Sweetheart Now (G) 5036	H. Parrish-D. O'Keefe-C. Moore	Nov. 1,'40	63.	Aug. 10,'40

THE RELEASE CHART

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Invisible Woman, The (A) 5018	John Barrymore - John Howard - Virginia Bruce-Chas. Ruggles	Dec. 27,'40	70 Jan. 4,'41
Lady from Cheyenne	Loretta Young-R. Preston-Gladys George	Apr. 4,'41
(See Product Digest, page 61)
Law and Order (G) 5062	Johnny Mack Brown	Oct. 18,'40	57 Nov. 30,'40
Little Bit of Heaven, A (G) 5017	Gloria Jean-Robt. Stack	Oct. 11,'40	86 Oct. 19,'40
Lucky Devils 5053	Richard Arlen-Andy Devine	Jan. 3,'41
(See Product Digest, page 30)
Man Made Monster	Lionel Atwill-Lon Chaney, Jr.-Frank Albertson	Mar. 28,'41
Man Who Lost Himself, The	Brian Aherne-Kay Francis-Henry Stephenson	Mar. 21,'41
(See Product Digest, page 64)
Margie (G) 5026	N. Grey-T. Brown-M. Auer	Dec. 6,'40	59 Sept. 21,'40
Meet the Chump (G) 5032	Hugh Herbert-Anna Nagel	Feb. 14,'41	60 Feb. 15,'41
Meet the Wildcat (G) 5023	Marg't Lindsay-Ralph Bellamy	Nov. 22,'40	65 Nov. 2,'40
Men of the Timberlands	Richard Arlen-Andy Devine	June 6,'41
Model Wife	Joan Blondell-Dick Powell-Charles Ruggles	Apr. 25,'41
(See Product Digest, page 62)
Mr. Dynamite (G)	Lloyd Nolan - Irene Hervey - J. Carrol Naish	Mar. 7,'41	63 Mar. 15,'41
Mutiny in the Arctic	Richard Arlen-Andy Devine	Apr. 4,'41
Next Time We Love (G) 5048. (Re-issue)	Margaret Sullavan-Jas. Stewart	Nov. 22,'40	85 Feb. 8,'36
Nice Girl? (G)	Deanna Durbin-Franchot Tone-Robt. Stack-Walter Brennan	Feb. 21,'41	95 Mar. 1,'41
Oh, Charlie	Abbott & Costello	May 30,'41
One Night in the Tropics (G) 5015	Allan Jones-Nancy Kelly-Abbott & Costello-R. Cummings	Nov. 15,'40	82 Nov. 9,'40
Pony Post (G) 5063	Johnny Mack Brown - Fuzzy Knight	Nov. 8,'40	59 Dec. 21,'40
San Francisco Docks (G) 5027	Burgess Meredith-Irene Hervey	Jan. 10,41	66 Dec. 7,'40
Sandy Gets Her Man (G) 5021	Baby Sandy-Stuart Erwin-Una Merkel-Edgar Kennedy	Nov. 8,'40	66 Nov. 16,'40
Sandy Steps Out	Baby Sandy-Kathryn Adams-Raymond Walburn	Not Set
Seven Sinners (A) 5007	Marlene Dietrich-John Wayne	Oct. 25,'40	86 Nov. 2,'40
Six Lessons from Madame Lazonga (G) 5022	Lupe Velez-Leon Errol	Jan. 17,'41	62 Jan. 18,'41
Slightly Tempted G) 5024	H. Herbert-J. Downs-P. Moran	Oct. 18,'40	60 Aug. 10,'40
Too Many Blondes	Rudy Vallee	May 23,'41
Trail of the Vigilantes (G) 5008	Franchot Tone-B. Crawford	Dec. 13,'40	75 Dec. 14,'40
Unfinished Business	Irene Dunne-Robert Montgomery-Preston Foster	Aug. 15,'41
Where Did You Get That Girl? (G) 5030	H. Parrish-C. Lang-L. Errol	Jan. 3,'41	67 Dec. 21,'40

WALT DISNEY PRODUCTIONS

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Fantasia (G) (Color)	Disney-Stokowski	Not Set	135 Nov.	16,'40

WARNER BROTHERS-FIRST NATIONAL

WB—After Title, Warner Brothers
FN—After Title, First National

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Affectionately Yours	Merle Oberon-Dennis Morgan-Rita Hayworth	Not Set
Always a Bride [FN] (G) 570	Rosemary Lane-George Reeves	Nov. 2,'40	58 Nov. 30,'40
Bride Came C.O.D.	Bette Davis-James Cagney-Stuart Erwin	Not Set
(See Product Digest, page 61)
Case of the Black Parrot [FN]. (G) 572	Wm. Lundigan-Maris Wrixon	Jan. 11,'41	59 Jan. 18,'41
Dispatch from Reuter's, A [WB] (G) 511	Edw. G. Robinson-Edna Best	Oct. 19,'40	90 Sept. 28,'40
East of the River [FN] (G) 562	John Garfield-Brenda Marshall-Marjorie Rambeau	Nov. 9,'40	73 Nov. 2,'40
Father Is a Prince [FN] 569	Grant Mitchell-Nana Bryant	Oct. 12,'40	56
Father's Son [WB] (G) 520	John Litel-Frieda Inescort	Feb. 1,'41	57 Mar. 1,'41
Flight from Destiny [WB] (A) 514	Thomas Mitchell - Jeffrey Lynn-Geraldine Fitzgerald	Feb. 8,'41	74 Dec. 28,'40
Footsteps in the Dark [WB] (G) 509	Errol Flynn - Ralph Bellamy - Brenda Marshall	Mar. 8,'41	93 Mar. 8,'41
Four Mothers [WB] (G) 503	Lane Sisters-Gale Page-Jeffrey Lynn-Claude Rains	Jan. 4,'41	86 Dec. 21,'40
Gentle People, The	Ida Lupino-Thomas Mitchell-John Garfield	Not Set
Great Lie, The [WB]	Bette Davis-George Brent-Hattie McDanels-M. Astor	Apr. 12,'41
(See Product Digest, page 54)
Great Mr. Nobody, The [WB] 515	Eddie Albert-Joan Leslie-Alan Hale-John Litel	Feb. 15,'41
(See "Stuff of Heroes," Product Digest, page 39)
Here Comes Happiness [WB] (G)	Mildred Coles-Edw. Norris	Mar. 15,'41	58 Mar. 8,'41
Here Comes the Navy [WB] (G) 525 (re-issue)	James Cagney - Pat O'Brien	Dec. 21,'40	86 Nov. 30,'40
High Sierra [FN] (G) 556	Humphrey Bogart-Ida Lupino	Jan. 25,'41	100 Jan. 25,'41
Highway West	Brenda Marshall - Olympe Bradna	Not Set
Honeymoon for Three [WB] (A) 510	G. Brent-A. Sheridan-J. Wyman	Jan. 18,'41	75 Jan. 25,'41
Kisses for Breakfast [WB]	Dennis Morgan-Jane Wyatt-Shirley Ross	Not Set
Knockout [FN]	Arthur Kennedy - Olympe Bradna	Mar. 29,'41
(See Product Digest, page 55)
Knute Rockne—All American [WB] (G) 502	Pat O'Brien-Gale Page	Oct. 5,'40	98 Oct. 12,'40
Lady with Red Hair [WB] (G) 512	M. Hopkins-R. Ainsley-C. Rains	Nov. 30,'40	80 Nov. 16,'40
Letter, The [FN] (A) 552	Bette Davis-Herbert Marshall	Nov. 23,'40	97 Nov. 16,'40
Manpower	Geo. Raft-Marlene Dietrich-Humphrey Bogart	Not Set
Meet John Doe (G)	G. Cooper - B. Stanwyck - Edw. Arnold-W. Brennan	Not Set	135 Feb.	15,'41
Miss Wheelwright Discovers America	Jeffrey Lynn-Priscilla Lane-Ronald Reagan	Not Set
Nurse's Secret, The	Lee Patrick-Regis Toomey	Not Set
Santa Fe Trail [FN] (G) 551	Errol Flynn-O. de Havilland-R. Massey-R. Reagan-A. Hale	Dec. 28,'40	110 Dec. 21,'40
Sea Wolf, The [WB]	Edw. G. Robinson-John Garfield-Ida Lupino	Mar. 22,'41
(See Product Digest, page 74)
Sergeant York	Gary Cooper - Joan Leslie - Walter Brennan	Not Set
Shadows on the Stairs [FN]	Frieda Inescort-Paul Cavanagh	Mar. 1,'41
(See Product Digest, page 75)
She Couldn't Say No [FN] (G) 571	R. Pryor-E. Arden-C. Edwards	Dec. 14,'40	64 Dec. 28,'40
Shining Victory	Geraldine Fitzgerald-James Stephenson-Donald Crisp	Not Set
Shot in the Dark, A [WB]	Ricardo Cortez-Wm. Lundigan-Nan Wynn	Apr. 5,'41
Singapore Woman	Brenda Marshall - David Bruce-Virginia Field	Not Set
South of Suez [WB] (G) 513	Geo. Brent-Brenda Marshall	Nov. 16,'40	87 Dec. 21,'40
Strange Alibi [FN]	Arthur Kennedy-Joan Perry	Apr. 19,'41
Strawberry Blonde (G) [FN] 559	James Cagney-O. de Havilland-Rita Hayworth	Feb. 22,'41	97 Feb. 15,'41
Three Sons O'Guns	Wayne Morris-Tom Brown	Not Set
Thirty Days Hath September	Eddie Albert-Joan Leslie-Alan Hale	Not Set
Tugboat Annie Sails Again [FN] (G) 561	Marjorie Rambeau-Alan Hale	Oct. 26,'40	75 Oct. 26,'40
Underground	Jeffrey Lynn-Karen Verne	Not Set
Wagons Roll at Night, The [FN]	H. Bogert-S. Sidney-E. Albert	Apr. 26,'41
(See Product Digest, page 29)

FOREIGN AND STATE RIGHTS

Title	Star	Dist'r.	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Among Human Wolves (G)	Basil Radford	Film Alliance	Dec.	59 Nov.	30,'40
Cavalcade of Faith (G)	Documentary	Jeffrey	Jan.	65 Jan.	11,'41
Dream of the Butterfly, The (A)	Marie Cebotari	Esperia	Feb.	96 Mar.	1,'14
Face at the Window, The (A)	Tod Slaughter	Ziehm	Oct.	65 Oct.	19,'40
Hatred (A)	Harry Baur	World	Jan.	70 Feb.	8,'41
Here Is Ireland (G)	Travelogue	Irish-American	Oct.	80 Oct.	12,'40
Heritage (G)	Juanita Montenegro	French Films	Nov.	75 Nov.	16,'40
Kiss of Fire, The (A)	Viviane Romance	Hakim Brothers	Nov.	83 Nov.	30,'40
Lilac Domino, The (G)	Michael Bartlett	Select	Dec.	65 Dec.	14,'40
Living Dead, The (A)	Paul Wegener	Hoffberg	Dec.	85 Dec.	21,'40
Man of the Hour, The (A)	Maurice Chevalier	Trio Films	Nov.	95 Nov.	30,'40
Mayerling to Sarajevo (A)	John Lodge	Leo	Oct.	90 Nov.	9,'40
Merry Wives, The (A)	Zdenek Stepanek	Lloyd	Nov.	85 Nov.	23,'40
Mozart (G)	Stephen Haggard	"Mozart, Inc."	Oct.	75 Oct.	19,'40
Murder at the Baskervilles (G) (Reviewed under title, "Silver Blaze.")	Arthur Wontner	Astor	Jan.	68 July	17,'37
Neutral Port (G)	Will Fyffe	Gainsborough	Not Set	92 Jan.	25,'41
Old Bill and Son	Moreland Graham	General Film	Not Set	Dec.	14,'40
Open Road, The (A)	Victor Francen	Mintz	Oct.	85 Oct.	19,'40
Pepe Le Moko (A)	Jean Gabin	Mayer-Burstyn	Not Set	100 Mar.	20,'37
Personal Column (A)	Maurice Chevalier	Pax	Feb.	89 Feb.	15,'41
Quiet Wedding (A)	Marg't Lockwood	Soskin-Para.	Not Set	80 Feb.	15,'41
Sailors Three (G)	Tommy Trinder	Assoc. British	Not Set	87 Oct.	26,'40
Spellbound (A)	Laurie Baxter	Pyramid-UA	Not Set	82 Feb.	1,'41
They Met on Skis (G)	Wissia Dina	C. L. Import	Dec.	75 Jan.	11,'41
This England	Documentary	Anglo-Amer. LL	Not Set	85 Mar.	8,'41
Two Women (A)	Pierre Blanchar	Paragon	Nov.	100 Nov.	9,'40
You Will Remember	Robert Morley	British Lion	Not Set	Feb.	1,'41

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING

the great national medium for showmen

Ten cents per word, money-order or check with copy. Count initials, box number and address. Minimum insertion, $1. Four insertions for the price of three. Contract rates on application. No borders or cuts. Forms close Mondays at 5 P.M. Publisher reserves the right to reject any copy. Film and trailer service advertising not accepted. Classified advertising not subject to agency commssion. Address correspondence, copy and checks MOTION PICTURE HERALD, Classified Dept., Rockefeller Center, New York City

THEATRES

FOR SALE, TWO SMALL TOWN THEATRES IN Michigan. Now running. Write EDWIN DALTON, Flushing, Mich.

WANTED, MOVIE THEATRE, VICINITY NEW York City. Box 1387, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

FOR SALE, THEATRES IN SEVERAL STATES now operating. Have several listed for lease as well. Let me know what size and where you desire to operate. Box 1217A MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

POSITIONS WANTED

PROJECTIONIST, 20 YEARS EXPERIENCE. CHARLES TAYLOR, Box 655, Waynesburg, Pa.

BOOKKEEPING SYSTEM

THEATRE MANAGEMENT RECORD AND TAX Register. This new accounting system is the finest book of its kind ever made available to an exhibitor. In addition to being complete in every respect, it is simple—so much so that it is not necessary to have had bookkeeping experience in order to keep an accurate, complete and up-to-the-minute record of the business of your theatre. The introductory price is only $2.00 postpaid. QUIGLEY BOOKSHOP, Rockefeller Center. New York.

TRAINING INSTITUTE

BETTER POSITIONS AWAIT TRAINED THEAtre employees. Learn Modern Theatre Management and Advertising. Free information. THEATRE INSTITUTE. 315 Washington. Elmira. N. Y.

HELP WANTED

WANTED, MANAGER FOR INDEPENDENT motion picture theatre, capable, must understand booking, send photo, experience, recommendations, and salary expected. BOX 1388, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

OPERATORS AND MANAGERS, MOVIE CIRcuits. ROSHON, Gulf States Bldg., Dallas, Tex.

USED GENERAL EQUIPMENT

COMPLETE HIGH CLASS EQUIPMENT FOR 500-seat theatre, purchased at auction. For sale cheap. MOVIE SUPPLY COMPANY, 1318 So. Wabash Ave., Chicago, Ill.

SOME THEATRE CAN USE YOUR OLD EQUIPment. A little ad here will reach thousands of potential customers. Only ten cents a word to tell the world what you have to sell. Try it today. MOTION PICTURE HERALD, Rockefeller Center, New York.

BARGAIN, USED PEERLESS LAMPS AND Powers projectors, Mazda equipment. BOX 1381, MOTION PICTURE HERALD, Chicago, Ill.

CLOSING OUT LIGHTING EQUIPMENT. SPOTlamps 500 watt, $2.95; 1,000 watt, $7.95; 2,000 watt $10.95; Footlights, Borderlights, $1.95; Heavy Spotstands, $3.95; Hanging four cluster worklights, $5.95; Sixhole colorwheel, $2.95; General Electric Mazda bulbs, std. pkgs. 25% discount. S. O. S. CINEMA SUPPLY CORP., New York.

FOR SALE, PEERLESS LOW INTENSITY lamps at a real bargain, for cash. Box 1386, MOTION PICTURE HERALD, Chicago, Ill.

THEATRE CHAIRS, CUSHIONS, PARTS, METAL backs and metal bottoms at lowest prices. Large stock, satisfaction guaranteed. ALLIED SEATING CO., Inc., 36-38 West 13th Street, New York City.

FOR SALE, 4 HOLMES EDUCATOR 35MM portable projectors, complete with sound. Same as new, priced reasonable for cash or terms. GUS KING, 161 Walton St., Atlanta, Ga.

NEW GENERAL EQUIPMENT

BUY DIRECT FROM FACTORY, SAVE MIDDLEman's profit. Blowers, air washers, variable speed pulleys, air deflectors. CONDITIONAIRE, 145 Walton St., Atlanta, Ga.

WHY NOT REPLACE YOUR METAL DISPLAY frame mouldings with newest design to conform with your architecture? Prices and literature on lobby and front display metal frames supplied upon request. Box 1208A MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

WANTED

WANTED, PAIR 25-CYCLE RECTIFIERS. WEST POINT THEATRE, West Point, Ia.

BOOKS

MOTION PICTURE SOUND ENGINEERING 547 pages; illustrated; covers every practical method and process in present-day sound engineering. Leading engineers explain every detail of apparatus and its arrangement, with diagrams, tables, charts and graphs. This manual comes straight from the workshops of the studios in Hollywood. It is indispensable to everyone working with sound equipment. Price $6.50 postpaid QUIGLEY BOOKSHOP, Rockefeller Center, New York

NEW 567 PAGE BOOK ON AIR CONDITIONING by Charles A. Fuller, authority on the subject. Available for theatre owners contemplating engineering changes. Book is cloth bound with index and charts and covers every branch of the industry as well as codes and ordinances regulating installation. Order now at $4.00 a copy postpaid. QUIGLEY BOOKSHOP Rockefeller Center, New York.

RICHARDSON'S BLUEBOOK OF PROJECTION A second revision of the Sixth Edition of Richardson's Bluebook of Projection with a complete section of Sound Trouble-Shooting Charts as well as a host of additional up-to-the-minute text on the latest equipment. Price $7.25 postpaid. QUIGLEY BOOKSHOP Rockefeller Center, New York.

JUST PUBLISHED! 1941 EDITION OF FAME. Edited by Terry Ramsaye. The class annual of the screen, radio and stage. Recognized by executives and talent agents as the guide to box office champions. Send your order today with check or money order for $1.00. QUIGLEY BOOKSHOP, Rockefeller Center, New York.

BUSINESS OPPORTUNITY

FOREIGN PRODUCER NOW IN AMERICA SETting up new roadshow company will consider reliable experienced roadshowmen. Must have sufficient capital, car and contracts to insure territory. Box 1209A MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

INTERNATIONAL SITUATION CREATES TREmendous theatre market for spot news service now available. Considerable research and development makes proposition possible for aggressive businessmen, amply financed to purchase stage franchise rights. If prepared to invest up to $10,000 for branch bureau and facilities to supply what may be America's outstanding industry, write at once for details. Supply financial reference for interview. Box 1212A MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

PRESS OF
C. J. O'BRIEN, INC.
NEW YORK, U. S. A.

IN PERFECT AGREEMENT

EASTMAN negative films—each in its special field—work in perfect agreement with director and cameraman to capture completely the beauty of every scene.
Eastman Kodak Company, Rochester, N.Y.

J. E. BRULATOUR, INC., Distributors
Fort Lee Chicago Hollywood

PLUS-X
for general studio use

SUPER-XX
when little light is available

BACKGROUND-X
for backgrounds and general exterior work

EASTMAN NEGATIVE FILMS

Press Your Advertising Luck!

★ Don't let a good thing die . . . crowd on the steam while the goings good. Remember . . . one ringer never won a championship yet. It takes constant ringing of the pin . . . continued plugging for the "ace."

★ Capitalize on the big pictures . . . press your advertising luck with continuous advertising.

★ Settle on a standard minimum but keep the glamour shining.

★ And we've got everything you need to give your house that "good-show-here-tonight" look . . . Trailers . . . Lobby Displays . . . General Accessories for any picture . . .

★ Press your advertising luck with the 3 Best Seat Sellers in the industry.

NATIONAL Screen SERVICE • NATIONAL Screen ACCESSORIES

MOTION PICTURE HERALD

FEATURES REVIEWED:

That Hamilton Woman
That Uncertain Feeling
Sleepers West
Inspector Hornleigh Goes to It
The Saint's Vacation
The Ghost Train
Free and Easy
The Mad Emperor
Chamber of Horrors

PRODUCT DIGEST:

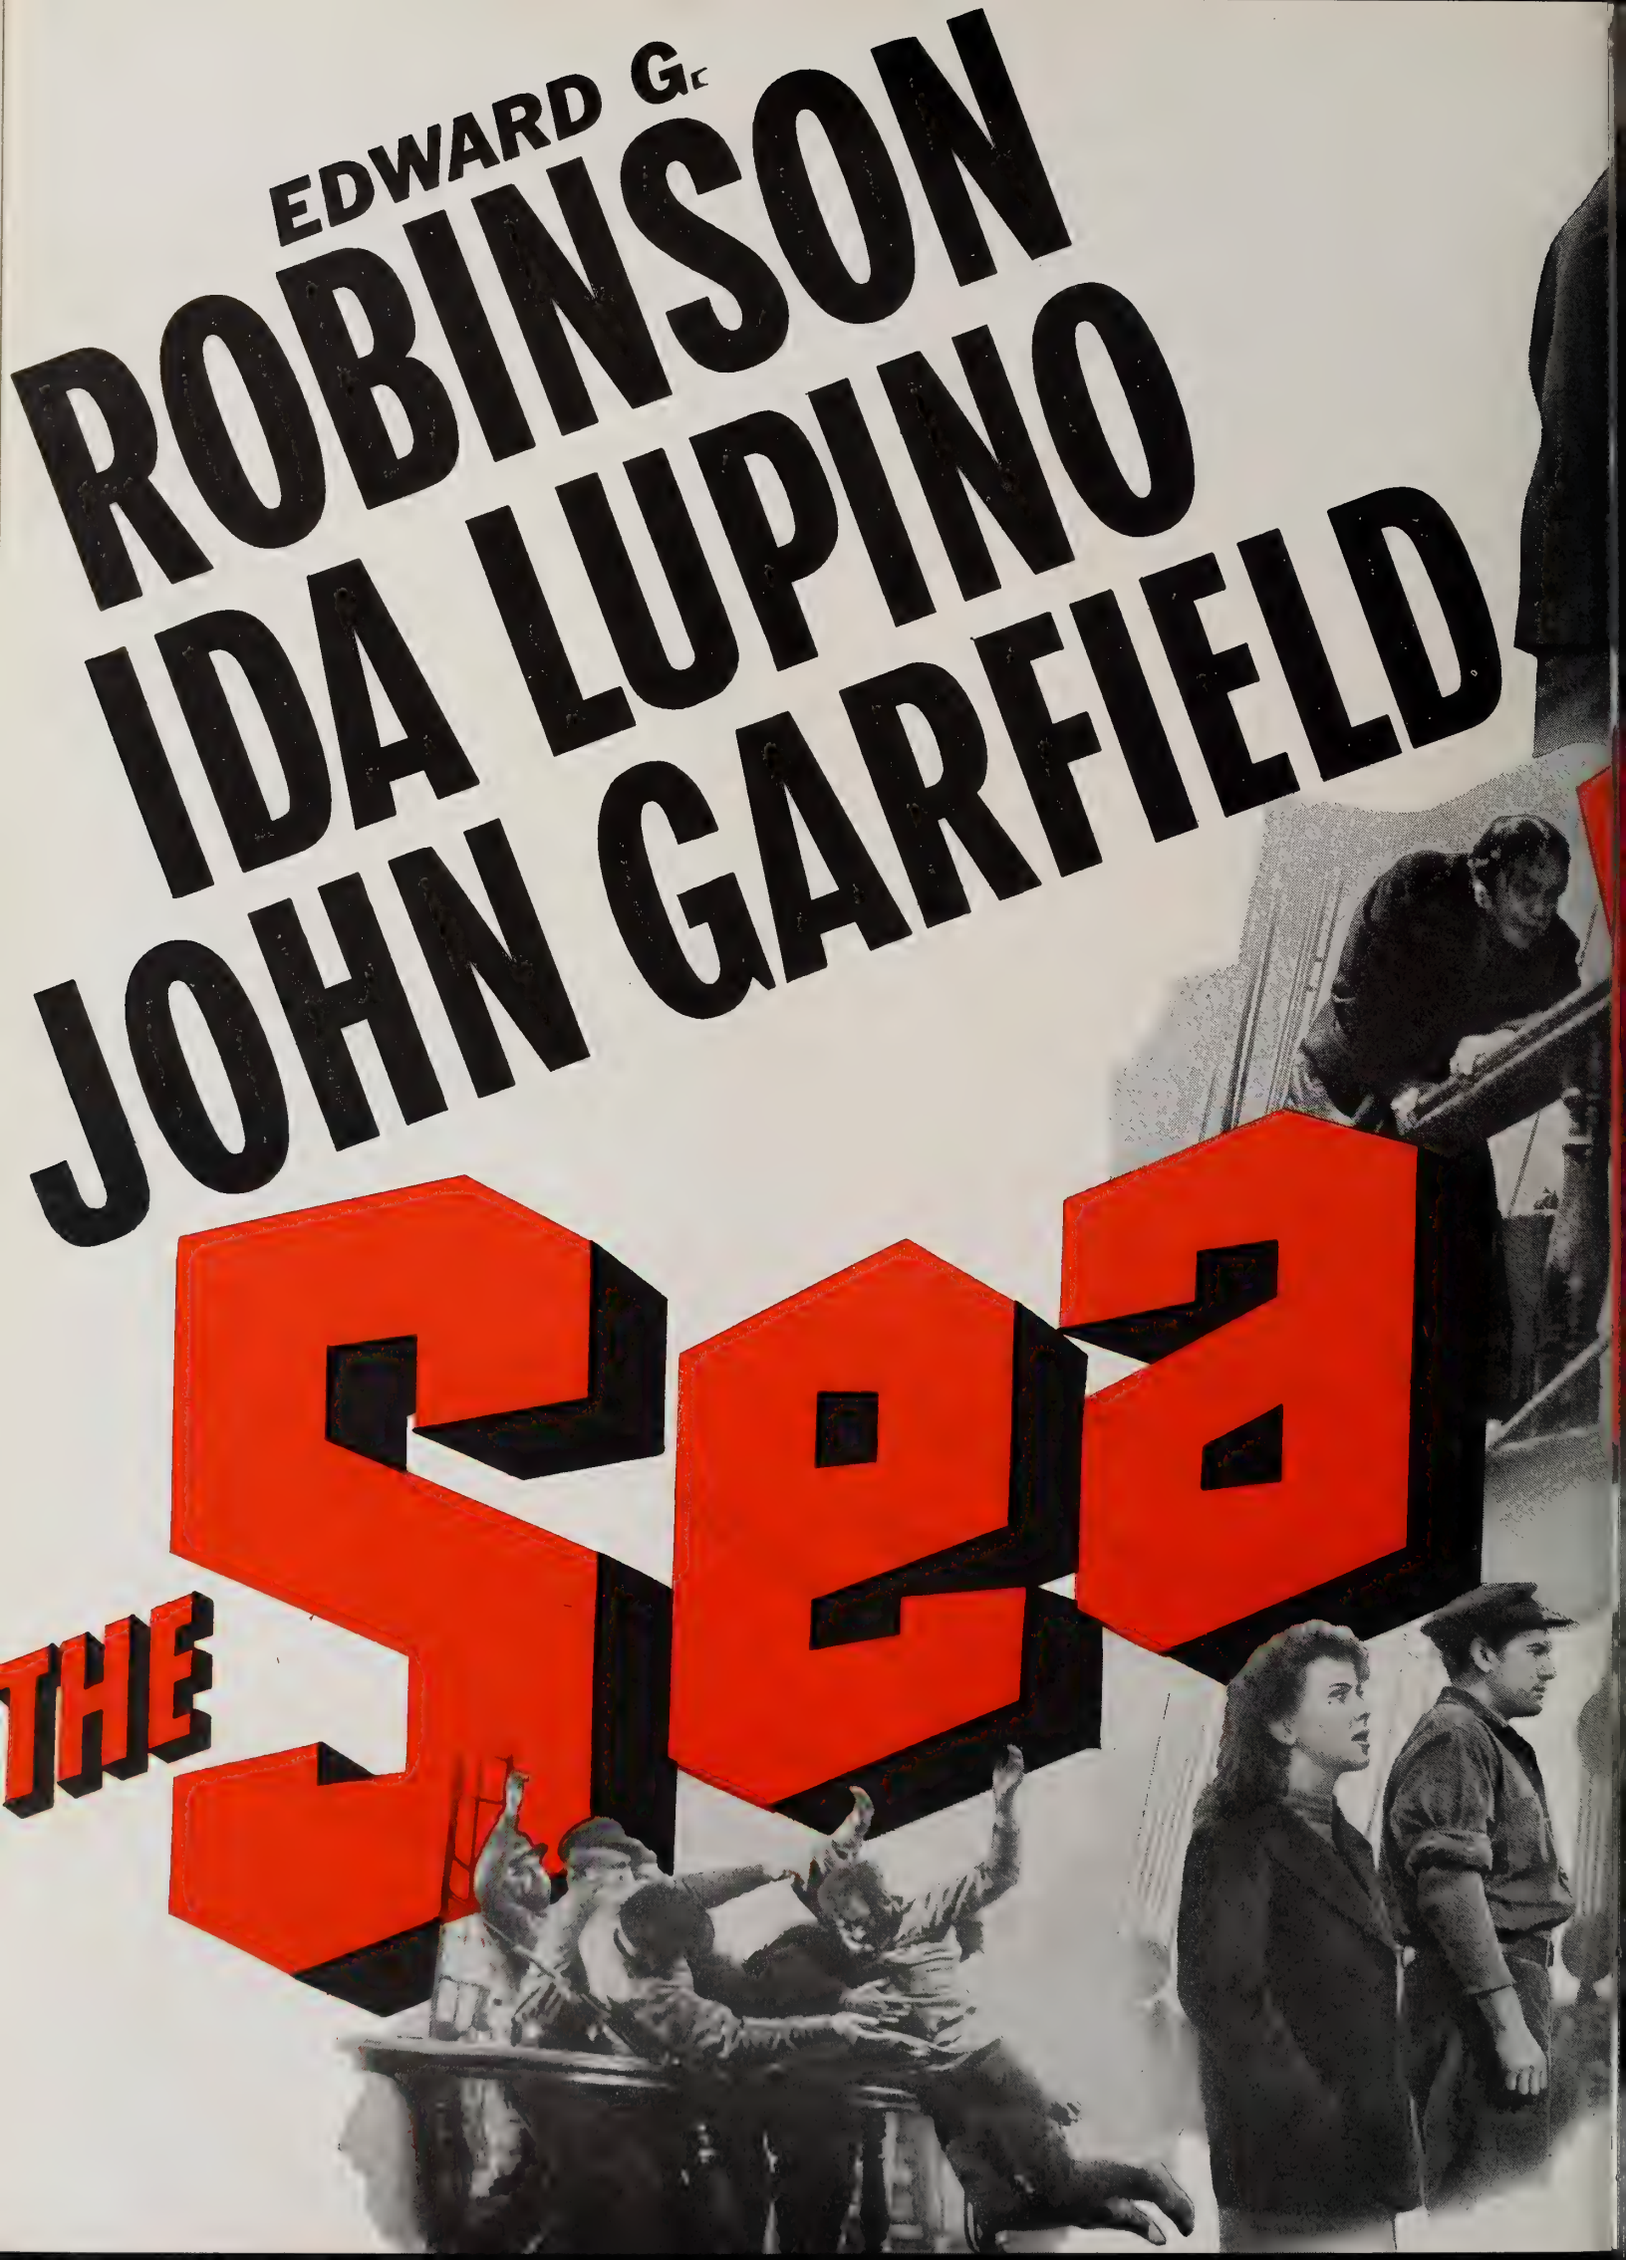
The Living Catalogue of the Industry

Exhibition has its big day in Hollywood as Production honors winners of QP Awards

If State Laws void Decree Department of Justice will ask for Law on Blockbooking

Independent production wanes under Decree confusions and shortage of ranking Stars

VOL. 142, NO. 12 MARCH 22, 1941



Entered as second-class matter, January 12, 1931, at the Post Office, at New York City, U. S. A., under the act of March 3, 1879. Published weekly by Quigley Publishing Co., Inc., at 1270 Sixth Avenue, Rockefeller Center, New York. Subscription prices: $5.00 a year in the Americas, $10.00 a year Foreign. Single copy, 25 cents.

All contents copyright 1941 by Quigley Publishing Company.

EDWARD G.

ROBINSON
IDA LUPINO
JOHN GARFIELD

THE SEA

Wolf

JACK LONDON'S EPIC OF TERROR AFLOAT!

THIS WEEK FROM WARNERS!

Directed by

MICHAEL CURTIZ

with

ALEXANDER KNOX • GENE LOCKHART • BARRY FITZGERALD

Screen Play by Robert Rossen • Music by Erich Wolfgang Korngold

Second weekend of "THAT NIGHT IN RIO" at New York's Roxy is BIGGER than first!

...AND IN MIAMI! FIRST FOUR DAYS AT LINCOLN THEATRE BIGGER EVEN THAN RECORD-BREAKING "TOBACCO ROAD"!

what an audience picture!

20th CENTURY FOX

MOTION PICTURE HERALD

MARTIN QUIGLEY, Editor-in-Chief and Publisher

Vol. 142, No. 12 March 22, 1941

ERA, TRENDS, PRICES

CHALLENGING aspects of the economic landscape and its implications about buying power, admission prices, consumers and the amusement industry, appear this blizzard-bitten day up on the escarpments of this Radio City—where, incidentally, the Rockefeller Institution operates, among other enterprises, a skating rink, a sixty-fifth floor night spot, and the world's biggest motion picture theatre.

There plainly enough are tokens of the new order.

At week-end Colonel Pierre Lorillard up at Tuxedo Park, in the Ramapos, crumbling citadel of social and financial dynasties, gave out an interview about a mail campaign to invite to residence in the park "medium income" people and promoting cottage homes to supplant the empty Tudor halls, vacated, abandoned by the heirs of an era that has ended.

Over on the first page of the New York Times' dramatic and screen section, Mr. Elmer Rice, author of many plays including the contemporary "Flight to the West", contributes a discussion of "lower price tickets" for the stage. The top for his current play is $1.10. That leads Mr. Rice into some considerations of the structure of the theatre trade:

" . . . It would be hard to find any other business which is run so extravagantly, so inefficiently and so planlessly . . . they regale themselves with nostalgic visions of a kind of super-dice-game into which you throw down ten thousand dollars and pick up a million. . . . Them days are gone forever . . . the realists of the theatre are . . . the organized groups of workers who protect themselves against the constantly increasing hazards of a shrinking business by setting high minimum standards of compensation to offset their insecurity. . . . As long as the theatre is a luxury trade . . . it will continue to decline both as a business and as an art. . . . We have seen what has happened to the ruggedly individualistic farmers of the Middle West who recklessly exhausted the rich top soil. . . . It is an object lesson to the husbandmen of Broadway to consider if they do not want to find themselves floundering in a dust bowl of their own creation."

Any resemblance between the stage outlook as Mr. Rice discusses it and the motion picture scene would be, of course, merely accidental and coincidental. It might be, too, there could be a certain crossing of paths by the stage trying to climb down from a $3.30 seat to reach into the masses, and the motion picture so frequently seeking to interest the classes, and increase admissions.

APERHAPS not entirely irrelevant interest does attach to representations of the fading independent production situation in Hollywood, reflecting, if we are to accept the spokesmen, such factors as the uncertainties—and some certainties—generated by the Consent Decree, and, emphasized by the diligent Mr. Sol Lesser, such a paucity of star personalities that none is left over for the independent picture makers. That suggests dust-bowl in star-land.

Stars and supporting box-office personalities are bid skyward by Production solely to put ready-made acceptance, pre-selling, in the film can. This industry achieved its dominance and prosperity by the exercise of a decidedly more creative policy and creative capacity—starting at the studio and ending with exhibition and the box office.

This week, in Hollywood, there is at least one evidence of a remembering that creative contribution can be and is being made at the box office, in the function—recorded in our news pages of this issue—honoring the winners of the annual Quigley Awards for showmanship delivering at the windows where the tickets are sold.

△ △ △

INSTITUTIONAL

THAT special handling of the annual awards of "oscars" by the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences in Hollywood, which dignified the event by enforced press release control, made it a national story of wide impress. Importantly it brought the motion picture and the Hollywood community to the attention of the public in serious terms of personalities and products, for what they are on the screen, and with no fan-foibles or leg-and-breast bait. It is only now and then that the motion picture as an institution enjoys such attention. There are countless press agents for motion pictures, few for the motion picture.

Even the presumably picture-jaded Los Angeles press turned out an unprecedented sixty-five columns on Academy awards.

And way up in New England, Ridgefield, Connecticut, where cold conservatism is as deep as the ancient, arching elms are high, the very next night turned out a record audience to see Miss Ginger Rogers because she had come to honors by printed page and radio announcement.

△ △ △

NATURE FAKERS

AT week-end, New York's first crocus bloomed—and probably by mid-week regretted it—in one of those Babylonian gardens in Rockefeller Center, atop the International building. This probably does not presage world peace in the glow of springtime.

The event, just across the gulch from our ivory tower, comes to mind on other provocation, however. This particular and precocious crocus drew a two-column picture in the New York Times. To make the graphic record emphatic, the photographer piled the snow about the crocus, but he should not have left his finger marks.

No like disturbance of spirit has been had since that time when in a soul-stirring moment of "The Good Earth" Wang, the Chinese farmer refugee, sniffed rain in the air, declared "things are growing again in the north" and plucked at allegedly a nascent growth in the wayside ditch. He held up to view, not a spear of tender green, but a dusty piece of sagebrush, three seasons old and so tough a hungry burro would have scorned it. The property man who dressed that set never raised anything but a four-card draw.

Things like that destroy faith, embitter life, corrode the disposition, lead to profanity, strong drink and a scorn for art.

—Terry Ramsaye

This Week in the News

Blocks-of-five

NORTHWEST opponents of the blocks-of-five selling provisions of the consent decree on Wednesday appeared to be on the way to outlawing those provisions when the Minnesota Senate's general legislation committee approved a bill to continue large-block selling, with a 20 per cent cancellation privilege. This matched approval of the bill last week by the Minnesota House judiciary committee.

The bill was then to go to both houses for a vote. (Story on page 13.)

David Shearer, attorney for the majors, again protested against the bill on the grounds they are bound to observe the decree and could not do business in Minnesota if it is passed. Another protesting party was M. A. Levy, of Minneapolis, representing Twentieth Century-Fox. Mr. Shearer said Minnesota would be "isolated" by the bill. Fred Strom, executive secretary of Northwest Allied, displayed results of a poll of exhibitors: 92 per cent, he said, were opposed to the decree; and they represented independent and circuit operators.

New Colors

PROGRESS in development of the single-negative, or monopack, method of color film production is reported this week to be of an extent promising its adoption for regular feature production. The present methods of making prints would be retained, according to Dr. Herbert T. Kalmus, president of Technicolor, Inc., in a report to stockholders, but the company is pursuing research, already being carried out in actual production of semi-commercial films, for the establishment of the monopack method by which black-and-white cameras and regular studio technicians can be used in the making of color pictures.

The monopack method, with prints made by the present process, would call for separation of the negative color elements, but this is said to introduce no appreciable cost factor. On the other hand, without improving the art, application of the monopack process to the making of color prints would substantially increase the cost of prints, at least on the basis of present technique.

Technicolor films are now photographed by the so-called three-strip method, requiring special Technicolor cameras and crews, and print-making follows a comparable process (imbibition) by which the primary colors are superimposed one on the other.

The single-negative method would reduce location costs substantially, while increasing the facility of color production, and would therefore be likely to add to the number of color pictures on studio schedules.

QUIGLEY AWARDS winners honored at Hollywood luncheon for showmanship delivering results at ticket window Page 12

JUSTICE DEPARTMENT will ask Congress to outlaw large block sales if state voids decree Page 13

INDEPENDENT producer ranks depleted as "new order" makes stars unavailable Page 14

ARBITRATION victory by exhibitor in first hearing brings seven new cases Page 19

DEFENSE committee of industry expanded by Schaefer for "all out" program Page 21

MAYER, "Merchant of Menace", tells secret of advertising success Page 22

ANTI-TRUST suit against majors withdrawn by Cassils; "Big 5" dropped from Schine action Page 27

PREMIERES in Hollywood, New York, Mexico, at sea; "Sea Wolf", "Pot o' Gold" to open Page 28

PROFITS reported by Universal, Eastman, Columbia; Universal deals approved Page 29

SHORT SELLING underway to avoid charges of forcing under decree Page 30

LEGISLATORS continue attacks on motion picture industry Page 34

SEC lists stock transactions of company executives for the year Page 41

JUKE-BOX films jammed in bottleneck of insufficient outlets Page 48

DECENCY LEGION reports ten motion pictures condemned, forty-seven criticized during reviewing year Page 52

ASCAP fines in Milwaukee fall partly on film companies Page 54

SERVICE DEPARTMENTS

Asides and Interludes Page 33

Hollywood Scene Page 35

Reviews Page 36

What the Picture Did for Me Page 56

Before heading for Hollywood as one of the 1940 Quigley Grand Awards winners, Ray Wheeler of the Granada, South Bend, Ind., started his local music contest on "Hard Boiled Canary". Voice recordings were sent to him on the Coast, where he arranged for Allan Jones to select the winners. In the Managers' Round Table section Page 61

PRODUCT DIGEST, the living catalogue of industry wares Page 69

Another Duals 'War'

THE anticipated reaction to the St. Louis "war" of triple and quadruple feature programs, between the city's two largest groups of theatres, occurred this week with numerous complaints from patrons to the Wehrenberg-Kaimann circuit. That circuit's 25 neighborhood houses began showings of four-hour long programs, three nights weekly, with "nothing repeated" in announced retaliation for the triple feature programs in some of the Fanchon and Marco and St. Louis Amusement Company neighborhood theatres.

This week, Fred Wehrenberg, also head of the St. Louis MPTOA, reported many patrons leaving his theatres after seeing only half a program, others stopping at managers' offices to register dissatisfaction, and still others telephoning complaints. He added traffic was tied up in front of many houses as motorists waited for their families. But he asserted: "We're going to continue the policy until compelled by law not to." The "law" referred to, may be the bill prepared by the city's Better Films Council, for introduction into the state legislature, and limiting shows to three hours.

Midwest Wants 'Sneaks'

"SNEAK previews" of new pictures—heretofore screened almost entirely in the key spots on the two coasts—appeared headed inland, with the announcement Wednesday from Harry C. Arthur, general manager of the Fanchon and Marco and St. Louis Amusement Company circuits, of that city, that he had convinced Hollywood producers of his city's value in previewing pictures.

The first of the previews in St. Louis was to be held Friday evening at the Missouri Theatre. Joseph Skirball, producer, is flying to St. Louis with a print of a Frank Lloyd production, the title of which remained on Wednesday undisclosed.

"Kane" Department

AGAIN there is positive, if not exclusive, information that RKO will or will not release Orson Welles' "Citizen Kane," which is or is not relevant to the life of William Randolph Hearst, and that there will or will not be a statement on the subject from George Schaefer, president of the picture concern, if, when and as he may, or may not, arrive in New York this week-end after a sojourn where he did or did not reach a decision.

This week's radio gossip had a report that Henry Luce, tycoon of Life, Time and Fortune, had offered a million dollars for the picture. Mr. Luce being "out of town," inquiry was addressed at presumably official sources at his office, where it was observed that there was no knowledge of the report, nor of any consideration of such a deal, or any deal. The report took its origin from sources unknown in sequel to a worshipful review of the picture in Mr. Luce's Time magazine, as recorded in last week's MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

Mr. Welles is, the while, typically intensively immersed in the affairs of "Native Son" due to open on a Broadway stage Monday next. Herbert Drake, his press agent, also intensively flitting from errand to errand, interrogated at dawn and bedside at the Ambassador Hotel, dismissed the Luce purchase report, reiterated the Welles' stand and demand for RKO release or else complete posession of the production. "If necessary," observed Mr. Drake, "Mr. Welles can get the money to buy and roadshow the picture." Further, Mr. Drake fancifully suggested that in that eventuation he "will probably open it at Soldiers' Field on four screens and saw Dolores in half at each intermission."

In sum, all reports are denied by all factions and anything or nothing will be happening, now or sometime, perhaps.

NSS Starts with Gum

NATIONAL Screen Service's first commercial advertising film—distributed, not produced, by it—is this week wending among several hundred theatres, according to the company's New York home office. The film runs four minutes, is titled, "Scattergood Baines Says Hello," stars Guy Kibbee, and is sponsored by the William Wrigley, Jr., Company, manufacturers of chewing gum, whose radio program, "Scattergood Baines," has been on Columbia Broadcasting networks for four years. Also, Mr. Kibbee is the star of an RKO picture of the same name, which offers tie-up possibilities in exhibition, according to the Wrigley sponsors.

The film was produced by Ray Bell, Minneapolis. At National on Wednesday, a spokesman denied the company would produce any commercial shorts, ending reports that a deal with the National Allied States Association, pledging 2,000 of its member theatres to play such shorts, involved production. NSS, the spokesman said, would distribute shorts sponsored by national, not local, advertisers.

It offers the exhibitor playing the shorts $3 per 1,000 seats. The sponsor pays $6.50.

Free F-M for Army

MAJOR E. H. Armstrong, radio inventor, has offered to permit the Army to use his 17 frequency-modulation (FM) patents without cost during the emergency. The War Department this week announced that it had accepted the offer, Secretary Henry L. Stimson personally thanking Major Armstrong for his "very generous" action. Under the offer, the inventor will grant to any manufacturing company designated by the department, a license under his patents for $1 a year, "for so long as the present national and international emergency shall exist."

The Government will take immediate advantage of the offer, as the Army now is procuring a large number of FM sets similar to the police-radio type and is developing three new types of receivers in which FM will be used, for the Armored Force and international emergency shall exist."

Pan-America

NELSON A. Rockefeller, Coordinator of the Government's Committee on Commercial and Cultural Relations Between the American Republics, has devised a definite program for the collection, distribution and production, when necessary, of informative and educational non-theatrical motion pictures for use in the American Republics, in line with the Government's plans to encourage goodwill between the Americas.

Mr. Rockefeller simultaneously announced the appointment of Kenneth MacGowan, stage and motion picture producer, as director of production for his program.

The Film Library, Inc., of the Museum of Modern Art in New York, under the direction of the coordinator's office, will carry out the program of gathering, reviewing, sound-tracking, editing, and, if necessary, producing new motion pictures suitable for distribution in Latin America. Both Mr. Rockefeller and Mr. Whitney are officers of Film Library and the Museum.

The Film Library was said to have in its files 13,000,000 feet of film. In 1940 it circulated 174 different titles among 280 U. S. colleges, study groups and museums in 41 states. It will make such material available for use in this program.

The filming of suitable non-theatrical subjects in the American Republics, which could be exhibited in the United States, will constitute the reciprocal phase of the program.

Newsreel Army Junket

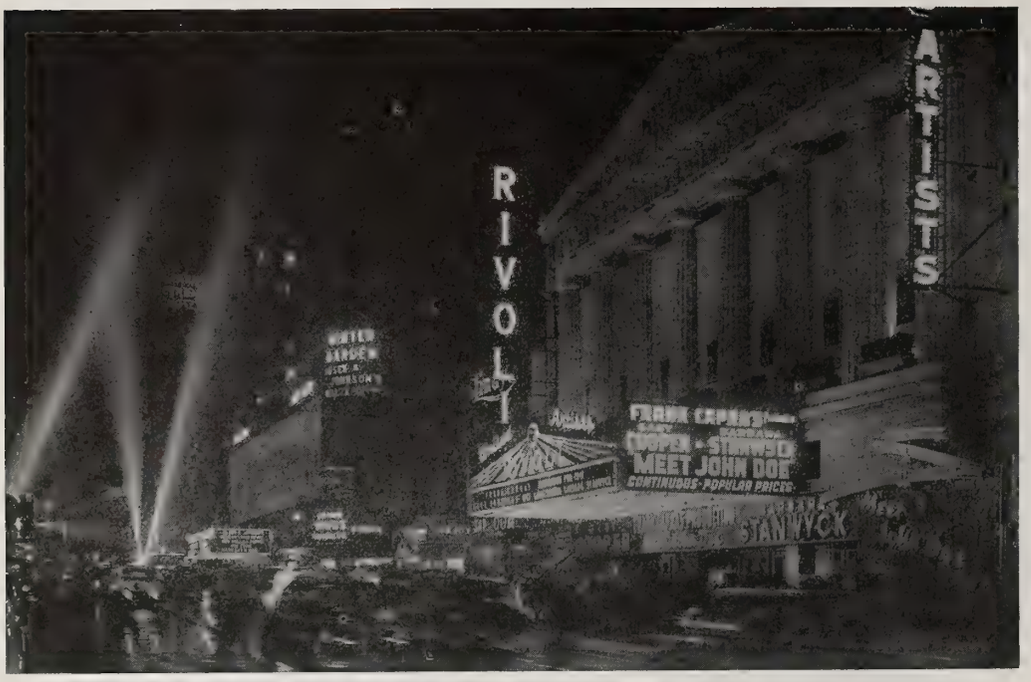
SO they may have a comprehensive view of the United States Army's defense preparations, and therefore plan war and defense coverage more ably, representatives of the five U. S. newsreel companies on Thursday, from Bolling Field, Washington, began an air tour of the Army's air, infantry, armored division, experimental, and production units throughout the country, riding as U. S. Army guests. Radio and newsphoto service representatives also went on the trip, which is to last two weeks. They are using Army bombing planes for transport.

The newsreel representatives are to take no pictures, merely notes, for future coverage. The men are: William Montague, Paramount; George Dorsey, Pathe; James Lyons, Universal; Earl Allvine, Twentieth Century-Fox Movietone News. Charles Matthews, of MGM's News of the Day, was scheduled to go, at mid-week.

20th-Fox Goes 16mm

TWENTIETH Century-Fox films, like those of Universal, Paramount, and RKO, will be seen non-theatrically in 16 mm henceforth, under a deal consummated recently and now effective, between the company and Films, Inc., of New York City, which has obtained the 16 mm rights to all Fox product. The following conditions are imposed: all contracts between it and exhibitors must be checked by Fox officials, for their competition or lack thereof, with established exhibition; rentals shall be only to non-theatrical forums; they shall not be to schools; Fox films shall be distributed only after completing regular theatrical run; whether they have, shall be determined by Fox sales officials.

Eric Haight is president of Films, Inc., which also distributes 16 mm transcriptions of Universal and Paramount product.



Television's Fate

A White House conference was held Tuesday between President Roosevelt and James L. Fly, chairman of the Federal Communications Commission. Although Mr. Fly's only comment was that "matters of policy" were discussed, observers pointed out that the meeting took place almost on the eve of the television hearing Thursday at which the future of that art was expected to be settled "for the duration." The President has been reported to be very much interested in the television situation.

Ten companies, three of which form the Paramount Television interests, have requested time at the television hearing called to hear arguments for and against television standards and commercialization recommended by the National Television Systems Committee and alternate proposals.

MOTION PICTURE HERALD, published every Thursday by Quigley Publishing Company, Rockefeller Center, New York City. Telephone CIrcle 7-3100. Cable address "Quigpubco, New York." Martin Quigley, Editor-in-Chief and Publisher; Colvin Brown, Vice-President and General Manager; Watterson R. Rothacker, Vice-President; Terry Ramsaye, Editor; Ernest A. Rovelstad, Managing Editor; James P. Cunningham, News Editor; Chicago Bureau, 624 South Michigan Avenue, C. B. O'Neill, manager; Hollywood Bureau, Postal Union Life Building. Leon Friedman, manager, William R. Weaver, editor; Toronto Bureau, Ste. 811, 21 Dunas Sq., Toronto, Ontario, Canada. Alister Grosart, representative; Montreal Bureau, Press Bureau, 224 Canada Cement Building, Montreal, Canada. C. A. Haworth, representative; London Bureau, 4, Golden Square, London W I, Hope Williams Burnup, manager; cable Quigpubco London; Paris Bureau, Pierre Autre, representative, c/o Monsieur Autre, chez Madame Erable, Les Mathes, Charante Inferieure, France; Melbourne Bureau, The Regent Theatre, 191 Collins St., Melbourne, Australia, Cliff Holt, representative; Sydney Bureau, 17 Archbold Rd., Roseville, Sydney, N.S.W., Australia. Lin Endean, representative. Mexico City Bureau, Apartado 269, Mexico City, Luis Becerra Celis, representative; Buenos Aires Bureau, Corrientes 2470, Buenos Aires, Argentina, Natalio Bruski, representative; Rio de Janeiro Bureau, Caixa Postal 3358, Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, L. S. Marinho, representative; India Bureau, Post Office Box 147, Bunder Road, Karachi, India, G. A. Thakur, representative; Montevideo Bureau, P. O. Box 664, Montevideo, Uruguay, Paul Bodo, representative, cable Argus Montevideo; Amsterdam Bureau, 87 Waalstraat, Amsterdam Z., Holland, Philip de Schaap, representative. Member Audit Bureau of Circulations. All contents copyright 1941 by Quigley Publishing Company. Address all correspondence to the New York Office. Other Quigley Publications: Better Theatres, Motion Picture Daily, International Motion Picture Almanac, and Fame.

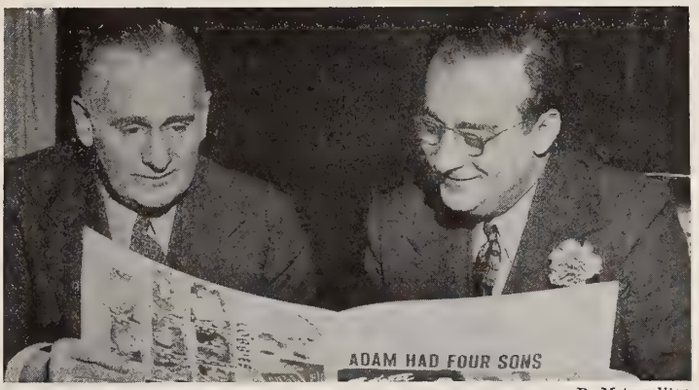
THIS WEEK IN PICTURES

BOARDING a plane for Nassau, above left, is Sonny Shepherd, manager of the Wometco Lincoln, Miami Beach, Fla., with Gabriel Pascal, producer of Shaw's "Major Barbara" which will be screened in the capital of the Bahama Islands for the Duke and Duchess of Windsor.

COAST TO COAST. The Capra-Riskin Warner release, "Meet John Doe", opened last week at the Rivoli in New York, above, and at the Hollywood in Hollywood, left, where S. Charles Einfeld, Jack L. Warner and Robert Riskin are conversing in the lobby. At advanced admissions the production drew record crowds in its first week's showings.

SAILING for a midwinter vacation cruise to Panama and Central America, above, is Harry F. Shaw, division manager of the Loew-Poli New England theatres, and Mrs. Shaw.

COCKTAILS for Anna Lee, British screen star making her debut opposite Ronald Colman in RKO's "My Life with Comedy", are served on the studio set, left. In order, the guests are Ned Depinet, Miss Lee, George Schaefer, J. J. Nolan and Lewis Milestone.



MEMBERS of the home office and circuit divisions of the Greek Relief committee were guests of Paramount last week at Toots Shor's restaurant, New York, at a cocktail party and screening of "Greece Fights Back", short subject prepared for the drive by March of Time and distributed by Paramount. At right are Louis de Rochemont, Nicholas Lely, Greek consul general, and George Skouras. Below are Bill Corum, Toots Shor, Neil Agnew, Pete Harrison and, seated, Gradwell Sears. Paramount has 740 prints of the short for which Eastman Kodak donated the stock.

By Staff Photographer

By Staff Photographer

By Metropolitan

EXHIBITOR Good Will, the title of the present Columbia campaign, is furthered, above, by Eddie Grainger, vice-president and general manager of the M. A. Shea circuit, visiting Rube Jackter in the Columbia home office.

EDMUND DORFMAN, right, whose American Institute of Motion Pictures shortly will begin production of short subjects, one a month, on the findings of Dr. George Gallup's American Institute of Public Opinion. He is negotiating for distribution of the two-reel documentary films dramatizing the Gallup reports. The films will closely follow the syndicated newspaper release.

By Staff Photographer

By Staff Photographer

PROMOTION. Edward L. Hyman, formerly of United Detroit Theatres, Paramount affiliate, takes possession of his new desk in the Paramount home office where he will be associated with Sam Dembow and Leonard Goldenson.

By Staff Photographer

WILLIAM J. GELL, above, Monogram distributor in Great Britain, is in the United States for conversations with home office executives on feature releases.

FAZALBHOY, LTD., motion picture equipment and laboratory company handling RCA Photophone and International Projector sound apparatus and 35, 16 and 8 mm. cameras and equipment, dresses up its Bombay headquarters and showrooms, left, with a modern technique.

'MEN WHO TAKE WHAT WE CREATE AND SELL IT'

—WANGER ON QP AWARDS

ONE hundred nineteen executives and personalities of the production community attended luncheon ceremonies in the Florentine Room of Beverly Wilshire Hotel on Tuesday to witness presentation of the annual Quigley Awards to Everett C. Callow, Warner Theatres, Philadelphia, and J. R. Wheeler, Balaban & Katz Granada Theatre, South Bend, Ind., with Walter Wanger, president of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences, presiding.

Y. Frank Freeman, president of the Association of Motion Picture Producers, made the presentation to Mr. Wheeler, Donald Crisp representing Warner Brothers, to Mr. Callow. Other speakers were Edward Arnold, president of the Screen Actors Guild; Sheridan Gibney, president of the Writers Guild, and J. P. McGowan, representing the Directors Guild.

Past winners of Quigley awards, William Hendricks and Jules Seltzer, were introduced from the floor.

Started in 1933

Guests were welcomed on behalf of Martin Quigley by Walter Selden, of the Quigley Publications Hollywood office, who introduced A-Mike Vogel, chairman of the Managers' Round Table and of the Awards contests. Sketching the history of the awards, Mr. Vogel said:

"In 1933, in response to obvious need, Martin Quigley instituted the annual Quigley Awards for Showmanship to be sponsored by MOTION PICTURE HERALD through its Managers Round Table Department. Their purpose was to bring recognition to theatremen who submitted campaigns to be judged by a committee of leaders in distribution, advertising and exhibition. The first year's Grand Awards were presented by the then Vice-President of the U. S., John Garner. The second year we were encouraged to send the winners here to give production a close up of the work being done for the box office by the men in the field. Your interest in this endeavor is exemplified by your presence here and the presence as toastmaster of Mr. Walter Wanger, to whom I now turn over these proceedings."

Mr. Wanger said:

"We have come here to pay our compliments to two men adjudged the most practical showmen of the past year and to compliment those who were their competitors in the Annual Quigley Awards.

"It is fitting in rewarding these prize winners for their consistently fine work that we consider the phase of our business these men represent. They are the men who take what we create and sell it to the public.

"They represent the branch of our business that brings in the money which we use to make other pictures. They reach out to interest the ultimate consumers of our product. From their contact with the public comes the best possible barometer for our future. Ours is an art, but it also is a business.

"The two men we honor symbolize modern showmanship. Their accomplishments are important. It is important that we encourage all showmen like them. Also, it is important that Hollywood provide an ever widening variety of subjects so that these showmen will always have a challenge before them.

"Ours is a business of ideas and it is the constant change in our product that makes this the most fascinating and most intriguing business in the world. We cannot establish any one set formula for any phase of this business. This is not a routine business. Each new film is an individual attraction, and the public is interested only because it is different. The day of mere movies has passed. We are no longer in a novelty business. We are in show business; we are show business. Today, wherever it may be located, the motion picture theatre is the center of community life. It represents, in addition to motion picture appeal, the appeal of the concert hall, of vaudeville, of the legitimate stage and of public service. It is a vital factor in our social life.

"The practical, wide awake showman knows this. The public knows it.

"Obligation to Broaden Scope"

"As producers, directors and artists of motion pictures, it is our obligation to the advancement of our business to broaden the scope of entertainment. It is our job to keep pace with our times; to introduce new forms of story telling; to give pictures greater realism, depth and vitality. In giving pictures a finer, human quality we must also give them added freshness, color and attraction—new angles for showmen to exploit. Hollywood is not shirking its many responsibilities in making pictures better and I feel studios are in a fair way to meet the extraordinary demands of our critical, cynical times.

"Last summer I travelled 35,000 miles visiting exhibitors from Dallas to Montreal, Boston to Seattle. I met more than a thousand of them; from all types of theatres. We discussed many problems of mutual concern. As a result I am convinced that there is very great need for better understanding between the various branches of our business. There are a lot of vitally important problems to be solved and just as Hollywood must make constant changes exhibitors must be willing to change their minds about lots of things.

Asks Use of New Methods

"I do not criticize exhibitors as a group. That would be ridiculously unfair. However, I do criticize some of them for attempting to carry on an ever changing, ever advancing business with methods outmoded 10 years ago. Too many exhibitors compare every new picture with some film of the past and create campaigns accordingly. They stifle originality and the ambition of young men with new ideas and an eagerness to develop new business. Some exhibitors depend entirely on the distributor and the producer to put over their campaigns and I know that some operate theatres on a fixed budget basis that prohibits any outstanding picture from getting an even break.

"You can't sell motion pictures like you sell anything else, and you can't sell all motion pictures to the one type of audience; there is no such a thing as an established clientele. You can't wait for drop-in trade and you can't assume prospective patrons wait for your announcements. Each new picture must be sold for what it is worth and in merchandising your pictures one must appeal to those who have patronized stage plays with pictures as mature as stage plays. There must be certain pictures for those who have patronized vaudeville and other pictures for music lovers.

Honoring "Practical Showmanship"

"Today as we honor practical showmanship, let us view our business from the cold, practical point of view. At the Academy Awards dinner we compliment the artistry of motion pictures and the performances of great artists. Here we discuss business—the showmanship angle. We are most grateful to the Quigley Awards for encouraging—through this competition—better thinking and better planning in the presentation of the films in which we invest millions of dollars and our best talents.

"Better pictures must have the best exploitation possible at the hands of exhibitors. There is no place for stubborn resistance to common sense and modern merchandising in this business. We must be open to new thoughts and, most of all, we must not be afraid to get back to work.

"There is no denying our business is at the cross roads; that from now on it is the survival of the fittest. Packing the screen with film is not the way to pack theatres. Double bills violate all rules of good showmanship. We make too many pictures and we handicap good films showing them with inferior pictures.

"Today we are in legitimate show business. We cater to a well informed mass audience.

(Continued on page 61)

AMPA TRIBUTE TO QP WINNERS

The Associated Motion Picture Advertisers in New York on Tuesday wired congratulations to the Quigley Award winners — care of Walter Wanger, toastmaster, at the Managers Round Table Luncheon in Hollywood. The telegram, signed by Leon J. Bamberger, president, said:

"Our sincere congratulations to E. C. Callow and J. R. Wheeler, winners of the Quigley Awards. A number of our members acted as judges in this splendid competition and are thoroughly cognizant of the excellence of their campaigns. As the association of the 150 leading motion picture advertisers of New York, now celebrating 25th Anniversary, we have always fostered and spotlighted the new and exciting in exploitation. We invite Callow and Wheeler as our AMPA luncheon guests when in New York and heartily applaud Motion Picture Herald for continuing a grand incentive to theatre managers everywhere to demonstrate their ability in showmanship."

WILL ASK CONGRESS TO FORBID BLOCK SALES IF STATE LAWS VOID DECREE

Widespread Fight of Nullifying Measures May Bring Changes in Decree, Revival of Neely Bill, Justice Department Says

Resistance of objectors to the block-of-five selling provisions of the consent decree, newly raised in states-rights legislative proposals in Georgia and Minnesota, as a beginning, to enforce, by law, a continuation of the present system of large-block sales, with added 20 per cent minimum cancellation privileges, is bringing new problems for the "Big Five" distributors who signed the decree and for the Department of Justice which forced it.

Axis of the trouble is that part of Clause XXIII of the Consent Decree, relieving the decree signatories from complying with any decree provision which conflicts with any state law. The Georgia and Minnesota bills, if enacted, would nullify the blocks-of-five decree requirements in those states.

Word from Washington Tuesday disclosed that if state laws voided blocks-of-five decree clauses, the Department of Justice would ask Congress to outlaw large-block sales.

by FRANCIS L. BURT
in Washington

Film legislation now pending in some states, designed to nullify the five-picture provisions of the consent decree, might necessitate changes in the decree, if adopted by enough states, but there is nothing the Department of Justice can do about it, it was learned in Washington Tuesday.

Such state legislation, authorizing the "Big Five" distributors to sell their output as in the past, is not unconstitutional, since the Constitution gives to each state the right to regulate business within its borders, it was said.

Department officials were reluctant, as usual, to discuss the situation, pointing out that the matter is one which the states must handle for themselves, but they expressed the expectation that representatives of the five signatory distributor companies undoubtedly would make their views known in Congress through the years.

It was indicated at the Department that if the movement to nullify the selling provisions of the decree was so widespread as to achieve that end, the only way in which the Government could meet the situation would be to ask Congress to enact a prohibition on large block sales such as advocated by former Senator Matthew M. Neely and others in Congress variously down through the years.

Under Section XXIII of the decree, where state laws make it impossible for the distributors to conform with its provisions they may appeal to the Federal court for relief. This was one of several escape clauses inserted in the decree at the instigation of the signatory companies to meet situations which they foresaw might arise, and was willingly incorporated by the Department to protect the distributors from harassment.

Department officials this week would not discuss how far the proposed state laws might apply. That they would be valid with respect to distributors selling from offices within the states was not questioned, but there was some doubt raised in some quarters whether a state law would apply to distributors sending their salesmen in from other states.

The question of constitutionality, however, apparently will not be raised by the Government at this time. The Department of Justice has always followed a hands-off policy with respect to state legislation, and would not voluntarily make its position known to a state while legislation was under consideration in a state even though the Department might intend to challenge it.

Officials said that if enough states passed booking legislation to make enforcement of the blocks of five decree clause impracticable, the distributors would probably have to apply to the court for relief. They admitted that it might then be deemed desirable for the Department to ask Congress for a new consideration of anti-block booking legislation.

Supreme Court Test Case Seen

Even though the Department of Justice has adopted a "hands off" policy with respect to state bills directed against the consent decree which it helped draw up and which has its approval, industry legal opinion in New York is that the question eventually will have to be taken to the Supreme Court in a test case for final determination. It was also pointed out that if this were done the three-year trial period of the decree would probably be interrupted.

The case against the constitutionality of state laws nullifying the decree was summed up as follows: films are in interstate commerce; the constitution gives the power to regulate interstate commerce to the Federal Government, hence state laws interfering with motion pictures are unconstitutional. It was also added that a similar argument could be made for motion pictures as copyrighted articles.

However, no matter what the legal points are, in practice the distributors would be relieved from complying with the decree in any points in which there was a conflict with a state law. The consent decree is clear on this point, stating:

"Whenever obligations or prohibitions are imposed upon the defendants by the laws of any State or by rules or regulations made pursuant thereto, with which the defendants by law must comply, the Court, upon application of the defendants, or any of them, shall from time to time enter orders relieving the defendants from compliance with any requirement of this decree in conflict with such laws, rules or regulations, and the right of the defendants to make such applications and to obtain such relief is expressly granted."

Some legal opinion considered that the "states rights escape clause" might have been included in the decree to cover conflicts which might arise over variation between state and federal rules on arbitration. But officials of the American Arbitration Association said that, so far as they knew, the provision had no relation to arbitration.

The "states rights" issue has brought up once more discussion of the legal status of the consent decree. The motion picture consent decree is an agreement between the U. S. Government, represented by the Department of Justice, and five distributors which was effected by Judge Henry W. Goddard of the Federal Court for the Southern District of New York, acting as the legal agent of the Government.

Minnesota Committee Approves Bill

Wednesday, the Minnesota State Senate general legislation committee voted out the anti-blocks-of-five bill, sponsored by Northwest Allied, matching House judiciary committee approval of a week ago. The bill then was to go to both houses for a vote. Predicitions for passage seemed favorable.

The Georgia anti-decree bill, was not approved by the House judiciary committee, though it had passed the Senate. Although a minority report was filed and the bill might be brought up on the House floor, it seemed safely dead in the committee for this session.

The Minnesota anti-blocks-of-five bill is being opposed by David Shearer, representing Loew's, Inc., Twentieth Century-Fox, RKO and Warner Brothers. Paramount, like the Department of Justice, has taken no official position on the state bill. The case for the Minnesota measure was prevented by Clarence O. Holten, attorney for Northwest Allied, and Fred S. Strom, executive secretary of the exhibitors' organization.

FILM FORUMS VIA VARIETY CLUBS

A new medium is arising for bringing all factions of the industry together locally to air problems of the day with local Variety Clubs inviting exhibitors, distributors and others to open forums on such matters as the consent decree, arbitration, legislation, taxation and such. Heretofore confining activities to philanthropies and socials, the Variety Clubs now step into actual industry affairs as the only local organization of its kind to which all local industry factions are tied in membership.

In Cincinnati, this week, the local Tent turned over its quarters for discussions of the decree and arbitration. In Omaha, a similar meeting has been set for April 22nd with representatives from all branches invited to talk over problems of general industry concern.

INDEPENDENT UNIT PRODUCTION LAGS UNDER WAR EFFECTS; NEW SELLING

Lack of Available Star Names, Financing Switch to Defense Projects, and Blocks-of-Five Selling Seen Cutting Total

With the inhibitive effect of World War II now complete and fully realized, and with new selling systems being developed by the "Big Five" to comply with the consent decree, independent production for release through major distributors may hit an unprecedented low during the new season.

Disturbed conditions abroad, lure of investment moneys to other enterprises, chiefly those having to do with national defense, lack of available star names, the uncertainty of procedure under the consent decree terms and the usual changeable procedure under which distribution of independently made pictures is effected have already made themselves felt in independent-major circles, the number of producers in the field and the number of pictures planned for the remainder of this season and the start of next has been materially reduced.

Nine Have Dropped Out

No less than nine producers with their own production companies have quit the field since a year ago, some of them having been signed by the majors as producers or associate producers on straight contracts.

John M. Stahl has dropped his independent company and signed a straight producer-director deal with Columbia. Harry Edington's Famous Players Corporation, which produced "Green Hell" for Universal release, has been inactive since he became head of RKO production. Lou Ostrow, who formed Vogue Pictures, Ltd., to produce "Li'l Abner" for RKO, has gone to 20th Century-Fox as an associate producer.

A year ago, Franklyn Warner was to have produced two more pictures, in color, to follow "Isle of Destiny," for RKO. At present he is inactive. Harold B. Franklin made "The Drunkard Still Pursued Her" for RKO, and has dropped further production plans.

Boris Morros announced four pictures for Paramount release, making one, "Second Chorus." The others were to have been "The American Vagabond," "Lysistrata," and a film based on "We, the People," radio program.

Three more were to have come to RKO from Lee Garmes company following "And So Goodbye," but were not made.

About a year ago, Max Gordon's Plays and Pictures Corporation, which produced "Abe Lincoln in Illinois," for RKO release, was to produce 'The American Way" for the same company. That picture was never made, and Max Gordon is now under contract to Columbia, his first duty being the production supervision of "Louisiana Purchase," as an associate producer.

There have been several new independent production companies formed, some of them producing for this season's schedules and some for next season's.

RKO has eight outside producers at this time, some of them winding up their current commitments. Stephens-Lang Productions, makers of the "Dr. Christian" series, has one more picture to go on its contract. The Play's the Thing, Inc., Gene Towne and Graham Baker's company, will wind up its deal, with "How to Meet a Man," for which they are seeking Martha Scott and Robert Montgomery. Both stars have some other commitments.

Harold Lloyd's one picture production deal was finished with the delivery of "A Girl, a Guy and a Gob," and a new one is being negotiated.

William Hawks' new company, United Producers, Inc., with Lewis Milestone as producer-director, is currently shooting "My Life with Caroline," starring Ronald Colman. This, like the deal of William Dieterle Productions, Inc., also a new company making "A Certain Mr. Scratch," in work at present, is a one picture deal.

Ross, Krasna with RKO

Working on "The Devil and Miss Jones" starring Jean Arthur, Frank Ross-Norman Krasna, Inc., have a commitment with RKO for one more.

Orson Welles' Mercury Productions has delivered "Citizen Kane" to RKO, and Welles and his troupe are planning a picture, as yet untitled, to be shot in Mexico with Dolores Del Rio in the co-starring role. "Heart of Darkness" and "The Smiler with a Knife" are two of the other pictures announced by Welles and RKO, but deferred for various reasons.

Jerrold T. Brandt's Pyramid Productions, recently formed, has a deal to do three "Scattergood Baines" pictures a year, and, having finished one, "Scattergood Baines," is working on the second, "Scattergood Pulls the Strings."

Paramount which has its regular quota of eight pictures from Harry Sherman—six "Hopalong Cassidy" westerns and two "outdoor specials" has added a new outside firm, Producers Corp. of America, formed by William H. Pine, assistant to C. B. DeMille, and William C. Thomas, formerly an associate producer for Paramount. With Mr. Thomas in active charge of production, one aviation picture has been made starring Richard Arlen and two more, possibly three, are due for the current season.

Larry Darmour, in addition to making four or five serials independently for Columbia release, will contribute two Ellery Queen detective mystery films to that studio's schedule. Charles R. Rogers, with his own company, will make four films for Columbia—"Senate Page Boys," "She Knew All the Answers," "Amateur Angel," and "Mermaids on Parade." Just announced for the 1941-42 season are four features based on the "Lone Rangers" radio programs and comic strip to be made by Edward Gross, one time associate producer for Sol Lesser and later for David L. Loew. Robert Sherwood, young radio actor-producer, produced "Adam Had Four Sons," for Columbia, and a further deal is pending. Wesley Ruggles, who had his own company, now has a straight producer-director deal with that studio.

On Universay's 1940-41 schedule are three Frank Lloyd independent productions, including "Lady from Cheyenne," starring Loretta Young, and "I, James Lewis," a property acquired from Paramount; three from Jules Levey's Mayfair Productions, "Hellzapoppin'," from the Olsen and Johnson show and two Damon Runyon stories, and "Model Wife," starring Joan Blondell and Dick Powell, from Lawrence Fox' General Films Company. Mayfair last fall produced "The Boys from Syracuse" for Universal.

Warners, which broke precedent by releasing the Frank Capra-Robert Riskin production, "Meet John Doe," in all probability will get another from the pair.

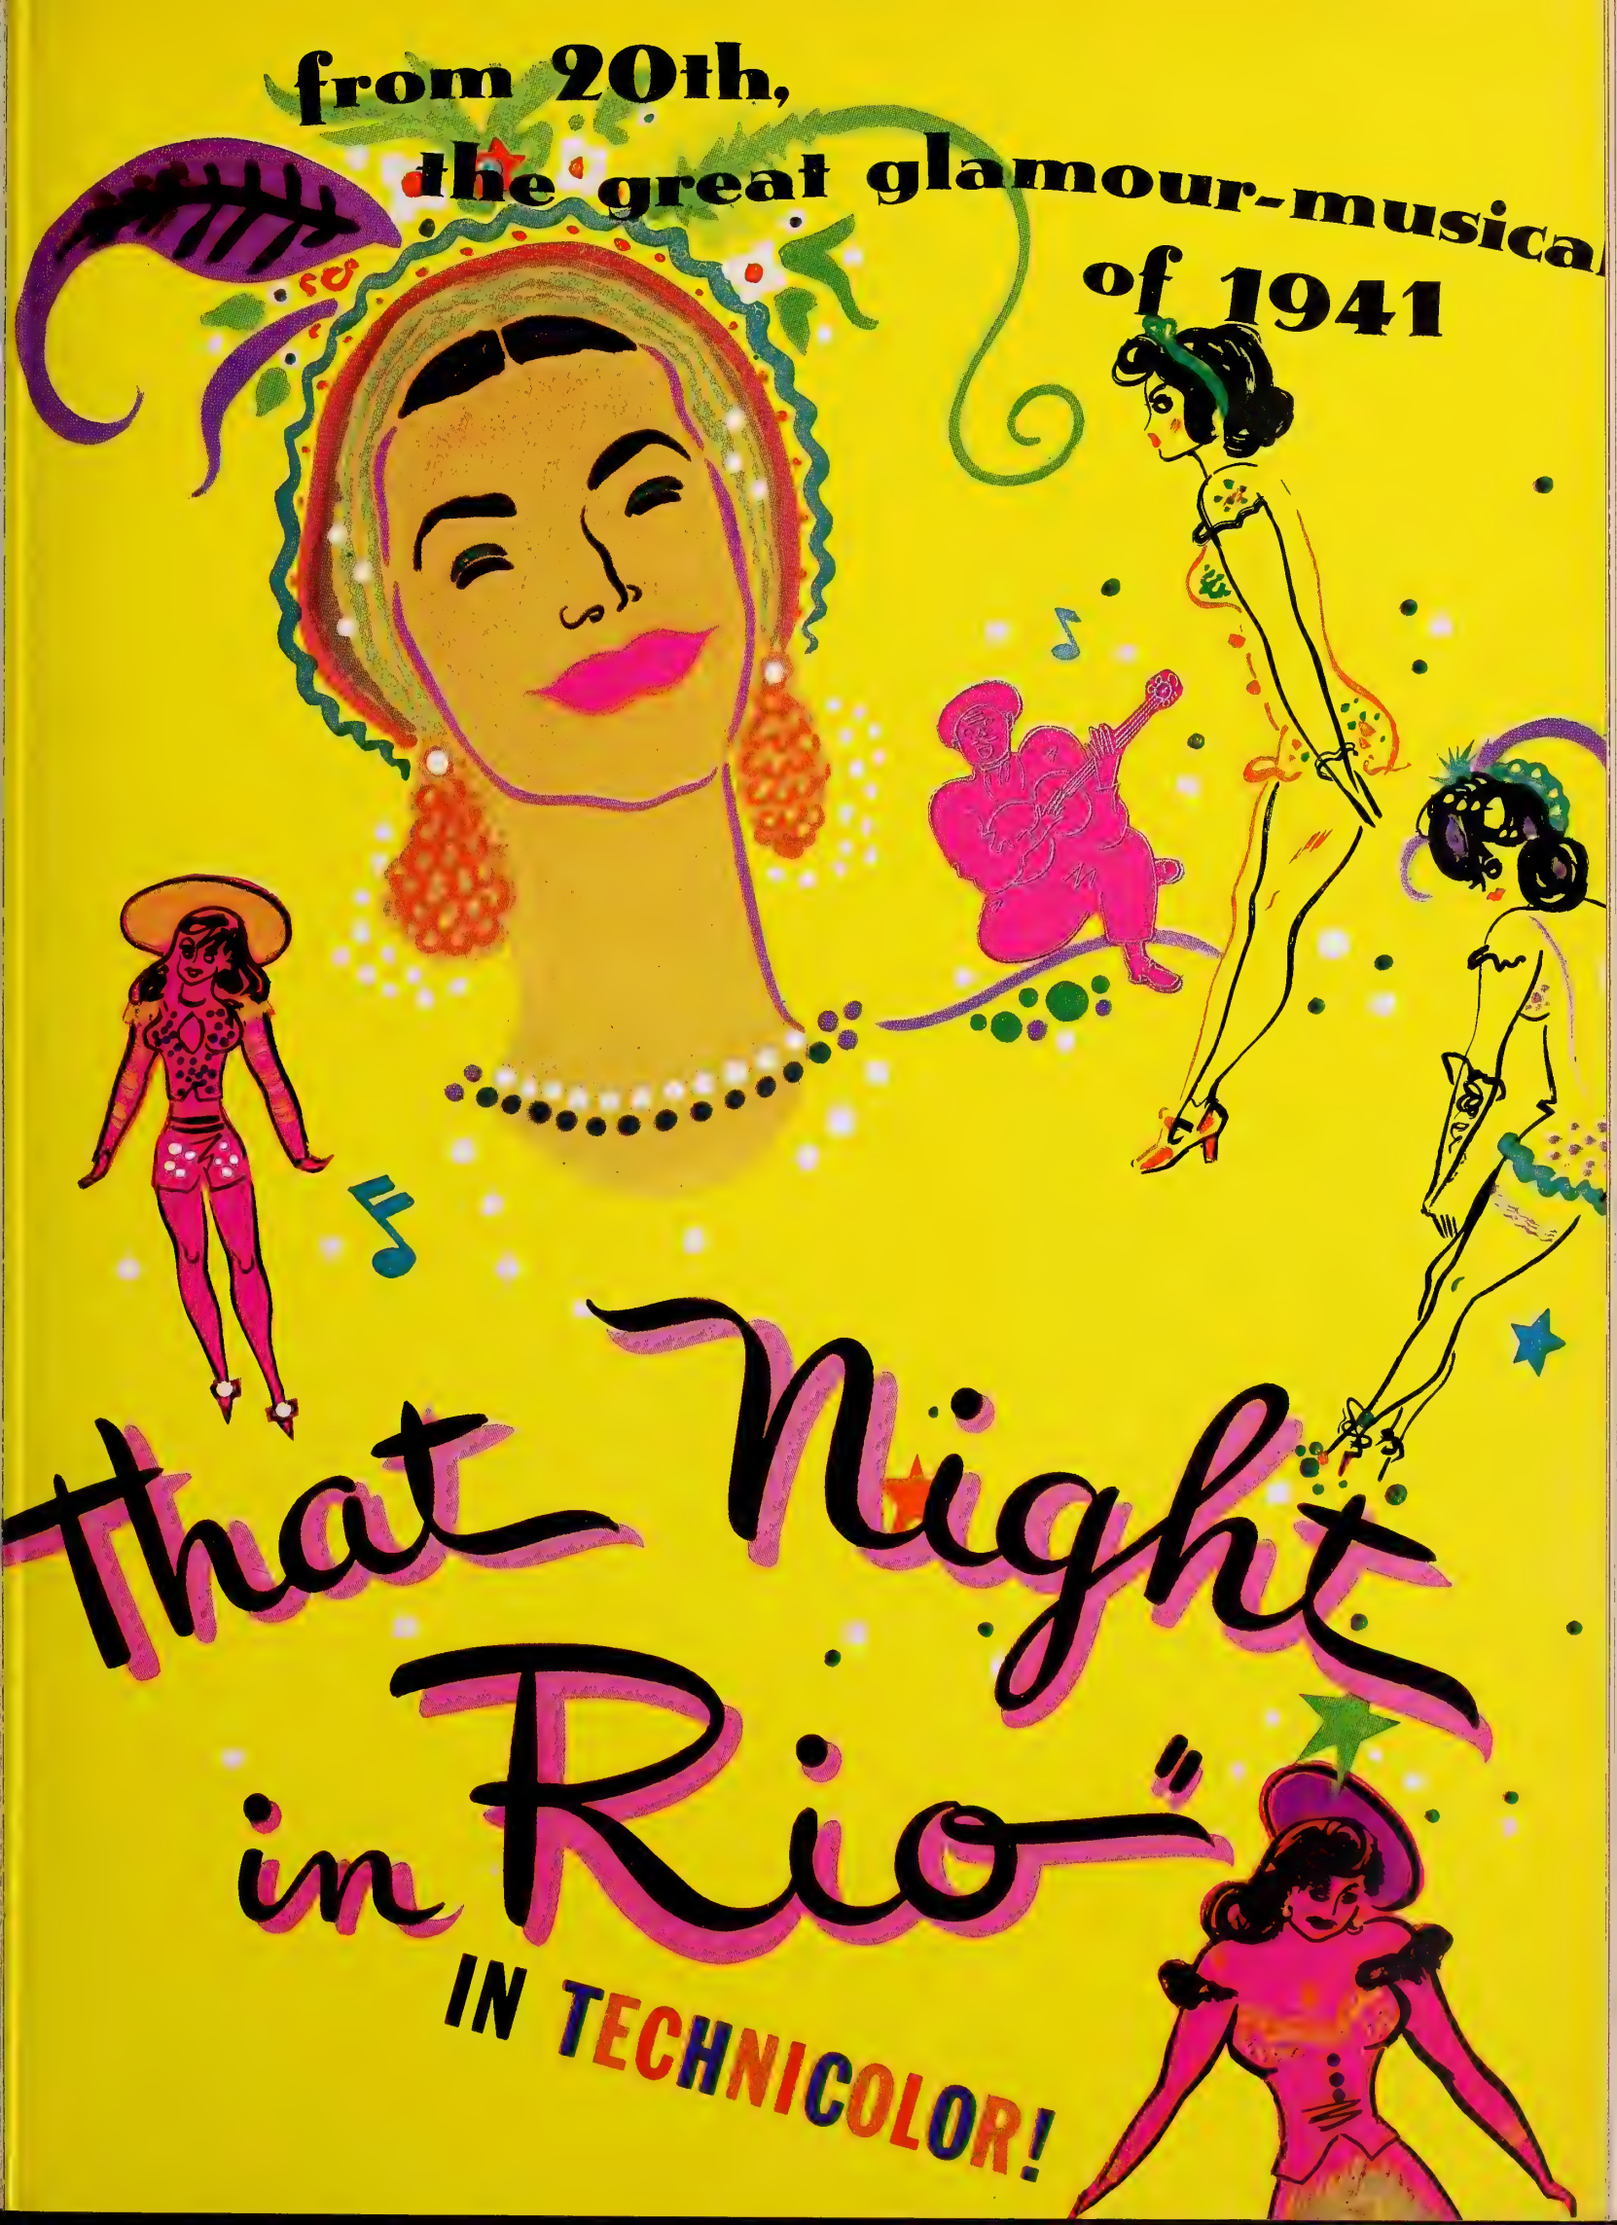
With Howard Hughes' expensive production. "The Outlaw," now in the cutting room, 20th Century-Fox awaits the second of the two pictures that the multi-millionaire of varied interests has contracted to deliver. No announcement has been made of the type, nature or theme of the second. The Hughes deal broke a precedent for 20th Century-Fox, which, since its formation, has not released any outside product from the United States.

MGM, with the sole exception of "Gone with the Wind," produced by Selznick-International, has consistently shied away from distributing pictures made by outside producers.

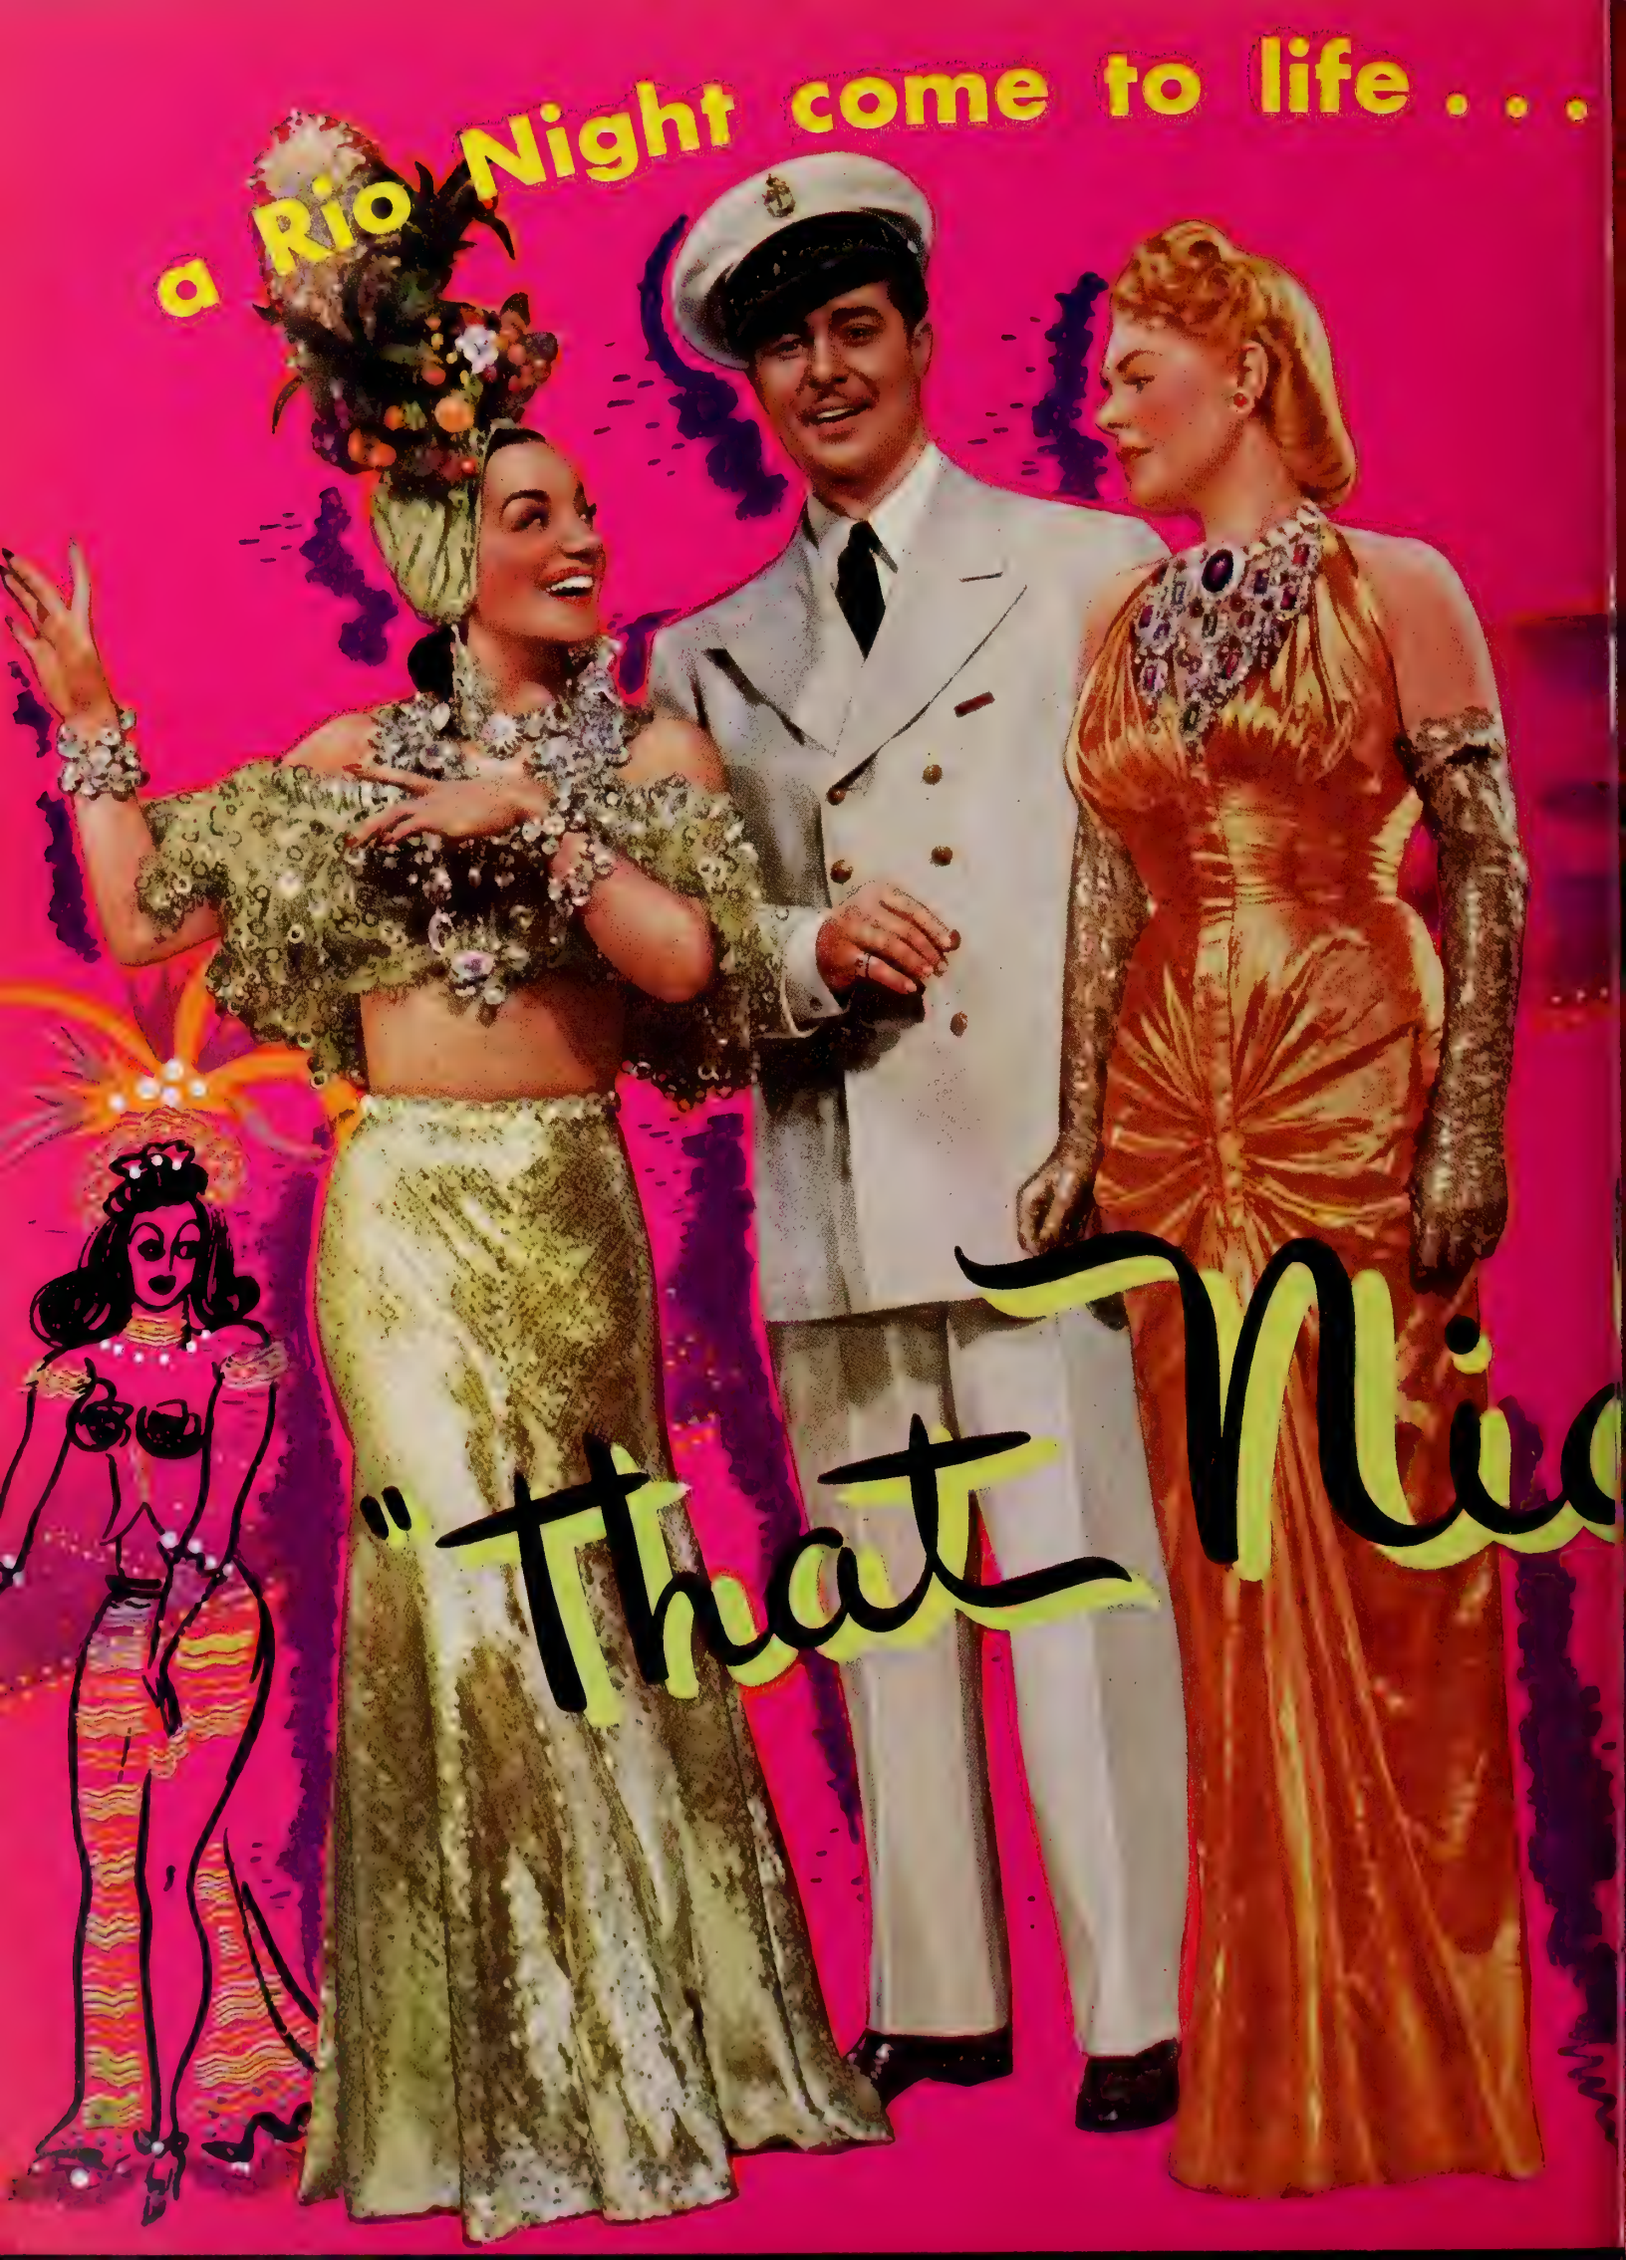
Republic has abandoned all outside deals for several years, its last having been with A. W. Hackel westerns starring Bob Steele.

Monogram, on the contrary, has adopted for its entire program this year the system of outside production, with Scott R. Dunlap, one time production head, forming his own company for contribution to its schedule. Lindsley Parsons and Paul Malvern's units are financed through Sterling Productions, Inc., in which Trem Carr, member of Monogram's board of directors and recently appointed "advisory head" of production, has the major interest. The other companies making pictures for Monogram release are, in addition to Dunlap's company, Boots and Saddles, Inc., whose head is Ed Finney, and I. E. Chadwick Productions, Inc.

New Season Product Plans Lag

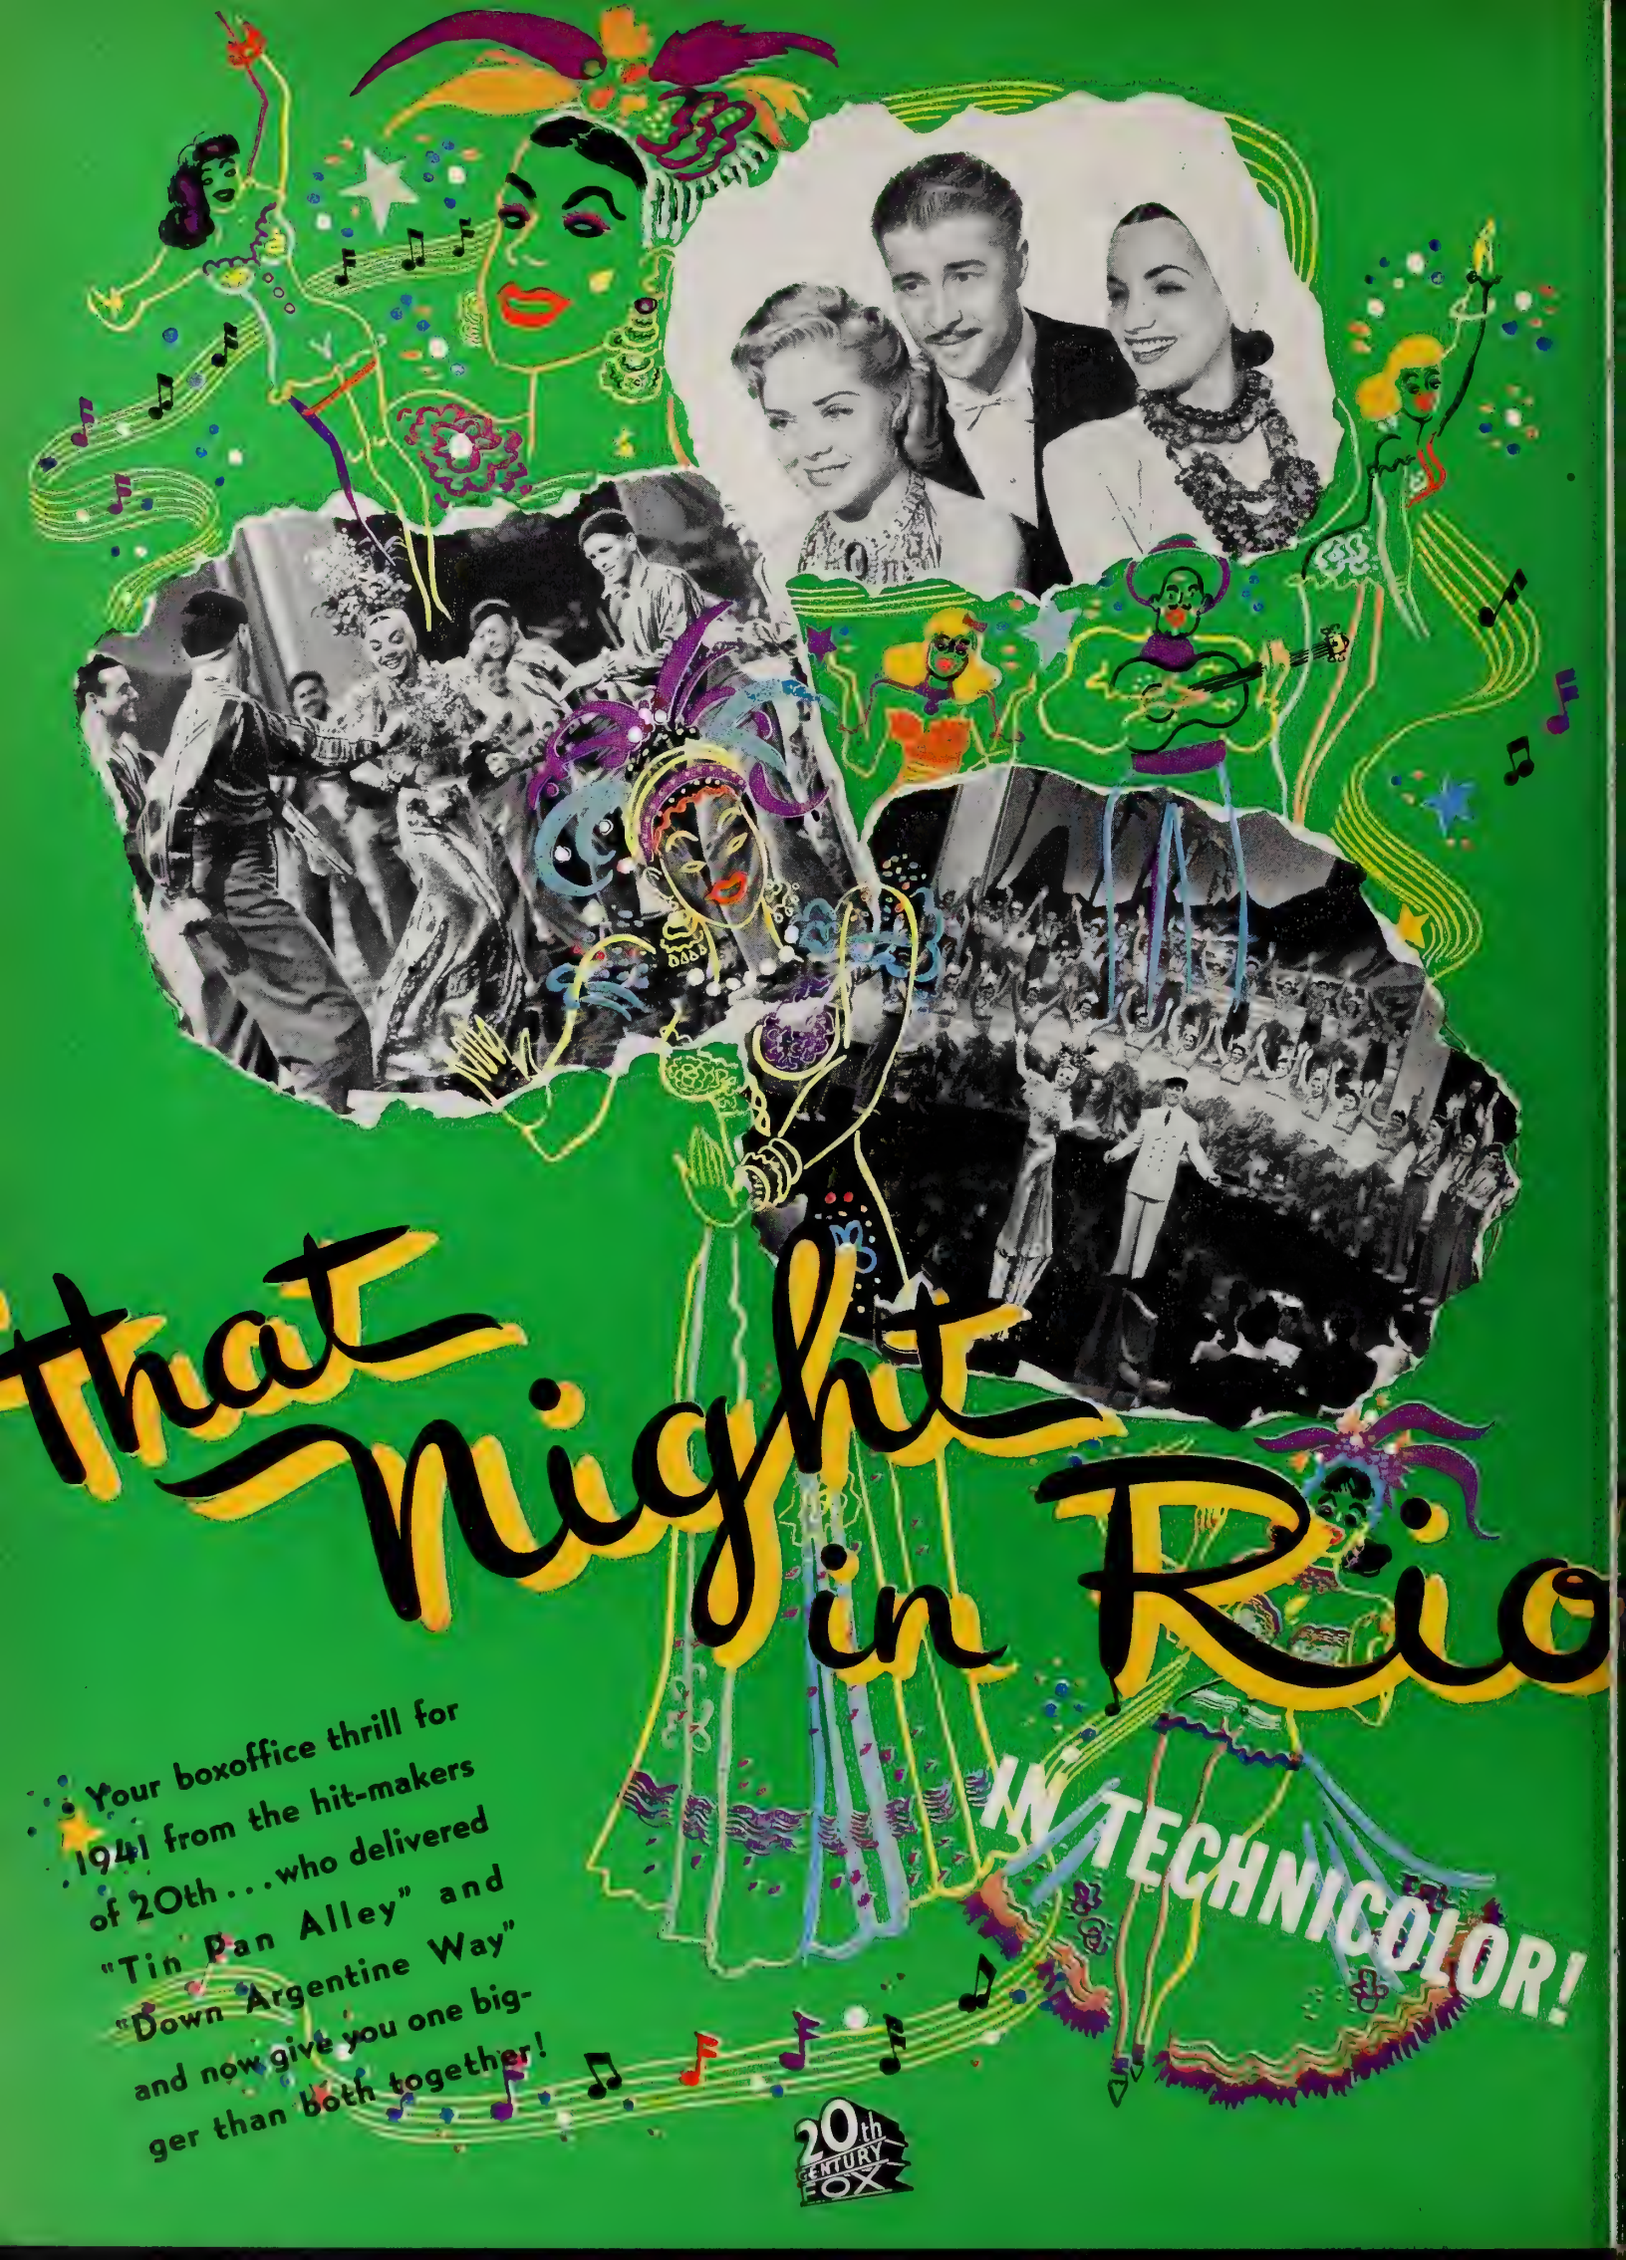


Although several companies have indicated they would have their first blocks-of-five ready to trade show under the decree selling provisions early this summer, studio announcements of product now in work for release next season are sparse.



Twentieth Century-Fox planned to start its first, "Yank in the A. E. F." next week. None of the MGM pictures either in work or completed are set for the new season. RKO expects "Joan of Paris," David Hempstead production for Michele Morgan, to be for next season but not other titles are set. Paramount has "Sky Lark," "Pioneer Woman," "Hold Back the Dawn" and "Night of January 16th" in work for the 1941-42 season. Other studios have no announcements.

LESSER POINTS UP LACK OF BIG NAMES



Concentration on star values in productions by major companies and the concurrent inability of independent producers to borrow the Grade A names needed to make a film profitable on domestic market receipts alone, is responsible for the present plight of independent producers according to Sol Lesser as reported by Douglas W. Churchill in the New York Times, March 16th. Mr. Lesser announced he would be compelled to relinquish his independent United Artists status and seek a salaried connection with a major studio unless conditions changed.

The story said the producer had met the problem when he tried to obtain Cary Grant, Melvyn Douglas or James Stewart for his "Strange Victory" and found them all booked well in advance. The story is being rewritten for Charles Boyer and if he cannot be obtained the project will be abandoned, it was added.

from 20th, the great glamour-musical of 1941
that Night in Rio"
IN TECHNICOLOR!

a Rio Night come to life . . .
"That Nig

with its tropical romance . . . and its laughter and its Samba dance-rhythms . . .
Alice FAYE
Don AMECHE
Carmen MIRANDA
and its torrid songs!
"I'yi, Yi, Yi, Yi" (I Like You Very Much)
"Chica, Chica, Boom, Chic"
"Boa Noite" (Good Night)
"They Met in Rio"
"The Baron Is In Conference"
by Mack Gordon and Harry Warren
in ht in Rio"
made more glamorous in glorious TECHNICOLOR
S. Z. SAKALL · J. CARROL NAISH · CURT BOIS · LEONID KINSKEY Directed by Irving Cummings • Associate Producer Fred Kohlmar • Screen Play by George Seaton, Bess Meredyth and Hal Long • Additional Dialogue by Samuel Hoffenstein • Based on a Play by Rudolph Lothar and Hans Adler • Adapted by Jessie Ernst • Dances staged by Hermes Pan

that Night in Rio
IN TECHNICOLOR!
Your boxoffice thrill for 1941 from the hit-makers of 20th . . . who delivered "Tin Pan Alley" and "Down Argentine Way" and now give you one bigger than both together!
20th CENTURY FOX

EXHIBITOR ARBITRATION VICTORY IN FIRST CASE BRINGS 7 NEW ONES

Nashua, N. H., Theatre Gets "Some Run" Award When Distributors Offer No Defense; List New Complaints

Victory of an independent exhibitor last week in the first arbitration case to come to "trial" in the system established by the consent decree—a case in which the distributors offered no defense—was followed this week by the largest number of arbitration demands yet made in a week with seven cases filed in four cities.

Benjamin Gold, head of Paulston, Inc., operator of the Park in Nashua, N. H. (Boston Case No. 1) received an award from Arthur L. Brown, arbitrator, on Friday of last week, granting "some run" after counsel for Paramount, Twentieth Century-Fox, RKO and Warner Brothers made it known that no defense would be offered. The day before the hearing was held in Boston Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer settled "out of court" and also presumably granted the "some run" requested.

A hearing was held last week in the "run" case brought by E. F. Vanderveer, operator of the State, Morris, Ill. (Chicago Case No. 1), but briefs were ordered and the decision was not expected for a few weeks. A hearing was also scheduled for this Thursday on the clearance demand made by Ben Banovitz, Ken theatre, Chicago (Chicago Case No. 2). This was expected to be the first clearance dispute to be settled in the new arbitration system.

New arbitration demands were filed this week in Milwaukee, St. Louis, Albany and Minneapolis. Arbitrators were selected for cases previously filed in Chicago, New Orleans, Detroit.

American Arbitration Association officials reported that a number of demand forms had been returned to exhibitors because they were not properly made out.

No Defense

MGM settled the Park theatre, Nashua, demand for some run before the hearing and hence was eliminated from the proceeding. The other four companies, either because they did not decide to settle until the hearing was to begin or because they wished to "make a gesture" at the first film arbitration hearing, were represented at the proceedings but offered no defense.

Arthur L. Brown, professor of law at Boston University and arbitrator in the case, gave an award to Paulston, Inc., operator of the Park theatre after the 45 minute hearing. J. Noble Braden, executive secretary of the AAA and director of the motion picture tribunals, was present to see that everything went smoothly at the first hearing.

After the hearing was opened by Mr. Brown, George S. Ryan, attorney for the complainant, stated his case. After the exhibitor's position was explained Edward F. McLennon of Nutter, McLennon and Fish, representing Paramount, RKO and Warner Brothers and Charles Young of Dwight, Harris, Koegel and Caskey, representing Twentieth Century-Fox, said they had no argument to present and that their clients would abide by the award.

The arbitrator's decision in the case was as follows:

"In accordance with the consents filed with the arbitrator, I direct the distributors to offer their pictures for license to said Paulston, Inc., for exhibition at the Park Theatre to the extent of pictures released for exhibition up to July 31, 1942, inclusive, on a run to be designated by said distributors, which are not calculated to defeat the purpose of Section 6 of the consent decree."

After August 1, 1942, the distributors have the right to request another arbitration of the Paulston demand if they believe they can prove that granting the "some run" requested had the "effect of reducing the distributor's total film revenue in the competitive area in which such exhibitor's theatre is located" as specified in section VI of the consent decree.

The original demand was filed by Paulston, Inc., four weeks before the final award. The Park theatre seats 750.

Abram F. Myers, chairman of the board of Allied States Association of Motion Picture Exhibitors, made the following comment on the first case to be arbitrated under the industry's new system. "The satisfactory outcome of the first arbitration in Boston and the speed with which it was accomplished should encourage exhibitors having just claims to file such proceedings. I am gratified that the system got off to such a good start and congratulate all who participated for their fair attitude."

Chicago Case Opened

The first hearing in the Midwest and the second in the nation was held Saturday in Chicago on the case filed by E. F. Vanderveer, operator of the State, Morris, Ill. (Chicago Case No. 1) before Charles Zane Henkle, vice-president of the Continental Illinois National Bank. Run and clearance were involved in the dispute which named MGM and the Anderson circuit.

Mr. Vanderveer charged on the witness stand that MGM had violated section six of the consent decree by refusing to sell him second-run product. According to his story about a year ago he decided there was sufficient business in Morris for another theatre. At that time the only other theatre in the town was the Morris, operated by Fred Anderson, head of the Anderson circuit which has ten theatres in southern Illinois.

Mr. Anderson offered to buy out his interest, Mr. Vanderveer said, six weeks after construction had been started on the State theatre. He also charged that Mr. Anderson said he "controlled the town." Next, it was said, the Anderson circuit built another house in the town.

Mr. Vanderveer also testified that he was able to obtain second-run product from 20th Century-Fox, RKO, Columbia and Universal but that MGM refused on the grounds that it was against the company's policy to sell second-run in a town the size of Morris which has a population of 5,586. The MGM second-run later was sold to the Anderson circuit, he claimed, and he had refused an offer of third-run from MGM, as well as a proposed reduction in clearance from 60 to 21 days.

S. A. Shirley, acting resident manager for MGM in the absence of Walter E. Banford was examined by Edmund W. Lee, II, of MGM's New York legal staff. Others who testified were John Kemptgen, salesman for MGM, and Charles Jeffries, who is a motion picture operator in Dwight, Illinois, and manager of Vanderveer's State in Morris.

Daniel Nagle, of the law firm of Cummings and Wyman, represented Mr. Vanderveer who pointed to defense activity in neighboring towns as a further reason why he should obtain second-run of MGM product for the State in Morris.

Mr. Vanderveer also claimed he was unable to obtain space on the same page of the Morris newspaper as did the Anderson circuit and asserted that ads for the State appeared between "office supplies and meats." The Anderson circuit did not intervene in the case.

At the conclusion of the hearing which lasted from nine in the morning until seven in the evening, with only a short recess for lunch, Mr. Henkle, the arbitrator, asked the attorneys to file briefs before Saturday, March 22nd. The award must be made within 30 days after that date.

Also present at the hearing was Mr. Braden of the AAA; Aaron Stein of Rosenberg, Stein and Rosenberg who was to represent Henry Schoenstadt in a case scheduled for this Thursday; Maxwell Landis, attorney for Ben Banovitz of the Ken theatre; Eli Fink, Edward Blackman and Arthur A. Goldberg of Spitz and Adcock.

Second in Chicago

On Thursday a hearing was to be held on the Ken theatre action (Chicago Case No. 2). Charles P. Megan, former president of the Chicago Bar Association, was to be the arbitrator in the demand filed by Ben Banovitz and naming 20th-Fox, Paramount, RKO and the Schoenstadt circuit. Spitz and Adcock will represent RKO and Paramount and Clyde Eckhardt, 20th-Fox.

The first hearing in the Cleveland arbitration district has been scheduled for Wednesday, March 26th on the demand filed by Louis Israel of the Ellet theatre in Akron (Cleveland Case No. 1). Dan B. Cull, who served for three terms as Cleveland municipal judge and is a former member of Civil Service Commission and a member of the arbitration committee of the Chamber of Commerce is arbitrator. All five distributors which signed the decree were named in the complaint as were the Co-operative theatres of Ohio and the Norka and Rialto.

First arbitration hearing in the Denver area is set for March 25, with George D. Begole, former Denver mayor, as arbiter. J. J. Goodstein Enterprises, Inc., asked reallocation of 20th Century-Fox, Paramount and Loew's pictures, claiming a shortage of product for the Longmont theatre at Longmont, Colorado, and alleged the three companies refuse to sell him any product, contracting only with the Fox Longmont theatre.

Sefton Darr, Washington attorney, will be arbitrator of the Westway theatre, Baltimore, complaint against the 14-day clearance granted the Durkee circuit's Edgwood theatre by Loew's, Warners and Twentieth Century-Fox (Washington case No. 3). April 8th is the tentative date.

The man selected to hear the first New York arbitration case is Julius Henry Cohen, con-

(Continued on following page, column 1)

"SOME RUN" CASE IN COURTS 5 YEARS

The Park theatre, Nashua, N. H., which won a "some run" award in the first arbitration hearing held in the system established by the consent decree a few weeks after the demand was filed, had sought the same result through court action for five years and no decision was ever reached, the American Arbitration Association pointed out this week.

Arbitration Award Goes to Exhibitor sidered an authority on arbitration, having written one of the first books on the subject, "Commercial Arbitration and the Law" published in 1918, and sponsoring New York's arbitration law in 1920. Mr. Cohen was born in Brooklyn, New York in 1873 and after attending New York University he was admitted to the bar in 1897. The case was brought by the Hilary Corporation, operator of the Regent in Brooklyn and involves clearance. All five distributors and the Apollo theatre were named.

(Continued from preceding page)

Phillip E. James, lawyer, has been named arbitrator for the New Orleans Drive-In action (New Orleans No. 1) filed by Charles K. Woolner and naming Paramount in a "some run" demand.

Jerome G. Thomas, head of the Business Administration Department of Wayne University, has been selected to hear the No. 1 Detroit case filed by Julius L. London of the Booth theatre, Detroit. Warner Brothers and Paramount were named. Theatres said to be involved were the Del, DeLuxe, Whittier, East End and Co-operative Theatres of Michigan. The dispute involves clearance and some run.

L. J. Carey, Detroit lawyer, was chosen arbitrator for the No. 2 Detroit case, also brought by the Booth theatre and naming Paramount, RKO, Warners and 20th Century-Fox in a clearance dispute.

Ben Amsterdam, head of the Atlantic Theatres Corporation, independent circuit operating out of Philadelphia, filed Tuesday with the local arbitration board a notice of intervention in the clearance case filed March 3 by John Geyser, operator of the Florence Theatre in Florence, N. J. Mr. Geyser, who filed the first arbitration suit in that territory, charged unreasonable clearance against the five consenting major distributors in a situation involving the Fox Theatre in Burlington, N. J., operated by Mr. Amsterdam, and asked that there be no clearance over the Atlantic house.

New demands for arbitration were filed this week in St. Louis, Milwaukee, Albany, Minneapolis and Pittsburgh.

"First-Run" Asked

The St. Louis Case No. 1 was filed by Louis M. Sosna of Mexico, Mo. This demand was unique in two respects: the five consenting companies plus Columbia, Republic, Universal and United Artists and a "first-run" was requested while only "some run" demands may be arbitrated until September 1, 1941. Theatres also named in the complaint were the Liberty and Rex of the Frisina circuit.

Mr. Sosna asserted that the nine companies named encouraged him to open a theatre in Mexico in June, 1940, and promised him first-run pictures. Only Warners sold him first runs during the 1940 season and these were old pictures, Mr. Sosna asserted. The distributors said the first runs had been sold to the opposition theatres, the Liberty and Rex. Mr. Sosna asks 208 first-runs.

Leo Macklin, operator of the Grand theatre in New London, Wis., filed the second complaint received in the Milwaukee arbitration office. All five distributors were named in a clearance demand. Theatres said to be involved were the Rio and Appleton in Appleton, Wis.; Grand and Times at Clintonville, operated by Dr. W. H. Finney and the Waupaca and Palace at Waupaca, operated by the Adler theatre Company of Marshfield, Wis. It was asserted that these get product from 30 to 50 days ahead of the Grand at New London and day and date run was asked.

The second St. Louis demand was filed by the Shirley Theatres Corporation, operator of the Rialto in Cape Girardeau. RKO and the Broadway and Orpheum, Fox Midwest theatres, were named in a clearance dispute.

This week two cases were filed in Albany, both by Alex Papayanakos of American theatres, Canton, N. Y. In the first, a clearance complaint, RKO and Schine's Strand and Pontiac in Ogdensburg were named. It was said that the Schine houses sometimes wait 60 to 90 days after release before playing a picture and the specified time is 14 days. The second demand also involved clearance and was similar to the first complaint except that Warners were named.

Two cases were filed this week in Minneapolis by David Gillman, operator of the Gaiety in Minneapolis. Both demands involved "some run"; 20th Century-Fox was named in the first and Paramount in the second.

The first case in the Pittsburgh territory was filed this week by Herman Lorence, owner of the 18th Street Theatre in Erie, Pa. The "some run" demand named Warners, RKO, 20th Century-Fox and Paramount. The American theatre in the same city was listed as an interested party. Mr. Lorence informed the AAA office that he would try his own case.

In New York it was noted this week that exhibitors had begun to file separate demands against each of the distributors, instead of naming two or more in a single case. It was reported that the expenses might be less if the cases were consolidated but if an exhibitor should lose the case against one distributor, his second might be won. The distributors also were said to prefer separate cases.

ARBITRATION CASES

The following is a summary of the arbitration cases filed to date:

Filed this week:

Milwaukee—One on Clearance
St. Louis—One on Some Run
One on Clearance
Pittsburgh—One on Some Run
Albany—Two on Clearance
Minneapolis—Two on Some Run

Total in week	8

Previously published:

Clearance	15
Some Run	9
Withholding Prints	1
Total to March 19	32

Hearings Held:

One in Boston on a "some run" case, with the award given to the exhibitor after no defense was offered by the distributors.

Two in Chicago on a "some run". In one case decision was reserved and briefs ordered, and in the other the hearing was scheduled for Thursday.

Warner Executives to Coast; P. R. C. Convention

Home office executives of Warner Brothers left New York Tuesday for 1941-42 production conferences at the Burbank studio. Among them were Gradwell L. Sears, general sales manager; Carl Leserman, assistant general sales manager; Mort Blumenstock, in charge of Eastern advertising and publicity; Ben Kalmenson, Southern and Western sales manager, and Sam Schneider.

From Saturday through Monday, executives and salesmen of the Producers Releasing Corporation will meet for the first time in general conclave, at the Congress Hotel, Chicago. They will be presided over by O. Henry Briggs, president. The 1940-41 program will be disclosed.

Committees Set By Variety Clubs

John H. Harris, of Pittsburgh, national chief barker of the Variety Clubs of America, has appointed committees for the national convention in Atlantic City from May 15th through May 17th.

On the publicity committee are: Charles E. Lewis, chairman; Maurice Kann, co-chairman; James Cunningham, Abel Green, Chester Bahn, Sam Shain, Eli Sugarman, Ray Lewis, Herb Miller, Arthur Ungar, William Wilkerson, Moe Wax, Lionel Toll, Welford Beaton, P. S. Harrison, and James Finn.

Chairman of the trailer and short subjects committee is George Dembow; of the banquet committee, Earle Sweigert; of the printing supplies committee, Harry Kalmine; of the pier and theatre courtesies committee, Frank Gravatt.

More than $400,000 is expected to be pledged this year by local tents to the charity fund, thus exceeding last year's pledges, which totalled approximately $300,000.

Most tents have arranged their transportation to Atlantic City. It is expected all special cars from various sections will arrive in Philadelphia the evening of May 14th. They will then be combined into a Variety Convention Special, for the run to the coast resort.

Politicians Are Guests

The Columbus, Ohio, Variety Club entertained the state's most important political figures at a "get acquainted" night, Friday, March 14th. Guests included Governor Harold Bricker; Lieutenant Governor Paul M. Herbert; and Chief Justice Weygandt of the Ohio Supreme Court.

The annual Spring Party of the Kansas City tent was held Friday, March 14th, with executives of the Griffith circuit as hosts.

The Washington tent will tender a dinner April 7th to Rudolph Berger, MGM exchange manager. It will mark his 30 years in the film industry.

The Detroit Variety Club honored Jack Goldhar, UA district manager, and Morris Dudelson, the company's Detroit branch manager, at a United Artists' Night program Saturday, March 15th, in that city's Hotel Book-Cadillac.

In Cleveland, the local tent is cooperating with the exchanges and with the projectionists' union, to provide films for hospitals and other institutions of the city. Mrs. Georgia Moffet is booking the films for the club. The union is donating two operators for each showing.

A formal dinner dance, to honor its chief barker, Dr. Leon Levy, was held by the Philadelphia Variety Club Saturday evening, March 15th, at the Hotel Bellevue Stratford. It was announced the Ladies' Auxiliary would give a dinner April 26th, at the city's Ritz-Carlton Hotel, with Mrs. Samuel Gross and Mrs. Harry Biben as co-chairmen.

"Jimmy" Roosevelt in Hospital

Captain James Roosevelt, eldest son of the President and motion picture producer, underwent an operation Monday in the Naval Hospital in San Diego, Cal., where he is stationed with the Marine Corps. Officers of the hospital declined to discuss details of the operation. Meanwhile, United Artists this week set plans for the opening of Captain Roosevelt's first feature-length film, "Pot O' Gold," in Mexico City, April 12th, under the sponsorship of President Avila Camacho.

INDUSTRY GOES 'ALL-OUT' WITH NATIONAL DEFENSE COMMITTEES

Expanded Committee Named by Schaefer Representing All Elements "to Marshall Trade Resources in the Emergency"

The motion picture industry's basic committee for coperating with the Government in national defense, as set up last October 31st, was established in expanded and permanent form, on Wednesday, "to include representation of all elements in the industry to meet the screen's increasing responsibilities in the present emergency." Its announced purpose is to marshal all the film industry's resources to aid the nation in the emergency.

9,000 Theatres Signed

"Films produced by the industry on a non-profit basis, and approved by the committee," the announcement continued, "and short subjects and trailers made by Government departments and approved by the committee, are being distributed to more than 9,000 theatres which have signed pledges of cooperation.

"Designated exchanges in each territory are handling physical distribution of such films.

"The 26 film delivery trucking associations which are members of the National Film Carriers, Inc., are transporting approved films free.

"Producers are cooperating in making trailers and other factual presentations of defense subjects.

"The newsreels are portraying activities in cantonments, arsenals, navy yards, and plane and munition factories, in order that the American public may realize the progress of this national effort.

"Hemispheric solidarity and inter-American understanding are being promoted through screen presentations of the Latin-American scene."

Last fall, the motion picture industry advised the Government that it stood ready to aid National Defense "in any way requested," establishing committees at that time to arrange with U. S. military and defense forces the furtherance of Government or industry-produced subjects on preparedness, recruiting, military training and other related matters.

Expansion of the basic film defense committee personnel setup was announced Wednesday by Francis S. Harmon, the industry's defense coordinator, acting, on behalf of George J. Schaefer (RKO president), chairman of the National Coordinating Committee.

National Committee

There are 30 members of a national committee who are to serve as official representatives of the industry organizations which they head.

Edward Arnold, president, Screen Actors' Guild.
Barney Balaban, president, Paramount Pictures, Inc.
Nate J. Blumberg, president, Universal Pictures Co., Inc.
Harry Brandt, president, Independent Theatre Owners Association, Inc.
Frank Capra, president, Screen Directors' Guild, Inc.
I. E. Chadwick, president, Independent Motion Picture Producers Association
James P. Clark, president, National Film Carriers, Inc.
Harry Cohn, president, Columbia Pictures Corp.
H. A. Cole, president, Allied States Assn. of Motion Picture Exhibitors
Y. Frank Freeman, president, Association of Motion Picture Producers, Inc.
Sheridan Gibney, president, Screen Writers' Guild, Inc.
James R. Grainger, president, Republic Pictures Corp.
John H. Harris, president, National Variety Clubs
Will H. Hays, president, Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, Inc.
Emery Huse, president, Society of Motion Picture Engineers
W. Ray Johnston, president, Monogram Pictures Corp.
Sidney R. Kent, president, Twentieth Century-Fox Film Corp.
Edward L. Kuykendall, president, Motion Picture Theatre Owners of America
Frank W. Lovejoy, president, Eastman Kodak Company
Robert H. Poole, executive secretary, Pacific Coast Conference of Independent Theatre Owners
Herman Robbins, president, National Screen Service Corp.
George J. Schaefer, president, RKO Radio Pictures, Inc.
Nicholas M. Schenck, president, Loew's Incorporated
Maurice Silverstone, president, United Artists Corp.
T. Kennedy Stevenson, president, Electrical Research Products, Inc.
W. G. Van Schmus, managing director, Radio City Music Hall
G. K. Throckmorton, president, RCA Manufacturing Company
Walter Wanger, president, Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences
Harry M. Warner, president, Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.
Herbert J. Yates, president, Consolidated Film Industries

Coordinating Committee

Functioning at all times for this sponsoring group is the National Coordinating Committee, composed of the following:

George J. Schaefer, Chairman
Francis S. Harmon, Co-ordinator
Barney Balaban
Joseph H. Hazen
William C. Michel
Nicholas Schenck
Walter Vincent
R. B. Wilby
Nathan Yamins
Joseph Bernhard, Chairman, Theatres Division
Y. Frank Freeman, Chairman, Production Division
E. B. Hatrick, Chairman, Newsreel Division
Martin Quigley, Chairman, Trade Press Division
William A. Scully, Chairman, Distributors' Division

The defense activities fall within five divisions: production, distribution, newsreels, trade press and theatres.

The personnel of each division follows:

PRODUCTION DIVISION

Y. Frank Freeman, Chairman
Sam Briskin
E. J. Mannix
Sol Lesser
Hal Wallis
Walter Wanger
Darryl Zanuck
Jack Chertok
Gordon Hollingshead
Frank Capra
Edward Arnold
Sheridan Gibney
Fred Beetson
Richard Day
Lt. Col. Nathan Levinson
Edward Hanson
John Arnold
John Nickolaus
Alfred Newman
Charles Boren
Fred Myers
Howard Strickling
Robert Taplinger
Mendel Silberberg, Counsel
Jock Lawrence, Secretary

DISTRIBUTORS' DIVISION

W. A. Scully, Chairman
Neil F. Agnew
George Dembow
Ned E. Depinet
William F. Rodgers
Gradwell L. Sears
Herman Wobber

NEWSREELS DIVISION

E. B. Hatrick, Chairman
Louis deRochemont
Thomas Mead
Albert J. Richard
Walton C. Ament
Truman Talley

TRADE PRESS DIVISION

Martin Quigley, Chairman
Jack Alicoate
Jay Emanuel
John C. Flinn
Charles E. Lewis
Ben Shlyen
Arthur Ungar
William R. Wilkerson

THEATRES DIVISION

Joseph Bernhard, Chairman
E. V. Richards, Co-Chairman
A. H. Blank
Harry Brandt
Si H. Fabian
John H. Harris
E. L. Kuykendall
Charles C. Moskowitz
Sam E. Morris
John J. O'Connor
R. J. O'Donnell
Spyros Skouras
R. B. Wilby
Nathan Yamins

Sub-Committees, Theatres

Co-ordinating: R. B. Wilby, Chairman; A. H. Blank, Charles C. Moskowitz, E. V. Richards, Spyros Skouras.

Organization: Harry Brandt, Chairman; John B. Harris, E. L. Kuykendall, John J. O'Connor, Nathan Yamins.

Field Organization: John Balaban, E. C. Beatty, Carl Buermele, Wm. F. Crockett, Jay Emanuel, Si H. Fabian, Harold Fitzgerald, John Friedl, Julius Gordon, L. C. Griffith, Harry Kalmine, Jack Kirsch, E. L. Kuykendall, I. Libson, M. A. Lightman, Frank Newman, R. J. O'Donnell, Samuel Pinanski, Robert H. Poole, Elmer Rhoden, Rick Ricketson, Samuel Rinzler, John Rugar, Meyer Schine, Fred Schwartz, Mort Singer, William Skirball, Charles Skouras, Roy Walker.

Publicity: Oscar Doob, Chairman; Harry Brand, Harry Goldberg, Claude F. Lee, Harry Mandel, Aubrey Schenck.

Finance: Si H. Fabian, Chairman and Treasurer; Nathan Yamins, Leonard Goldenson, E. L. Kuykendall, Spyros Skouras.

Moore Heads Montana ITO

Joseph B. Moore, theatre operator in Havre, Mont., was elected president of the Independent Theatre Owners of Montana on Monday, March 17th. Other new officers are: Jack Saukstorff, vice-president; Herbert Bonifas, secretary-treasurer; and directors Lloyd Sissel, Jens Hansen, B. F. Soutter, Frank Faust, Rex Flynn and Clarence Severson. The organization will hold its state-wide meeting at Billings on May 15th.

MPTOA Meets in June

Excelsior Springs, Mo., may be the scene of the annual Motion Picture Theatre Owners of America convention in June, Edward Kuykendall, organization president, indicated after receiving an invitation from the Kansas-Missouri unit during a recent visit to Kansas City.

MAYER, 'MERCHANT OF MENACE', TAKES OFF WHISKERS AT AMPA

Fits "Murder on Screen Worth Two Bits in Pocket" Formula to all Industry

Arthur Mayer, operating the Rialto Theatre at Times Square, was invited to address the Associated Motion Picture Advertisers, on Thursday, at its bimonthly luncheon-meeting at the Hotel Edison in New York. Known in the metropolitan sector as the director of "The House of Horrors", Mr. Mayer was billed accordingly as "The Merchant of Menace". He selected as his topic: "I Play the Bad Ones", and through Wednesday struggled with a manuscript which late in the day read somewhat as follows:

by ARTHUR MAYER

At the last gathering of AMPA, you heard from representatives of the friendly company. With an annual profit of $9,000,000 it's easy to be friendly. Today, you are hearing from a representative of the unfriendly exhibitors. With the sort of product we have to play, it's easy to be unfriendly. Our policy at the Rialto is to Gorify the American Ghoul, and with "Chambers of Horrors" playing the New York theatre this week, "Monster and the Girl" playing the Criterion and "Man-Made Monster" at the Rialto, it looks as if were succeeding in gorifying Broadway.

But the best is yet to come: I want to announce that we will shortly play the horror picture of all times. It is entitled "Out of the Night" with Frank Nugent. It tells what happened to Frank in 20th Century's Gestapo concentration camp of Hollywood.

Peddles Bad Films

I am told that there is a movement inaugurated by the Music Hall management to advertise only the good pictures. You can't do that to me. You'll put me out of business. If the Rialto waited until it got good pictures to advertise, we would never advertise at all. I claim to be America's leading expert in selling bad pictures. It's so long since I played a good one that I don't know anything about them. It was my impression they did not have to be sold. They sell themselves. It's the bad ones we have to sell, and Hollywood gives us plenty of practise doing it.

I have been called a tradesman in terror. I sell, however, horror, not hardware, blood curdles not ladies' girdles. Department store advertising was recently recommended to you as a model. We showmen have an older tradition and a more glamorous ancestry. We are of the circus breed. We learnt our three "R's" of exploitation from Reichenbach, Roxy and Riesenfeld. Our merchandise is not drygoods, but the live goods of human entertainment, of excitement and romance, laughter and tears.

Believe it or not, we have never played a picture at the Rialto, regardless of what Bosley Crowther may have called it, that some patron has not said, "That's a swell movie." And on the other hand, on the few occasions when we have played a good picture, a Columbia picture, let's say, there has always been a kill-joy who went out saying, "Gee—was that lousy." We live by the faith of all good showmen that although the picture this week may not be doing so well, the next picture—the one which we are preparing to advertise—is going to be terrific. If it were not for that faith, I would have disappeared from Broadway long ago. If it were not for that faith, most of you would not be here today.

Believing this as I do, I believe also that we must sell our product, whether we personally consider it good or bad, with warmth and color, with vivid phrases and glowing adjectives. I believe our patrons have been conditioned to expect such advertising and will respond to nothing less. I believe that far from our imitating department store advertising, they are more and more imitating us. They have learnt, as some theatres have still to learn, that dignity is not synonymous with dullness and that enthusiasm and initiative are the essence of good advertising, theatrical or otherwise. When a two-pants clothes store opens on Broadway these days, there are more Klieg lights than for a Hollywood premiere.

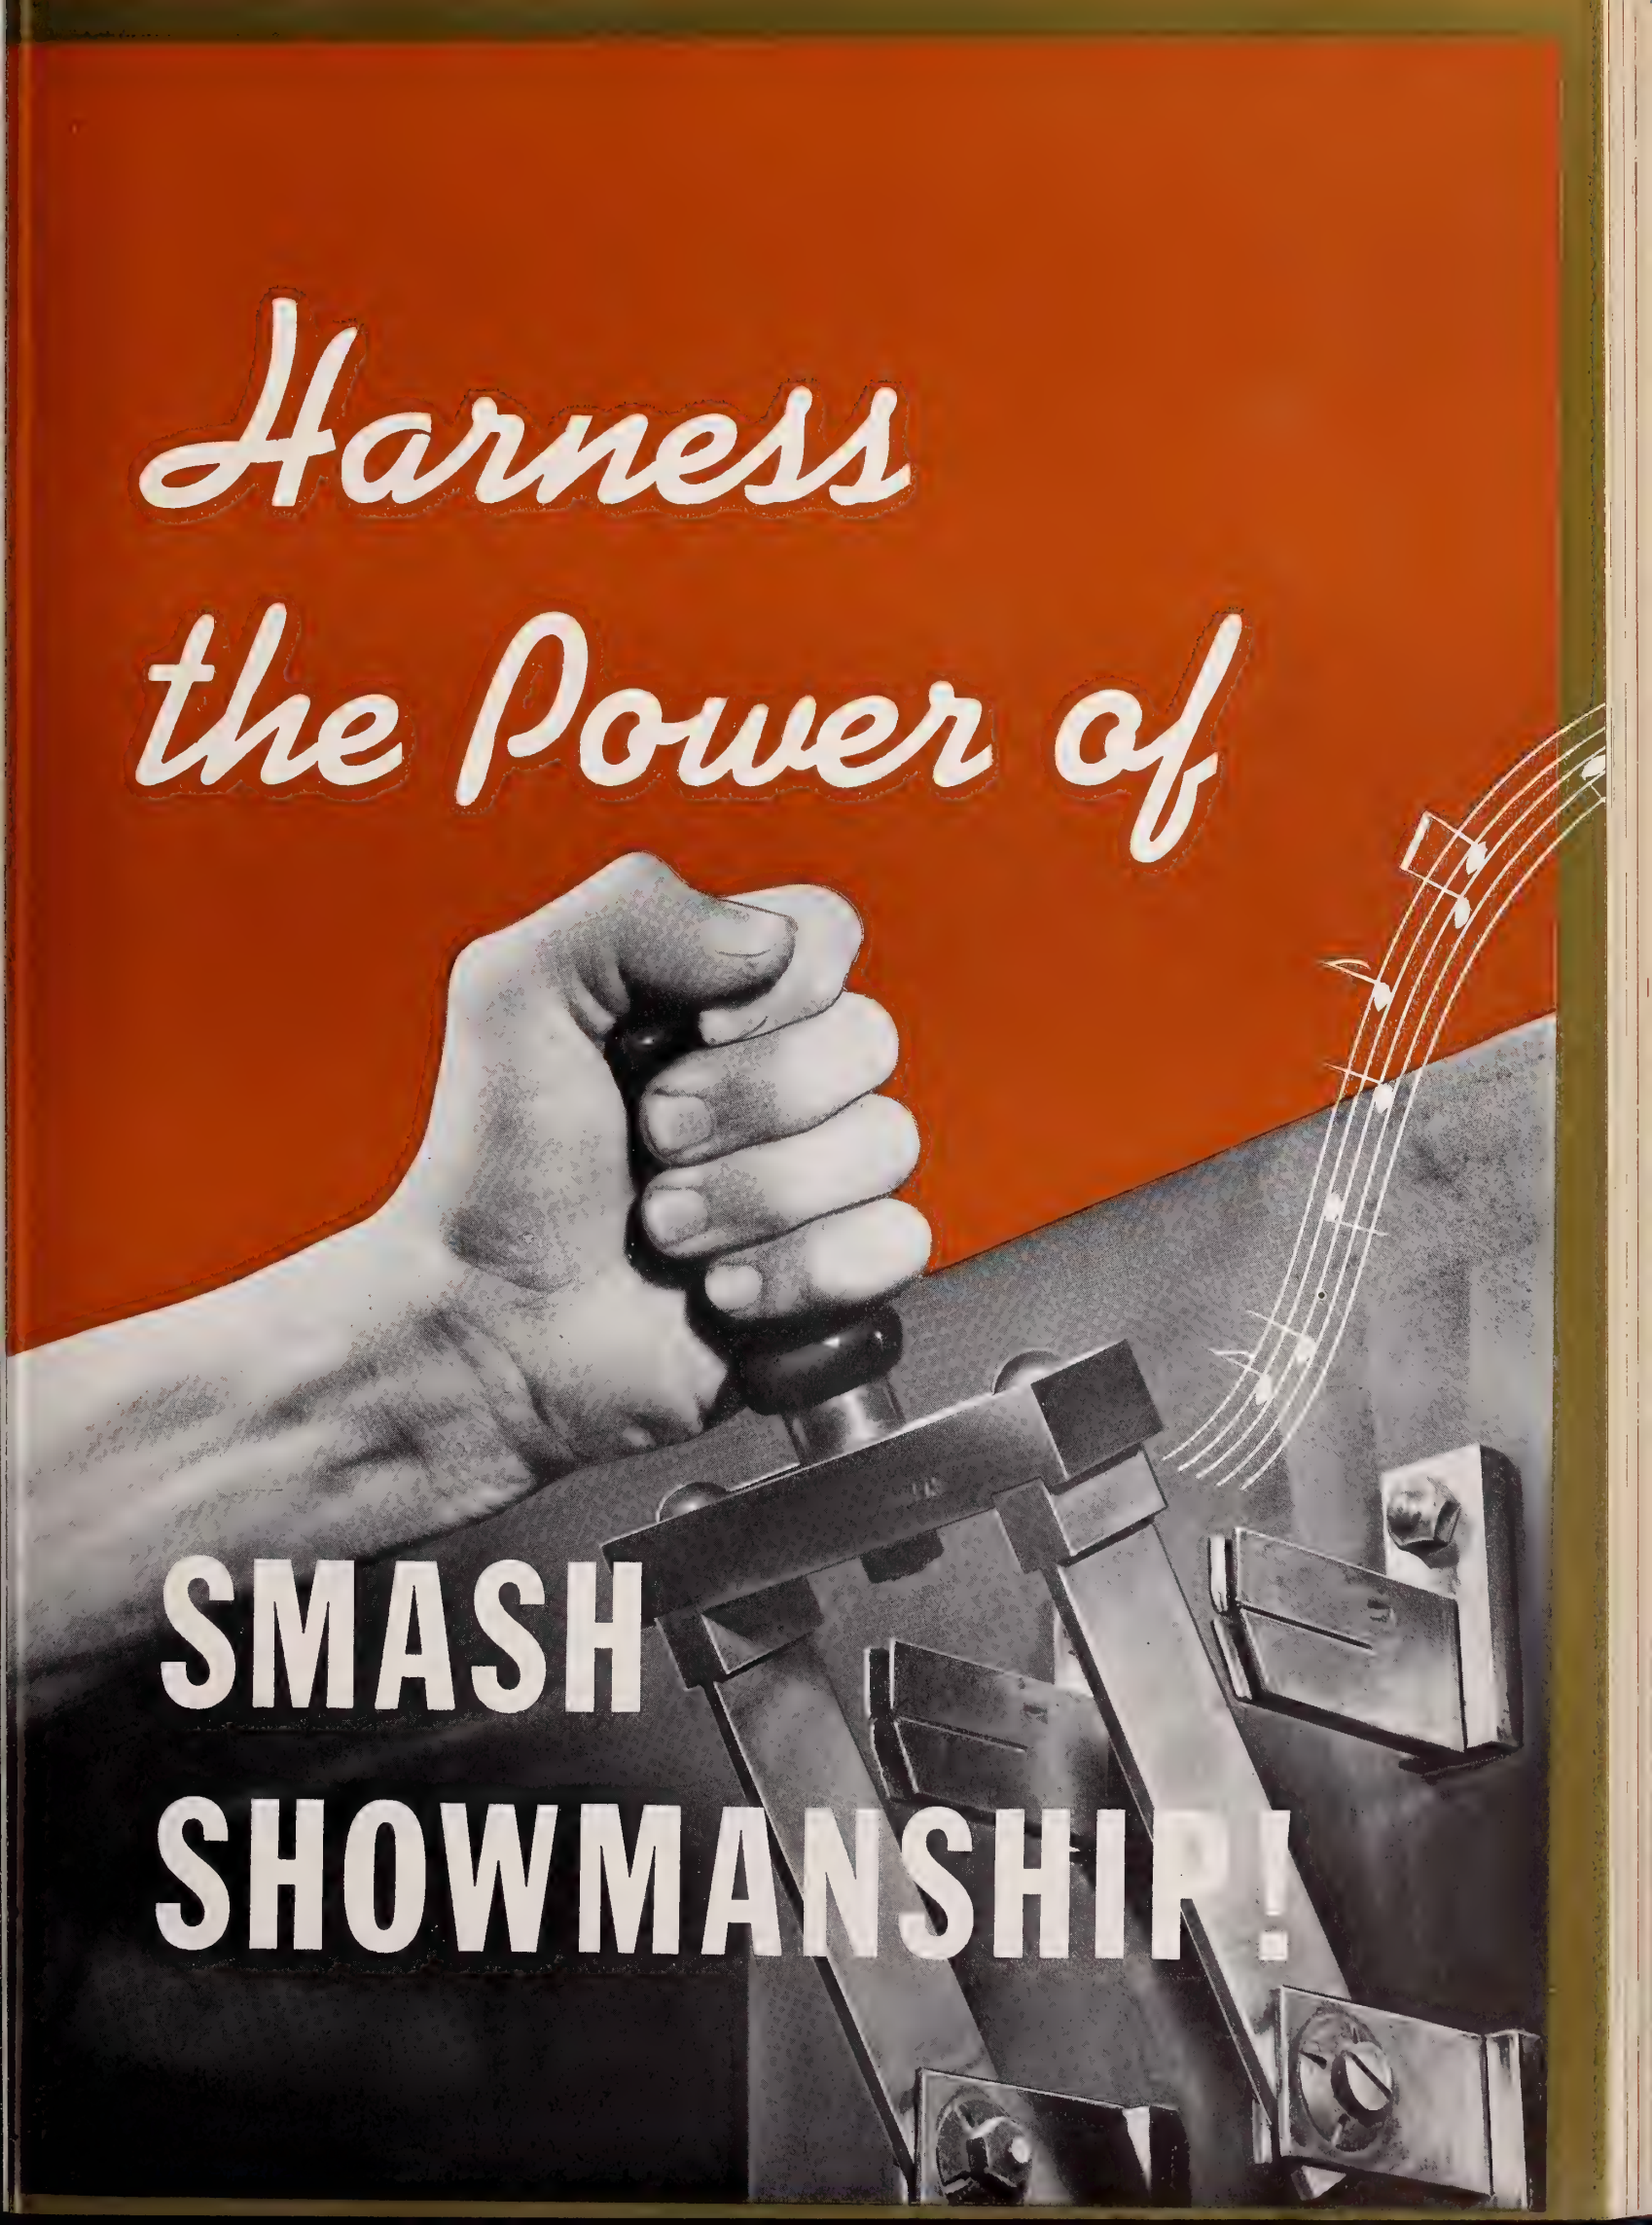
Says Music Hall Competes

A few weeks ago, you were privileged to listen to my leading competitor. I am not referring to the operator of such minor establishments as the Capitol, Paramount or Strand, but to that well loved and endearing young fellow who runs the Standard Oil picture station at 50th Street and Sixth Avenue. I came to the Rialto just seven years ago on March 4th, 1934. That was a historic date—the banks closed, and the same day the present Music Hall management went into office. The only difference was that they were in consultation with a fellow named Rockefeller. The only man who wanted to consult me was the sheriff. They had money and we had ideas. We installed a subway entrance and they were so jealous that they had Mayor LaGuardia pull down the elevated and dig up Sixth Avenue so that they could have a subway entrance also. In another seven years, maybe they will have the shooting galleries, barkers, bearded ladies, and mingled smell of popcorn, peanuts, hot dogs, sauerkraut, and bad pictures.

Thus far, the Music Hall has not imitated the Rialto's advertising, but be patient and eventually you will see those big artistic white ads shrivel and turn to black, and the front of the Music Hall decorated with death chairs, disappearing ladies and terrifying green hands clutching out from secret panels. The busy box offices will be transformed into a laboratory with strange electrical appliances and huge glass vessels filled with thick red ink looking like human blood. Leon Bamberger's office will be shut off from the light of day by a colossal banner displaying a body dangling from the gallows. Boy, will that wow them on Sixth Avenue!

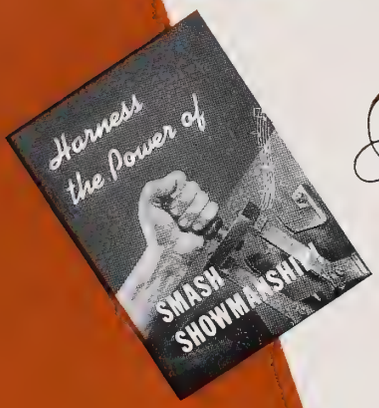
Seriously speaking, I am not intimating that the Music Hall's advertising and exploitation may not be appropriate to their particular requirements and clientele. Certainly, I am not criticizing its manager, for whom I have the deepest affection and respect. All that I am suggesting is that the advertising they use has little value as a guide for most of us in this industry.

The object of advertising as I understand it is to make the reader or passer-by believe that you have something preferable to what he has. To prove to him that a bird in the bush is worth two in your hand, or in Rialto lingo, a murder on the screen is worth two bits in your pocket. Most theatres have to sell from 100 to 300 pictures annually. They cannot do this with under-emphasis or apology. The day that advertisers in this industry stop believing that every motion picture is the greatest of all forms of entertainment, that day we are all sunk. The day that every producer, whether he is making an A picture, a B picture or an XYZ picture, regains that faith, that day our worst troubles are over.



Printer's Ink recently suggested that the reason motion picture patronage had declined was not due to poor pictures or double features, or bingo, beano, banko and busto, but the extravagant character of motion picture advertising. The author refers to our use of "gigantic," "stupendous," and "colossal."

Film Ads Best



I read my motion picture advertising pretty carefully, but many years have passed since I have seen the use of any such words. We are accused of using superlatives, yet when I pick up Life and turn over a few pages, I notice that Campbell's Soup is "more marvellous than ever," that the 1941 Hudson is "the greatest performer of the year"; that Prince Albert is "the coolest of all smokes"; and that Pullman is "the safest transportation in the world." Practically the only product that did not use any superlatives in the entire issue was the motion picture. I for one am sick and tired of these attacks on motion picture advertising from men whose words convict them of never even reading our copy. I am even sicker of apologies for our advertising by men within this industry. I will back the merchandising skill and good taste and acumen of Howard Dietz and Charlie Einfeld, for instance, against the advertising chiefs of any national industry. On Broadway, I will back the campaign for "Meet John Doe," or the Globe's campaign on "Night Train," even the little World's campaign for "The Baker's Wife" against any retail selling anywhere in the country.

I would like to see AMPA give annual awards for such campaigns—awards like Oscars that we could publicize to prove that this industry, proud of its best product is also aiming to improve it; proud of its advertising, is also aiming to improve it.

Harness the Power of

SMASH SHOWMANSHIP!

International Premiere

MEXICO CITY, APRIL 12th will be a world-encircling news event! Hollywood stars will join hands with diplomatic celebrities in a gesture of goodwill to Latin America as it prepares to celebrate Pan-American Day, April 14th. Wire service news coverage such as no other premiere has had...as James Roosevelt becomes the first producer to set premiere in a foreign capital...a stroke of showmanship to herald your engagement across your city ...across the country...around the world!

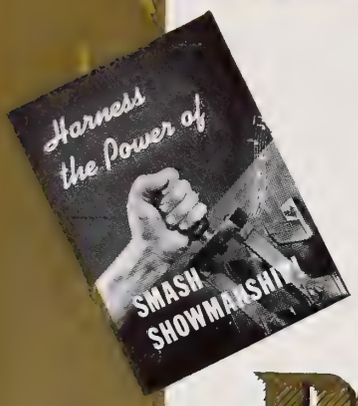
POT

RELEASED EASTER WEEK COAST-TO-COAST
IN HUNDREDS OF KEY CITIES!

JAMES ROOSEVELT
presents

James STEWART ★ Paulette GODDARD

O'GOLD



with

Horace HEIDT and his MUSICAL KNIGHTS

and

Charles WINNINGER

Directed by GEORGE MARSHALL Story by Andrew Bennison • Monty Brice and Harry Tugend Screenplay by Walter de Leon • A Globe Production • Released thru UNITED ARTISTS

Harness the Power of

POT O' GOLD

PRE-SELLING AS ONLY UNITED ARTISTS CAN PREPARE IT FOR YOU

. . . capitalizing every aspect of the popularity achieved by radio's top coast to coast program heard by millions each week.

. . . publicizing two top box-office stars presented by Hollywood's newest producer whose first picture sets a new pace in gayety, originality and box-office timeliness.

. . . ready . . set-to-go with scores of big time tie-ups including Tums, Philco Radio, Wurlitzer, Columbia Recording, United States Rubber Company, Mabs Bathing Suits . . and so many others that it takes a pressbook to list them all!

CASSILS END SUIT AGAINST MAJORS; 'BIG 5' DROPPED FROM SCHINE ACTION

Missouri Case Dismissed on Request of Plaintiffs after Settlement; Consent Decree in Government vs. Circuit Case

by B. S. BROWNE
in St. Joseph, Mo.

The major distributors, last Saturday, were unexpectedly relieved from another independent exhibitor anti-trust action, when the suit of Frank and Eugenia Cassil against the eight companies and the Dubinsky Brothers Circuit, in St. Joseph, Mo., was dismissed on petition of counsel for the plaintiffs, who asked that the action be ended "with prejudice." A settlement is understood to have been made before the action ended.

Immediately, in New York, from legal headquarters of the majors, came the following statement:

"The Cassil case was one in which the plaintiffs, who operated a theatre in the suburban city limits of St. Joseph, complained of clearance enjoyed by the first and second downtown theatres operated by Edward Dubinsky. The clearance was claimed to have been fixed by agreement among the distributors and to be unreasonable. Apparently the clearance, with very little exceptions, has been in existence since 1931. During that period, however, the first and second run theatres have lowered their admission price and the question in the case was whether the clearance granted to the exhibitor defendant's first run and second run theatres was maintained by conspiracy among the distributors in view of the fact that the clearance remains substantially the same, although the admission prices spread between the plaintiffs' and the defendant's theatres had been considerably reduced.

"The suit was brought prior to the Consent Decree and the provisions therein for arbitration.

"Judge Charles H. Mayer, of counsel for the defendants, in a telegram from St. Joseph, Mo., dated March 17, 1941, says:

"'At the close of plaintiffs' evidence at 6 P. M. Friday defendants offered motions to dismiss. Out of the presence of the jury Judge Otis discussed the case at some length. He stated that if the case were before him without a jury he would have no difficulty in finding that the evidence showed no conspiracy or damages, but that since there was unanimity of action in fixing the clearance he would hear the defendants' explanation thereof, and at the close of defendants' evidence would again take up the motions to dismiss and hear arguments thereon. A night session was held and defendants put on three witnesses. Saturday morning, upon the opening of court, plaintiffs dismissed suit, whereupon an order was made dismissing the suit with prejudice at plaintiffs' costs.'"

Conspiracy Charged

The plaintiffs had charged defendant circuit and the distributors with a conspiracy to injure and damage them and sued for $450,000 triple damages and attorneys' fees.

The plaintiffs were represented by attorneys Paul Goode, Lincoln, Neb.; Harry B. Cohen, Omaha, Neb., and Lewis J. Kranitz, St. Joseph. The distributors were represented by Edward Raferty, New York, and Judge Charles H. Mayer and Floyd Sprague, St. Joseph; the defendant exhibitors were represented by Paul R. Stinson, Kansas City.

The plaintiffs are the operators of the Rialto Theatre, South St. Joseph, and the defendant exhibitors operated the downtown first run theatres in St. Joseph: the Missouri and Orpheum, and also the Electric, which is a second run.

They claimed that in the fall of 1932 the defendant exhibitors and distributors entered into a conspiracy to injure and damage the plaintiffs in the operation of their Rialto Theatre, the alleged conspiracy being involved in the protection and clearance accorded the Dubinskys in the protection and clearance period between first and second run of 118 days and also in the asserted priority given to the second run downtown theatre over the Cassils' theatre in South St. Joseph, in which a priority of two weeks given to the Dubinskys' second-run theatre downtown over the suburban Rialto theatre in South St. Joseph, made the Rialto a subsequent run. The contention of the plaintiffs was that the 118-day clearance between first and second run was unreasonable and that the priority of the Dubinskys' Rialto theatre was discriminatory and operated to injure the plaintiffs in their business.

In the trial, district and branch managers of about half of the distributors had gone on the stand, each denying any conspiracy.

Dismiss "Big Five" From Buffalo Action

Motion by the government to dismiss the "Big Five" from the anti-trust suit pending against the Schine circuit was granted in Buffalo on Monday by Federal Judge John Knight. Department of Justice officials in Washington indicated meanwhile that a consent decree with the Schine circuit was "practically agreed" upon. Thomas Penny, Jr., attorney for the Schine interests, said, however, that there was no official notification.

The United States District Court at New York last week extended the time in which Columbia Pictures may answer the government's amended anti-trust complaint against the "little three" from March 10th to March 30th. Extension was granted when Schwartz and Frolich, Columbia counsel, declared they have occupied with settlement of the government proceedings against ASCAP, whom they also represent. Universal and United Artists have already replied.

Immediate Trial in Detroit Booking Case

Universal, Warners and Columbia will grant clearance to the RKO Uptown in Detroit, it was disclosed on March 16th by the theatres' counsel as Circuit Judge Henry G. Nicol set immediate trial in the Uptown's injunction suit against United Detroit Theatres and the major distributors. The Uptown seeks to halt distributors from licensing United Theatres for second runs in alleged violation of its exclusive second run contracts. Paramount, United Artists, and United Detroit theatres are defendants. Hearings opened Tuesday.

Also, in Detroit, the federal court took under advisement a motion to dismiss the suit of Midwestern Theatres against Cooperative Theatres of Michigan, which asserted that the case was not in interstate commerce. Defense counsel also argued that two months of testimony by the plaintiff had failed to prove charges. Fred De Lodder, president of Cooperative, Raymond E. Moon, former general manager of Cooperative, and George W. Sampson, former independent manager, testified on product difficulties.

Summon Warner Chiefs To Philadelphia Trial

Examination of Harry M. Warner and Joseph Bernhard, Warner Theatres executives, was requested in Federal Court at Philadelphia on Tuesday by the Lansdowne Amusement Co., Erwin Realty Co., Harrison Brothers, Inc., and seven individuals who are suing three Warner theatres and the major distributors for alleged discrimination in booking product. The suit asks immediate examination by the court of the two executives of the chief defendant company.

A "tentative" settlement has been reached in the Colcate Corporaiton damage suit against Fox West Coast Theatres and major distributors over alleged inability to obtain "satisfactory" product for Bard's Colorado theatre in Pasadena it was disclosed this week by attorneys when the case was called in Los Angeles.

CONTINUOUS NEWS BROADCAST TRIED

Station WHN, New York affiliate of Loew's, Inc., this week began a new type of continuous performance news broadcast patterned after motion picture newsreel theatres. One hour news programs will be broadcast twice daily by the station. Each period consists of a ten minute news roundup from the United Press radio wire, repeated five times during the hour. Two minute commercials are presented between the news reports. It is possible for listeners to tune in any time during the hour broadcast, listen for twelve minutes, and hear a complete news roundup.

The MacMillan Oil Company, of Los Angeles has purchased sponsorship of the program, for two hours daily, until next Fall. The broadcasts will be presented from 6 to 7 A.M. and from 11 P.M. to midnight seven days a week. The Sunday morning program will be one hour later.

Drafted Columbia Men Get Bonuses, Jobs Back

Employees of Columbia Pictures called for military service will receive from their company a series of benefits both in service and upon their return, the company's New York home office announced this week.

Those of more than one year's service will receive from two to four weeks' salary, dependent upon their length of employment; the maximum amount to be $400. Group insurance policies will remain in effect, while the man is serving, with certain exceptions.

Further, the company remarked: "Every employee called is granted a leave of absence for one year, at the expiration of which he may apply for reinstatement with the company, and will be, within the provisions of law, reinstated with full rights."

OPENINGS ON COAST, B'WAY, MEXICO, AT SEA

The "Sea Wolf" To Be Shown on Shipboard; "Pot o' Gold" Mexico City Trip Planned

The week's major openings ranged to new distances with premieres scheduled for a ship at sea off the California Coast, Broadway, Hollywood, Mexico City and St. Louis.

Warner Brothers announced the first floating premiere in history for the opening of "The Sea Wolf" aboard the S.S. America at sea in the Pacific on Friday night, March 21st. A large party of stars, executives and press was to board the flagship of the United States Lines at Los Angeles on Friday and sail to San Francisco, viewing the first screening of the Jack London maritime saga en route. The premiere in the ship's main salon was to be broadcast via shortwave to a national radio hookup.

Following arrival in San Francisco Saturday morning the premiere party was to visit The Last Chance Saloon in Oakland where London wrote the "Sea Wolf," breakfast with the Oakland Chamber of Commerce and drive by bus to London's Valley of the Moon ranch near Sonoma to visit Mrs. Charmaine London, his widow. The first land premiere will be held in the Sonoma theatre Saturday night, followed by a costume ball at the ranch of Mrs. Alma Spreckels. The junket will return to Hollywood by train and boat on Sunday.

National release of "The Sea Wolf" is listed for the week of March 22nd.

"Pot o' Gold" in Mexico

Negotiations to open James Roosevelt's United Artists production, "Pot o' Gold," in Mexico City on April 12th were completed this week when President Avila Camacho issued a formal invitation as a gesture of inter-American cordiality. The President's message, transmitted to Mr. Roosevelt through Don Miguel Aleman, secretary of state, said:

"To further the good will between the Republic of Mexico and the United States, a motion picture festival is herewith proclaimed for the days of April 12th to 15th. Representative members of the Hollywood motion picture industry will be invited to attend as guests of the Republic of Mexico, and every effort will be made to further the great Pan-American program of the two nations through the medium of the cinema."

United Artists plans to fly studio executives, stars and press to the Mexico City opening.

"I Wanted Wings" at Astor

Paramount will bring district managers from all over the country to New York for a promotion conference to follow the premiere of "I Wanted Wings" at the Astor on March 26th. The conference will take place at the Waldorf-Astoria on the 27th.

The War Department, which cooperated in the production of "I Wanted Wings" at Kelly and Randolph fields near San Antonio, Tex., will be represented at the opening by ranking officers from Washington, the Air Corps headquarters, Second Corps Area and Mitchell Field, L. I. Members of the Office of Production Management, civil aviation authorities, civic, diplomatic, social and Hollywood celebrities will also attend.

An animated electrical sign in the aviation motif of the picture will cover the entire front of the theatre. The opening is scheduled for 8:30 P. M., with a full quota of klieg lights, uniforms, loudspeakers, extra police and autograph fans promised by the publicists. A juvenile model airplane contest, sponsored by the Journal-American and the Air Youth of America, will boost the picture.

Approximately $25,000 will be spent on advertising and publicity for the picture, under the direction of Robert Gilham, Paramount promotion head. Among the district managers coming to New York for the premiere and conference are: William H. Erbb, Boston; Harry H. Goldstein, Cleveland; E. W. Sweigert, Philadelphia; Allen Usher, Chicago; R. C. LiBeau, Kansas City; Hugh Braly, Los Angeles; Hugh Owen, Dallas; J. F. Kirby, Atlanta; Dell Goodman, Canada, and M. S. Kusell, New York. Arrangements are being handled by G. B. J. Frawley.

"Hamilton Woman" in Hollywood

"That Hamilton Woman," Alexander Korda production, opened at the Four Star theatre in Hollywood on Wednesday evening, March 19th, at a $5 per ticket benefit for the Royal Air Force Benevolent Fund. Hollywood's British colony turned out in force for the event. The picture will be released nationally by United Artists.

"Sis Hopkins" to St. Louis

Republic will open "Sis Hopkins," starring Judy Canova at the Fox theatre, St. Louis, on April 4th, it was announced this week. Arrangements for a gala opening at the 5,000-seat downtown house are being handled by William Saal, Republic studio representative, and Les Kaufman, director of advertising for Fanchon and Marco at St. Louis. Jack Van Pelt of St. Louis, press agent, will handle special promotion for the opening. Mayor Bernard F. Dickmann has invited Hollywood executives and stars to the premiere and will proclaim a "Sis Hopkins Day" on Friday, April 4th.

"Meet John Doe" Continues

"Meet John Doe," latest Frank Capra production, released by Warner Brothers, continued its run at two theatres in New York following critical acclaim at its sextuple premiere on March 19th at two theatres in Miami, Los Angeles and New York. Midnight shows were added at both the Hollywood and Rivoli in New York on the opening night as a result of the large public turnout for the initial showings. Sections were reserved for Warner executives, circuit operators and invited guests at all of the six special openings.

Advanced price, special showings of "Meet John Doe" are under way in the field, with more than 30 theatres booked for the prerelease screening of the Capra film. It continues at the Hollywood and Downtown in Los Angeles, Paramount and Beach in Miami, and the Criterion in Oklahoma City where it received premiere screenings.

Plan "Boys Town" Broadcast

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer will broadcast a special dramatization of "Men of Boys Town" and interviews wth the stars, Spencer Tracy and Mickey Rooney, and Judy Garland direct from the Hollywood set on Wednesday, April 2nd, over the NBC blue network. The broadcast will follow a luncheon at the Culver City studios in honor of Bishop Ryan of Omaha and Father Edward J. Flanagan, founder of Boys Town. In many key cities exhibitors are arranging special previews of the picture, picking up the Hollywood ceremonies on their sound system for the audience.

"Military Theme" Morale Films To Cost $5,000,000

More than $5,000,000 is being spent by the ten major motion picture companies on films boosting the current arming and maintaining the national morale. They are part of the film industry's program of aiding the administration's foreign policy. The ten companies have agreed they will produce at least one feature and one short subject each, with a military theme.

Announcement of the plans was made Friday, March 14th, in New York City, by Joseph M. Schenck, chairman of the board of Twentieth Century Fox and active in the film industry's cooperation with the Government on defense. Mr. Schenck said the Fox program embraced the filming of "Flight Surgeon," "Nazi Ace in the U. S." and "Pearl of Pearl Harbor," and "A Yank in the RAF," now in production.

Other companies and their product were listed as follows:

Columbia: "He's My Uncle," a Fred Astaire musical, and "Red, White and Blue."

Monogram: "Navy Bound."

Republic: "Rookies on Parade."

M-G-M: "Flight Command," "Land of Liberty," "Our Flag" and a war feature not set yet.

Paramount: "I Wanted Wings," "Caught in the Draft," "Little Miss Muffett," "Power Dive," "Forced Landing," and "Among the Living."

RKO: "Army Surgeon," "Parachute Squadron," two Harold Lloyd features, "A Girl, a Guy and a Gob" and "My Favorite Spy."

United Artists: "Landfall," "Battle of Britain" and "The Eagle Squadron."

Universal: "Buck Privates" and a sequel to that production.

Warners: "Three Sons o' Guns," "The Tanks Are Coming," "Eagle Escadrille," "I've Got Your Number," "Bomb Shelter," "Navy Blues," "Mother's Boy," "Dive Bomber" and "Parachute Jumpers."

Rear Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, chief of the U. S. Bureau of Navigation, told the House Appropriations Committee, in Washington, last week, at hearings on appropriations for the Navy, that "motion pictures have become the most important element" in maintaining naval morale. The House committee increased from $85,000 to $125,000 the fund for film rentals for the navy's motion picture service.

Columbia Division Managers To Receive Special Awards

Special awards for division managers have been established by Columbia Pictures, to heighten interest in the company's "Columbia Exhibitors' Good Will Campaign." Two prizes will be given division managers whose districts accomplish the greatest percentage in billings at the conclusion of the 13-week drive, which is from March 1st to May 30th.

"Last Mile" Reissued

Astor Pictures Corp., in New York, will reissue a "streamlined" version of "The Last Mile" through all its exchanges in the United States. Preston Foster, last seen in "Northwest Mounted Police," is in the featured role. The national release date has been set for March 20th.

UNIVERSAL, EASTMAN AND COLUMBIA REPORT PROFITS, 'U' DEALS APPROVED

$703,795 "U" Net for Quarter, Compared with $395,631 for Previous Period; Eastman Kodak Reports $20,076,739 Net

Further indications of improved business conditions in motion pictures appeared this week with Universal's report of a net increase of $150,000 for the first quarter of 1941, Eastman Kodak's announcement that sales for 1940 were nearly $7,000,000 over 1939 and Technicolor's listing profits of $882,126. Columbia Pictures reported a net profit for six months of $307,006.

Few stock tradings by officers and directors of film corporations were reported this week by the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Universal's Net Is $554,000

Universal Pictures Company, Inc., and subsidiary companies earned a consolidated net profit, before Federal income and excess profits taxes, of $703,795 during the quarter ended February 1, 1941, J. Cheever Cowdin, chairman of the board, announced last week. This compares with a profit, similarly computed but after provision of $65,000 as a special amortization reserve, of $395,631 in the corresponding quarter a year ago. Based on experience to date this year, Mr. Cowdin said, no reserve for amortization has been deemed necessary.

After providing $150,000 as a reserve to cover normal Federal income taxes, earnings for the first quarter amounted to $553,795, exceeding by $158,000 the net before provision for such taxes in the first quarter a year ago. No provision has been made for the excess profits tax, Mr. Cowdin said, since it is impossible to estimate the amount of this tax until the year's profits are known.

Mr. Cowdin also said that the company did not accumulate any additional blocked sterling balances during the quarter since it has not yet transferred its quota under this year's agreement.

Seven-year contracts for seven executives were approved and directors of Universal Pictures Company, Inc., and Universal Corporation were reelected at the annual stockholders meeting in Wilmington, Del., last week.

Wall Street circles at midweek reported that Universal Pictures would receive approximately $6,000,000 in new capital from the First Boston Corporation, New England investment house.

Eastman Sales Increase

Eastman Kodak Co. reported last week a net profit of $20,076,739 for 1940, which compares with 1939 profit of $20,818,200.

Total sales for the year amounted to $130,-896,780, compared to $123,834,076 for the preceding year. The company transferred $10,-000,000 to reserve for contingencies due to the uncertainties of future market conditions, leaving earned surplus at the end of 1940 of $38,-697,282 after eliminating $8,429,405 of earned surplus of subsidiaries not included in the consolidated report.

The company reported current assets of $100,-890,661, of which $30,548,050 is cash and $18,-261,911 is marketable securities. Current liabilities amounted to $24,368,159.

Taxes for 1940 were equal to $3.50 per share of common stock which compares with $1.79 in 1939 and $.92 in 1929. Current assets as of December 29, 1940, were set at $100,890,661 and cash at $30,548,050. $35,000,000 in defense contracts were noted with the statement that in keeping with company policy adopted in 1917 profit on such work is limited to 10 per cent or less.

U. S.-NORWAY RADIO SERVICE REOPENED

The radiotelegraph circuit between the United States and Norway, closed since Germany took over control of that country in April, 1940, has been reopened according to a report by R. C. A. Communication officials. During the past year, all radiotelegraph traffic originating in the United States for Norway has been handled over the Berlin circuit. The reopening of the Oslo circuit will greatly facilitate the handling of messages for persons in the United States who wish to communicate with friends and business associates in Norway. The United States-Norway circuit, established in 1920, is one of the oldest international transatlantic radio circuits. It is regarded as one of this country's important communicating links with Europe.

Columbia Reports $307,006

Net profit of Columbia Pictures Corporation for the six months ended December 28th, 1940, amounted to $307,006, after all charges and provisions for Federal income and other taxes. This compares with a net profit of $215,582 for the corresponding six months ended December 30th, 1939, after similar deductions. Current assets as at December 28th, 1940, were $12,672,000 and current liabilities, $2,009,000, making net working capital $10,663,000.

"Columbia," Harry Cohn said, "does not include in its figures any revenues until they have been converted into dollars. For example, in Japan, Spain and Denmark where the corporation is doing a substantial business it is impossble to convert local monies into dollars."

Only a few film transactions, and those light, were shown in the first 1941 SEC summary of the activities of corporation officers and directors in the stocks of their companies, issued March 18.

The largest transaction in the first January report was the acquisition of 1,000 shares of Paramount common stock by Stanton Griffis, New York, director, making his total holdings 7,500 shares.

Loews, Inc., continued its program for the acquisition of the common stock of Loews Boston Theatres, picking up 60 shares to give it a total of 117,847 shares.

Daniel M. Sheaffer, Philadelphia, director of Universal Corporation, reported the disposition of 100 common voting trust certificates in January and at the same time filed a report for December showing the acquisition of a similar number. R. B. Larue, New York, General Theatres Equipment officer, reported the disposition of 100 shares of capital stock, leaving him with 500 shares.

In Consolidated Film Industries, E. H. Seifert, Fort Lee, N. J., director, reported the disposition of 100 shares of preferred, all he held, and Walter P. Stevens, Scranton, Pa., director, reported the acquisition of 400 shares, giving him a total of 800 shares; belated December reports showed that in that month he had disposed of 1,000 and bought 900 shares of preferred, and had disposed of 500 and bought 153 shares of common, leaving him with 59 shares of the latter.

Isaac D. Levy, Philadelphia, director of Columbia Broadcasting System, reported the disposition of 600 shares of Class A common stock by gift to his family, leaving him with 60,146 shares.

The SEC also reported that Paramount Pictures, Inc., had notified the government body that it had recently sold to five banks $2,492,800 of 3¼ per cent debentures due in 1937 which were sold at 95.2 per cent with interest from September 1, 1940.

Kenneth Steinreich and Leopold Porrino, trustees, have reported to the New York Supreme Court that Fox Theatres Corporation now has cash totaling $167,937 in an application for approval of the accounting. The hearing has been scheduled for March 31st. The trustees also seek their fees for 1941 and permission to sell some land at auction. It was reported that $87,187 of the cash is available for distribution to creditors and for payment of the fees, with the balance in reserve pending settlement of a claim by William Fox.

$882,126 Technicolor Profit

Technicolor reported a net profit of $882,-126.65 and an increase of over 10,000,000 feet of positive prints in 1940 over the preceding year. A price cut of one cent per foot in print cost was established for the second half of 1940, said to be equivalent to a cut of $800,000 per year.

80,000,000 feet of film were sold during 1940. Current assets totaled $4,327,544 in the statement to stockholders issued by Dr. Herbert T. Kalmus, president. Current liabilities were $807,943; cash on hand $3,519,669. Net sales were $5,103,405. Of these revenues it was reported that 28.59 per cent went to labor, 10.63 per cent to taxes and 4.24 per cent for executive officers, management and general clerical salaries.

Technicolor also reported progress of its research activities. It was said that the company is working on a single negative or monopack process to use instead of the present three strips. The 16mm commercial department has enjoyed a fourfold increase in orders during the year, it was noted.

On Monday the board of directors of Pathe Film Corporation declared the regular quarterly dividend of $1.75 per share on the $7 convertible preferred stock, payable April 1, 1941, to stockholders of record March 24, 1941.

Time, Inc., producers of March of Time and publishers of Time, Life, Fortune and Architectural Forum, last week reported net profit of $3,494,590 for 1940, or $14.80 a share on the common stock. This compares with $3,206,-751, or $13.65 a share, in 1939.

Exhibitors Form Company

A group of independent exhibitors in Trenton, N. J., have organized to operate the Orpheum theatre in that city. Headed by Mrs. Helen B. Hildinger, New Jersey Allied leader, the new group was incorporated as the H. & L. Amusement Co., with Frank P. Levy, treasurer; Isaac Levy secretary, and Clark Hildinger and James Lamont, directors. Approximately $125,000 will be expended to modernize the theatre and adjourning stores.

RECORD EARLY SHORTS SELLING TO AVOID DECREE CHARGES OF FORCING

Increased Individual Selling Attention Indicated as Majors Advance 1941-42 Schedules; Conflict with Blocks Seen

Unprecedently early short subject selling is being pushed now by the five major distributors which signed the consent decree in order to avoid any charges that shorts have been "forced" when the first blocks-of-five features are tradeshown and offered for licensing for 1941-42. This policy of concentrating on shorts so early also is expected to make available more sales man-power for special attention to the new system of feature selling required under the decree.

Forcing of shorts with features is a violation of the "Big 5's" decree agreements with the U. S.

Two months ago RKO Radio announced its 1941-42 short subject program and selling began. The shorts schedules of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer and Twentieth Century-Fox are expected to be substantially the same as offered during the current season. Paramount which recently organized a special short subjects selling force will announce shortly details of the program to give increased attention to shorts. Warner Brothers were also said to be planning a special shorts schedule for the new season.

Salesmen's Time Considered

Under the consent decree (section IV paragraph 2): "No distributor shall require an exhibitor to license short subjects, newsreels, trailers, or serials (hereinafter collectively referred to as shorts) as a condition of licensing features." This does not necessarily mean that shorts must be sold at a different time than features, but several of the companies have decided that with salesmen offering features in blocks of five and signing perhaps 10 contracts for a whole season's program, it would be better to handle shorts separately.

Such a policy, furthermore, would avoid any occasions which might lead to arbitration proceedings on the question of whether or not shorts had been "forced," it is thought. Considerable dispute might arise on whether or not shorts had been "forced," if they were sold simultaneously with feature blocks-of-five, some distributors thought.

Another reason advanced for early selling of short subjects this season is that field forces had nothing else to handle at this time except reissues and booking and billing campaigns. In former years it was possible to line up contracts for the new season's product at this time. Now no selling may be done, under the decree, on the 1941-42 feature schedule until the first block or blocks have been trade shown in that particular territory. This will probably not be until the early Summer. By then most of the short contracts probably will have been signed.

In the middle of January RKO in its short subjects' announcement said, ". . . and now we're selling for 1941-42." The schedule included 18 Walt Disney one-reel subjects; 13 issues of the March of Time, 13 "Information Please"; 6 Edgar Kennedys; 6 Leon Errols; 4 Ray Whitleys; 13 Sportscopes; 13 Picture People and 104 issues of RKO-Pathe News. Harry J. Michalson, short subjects sales manager, has been visiting exchanges in connection with the shorts drive. It was reported that some short subject deals for 1941-42 had been concluded in practically every district.

CHILDREN PREFER EDUCATIONAL FILMS

In a radio interview last week in St. Louis, W. N. Sellman, principal of Harris Teachers' College of that city, said children were more interested in educational films than in glamor films from Hollywood. Schools, he added, select films that fit their individual interests, "and I don't think we need to worry about competition with Hollywood." In the same interview, Amelia Meissner, curator of the schools' Educational Museum, reported improvement in the quality of educational films.

Last week Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer announced a new shorts bulletin for newspaper editors, "A Line on Shorts," additional evidence of increased attention to that field. The company also was said to be planning a national exploitation contest for exhibitors and a tie-up with a national magazine in connection with one of the MGM shorts series. The detailed shorts line-up probably will not be announced before the summer but this will not interfere with selling. The program is expected to be substantially the same as the one for the current season with no series dropped and perhaps one added. Herbert Morgan, short subjects representative in New York, is making plans for additional special exploitation for MGM shorts.

William J. Clark, Twentieth Century-Fox short subjects and newsreel sales manager, said the company sold shorts "on their merits" and would continue to do so. At the present time no additional salesmen are planned for short subject selling. Also no increase in the number of shorts is scheduled, but Twentieth Century-Fox has an "elastic" policy in this respect, it was pointed out. About 52 shorts in addition to the newsreel issues will be produced for next season. No special departures are now planned, Mr. Clark said, remarking that policy has been to "improve the product each year."

Paramount and Warner Brothers also were reported to have completed preliminary planning on the 1941-42 shorts program. Both companies will give special attention to that part of the whole program. Paramount has about eight special district sales representatives for shorts subjects and two more are to be named, one for Dallas and another for Kansas City.

Universal and Columbia, though not parties to the consent decree and its regulations, have decided that their shorts will be of increased value this coming year when the decree system is first tried. Universal has announced a shorts schedule similar to that for the current year but said to have improved production values. The Universal shorts line-up for 1941-42 is as follows: 15 issues of "Stranger Than Fiction," 13 "Personality" two-reel musicals; 13 color cartoons featuring Andy Panda, character created by Walter Lanz; 15 reels of "Going Places" and a special two-reel subject, plus 104 issues of the newsreel. Universal began selling the new season's shorts as well as features some weeks ago.

Both Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer and Warner Brothers have been experimenting with shorts based on fictional stories. "Happiest Man on Earth," (MGM), is based on the short story by Albert Maltz which won a story award in 1938. Warner Brothers' "Dog in the Orchard" is a screen version of a story by Mary Roberts Rinehart which appeared in Cosmopolitan Magazine. MGM was reported to be considering a series of fictional shorts for 1941-42.

Single Feature Trend

Oscar Morgan, short subjects and newsreel sales manager for Paramount, said this week that he expects exhibitors in double bill territories to give up that policy "the hard way." But on account of difficulty in obtaining feature product for double billing and the improved quality of short subjects he said that he believes many houses will shift from double to single features.

The trend to a single feature policy in areas where double bills are now popular will start slowly but "grow like a snowball," Mr. Morgan said, pointing out that production values of short subjects are also being increased.

"Previously in many cases exhibitors thought that producers and distributors were not giving much attention to shorts so they adapted a similar attitude," Mr. Morgan remarked.

Paramount has formed a special field force which will be trained in selling shorts and newsreels.

The company plans to arrange a national exploitation tieup in connection with every one of its series of shorts. These special publicity campaigns are expected to provide exhibitors with something definite to sell when they are showing a particular short. Paramount's shorts product announcement will be made shortly, Mr. Morgan said.

Newsreels are also expected to assume a position of greater importance in "the new order" for the motion picture business, it was said. Exhibitors who give up a double feature policy on one or more days of the week are expected to give more attention to the newsreel as well as to shorts. Increased public interest in news is also expected to be a factor in greater attention for newsreels.

Paramount Releasing Hedda Hopper Series

"Hedda Hopper's Hollywood," new series of six one-reel short subjects, will be released by Paramount as part of its 1941-42 program, Russell Holman, Eastern production manager, announced this week.

The shorts will feature notables of films, working and playing, with commentary by Miss Hopper, a syndicated columnist. The first production is in work at the Hal Roach studio.

In addition to her newspaper articles, Miss Hopper is known to the public by her appearance three times weekly over the national network of the Columbia Broadcasting System.

Columbia Receives Prudential Shorts

The first two subjects produced by Prudential Pictures have been delivered to Columbia for distribution through that company under the terms of a contract between the two companies. Edmund L. Dorfman is president. Harry Hershfield, who is vice-president of Prudential, wrote the story and supplied the commentary for the first of the two subjects, "Abroad at Home." Prudential will deliver one subject a month.

"ZIEGFELD GIRL" by McClelland Barclay, one of the celebrated artists' series in M-G-M's national competition to capture the spirit of the Ziegfeld Girl of 1941. Among other famed artists who have contributed are John La Gatta, Neysa McMein, Gilbert Bundy and Albert Varga.

"Curtain's Going Up, America!"

Fame and Fortune await you, "Ziegfeld Girl"!
A new glittering, all-time peak in musical magic!
M-G-M has outdone the wonders of "The Great Ziegfeld"
A screenful of stars!
Jimmy Stewart • Judy Garland • Hedy Lamarr • Lana Turner
And 50 other sparkling personalities!
And 200 girls as pretty as a melody!
And dreams to dream in story and spectacle!
Ten Broadway stages couldn't hold its myriad splendors!
Only one company has done it before!
Only one company can do it again!

ASIDES and INTERLUDES

By JAMES P. CUNNINGHAM

When Press-agent Tom Baily was publicizing Paramount's personality property, among other things he made the most of Marlene Dietrich's male enclosure of her nether extremities in tailored slacks. But it remains for a convict in the Nebraska state penitentiary to give him ideas about trailers, Baily now being in the trailer business with National Screen Service.

Inmate O'Connor is doing a quarter century in the Nebraska 'pen' for his part in a $2,500,000 holdup of a Lincoln, Nebraska, bank in 1930. He recently drew the prison theatre management when 'veteran' Jules Bachman, one-time Omaha showman, in for a dual murder of his circuit partners, was paroled last September.

O'Connor knocked the Omaha film exchanges for the proverbial 'loop' recently when he wrote them asking for trailers and lobby one-sheets on forthcoming pictures 'booked' for the prison showshop. Shipping clerks of the exchanges couldn't figure why the jail would want such accoutrements of legit film-theatre operation, remembering that attendance at the prison theatre is by whistle from the captain of the guard, and not by showmanship promotion.

It develops that O'Connor has an idea, which he's talked over with the prison officials, and he believes trailers and lobby ballyhoo of coming attractions can be a boon keeping prison deportment on a high level.

Usually, in prison, no matter how petty the breaking of a rule, it carries with it punishment of having privileges denied, including attendance at the once weekly movie.

O'Connor thinks, should the jail inmates get a few trailer frames of the next booking tossed at them, including a quick scan of some gaudy one-sheets in the jail's lobbies as they lockstep by into the theatre, they'll be on the watch to be good so they won't miss out on the next show. All the prisoners look forward to the coming attraction whether they know what it is or not, but if they have their appetites whetted by advanced screen 'plugs,' it's all the better as a motive for goodness.

Thus, the trailer 'pre-vue' has attained dignity in jail and may, prison officials think, be an important factor in prison administration.

O'Connor insists denial of the privilege of seeing a show to a caged man is more terrible punishment than to have Gene Autry withdrawn from the reach of little Johnny because he didn't bring in the wood when his mother asked him to do it.

▽

"Servants of the People" Department:

A bill in the Ohio legislature would place supervision over theatres playing televised pictures in the hands of the Department of Factories.

▽

And now comes the Tailwaggers' Club, composed of Hollywood dog lovers, presenting "Oscars" to canines judged the most outstanding in motion pictures during the year. Daisy, owned by Rennie Renfro, became a "Oscar" winner for his superior performance in Metro-Goldwyn's "Boom Town." The "Oscar" is a bronze hydrant.

▽

Advertising Age reports that Notre Dame grads have great hopes for Frank Leahy, their new coach. They say he combines the best features of Knute Rockne and Pat O'Brien.

If and when exhibitors adopt the new "black light" for their theatre auditoriums, the darkened auditorium will be dotted with the multitudinous eyes of patrons glowing weirdly and their teeth gleaming unnaturally bright as they laugh.

Patrons would be able to find their way up and down the aisles and to their seats without the aid of ushers, guided by the eyes and the teeth of other patrons.

▽

The Government in Turkey has decreed that film-struck schoolboys who are trying to look like Robert Taylor, wearing their hair long and thick on their necks, like Bob, will hereafter have their hair cropped—but cropped, if it takes the whole Turkish Army to crop it.

▽

Bert Sanford, Altec theatre sound service executive, adapts a little poetry to sales promotion and showmanship, with: "He who whispers down a well, about the things he has to sell, doesn't make as many dollars as he who climbs a tree and hollers."

▽

In the theatrical offices of Katharine Cornell and Guthrie McClintic, at Rockefeller Center, New York, there hangs on a wall over the receptionist's desk the following warning:

NO COMMUNISTS
NO NAZI SYMPATHIZERS
Need Apply at This Office for Appointments or Interviews.
It's Our Policy to Consider for Employment
Only Good Americans

▽

In Kansas City, John Russell Field, ten years old, who is big for his age, deals effectively with skeptical theatre cashiers. He shoves his birth certificate along with the dime through the movie window to prove he's still in the 10-cent admission class.

▽

National defense preparations have gotten into Republic studio executives' hair, and as a result, writers on the lot in Hollywood are being told to concentrate on interior sets while drafting stories. Nearby airplane factories, engaged in day long testing of planes, have seriously interrupted shooting, and the studio executives have decided to abandon use of the lot's exterior sets for interiors, because of the motors' vibrations.

All exterior scenes will be taken on location, they announced.

Decision to shift the shooting schedules came as a result of a one-day test on the exterior sets of a new production. It was found, according to the studio, that 39 interruptions were made, necessitating retakes and delaying filming.

Nearby Warners and Universal studios are also bothered, but Republic is the first to do anything about it.

▽

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer announces the purchase of a tranquil little story for filming, entitled, "How to Keep Your Husband from Getting Ahead."

Story editors of motion picture companies, on the alert for new story material for films, are casting eyes these days on such new book titles as War Letters from Britain, Fivefold Aid to Britain, Invasion in the Snow, Juggernaut Over Holland, Terror in Our Time, Life, Liberty and Property, Bureauracy Convicts Itself, Squadrons Up! The Soldier's Handbook, Americans, Passion and the Sword, The Battle for Asia, Mahan on Naval Warfare, Sam Adams, a Pioneer in Propaganda, The American Cause, Axis America, Hitler Plans Our Future, He Might Have Saved France, Nightfall in Vienna, America and Total War, Riddle of the Reich, A Doctrine for the Americas, The Redemption of Democracy, If War Comes to the American Home, Under the Iron Heel, Winged Warfare, The Defense of the Americas, etc., etc.

And, on the lighter side are such new books as Dagger Mind, Bloodbird, The Case of the Deadly Drops, A Gentleman Hangs, The Careless Hangman, Keep Murder Quiet, The Living and the Dead, Ten Words of Poison, Death on Treasure Trail, Death at 'The Dog', Bermuda Burial, Midway to Murder, The Lobster Pick Murder, Narcotic Agent, Our Second Murder, No Murder of Mine, Screen for Murder, Ghosts on the Range Tonight. The Patriotic Murders, The Case of the Haunted Husband, Blood, Sweat and Tears, How to Torture Your Friends, Love and Death, The Wedding Eve Murders, Death Flies West, Hang My Wreath, Murders in Volume 2, I Was a Head-Hunter, Reason in Madness, Weekend with Death, Mourned on Sunday, The Dead Take No Bows, No Time to Kill, I Wake Up Screaming, etc., etc.

Signs of the Times.

▽

The editors of Rockefeller Center Monthly, a magazine for the tenants and workers of this Rockefeller Center community, has in hand a letter from a person who told how a certain secretary is looking for a rich husband. But a rich one. Every time a man arrives at her office to see her boss, while he's inside, talking, she looks at the labels of his coat and and hat. If they carry the name of an expensive house, she goes to work on him as soon as he walks out of conference.

▽

Someone called the Lancaster, Pa., Grand Theatre the other night and Bert Leighton, manager, answered the phone.

"Western Union?" inquired the person calling.

Bert, thinking they were talking about the same Fox picture about "Western Union" which he was playing, answered, "Yes."

"Will you take a telegram?" the caller asked.

▽

Columbia Broadcasting would have you believe that Richard Cromwell, one of its air actors, makes life-masks for Joan Crawford, Constance Bennett and other movie stars, who, instead of sitting for film makeup tests, "send the life masks to the studio and save their faces."

▽

Some picture promoters and press agents who have had trouble getting rapid still-photo service, will appreciate the frankness in the name of the Lax Photo Service, in New York.

LEGISLATORS CONTINUE CONTROL AND TAX BILLS

Two-in-Booth Bill Killed in Connecticut; South Dakota Gets Admission Tax Cut

In their various state legislatures, exhibitors, last week and this, battled against the usual flood of measures to regulate, to tax, to hobble, and even to cripple, the exhibition end of the film industry. A perennial two-men-in-a-booth bill was killed by Connecticut's solons; a deluge of restrictive and taxation measures filled the New York legislative chambers; Georgia is considering Eastern Standard Time and strict regulation of projection machine operation; Nebraska decided not to tax billboard advertising five cents per square foot of space; South Dakota has reduced its admissions tax from three to two per cent; Delaware experienced its first "open" Sunday in 200 years; Massachusetts may clamp down on 16 mm showings; and so on.

Kill Projection Bill

For the seventh consecutive season of the Connecticut legislature, at Hartford, a so-called "two-men-in-a-booth" bill has been rejected but its proponents are still pressing it and have succeeded in having the Senate reopen discussion. The rejection came after an unfavorable report by the Senate judiciary committee. Exhibitors from both the Connecticut MPTOA and Allied had opposed the bill in hearings and unions supported it.

The anti-ASCAP bill in the same legislature had hearings last week, by the judiciary committee, with Louis Feinmark, attorney, and George Lewitt, operator of the New Britain and Plainville, favoring it. This bill would have composers register names and performance prices of their songs, with the Secretary of State, and have exhibitors pay only for songs used. Additionally, it asks licensing of, and taxation of three per cent on, copyright societies

The committee also heard arguments on a bill requiring all buildings with steam at more than 15 pounds to employ a licensed boiler operator or engineer.

A blank tax bill: "Taxation of Moving Picture Industry," which reportedly provided a tax on grosses over $500 per week was killed on Tuesday by the judiciary committee.

Study New Albany Laws

In Albany, New York, exhibitors' representatives were scrutinizing Assemblyman Abbott Moffat's bill to allow cities to impose a tax of one-tenth of one per cent on gross incomes. The bill has been sponsored in the Senate by Walter Mahoney, Buffalo.

Senator Edward Coughlin, Brooklyn, introduced a bill to license vending machines, for unemployment relief, the license to be imposed annually, and asking from $1 to $100.

Frank Emma, Assemblyman, of Utica, has proposed that officers and directors of any corporation which fails, owing wages to employes, would be guilty of misdemeanors, if they knowingly participated. This bill is understood to be supported by theatrical unions of the state.

There is also a bill in the legislature requiring submission of plans for constructing or altering buildings, to the State Industrial Commissioner. Theatres in cities of more than 500,000 population, are exempt.

If her work requires her to stand, every woman employe of an occupation subject to the labor laws, shall be allowed two 15-minute rest periods during her work-day, according to a bill given the legislature by Mario J. Cariello, Assemblyman, Queens.

John J. Bennett, state Attorney General, ruled last week the five per cent tax on gross receipts of boxing exhibitions applies also to display of films of such matches, not only in New York state, but in others.

There was some surprise among Albany observers that no move, among the many affected in the industry, so far has been made, affecting the operation of the consent decree.

Ohio legislative observers predicted this week that the bill to put theatres showing televised pictures under the Department of Workshops and Factories, probably would be enacted. The bill, introduced by Representative Ford, has passed the House; it was backed by P. J. Wood, secretary of the Independent Theatre Owners of Ohio.

Georgia may go on Eastern Standard Time, if a bill, once defeated but now passed by the House, also passes the Senate. Two thirds of the State is on Eastern Standard Time; the rest on Central.

The Senate this week approved a bill to provide for examination and licensing of projectionists by the State Fire Inspector. The bill would also provide such examinations every six months or more often; limit projection machine operation to those over 18; and exempt from the bill's provisions projectionists of more than three years' experience. The Senate also passed a Sunday film showings bill.

National daylight saving time may be near realization, Washington informants said, last week. It was noted that Representative Donald H. McLean, Republican, New Jersey, anticipated a reply, shortly, from Representative Clarence Lea, of California, chairman of the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee, on the former's request that hearings on a national daylight saving bill be started soon.

In Harrisburg, legislative center of Pennsylvania, the House has received a bill from J. P. Morgan, Representative, providing for a state-wide referendum at the 1941 Fall primary, on the advisability of adopting daylight saving during the summer months, as a state policy. The measure is said to be induced by the variance in observance of such time, in certain sections of the state.

In the same state, the boroughs of Kingston and Wyoming last week followed Scranton in adopting resolutions that annual license fees for pinball and automatic music machines shall be $25 and $10 respectively.

The Senate judiciary committee last week indefinitely postponed action on a series of bills to legalize slot machines and bingo.

4,500 CHILDREN AT "KIDDIE" SHOW

More than 4,500 children attended the seventh anniversary of the weekly Saturday morning childrens' program at the Enright theatre in Pittsburgh, advertised as "the world's largest kiddie show." Since the policy was inaugurated approximately 1,000,000 have been present at the shows, according to Walt Framer, master of ceremonies. Featuring organist Johnny Mitchell and youthful amateur entertainment chosen from customer-applications, the program is broadcast each week over station WWSW.

Priorities Look at Machinery of Motion Pictures

by GEORGE SCHUTZ
Editor of BETTER THEATRES

The Government's defense organization has decided that the Army and the Navy officials, rather than the Office of Production Management headed by E. R. Stettinius, Jr., shall henceforth determine what industrial materials—which of course include many involved in the operations of the motion picture industry—will be restricted in their availability for non-defense application. An order to this effect was issued by the OPM this week.

This arrangement, which establishes a temporary provision agreed on a month ago, places in the Army and Navy Munitions Board authority to assign preference ratings pertaining to all defense orders. In making such assignments, the board will operate within a "critical list" which the OPM also released this week in its announcement of the new scheme. The list includes upwards of 170 items from which the following have been selected as bearing, in some degree, upon the products and processes of the motion picture industry:

ALUMINUM AND ALUMINUM ALLOYS—pig or fabricated.
BRASS—pig or fabricated.
BATTERY CHARGERS—portable.
CAMERAS—aeronautical, gun, triangulation, motion picture, and still.
CASTINGS—steel, heavy brass (over 150 pounds), aluminum.
CHROMIUM ALLOY STEEL.
ELECTRIC GENERATORS—motors and motor-generators, dynameters (all except N.E.M.A. standard types, meeting A.I.E.E. specifications and rules).
GENERATORS—electric (except N.E.M.A. standard types of A.I.E.E. specifications).
LENSES requiring grinding (except eyeglasses).
MACHINERY—forging, power-driven, for casting, cutting, grinding, hoisting, melting, metal pressing, welding, refrigerating.
MONEL METAL.
NICKEL—pig or fabricated; NICKEL—alloy steel.
OPTICAL ELEMENTS AND INSTRUMENTS.
RADIO-APPARATUS—(sending and receiving), all types.
RUBBER—synthetic, rubber-like synthetic materials.
STEEL—electric furnace, bullet, armorplate, special treatment, tungsten, nickel, chrome, vanadium.
SWITCHBOARDS—power complete assembly.
TIME INTERVAL APPARATUS.
TOOLS—precision, hand.
TUNGSTEN—ferro tungsten and tungsten ore; tungsten alloy steel.
VANADIUM AND VANADIUM ALLOYS.
ZINC.

The OPM "critical list" thus announced did not include, however, another item appearing in a supplementary list of "priorities" on which the Army and Navy have first call. This item is—Castor Oil—a munition popularized by Signor Mussolini.

O'Shea Luncheon

E. K. O'Shea, central division manager for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, was guest of honor at a luncheon in Nick's Hunting Room at the Hotel Astor in New York, Thursday, March 13th, prior to his departure with Mrs. O'Shea for Florida. Those who attended the luncheon were: Martin Quigley, T. J. Connors, Ed Saunders, Clayton Bond, Lowell Calvert, Sam Shain and Max A. Cohen.

Producers Film Booked

Jack K. Adams, Producers Releasing Corp., franchise holder in Dallas, Tex., has closed a deal with the Interstate Circuit to play "The Devil Bat," starring Bela Lugosi.

THE HOLLYWOOD SCENE

No Change

For the third successive week, production remained at about the same level as during the two preceding, with eight films finished and seven started, compared to the eight completed and nine begun last week, the nine finished and nine started the week previous.

Shooting, this week, were 42, the same number as last, and one less than the week ending February 28th. Being prepared were 21 pictures, with 63 being edited, as against the 17 and 68, and the 14 and 68, of the two prior periods.

The week's tabulation:

COMPLETED

COLUMBIA
Naval Academy
MONOGRAM
Tumledown Ranch in Arizona
PARAMOUNT
Little Miss Muffet
REPUBLIC
Pals of the Pecos
UNIVERSAL
The Black Cat
WARNERS
The Bride Came C.O.D.

STARTED

MGM
Man from the City
PRODUCERS RELEASING
South of Panama
Billy the Kid's Trigger Pals
20TH-FOX
Man Hunt
UNIVERSAL
Mutiny in the Arctic
Sing Another Chorus

SHOOTING

COLUMBIA
Senate Page Boys
Time Out for Rhythm
Return of Daniel Boone
MGM
Billy the Kid
A Woman's Face
Blossoms in the Dust
Love Crazy
Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde
The Uniform
Lady Be Good
Washington Melodrama
Untitled Dr. Kildare
PARAMOUNT
Skylark
Pioneer Woman
Hold Back the Dawn
Night of January 16th
RKO
Sunny
Before the Fact
Tom, Dick and Harry
My Life with Caroline
Hurry, Charlie, Hurry
A Certain Mr. Scratch
REPUBLIC
Rookies on Parade
Lady from New Orleans
Singing Hills
20TH-FOX
Blood and Sand
The Great American Broadcast
Miami
UNIVERSAL
Unfinished Business
Cracked Nuts
Horror Lsland
Sandy Steps Out
WARNERS
Sergeant York
The Gentle People
Underground

One short subject was completed and one started.

▽

Activity

What can best be described as a splurge of activity in behalf of their rosters of talent—executive and otherwise—has been going on in Hollywood's studios of late. Purely apart from such normal shifts as, for example, Paramount's signing of former Twentieth-Fox producer Fred Kohlmar, or Twentieth-Fox's signing of former Warner producer Mark Hellinger, the studios have been building up a backlog of available material for forthcoming enterprises.

Paramount this week exercised options on six of its players, signed another two for specific assignments, and signed three writers and a director, also for definite commitments.

Fred MacMurray was signed to a two-year deal, with further options; Paulette Goddard to a one-year deal, also with further option privileges; Betty Field to a six-month deal, William Holden to a long term deal, and Virginia Dale and Martha O'Driscoll to one-year contracts.

John Barrymore has been signed to appear in "World Premiere," which Sol Siegel is to produce, and Bob Burns to star in "The Good Fellow," a picturization of the stage play by George Kaufman and Herman Mankiewicz.

Jerome Chodorov and Joseph Fields, authors of the stage play "My Sister Eileen," which was bought by Columbia, have been signed to write the screen play for "Louisiana Purchase" for Paramount, and George Bruce to write "War Town," story of America's cantonment towns. Eugene Forde has been signed to direct "Buy Me That Town," for the company which went into production this week at the Paramount Studios in Hollywood.

Columbia, also very active lately, picked up its option on directors Charles Vidor and Richard Wallace, the latter on a deal to direct two a year. That studio also signed George Marshall to direct "Texas," which will star William Holden. Jinx Falkenberg signed a contract with Columbia, which also gave Russell Hayden, for long the "Lucky" of the Hopalong Cassidy pictures, a term deal. And in a deal which takes Mitchell Leisen to the studio as producer-director of "Miss Madden Is Willing," Marlene Dietrich will star in the film for the Gower Street lot.

Latest activity at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer was concerned with the awarding of new contracts to actor Felix Bressart and writer Anita Loos. At RKO Radio, Tay Garnett was signed to direct "Unexpected Uncle," which Erich Pommer will place in production about May 1st, and Jacques Thiery and Georges Kessels have been signed to write the screen play of "Joan of Paris," their own story.

Sol Lesser has signed Jane Murfin to write the screen play for his next United Artists' release, "Strange Victory," which will star Martha Scott.

Warner director Michael Curtiz has had his contract extended, while Stephen Longstreet and Daniel Fuchs have been given writing contracts.

▽

THERE'S NO PLACE LIKE HOLLYWOOD

Once upon a time there was a young woman on the Paramount lot who received a contract following her appearance in the Ziegfeld Follies. She appeared in "Artists and Models" and one or two other pictures.

But the studio let the girl go, and developed Martha Raye into stardom.

The other little woman went her way on the stage and radio and was signed by Republic. Following one picture, of a medium budget, "Scatterbrain," Judy Canova, the actress, blossomed forth into a star. Republic put her into a $750,000 production, "Sis Hopkins," as yet unreleased.

You guessed it.

Over the weekend, Paramount signed Judy Canova to a five-year deal, for one picture a year.

The studio announcement said:

"Paramount plans to create an especially tailored vehicle for her original talents. Following the great hit she scored in her Republic picture, 'Scatterbrain,' Miss Canova is reported to have surpassed even that performance in 'Sis Hopkins'."

Martha Raye is no longer at Paramount.

New Reels

Inauguration of a new series of short subjects for the 1941-42 season has been announced by Warners, which claims the new series stems from the success of "The Dog in the Orchard," picturization of the Mary Roberts Rinehart story.

To be called Miniature Melodramas, the new series will consist of dramatizations of popular short stories. Second in the series, following "Dog in the Orchard," will be a film version of "The Bells," story by Leopold Lewis.

The third, according to present plans, will be "The Monkey's Paw," from the W. W. Jacobs' story. Studio contract players are to be assigned top-line roles throughout the series.

▽

Russell Hayden, who played "Lucky" in Harry Sherman's "Hopalong Cassidy" films for Paramount release has been signed to a term contract by Columbia. His first picture will be "One Way Street" in which he will star. Mr. Sherman will announce a successor to Mr. Hayden shortly.

▽

Warners has completed negotiations for the right to film the life of George Gershwin. Ira Gershwin, brother of the late composer, has been signed to collate the music of the film, which will be produced under the title of "Rhapsody in Blue."

SHOWMEN'S REVIEWS

This department deals with new product from the point of view of the exhibitor who is to purvey it to his own public.

That Hamilton Woman!

(United Artists - Korda)

Romance of a Naval Hero

Horatio Nelson owes his place in history to the battle off Cape Trafalgar and to the words he addressed to his command that momentous day, "England expects that every man will do his duty." But Nelson the naval hero here has been relegated to a place behind Nelson the lover. It is the illicit romance with Lady Hamilton, nee Emma Hart, with which this production is mostly concerned, and, of the two, Lady Hamilton has the meatier role.

All the intensity and dramatic effectiveness that marked Vivien Leigh's portrayal of that southern belle "Scarlett O'Hara" is recreated in her Lady Hamilton. She is outstanding in a production that is heavily on the dramatic side, unrelieved by but the barest comedy touches. She is more Vivien Leigh than Lady Hamilton —and more power to her. Laurence Olivier, considered one of the screen's handsomest leading men, has the disadvantage of make-up to overcome in his portrayal of Nelson. Unlike Miss Leigh who appears, during most of two hours of the picture, the same youthful and lovely girl as she was at 18, Olivier grows old with the years, minus an arm, blind in one eye and an ugly scar on his forehead.

Production values have not been stinted. From the ornate home of Sir William Hamilton, British Ambassador to Naples, to the long lines of men-of-war waiting to do battle at Trafalgar the picture recreates the historic Napoleonic era. The cast is uniformly good. Alan Mowbray plays "Sir William Hamilton," Henry Wilcoxon is "Captain Hardy" and Sara Allgood plays "Lady Hamilton's" mother.

"Emma Hart" when she arrived in Naples in 1786 to seek "Sir William's" permission to marry his nephew, is a girl of 18 who by resourcefulness has risen from the masses. She marries "Sir William" and becomes a sort of power in the court of Naples through her friendship with the queen.

So it is that when "Captain Nelson" arrives in Naples in 1793 to seek Italian soldiers to bottle up Napoleon's fleet at Toulon, "Lady Hamilton" and not "Sir William" obtains the soldiers for him. It is 1798 when "Nelson" again returns to Naples to provision his fleet and again it is "Lady Hamilton" who obtains for him permission to use the harbor of the terror-stricken king and queen. Napoleon's star is in the ascendancy and the British have lost prestige.

It is at this second meeting their romance begins to flower and continues until it is one of the choicest pieces of gossip in Europe's courts and taverns. "Nelson," now an admiral and in poor health, is returned to London by the Admiralty and given an extended leave of absence. When "Sir William" dies, "Nelson" and "Lady Hamilton" retire to live in the country, although "Mrs. Nelson" refuses to divorce the naval hero. Summoned to active service again when Napoleon makes an alliance with Spain and forms an armada, "Nelson" engages the enemy at Trafalgar. The British fleet is victorious but "Nelson" is fatally wounded.

As the picture opens "Lady Hamilton" is a haggard old woman stealing a bottle of wine in a French town. Arrested by the gendarmes she tells her story to another prisoner. That also is the setting for the picture's ending.

Reviewed at the United Artists projection room in New York.—PAUL C. MOONEY, JR.

Produced and directed by Alexander Korda. Distributed by United Artists. Art director, Vincent Korda. Associate, Lyle Reynolds Wheeler. Cameraman, Rudolph Mate. Costumes, Rene Hubert. Musical director, Miklos Rozsa. Special effects, Lawrence Butler. Special sequences photographed by Edward Linden. Set decorations, Julia Heron. Supervising film editor, William Hornbeck. Sound technician, William H. Wilmarth. Makeup artist, Blagoe Stephanoff. Assistant director, Walter Mayo. P. C. A. Certificate No. 6915. Release date, April 30, 1941. Running time, 128 minutes. Adult audience classification.

CAST

Emma, Lady Hamilton.....Vivien Leigh
Lord Nelson.....Laurence Olivier
Sir William Hamilton.....Alan Mowbray
Mrs. Cadogan-Lyon.....Sara Allgood
Lady Nelson.....Gladys Cooper
Captain Hardy.....Henry Wilcoxon
A Street Girl.....Heather Angel
Reverend Nelson.....Halliwell Hobbes
Lord Spencer.....Gilbert Emery
Lord Keith.....Miles Mander
Josiah.....Ronald Sinclair
King of Naples.....Luis Alberni
Queen of Naples.....Norma Drury

Free and Easy

(Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer)

Love vs. Money

About the only thing remarkable concerning this innocuous minor comedy offering is the talent expended in its making. Such performers as Robert Cummings, Ruth Hussey, C. Aubrey Smith and Nigel Bruce, handle uninspired acting assignments and Judith Anderson, long recognized as one of Broadway's outstanding actresses and who was the "Mrs. Danvers" of "Rebecca," is called upon to assume a secondary and stupid role of an English heiress who is man mad.

Taken from a play, "The Truth Game" by Ivor Novello, the insubstantial story of an impoverished father and son out to marry money, was once before given film treatment under the title "But the Flesh Is Weak" of 1932 vintage. At that time, Robert Montgomery was starred and C. Aubrey Smith, Edward Everett Horton, Nora Gregor and Heather Thatcher featured.

"Max" is out to bag a wife with money. His quest is stymied when he meets an impoverished American widow, "Martha Gray," who also is searching for a rich matrimonial strike. The couple reason that love is enough for wedded happiness but in order to save his father from conviction for forging a bad check, "Max" deserts "Martha" and sues for the hand of "Lady Jane Culver." True love wins out.

Miss Hussey's new hair-do gives the lady a striking resemblance to Myrna Loy, a coincidence that is entirely welcome.

Seen at a preview showing in New York City where the paper and magazine reviewing personnel resorted to verbal indications to register dissatisfaction with the picture.—JOSEPH F. COUGHLIN.

Produced and distributed by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. Director, George Sidney. Based on the play, "The Truth Game" by Ivor Novello. Directors of photography, Charles Lawton and George Folsey. Recording director, Douglas Shearer. Art director, Cedric Gibbons. Associate, Stan Rogers. Set decorations, Edwin B. Willis. Wardrobe, Dolly Tree. Film editor, Frank E. Hull. P.C.A. Certificate No. 7099. Running time, 56 minutes. Release date, February 28, 1941. General audience classification.

CAST

Max Clemington.....Robert Cummings
Martha Gray.....Ruth Hussey
Lady Joan Culver.....Judith Anderson
The Duke.....C. Aubrey Smith
Florian Clemington.....Nigel Bruce
Sir George Kelvin.....Reginald Owen
Captain Ferris.....Tom Conway

Sleepers West

(Twentieth Century-Fox)

Detective-Reporter Melodrama

This is the second melodrama dramatizing the operations of "Michael Shayne, Detective," played by Lloyd Nolan, and this time most of the action transpires abroad a train bound for San Francisco bearing the detective, a witness he is spiriting to the scene of a trial, the girl reporter whose romance with the detective is complicated by the conflict between their professions, other detectives and interested characters. The murder involved in the plot is in the past tense and the film takes its suspense from incidents free of violence for the most part.

Lynn Bari, as the reporter, and Mary Beth Hughes, as the witness whose presence in San Francisco on a given date is the issue at stake, supply the feminine interest. Edward Brophy and Don Costello portray detectives pitted against the hero for different reasons. Louis Jean Heydt is seen as a young man caught up in the plot by coincidence.

Directed by Eugene Forde for executive producer Sol Wurtzel, the picture maintains the pitch set by the first film in the series.

Previewed at studio.—WILLIAM R. WEAVER.

Produced and distributed by 20th Century-Fox. Executive producer, Sol Wurtel. Director, Eugene Forde. Photographed by Peverell Marley. Edited by Fred Allen. P. C. A. certificate No. 6973. Release date, March 14, 1941. Running time, 74 minutes. General audience classification.

CAST

Michael Shayne.....Lloyd Nolan
Kay Bentley.....Lynn Bari
Helen Carlson.....Mary Beth Hughes
Everett Jason.....Louis Jean Heydt
George Trautwein.....Edward Brophy
Carl Izzard.....Don Costello
Pullman Porter.....Ben Carter
Tom Linscott.....Don Douglas
McGowan.....Oscar O'Shea
Conductor Lyons.....Harry Hayden
Meyers.....Hamilton MacFadden
Old Lady.....Ferike Boros

That Uncertain Feeling

(Lubitsch - United Artists)

Marital Mixups

Another link in the cycle of comedies of marital manners is this provocative Ernst Lubitsch production. Concerned with complications that beset a marriage when the wife becomes dissatisfied with the amount of amatory output from her spouse, the film is often risque. Whether the treatment will be considered nice depends on the level of sophistication to which an audience has educated itself.

The famed and almost allegorical "Lubitsch touch" is quite evident in the staging of the triangular theme of a husband, his wife and the other man. In fact, this directorial signature at times becomes too evident and unsubtle, particularly in the sequence devoted to the psychoanalyzing of the wife. The taste and tone of the humor, however, are somewhat alleviated by the inclusion of scenes more wholesomely comic as, for instance, in a sequence showing a dinner for a prospective Hungarian insurance client.

The acting is entrusted to a trio of expert light comedy actors, Merle Oberon, Melvyn Douglas and Burgess Meredith. Miss Oberon, fetchingly gowned and photographed, effects a picture, which may cause some spectators to

(Continued on page 39)

It's a great EVEnt from coast to coast!

EVEntually you'll cut yourself in for a slice of those "LADY EVE" profits...

Why not NOW!

look at these
BOX-OFFICE apples!
KEITH'S, BALTIMORE
60% better than "Rhythm on the River," which had a holiday engagement!
BUFFALO THEA., BUFFALO
55% better than "Rhythm on the River," which played with stage show!
BARBARA STANWYCK ★ HENRY FONDA
"The LADY EVE"
A Paramount Picture with
CHARLES COBURN · EUGENE PALLETTE
Martha O'Driscoll · William Demarest · Eric Blore
Written and Directed by PRESTON STURGES
Screen Play Based on a Story by Monckton Hoffe
PARAMOUNT, LOS ANGELES
Neck and neck with "Virginia" and "Arise, My Love"!
STRAND, PROVIDENCE
77% better than "Rhythm on the River." HELD OVER FOR 2nd WEEK!
PALACE, ROCHESTER
20% better than "Rhythm on the River" and "Arise, My Love." Neck and neck with "Virginia"!
FOX, ATLANTA
33% better than "Virginia," which had holiday playing time!
PARAMOUNT, NEWARK
Neck and neck with "Virginia," which had holiday playing time!
METROPOLITAN, BOSTON
37% better than "Rhythm on the River." Even with "Virginia" which had holiday run!
Paramount Pictures

SHOWMEN'S REVIEWS OF PRODUCT

(Continued from page 36)

wonder what possibly could be wrong either with her or her film husband, as played by Mr. Douglas.

"Jill Baker," troubled with a recurring hiccough, consults a psychoanalyst and the diagnosis is marital trouble, her husband "Larry" being too busy in the day time corraling insurance customers to be very attentive to his connubial obligations at bed time. On one of her visits for a consultation, "Jill" meets another patient, a brash and ill bred pianist, "Alexander Sebastian." In his company she takes up modern art and finds outlet for her frustrated feelings. "Larry," professing to be civilized, agrees to divorce proceedings but when a correspondent, preferably blonde, has to be produced for legal evidence, "Jill" about faces and returns to her husband. The finale indicate that "Larry" will not again be found deficient.

Previewed in New York.—JOSEPH F. COUGHLIN.

Producer-director, Ernst Lubitsch. Distributed by United Artists. Production manager, Barney Briskin. Production assistant, John Sherwood. Assistant director, Horace Hough. Second assistant director, Lee Sholem. Director of photography, George Barnes. Art director, Alex Golitzen. Film editor, William Shea. Musical director, Werner Heymann. Gowns, Irene. P.C.A. Certificate No. 6997. Running time, 85 minutes. Release date, April 20, 1941. Adult audience classification.

CAST

Jill Baker.....Merle Oberon
Larry Baker.....Melvyn Douglas
Alexander Sebastian.....Burgess Meredith
Dr. Vengard.....Alan Mowbray
Margie Stallings.....Olive Blakeney
Attorney Jones.....Harry Davenport
Sally.....Eve Arden
Mr. Kofka.....Sig Rumann

Inspector Hornleigh Goes To It

(Twentieth Century-Fox)

Detective Comedy-Drama

The Gordon Harker-Alistair Sim team have been a popular success in the "Hornleigh" series, and it is not surprising that 20th Fox should continue their adventures. The title is, of course, a direct pull at the vast radio audience, and the two comedians are strong enough magnets to mean something at the box office. Harker has been among the leaders of the HERALD Poll for some years. On its own merits the film, though exclusively English in its comedy and situation is entertaining, briskly directed and possessed of excellent technical sheen.

Inspector Hornleigh and his dumb Scots Sergeant, sent to sleuth some Army pilfering, tumble on to a Fifth Column plot and capture a spy posing as a dentist. The chase takes them into the sort of adventures one would expect, drags in a murder and ends up on a mail train with action bringing the yarn to a crackshot climax. In between whiles there is some keenly flavoured comedy with the dour uncomprehending Sim as an unwilling dentist, with a determined patient, and the Cockney Harker posing as a history master in an evacuated school. The usual banter between the two spatters the whole.

Few of the cast are topliners but few of them fail to register tiptop performances, with Raymond Huntley's oily Fifth Columnist, Betty Jardine's barmaid, and Phyllis Calvert's siren probably best three.

Walter Forde directed competently and J. B. Orton and Val Guest did a slick script job.

A small but representative preview audience in London very obviously enjoyed the comedy flavour, with Sim getting by far the majority of the laughs.—AUBREY FLANAGAN.

Produced and distributed by Twentieth Century-Fox Film Company, Ltd. Directed by Walter Forde. Produced by Edward Black. Story by Frank Launder. Script by J. B. Orton and Val Guest. Running time, 87 minutes. General audience classification.

CAST

Inspector Hornleigh .....Gordon Harker
Sergeant Bingham .....Alastair Sim
Mrs. Wilkinson .....Phyllis Calvert
Mr. Blenkinsop .....Edward Chapman
Mr. Wilkinson .....Charles Oliver
Dr. Kerbishley .....Raymond Huntley
Inspector Blow .....Percy Walsh
Commissioner .....David Horne
Colonel .....Peter Gawthorne
Sergeant Major .....Wally Patch
Daisy .....Betty Jardine
Professor Mackensie .....O. B. Clarence
Mr. Tomboy .....John Salew

The Ghost Train

(Gainsborough - GFD)

Mystery Comedy-Drama

Arnold Ridley's thriller has done as much service, via stage, radio and screen, as "Charley's Aunt," and here it is again with radio topliner Arthur Askey the excuse for doing it again. It is a first class excuse, for Askey's star is in the ascendant—he leapt from obscurity to Number 4 in MOTION PICTURE HERALD's 1940 Poll—and his comedy here is irresistible. With the evergreen title, and the terrific box office pull of "Big Hearted" Arthur, the British exhibitor has a real honey here. It is as strong as tonic for wartime blues as could be prayed for.

Askey is cast as "Tommy Gander," seaside comicker, and his mercurial cavortions and gagging in the Fal Vale station, where the Ghost Train is said to pass at midnight, make up a great deal of the film—which is as it should be. There is a party of passengers to keep him company stranded at the lonely junction and they all take part in the 1941 climax, which exposes the whole affair as part superstition, part Fifth-Column gun-running. But its Askey's film from first to last, for there is scarce a moment when he is off the screen. Askey is a brand of electric comedy eel, as funny in figure and gesture as in speech, and though his type of humour is essentially native it is of one hundred per cent British appeal.

The supporting cast are a multiple asset to the film. Askey's own partner, Richard "Stinker" Murdoch, Kathleen Harrison in a gem of Cockney spinsterism. Morland Graham as a bibulous doctor and Betty Jardine as a plebian bride to be—all victims in turn for Askey's devastation of leg pulling.

The technical side of the film has been well cared for and the air of mystery is well textured, with the element of suspense inset effectively. The dramatic climax is of a specious flavour, but is crisply handled.

Walter Forde directed, his sense of comedy and his capacity for drama serving him well.

Seen cold in a London preview theatre.—AUBREY FLANAGAN.

A Gainsborough Picture. Distributed by General Distributors. Directed by Walter Forde. Produced by Edward Black. Scenario, J. O. C. Orton. Dialogue, Val Guest and Marriott Edgar. Photography, Jack Cox. Supervising editor, R. E. Dearing. Art director, Vetchinsky. Musical director, Louis Levy. Running time, 83 minutes. Adult audience classification.

CAST

Tommy Gander .....Arthur Askey
Teddy Deakin .....Richard Murdoch
Miss Bourne .....Kathleen Harrison
R. G. Winthrop .....Peter Murray-Hill
Jackie Winthrop .....Carole Lynne
Dr. Sterling .....Morland Graham
Edna .....Betty Jardine
Herbert .....Stuart Latham
Saul Hodgkin .....Herbert Lomas
Price .....Raymond Huntley
Julie Price .....Linden Travers
Ben Isaacs .....D. J. Williams

The Saint's Vacation

(RKO Radio British)

Crime Action Drama

With a new face—that of British actor Hugh Sinclair—but the same suave personality, Leslie Charteris's nicely tailored crook-chaser continues his adventure in this recent British production from the RKO Radio stable. Crime yarns retain their audience appeal in Britain and the "Saint" label is one which can usefully be attached in the exhibitor's shop window. The picture is not obviously a super and aims, it would seem, at an indulgent audience.

Pivot of the action—of which there is a surfeit—is a mysterious musical box which accompanies the "Saint" on his trip to pre-war France. With a positive barrage of gunplay the box takes its sponsor on a most complicated series of adventures, encounters with a sinister and slick tongued crook, Rudolph, and a young lady newspaper reporter whom he fails to shake off—so determined is she on her story. The pattern of murder and robbery becomes so involved at times it is difficult to disentangle the strands, which lead into old chateaus, underground cafes, railway stations and police stations, but end up in Scotland Yard with the musical box revealed as a cunning device for guarding the secret of the world's greatest sound detector.

Hugh Sinclair's "Saint" is teamed with Sally Gray, whose work as the inescapable reporter is far better than the role would have suggested, and with Cecil Parker as the throaty and oily Rudolph.

Technically the film is adequate, despite occasional evidence of wartime "ersatz." The customers who condone narrative defects on the grounds of action will find more than the usual compensation.

Leslie Fenton directed under the producer aegis of William Sistrom.

Seen cold in a London preview theatre.—AUBREY FLANAGAN.

Produced and distributed by RKO Radio Pictures. Directed by Leslie Fenton. Produced by William Sistrom. Screen play by Leslie Charteris & Jeffry Dell. Running time, 78 minutes. Adult audience classification.

CAST

Simon Templar ..... Hugh Sinclair
Mary Langdon ..... Sally Gray
Monty Howard ..... Arthur Macrae
Rudolph ..... Cecil Parker
Valerie .....Leueen MacGrath
Inspector Teal ..... Gordon McLeod
Gregory ..... John Warwick
Emil .....Ivor Barnard
Marko ..... Manning Whiley
Leighton ..... Felix Aylmer

Chamber of Horrors

(Monogram)

Mystery Melodrama

Mystery novel fans will remember "The Door With Seven Locks" by the late Edgar Wallace. Herein Monogram presents a British-made production based on the novel. Directed by Norman Lee the story in its transposition from the book to the screen has lost many of the elements which made it engrossing reading, and, at times, the film version fails to hold the attention of the audience.

The story concerns a group of trusted friends and servants who upon the death of their benefactor steal the keys to his tomb in which his jewels have also been placed. To open the tomb seven keys are necessary but one of the keys finds its way to a girl and her detective friend. The two arrive at the castle adjoining the tomb and begin an investigation. After

(Continued on page 40, column 3)

SKOURAS DECENTRALIZES NATIONAL'S FILM BUYING

National Circuit Officers Told at Convention of Plan for Local Booking for Divisions

by NAT TANCHUCK

in Los Angeles

Spyros Skouras, head of National Theatres, which operates more than 500 theatres in the mid-west and the west, announced last weekend at the organization's mid-winter meeting held at the Arrowhead Springs Hotel at Lake Arrowhead, California, that the decree makes it advisable for National Theatres to decentralize all film buying. All divisions will buy locally. In the former system buying was handled in New York.

The decentralization of operations is expected to result in greater revenue through buying, booking and exploitation in keeping with the particular, local situation, Mr. Skouras said. Under the consent decree separate deals must be arranged for each district, but the buying can still be handled from New York or anywhere else provided that sales to theatres in one territory are not conditioned on sales to theatres in other areas. National Theatres, however, has decided that decentralized operations will be more efficient under the decree regulations.

Retirement Plan Discussed

An old age retirement plan, the new Skouras drive, and the consent decree in general were other topics considered at the convention which opened Thursday, March 6th, and ended Saturday, March 15th. A number of divisional and home office executives attended. Spyros, and Charles Skouras, head of Fox West Coast, presided.

Opening the meeting, Spyros Skouras said: "Life . . . business, has no chance without preparedness back of them. In doing this, we must also take into mind the unexpected and prepare ourselves for any contingency. Therefore, we cannot be just average theatre men; we must be students of our business, and we must anticipate the trend."

Preliminary plans for the Third Annual Spyros Skouras Showmanship Campaign were presented. Dates, tentatively set, are from Easter, April 13th, to Saturday, July 12th. Approximately $40,000 has been earmarked for the drive.

Following his opening talk, Mr. Skouras thanked those attending for their cooperation in the Greek War Relief Campaign of which he is national chairman.

Indicating that the industry was being supplied with improved product, and helped by the national defense program, Mr. Skouras said conditions were never better than today in exhibition.

In discussing admission prices, he asserted that the increase for "Gone With the Wind" was justified as was that for such films as "Boom Town." Paramount, it was shown, was helped considerably by the intake of "North West Mounted Police," which also compensated theatres for any losses sustained on other productions.

Too many admission boosts were termed ill-advised as they might boomerang, and producers were asked to take this into consideration when asking for increased admission prices.

Plans for setting up a fund of sufficient amount for old age benefits were discussed. At present, the welfare fund is being enriched through the sale of candy at various houses and is expected to reach $100,000 this year.

Reconditioning plans for theatres were brought forward and elaborate ideas for reseating of houses at an estimated cost of $1,500,000 were considered. In addition, $2,000,000 was earmarked for the building of new houses and for the refurbishing of others during the year.

Hilliard Brooke, western district manager for American Seating, and Al Hoven, assistant general sales manager for the company, outlined theatre seating developments.

Those attending the convention included: Spyros Skouras, New York; Charles P. Skouras, Los Angeles; Harry Cox, Pete Lundgren, John Caskey, William T. Powers, Fred Pride, John Healy, Milt Hossfeld, Aubrey Schenck, Ed Zabel, and I. Barry, New York; Dave Idsel, Detroit; Harold Fitzgerald, Ed Alperson, J. Brown, Milwaukee.

Elmer C. Rhoden, Lon Cox, J. Pope, Kansas City; Frank H. Ricketson, Hall Baetz, William Woods, H. Stuart, J. Franz, Denver; Frank Newman, Al Finke, H. Schultz, Seattle; Arch M. Bowles, Charles Thall, Mike Naify, Nick Turner, Harry Seipel, Elmer Hanks, Dick Spier, Phil Phillips, San Francisco; C. A. Buckley, Mike Rosenberg, Oscar Oldknow, John Bertero, Andy Krappman, Tom Page, George Topper, W. H. Lollier, Larry Kent, Fred Stein, R. H. McCullough, Dick Dickson, Irving Epstein, Cullen Espy, B. V. Sturdivant, Thornton Sargent, George Bowser, William Lyris, George Watters, Los Angeles; Homer Gill, Bakersfield; Lou Christ, Tucson, Ariz.; L. Ownby, Al Hoven, R. Zimmerman, Hilliard Brooke, American Seating Co.; Elmer G. Hines, New York, General Theatres Corp.; Ed Klassen, Los Angeles.

Schenck Tax Trial Nears Jury Decision

Testimony continued this week in the government's case concerning Joseph M. Schenck, chairman of the board of Twentieth Century-Fox, and Joseph M. Moskowitz, eastern studio representative, before Judge Grover M. Moscowitz and a jury in federal court at New York. Business and personal associates of Mr. Schenck were called by the government to testify on their transactions with him during the years 1935-36-37.

Among those called to the stand during the trial's second week were: Paul Zuckerman and Charles King, New York brokers, who testified to payment of election bets to Mr. Schenck in 1936; Joseph H. Rosenberg, vice president of the Bank of America in Los Angeles; Enrique S. Neidhart, former manager of the Agua Caliente casino once controlled by Mr. Schenck; Ruth Nolander, former personal secretary to Mr. Schenck, who testified on cash financial transactions with Willie Bioff, labor leader; Harry C. Wilson, yacht broker; Francis T. Kelly, 20th Century-Fox auditor; Dolph Schadeler, Loew's tax division head; and Al Wertheimer, of Hollywood's Clover Club.

The government was expected to call its last witness this week. The case, it was expected, might be submitted to the jury, following summations, next week.

PRODUCT REVIEWS

(Continued form page 39)

some adventure all the keys are recovered and the property and possessions are turned over to the rightful owner.

Heading the all-English cast is Leslie Banks as the wealthy country doctor and leader of the gang that has been robbing the estate held in trust, Romilly Lunge as the detective who unravels the complicated situation, and Richard Bird as the sleeping Inspector Sneed of Scotland Yard. John Argyle produced the film in England.

Reviewed at the New York theatre in the heart of Times Square on St. Patrick's Day where an audience of high-school age youths adlibbed and wise cracked without restraint and generally enjoyed the film for the opportunities it gave them.—GEORGE SPIRES.

Produced in England by John Argyle and distributed in the United States by Monogram. Directed by Norman Lee. Photographed by Alex Bryce and Ernest Palmer. Film editor, E. G. Richards. Sound supervisor, C. Gilbert. Based on the novel "The Door With Seven Locks" by Edgar Wallace. Release date, December 20th, 1940. Running time, 79 minutes. P.C.A. Certificate No. 02911. General audience classification.

CAST

Dr. Manette	Leslie Banks
June Lansdowne	Lilli Palmer
Dick Martin	Romilly Lunge
Glenda Baker	Gina Malo
Inspector Sneed	Richard Bird
Craig	R. Montgomery
Edward Havelock	Dave Horne
Silva	J. H. Roberts
Ann Cody	Cathleen Nesbitt
Bevan Cody	Harry Hutchinson
Crawler	Phil Ray
Lord Selford	Aubrey Mallalieu

The Mad Emperor

(World)

Historical Melodrama

Harry Baur, whom bilingual American audiences may remember as the Gallic Mr. George Arliss because of his long association with the portrayal of famous historical figures, arrives again in another history book show. This time M. Baur is cast as the demented Russian ruler and son of Catherine the Great, Paul I, whose gross misrule and carnal ways caused him to be assassinated. It is to the credit of the actor that despite vastly inadequate technical facilities and uneven directorial pacing his performance results in several moving moments.

Taken from the Albert Neumann novel, "The Patriot," which served under the same book title as screen material for Emil Jannings in 1928, the historical study is more concerned with the amorous side of the Czar's reign than with economic or political aspects. Pierre Renoir portrays the character described in the fiction work, as the patriot Pahlen who, despite his personal fondness for Paul, sacrificed friendship for his country. Suzy Prim is outstanding in the part of Pahlen's mistress.

As has been suggested in a program note issued in conjunction with the film's New York showing, American audiences may be interested in viewing the doom that befell this demented ruler of the past with the current crop of European tyrants.

Seen at the 55th St. Playhouse in New York City where a small sized early afternoon audience exhibited no noticeable reaction.—J. F. C.

Produced by Nicolas Farkas. Released in the United States by World Pictures Corp. Based on the novel by Alfred Neumann. Director, Maurice Tourneur. Screen play, Alfred Neumann and Henri Jeanson. Cameraman, Roger Forster. Music, Jacques Ibert. Design, Boris Bilinsky. No P. C. A. Certificate No. Running time, 89 minutes. Release date, March 8, 1941. Adult audience classification.

CAST

Paul I	Harry Baur
Pahlen	Pierre Renoir
Anna Osterman	Suzy Prim
Nadia	Josette Day
Czarevitch	Gerard Landry
Panine	Jacques Varrennes
Laupouchine	Colette Darfeuil
Czarina	Elmire Vautier

TRADING BY EXECUTIVES IN STOCKS OF COMPANIES HITS ALL TIME LOW

SEC Reports on Trading of 50 Officers, Directors Show Small Movement for Year; Atlas, Meehan Transfers Largest

Trading of motion picture corporation officers and directors in the stocks of their own companies was at an unprecedentedly low level during 1940, it is disclosed by an analysis of reports filed by them with the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Demonstrating that activity in film stocks is due almost entirely to "outsiders," reports filed throughout the year by 50 officers, directors and beneficial owners (holders of more than ten per cent of any class of registered securities of sixteen corporations) showed the movement of slightly less than 312,000 shares, contrasting with 325,000 shares reported by 56 officers and directors of thirteen corporations in 1939. And of this year's total 203,400 shares represented accretions by the Atlas Corporations to its holdings of Radio Keith Orpheum common and preferred stocks.

Also of interest was the continued campaign of Loew's, Inc. to round up the common stock of Loew's Boston Theatres, acquiring 17,480 shares during the year.

The reports filed with the SEC showed that few company officials both bought and sold the stock of their corporations. In one or two instances, purchases or sales were reported in one part of the year and the reverse in later months, but in no case was there any evidence of active trading in a stock for quick profits.

There were but few large transactions reported for 1940; in most cases officials bought or sold only a few hundred shares through the year. One of the largest single transactions was the disposition of 7,000 shares of Keith Albee Orpheum preferred stock by Michael J. Meehan, beneficial owner, in December. Jack Cohn, Columbia Pictures officer, disposed of 31,621 common voting trust certificates during the year, 300 of them by gift and the remainder by exchange for common stock; Abraham Schneider, another Columbia officer, acquired 1,404 shares of common during the year, 504 shares by exchange of certificates and the remainder by purchase.

J. Robert Rubin, Loew's, Inc. officer, disposed of 5,000 shares of common stock; Anson C. Goodyear, Paramount director, acquired 1,000 shares of Paramount common, doubling his holdings, and Stanton Griffis, another director, acquired 3,500 shares of common. L. Lawrence Green, director, sold 3,000 shares of Radio Keith Orpheum common stock, and Radio Corporation of America received 928 shares in August as a creditor and disposed of them in October.

In Twentieth Century-Fox, Sidney R. Kent during the year acquired 2,025 shares of common stock and sold 2,300 shares; Joseph M. Schenck disposed of 6,500 shares of the company's preferred, and Darryl F. Zanuck sold 1,000 shares of common.

24 Company Summaries For Year

The following review of film company transactions is based on the 24 summaries issued for 1940:

COLUMBIA PICTURES CORP.

Common stock without par value, authorized shares 1,000,000; outstanding—366,268. Closing market price as of Friday, March 7th, $4.87. Preferred convertible stock without par value: authorized and outstanding, 75,000. $22.50 was bid for the preferred stock on the last stock transaction.

HARRY COHN, Hollywood, Cal., officer, director, beneficial owner and voting trustee:

Common stock:

	Shares	Shares
Jan. 1, 1940, Holdings		74,049
Held through Joan Perry, Account, Jan. 1, 1940		1,560
June 3, purchased	100
June 5, purchased	100
June 10, purchased	400
Dec. 31, 1940, Holdings		2,160

Com. voting trust certificates:	Shares	Shares
Jan. 1, 1940, Holdings		72,284
Held through Joan Perry Account, Jan. 1, 1940		7,460
Feb. 24, Purchased	100
Dec. 31, 1940, Holdings		1,560

JACK COHN, New York, officer, director and voting trustee:

Common stock:	Shares	Shares
Jan. 1, 1940, Holdings		555
Apr. 15, acquired exchange for v.t.c.	31,321
Dec. 31, 1940, Holdings		31,876

Com. voting trust certificates:	Shares	Shares
Holdings, Jan. 1, 1940		31,621
Feb. 6, Disposed (gift)	300
Apr. 15 Dsposed (exchange for stock)	31,321
Holdings, Dec. 31, 1940		0

ABRAHAM SCHNEIDER, New York, officer and director:

Common stock:	Shares	Shares
Jan. 1, 1940, Holdings		0
Apr. 23, purchased	100
May 7, acquired in exchange for voting trust certificates	504
May 10, purchased	100
May 11, purchased	100
May 13, purchased	300
May 18, purchased	200
May 21, purchased	100
Dec. 31, 1940, Holdings		1,404

Com. voting trust certificates:	Shares	Shares
Jan. 1, 1940, Holdings		504
May 7, exchanged for common stock	504
Dec. 31, 1940, Holdings		0
Option warrants for com. stock:
Jan. 1, 1940, Holdings		7,500

▽

CONSOLIDATED FILM INDUSTRIES

Issued and outstanding of the common stock at $1 par value—524,973. Preferred, 400,000.

On Thursday, March 6th, the closing market price

(Continued on following page)

Universal Corporation reports disclosed that Nathan J. Blumberg, officer, acquired 10,500 common voting trust certificates and disposed of 1,500, and that he received, under an employment agreement, 10,000 voting trust certificate warrants. In the same company, Paul G. Brown, director, added 1,000 to his holdings of voting trust certificates; J. Cheever Cowdin acquired 3,850 certificates; Preston Davie, director, purchased 3,000 during the course of the year; William Freiday, director, sold 2,800; Peyton Gibson, officer, acquired 600; Charles D. Prutzman, officer, acquired 3,850 certificates through purchase and received 3,000 certificate warrants from the corporation without charge, and Daniel J. Sheaffer, director, acquired 2,000 certificates.

In Universal Pictures, Paul G. Brown, acquired 1,000 shares of common stock.

The smallest transaction reported was the purchase of three shares of Pathe Film common stock by Thomas P. Loach, officer.

The statistical review was based on reports which the Securities and Exchange Act require shall be filed with the SEC by every officer and director of every corporation whose securities are registered and by persons directly or indirectly the beneficial owner of more than ten per cent of any equity security registered on a national exchange.

These reports must be filed for every month in which such person acquires or disposes of any securities of his own company, but are not required to show his transactions in the securities of any other corporation. The purpose and effect of the reports is to enable the commission immediately to determine whether an officer, director or large stockholder is taking advantage of information available to him because of his connection with the corporation, which is not available to the general stockholders or the public.

Under the law, a corporation may sue for recovery of any profits made by an officer or director through the use of such "inside" information. Officers and directors also are prohibited from selling their corporation's securities "short."

As a basis for determining the stock activities of corporation officials, they are required to report to the commission what securities they hold in the company when they take office, and must include in their reports transactions in company securities through holding companies or other indirect "owners" of stocks.

In line with the purpose of the act to enable the general public to maintain a closer watch upon stock market activities, the reports of company officials are disclosed twice a month by the SEC in a summary of security transactions and stock holdings of company executives.

COMMISSION REPORTS ON TRADING

(Continued from preceding page)

for the common was $.63, while the preferred on the same day closed at $7.75.

E. H. Seifert, Fort Lee, N. J., director:

$2 part preferred stock:

	Shares	Shares
Jan. 1, 1940, Holdings		160
May 15, purchased	400
Oct. 7, purchased	140
Oct. 17, sold	200
Oct. 26, sold	100
Nov. 1, sold	300
Dec. 31, 1940, Holdings		100

▽

GENERAL THEATRES EQUIPMENT CORP.

The corporation has 800,000 shares of common stock authorized with 585,712, outstanding, as of February 21st, 1941.

Walter E. Green, New York, officer:

Capital stock:

	Shares	Shares
Jan. 1, 1940, Holdings		20
Mar. 26, purchased	10
Apr. 1, purchased	10
Apr. 23, purchased	10
May 14, purchased	100
May 16, purchased	100
May 31, purchased	10
Dec. 31, 1940, Holdings		260

Earle G. Hines, New York, officer and director:

Capital stock:

	Shares	Shares
Jan. 1, 1940, Holdings		1,000
May 21, purchased	200
May 23, purchased	300
Dec. 31, 1940, Holdings		1,500

R. B. Larue, New York, officer:

Capital stock:

Jan. 1, 1940, Holdings		0
	Shares	Shares
Apr. 11, purchased	100
Apr. 16, purchased	100
Apr. 25, purchased	100
Apr. 26, purchased	100
May 16, purchased	100
Sept. 19, purchased	100
Dec. 31, 1940, Holdings		600

M. V. Carroll, New York, officer and director:

Common stock:

	Shares	Shares
Jan. 1, 1940, Holdings		0
Feb. 8, purchased	100
Dec. 31, 1940, Holdings		100

Robert L. Clarkson, New York, director:

Common stock:

Holdings, Jan. 1, 1940		0
	Shares	Shares
Jan. 29, purchased	100
Dec. 31, 1940, Holdings		100

Edward C. Delafield, New York, director:

Capital stock:

	Shares	Shares
May 1, purchased	100
June 7, purchased	100
Dec. 26, purchased	200
Holdings, Dec. 31, 1940		400

▽

KEITH-ALBEE-ORPHEUM

Of the seven per cent preferred stock, 63,586 shares are outstanding. The bid price in the preferred stocks most recent transaction was $102.25.

Michael J. Meehan, New York, beneficial owner:

7 per cent preferred:

	Shares	Shares
Jan. 1, 1940, Holdings		26,504
Jan. 5, disposed by gift	500
Dec. 30, disposed of by gift in trust for children	2,000
Sold	7,000
Dec. 31, 1940, Holdings		17,004

Malcolm Kingsberg, New York, officer and director:

	Shares	Shares
7 per cent preferred stock:
Nov. 30, 1940, Holdings		500
Dec. 20, exchanged for voting trust certificates	10
Dec. 31, 1940, Holdings		490
7 per cent preferred voting trust certificates:
Dec. 20, 1940, acquired by exchange		10

▽

LOEW'S BOSTON THEATRE

Of the authorized 162,900 shares of the common stock at $25 par value, 155,249½ are outstanding.

Loews Inc., New York, beneficial owner:

Common stock:

	Shares	Shares
Jan. 1, 1940, Holdings		100,307
Feb. 13, purchased	7
Mar. 1, purchased	21
Mar. 5, purchased	4
May 2, purchased	17,058
May 13, purchased	4
May 21, purchased	5
June 27, purchased	30
Aug. 9, purchased	38
Sept. 9, purchased	2
Sept. 13, purchased	207
Sept. 18, purchased	100
Dec. 6, purchased	4
Dec. 31, 1940, Holdings		117,787

▽

LOEW'S, INC.

Of the 4,000,000 shares authorized of the no par value common stock, 1,665,713 are outstanding. Of the authorized 300,000 shares of preferred stock at no par value there are 136,722 shares outstanding.

The closing market price as if Friday, March 7th, of the common stock was $31.62. The most recent bid price of the preferred stock was $107.50.

J. Robert Rubin, New York, officer and director:

Common stock:

	Shares	Shares
Jan. 1, 1940, Holdings		30,015
Jan. 22, Disposed by gift	100
May 13, sold	300
May 15, sold	1,000
May 17, sold	600
May 27, sold	400
June 13, sold	200
June 15, sold	800
June 17, sold	200
June 18, sold	800
July 29, sold	200
July 30, sold	400
Dec. 31, 1941, Holdings		25,015

Charles C. Moskowitz, New York, directors:

Common stock:

	Shares	Shares
Jan. 1, 1940, Holdings		600
Mar. 15, purchased	300
Dec. 31, 1940, Holdings		900

Al Lichtman, New York, officer and director:

Common stock:

	Shares
Dec. 23, 1940, purchased	100
Dec. 31, 1940, Holdings	100

Joseph R. Vogel, New York, director:

Common stock:

	Shares	Shares
Jan. 1, 1940, Holdings		100
Apr. 9, purchased	200
Dec. 31, 1940, Holdings		300

▽

MONOGRAM PICTURES CORP.

Of the no par value common stock 360,586 shares are outstanding.

Thomas P. Loach, New York, officer and director:

Common stock:

	Shares	Shares
Jan. 1, 1940, Holdings		400
May 17, purchased	300
Dec. 31, 1940, Holdings		700
Option for common stock:
Holdings, Jan. 1, 1940		6,173

▽

PARAMOUNT PICTURES, INC.

Of the 4,457,149 shares of authorized common stock at $1 par value, 2,467,275.25 are outstanding less 1,348.25 in the treasury, leaving 2,465,927 net. The following preferred stock is outstanding: first preferred, at $100 par, 134,189.6729, and the second preferred stock at $10 par, 532,470 shares.

Closing market price of the common stock as of March 7th, $11.38. The second preferred closed on the same day at $10.75.

Stanton Griffis, New York, director:

Common stock:

	Shares	Shares
Jan. 1, 1940, Holdings		3,000
May 14, purchased	500
May 16, purchased	500
Oct. 9, purchased	1,000
Oct. 31, purchased	1,500
Dec. 31, 1940, Holdings		6,500

Adolph Zukor, New York, director:

Common stock:

	Shares	Shares
Apr. 18, purchased		200
6 per cent second preferred stock:
Apr. 18, purchased		200

Austin C. Keough, New York, officer and director:

Common stock:

	Shares	Shares
Jan. 1, 1940, Holding		59
Apr. 8, purchased	300
Apr. 9, purchased	200
Dec. 31, 1940, Holdings		559
6 per cent preferred stock:
Jan. 1, 1940, holdings		223
Apr. 19, purchased	100
Apr. 22, purchased	100
Dec. 31, 1940, holdings		423

Duncan G. Harris, New York, director:

Common stock:

	Shares	Shares
Jan. 1, 1940, Holdings		200
May 2, Purchased	800
Dec. 31, 1940, Holdings		1,000
6 per cent second preferred stock:
Jan. 1, 1940, Holdings		200

Anson C. Goodyear, New York, director:

Common stock:

	Shares	Shares
Oct. 31, 1940, Holdings		1,000
Nov. 30, Purchased	1,000
Dec. 31, 1940, Holdings		2,000
First preferred stock:
Oct. 31, 1940, Holdings		300
Through trust, Holdings Oct. 31, 1940		300

▽

PATHE FILM CORP.

There are 577,051.87 shares of the common stock at $1 par value outstanding of the authorized 2,000,-

(Continued on page 45)

They'll laugh like the Devil at...

THE HAPPIEST EASTER WEEK ATTRACTION ON RECORD!
Romantic fireworks when Miss Jones—part-time angel and full-time scream—starts raising Cain . . . Jean in the gayest of all her hits. Directed by Sam Wood, director of "Kitty Foyle."
FRANK ROSS and NORMAN KRASNA present
jean arthur
The Devil AND Miss Jones
ROBERT CUMMINGS • CHARLES COBURN
EDMUND GWENN • SPRING BYINGTON
S. Z. SAKALL • WILLIAM DEMAREST
Produced by FRANK ROSS
Written by NORMAN KRASNA
Directed by SAM WOOD

SMALL YEARLY MOVEMENT SHOWN

(Continued from page 42)

000. Of the authorized 30,000 of the preferred stock at no par value, 7,469 are outstanding.

Closing market price as of Friday, March 7th, on the common stock, $8.38.

THOMAS P. LOACH, New York, officer:
Common stock:

	Shares	Shares
Jan. 1, 1940, Holdings		13
Jan. 17, purchased	3
Dec. 31, 1940, Holdings		16

KENNETH M. YOUNG, New York, officer and director:
Common stock:

	Shares	Shares
Holdings, Jan. 1, 1940		0
Feb. 6, purchased	500
June 3 sold	100
Holdings, Dec. 31, 1940		400

ROBERT M. MCKINNEY, Jersey City, N. J., director:
Common stock:

	Shares	Shares
Holdings, Jan. 1, 1940		0
Mar. 26, purchased	11
Holdings, Dec. 31, 1940		14

▽

RADIO-KEITH-ORPHEUM

128,170 shares of the common stock at $1 par value are outstanding, while 128,170 shares of the six per cent preferred are outstanding.

On Friday, March 7th, the market closing price of the preferred stock was $40. The bid price up to the same date of the common stock $3.12.

ATLAS CORPORATION, Jersey City, N. J., beneficial owner:
Common stock:

		Shares	Shares
Holdings, Jan. 1, 1940			535,389
June 20, purchased		10,600
21		8,600
22		100
24		200
25		1,500
26		200
27		6,800
28		500
29		300
July 1		500
2		1,200
3		200
5		500
6		200
8		600
9		1,800
10		900
11		300
12		400
13		200
15		600
16		2,589
17		200
18		8,912
19		300
20		200
22		100
23		400
24		300
25		1,400
26		3,500
27		900
29		300
30		300
31		100
Aug. 1		300
2		200
3		200
5		1,600
23	Received as creditor	928
Dec. 7	purchased	4,300
9		1,300
10		1,700
11		3,200
12		3,900
13		1,800
14		2,400
16		12,100
17		2,600
18		15,278
19		3,000
20		5,000
21		8,100
23		14,100
24		2,000
26		12,900
27		8,400
28		2,900
30		19,900
31		13,700
Holdings, Dec. 31, 1940			732,896
Common stock held through American Company, Jan. 1, 1940			268,230
Warrants for common stock:
Holdings, Jan. 1, 1940			327,812
6 per cent preferred stock:
Holdings, Jan. 1, 1940			29,581
June 21, purchased		100
25		100
26		100
July 2		100
12		300
19		100
20		100
26		100
27		100
Aug. 13		500
14		100
16		300
19		100
23		200
27		200
Sept. 12		100
13		100
27		300
Dec. 9		100
11		200
14		100
18		700
19		200
20		100
23		300
26		200
28		700
Holdings, Dec. 31, 1940			35,481

RADIO CORPORATION OF AMERICA, New York, beneficial owner:
Common stock:

	Shares	Shares
Holdings, Jan. 1, 1940		316,368
Aug. 5, received as creditor	928
Oct. 8, sold	628
9, sold	300
Holdings, Dec. 31, 1940		316,328
Warrants for common stock:
Holdings, Jan. 1, 1940		555,254
6 per cent preferred stock:
Holdings, Jan. 1, 1940		44,757

L. LAWRENCE GREEN, New York, director:
Common stock:

	Shares	Shares
Holdings, Jan. 1, 1940		5,250
June 24, sold	1,000
Dec. 5, sold	2,000
Holdings, Dec. 31, 1940		2,250

FREDERICK L. EHRMAN, New York, director:
Common stock:

	Shares	Shares
Holdings, Nov. 30, 1940		800
Dec. 5, sold	600
Holdings, Dec. 31		200
6 per cent preferred stock:
Holdings, Nov. 30, 1940		75
Dec. 5, sold	75
Holdings, Dec. 31, 1940		0

▽

TRANS LUX CORP.

There are 758,860 shares of the common stock at $1 par value outstanding of the authorized 1,000,000.

LESLIE E. THOMPSON, New York, director:
Common stock:

	Shares	Shares
Holdings, Jan. 1, 1940		4,000
Jan. 11, received as compensation	500
Holdings, Dec. 31, 1940		4,500

ROBERT L. DAINE, New York, officer and director:
Common stock:

	Shares	Shares
Holdings, Jan. 1, 1940		3,000
May 3, sold	100
May 6, sold	100
July 24, sold	100
Holdings, Dec. 31, 1940		2,700

ROBERT L. GORDON, New York, director:
Common stock:

	Shares	Shares
Holdings, Nov. 30, 1940		500
Dec. 28, sold	500
Holdings, Dec. 31, 1940		0

WALTER SIEMERS, Jamaica, N. Y., director:
Common stock:

	Shares	Shares
Holdings, Jan. 1, 1940		200
Feb. 3, purchased	800
Dec. 31, purchased	200
Holdings, Dec. 31, 1940		1,200

▽

TWENTIETH CENTURY-FOX

1,741,995 shares of the common stock at no par value are outstanding of the authorized 3,100,000 shares. Of the 1,500,000 authorized preferred shares 917,420 are outstanding.

The closing market price of the common stock on Friday, March 7th, was $6.13. The preferred stock closed on the same day at $18.

JOSEPH M. SCHENCK, Beverly Hills, Cal., director:
Common stock:

	Shares	Shares
Holdings, Jan. 1, 1940		110,043
$1.50 preferred stock:
Holdings, Jan. 1, 1940		15,284
April 17, sold	100
April 18, sold	400
July 10, sold	5,000
July 11, sold	1,000
Holdings, Dec. 31, 1940		8,784

SIDNEY R. KENT, New York, officer and director:
Common stock:

	Shares	Shares
Holdings, Jan. 1, 1940		3,455
Jan. 10, sold	300
June 12, purchased	25
Sept. 5, sold	1,000
Oct. 22, sold	200
Oct. 23, sold	100
Oct. 29, sold	700
Nov. 26, purchased	500
Nov. 27, purchased	500
Dec. 30, purchased	1,000
Holdings, Dec. 31, 1940		3,180

DARRYL F. ZANUCK, Beverly Hills, Cal., officer:
Common stock:

	Shares	Shares
Holdings, Jan. 1, 1940		93,130
May 22, sold	1,000

(Continued on following page)

OFFICER STOCK DEALINGS DROP

(Continued from preceding page)

Holdings, Dec. 31, 1940..... 92,130

$1.50 preferred stock:
Holdings, Jan. 1, 1940..... 21,946

SETON PORTER, New York, director:
Common stock:

	Shares	Shares
Holdings, Jan. 1, 1940.....		876
Sept. 4, sold.....	300
Sept. 5, sold.....	400
Holdings, Dec. 31, 1940.....		176

▽

UNIVERSAL CORPORATION

Of the common stock at $1 par value 525,681 shares are outstanding of the authorized 2,000,000 shares. On the preferred with no par value none of the stock is outstanding of the authorized 100,000 shares.

On Friday, March 7th, the closing price of the common stock was $6.75.

J CHEEVER COWDIN, New York, director and voting trustee:

	Shares	Shares
Com. voting trust certificates:
Holdings, Jan. 1, 1940.....		1,000
Mar. 8, purchased.....	3,500
Aug. 13, purchased.....	350
Holdings, Dec. 31, 1940.....		4,850

NATHAN J. BLUMBERG, New York, officer and director:
Com. voting trust certificates:

	Shares	Shares
Holdings, Jan. 1, 1940.....		4,000
Mar. 8, purchased.....	10,500
Mar. 30, sold.....	1,000
May 6, sold.....	500
Holdings, Dec. 31, 1940.....		13,000

Com. voting tr. cert. warrants:

	Shares	Shares
Holdings, Jan. 1, 1940.....		0
Jan. 1, received under employment agreement.....	10,000
Holdings, Dec. 31, 1940.....		10,000

CHARLES D. PRUTZMAN, New York, officer and director:
Com. voting trust certificates:

	Shares	Shares
Holdings, Jan. 1, 1940.....		900
Mar. 8, purchased.....	3,500
Aug. 14, purchased.....	330
Holdings, Dec. 31, 1940.....		4,730

Com. voting tr. cert. warrants:

	Shares	Shares
Holdings, Jan. 1, 1940.....		0
Mar. 13, received from corporation without charge.....	3,000
Holdings, Dec. 31, 1940.....		3,000

PRESTON DAVIE, New York, director:
Com. voting trust certificates:

	Shares	Shares
Holdings, Jan. 1, 1940.....		0
Mar. 14, purchased.....	100
15	400
19	200
20	300
23	500
27	200
Apr. 10	100
23	100
29	100
May 15	200
Oct. 31	200
Nov. 4	100
13	100
Dec. 9	100
11	100
12	100
14	100
Holdings, Dec. 31, 1940.....		3,000

WILLIAM FREIDAY, New York, director:
Com. voting trust certificates:

	Shares	Shares
Holdings, Jan. 1, 1940.....		2,900
Jan. 24, sold.....	600
25	600
26	1,000
27	300
29	300
Holdings, Dec. 31, 1940.....		100

PEYTON GIBSON, New York, officer:
Com. voting trust certificates:

	Shares	Shares
Holdings, Jan. 1, 1940.....		800
Mar. 30, purchased.....	500
Dec. 30, purchased.....	100
Holdings, Dec. 31, 1940.....		1,400

DANIEL M. SHEAFFER, Phladelphia, director:
Com. voting trust certificates:

	Shares	Shares
Holdings, Jan. 1, 1940.....		18,500
Mar. 4, purchased.....	2,000
Holdings, Dec. 31, 1940.....		20,500

PAUL G. BROWN, Boca Raton, Fla., director:
Com. voting trust certificates:

	Shares	Shares
Holdings, Jan. 1, 1940.....		12,600
May 16, purchased.....	500
17	100
18	400
Holdings, Dec. 31, 1940.....		13,600

▽

UNIVERSAL PICTURES COMPANY

Of the common stock at $1 par value no shares are outstanding of the authorized 250,000 shares. On the first preferred at $100 par, 10,700 are outstanding. The second preferred at seven per cent has 20,000 shares outstanding of the authorized 40,000.

On Friday, March 7th, the common stock closed at $19. On Saturday, March 8th, the first preferred closed at $154.

SAMUEL I. POSEN, New York, director:
Common stock:

	Shares
June 18, purchased.....	100

8 per cent first preferred stock:

Holdings, June 30, 1940.....	50

PRESTON DAVIE, New York, director:
8 per cent preferred stock:

	Shares	Shares
Holdings, Jan. 1, 1940.....		120
Feb. 7, sold.....	30
14	20
Mar.15	20
26	10
27	40
Nov. 29, purchased.....	20
30	10
Holdings, Dec. 31, 1940.....		30

Common stock:

Holdings, Jan. 1, 1940.....		0
Mar. 26, purchased.....	100
Holdings, Dec. 31, 1940.....		100

PAUL G. BROWN, Philadelphia, Pa., director:
Common stock:

	Shares	Shares
May 16, purchased.....	500
17	100
18	400
Holdings, Dec. 31, 1940.....		1,000

▽

WARNER BROTHERS

On the common stock of which 7,500,000 shares have been authorized at $5 par value, 3,801,344.55 are outstanding, with 100,254.55 held in the treasury. Of the preferred stock at no par value 103,107 shares are authorized with all outstanding and 3,490 shares in the treasury.

The common stock on Friday, March 7th closed in the market at $3. The preferred closed at $55.25.

SAMUEL CARLISLE, New York, officer and director:
Common stock:

	Shares	Shares
Holdings, Jan. 1, 1940.....		700
Apr. 11, purchased.....	300
Holdings, Dec. 1, 1940.....		1,000

Joelson Leases 25 Houses in Consolidated N. Y. Circuit

The 18 theatres owned by Consolidated Amusement Enterprises in New York were taken over last Saturday by Julius Joelson, former New York and New England exhibitor, on a 25-year lease. Neither Mr. Joelson nor Louis Nizer, attorney, who represented him in the negotiations, would disclose the purchase price.

Laurence S. Bolognino, who has operated the theatres for the past 20 years, will operate a new theatre under construction at 19th Street and Eighth Avenue in New York City and will continue to book pictures for the Chelsea, Square and Morningside theatres in the city, which were not included in the deal.

Mr. Joelson has renamed the circuit the J.J. Theatres. They are Bryant, Times, Arena and the Tivoli in Manhattan, and the Earl, Kent, Luxor, Surrey, Mount, Eden, Oxford, Jerome, Ascot, Kingsbridge, Fleetwood, Ogden, Forum, Casino and Avalon in the Bronx. Headquarters will be maintained in the Bryant theatre. Paul Josephs, a New Jersey exhibitor, has been appointed manager of the circuit under Mr. Joelson, and Harold Klein, former head booker and buyer for the Cocalis Circuit, has been given the same post with J.J. Theatres. He succeeds Al Suchman, who is reported to be joining National Screen Service.

All film contracts of the Consolidated houses are being assumed by the new company. Mr. Joelson said there will be no radical changes in policy but that he believes a "new day for exhibitors has arrived with the consent decree, and that there is room for new methods of operation to fit the times."

Rowland, Morros Set Production Schedules

Richard Rowland's next release for United Artists will be "Chins Up," the producer announced in Chicago this week en route to New York to confer with Maurice Silverstone. The picture will have a British background and will concern the current European situation.

Boris Morros, Paramount producer, also en route to New York, said he expects to return to Hollywood in mid-May to start on a new musical film for the company, "Tales of Manhattan." While in Chicago Mr. Morros visited John Balaban, head of Balaban & Katz, and Maurice Leonard.

BRITISH OWNERS THREATEN CLOSINGS TO FORCE SUNDAY TAX MODIFICATION

Exhibitors Attack Levy Which Gives Other Entertainment "Unfair Advantage"; Heavy Weekend Business Threatened

by AUBREY FLANAGAN
in London

With the wartime concession of special permission for theatres and vaudeville houses to open on Sunday, British picture house exhibitors have come swiftly to realize that what is for their entertainment brothers a benison is for them a direct and indirect, "kick in the pants."

The extension of the principle of Sunday opening to a wider section is accepted with a good grace, is, in fact, admitted as a reinforcement of an essential commercial principle. The fact that picture houses alone are to continue to bear an exclusive charity tax colors the situation in less pleasant hues.

British exhibitors then, are, in the immediate future, to press, through legislative channels, for some adjustment of the regulations as they affect them, particularly in regard to the tax. No effort will be made to plead against the Sunday opening of legitimate theatres, music halls, etcetera. An amendment of the Act is unlikely, Home Secretary Herbert Morrison having stated categorically that he would not amend existing legislation; would not do anything to repeal the clauses of the Sunday Entertainments Act, which insist on cinemas giving a percentage to charity.

Twofold Effort

Exhibitor efforts, as a result, will be twofold. The national body will press the Home Secretary, or his minions, to use influence to persuade licensing authorities to interpret the charity clause in a beneficent spirit, meaning "to tip them off" to cut down the percentages. The London group, representing the most "blitzed" area of the country, will directly ask their licensing authority to reduce the London charity tax for Sunday opening from 12½ per cent to 5 per cent.

Back of all these movements is the established fact that Sunday is, thanks to the changing conditions of trade, and the changing habits of the picture going public, with Saturday, the "bread and butter" period of the week. For a vast body of exhibitors, particularly in bombed and war affected areas, the weekend has come to mean the difference between survival and extinction.

The circuit houses, of course, with the wide geographical range of their activities, are enabled to balance their budget by making up on the swings what they may be losing on the roundabouts.

The independent exhibitors, whose houses may be situated in Southampton, Portsmouth, Coventry, Birmingham, Liverpool and London, have a vastly different situation. If they do not survive on Sunday they do not survive at all.

Trade reception of the Morrison proposal to create machinery for extending the range of Sunday entertainments was not cordial. There was general animosity that virtually nothing had been done to assist the picture houses, that something more than kind words had been offered to the competitive entertainments of the theatre, music halls, and the whole field of showmanship outside boxing, wrestling and communal dancing. It is still being realized generally that the concession is indeed a good one; that it is likely to result in such a stimulus to the show business that it may well mean a boom in entertainment; that Sunday, previously taboo as a day of recreation, is likely to become the key day of the whole week.

Resentment was, and is still, strong that picture houses should remain burdened with the charity tax, which is forced upon them by the Sunday Entertainments Act of 1932. The tax varies according to local decision, but is in general onerous and, in the opinion of exhibitors, iniquitous.

Exhibitors would be content with a lead from the Home Office to the licensing bodies suggesting an interpretation of the Act's charity clauses. It is not likely that the Home Office would instruct licensing bodies on how to interpret legislation. They might, however, benevolently if informally, suggest a less stringent application of the law.

The alternative would seem to be the multiple process of district applications for new licensing conditions. The London exhibitors' group has already taken the lead in this respect.

Exhibitors, of course, whether in London or elsewhere, have within their hands a drastic reply to any indifference or antipathy on the part of the authorities. They can easily close their cinemas and refuse to open whether competent military authority, or industrial authority, prescribed in the new order, declares it advisable that the Forces, or the industrial workers, should have Sunday entertainment. Many cinemas have from public spirit remained open during the war at a loss. They take ill a recent Home Office gesture which puts their competitors in a privileged position. They do not want the imposition of the charity tax on theatres and music halls, realizing that Sunday opening is either right or wrong, irrespective of whether it is taxed or not.

What will be the net effect in the near future, with an extra hour added to Summer time, which means an extra hour of daylight, and dusk not occurring until 11.30 on the Summer evenings, it is difficult to foretell. Exhibitors have not decided whether people will prefer during weekdays to go to the parks and the tennis courts, or to the swimming pools. They realize there is all the difference between an evening in the blitzed areas in East and Northeast London, and the comparatively blitz-free regions of West and Southwest London. Unable to differentiate regionally, they will seek a definite geographical ruling throughout the London and Home Counties' area and will ask that Sunday, the key of the whole week, be brought into line with Monday to Saturday.

British Government Asks Realignment Of Industry, May Change Restrictions

Changes in the present restrictions on monetary withdrawals by American companies were seen as one possible result to come from a request this week by the British Board of Trade, official Government agency, to the Cinematograph Exhibitors Association and the Kinematograph Renters Society to consider overhauling jointly the whole physical process of the distribution and exhibition of British films. The effect of such revision of trade processes was not evidently evident but it was thought by observers that the Government aim was to increase the availability of product to English independent houses, possibly by offering increased inducement to American companies to produce in England or to provide product.

The KRS met twice this week to study the project and was confident, it was said, that a satisfactory formula could be evolved.

The Government request came as a consequence of the CEA plea for a reduction of exhibitors' quota percentages. It is understood to be the Board of Trade belief that greater playing time would be possible for quota pictures in independent theatres if restrictions were limited and single features and weekly program changes brought about.

The whole plan is seen in trade circles as in line with the Government intention of taking a closer interest in industry affairs, with the Ministry of Information playing a dominant part.

Eire Censorship Strict

Twenty-six films were rejected out of hand last year by the Eire Film Censor. The figure represents 2.1 per cent of the total. Of these 22 were rejected under the Emergency Powers Act as prejudicial to the interests of the State. Cuts were made in 64 feature films and in 73 shorts on similar grounds.

The figures betoken an intense censor interest in war subjects and propaganda. Films like "The Great Dictator" and "The Lion Has Wings" are still banned in Eire.

The Government attitude was voiced recently by Frank Aiken, Minister for the Co-ordination of the Defence measures. In the Senate he said:

"It has been agreed that newsreels showing war pictures will be stopped for the duration of the war. The reason is that we do not want any trouble in picture houses. If a newsreel is shown in which one belligerent or the other is prominent, somebody may start to 'boo' and somebody may start to cheer, and we do not want that sort of competition to start.

"We allow war pictures to appear in the newspapers simply because they are in cold print and if a man gets a newspaper in the morning he will not start either cheering or booing the paper."

Senator Frank MacDermot had asked why the commentator's remarks in the newsreel showing bomb damage in the South Circular Road, Dublin, had been prohibited.

'JUKE-BOXES' JAMMED IN BOTTLENECK OF INSUFFICIENT PRODUCT BACKLOG

Projector Companies Waiting for Films, While Producers Await Outlets; Cost, Lack of Subject Choice, Obstacles

With all the problems of a burgeoning industry confronting them, coin-operated automatic projectors, announced more than a year ago with great fanfare, have encountered the bottleneck of an insufficient product backlog to keep the machines running long enough to test public reaction as to entertainment wants in the new field.

Automatic projector manufacturers are waiting for films to supply their machines before distributing them widely and possible producers are in turn waiting for sufficient machines to be distributed in order to make production profitable. That, plus the fact that projectors now placed do not enable the patrons of the locations in which they are to choose individual subjects thus giving at least a hint as to what will meet public favor, are the great problems confronting the new "industry."

Some Machines In Use

However, several companies are proceeding with plans, notably Soundies Distributing Corp., combination of Mills Novelty Co. and James Roosevelt's Globe Productions, Inc.; Phonofilms, Inc., of Hollywood, which is acquiring from libraries and elsewhere various types of shorts; and various other film production companies such as Neil McGuire Productions, Inc., Sam Coslow's outfit, and the like in Hollywood; Cinemasters, Inc., in New York, and others.

According to Mills Novelty Co.'s Maurice Mummert, sales manager for the western division of the United States, there are about 300 Mills machines placed about the country. John Rough of Phonofilms, Inc., says his company has 50 machines scattered throughout the United States in an experimental way. Vis-o-graph Corp. of America at the start headed by Rudy Vallee, has approximately 100 placed through franchise holders. Other companies have been formed and are seeking to place their machines.

Not originally reckoned with in the plans of the individual companies making machines was their gigantic maw for films, it appears. Every machine thus far put on the market has a capacity of showing, on a continuous reel, eight subjects, each of which lasts three minutes more or less. The subjects are diversified but generally they are first appealing to the ear, and only secondarily to the eye.

There is no set formula developed for the presentations. Songs old and new are used, but for the most part, it is generally conceded by the producers of the short subjects, the first appeal should be to the ear, with the visual approach a little more than incidental.

Despite all sorts of glowing prospectuses from the various companies having projectors to sell, there is much uncertainty in the field of "operators," the men who buy the boxes, pay rent for the films, and set them up in "locations," be they cocktail lounges, saloons, cafes, or hotels and the like. The uncertainties, according to William H. Price, Jr., general sales manager for Rock-ola, nation-wide distributor of automatic phonographs, who recently made a national survey of the field, include:

Whether the motion pictures on a box screen are a "fad";

The high cost of the film projector, as compared to a record playing coin-operated phonograph;

The high operating cost of a film projector, with the rental of eight subjects running up to as high as $25 a week for the first week;

The lack of supply of the films to keep the machines running;

The fact that there are no past performances to gauge public acceptance of the new entertainment medium; and

The fact that the show is over after eight subjects are run, while the record playing machines have from 24 records for the common machines to about 2,500 for "wired music," with a central station operating to play almost any number that is requested.

350,000 Locations

Mr. Price, in Los Angeles last week after a nation-wide tour of addressing approximately 2,000 "operators," the men who place coin operated machines in locations, said there were approximately 350,000 locations in the United States where coin operated record playing devices were operating. The average "take" of the machines is $10 weekly, he said. The cost of the records is the market price, available to anyone. Phonofilms' Mr. Rough says the average take of his machines is $40 a week, at 10 cents per subject. Globe's Mr. Mummert says his machines are getting an average of $50 a week, with the "high" in some spots of $110 weekly.

All the projectors are of a console type with the screens in front of the boxes at virtually eye level. Phonofilms, however, has one type of projector which uses a screen approximately five feet by six feet for locations demanding that type of showing. Old and new songs are used in the numbers and various types of visual effects are employed, from montage sequences to straight musical numbers similar to those of theatrical entertainment films.

Mills Novelty Co., or Soundies Distributing Corp., has two reels of eight subjects each in release. They are:

Release No. 2:

(Federick Feher Productions of Hollywood and Cinemasters, Inc., of New York contributing):

"Shoeshiners and Headliners" (Feher)—musical number featuring Florence Pepper leading a group of dancers and singing a solo. Part of it is devoted to four colored youths rhythmically shining shoes.

"Overnight" (Cinemasters), with Sonny Skyler singing and Vincent Lopez and his orchestra. No appeal to the eye.

"Jazz Etude" (Feher), with Billy Burt, tap dancer. A large symphonic orchestra furnishes a medley of jazz tunes done in symphonic style. The dancing does not require much attention.

"Ana Lani" (Cinemasters), with Ray Kinney and his orchestra and the four Aloha Maids in a Hawaiian dance. The dance seems authentic, and is not the jazzed up American version of the Hawaiian dance.

"Rhumba Serenade" (Fehrer), with 70 piece combined rhumba-regular orchestra and Nico and Charrise as a dance team. The music is good, the dancing is not compelling.

"Boardwalk Boogie" (Cinemasters), Ray McKinley singing and Will Bradley and his orchestra playing. It has no visual interest.

"Blue Danube" (Feher), with Mills Philharmonic orchestra of 102 pieces and singers. The number will go virtually anywhere, being of top notch classical music quality and, according to Mills executives, their most popular to date. This has been given the top production value.

"Jitterbug Senorita" (Cinemasters), with Vincent Lopez and his orchestra, and Anne Barrett singing. This is not too well done.

Mills Release No. 3

"Grand Pianos and Gals," with Mills Piano Quartet. This subject shows a parade of chorines on a stage set with piano players at various levels. The dance team of David Raksin and Dorothy Janice perform, but the entire subject does not compel visual attention.

"Don't Cry," with Vincent Lopez and his orchestra. The sound is poor.

"Romance," opera singers Tandy McKenzie and Alice Avakim in operatic costume singing, and Frederick Feher conducting a symphonic orchestra. While ear appeal is definitely there, eye appeal is not, due to the stiff poses of the singers trained in opera.

"Barnyard Bounce," with Ray McKinley singing and Will Bradley and his orchestra playing. The number has little appeal.

"Congo La Maize," with David Raksin and Dorothy Janice dancing a rhumba to Feher's conducting of an orchestra. The music is acceptable.

"Kona Moon," with Ray Kinney and his orchestra and the Aloha Maids. The "Aloha Maids" dance what appears to be an authentic Hawaiian dance, not the "jazzed up" American type, but without great effect.

"Jeanie with the Light Brown Hair," Cliff Edwards singing against a background of a philharmonic orchestra of about 100 pieces. Edwards, who is considerably noted as a comedy singer, strikes an incongruous note by appearing in tails and singing "Jeanie with the Light Brown Hair." There is no visual compulsion, and the song, because of its being overplayed on the radio due to the BMI-ASCAP fight, is likely to evoke snickers.

"Turn Out the Lights," with Anne Barrett singing and Vincent Lopez and his orchestra playing. This does not hold attention in any category.

Papalini Films, formed recently in Hollywood, has two offerings for the slot machine movie projectors. They are:

"Music Box," an original subject in which a doll appears to turn into a dancer and does a ballet. The makeup of the dancer resembles the mechanical features of the doll, and, while sight compelling as a novelty, the short has technical faults in editing that make it very jerky.

"Yoo Hoo," presenting Al Jackson, novice cowboy singer of good voice and guitar playing. He sings to a girl at a ranch house, and in the slowly moving song skit which ends in

(Continued on page 50)

DARTMOUTH FILM WORKSHOP PLANNED

A motion picture workshop has been established for students at Dartmouth College in Hanover, N. H., as a non-credit part of the educational program in the extra-curricular field. The workshop has been inaugurated by Dartmouth College Films.

Students of the workshop will take motion pictures for the college and will re-edit some of the films produced in past years by Dartmouth College Films. Instructions in the fundamentals of motion picture photography and training in advanced techniques will be available.

FLASH! FLASH! FLASH!

"ADAM HAD FOUR SONS"

ELD OVER SECOND WEEK LAFAYETTE, BUFFALO;

BIJOU, SPRINGFIELD, MASS; E. M. LOEW'S, HARTFORD;

RIALTO, ATLANTA! TOP GROSSES AT FOX,

DETROIT; PALACE, CANTON; MALCO, MEMPHIS;

PALACE, YOUNGSTOWN; ORPHEUM, NEW ORLEANS;

EARLE & AMBASSADOR, WASHINGTON; LINCOLN,

MIAMI BEACH; HILL ST.

& PANTAGES, LOS ANGELES!

INGRID BERGMAN · WARNER BAXTER

Adam Had Four Sons

SUSAN HAYWARD · FAY WRAY · HELEN WESTLEY · RICHARD DENNING · JOHNNY DOWNS · ROBERT SHAW

Based upon "LEGACY", the best-selling novel by Charles Bonner

Screen play by William Hurlbut, Michael Blankfort

A ROBERT SHERWOOD PRODUCTION · Directed by GREGORY RATOFF

COLUMBIA

'Juke-Box' Films Await Outlets

(Continued from page 48)

a clinch, does well auricularly, but there is nothing of interest for the eyes.

Phonofilms, with a background of approximately 100 subjects, has various films scattered about the country, culled from libraries, Neil McGuire's studio and other sources.

Some of them are:

"The Temperance Lecturer," with Charles Murray. Apparently made some years ago, this subject which is all dialogue deals with Murray's heckling of a temperance lecturer. The sound is very bad.

"Hawaiian Songs," montage effect which gives various scenes of Island dancers and songs.

"Andazula," rhumba dance team of not too compulsory visual quality.

Princess Luana in an undulating dance which is in bounds.

"Say Si Si," Techniprocess production of very compelling auricular attention. It features a boy and girl song team singing the popular song and is pictorially attractive.

"Vanta Negro" consists of Conga rhythm montage, musically and pictorially well done.

"Love Song of Renaldo," novelty piece by Techniprocess which has in its short running time scenes of dancing and seaside. The subject is one of the best as far as singing is concerned.

"Dark Eyes," "jitterbug" version of the famed Russian song. It is sung and played by a Negress pianist whose antics command attention.

Navy Background

"Time on My Hands," song by the same artist. Her antics here likewise attract attention for their novelty.

"Sailors and Sirens." This is a subject made up of travelogue shots of Hawaii and Hawaiian girls dancing before sailors of the U. S. Battle Fleet, some of the shots apparently having been made on shipboard. The music, a Hawaiian song, is not synchronized with the action, nor does it pretend to be.

Techniprocess, now producing exclusively for Vis-o-Graph Corp. from whose presidency Rudy Vallee recently resigned, is headed by Mario Castegnaro who has a complete studio for his work.

There are two songs featuring Vallee in the Vis-o-Graph lineup. They are:

"Lydia." The popular song is given a production background, with Vallee singing in front of a circus tent as a barker. The novelty offering shows off Vallee in good voice, and various entertainers walk in and out of camera range. The Vallee singing is good, but there is no attraction for the eyes.

"Take Me Back to My Boots and Saddles." Vallee sings the popular song against a background resembling Central Park in New York.

Other Vis-o-Graph numbers include:

"I'd like to See Samoa of Samoa," featuring the two Shadrack Boys, Vallee discoveries featured at his nightclub, the Pirate's Den in Hollywood. (Incidentally in this and the one following, the Pirate's Den gets pictorial billing.) The two colored performers go through their club act as given almost nightly at the club, one of them doing comedy gyrations on the floor, the other playing the piano.

Another Shadrack number is more interesting, visually, because of the antics of one of the partners.

Reinhardt Elected E.C.U. Head

Harry Reinhardt, of the Twentieth Century-Fox home office domestic distribution department, has been elected president of the Employes Credit Union for the forthcoming year succeeding Edwin S. Fraser.

SHORT PRODUCT PLAYING BROADWAY

Week of March 15

CAPITOL

Old New Orleans	MGM
The Happiest Man on Earth	MGM
Information, Please, No. 3	RKO Radio
Feature: Andy Hardy's Private Secretary	MGM

CRITERION

Men of the Lightship	20th Cent.-Fox
Feature: The Round-Up	Paramount

MUSIC HALL

Goofy's Glider	RKO Radio
Eyes on Brazil	RKO Radio
Feature: Cheers for Miss Bishop	United Artists

PARAMOUNT

My Pop, My Pop	Paramount
Power for Defense	U. S. Government
Feature: The Lady Eve	Paramount

RIALTO

The Trouble with Husbands	Paramount
Doing Impossible Stunts	Paramount
Feature: Man-Made Monster	Universal

RIVOLI

The Tortoise Beats the Hare	Vitaphone
Feature: Meet John Doe	Warner Bros.

ROXY

Fishing Made Easy	20th Cent.-Fox
Playing with Neptune	20th Cent.-Fox
Feature: That Night in Rio	20th Cent.-Fox

STRAND

The Fighting 69½	Vitaphone
Meet the Fleet	Vitaphone
American Saddle Horses	Vitaphone
Feature: Footsteps in the Dark	Warner Bros.

SMPE Convention Program in Work

Film engineers, on May 7th, are to take the latest stereophonic sound mechanics from the laboratories, for private demonstration before the Society of Motion Picture Engineers, on the occasion of the SMPE's 1941 spring convention, at the Sagamore Hotel, Rochester, N. Y.

The convention will open Monday morning, May 5th, with technical sessions commencing immediately after registration, and continuing that afternoon and evening, and on Tuesday and Thursday mornings and on Thursday afternoon.

Apparently significant of the importance attached to stereophonic sound developments to come, the Society, on Wednesday will devote the entire afternoon's session to a discussion of the subject, preceding the demonstration that evening. The semi-annual banquet will be held Tuesday evening.

William C. Kunzman, vice president, is in charge of the convention, Sylvan Harris is handling the arrangement of technical papers, and Julius Haber is in charge of publicity and promotion. Other convention chairmen include G. A. Blair, reception and local arrangements; Mr. Kunzman, registration and information; F. E. Altman, hotel and transportation; I. L. Nixon, banquet and dance; Mrs. C. M. Tuttle, ladies' reception, and H. F. Heidegger, projection.

6,000 Theatres In Greek Drive

Approximately 6,000 theatres shortly will be participants in the Greek War Relief campaign, and some 800 of them will hold special benefit midnight shows during the period from next Tuesday through March 30th, according to John H. Harris, chairman of the exhibitors' committee of the motion picture section of the relief campaign, and Gradwell Sears, chairman of the distributors' committee. Response to the Greek appeal from the film industry exceeded all expectations, it was said.

One of the first benefit shows will be staged at the Fox Theatre, Detroit, next Monday, with the cooperation of city officials. Top price will be $5. Four hundred theatres pledged cooperation last week in Philadelphia, at a meeting at which Jay Emanuel, Ted Schlanger, and Bill Mansel presided. More than 100 theatres of the Atlanta area will hold the benefit shows, it is anticipated.

Short Distributed

The special March of Time short subject, "Greece Fights Back" is now being distributed by Paramount, for the film industry, after a special showing at a cocktail reception Thursday, March 14th, in New York, to industry executives and the press. All rentals will be contributed by the distributor to the Greek War Relief Association. Eastman Kodak contributed the film stock. There are 740 prints.

Fifty-five theatres in and near the District of Columbia have joined the relief drive. Their effort will culminate in a special "National Capitol Festival of Freedom" midnight, March 29th, at the Loew's Capitol, with the combined stage shows of that theatre and the Earle, and tickets at $1.

Salt Lake City will have its special midnight show at the Utah, March 28th. Cooperating houses in the Kansas City area total about 300, most of whom will use the special Melvyn Douglas trailer, an appeal by a local speaker, and a collection.

The Grand Theatre, Chicago, will hold its special benefit April 2nd, according to John Balaban, committee chairman. Tickets will be $3.50 to $10, and Hollywood stars will appear. In the same area, the Alliance circuit is scheduled to hold a series of benefits.

The Albany area benefit will be at the Fabian Palace Saturday. There will be an all-star show. Most theatre managers are asking patrons to attend. Committee chairman is M. A. Silver, Warner circuit zone manager.

About 1,600 persons attended the midnight benefit show Saturday at the Shea's Great Lakes Theatre, Saturday night.

Martin Mullins, of the Mullins and Pinanski circuit, Boston, is chairman of exhibitor activities in the Greek relief campaign in that territory.

The New Haven midnight benefit will be at the Loew-Poli Theatre, captained by Robert Russell, on March 29th, with all houses cooperating by running trailers, and collections. There will also be midnight shows the same night in the same circuit's houses at Bridgeport, Hartford, Meriden, Waterbury, and Worcester, and at the Paramount, Springfield, with all houses of other operators also cooperating.

The British Relief Fund netted $25,000 from the premiere last week of Paramount's "The Hardboiled Canary" at the Auditorium, Dallas.

"This Is England," British propaganda film being released in this country by Columbia Pictures, is to be shown simultaneously in 200 Greater New York theatres the week beginning next Thursday. Proceeds go to the British Royal Air Force's "Spitfire Fund."

As ever, "Motion Picture Herald" stands dominant in the service of the field of exhibition, where films are bought, and retailed, where equipment is bought and operated in presentation of the product to box office patrons

The ratio of circulation in this field of exhibition is:

"The Herald"* 80.2%

Paper "B" 75.5%

---

*

Every subscriber receives Motion Picture Herald complete, identical with this issue you have in hand—carrying to each and every reader the whole story of the week in this industry, and all service departments. Subscriptions are on the basic price of $5 a year, for which every subscriber gets the whole book, each week, and every fourth week Better Theatres, authoritative journal of the physical theatre.

MOTION PICTURE HERALD

LEGION CONDEMNS 10 CRITICIZES 47 IN YEAR

539 Features Reviewed in Period Ended November, 1940; "B's" Increase 3 Per Cent

The Legion of Decency condemned ten films and classified 47 as objectionable in part after reviewing 539 feature motion pictures during the year ending November 1940, according to the annual compilation of Legion reviews published in New York this week. Of the total number of films, 271 were placed in Class A I as "Unobjectionable for general patronage," and 210 were listed as Class A II, "Unobjectionable for adults" by the Legion.

Of the 47 pictures in Class B, "Objectionable in part," 45 were produced by American companies and two were foreign product. Six out of the four condemned pictures were imports.

Preface Cites Increase

A preface to the report cites the increased number of annual productions since 1937 and declares that there has been an accompanying increase in the number of indecencies in films. The preface, signed by the Reverend John J. McClafferty, executive director, and Mrs. James F. Looram, and Mrs. William F. Mullay, members of the International Federation of Catholic Alumnae, states:

"From November, 1937, to November, 1940, there has been an increase of 3 per cent in the number of B pictures; an increase of 5 per cent in the number of A-II pictures. Correlatively there has been a decline of 9 per cent in the number of A-I films.

"This increase of indecencies in films is perceived not only quantitatively in terms of the above statistics but qualitatively in terms of the growing boldness of producers in choice of film treatment and story material."

The number of Class B pictures (objectionable in part) for each company with the total reviewed from each follows:

	1940	1939	1938
Columbia	5(51)	2(54)	1(50)
Monogram	2(38)	....	....
MGM	3(48)	5(50)	2(45)
Paramount	4(47)	2(65)	3(49)
Republic	1(44)	1(45)	2(37)
RKO	6(53)	2(47)	2(44)
20th-Fox	3(54)	2(52)	....
United Artists	4(20)	3(20)	1(19)
Universal	5(54)	1(49)	4(46)
Warner Bros.	6(45)	6(54)	4(54)

Totals in each classification and the percentage in each for the three years:

	1940	1939	1938
Films Reviewed	539	573	535
Class A(I)*	271(50%)	312(54%)	332(62%)
Class A(II)*	210(39%)	200(35%)	164(31%)
Class B*	47(9%)	50(9%)	32(6%)
Class C*	10(2%)	9(1 2/3%)	5(1%)
Separately Classified	1	2	2

*Class A, Section I—Unobjectionable for General Patronage. Class A, Section II—Unobjectionable for Adults. Class B—Objectionable in Part. Class C—Condemned.

Fifty per cent of the total domestic and foreign product reviewed received Class A, Section I, or "general" rating; 39 per cent were Class A, Section II; nine per cent Class B; and two per cent, Class C, "condemned." Domestic producers made 497 of the total of 539 pictures, and 42 were produced by foreign companies in 7 languages.

One picture, "The Fight for Life," documentary film produced by the United States Film Service, was separately classified by the Legion because of special problems involved.

The ten pictures condemned by the Legion in 1940, their producers, and distributors are: "Daybreak" (French), Sigma Production, A.F.E. Corporation; "Human Beast" (French), Paris Film, Hakim-Juno Films; "Last Desire" (French), Lumen Film, Transatlantic Distributors, Inc.; "Rasputin" (French), Max Glass, Concord Films; "Reefer Madness ('Tell Your Children')", G & H Production, George Hirliman; "Sinful Daughters," Del Frazier, Bracher & Jones; "Smashing the Vice Racket," John Melville; "Souls in Pawn," Willis Kent; "Time in the Sun," Eisenstein-Marie Seton, World Pictures, and "Whirlpool" (French), Mayer Burstyn.

MGM Answers Roach Suit in $500,000 Counter Claim

Loew's, Inc., and MGM Distributing Corp. answered Hal Roach Studios, Inc.'s $1,263,993 breach of contract suit on Tuesday by filing a counter claim in the United States District Court at New York for $500,000 damages. The answer denies all substantial charges in the Roach suit filed last January and asks that four of the six Roach causes of action on three contracts made prior to 1934 be outlawed under the statute of limitations. The counter action further charges Roach with violating five distributing contracts by charging excessive production costs and cost of items prohibited by the pacts. Loew's seek an examination of the Roach books.

Nugent Stays at Fox

After completing a screen play of "The Golden Touch" Frank S. Nugent last week received a new one-year contract "at a salary increase" from Twentieth Century-Fox. When Mr. Nugent joined the film company as a script writer a year ago it was reported that he had been given a six months' leave of absence from his post as motion picture critic for the New York Times.

Cut "John Doe" Prices

Afternoon prices for "Meet John Doe" at the Rivoli and Hollywood theatres, New York, were reduced on Monday to the Rivoli's regular matinee scale. Admissions were cut from 55 to 40 cents up to 1 P.M., and from 77 to 65 cents up to 6 P.M. Evening admission remains at 99 cents.

Brock Resigns from RKO

Producer Lou Brock, having completed the film musical "They Met in Argentine," has resigned from RKO to complete plans for an outside deal. Mr. Brock produced "Flying Down to Rio," eight years ago.

Rogers Contract Extended

Republic has extended the contracts of Roy Rogers and his film partner, George "Gabby" Hayes. The two are featured in a series of eight western productions annually.

THEATRES AFFECTED BY COLD WEATHER

The cold wave which swept from west to east across the northern United States this week seriously affected theatre business. Theatres, hotels and stores in the populated centers in the storm area in the northwest remained open all night to accommodate farmers and their families marooned. In many of the theatres managers served hot coffee and doughnuts.

United Booking Faces Competition

Relations between New York stage producers and the United Booking Office, the Shubert-Erlanger combine which controls most stage road tours, are in jeopardy, again, with a number of stage producers reviving talk of an independent booking organization. Discussion this time mentions more than the usual number of names in connection with the perennial revolt against the Shubert control of road placings. It is considered possible that an effort to book shows cooperatively will be carried through next year, with the independents undertaking to reopen dark houses in some cities and in others to date theatres which are currently playing motion pictures.

Prominent in the tentative discussions are Oscar Serlin, Howard Lindsay, and Russell Crouse, who this year booked their "Life With Father" independently in Chicago, Philadelphia and Boston, and the Playwright's Company. Among others reportedly interested in the project are Guthrie McClintic, manager for Katharine Cornell, George Abbott, and Herman Shumlin. A spokesman for Gilbert Miller, mentioned prominently in connection with the plan, denied that Mr. Miller was interested in severing his United Booking connections.

Nucleus of Three Theatres

The "Life With Father" backers, dissatisfied with road terms offered by United Booking took their play to Chicago a year ago and opened it independently at the Blackstone. The play has run for over a year at the Loop theatre. Following the success of the independent Chicago operation the Serlin group took over management of the Civic Repertory theatre in Boston for the opening of a second "Life With Father" road company. Still unable to come to terms with United they reopened the Walnut theatre to bring the Boston company to Philadelphia.

With three theatres in their hands in Boston, Chicago, and Philadelphia the group opened discussions with other independent producers seeking support for the projected independent circuit. The plan calls for operation of the three houses next season with the productions of cooperating producers and such outside units as they can secure. Where it is possible to conclude contracts with independent houses in other cities, the tours will be extended. It is understood that several independent motion picture circuits are interested in trying Broadway stage successes in some of their houses. They may be signed for a trial tour throughout the east and midwest. A few independent exhibitors, and real estate men with dark houses on their hands have also approached the group, it is reported.

IN COURTS

Court Approval Sought For Fox Accounting

A notice of application was filed in the New York supreme court on Thursday, March 13th, for approval of an accounting of Fox Theatres for the year ending December 31st, 1940, by Kenneth P. Steinreich and Leopold Porrino as trustees of Fox Theatres Corp. The report reveals $87,187 available last December 31st, for distribution to certificate holders and for payment of taxes and allowances to trustees and attorneys.

The application, which will be heard by Justice Edward B. McLaughlin on March 31st, asks in addition for approval of a plan of operation for 1941 and for authorization to sell certain land located in the Bronx held by the trustees. Fees and allowances are sought for services rendered in 1940.

A sum of $80,000, the report says, is being held as a reserve for the possible distribution to William Fox on his claim, estimated at $8,000,000. Mr. Fox's claim is subject to litigation, and the trustees have interposed a cross-claim against him.

"Carson" Suit Dismissed

Magistrate William Ringel of the West Side Court in New York on Friday, March 14th, dismissed a criminal libel case against Paul Murphy, manager of Loew's Ziegfeld theatre, on the complaint of Captain John C. Fremont and Jesse Fremont, grandchildren of General John C. Fremont. The complainants had charged the defendant with exhibition the United Artists' film "Kit Carson," which they claimed libelled the character of their grandfather by allegedly depicting him as a bigamist and as stupid and stubborn. The Magistrate ruled that the film fairly depicted Mr. Fremont's character after seeing it at a special screening.

Conspiracy Suit Brought

The Baker's Wife, Inc., in New York on Monday instituted a suit against Raphael Hakim and Raymond Hakim for $100,000 for damages alleging conspiracy for unlawful and unwarranted attempts to interfere with the exhibition and distribution of the motion picture "The Baker's Wife." O'Brien, Driscoll and Raftery are handling the case for the company.

Comedian's Tax Affirmed

The Board of Tax Appeals in Washington, D. C., last Thursday, March 13th, affirmed deficiency taxes of $75,755 against Oliver Hardy, for the years 1934 to 1937, inclusive, holding a property settlement between the actor and his wife in 1933 was in force even though they had become reconciled.

Compensation Award Made

The Michigan supreme court in Detroit has ruled that six weeks' workmen's compensation should be paid to Lawrence Appleford, assistant manager of the Royal Oak theatre, who was injured by persons he had ejected from the theatre.

Winchell Suit Dismissed

Justice Edward B. McLaughlin, of the New York supreme court on Thursday, March 13th, dismissed the $1,000,000 libel suit of Joseph Curran, as president of the National Maritime Union of America against Walter Winchell, RCA, NBC, The Daily Mirror, Inc., and the Andrew Jergens Co., with leave to amend the complaint. The plaintiff charged Mr. Winchell with broadcasting over station WJZ and others of the network, that the union was subversive.

OBITUARIES

Harold Wilkes, Paramount District Manager, Dies

Funeral services for Harold F. Wilkes, former Paramount southern district manager, were held in New Orleans, La., on Friday, following his death late Thursday night, March 13th. He was 48 years old.

Mr. Wilkes joined Paramount in 1913 as a booker of the Southern Paramount Picture Company. In 1916 he became executive manager for S. A. Lynch Enterprises until 1923 when he became Paramount branch manager in New Orleans. In 1939 he was made Paramount southern district manager.

F. B. Austin

F. Britten Austin, author and playwright, died Wednesday, March 12th, in Somersetshire, England. Besides writing many novels Mr. Austin was for some time a motion picture scenario writer in Hollywood

F. Howard Schnebbe

F. Howard Schnebbe, 54, manager of the Hudson theatre, a playhouse, in New York City, died in Freehold, N. J., Wednesday, March 12th. He was co-producer of "The Cat and the Canary," which was later brought to the screen twice by Paramount.

Stuart Walker, Producer, Dies

Stuart Walker, 53, director and producer, died Thursday, March 13th, of a heart attack after two months illness at his home in Beverly Hills, Cal.

It was the desire of Mr. Walker to establish a chain of art theatres with each theatre a self-sufficient unit subsidized by a particular city and a contributor to the prosperity of all members of the chain through the interchange of plays and players.

This never materialized, but Mr. Walker made a notable contribution to the vitality of the American theatre through the establishment of the Portmanteau theatre and his repertory and summer theatres.

In 1931, after twenty-two years in the legitimate theatre, Mr. Walker went to Hollywood. He worked for Paramount from 1931 to 1934, transferred to Universal the next year and went back to Paramount in 1936, and remained with that company until his retirement last fall. Among his productions were "Tonight Is Ours," "The Eagle and the Hawk," "Great Expectations," "The Mystery of Edwin Drood," "The Werewolf of London," "Bulldog Drummond's Peril," and others.

Mrs. Hal Roach Dies

Funeral services were held Wednesday morning for Mrs. Hal Roach, wife of Hal Roach, who died Monday, March 17th, in Hollywood. Mrs. Roach was taken ill about ten days ago upon the return from a vacation in Honolulu, later developing into pneumonia.

Lowell T. Moore

Lowell T. Moore, 46, owner and operator of the Orpheum theatre in Mitchell, Ind., died at his home Sunday, March 16th. He was chairman of a local drive to care for Ohio River flood refugees in 1937.

FILMS PAY PART OF ASCAP TRUST FINES

Six Publishing Affiliates of Warners, MGM Penalized; Peace Negotiations Pressed

Three music publishing firms affiliated with Warner Brothers and three affiliated with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer were among the 19 corporate members of the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers which entered pleas of nolo contendere to the charge of violating the anti-trusts laws and were fined $750 each by Judge F. Ryan Duffy last week in the Federal court in Milwaukee.

Fines levied against the Society and its members totalled $35,250 with ASCAP itself paying $5,000 and Gene Buck, president; E. C. Mills, chairman of the administrative committee and John G. Paine, general manager, each required to pay $1,500. Twenty-three other officers and directors were assessed $500.

Charles Poletti, lieutenant governor of New York and special ASCAP counsel entered the nolo contendere plea and when Mr. Buck was called forward Judge Duffy turned to Victor O. Waters, special assistant to the attorney general, and asked whether the guilt in the case was flagrant enough to demand imposition of a jail term. Mr. Waters was reported to have replied, "There is not moral turpitude sufficient to require a prison sentence. As far as ASCAP itself is concerned the maximum sentence should be imposed."

Judge Goddard also pointed out that the defendants were found guilty and fined "for the purpose of this case only."

Nineteen Members Fined

ASCAP member corporations fined were: Shapiro, Bernstein & Co., Inc.; Irving Berlin, Inc.; Bregman, Vocco & Conn, Inc.; Chappell & Co., Inc.; T. B. Harms Company; J. Fischer & Bros.; Carl Fischer, Inc.; Mills Music, Inc.; Words and Music, Inc.; the Robbins Music Corporation; Leo Feist, Inc.; Miller Music, Inc.; G. Schirmer, Inc.; the Boston Music Company, the Willis Music Company, Harms, Inc.; M. Witmark & Sons; the Remick Music Corporation and the Harry Von Tilzer Music Publishing Company.

Harms, Witmark and Remick are affiliated with Warners and Leo Feist, Inc., Miller and Robbins, affiliated with MGM were included in the list. The Paramount music affiliates, Famous Music and Paramount Music, were not fined because the Government named and had fined only the member companies which had representatives on the ASCAP board of directors. Irving Berlin, Inc., and Mills Music also publish regularly songs from certain of the major companies' pictures.

Broadcast Music, Inc., the radio industry's organization formed as a supply of music outside ASCAP, gave indications this week that it would continue and expand its licensing and probably include theatres. In a long statement to the press last week it was pointed out "For the first time in the history of the licensing of music for performance, the music user has a choice between two agencies either of which has available and can produce ample music to meet the needs of the occasion."

The conclusion of the BMI statement was, "BMI feels that the goodwill attained through its effective efforts in this field is a genuine asset and will fortify it in the active and highly competitive situation which will prevail when ASCAP music returns to the air."

Further indication that peace would be made quickly in the radio music war was given this week when the National Association of Broadcasters selected a committee to negotiate with ASCAP over a new contract and talks were scheduled. Two weeks ago ASCAP selected its negotiating group. Mutual has informed ASCAP that it intends to negotiate or have its members negotiate directly and not through the NAB. The NAB board met Monday and Tuesday in New York.

The broadcasters' committee is headed by Neville Miller, president of the N.A.B. and BMI. Others named were: Edwin W. Craig, WSM, Nashville; Walter J. Damm, WTMJ, Milwaukee; John Elmer, WCBN, Baltimore; Mark Ethridge, WHAS, Louisville; John Gillin, Jr., WOW, Omaha; Harold Hough, WBAP, Fort Worth; Herbert Hollister, KANS, Wichita; Edward Klauber, CBS; Paul W. Mornecy, WTIC, Hartford; Samuel R. Rosenbaum, WFIL, Philadelphia; John Shepard III, Yankee network; Theodore C. Streibert, Mutual; Niles Trammell, NBC, and William West, WTMV, East St. Louis.

Wisconsin Taxes Voted

Last week the Wisconsin Senate passed by a unanimous vote a measure authorizing the state to collect license fees from ASCAP agents operating within the state. The state's anti-ASCAP law was passed back in 1937 but no provision has been made for enforcing the $25 annual license fee and collecting the 25 per cent gross tax on revenue made in the state. Senator John E. Cashman, author of the enabling bill, predicted the measure would yield the state $100,000 annually, if passed. The measure must be passed by the Assembly before it becomes a law.

With the New Jersey State legislature returning to session this week, Assemblyman H. Stanley Herbert, of Monmouth, who sponsored anti-ASCAP legislation, served notice he would move to force his bills from committee. Similar to the anti-ASCAP measure that failed to pass last year, his bill imposes a five per cent tax on receipts from use of copyrighted compositions, at the same time prohibiting organizations being formed to collect fees on such works unless performing licenses are based on "per piece" usage.

Last week the judiciary committee of the Connecticut legislature heard arguments on three proposed anti-ASCAP bills. Those speaking for the measures said they were a legitimate use of the state's police power; others said the bills were unconstitutional.

Illinois Legislation

Legislation introduced in the Illinois general assembly this week would outlaw the operation of any group of music writers or composers in the state as being in the restraint of trade and operating an unlawful monopoly. Aimed directly at ASCAP, the bill was introduced by Rep. Leo M. Crowley (Rep. Peoria), and sent to the house committee on judiciary.

The anti-ASCAP bill in Oregon has been withdrawn by its sponsor, Senator Cor McKenna, on the grounds that the judiciary committee had failed to act on the measure. The judiciary committee claimed that it failed to understand the proposed law.

Edward K. Ellsworth, attorney for a group of Michigan exhibitors, appeared this week before the private corporations committee of the state legislature to oppose the anti-ASCAP bill which has been proposed. It was argued that any fees charged ASCAP by the state would be passed on to exhibitors.

IN NEWSREELS

MOVIETONE NEWS—No. 54, Vol. 23.—Lend-lease bill passed....Greeks push on in Albania....French wounded are decorated....King George welcomes Winant....London firemen on job....Kids model for Queen....Plane factories rush output....Troops arrive in Newfoundland....Azalea Queen chosen in Florida ....Sports.

MOVIETONE NEWS—No. 55, Vol. 23.—Roosevelt asks all-out effort....Army engineers in action....Cadets in snow ride....Miss Miami Chosen....Petain meets Franco....Britain trains armies....Destroyers for England....Windsor referees golf match....King and Queen in Scotland....Sports.

NEWS OF THE DAY—No. 252, Vol. 12.—Queen holds court....King receives Winant....Roosevelt signs aid bill....Navy instructs civilians....Troops at Newfoundland....Sports.

NEWS OF THE DAY—No. 253, Vol. 12.—Roosevelt urges defense effort....Army learns war methods....King and Queen in Scotland....Tommy-gun defenses in Britain....Train wreck in Ohio River....Flower festival in Washington....Sports.

PARAMOUNT NEWS—No. 57.—Roosevelt signs aid bill....King receives Winant....Planes for Britain....Boy's Club boxing match....U. S. defense bases....Battle of Eritrea.

PARAMOUNT NEWS—No. 58.—Roosevelt asks all-out....U. S. in action....Petain, Franco confer....Saboteurs wreck train....Sports.

RKO PATHE NEWS—No. 57, Vol. 12.—British enter Eritrea....English rehearse for war....King greets Winant....Lend-lease bill signed....Martin plant to be world's largest....U. S. troops in Newfoundland ....Greeks mourn Metaxas....Gas mask drill....Dali paints a picture....“Spindizzies” race....Sports.

RKO PATHE NEWS—No. 58, Vol. 12.—Roosevelt calls democracy into action....New powder plant dedicated ....Nazi ship crosses ocean....Australian troops off for Singapore....War creates boom for bulb growers....National pistol title....Windsor referees golf match....Sports.

UNIVERSAL NEWSREEL—No. 962, Vol. 13.—Roosevelt signs aid bill....U. S. to mobilize labor....British take Libyan stronghold....King welcomes Winant....Gas mask drills....Troops in Newfoundland....Bombers for Britain....Sports.

UNIVERSAL NEWSREEL—No. 963, Vol 13.—President asks all-out aid....Warehouse fire....Dedicate new powder plant....St. Patrick's parade in New York....Troops practice....Cadets ride in snow....Flower fete hails spring....Sports.

Herron to Army, MPPDA Shifts

Lieutenant-Colonel Frederick L. Herron, treasurer of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, and director of its foreign activities in New York, was called on Tuesday from the U. S. Army reserve officers' list to serve in the Adjutant General's office in Washington.

During his leave of absence, presumably "for the duration," Carl E. Milliken, Hays organization secretary in charge of church, club and other organizational contacts, will additionally assume Col. Herron's foreign duties. Mr. Milliken will be assisted by Harold L. Smith, formerly MPPDA representative in Paris, who succeeded in leaving France, for New York, just before the Nazis arrived.

George Borthwick, assistant treasurer, will assume the Herron duties of treasurer. The Herron titles will not be transferred.

Fayette L. Allport, who has been representative in England, assumes Hays representation for all of Europe—continuing to base in London.

In World War I, Colonel Herron was decorated with the British Military Cross, the French Croix de Guerre with citation, the French Legion of Honor, the Spanish Order of Isabella the Catholic, the Commendatori delia Corona a'Italia. His brother is Lieutenant-General Charles D. Herron, last in charge of Regular Army troops in Hawaii, and now in the U. S.

Browne to Act for Coast Locals on Wages-Hours

George Browne's International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees will represent its Hollywood locals at hearings in Los Angeles next Tuesday on disputed points in the Wages and Hours Administration's classification of all of Hollywood's studio workers. The decision to do so was announced by Mr. Browne, IATSE president, last Friday, and it was taken, he said, after numerous appeals from the Hollywood locals, who have also, in the past several weeks, been asking their international officers to speed producers' reaction to proposals for changes in the wages and working conditions in the studio basic labor agreement. Joseph Padway, American Federation of Labor counsel, will represent the Alliance at the Wages and Hours hearing.

Meanwhile, the producers' labor committee declared that employment conditions in all IATSE classifications changed March 10th because of tentative exemptions by the Wages and Hours Act administrator, would have to revert this week to their former status, pending the outcome of next Tuesday's hearings.

Sound Men Ask Aid

Most recent of the appeals by locals to their international officers for aid in negotiations with producers was that of Sound Technicians' Local 695, which said, in part:

"We have waited a long time for your assistance in negotiating an agreement between the locals and major producers. We have, as you know, arrived at agreements with 47 independent producers, which are operating to the satisfaction of all concerned. Now, we believe, is the most opportune time for the weight of the international to be thrown behind our local to negotiate and complete a contract with the major producers."

The American Newspaper Guild's New York unit last week pledged support to the Screen Publicists Guild Eastern unit, which is seeking certification from the National Labor Relations Board as the proper bargaining agency for the advertising and publicity workers in the majors' New York home offices.

Monroe Stern, president of the newspaper union, was guest speaker at the publicists' unit's membership meeting Thursday night, March 13th. At the meeting, also, a five man negotiating committeee was named for anticipated deals with the majors when the NLRB shall give its decision.

The last of the hearings before the New York section of the NLRB, on the SPG certification, was held last Wednesday. Testimony of Warner Brothers and Loew's representatives was taken. It was claimed by the Guild this week that the producers made "important concessions" at the hearings in admissions of their representatives that the members of their publicity and advertising staffs were "properly represented" by the guild.

In the undecided struggle between the American Federation of Musicians and the American Guild of Musical Artists, whose instrumentalists are claimed by the former, the Guild last week claimed its instrumentalist members were standing firm despite the setback suffered by the Guild two weeks ago, when New York Supreme Court Justice Aron Steuer ruled the dispute was inter-union, not a court matter; and despite the AFM "deadline" of March 1st.

The "deadline," up to this week, was not enforced. The AFM can now order its members not to appear on the same radio platform, concert stage, recording studio, and theatre stage, with members of the Guild but it has not done so.

Local 802, the New York AFM unit, said last week numerous Guild members had joined. Alfred Spalding, violinist, announced two weeks ago his resignation from the Guild, his adherence to the AFM. The Guild retorted:

"Mr. Spalding's resignation, and the resignations of a few others, have caused no serious deletions in the instrumentalist ranks of AGMA" and it added that the claims of James Caesar Petrillo, president of the AFM, that most of the Guild's membership had come over to him were "ridiculous."

Pending in the New York State Court of Appeals, is the Guild's appeal from the New York Supreme Court dismissal of its plea for an injunction to prevent Mr. Petrillo from affecting employment of Guild members.

That the annual income of actors and actresses in their prime is approximately $4,700 per year, was indicated by a survey of earnings of "Class A" members, made public last week by the Screen Actors Guild, in Hollywood. Th earnings of 300 members of the above class, for the years 1937 through 1939 were surveyed, it being also disclosed that the average yearly income for the group was $14,867, but that this large average was induced by the very high salaries of a few. It was pointed out that only 6.1 per cent earned more than $2,000 weekly.

The American Guild of Variety Artists will elect national officers April 17th, in New York. The election is special, former officers having resigned, and administration of the vaudeville performers' union being under a special committee of the Associated Actors and Artistes.

The League of New York Theatres is endeavoring to settle a conflict between the wage scales of Actors Equity and the American Federation of Radio Artists, so that producers may contract for the broadcasting of their plays or portions thereof. At present, the League is asking producers not to enter such contracts.

CONSIDER BILL TO CURB MUSICIANS

To prevent musicians employed by tax-supported institutions of Pennsylvania from competing with musicians employed by other sources, a bill has been introduced into that state's legislature by Adie Rush, representative from Chester, extending restrictions to all tax-free institutions. It is supported by the Philadelphia musicians' local, and it amplifies a present agreement between the State Conference of American Federation of Musicians' locals and the Board of Education.

National Decency Legion Classifies Ten Pictures

Of the ten motion pictures classified by the National Legion of Decency in its listing for the current week two were found unobjectionable for general patronage, six were classified as unobjectionable for adults, one was objectionable in part and one was condemned. The pictures and their classifications follow:

Class A-1, Unobjectionable for General Patronage: "Dead Men Tell" and "Mr. Dynamite." Class A-2, Unobjectionable for Adults: "Adam Had Four Sons," "Footsteps in the Dark," "Meet John Doe," "The Penalty," "The Sea Wolf" and "Sleepers West." Class B, Objectionable in Part: "Sins of Youth." Class C, Condemned: "Pepe Le Moko" (French).

WHAT THE PICTURE DID FOR ME

In this, the exhibitors' own department, the theatremen of the nation serve one another with information on the box-office performance of product for their mutual benefit. It is a service of the exhibitor for the exhibitor. Address all communications to—

What the Picture Did for Me
MOTION PICTURE HERALD
Rockefeller Center, New York

Columbia

BEWARE SPOOKS: Joe E. Brown, Mary Carlisle—Had our patrons rolling in the aisles. Running time 67 minutes. Played February 9-12.—P. S. Caporal, Mayflower Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. General and neighborhood patronage.

DOCTOR TAKES A WIFE, THE: Loretta Young, Ray Milland, Gail Patrick—Everyone well pleased. Played February 20-22.—P. S. Caporal, Mayflower Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. General and neighborhood patronage.

GOLDEN BOY: Barbara Stanwyck, Adolphe Menjou, William Holden—I think this was one of the best shows we played in a long while and would go out of my way to recommend it to anybody even though it is old. This boy Holden sure can act as he stole the show from the others. Running time, 101 minutes. Played February 3-5.—Fred Basha, Palace Theatre, Corner Brook, Newfoundland, Can. Small town patronage.

U-BOAT 29: Conrad Veidt—Excellent in every point of view. Patrons well pleased. Running time, 78 minutes. Played February 27-March 1.—P. S. Caporal, Mayflower Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. General and neighborhood patronage.

First National

EACH DAWN I DIE: James Cagney, George Raft, Jane Bryan—Good acting, but rotten dialogue. Gangsters don't go over here. Running time, 91 minutes. Played March 6-8.—P. S. Caporal, Mayflower Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. General and neighborhood patronage.

HIGH SIERRA: Humphrey Bogart, Ida Lupino—Very good action picture and good business. This picture compares favorably with "They Drive By Night," though cast is not as strong. Running time, 100 minutes. Played March 9-10.—E. M. Freiburger, Paramount Theatre, Dewey, Okla. Small town patronage.

LETTER, THE: Bette Davis, Herbert Marshall—This is a well done dramatic film but not what my crowd is looking for lately. Boxoffice was just passable. "The Letter" attracts the ladies more than it does the "male-men." Running time, 97 minutes. Played March 6.—W. Varick Nevins III, Alfred Co-Op Theatre, Alfred, N. Y. Small college town and rural patronage.

STRAWBERRY BLONDE, THE: James Cagney, Olivia de Havilland, Rita Hayworth—An excellent good picture, and excellently played by an excellent cast. We thought that Rita Hayworth was the leading lady, but we were mistaken, and it was Olivia, the demure friend of Rita's that through thick and thin stood by her man. It's the same old Cagney, in the same old way, and he was a scrapper of both the old and the new school and many were the leeches put on his black eyes, caused by the other fellow's fists. Others in the cast were Alan Hale, Jack Carson, George Tobias, with Raoul Walsh, director. Running time, 97 minutes. Played March 6-12.—William Noble, Midwest Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. General patronage.

VIRGINIA CITY: Errol Flynn, Miriam Hopkins, Randolph Scott, Humphrey Bogart—This is still a good western, with plenty of action and a very good cast. Bad weather hurt the draw but we still did better than we would have with the one we traded for it. A rerun on bargain nights does better for us and comes nearer satisfying our patronage. Played March 5-6.—Mayme P. Musselman, Princess Theatre, Lincoln, Kan. Small town patronage.

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer

BITTER SWEET: Jeanette MacDonald, Nelson Eddy—Usual picture from this pair that was poison at the box office. The color was the best part of it. Gave us the poorest Sunday-Monday receipts we have had in over a year. Patrons frankly told us they were tired of these two and would not patronize their pictures, so we will refuse them in the future. Played February 16-17.—S. L. George, Mountain Home Theatre, Mountain Home, Idaho. Rural patronage.

COME LIVE WITH ME: James Stewart, Hedy Lamarr—A good picture that did average business on our best days. James Stewart is creating quite a following and with a few more like this one to help build him up still more, we might come under the wire with a winner. It's a little spicy in one spot but handled discreetly and created some word of mouth that helped on the following nights. Don't be afraid of it but watch the allocation.—Mayme P. Musselman, Princess Theatre, Lincoln, Kan. Small town patronage.

FLIGHT COMMAND: Robert Taylor, Ruth Hussey, Walter Pidgeon—This picture was a big surprise. We had a good crowd and they all liked it. The public nowadays seems to like anything connected with the Navy or Army, and I only hope that they make more pictures of this type. Plenty of action. Played February 16-17.—Lionel Irwin, Jr., Palace Theatre, Penacook, N. H. General patronage.

MAISIE WAS A LADY: Ann Sothern, Lew Ayres, Maureen O'Sullivan—This is a very good comedy and will please all. Business was good. Running time, 80 minutes. Played February 24-25.—E. M. Freiburger, Paramount Theatre, Dewey, Okla. Small town patronage.

PHILADELPHIA STORY, THE: Katharine Hepburn, Cary Grant, James Stewart—Good picture and good business. This is a good comedy with a very strong cast. One of the best pictures of the year. Running time, 112 minutes. Played March 5-6.—E. M. Freiburger, Paramount Theatre, Dewey, Okla. Small town patronage.

SPORTING BLOOD: Robert Young, Maureen O'Sullivan, Lewis Stone, William Gargan—Good picture. Business not up to average. Young and Gargan fine.—Sammie Jackson, Jackson Theatre, Flomaton, Ala. General patronage.

20 MULE TEAM: Wallace Beery, Leo Carrillo, Marjorie Rambeau—Lost money on this, just like I did with "Thunder Afloat." My folks will not come to see Beery.—Sammie Jackson, Jackson Theatre, Flomaton, Ala. General patronage.

WATERLOO BRIDGE: Robert Taylor, Vivien Leigh—Very much enjoyed by my patrons. A very good performance by all the cast and a very timely story. Would recommend this one. Running time, 100 minutes. Played March 8.—A. L. Dove, Bengough Theatre, Bengough, Saskatchewan, Canada. Rural and small town patronage.

Monogram

HUMAN MONSTER, THE: Bela Lugosi—This is an average horror picture and I did a nice business on it, probably due to the swell trailer furnished me by National Screen Service. Even snow and a Kiwanis play didn't keep them away. Play it. Running time, 73 minutes. Played March 7.—E. M. Freiburger, Paramount Theatre, Dewey, Okla. Small town patronage.

Paramount

FARMER'S DAUGHTER, THE: Martha Raye, Charlie Ruggles—Very good. Running time, 59 minutes. Played March 6-8.—P. S. Caporal, Mayflower Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. General and neighborhood patronage.

HIDDEN GOLD: William Boyd, Russell Hayden—Did very nice business on single bill weekend. Farmers seem satisfied.—Harland Rankin, Plaza Theatre, Tilbury, Ontario, Can. General patronage.

LIFE WITH HENRY: Jackie Cooper, Leila Ernst—We thought this rather poor entertainment but the customers seemed to like it, so that's what counts. It brought out more kids than we have had for a long time and the adults also seemed to enjoy it. Played February 28-March 1.—S. L. George, Mountain Home Theatre, Mountain Home, Ida. Rural patronage.

LOVE THY NEIGHBOR: Jack Benny, Fred Allen, Mary Martin, "Rochester," (Eddie Anderson)—This drew quite well doubled with "Chad Hanna." This has some very good moments but, in the opinion of my crowd, it is not quite up to Benny's other films. They certainly should have had a dance by "Rochester." Everyone commented on that. He certainly can't sing! However, the Benny-Allen-"Rochester" combination certainly has some drawing power. A bad blizzard did not help matters, of course. Running time, 82 minutes. Played March 7-8.—W. Varick Nevins III, Alfred Co-Op Theatre, Alfred, N. Y. Small college town and rural patronage.

NIGHT OF NIGHTS, THE: Pat O'Brien, Roland Young, Olympe Bradna—One of the saddest pictures shown here in a long time. Patrons well pleased. Running time, 85 minutes. Played February 13-15.—P. S. Caporal, Mayflower Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. General and neighborhood patronage.

NORTH WEST MOUNTED POLICE: Gary Cooper, Madeleine Carroll, Paulette Goddard, Preston Foster, Robert Preston—Very good superwestern in color. Business was good. This is a small town natural. Running time, 120 minutes. Played February 26-27.—E. M. Freiburger, Paramount Theatre, Dewey, Okla. Small town patronage.

RULERS OF THE SEA: Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., Margaret Lockwood—A good historical picture but did not turn over so good here. Running time, 95 minutes. Played February 23-26.—P. S. Caporal, Mayflower Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. General and neighborhood patronage.

SECOND CHORUS: Fred Astaire, Paulette Goddard, Artie Shaw and his Band—This was a good picture, nothing extra, but just good. Although we ran this on Prize Night, we did very poor business. Paulette and Fred are very good dancing together, and the picture would have been better if they had done more dancing. Played March 5.—Lionel Irwin, Jr., Palace Theatre, Penacook, N. H. General patronage.

TEXAS RANGERS RIDE AGAIN: John Howard, Ellen Drew, Akim Tamiroff, May Robson—Rather indifferent western that was somewhat refreshing in that it was more modern and up to date. Not the usual slaughter, and more comedy. Less than average business, as it is too weak for a single bill. Played February 21-22.—S. L. George, Mountain Home Theatre, Mountain Home, Idaho. Rural patronage.

TYPHOON: Dorothy Lamour, Robert Preston, Lynne Overman—Not one of Lamour's best, but still has a good story. Running time, 71 minutes. Played March 9-12.—P. S. Caporal, Mayflower Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. General and neighborhood patronage.

UNTAMED: Ray Milland, Patricia Morison, Akim Tamiroff—A very good picture that drew better than average. We played it late, in fact, the tanks even had a date on their Merchant Night before our date and we still did all right with it. The color was good in spots, the cast did very well and the patrons were pleased. Worth a week-end date even at this late time. Played March 7-8.—Mayme P. Musselman, Princess Theatre, Lincoln, Kan. Small town patronage.

Puritan

MAN FROM GUNTOWN: Tim McCoy, Billie Seward—Good western. Old, but good print.—Sammie Jackson, Jackson Theatre, Flomaton, Ala. General patronage.

Republic

HEROES OF THE SADDLE: The Three Mesquiteers—A fair western to average business. Running time, 56 minutes. Played February 14-15.—Fred Basha, Palace Theatre, Corner Brook, Newfoundland, Can. Small town patronage.

HIT PARADE OF 1941, THE: Kenny Baker, Frances Langford, Mary Boland, Ann Miller—Very disappointing. Did no business. Story very weak.—Harland Rankin, Plaza Theatre, Tilbury, Ontario, Can. General patronage.

RIDE, TENDERFOOT, RIDE: Gene Autry, Smiley Burnette, Mary Lee—Fine. Mary Lee is sure headed places. Republic, what about giving us the Delmore Bros. in an Autry western?—Sammie Jackson, Jackson Theatre, Flomaton, Ala. General patronage.

RKO Radio

DAY THE BOOKIES WEPT, THE: Joe Penner, Betty Grable—So far, Joe Penner's best in jokes and stunts. Running time, 63 minutes. Played March 2-5.—P. S. Caporal, Mayflower Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. General and neighborhood patronage.

KITTY FOYLE: Ginger Rogers, Dennis Morgan—The day after I played this one, Ginger Rogers won the award on her acting. I should have been a day later. It is a splendid picture and all who read the book should turn out for it. I really expected business to be better but it certainly was not bad either. Many good comments by the patrons and a boxoffice that I wish I could maintain. As far as I am concerned, Kitty's Foyle has grown up to be a Cat's Whisker. Running time, 105 minutes. Played February 27th.—W. Varick Nevins III, Alfred Co-Op Theatre, Alfred, N. Y. Small college town and rural patronage.

Twentieth Century-Fox

ADVENTURES OF SHERLOCK HOLMES, THE: Basil Rathbone, Nigel Bruce, Ida Lupino—This picture has everything. Running time, 79 minutes. Played February 27-March 1.—P. S. Caporal, Mayflower Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. General and neighborhood patronage.

CHAD HANNA: Henry Fonda, Linda Darnell, Dorothy Lamour—Good picture, fine color, excellent cast, but very poor title. It drew average business, which was better than we expected. It pleased and we class it as better than average. There just arn't any better actors than Henry Fonda. Played March 2-4.—S. L. George, Mountain Home Theatre, Mountain Home, Idaho. Rural patronage.

CHAD HANNA: Henry Fonda, Dorothy Lamour, Linda Darnell—Remarkably excellent color gives life to this story of small-time circus people. Some good humor also adds its share. It is a good picture but misses fire a little somewhere along the line. In spite of a bad blizzard, this drew quite well when doubled with "Love Thy Neighbor." I would have been surprised if it hadn't. In your ads, you had better explain that it is a circus picture. The title certainly doesn't mean anything. Running time, 88 minutes. Played March 7-8.—W. Varick Nevins III, Alfred Co-Op Theatre, Alfred, N. Y. Small college town and rural patronage.

DAY-TIME WIFE: Tyrone Power, Linda Darnell, Binnie Barnes, Joan Davis—A picture loaded with laughs and suspense. Running time, 72 minutes. Played February 9-12.—P. S. Caporal, Mayflower Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. General and neighborhood patronage.

RAINS CAME, THE: Myrna Loy, Tyrone Power, George Brent, Brenda Joyce—Was a marvelous picture, pleasing some and then disagreeing with some. Running time, 101 minutes. Played February 16-19.—P. S. Caporal, Mayflower Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. General and neighborhood patronage.

RETURN OF FRANK JAMES, THE: Henry Fonda, Gene Tierney, Jackie Cooper, Henry Hull—An excellent show that stood up well for three days. It had beautiful scenery photographed in color that added to the picture. Running time, 92 minutes. Played February 27-29.—Fred Basha, Palace Theatre, Corner Brook, Newfoundland, Can. Small town patronage.

ROMANCE OF THE RIO GRANDE: Cesar Romero, Patricia Morison—This western pleased. Good business on Friday and Saturday. Running time, 73 minutes. Played February 28-March 1.—E. M. Freiburger, Paramount Theatre, Dewey, Okla. Small town patronage.

TALL, DARK AND HANDSOME: Cesar Romero, Milton Berle, Virginia Gilmore—Good picture and good business. This comedy gangster picture will please any day in the week. Running time, 78 minutes. Played March 4.—E. M. Freiburger, Paramount Theatre, Dewey, Okla. Small town patronage.

TOO BUSY TO WORK: Jed Prouty, Spring Byington—Jones Family series. The Jones's best by far. Running time, 64 minutes. Played March 9-12.—P. S. Caporal, Mayflower Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. General and neighborhood patronage.

United Artists

CAPTAIN FURY: Brian Aherne, Victor McLaglen, June Lang—Not even half as good as the title, if that means anything. Running time, 89 minutes. Played March 2-5.—P. S. Caporal, Mayflower Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. General and neighborhood patronage.

CHUMP AT OXFORD, A: Stan Laurel, Oliver Hardy—Although not their best picture by any means, they still mean box office. Business very satisfactory.—Harland Rankin, Plaza Theatre, Tilbury, Ontario, Can. General patronage.

THIEF OF BAGDAD, THE: Conrad Veidt, Sabu, June Duprez—This spectacular color film got them out in droves. The trailer had a lot to do with it. The photography, both color and trick, is amazing. There is no difficulty with any accent and my patrons were warm in their praise. Plenty of action and thrilling suspense woven into weird fantasy should satisfy all types of movie patrons. I suppose this will appear in conjunction with someone's comment saying how terrible this picture is. Take your choice until you see it and then make up your own mind. Running time, 109 minutes. Played February 28-March 1.—W. Varick Nevins III, Alfred Co-Op Theatre, Alfred, N. Y. Small college town and rural patronage.

Universal

ALIAS THE DEACON: Bob Burns, Mischa Auer, Dennis O'Keefe—One of Bob Burns clever small town pictures which was excellent. Running time, 71 minutes. Played February 20-22.—P. S. Caporal, Mayflower Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. General and neighborhood patronage.

DOUBLE ALIBI: Wayne Morris, Margaret Lindsay, William Gargan—The best murder-mystery picture I have ever seen. Running time, 59 minutes. Played February 23-26.—P. S. Caporal, Mayflower Theatre, Oklahoma, City, Okla. General and neighborhood patronage.

I STOLE A MILLION: George Raft, Claire Trevor, Dick Foran—A good show that was well liked here. Raft takes well here so we had nothing to worry about. Running time, 80 minutes. Played February 23-25.—Fred Basha, Palace Theatre, Corner Brook, Newfoundland, Can. Small town patronage.

MAN FROM MONTREAL: Richard Arlen. Andy Devine—A fair picture of this series. Running time, 59 minutes. Played February 16-19.—P. S. Caporal, Mayflower Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. General and neighborhood patronage.

MISSING EVIDENCE: Preston Foster, Irene Hervey—The usual type picture of governmental agents at work. Not so hot. Running time, 64 minutes. Played February 13-15.—P. S. Caporal, Mayflower Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. General and neighborhood patronage.

Warner Brothers

HONEYMOON FOR THREE: Ann Sheridan, George Brent, Charlie Ruggles—While not a big picture, this is a pleasing comedy drama. However, it did only average business. Running time, 75 minutes. Played March 2-3.—E. M. Freiburger, Paramount Theatre, Dewey, Okla. Small town patronage.

LADY WITH RED HAIR: Miriam Hopkins, Claude Rains—There are a lot of expressions that would describe this picture. The story is terrible, and at all times very boring. Played February 14-15.—Lionel Irwin, Jr., Palace Theatre, Penacook, N. H. General patronage.

Short Features

Columbia

ALI THE GIANT KILLER: Sport Reels—Professional wrestling reel that is interesting but not as funny as some. Running time, 10 minutes.—W. Varick Nevins III, Alfred Co-Op Theatre, Alfred, N. Y. Small college town and rural patronage.

BLONDES AND BLUNDERS: All Star Comedies—Play it, showmen, even if your face may get a little red. Good for a few laughs.—Harland Rankin, Plaza Theatre, Tilbury, Ontario, Can. General patronage.

BOOBS IN ARMS: Three Stooges—Your Three Stooges fans will like this a lot. It is one of their funniest, especially when Curly gets his head caught in the mouth of a cannon when it is set to go off. It is very apropos of the draft situation. Running time, 18 minutes.—W. Varick Nevins III, Alfred Co-Op Theatre, Alfred, N. Y. Small college town and rural patronage.

COMMUNITY SING, NO. 12: Scotch Songs—This Community Sing consisted of Scotch Songs. These shorts are well received by our patrons. Running time, 10 minutes.—Fred Basha, Palace Theatre, Corner Brook, Newfoundland, Can. Small town patronage.

GREYHOUND AND THE RABBIT, THE: Color Rhapsodies—A very average cartoon.—Harland Rankin, Plaza Theatre, Tilbury, Ontario, Can. General patronage.

SAVED BY THE BELLE: Three Stooges—The Three Stooges are well liked here and this one was very good. Running time, 18 minutes.—Fred Basha, Palace Theatre, Corner Brook, Newfoundland, Can. Small town patronage.

SAVOY IN THE ALPS: Tours—Here is a nice scenic about a part of Europe that is not often shown. Running time, 10 minutes.—W. Varick Nevins III, Alfred Co-Op Theatre, Alfred, N. Y. Small college town and rural patronage.

STREAMLINED DONKEY, THE: Fables—The audience laughed hysterically because they were so disappointed. They thought they were going to see a good cartoon. It has a couple of good moments, but moments don't last long in my dictionary. Running time, 7 minutes.—W. Varick Nevins III, Alfred Co-Op

(Continued on following page)

"M-m! THAT'S WORTH REAL THOUGHT!"

Smart showmen know they can rely on regular Altec service—sound and booth parts service—to keep the show hitting the sheet top-quality-wise—which is box-office-wise in any showman's language. But that isn't all! Altec's high-standard service protects the exhibitor's money-investment in his present equipment, and when the need for future modernization comes, exhibitors know they can rely on Altec's technical advice on buying new equipment. Change to Altec today.

ALTEC
SERVICE CORPORATION

250 West 57th Street, New York City

CHANGE TO ALTEC SERVICE • A CHANGE FOR THE BETTER

(Continued from preceding page)
Theatre, Alfred, N. Y. Small college town and rural patronage.

TAKE IT OR LEAVE IT SERIES: This is all right but the things have been rehearsed and it is evident. I'll stick to "Information Please." A quiz reel just can't be good unless it is unrehearsed. Running time, 10 minutes.—W. Varick Nevins III, Alfred Co-Op Theatre, Alfred, N. Y. Small college town and rural patronage.

TAKE IT OR LEAVE IT: Quiz Reels—Exceptionally good. Give us more, Columbia.—Harland Rankin, Plaza Theatre, Tilbury, Ontario, Can. General patronage.

UNUSUAL CRAFTS: Cinescopes—Just a filler.—Harland Rankin, Plaza Theatre, Tilbury, Ontario, Can. General patronage.

WISE OWL: Color Rhapsodies—This Color Rhapsody went over quite well. The rhythm and dancing is very infectious and there is some good humor in it. It is definitely queer but the crowd liked it. Running time, 7 minutes.—W. Varick Nevins III, Alfred Co-Op Theatre, Alfred, N. Y. Small college town and rural patronage.

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer

ROMEO IN RHYTHM: MGM Cartoons—Very entertaining colored reel. Running time, eight minutes.—A. L. Dove, Bengough Theatre, Bengough, Saskatchewan, Canada. Rural and small town patronage.

SEA FOR YOURSELF: Pete Smith Specialties—Entertaining picture of swimmers under water. Running time, 10 minutes.—E. M. Freiburger, Paramount Theatre, Dewey, Okla. Small town patronage.
(KkWF

YOU, THE PEOPLE: Crime Does Not Pay Series—This is one of the best of the Crime Does Not Pay Series. It tells in plain ordinary language why everyone should vote at every election. Would be worth saving to run just before the next election. It would probably do some good right at that time. Running time, 20 minutes.—W. Varick Nevins III, Alfred Co-Op Theatre, Alfred, N. Y. Small college town and rural patronage.

Paramount

FOUL BALL PLAYER: Stone Age Cartoons—This cartoon got a lot of laughs and it was funny.—Mayme P. Musselman, Princess Theatre, Lincoln, Kan. Small town patronage.

JIMMY DORSEY AND HIS ORCHESTRA: Headliners—We thought this was a right nice band act, with two very good vocalists. Worth a spot on any program.—Mayme P. Musselman, Princess Theatre, Lincoln, Kan. Small town patronage.

MARINE ROUND-UP: Sportlights—Interesting reel on the capture of large fish specimens for that famous Florida aquarium. Ted Husing narrates. Those men don't have to worry about anyone envying them their jobs. Runnining time, 10 minutes—W. Varick Nevins III, Alfred Co-Op Theatre, Alfred, N. Y. Small college town and rural patronage.

SNUBBED BY A SNOB: Color Classics. Seemed to satisfy.—Harland Rankin, Plaza Theatre, Tilbury, Ontario, Can. General patronage.

TWO OF A KIND: Grantland Rice Sportlights—Very interesting sport reel showing the brother and sister acts in the world of sports.—Mayme P. Musselman, Princess Theatre, Lincoln, Kan. Small town patronage.

UNUSUAL OCCUPATIONS: No. 6—Very interesting.—Harland Rankin, Plaza Theatre, Tilbury, Ontario, Can. General patronage.

RKO Radio

DONALD'S PENGUIN: Walt Disney Cartoons—Very good cartoon in color. Running time, 7 minutes.—E. M. Freiburger, Paramount Theatre, Dewey, Okla. Small town patronage.

INFORMATION PLEASE: No. 5—This is the second issue to feature Wendell Willkie and the sound shows it. It is very noticeable that this was taken before the sound was improved. However, the material is good and the subject should be enjoyed where this series is liked. Running time, 10 minutes.—W. Varick Nevins III, Alfred Co-Op Theatre, Alfred, N. Y. Small college town and rural patronage.

INFORMATION PLEASE: No. 6—Jan Struther is the guest and does a good job of it. Sound is excellent and the reel is one of the best of the series for out-and-out entertainmnt. Running time, 10 minutes.—W. Varick Nevins III, Alfred Co-Op Theatre, Alfred, N. Y. Small college town and rural patronage.

INFORMATION PLEASE, NO. 13: Elmer Davis—Very amusing and entertaining. Running time, eight minutes.—William Noble, Midwest Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. General patronage.

MARCH OF TIME, NO. 6: We advertised the uncensored German pictures and got quite a few extra customers. A very good subject that will stand some extra boosting and back up the advertising.—Mayme P. Musselman, Princess Theatre, Lincoln, Kan. Small town patronage.

Twentieth Century-Fox

ACQUITTED BY THE SEA: Robert Ripley's "Believe It or Not"—The first Ripley "Believe It or Not" that we have run for a long time, but a very interesting short; good on any program.—Mayme P. Musselman, Princess Theatre, Lincoln, Kan. Small town patronage.

HOME GUARD, THE: Terry-Toons — Exciting. Fight with fowl home guards and two vultures, also very foul. The feathers flew, but all ended very happily. Running time, seven minutes.—William Noble, Criterion Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. General patronage.

LURE OF THE TROUT: Sports Reviews—Some excellent color shots of trout streams and their inmates. It is pretty in its own right and, of course, will be especially interesting to fish and fishermen. Don't expect any fried fish. They throw them all back to be caught again the next day. Running time, 10 minutes.—W. Varick Nevins III, Alfred Co-Op Theatre, Alfred, N. Y. Small college town and rural patronage.

SENTINELS OF THE CARIBBEAN: Magic Carpet—Scenery around Puerto Rico. The defense of Uncle Sam and both land and air protection to the Panama Canal. Very interesting. Running time, 10 minutes.—William Noble, Criterion Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. General patronage.

SPOTLIGHT ON INDO-CHINA: Magic Carpet—As this territory is in the news lately, it is a timely release. However, there is nothing extraordinary about the reel itself. Running time, 9 minutes.—W. Varick Nevins III, Alfred Co-Op Theatre, Alfred, N. Y. Small college town and rural patronage.

TRAINING POLICE HORSES: Adventures of the Newsreel Camerman—Entertaining one reeler showing how horses are trained for police use in New York City. Running time, 10 minutes.—E. M. Freiburger, Paramount Theatre, Dewey, Okla. Small town patronage.

WHAT A LITTLE SNEEZE WILL DO: Terrytoons—After taking a large number of cold remedies, a pig falls asleep and has a nightmare. It has a good idea back of it but turns out to be a very ordinary black and white cartoon. Running time, 6 minutes.—W. Varick Nevins III, Alfred Co-Op Theatre, Alfred, N. Y. Small college town and rural patronage.

Vitaphone

CLIFF EDWARDS AND HIS BUCKAROOS: Melody Masters Bands—Good one reel musical with cowboys singing sage brush melodies. Running time, 10 minutes.—E. M. Freiburger, Paramount Theatre, Dewey, Okla. Small town patronage.

FIGHTING 69TH½, THE: Merrie Melodies—Good color cartoon which pleased all. Running time, 7 minutes.—E. M. Freiburger, Paramount Theatre, Dewey, Okla. Small town patronage.

FIGHTING 69½, THE: Merrie Melodies—A red and a black ant army, fighting the wars like the present war is being fought. Very interesting and entertaining. Both old and young will like this one. Running time, seven minutes.—William Noble, Midwest Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. General patronage.

HAUNTED MOUSE, THE: Merrie Melodies—Good black and white cartoon. Running time, 7 minutes.—E. M. Freiburger, Paramount Theatre, Dewey, Okla. Small town patronage.

JAN GARBER & ORCHESTRA: Melody Masters Bands—One of the best orchestra reels in a long time. Watch the boy and girl who do the jitter-bug dance and the lady who sings "Ma, He's Making Eyes at Me." Running time, 10 minutes.—E. M. Freiburger, Paramount Theatre, Dewey, Okla. Small town patronage.

JAN GARBER & ORCHESTRA: Melody Masters Bands—Very clerverly done musical reel. It is well worth playing. Running time, 10 minutes.—W. Varick Nevins III, Alfred Co-Op Theatre, Alfred, N. Y. Small college town and rural patronage.

MEXICAN JUMPING BEANS: Hollywood Novelties. Acrobatics. Entertaining.—Harland Rankin, Plaza Theatre, Tilbury, Ontario, Can. General patronage.

ROYAL RODEO, THE: Broadway Brevities—A real treat, I would say. Many very favorable comments. Really lovely.—Harland Rankin, Plaza Theatre, Tilbury, Ontario, Can. General patronage.

TAKE THE AIR: Broadway Brevities—Good two-reel comedy of life in a radio station. Running time, 20 minutes.—E. M. Freiburger, Paramount Theatre, Dewey, Okla. Small town patronage.

Serials

Columbia

DEADWOOD DICK: Don Douglas, Lorna Gray—Only fair.—Sammie Jackson, Jackson Theatre, Flomaton, Ala. General patronage.

Republic

DRUMS OF FU MANCHU: Henry Brandon—An excellent serial. Don't miss booking this serial. It's a humdinger. Plenty of action, many thrills which the public like.—George S. Caporal, Yale Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. Neighborhood patronage.

LONE RANGER, THE: Serial No. 7—They seemed to enjoy it.—Harland Rankin, Plaza Theatre, Tilbury, Ontario, Can. General patronage.

SALESMEN WANTED

If you are now selling theatre equipment, or if you believe you can sell equipment to theatres, this old-established company would like to hear from you.

The advertiser distributes theatre equipment of the highest quality and invites applications from experienced men who can qualify for permanent salaried positions.

Interviews will be arranged at a convenient and early date. Write in confidence telling us all about yourself, your experience, etc.

Our own organization knows of this advertisement. Box 1390, MOTION PICTURE HERALD, Rockefeller Center, New York.

Fox Theatres Reduce Prices in Wisconsin

A reduced price policy has been inaugurated in a number of theatres in and around the State of Wisconsin by Fox. At its Orpheum theatre in Green Bay, a "shopper's bargain matinee" of 20 cents until 2 P.M. is being offered daily while at the Fox in Stevens Point, the 20-cent admission until 6 P.M. has been established on the last four days of the week.

At Beaver Dam, Fox is now operating its Odeon theatre all day from 2 P.M. on with a 20-cent admission policy prevailing to 6 P.M. on Tuesdays, Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays and 20 cents to 4 P.M. on Saturdays and 30 cents to 2 P.M. on Sundays. Matinee shows have also been instituted by the circuit at its Venetian and Zenith theatre in Milwaukee with a 15-cent admission to 2 P.M. and 20 cents to close at the former house on the first three days of the week.

MGM Presents Awards

William Saxton and George Avis, of Loew's Century in Baltimore, Md., have been cited a second time by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer for an exploitation campaign—this time for "Flight Command." The company has also awarded Honor Roll Buttons to Elihu Glass of the Paramount theatre in Staten Island, N. Y., for their promotion of "The Land of Liberty"; Robert Kilgore of Loew's Palace in Memphis for "The Trial of Mary Dugan," and Ted Emerson and Don Allen of the Omaha theatre in Omaha for their promotion of "The Philadelphia Story."

"Butterfly" to Key Cities

Esperia Films, distributors of the Italian-made production, "The Dream of the Butterfly," have announced that the picture will open at the World Playhouse in Chicago on March 15th, and will open at the California theatre in Los Angeles sometime in April. Engagements are also being set for Boston, Pittsburgh and Detroit, the company said.

Milligan Tours Country

M. A. Milligan, former general sales manager in Canada for Paramount, who resigned recently because of ill health, has left Toronto for an extended tour of the United States.

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE

An international association of showmen meeting weekly in MOTION PICTURE HERALD for mutual aid and progress

A-MIKE VOGEL, Chairman and Editor GERTRUDE MERRIAM, Associate Editor

A MEMBER ASKS

It is a longtime member and valued friend who sits down to get it off his chest in asking a number of "whys" having to do with his part of the industry and where it is getting him.

The Round Tabler is doing an ace publicity job in his situation for a group of houses. To an extent, he is happy. Conditions are pleasant. His job is interesting and stimulating, he admits. But, writes the plaintiff, "Is it really important work? Is the effort put in by us in the campaigns that put over pictures recognized at all by industry heads outside our immediate superiors?

"Is this all there is to my life," he continues, "wracking my brains to produce, outdo my competition, hold on for all I am worth to a job? I know it is good to be itchy and impatient to go ahead and this ambition puts a few of us on the top. But in another ten years, if I am not on the top or near enough to see my goal—what then? . . ."

DEAR ITCHY AND IMPATIENT PAL:

Your name is legion. Never knew a publicity man who was worth two hoots in a holler who ever was less than that. Itchiness goes with the job, or how else could you birds keep knocking off those big-time promotions?

You ask, "What then?" How about revising that to read, "What now?"—and let "then" take care of itself? It usually does, as this greying dome has painfully discovered over too long a stretch of years. Whether or not they worry about it, the boys tabbed to go ahead eventually do so. In the meantime, they concentrate on doing an everyday job.

Is your work important? Answer that one yourself. Suppose you stopped doing your job and there was no one else around to do it. Don't let "important" bother you. Rather figure any job that needs doing, in essence is about as important as the next. That way of figuring—and doing—incidentally, leads to promotion a durned sight quicker than most any other way we know of.

* * *

The theatreman is a funny kind of a bird anyhow. Because of his hard, continuous labors, creative demands and quick results, he expects faster returns for himself than workers in less turbulent endeavors. His mind reaches for something new because the business is gaited that way. Since the showman's work is largely individualistic, he feels he can do a bang-up job in a bigger post. What he really yearns for is new pasture, new scenery. Quite a few theatremen, if pressed, will agree that it would be a good thing if men who wanted to were transferred at regular intervals.

A big reason for restlessness, the "itchiness and impatience" you mention, comes from the theatreman's dissatisfaction with his own work, even when the bossman is completely satisfied. The best showman usually is his own severest critic. That, of course, is ego—an always vital component of every ace showman's equipment.

The answer, in short, is: there are few new worlds to conquer, and it is best not to weep because of it. Be glad that this world of yours continues to be "interesting and stimulating".

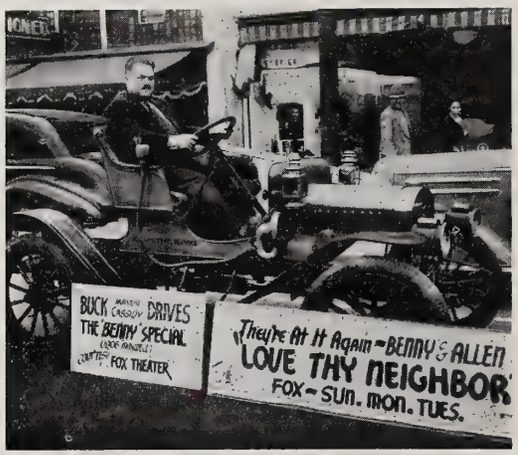
It is not to be expected, good friend, that these advices will be the means of relieving your state of mind. The hope is that you will accept some of these findings, based on years of trial-and-error, in trying to rationalize your situation, in building a philosophy of living to meet the daily grind until whatever you choose to term your "big break" comes along.

△ △ △

"It actually happened during the run of 'Gone With the Wind'," according to Round Tabler Arnold Gates at Loew's Park, Cleveland (who also admits that it could be arranged). A local woman, it seems, has a telephone number quite similar to the theatre's. After receiving many calls asking the time of the feature, the beleaguered female finally requested that Arnold supply her with a copy of the schedule.

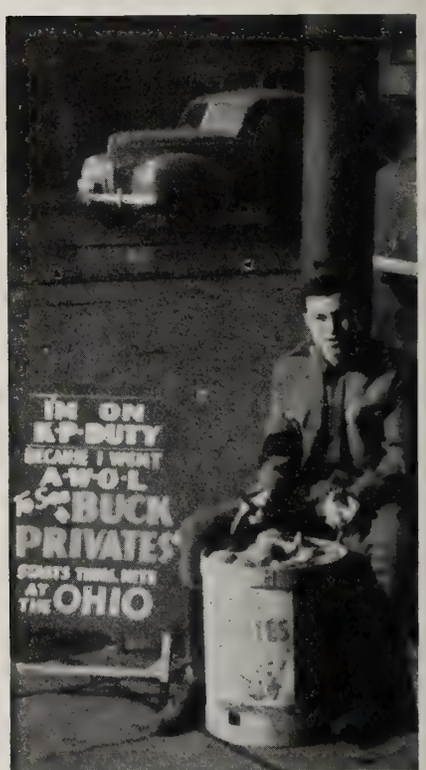
A-Mike Vogel

With a proper splurge, photo and all, the Canton, Ohio, press comes out with the extra-swell news that Round Tabler Bill Harwell, for the past three years manager of Warners' Ohio in that spot, has been moved up to City Manager of the circuit's operations in Mansfield. Cheers are in order.



In there every day, Harwell has been breaking through to keep his situation indelibly in the consciousness of the movie-minded and many who are not. That would be recommendation enough to be desired by any theatreman.

Round Table In Pictures



Blowup star and scene stills graced the front of the New York World Theatre for opening of "Pepe Le Moko." Picture stars the noted French actor, Jean Gabin, now in this country to fulfill a Hollywood contract.

(Above) Mayor Cassidy of Hanford, Cal., rides to the Fox to purchase the first "Neighbor" ticket from Manager M. McAlexander.

Doc Twedt at the Lido, Manly, Ia., dresses his twin sons, Pat and Mike, in cowboy suits to help exploit "Go West."

Ahead of "Buck Privates" at the Ohio, Mansfield, Warner city manager Bill Harwell planted lad in uniform on busy street intersections peeling spuds. Sign alongside read: "I'm on K.P. duty, because I went A.W.O.L. to see," etc.

Promoting stage coach and horses, Carmon Phillips at the Onate, Belen, N. M., for "Arizona" dressed staff in western style for street bally. Highlight was arranging to transport teachers to schools.

(Right) When Gov. O'Conor of Maryland recently proclaimed "Poland Day," Bob Mahrenke at the Broadway arranged for newsreel shots to be made of the ceremony. Attending showing, left to right, were Mahrenke, Delegate Chester Kosakowski, Gov. O'Conor, Delegate John A. Novak and Judge John Prinz.

Wheeler, Callow Receive Awards

(Continued from page 12)

We must not under-estimate the intelligence of these millions of patrons. We cannot limit our activity to any arbitrary, all-inclusive budget plan. We must not be content with a minimum audience, but must exhaust every avenue of approach to assure better pictures the maximum audience they deserve.

"Our publicity and exploitation must not only be unique and attractive, it must be convincing. The showmanship which advances a good picture into a theatre must be, at least, as novel and intriguing as the picture itself and it must have enthusiasm and invitation.

"We cannot approach the future looking backward or with only a half interest in our business. Either it consumes you and you live it intensely or the parade passes by. The future of this industry depends upon men and women with an insatiable desire to make showbusiness a great institution. There must be an eagerness for public service as well as a desire for box office success. Careful planning and study and vitality must be given every phase of our business. We must take stock of our qualifications. We cannot be petty or greedy or selfish.

"Those who respect motion pictures and work for their advancement will find plenty to reward them. Those who are unwilling to advance should get out."

Freeman, Crisp Present Plaques

Mr. Wanger then introduced Donald Crisp, who said: "In representing Warner Brothers here today I understand that this is the fifth time out of seven Warner Brothers have had the honor of taking this award. Mr. Callow, please accept this tribute from Quigley Publications.

Mr. Callow said: "I am very proud to be the recipient of the Quigley Award for a good many reasons. First of all, the Quigley Award to the men in the field has the same significant importance as the Academy Award has to you people on the coast. It is an emblem symbolic of the efforts which have been put forth for the industry of which we all consider ourselves a part. I think that as long as Martin Quigley continues to award those trophies, the men in the field who try to sell motion pictures will keep on plugging them and that this enthusiasm will maintain the motion picture as the greatest entertainment."

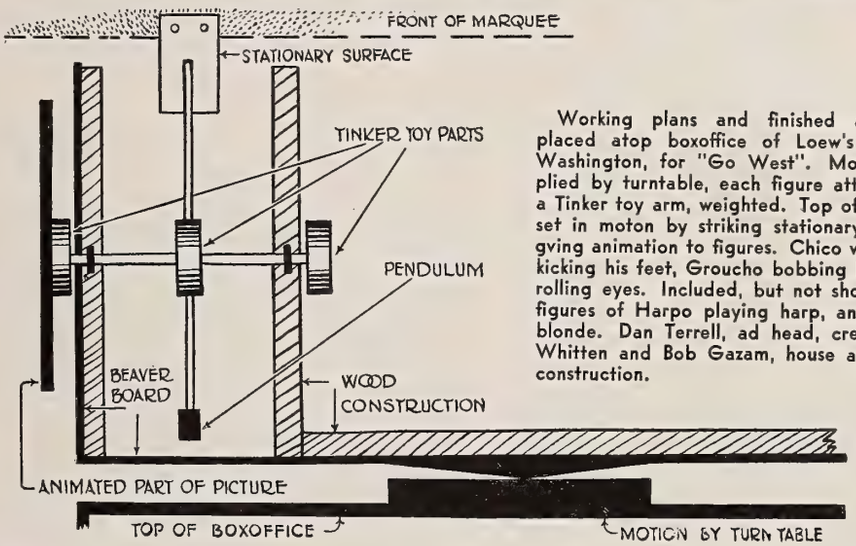
Introduced by Mr. Wanger, Mr. Freeman said: "I have spent most of my life in exhibition. I have been out here only two years and have a great deal to learn. In our field of work to honor any man for achievement is a pleasure. It gives me double pleasure to give this award because the young man is associated with a company in which Paramount is interested. It is an honor to present this award to Mr. Wheeler."

Mr. Wheeler said: "I've been in show business for about 16 years and this is definitely the highlight of those years. It has been a pleasure being here and a thrill to discover that Hollywood is not just a city of bright lights and broken fenders, but a community of hard workers with which I am proud to be associated. We are going to attempt to do our part in the field and I know from what I have seen that the workers here are doing their part also."

Brief remarks by the Guild executives and Dr. Giannini followed, after which Mr. Wanger called upon E. J. Mannix, Harry Raff, Jesse L. Lasky, Herman Wobber, Sol Lesser, Kenneth Thomson, Gloria Jean, Jane Darwell, Harold Lloyd, Nancy Kelly, Edmund O'Brien, Tex Ritter, Martha O'Driscoll, Glen Ford, and the past winners of Quigley Awards.

Tribute to the awards was paid in telegrams from the Associated Motion Picture Advertisers and by John Ballaban, who said: "The consistent efforts by your publication to promote sound theatre merchandising are worthy of repeated congratulations. Needless to say, Balaban and Katz, as well as David Wallerstein and myself personally, are proud that Ray Wheeler, Granada Theatre, South Bend, was adjudged a grand prize winner. All good wishes for the continued success of the Round Table exploitation endeavors."

At the speaker's table were Walter Wanger, E. J. Mannix, Jesse Lasky, Herman Wobber, Harold Lloyd, Harry Rapf, and awards winners.



Other guests were J. P. McGowan, Billy Leyser, Henry Rogers, Blake McVeigh, Robert Speers, Scoop Conlon, Lincoln Quarberg, Robin Coons, Mort Goodman, Walter Compton, Bill Hendricks, George Brown, Martha O'Driscoll, Fred S. Meyer, William Raynor, Jr., Lou Lifton, Tex Ritter, William Stephens, Ted Loeff, Jack Warner, Jr., Donald Gledhill, Julian Lesser, Irving Asher, Fred Pelton, William Pine, William Thomas, John Roger, William Pierce, Charles Ackerman, W. R. Sheehan, Sheridan Gibney, Kenneth Thomson, Harry Sherman, Edward Arnold.

Fred Stanley, Gabe York, Jock Lawrence, Jack Chertok, Carey Wilson, Richard Goldstone, Dema Harshberger, Hedda Hopper, Ida Koverman, Fred Beetson, Myron Lustig, John Peere Miles, George Glass, Al Vaughan, Jules Seltzer, John LeRoy Johnston, Edmund O'Brien, Nancy Kelly, Mrs. Ferman Schoonover, John Joseph, Gloria Jean, Jane Darwell, Frank Seltzer, Lou Smith, Rose Josephs, Don McElwaine, Richard Condon, Margaret Ettinger, Janet Martin, Jack Jungmeyer, Jr., Robert S. Taplinger, Douglas Churchill, Charles Koerner, Eliston Vinson, Perry Lieber, Russel Moon, Barret McCormick, Terry Turner, Glenn Ford, Bob Doman, John Campbell, Albert A. Galston, Victor M. Shapiro, Tom S. Pettey, Phil Gersdorf, Joe Reddy, Ben Wallerstein, Lou Halper, George Weiss, Ira Genet, Gordon Hollingshead, Ed Finney, Julius Evans, Danel T. O'Shea, Carl J. Walker, Leo Miller.

A TERRELL ANIMATION

Working plans and finished animation placed atop boxoffice of Loew's Capitol, Washington, for "Go West". Motion supplied by turntable, each figure attached to a Tinker toy arm, weighted. Top of arm was set in moton by striking stationary surface, gving animation to figures. Chico was shown kicking his feet, Groucho bobbing head and rolling eyes. Included, but not shown, were figures of Harpo playing harp, and kicking blonde. Dan Terrell, ad head, credits Tom Whitten and Bob Gazam, house artists, for construction.

Music Contest Run by Wheeler

With "The Hard Boiled Canary" dealing for the most part with the National High School Music Camp at Interlochen, Mich., about 150 miles north of South Bend, where Ray Wheeler holds forth at the Granada, the Round Tabler struck upon the idea of conducting a series of voice recordings from the local high school music department. These recordings which could be made any time between March 1st and 20th were rushed to Wheeler at the Coast, where he is a guest of Quigley Publications as a 1940 Grand Awards winner.

Since Allan Jones, star of the picture, was making a personal appearance in South Bend prior to picture's opening, Wheeler prevailed upon him to visit the local high school, where a general assembly of all music students was called and explain the details of the contest. When the recordings reach the theatreman in Hollywood, he will proceed with them to the Paramount Studios where Allan Jones and a group of talent scouts will select the winners. At this time Jones will also make a recording, telling just why a certain voice was selected as outstanding.

Upon his return to South Bend from the Quigley Awards ceremonies, Wheeler will play the outstanding recordings on stage opening day of picture while the winner will be presented with the Jones' recording, plus an all-expense trip for himself and chaperon to the National High School Music Camp sometime this summer.

Local schools an dnewspapers gave Ray complete coperation.

STAGE SHOWS PROVE AID TO BOXOFFICE

Managers Hook Dates to Merchants, Schools, Clubs; Contests Found Successful

Stage shows attracting boxoffice notice in combination houses are being favorably promoted as witness campaigns received on Sally Rand, Vincent Lopez, Major Bowes' Sixth Anniversary Revue and Gene Krupa. On the first, Harvey Cocks, general manager of the Quimby Circuit in Fort Wayne, Ind., aided by James Clapper, started his newspaper barrage well in advance of the Rand personal, which the theatremen tied directly to a style show sponsored by local merchant, members of the cast doing the modelling. Numerous other merchants were tied in, stores coming through with ads which included cut of the star and copy to the effect that Miss Rand chose that particular car, store, hotel, etc. during the week's stay. Also featured was a giant sale in leading dress shop at which Miss Rand made an appearance at noon. Store noted this with co-op ad and storewide attention.

Mayor Gives Lopez Key to City

Highlight of Seymour Morris' campaign for Lopez at Schine's Palace, in Lockport, N. Y., was climaxed with a luncheon on day of arrival at which the Mayor presented the maestro with the key to the city. Also present was secretary of the Chamber of Commerce and president of the merchants' association. Press photographer covered the event as did reporters who interviewed the band leader.

Advance coverage included promotion of record player and Lopez records which was used in lobby ahead with sign plugging the appearance. Store also gave window with records and machine using head of Lopez with copy that he would appear there to autograph records. All music stores were tied in with announcements, hotel where Lopez stayed taking co-op ad and musicians' local cooperating by reserving block of seats for opening. High schools were included through offer of special discount to students attending the four o'clock performance. Since the leader is a Kiwanian, a special committee from that organization was appointed to welcome him.

Curtis Lauds Bowes Auditions

Local Chrysler dealers were tied by Gene Curtis at Schine's Strand, Syracuse, for an amateur contest in connection with Major Bowes' Sixth Anniversary Revue. Entire cost was met by the agency, including cost of newspaper ads, radio, audition blanks, audition hall and grand prize which was an all-expense trip to New York and return for two people, with an audition guaranteed by Major Bowes.

Opening gun was two column ad run in dailies headed "amateurs wanted" and giving details on the contest. Spot announcements were planted on the three local stations plugging the contest and engagement of the unit. Applications were taken at the showrooms of the Chrysler agencies, where the first auditions were held. Three of the winners were presented at each show on Friday and Saturday; three additional at each of the first two Sunday shows, the winner of each of these going into the semi-finals on the third show Sunday with the final winner picked at the last show. All selections were made by audience applause.

Lambert Features Drumming Contest

An amateur drumming contest with four of the finalists appearing on the stage of the Venetian, Racine, Wis., during Gene Krupa's personal, was arranged by Manager Stan Lambert with the aid of his assistant Ed Friedwald. Milking the stunt for all it was worth, arrangements were made to present promoted set of drums in connection with a lucky number drawing Saturday following Krupa's appearance. In addition to the above, a promoted late model juke box with 20 Krupa recordings was used in lobby with card reading "You are listening to a Gene Krupa recording. See Gene Krupa and his band here in person on our stage, one day only," followed by date.

"LET'S HEAR FROM YOU"

McBride Sells "Ends Night" To College Students

Since Providence, R. I., is strongly collegiate, as the home of Brown University and Pembroke College, Eddie McBride aimed the heaviest guns of his campaign on "So Ends the Night" at Loew's State for attention of the students. Widely distributed was a herald addressed to the Harvard Lampoon refuting that publication's recent burlesquing of the various motion picture polls. Copy said that since the college publication had set itself up as judge and jury on motion pictures, "What's your verdict here?"

For the girl students at Pembroke, McBride contrived a die cut Valentine, copy inviting the women to be a guest of the stars of the picture in a lucky number tiein. Valentines were numbered and those corresponding with figures on lobby board were admitted free of charge.

KATZ FORMS BRIGADE TO LESSEN FIRES

Following a proposal by New York City Fire Commissioner McElligott for the establishment of an auxiliary division to combat fires in and about theatres, Mel Katz of the Lane, in the Washington Heights section, hooked with the circuit's nearby Gem, has organized a fire brigade among the personnel.

Katz let this be known in the neighborhood through publicity and exploitation media, as an additional prestige builder for his situation.

Holland Arranges Breakfast Prevue

What he chose to advertise as "an event of distinction," was the breakfast prevue arranged by Sid Holland for the opening of "Back Street" at the Palace, in Akron, Ohio, and to which representatives of city's most important women's organizations were invited. Reception and breakfast was held at cooperating restaurant, one of the nicer spots in town, at 9 a.m., after which the women were escorted to the theatre for the showing. Reaction cards were distributed, and permission solicited for their advertising and publicity uses.

Purchasing sufficient copies of the cheap edition of the book, Holland ripped the covers off and overprinted each page in red with copy to the effect that holders should read each side of the page. If a situation therein described was illustrated in scene stills on display in theatre lobby, the sheet was accepted for admission. Some 6,000 of these pages were used as stuffers by local chain and food stores, clerks receiving courtesy ticket for their cooperation.

Going after additional business, Sid arranged with Western Union at a reduced rate, for the delivery by uniformed boys of wires to the secretaries of various clubs while meetings were in session. Messages expressed the hope that the particular group would arrange a theatre party to see the picture. For his street bally, Holland unearthed a 1901 model car which, appropriately bannered, offered "gratis rides to see Back Street at the Palace."

"LET'S HEAR FROM YOU"

Window Displays Exploit "Back Street" for Stadler

Numerous merchant tieups were effected by Art Stadler at Schine's Auburn, in Auburn, N. Y., in connection with "Back Street." Druggist distributed lucky number bags with guest tickets involved, book store featured Fannie Hurst novels, in addition to running ad in papers, beauty shop came through with five permanents and dress shop featured window displays. Through tieup with important bowling alleys in town, Art offered guest tickets to high scorers. All displayed signs plugging the picture and contest.

For "Western Union" miniature and jumbo wires were featured, entire staff dressed as Western Union boys during run and ballyhoo consisted of giant wire addressed to the Mayor, toted through streets for all to see. Indians in complete regalia came in from nearby reservation for personal appearance on stage and personal letters were sent to the heads and teachers of local and rural schools in addition to displaying study charts at high school.

"LET'S HEAR FROM YOU"

Erects Statue of Liberty Display

In addition to getting a Mayoral proclamation on "Land of Liberty," Nate Gould, Orpheum, St. Joseph, Mo., arranged for a giant replica of the Statue of Liberty to be displayed with appropriate stills and copy in a leading window.

Plays Dan Cupid On "Love" Date

When several boys at the local colleges asked Bert Leighton at the Grand, Lancaster, Pa., for stills or other material on "This Thing Called Love," to hang in their rooms, the Round Tabler got up attractive displays with theatre and playdate copy and presented them to the students.

In addition, Leighton sponsored contests at two of the colleges in which entrants were requested to write a letter of not more than 200 words on "What Is This Thing Called Love?" For the best five letters, guest tickets were awarded. Leighton also played the role of Dan Cupid on opening day, running story in newspapers to effect that all couples taking out licenses on that day would be admitted gratis.

Street broadcast was used week ahead with all participating queried on "this thing called love"; guest tickets went here too. Merchant tieups included window displays of sheet music and records with appropriate tiein copy; department store featured fashion stills of Rosalind Russell in their various departments and 11 by 14 cards mounted in frames were featured in downtown section.

"LET'S HEAR FROM YOU"

Local Movie Slant Arranged by Kidwell

Reported as attracting considerable attention locally is the stunt engaged in by Round Tabler Ed Kidwell at Schine's Kent, in Kent, Ohio, whereby motion pictures are taken at local schools and later shown at the theatre. To usher in the novelty, Kidwell distributed handbills and planted announcements in grade schools to the effect that motion pictures would be made of youngsters attending a specified matinee show.

As an added attractor, a special cartoon show was arranged for the occasion, and movies were made of the contestants in the stage activities. Screen trailer publicized the showing of these films for the following Saturday matinee. With this as a starter, the theatreman plans to cover every grade school making movies of the youngsters during recess period. Each following Saturday will be dedicated to a particular school.

"LET'S HEAR FROM YOU"

Indian Street Ballyhoo Plugs "White Eagle" Serial

Sid Munter, manager of Warners' Grand Opera House, Wilmington, Del., recruited a live display for his "White Eagle" serial, bally walking through the town in Indian regalia. Neat window display consisting of Indian relics was planted and heralds distributed at schools and house-to-house.

For "Chambers of Horrors," Sid fashioned a large display board with 11 by 14 teasers, which included wool stockings for people who get cold feet, smelling salts for people who might faint, hot water bottle for people susceptible to chills, "rubber gloves" to keep patrons from biting their nails, and a "candle" for those afraid to go home in the dark after seeing the picture. Sid also built a show-case displaying the remains of the last victim of the "Chambers of Horrors" and a torture chamber for lobby.

STATION SIGNS OFF WITH "NIGHT" TITLE

One of the highlights of Round Tabler Bill Elder's campaign for the engagement of "So Ends Our Night" at Loew's, in Harrisburg, Pa., was his arrangement with Station WHP for a nightly sign-off: "This is Station WHP in Harrisburg signing off . . . So Ends Our Night". Spot announcements were also arranged for.

Additional radio coverage included address by leading clergyman to student body of Lebanon Valley College, with a later discussion of the picture over WKBO. Clergyman also used the theme as his text for a lecture from the pulpit.

Taylor Holds "Flight" Screening For Newspapermen and Pilots

Good for plenty of stories and art breaks was the special screening of "Flight Command" for newspapermen and famous test pilots held by Charles Taylor, advertising and publicity director for Shea's Great Lakes Theatre, in Buffalo. Arrangements were also made for a demonstration of powerful anti-aircraft searchlights of a local battalion.

School cooperation was obtained and cards posted on all bulletin boards in educational centers. Outstanding display of model airplanes was placed in lobby 10 days ahead and radio announcements used on two local stations at frequent intervals one week ahead. Special front was built with airplane action featuring large sign placed over boxoffice.

"LET'S HEAR FROM YOU"

Querrie Publishes Anniversary Paper

Unusual newspaper issue, bound in cardboard covers with cartoon head of Manager C. L. Querrie, was used by the Famous Players Canadian theatreman to publicize the twentieth anniversary of the circuit's Palace, in Toronto.

Four-page spread inside carried background material and a personal message from Querrie to his patrons. Merchants' ads on inside paid entire cost of printing and distribution of the special edition.

Local "Foyle" Foils Public

Working on the premise that "you can fool some of the people, some of the time," Roy Prytz, went into cahoots with local radio station man-on-the-street announcer and arranged an interview with one of his cashiers, in connection with opening of "Kitty Foyle." Girl was foisted on the unsuspecting public as possessing the same name as the picture title, and having travelled in from one of the rural districts for the express purpose of seeing the picture that so recklessly used her name for a title.

Telegram addressed to the president of the local business girls' club called attention to the picture's opening, and numerous window displays were arranged.

For "Li'l Abner," Prytz contacted doughnut shop which featured an "Abner" doughnut and gave away a quarter dozen free with each purchase. Round Tabler also made arrangements with regular Sunday morning comic page commentator to make special announcements to kids about the showing. Newspaper coverage included strip on comic page, with readers and art planted elsewhere in the paper.

"LET'S HEAR FROM YOU"

Bole Seeks Audience Recruit On "A Girl, a Guy and a Gob"

Obtaining cooperation from the 12th Naval District, San Francisco, for his engagement of "A Girl, A Guy and a Gob," manager George Bole at the Golden Gate Theatre promoted a display of miniature battleships for his mezzanine and a recruiting booth with gobs in attendance. Volunteer was sought from and secured in theatre audience, with recruiting officer on hand to sign him up.

Producer Harold Lloyd, Lucille Ball, George Murphy and Edmond O'Brien, stars of the picture appeared on stage, the recruiting following Lloyd's speech. In addition, same aggregation visited Commander S. S. Reynolds, witnessing additional recruits being sworn in, this being good for photographs and stories in local newspapers.

Since Bole found that the number of letters in his upright electric signs devoted to the theatre's name correspondent with the number of letters in the picture title, the theatreman used neon lights for the title and placed these over the regular theatre signs, which are 77 feet high.

Fitzpatrick Sells Public Library On Motion Picture Exhibit

Working on the idea for the past year, Ed Fitzpatrick at Loew's Poli in Waterbury, Conn., has finally sold the local library to give over the entire wing of the ground floor to a motion picture and theatrical section. News of pictures in production, latest releases, newest stage plays, etc., will be featured, as will display matter in keeping, supplied by the Round Tabler. In exchange, playdate announcements and theatre credits on the different attractions at the Poli will be carried.

Furthermore, on plays and books adapted for the screen, the personnel of the new section will telephone patrons on their mailing list, stressing that the pictures are playing at the Loew house. To keep the service up to par, Fitzpatrick is allowing the girls house privileges.

EXPLOITATION BRIEFS FROM A-FIELD

A novel gag, and one that excited plenty of word-of-mouth publicity, was that used for "Go West" by Bill Reisinger, Loew's Poli, New Haven. He ran a series of old trailers upside down and followed them with another trailer stating: "If you think this is nuts, wait till you see the Marx Bros. in 'Go West'."

▽

A contest for a local "Miss Anniversary," with a season pass as first prize, was one of the highlights of the "Gone With The Wind" campaign put over by Paul O. Klingler, Rialto, Lewiston, Pa.

▽

Records made by local film critics endorsing the picture were run just before the trailer for "Philadelphia Story" as highlights of the campaigns for the film put over by F. J. Sorenson, Grand, Esterville, and M. J. Blair, Regent, Cedar Falls, both Iowa.

▽

Patrons writing the cleverest and most complimentary comments about "Come Live With Me" were awarded guest tickets good for a month, to the Strand, Muncie, Ind., as part of the campaign put over by Ivan Heche. Winning entries were used in an ad.

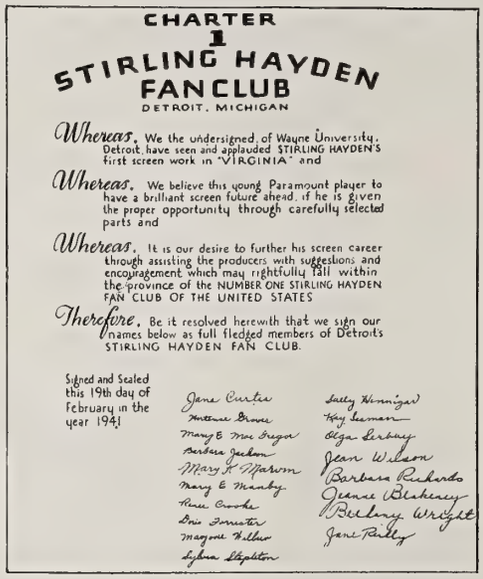
▽

For "Gone With the Wind" at Loew's Capitol, Washington, Dan Terrell promoted local jeweler for full four column ad carrying cut of Gable and Leigh tied directly to the picture. In addition, jeweler devoted entire window to display of wedding rings, background featuring blowup of the cooperative ad, and scene stills.

▽

An extra break was landed in the Houston Press recently, when Francis Deering at Loew's in connection with the anniversary showing of "Gone With The Wind" offered a complimentary ticket to patron number 50,000. Three column art together with story was run.

▽



Teaser ahead of "Four Mothers" was distributed by George Sullivan, Clifton Theatre, Huntingdon, Pa., in the form of an envelope, copy on front reading "Your Invitation to a Blessed Event." Inside carried card with copy "The 'Four Mothers' invite you to the premiere showing of their new You-Know-Whats at the" etc. etc.

▽

Through tieup effected with local restaurant, James Crawley at the Palace, Chillicothe, Ill., for his date on "Li'l Abner" promoted a luncheon special which was dedicated to the picture. In addition store paid for printing and distribution of tinted heralds in connection therewith. Scene stills with appropriate tiein cards were also featured in display in restaurant window.

▽

In order to get the women to attend the early matinees of "Back Street" at the Fisher and Riviera Theatres, Detroit, management offered autographs of the story from Charles Boyer to the first 50 attending opening day and Monday following opening.

CHARTER
1
STIRLING HAYDEN
FANCLUB
DETROIT, MICHIGAN

Whereas, We the undersigned, of Wayne University, Detroit, have seen and applauded STIRLING HAYDEN'S first screen work in "VIRGINIA" and

Whereas, We believe this young Paramount player to have a brilliant screen future ahead, if he is given the proper opportunity through carefully selected parts and

Whereas, It is our desire to further his screen career through assisting the producers with suggestions and encouragement which may rightfully fall within the province of the NUMBER ONE STIRLING HAYDEN FAN CLUB OF THE UNITED STATES

Therefore, Be it resolved herewith that we sign our names below as full fledged members of Detroit's STIRLING HAYDEN FAN CLUB.

Signed and Sealed this 19th day of February in the year 1941

Jane Curtis
Marianne Brown
Mary E. McTague
Barbara Jackson
Mary K. Marvin
Mary E. Mawby
Rose Crooks
Eric Forester
Maynie Miller
Sylvia Stapleton
Sally Hemingway
Kay Lemon
Olga Serbey
Jean Wilson
Barbara Richards
Janice Blakeney
Bulany Wright
Jane Bailey

Arranged by Ralph Stitt, advertising head of the United Detroit Theatres, in Detroit, for advance on "Virginia" was the formation of a Stirling Hayden Fan Club to honor the player in his first screen work.

Reproduced above is Charter Number One, which was drawn up by Stitt for the local Wayne University girls, signed by each and then forwarded to Hayden in Hollywood. Blowup of the resolution was on display in lobby and picked up by local dailies for further breaks.

Six columns of art on Fay Holden in character as Mother Hardy in the Hardy Family series, were planted by Dan Terrell, Loew's Washington publicist, on the woman's page of the local Times Herald.

▽

A throwaway using the line: "Fellows, are you looking for a thrill?" and followed by the theatre's phone number, was used as part of the "Trial of Mary Dugan" campaign put over by E. Yarbrough, Keeney, Elmira, N. Y. He also had a radio contest to select the ten best thrill pictures of 1940 and named "Dugan" as the thrill picture of 1941.

▽

Adding an unusual twist to the candid camera stunt as part of his "Philadelphia Story" campaign, Roscoe Drissel, Loew's, Norfolk, arranged with the local Ledger to take pictures around town of service men attached to the Naval Base there. Those identifying their photos received cash and guest tickets. The Ledger devoted plenty of space in art and stories to the idea.

▽

Setting aside a special performance for Junior High School classes, Leo Peterson, Strand, Fort Dodge, Iowa, had the students march to the theatre in a body as part of his "Land of Liberty" campaign.

Serialization of "Kitty Foyle" was planted ahead of run by Frank Shaffer at the Dixie, Staunton, Va. To create further interest, Frank planted his ad atop the last three chapters. Local book store devoted window to display of the picture version of the novel with appropriate credit cards.

▽

In conjunction with the opening of his serial "Sky Raiders," Clayton Cornell at Schine's State, in Tupper Lake, N. Y., tied in with the Boy Scout Anniversary Week celebration, members of which were invited opening day. Giant parade was held, aeroplane modelling contest was held through cooperation of five and dime store which featured window displays and tieup was made with book store tying in with Flying Aces magazine. Additional publicity was garnered by Cornell since he acted as chairman of the arrangements committee in connection with Boy Scout Week.

▽

Ahead of his date on "Star Dust" at the Granada, in Napanee, Ontario, Frank Miley, Jr., distributed cards on which was printed picture title. In small box at bottom of card, Miley sprinkled flitter, to represent stardust.

▽

To sell his date on "Barnyard Follies" at the Opera House, in Waterville, Maine, Round Tabler Ed Harrison addressed personal letters to all local members of the 4-H Clubs calling attention to the date. In addition, Ed distributed tinted cards attached to which were old fashioned corn cob pipes, promoted locally.

▽

Made from log slabs was the simulated log cabin front erected by A. E. Crowder, Jr., for his date on "Hudson's Bay" at the Dixie Theatre, in Ashdown, Ark. Title letters were spelled out across entire front. While for "Strike Up the Band," Crowder built an entire new compo front which was covered with character cutouts of the stars.

▽

A tab-sized herald with a giant "Extra!" across the top was distributed to tell the public about "The Trial of Mary Dugan" as one of the highlights of the campaign for the film put over by Henry Hall, Jefferson, Charlottesville, Va.

▽

To the first one hundred ladies who attended the opening performance of the return engagement of "Gone With the Wind," Bert Wild, Butler, Butler, Pa., presented miniature bouquets.

▽

A model airplane contest and posting of Navy "A" boards were highlights of the "Flight Command" campaign executed by J. V. Minton, Shea's, Erie, Pa.

▽

An invitation bearing the seal of the State of Montana, and sent out in the name of the Governor of the state, went to all members of the Senate and the House of Representatives as part of the campaign staged on "Land of Liberty" by Jack Edwards, Marlow, Helena.

Flag Routing Aids "Convoy"

Robert Kilgore of the Palace Theatre, Memphis, reached more than 50,000 school children in his campaign on "Convoy" through the routing of a set of British flags, including Scotland and all the empire units, to the various schools. A speaker explained to the history classes the part the flags had played in England's history, a reported first-time school promotion of this nature.

Heralds were distributed from house-to-house, special screenings held for British relief associations and special ads were used in all papers, the ad theme being "Will the British win the war?"

Battleship float was used for ballyhoo angle and was manned by British seamen in uniforms. A second novelty was a display in the lobby of knitting turned out by local members of British relief agencies. Members of the British War Relief sold emblems in the lobby and telephoned all members to come in and see "Convoy" and buy emblems.

Following the use of the British flags in schools they were spotted around the marquee in the day time and at night patrons entered the theatre through an avenue of flags. In addition to the flags an anti-aircraft gun was mounted on the marquee. Commentator from station WMC went on the air in the interest of the picture.

"LET'S HEAR FROM YOU"

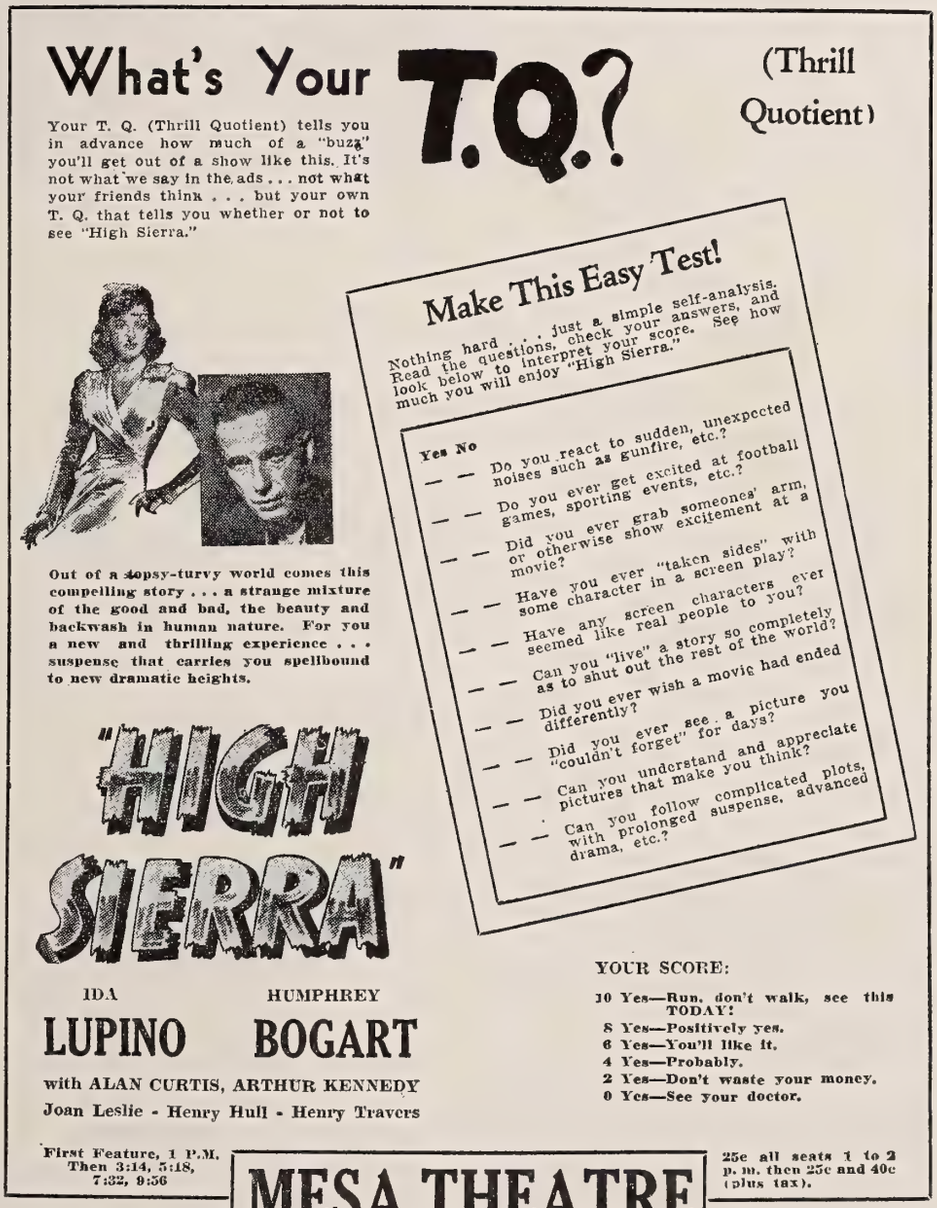
Kids Help Exploit "Thief of Bagdad"

Sid Poppay, manager of Warners' Majestic Theatre, Gettysburg, Pa., arranged for music tie-ups for "I Want to Be a Sailor" from "Thief of Bagdad." In addition bicycle rigged up with colors on wheels was used for a free ballyhoo, kids invited to ride the bike in front of the theatre.

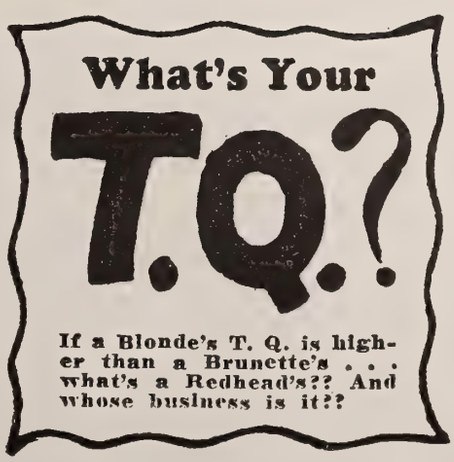
On "Li'l Abner," Sid worked out a Sadie Hawkins Day in co-operation with Gettysburg College, also promoting a sandwich tie-up with the college grill. "Flight Command" got a start with local aviator dropping heralds from the sky. During recent Scout Week, passes were awarded to Scouts bringing in best plane models.

"LET'S HEAR FROM YOU"

Schultz Lucky Number Gag



In connection with the date of "Lucky Partners" at the Princess, in Milwaukee, assistant Larry Schultz erected a lucky number game in the lobby. Game consisted of a wheel with stills from the picture used instead of numbers. Patrons were each given an opportunity to spin the sheet. If the pointer stopped on a still of Ginger Rogers or Ronald Colman, guest tickets were awarded.



"LET'S HEAR FROM YOU"

Excuse It, Please

Through an inadvertence, the draftee breakfast commented on in the March 8 issue in connection with showing of "Buck Privates" at the Roxy, in Atlanta, was credited to Tommy Read. Pardon, the honors go to Jack Hodges, who arranged the stunt at that spot.

PATCHEN TEASER ADS

A series of one-column teasers, all asking "What's Your 'T.Q.'?" but with rest of copy different in each, made up the advance campaign conceived by "Pat" Patchen, Westland city manager in Grand Junction, Colo., for "High Sierra" at the Mesa. The "what" was explained on opening day in a four-column (above) stressing Patchen's "thrill" test and answers. The teaser "T.Q.'s" and borders are chalk plates which the Round Tabler makes up himself, since engraving facilities in that sector are limited.

personalities

HERBERT L. COPELAN
who recently resigned as general manger of Warner theatres in Atlantic City, will head his own circuit in Florida.

▽

PAUL KETCHUM
manager of Schine's Paramount, Glens Falls, N. Y., resigned that post to return to his home in Oklahoma City where he will take over a house for himself. He is succeeded by GEORGE CAMERON of Geneva.

▽

LEONARD TUTTLE
is now managing the Embassy Theatre, in Bayonne, N. J.

▽

ROBERT PEFFLEY
manager of the Northio Sorg theatre, in Middletown, Ohio, has been transferred to the Strand succeeding JAMES STEMPER, who takes over the Sorg.

▽

H. R. WAGNER
has resigned as manager of the Majestic, in Seymour, Ind., to become manager of the Playhouse, in Edinburg, Ind.

▽

J. L. HANES
has reopened the Capitol Theatre, Reading, Pa.

▽

H. D. BENDIGO
has opened his new Bendigo Theatre, at Heggino, Pa.

▽

JAMES KEEFE
has returned to his post as assistant to city manager E. W. BAKER of the Evergreen theatres, Spokane, Wash. FRED HOOPER, assistant manager at the State, took over the same position at the Fox and MEL HABERMAN, assistant manager at the Fox, took a similar post at the Orpheum.

▽

L. D. PARROTT
auditor for Commonwealth Amusement Corp., Kansas City, has been shifted to Creston, Ia., as manager of the Commonwealth houses there. Other circuit changes include: MERL HILLYER of Creston goes to Kansas City to manage the suburban Benton; HOWARD WOLF is transferred from the Benton to the Varsity at Lawrence, Kan., as manager under STANLEY SCHWAHN, city manager. HAZEL RALPH becomes auditor for the city in Kansas City.

▽

T. GRAYSON POATS
for the past several manager of the Ritz Theatre, Columbia, S. C., has been transferred to Rockingham, N. C., as city manager. CURTIS H. MEES succeeds Poats, and succeeding Mees at the Strand, in Columbia, is JACK JORDAN, formerly assistant manager at the Palmetto. TOM ALLEN, former assistant at the Ritz, succeeds Jordan and the Allen post goes to FRANK D. BRYANT of Marion, S. C.

▽

A. J. SONASKY
has been transferred from the Minnesota Amusement Co. staff at Virginia, Minn., to become manager of the Loring Theatre, in Minneapolis.

DOROTHY IRENE, on February 27th, to Mr. and Mrs. H. Paul Fasshauer. Father manages the Newtown Theatre, Flushing, L. I.

▽

GERALD, to Mr. and Mrs. Manny Pearlstein. Dad heads Warners' Cleveland ad department.

▽

ROBERT PEFFLEY
manager of the Northio Sorg, Middleton, Ohio, has been transferred to the Strand, succeeding JAMES STAMPER, who takes over the Sorg.

Showmen's Calendar

APRIL

1st	All Fools' Day
	Wallace Beery's Birthday
	U. S. Mint Established—1792
3rd	Washington Irving Born—1783
	Leslie Howard's Birthday
4th	Rosemary Lane's Birthday
5th	Elihu Yale Born—1649
	Bette Davis' Birthday
	Spencer Tracy's Birthday
	Melvin Douglas' Birthday
6th	Palm Sunday
8th	Louisiana Admitted into Union—1812
	Sonja Henie's Birthday
11th	Good Friday
12th–19th	Passover (Jewish Holy Days)
13th	Easter Sunday
16th	Charlie Chaplin's Birthday
17th	Ann Shirley's Birthday
	William Holden's Birthday
18th	Paul Revere's Famous Ride—1775
19th	May Robson's Birthday
20th–26th	Be Kind to Animals Week (Sponsored by American Humane Association, Albany, N. Y.)
23rd	Shakespeare Born—1564
	Shirley Temple's Birthday
26th–May 3rd	National Boys and Girls Week (Sponsored by Boys and Girls Week Committee, Chicago, Ill.)
27th	Samuel F. Morse, Telegrapher, Born—1791
	Ulysses S. Grant (18th President) Born—1822
	Daylight Saving Time Begins
28th	James Monroe (5th President) Born—1758
	Lionel Barrymore's Birthday
30th	George Washington Became First President—1789

WILLIAM DWORSKI will manage Warner's Palace, in Lorain, Ohio and BILL HARWELL of the Ohio, Canton, succeeds Dworski at the Warner, in Mansfield.

▽

WALTER B. SHUTTEE
general manager of Standard Theatres, Oklahoma City has resigned that post, as has BERT STERN, circuit's advertising director, who will book legit attractions for the Shrine Auditorium there. Other Standard changes include: JOHNNY JONES, assistant manager of the Criterion has resigned to return to Shawnee to operate his father's Ritz Theatre, MATHEW TROTER steps up from chief of service to succeed Jones. ROBERT BUSCH has resigned as manager of the Midwest to become manager of the Uptown Theatre, just opened by Charles Ferris. JULIUS KRISCH, shorts booker has been transferred to manager of the Midwest. FRANK ROBERTS has succeeded Krisch. W. C. LEWELLEN, formerly with Joe Cooper Enterprises in Lincoln, is now supervisor in charge of downtown houses, and FORREST SWIGER is in charge of all suburban houses in a supervisory capacity.

▽

JOSEPH KINSKY
has been appointed district manager in the Omaha area territory for Tri-States Theatres. H. D. GROVE, manager of the Fort, in Rock Island, Ill., is promoted to district manager of the Davenport territory succeeding EVERT R. CUMMINGS, who resigned to handle his own exhibition interests.

▽

BILL HENDRICKS
has been placed in charge of publicity and advertising for the United Detroit West Side theatres; CLIFF BROWN of East Side and ALICE GORHAM will handle special publicity.

▽

THURMAN LUMPKIN
has been named assistant manager of the Camp Bowie Theatre, Brownwood, Tex.

▽

MARTY LEVINE
associated with the Brand circuit in New York, has taken over the Lake, in Cleveland, from Warners.

▽

OTIS B. KYGER
is managing the new Ritz, in Reading, Pa.

▽

BILL KEATING
is holding down the fort at the Roosevelt, Seattle, succeeding MAT NIGHTON, who becomes city manager for the Sterling chain at the Dallas, Oregon.

▽

WILMER B. HUFFMAN
replaces J. LESTER STALLMAN as manager of the Stanley-Warner theatres in Reading, Pa.; the latter will manage the Astor in that town.

▽

TED GAMBLE
has reported the acquisition of the Rialto and Cascadian Theatres, at Hood River, Ore., from ART S. KOLSTAD. ROY GAMBLE, brother of the purchaser will manage the Hood River houses.

1940-41 PRODUCT AT A GLANCE

On the page opposite the inside back cover of this issue appears the cumulative alphabetical index to MOTION PICTURE HERALD'S new and valuable exhibitor service section

PRODUCT DIGEST

It is a master index to all information available to date on 1940-41 product. Simply check the title of any feature you want to look up, turn to the designated page, or pages, and you have all buying and booking information up to this very minute. This is the sixth issue of the section published in MOTION PICTURE HERALD. To get the fullest value from this new service, keep all issues of PRODUCT DIGEST.

PRODUCT DIGEST is published every other week alternately with the regular release chart. The next issue of PRODUCT DIGEST will appear in MOTION PICTURE HERALD dated April 5, 1941.

The continuity of PRODUCT DIGEST information is important. Every issue will carry a cumulative index of all 1940-41 product and the section, as it accumulates, will give you synopses, casts, release dates, review dates, audience classification, Legion of Decency ratings, running time, production numbers and other valuable information.

Use PRODUCT DIGEST

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING

the great national medium for showmen

Ten cents per word, money-order or check with copy. Count initials, box number and address. Minimum insertion, $1. Four insertions for the price of three. Contract rates on application. No borders or cuts. Forms close Mondays at 5 P.M. Publisher reserves the right to reject any copy. Film and trailer service advertising not accepted. Classified advertising not subject to agency commssion. Address correspondence, copy and checks MOTION PICTURE HERALD, Classified Dept., Rockefeller Center, New York City

THEATRES

FOR SALE, TWO SMALL TOWN THEATRES IN Michigan. Now running. Write EDWIN DALTON, Flushing, Mich.

WANTED, MOVIE THEATRE, VICINITY NEW York City. Box 1387, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

FOR SALE, THEATRES IN SEVERAL STATES now operating. Have several listed for lease as well. Let me know what size and where you desire to operate. Box 1217A MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

HELP WANTED

WANTED, MANAGER FOR INDEPENDENT motion picture theatre, capable, must understand booking, send photo, experience, recommendations, and salary expected. BOX 1388, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

OPERATORS AND MANAGERS, MOVIE CIRcuits. ROSHON, Gulf States Bldg., Dallas, Tex.

BOOKKEEPING SYSTEM

THEATRE MANAGEMENT RECORD AND TAX Register. This new accounting system is the finest book of its kind ever made available to an exhibitor. In addition to being complete in every respect, it is simple—so much so that it is not necessary to have had bookkeeping experience in order to keep an accurate, complete and up-to-the-minute record of the business of your theatre. The introductory price is only $2.00 postpaid. QUIGLEY BOOKSHOP, Rockefeller Center, New York.

BUSINESS OPPORTUNITY

FOREIGN PRODUCER NOW IN AMERICA SETting up new roadshow company will consider reliable experienced roadshowmen. Must have sufficient capital, car and contracts to insure territory. Box 1209A MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

INTERNATIONAL SITUATION CREATES TREmendous theatre market for spot news service now available. Considerable research and development makes proposition possible for aggressive businessmen, amply financed to purchase stage franchise rights. If prepared to invest up to $10,000 for branch bureau and facilities to supply what may be America's outstanding industry, write at once for details. Supply financial reference for interview. Box 1212A MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

USED GENERAL EQUIPMENT

COMPLETE HIGH CLASS EQUIPMENT FOR 500-seat theatre, purchased at auction. For sale cheap. MOVIE SUPPLY COMPANY, 1318 So. Wabash Ave., Chicago, Ill.

SOME THEATRE CAN USE YOUR OLD EQUIPment. A little ad here will reach thousands of potential customers. Only ten cents a word to tell the world what you have to sell. Try it today. MOTION PICTURE HERALD, Rockefeller Center, New York.

BARGAIN, USED PEERLESS LAMPS AND Powers projectors, Mazda equipment. BOX 1381, MOTION PICTURE HERALD, Chicago, Ill.

CLOSING OUT LIGHTING EQUIPMENT. SPOTlamps 500 watt, $2.95; 1,000 watt, $7.95; 2,000 watt $10.95; Footlights, Borderlights, $1.95; Heavy Spotstands, $3.95; Hanging four cluster worklights, $5.95; Sixhole colorwheel, $2.95; General Electric Mazda bulbs. std. pkgs. 25% discount. S. O. S. CINEMA SUPPLY CORP., New York.

FOR SALE, PEERLESS LOW INTENSITY lamps at a real bargain, for cash. Box 1386, MOTION PICTURE HERALD, Chicago, Ill.

THEATRE CHAIRS, CUSHIONS, PARTS, METAL backs and metal bottoms at lowest prices. Large stock, satisfaction guaranteed. ALLIED SEATING CO., Inc., 36-38 West 13th Street, New York City.

LARGE 3 MANUAL ORGAN IN GOOD CONDItion. Will sell reasonable. VICTOR THEATRE, 1112 Harrison Avenue, Cincinnati, O.

NEW GENERAL EQUIPMENT

BUY DIRECT FROM FACTORY, SAVE MIDDLEman's profit. Blowers, air washers, variable speed pulleys, air deflectors. CONDITIONAIRE, 145 Walton St., Atlanta, Ga.

WHY NOT REPLACE YOUR METAL DISPLAY frame mouldings with newest design to conform with your architecture? Prices and literature on lobby and front display metal frames supplied upon request. Box 1208A MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

BOOKS

MOTION PICTURE SOUND ENGINEERING—547 pages; illustrated; covers every practical method and process in present-day sound engineering. Leading engineers explain every detail of apparatus and its arrangement, with diagrams, tables, charts and graphs. This manual comes straight from the workshops of the studios in Hollywood. It is indispensable to everyone working with sound equipment. Price $6.50 postpaid. QUIGLEY BOOKSHOP, Rockefeller Center, New York.

NEW 567 PAGE BOOK ON AIR CONDITIONING by Charles A. Fuller, authority on the subject. Available for theatre owners contemplating engineering changes. Book is cloth bound with index and charts and covers every branch of the industry as well as codes and ordinances regulating installation. Order now at $4.00 a copy postpaid. QUIGLEY BOOKSHOP, Rockefeller Center, New York.

RICHARDSON'S BLUEBOOK OF PROJECTION. A second revision of the Sixth Edition of Richardson's Bluebook of Projection with a complete section of Sound Trouble-Shooting Charts as well as a host of additional up-to-the-minute text on the latest equipment. Price $7.25 postpaid. QUIGLEY BOOKSHOP, Rockefeller Center, New York.

JUST PUBLISHED! 1941 EDITION OF FAME. Edited by Terry Ramsaye. The class annual of the screen, radio and stage. Recognized by executives and talent agents as the guide to box office champions. Send your order today with check or money order for $1.00. QUIGLEY BOOKSHOP, Rockefeller Center, New York.

THE 1940-41 INTERNATIONAL MOTION PICture Almanac edited by Terry Ramsaye is available. The most comprehensive reference annual of the amusement industry. More than 12,000 industry personalities are listed and it contains 57 divisions in its 1,112 pages. The new edition also carries a combination cross-indexed corporation section listing more than 300 principal companies and their executive personnel. This book of facts and figures now in its twelfth year, should be in the hands of every showman. Reserve your copy today if you have not already sent in your order. $3 plus postage. QUIGLEY BOOKSHOP, Rockefeller Center, New York.

TRAINING INSTITUTE

BETTER POSITIONS AWAIT TRAINED THEAtre employees. Learn Modern Theatre Management and Advertising. Free information. THEATRE INSTITUTE, 315 Washington, Elmira, N. Y.

PRESS OF
C. J. O'BRIEN, INC.
NEW YORK, U.S.A.

PRODUCT DIGEST

Advance information for buyers and bookers on 1940-41 product.

Synopsis

Cast

Background facts and special data of exploitation value.

(Release dates are subject to change)

THE OUTLAW (Twentieth Century-Fox)

The Story of Billy the Kid

Produced and directed by Howard Hughes.

SYNOPSIS

Doc Holliday (Walter Huston), famed as a handy man with a gun, rides into Lincoln, New Mexico, on the stage. His horse, Jimmy, has been stolen. In Lincoln he runs into Pat Garrett (Thomas Mitchell), the sheriff, an old friend of Doc's. Outside of a dentist's office Doc finds his horse. Jimmy's new owner is a mere boy, hardly out of his teens. He is Billy the Kid (Jack Buetel).

Billy has bought the horse from a man in Sante Fe Springs and refuses to give him up. Pat Garrett, attempting by a ruse to disarm the Kid, is knocked down. Garrett is apoplectic with rage but can't do anything about it. Doc is secretly amused and he and the Kid leave Garrett nursing his jaw. Later, the Kid, preparing to bed down for the night, is shot at. He grapples with his assailant and is amazed to discover that his would-be murderer is a girl, Rio McDonald (Jane Russell), part Mexican and sister of a boy Billy had killed.

Next morning Doc rounds up another horse, finds Billy and the two of them head for a ranch near Fort Sommer. They stop in a saloon for a bite to eat, decide to play poker. There is an argument, a man is killed and Billy is wounded. Doc takes the wounded Kid to the home of Rio and her aunt.

Garrett and his posse chase Doc for days while Billy lies in a serious condition. When it appears that Billy will die, Rio summons a priest and marries Billy. The Kid gets better but he doesn't know he is married to Rio. Doc returns and learns of the marriage. Rio swears him to secrecy. Doc and Billy ride off after Billy has insulted Rio by preferring the horse, Jimmy, to her when Doc asked him to take his pick. Camping in the desert they find Rio has filled their canteens with sand.

Enraged Billy returns to Rio and forces her to accompany him. Garrett discovers a woman's footprints, follows them to where Rio is hung by wet raw-hide, her wrists lashed to the limb of a tree. Billy is captured by Garrett. They are attacked by Indians and Billy once again is wounded. At the fadeout Billy and Doc are bickering over Jimmy.

CAST

Pat Garrett.....Thomas Mitchell
Doc Holliday.....Walter Huston
Billy the Kid.....Jack Buetel
Rio McDonald.....Jane Russell
Bartender.....Pat West

SPECIAL REMARKS

This marks Howard Hughes first production since 1932, when he produced "Scarface" and "Sky Devils." Mr. Hughes was the producer of "The Front Page" and "Hell's Angels."

Release date, March 21, 1941.

Complete Index to PRODUCT DIGEST SECTION On Page 96

VIVACIOUS LADY (Reissue) (RKO Radio)

Comedy-Romance

Produced and directed by George Stevens.

SYNOPSIS

Peter Morgan (James Stewart) is in New York to look for his cousin, Keith (James Ellison), who is on his bi-annual binge. After a round of the night clubs, Peter finally finds him listening to the singing of Francey Brent (Ginger Rogers). Forgetting all about Keith, Peter falls for Francey. She falls for him, too, and they get married. Keith wonders gloomily what Peter's father, straight-laced President Morgan (Charles Coburn) of the college at Old Sharon, will say.

When the train pulls in at Old Sharon, Mr. Morgan and Helen (Frances Mercer) are waiting. Because Peter doesn't believe it would be a good time to explain about his marriage, he has Keith lead Francey off to his apartment. Every time that he does try to explain something interferes and finally, Francey has to enroll in one of the classes to see him.

Francey is convinced she should leave Peter, who is an instructor at the college, but he persuades her to stay. Helen sees Peter leaving Francey's room by fire escape and reports her findings to Mrs. Morgan (Beulah Bondi). Mrs. Morgan interviews Francey and hears the truth of the marriage. Meanwhile, Peter has told his father. The father and the mother, who is on Francey's side, argue over the marriage. Both women find themselves leaving their husbands. They are on the train when Peter and his father arrive hurriedly and things are patched up.

CAST

Francey ..... Ginger Rogers
Peter ..... James Stewart
Keith ..... James Ellison
Mrs. Morgan ..... Beulah Bondi
Mr. Morgan ..... Charles Coburn
Helen ..... Frances Mercer
Jenny ..... Phyllis Kennedy
Apt. Manager .....Franklin Panghorn
Culpepper ..... Grady Sutton

SPECIAL REMARKS

First released in May of 1938, this production is being re-issued because its stars, Ginger Rogers and James Stewart, are the 1940 Academy Award winners. It was reviewed in MOTION PICTURE HERALD, issue of May 7, 1938.

Release date, March 28, 1941

MAJOR BARBARA (United Artists)

Romantic Drama

Produced and directed by Gabriel Pascal. Scenario and dialogue by George Bernard Shaw.

SYNOPSIS

Adolphus Cusins (Rex Harrison), a young professor, idly attending a Salvation Army meeting, is attracted to Barbara Undershaft (Wendy Hiller), a Salvation Army major who is conducting the meeting. By pretending to be a repentant sinner he meets her. Barbara takes Cusins home to meet her family and to his surprise, he discovers she is the daughter of Andrew Undershaft, powerful armaments manufacturer. Cusins joins the Salvation Army to be near Major Barbara. Several months later they become engaged.

Lady Britomart (Marie Lohr), Barbara's mother, disapproves of both her daughter's devotion to the Salvation Army and her engagement to the penniless Cusins. Another daughter, Sarah (Penelope Dudley-Ward), is engaged to an equally impecunious young man, Charles Lomax (David Tree). In addition, her son Stephen (Walter Hudd) lacks interest in his father's business. She asks her husband, from whom she has been separated for many years, to come to her house to meet his grownup children.

Undershaft (Robert Morley) is happy to renew acquaintance with his family, particularly Barbara, with whom he strikes up a warm friendship although they have opposite convictions. Undershaft promises to visit the Salvation Army shelter if Barbara will visit her father's munitions factory. Undershaft arrives at the shelter in time to see Barbara deal cleverly with Bill Walker (Robert Newton), a bully. Barbara has almost won him over to the cause of right and justice when her father, at the request of the Army General, gives her a check for fifty thousand pounds, although Bill's offer of a single pound note has been turned down.

Barbara visits the munitions factory and is surprised to find the workers living happily in a bright community. Undershaft, meanwhile, has taken a liking to Cusins and suggests he become his successor as head of the factory. Cusins accepts and he and Barbara start in search of a house in the village.

CAST

Major Barbara Undershaft.....Wendy Hiller
Adolphus Cusins.....Rex Harrison
Andrew Undershaft.....Robert Morley
Bill Walker.....Robert Newton
Snobby Price.....Emlyn Williams
Mrs. Baines.....Sybil Thorndike
Lomax .....David Tree
Sarah .....Penelope Dudley-Ward
Lady Britomart.....Marie Lohr
Stephen .....Walter Hudd

UNDER AGE (Columbia)

Drama

Directed by Edward Dmytryk.

SYNOPSIS

Jane Baird (Nan Grey) and her younger sister, Edie (Mary Anderson), homeless and friendless, are released from the county detention home. As they leave they are accosted by Tap Manton (Alan Baxter), gangster, who promises them employment with the House By the Side of the Road, Inc., a system of tourist camps, operated by the Widow (Leona Maricle), ostensibly a clubwoman but actually a racketeer. After days of fruitless job-hunting, Jane accedes to Edie's persuasion and they meet the Widow who assigns them to House 42, located in the middle west. It is a combination tourist camp, bar and restaurant.

Their job is to flag expensive cars on the road and get the men to spend their money at the tourist camp. Jane's first pick-up is wealthy Rocky Stone (Tom Neal). Rocky is wise to the racket but gives Jane a ride and they stop at the camp. Tap, learning that Rocky is carrying $60,000 in jewelry, steals it. Rocky, suspecting Jane, calls the Widow and threatens her with a court action. The Widow is not impressed. Rocky in anger runs Jane to earth in another camp. When Edie is killed by Tap for knowing too much, Jane turns to Rocky for help. He has Tap taken to a lonely house and turned over to the girls he has wronged. Tap confesses, implicating the Widow and the police close in.

CAST

Jane Baird.....Nan Grey
Tap .....Alan Baxter
Rocky .....Tom Neal
Edie .....Mary Anderson
Minnie .....Patti McCarty
Albert .....Don Beddoe
Widow .....Leona Maricle
Rhoda .....Wilmer Francis
Jackie .....Barbara Kent

Release date, April 24, 1941

THEY MET IN ARGENTINA (RKO Radio)

Romance and Music

Produced by Lou Brock. Directed by Leslie Goodwins and Jack Hively.

SYNOPSIS

It is Pan-American Day at the race track in Buenos Aires. Tim Kelly (James Ellison), North American, meets Lolita O'Shea (Maureen O'Hara), tempestuous Argentine heiress, in the grandstand where she is selling cigarettes for the Inter-national Good Will Fund. An old friend of Lolita's is Alberto Delmonte (Alberto Vila), young Argentine, who proposes every time they meet. Near the grandstand Tim meets Duke Farrel (Buddy Ebsen). Both work for George Hastings (Robert Middlemas), wealthy Texas oil man.

Duke has a string of Hastings' race horses under his care and Tim is seeking to obtain one of the horses owned by the haughty Don Enrique de los Santos O'Shea (Robert Barrat), Lolita's father. Santiago (Joseph Buloff), an old gaucho, is befriended by Tim. Santiago arranges for Tim and Duke to stay at the O'Shea estancia on the pretext of buying prize bulls. Lolita is angered when she learns that Tim is more interested in obtaining a horse rather than in making love to her and plans to spoil Tim's game.

Santiago, in an effort to impress Don Enrique with Tim's bravery, arranges for a ferocious gaucho, Pedro (Fortunio Bonanova), to stage a knife fight with Tim. Pedro, by mistake, picks on Duke and nearly frightens him to death. Tim is forced to bid at the auction for the champion bull and finds himself the owner. A gay fiesta follows the auction.

Following a game of El Pato, the long forbidden gaucho game, in which Tim rescues Alberto after he had been attacked by one of the contestants, Don Enrique tells Tim he will give the horse, Lucero, to him on condition that Tim leaves for the States at once. Tim agrees, believing Lolita despises him. Lolita follows Tim and they return to the estancia where matters are straightened out.

CAST

Lolita O'Shea.....Maureen O'Hara
Tim Kelly.....James Ellison
Alberto Delmonte.....Alberto Vila
Duke .....Buddy Ebsen
Don Enrique.....Robert Barrat
Santiago .....Joseph Buloff
Panchita .....Diosa Costello
Nina Maria.....Victoria Cordova
Pedro .....Fortunio Bonanova
George Hastings.....Robert Middlemas

SPECIAL REMARKS

Richard Rodgers and Lorenz Hart wrote 10 songs for this picture. They are "North America Meets South America," "We're on the Track," "Contrapunto," "Simpatica," "You've Got the Best of Me," "Carefree Carretero," "Amarillo," "Lolita," "Cutting the Cane" and "Never Go to Argentina If You Don't Dance." The production also serves to introduce Alberto Vila, South American screen, stage and radio star.

Release date, April 25, 1941

STRANGE ALIBI (Warners-First National)

Melodrama

Associate producer, William Jacobs. Directed by D. Ross Lederman.

SYNOPSIS.

Joe Geary (Arthur Kennedy), young sergeant of detectives, is accused by Chief Sprague (Jonathan Hale) of putting in a false report regarding one Crips Vosson (Paul Phillips), a collector for a gambling ring, in front of Captain Reddick (Cliff Clark), in charge of the North Bay precinct, and his lieutenant, Pagle (Stanley Andrews). Joe is removed from the force. Later, in a hideaway apartment, Joe meets Chief Sprague and it becomes clear that the fight between them had been staged so Joe would have reason for joining the gambling ring. Joe doesn't even tell his sweetheart, Alice (Joan Perry), the truth.

Joe forces Durkin (Ben Welden), owner of a tough saloon, to pay off to the gambling syndicate, a move which results in the Big Shot sending for him. To Joe's surprise, he finds that the Big Shot is actually Captain Reddick and his assistant, Pagle. Joe reports to Chief Sprague but Pagle, who has trailed Joe, kills Sprague and wounds Joe. Joe is convicted of Sprague's murder. Joe and another convict, Tex (John Ridgely), manage to escape in an ambulance. Joe's ambition is to find Benny McKay (Joe Downing), who witnessed the murder. Benny is dead when Joe finds him.

Joe props the body of Benny in a car outside of Governor Phelps' (Charles Trowbridge) apartment and forces the Governor to disguise his voice and call Reddick and say that Benny is sitting in a car in front of the apartment. Soon Pagle approaches and fires at the body of Benny. The Governor has his proof. Joe is freed and Pagle is caught. He confesses.

CAST

Joe Geary.....Arthur Kennedy
Alice Devlin.....Joan Perry
Chief Sprague.....Jonathan Hale
Tex.....John Ridgely
Katie.....Florence Bates
Governor Phelps.....Charles Trowbridge
Captain Reddick.....Cliff Clark
Lieut. Pagle.....Stanley Andrews
Monson.....Howard da Silva
Captain Allen.....Wade Boteler
Durkin.....Ben Welden
Benny McKaye.....Joe Downing
Crips Vosson.....Paul Phillips

Release date, April 19, 1941

MAN-MADE MONSTER (Universal)

Melodrama

Associate producer, Jack Bernhard. Directed by George Waggner.

SYNOPSIS

Big Dan McCormick (Lon Chaney, Jr.) is the sole survivor of an electric train crash. Intrigued by Dan's apparent immunity to electricity, Dr. John Lawrence (Samuel S. Hinds), electro-biologist, asks Dan to visit his laboratory where Lawrence's assistant, Dr. Rigas (Lionel Atwill) is conducting experiments to prove human life can be motivated and controlled by electricity. Dan lends himself to tests and he becomes a superman, a human robot controlled by Rigas. Lawrence tries to stop the experiment but Rigas orders Dan to kill him.

Rigas then removes the electricity and Dan becomes a walking shell. Despite efforts of June Meredith (Anne Nagel), Lawrence's niece, and reporter Mark Adams (Frank Albertson) to help him, Dan is sentenced to the electric chair. The electricity returns him to superhuman status and he escapes. He kills Rigas and then, donning a rubber suit to encase his electric energy, Dan picks up June and is carrying her off when the suit catches on a wire fence. The electricity passes from his body into the wire.

CAST

Dr. Rigas ..... Lionel Atwell
Dan McCormick.....Lon Chaney, Jr.
June Meredith.....Anne Nagel
Mark Adams ..... Frank Albertson
Dr. Lawrence.....Samuel S. Hinds
District Attorney .....William Davidson
Detective Sergeant ..... Ben Taggart

Release date, March 28, 1941

BORDER VIGILANTES (Paramount)

Western

A Harry Sherman Production. Directed by Derwin Abrahams. Based on characters created by Clarence E. Mulford.

SYNOPSIS

The miners of Silver City are robbed frequently despite the Border Vigilantes because Henry Logan (Victor Jory), leader of the Vigilantes, also is leader of the bandits. He seeks control of the mines for himself and his lieutenants, Jim Yager (Tom Tyler) and Lafe Willis (Britt Wood). Dan Forbes (Morris Ankrum), a miner, sends for "Hopalong" Cassidy of the Bar 20 ranch in Arizona to come to Silver City.

Logan sends his henchman Stone (Hal Taliaferro) out to prevent Cassidy from reaching town. Stone ambushes Cassidy and his pals, "Lucky" (Russell Hayden) and "California" (Andy Clyde), but they shoot their way out. Cassidy arrives at the Forbes home. Forbes, meanwhile, has been wounded by Yager in a street fight. After a talk with Forbes, "Hoppy" becomes convinced Logan is the tip-off man. He decides to set a trap.

A shipment of silver from the miners is sent to the railroads, convoyed by Cassidy. When the expected hold-up occurs, it is discovered that the shipment contains iron bars. Logan, Yager and Willis begin to suspect each other of treachery and fight it out. As they fight Cassidy rushes them, followed by the embittered miners.

CAST

"Hopalong" Cassidy.....William Boyd
"Lucky" Jenkins ..... Russell Hayden
"California" Carlson ..... Andy Clyde
Henry Logan ..... Victor Jory
Dan Forbes ..... Morris Ankrum
Helen Forbes ..... Frances Gifford
Jim Yager ..... Tom Tyler
Ed Stone ..... Hal Taliaferro
Lafe Willis ..... Britt Wood

Release date, April 18, 1941

SIS HOPKINS (Republic)

Comedy

Associate producer, Robert North. Directed by Joseph Santley.

SYNOPSIS

Horace Hopkins (Charles Butterworth) retires from active business and newspapers whimsically caption his portrait: "Jobless after thirty years." Back in the hillbilly country, his niece, Sis Hopkins (Judy Canova), reading the caption believes her uncle broke. She invites him to come and live on the farm until he gets on his feet again. Horace, fed up with his socially ambitious wife (Katherine Alexander) and his selfish daughter, Carol (Susan Hayward) accepts. He arrives at the farm just in time to see it burn to the ground. Horace, in turn, invites Sis to his home.

Sis finds it difficult to understand city ways, and she becomes a thorn in the flsh of her cousin Carol, who is trying to land the musically inclined socialite Jeff Farnsworth (Bob Crosby). Sent to college, Sis makes a hit with Jeff and the music professor (Jerry Colonna). She is a success in the college musical production. Consumed by jealousy Carol plots her revenge. She takes Sis to a burlesque theatre and sends her out on the stage to sing. Carol has tipped off the police and the theatre is raided.

With the aid of Vera de Vere (Mary Ainsley), dancer, Sis escapes to the Hopkins home, where Horace drapes his wife's fur coat around Vera. Vera gives the coat to Sis to return to her aunt. The police close in and arrest her. Branded as a thief and a strip-tease artist, Sis is ousted from college. Horace makes the necessary explanations in time for Sis to be reinstated and appear in the play.

CAST

Sis Hopkins.....Judy Canova
Jeff Farnsworth.....Bob Crosby
Horace Hopkins.....Charles Butterworth
Professor .....Jerry Colonna
Carol Hopkins.....Susan Hayward
Clara Hopkins.....Katherine Alexander
Ripple .....Elvia Allman
Cynthia .....Carol Adams
Phyllis .....Lynn Merrick
Vera de Vere.....Mary Ainsley

SPECIAL REMARKS

Mabel Normand, favorite comedienne of the silent screen, played the role of "Sis Hopkins" in 1919. Songs by Jule Styne and Frank Loesser are "That Ain't Hay," "Well! Well!" "Cracker Barrel County," "Look at You, Look at Me" and "If You're in Love." Old songs include "Wait for the Wagon," "Some of These Days" and "Flow Gently, Sweet Afton."

Release date, April 12, 1941

REPENT AT LEISURE (RKO Radio)

Comedy Drama

Produced by Cliff Reid. Directed by Frank Woodruff.

SYNOPSIS

Emily Baldwin (Wendy Barrie), although dressed for her wedding to Prince Paul (Rafael Storm), a titled foreigner, finds that she cannot marry a man she does not love. Encouraged by her father, R. C. Baldwin (George Barbier), she flees from the house in her bridal attire. A block from her house she boards a Fifth Avenue (New York) bus, and by chance seats herself beside Richard Hughes (Kent Taylor), a young man employed in a minor capacity in her father's store. He loans her a dime for bus fare and Emily tells him she is a model. He makes a date with her.

Emily secretly returns home, packs a suit case and arranges with her father to inform Prince Paul and her mother (Nella Walker) that she has gone to friends in California. She keeps her date with Richard, and because he thinks she has no money, he turns over his apartment to her and bunks in with a friend. Reporting for work next day, Richard learns that all single men are to be discharged. He explains his plight to Emily and they get married. She informs her father.

Invited to the home of Mr. Morgan (Charles Lane), Richard's immediate superior, Emily gets them into trouble by saying they have a baby. To cover themselves they adopt a baby from a foundling home. Morgan discovers Emily is Baldwin's daughter and spreads the information over the store. Richard, still unaware of Emily's real name, is made manager of the store. When he does learn the truth he leaves Emily, resigns from the store and joins a rival department store. He makes competition so keen that Baldwin consents to a merger. Emily and Richard are re-united when the baby gets lost in the toy department of the Baldwin store. They thought the baby had been kidnapped.

CAST

Emily Baldwin.....Wendy Barrie
Richard Hughes.....Kent Taylor
Prince Paul.....Rafael Storm
R. C. Baldwin.....George Barbier
Mrs. Baldwin.....Nella Walker
Jay Buckingham.....Thurston Hall
Mr. Morgan.....Charles Lane
Mrs. Morgan.....Cecil Cunningham
Miss Flynn.....Ruth Dietrich
Rufe .....“Snowflake” Toones

Release date, April 4, 1941

HORROR ISLAND (Universal)

Melodrama

Associate producer, Ben Pivar. Directed by George Waggner.

SYNOPSIS

Bill Martin (Dick Foran), opportunist promoter, owns Morgan's Island, an uninhabited rock off the coast of Florida. The fact that there is an old deserted castle on the island, believed to have been the hideout of Morgan, the pirate, convinces Tobias Clump (Leo Carrillo), peg-legged old seafarer, that the treasure map he has found is a genuine chart to hidden treasure on the island. Tobias is attacked and half of the map is stolen. Jasper Quinley (Hobart Cavanaugh), cartographer, tells Tobias, Bill and "Stuff" (Fuzzy Knight) the map is a phoney.

Nevertheless, they set out for the island on Bill's boat, the Skiddoo, with ten passengers aboard, including Bill's wealthy cousin, George (John Eldredge); Wendy (Peggy Moran), a society girl; Thurman Coldwater (Lewis Howard), Wendy's escort; Rod Hogan (Ralf Harolde) and his moll, Arleen (Iris Adrian), ducking the law; McGoon (Walter Catlett), a private detective, and Jasper.

Arriving at the castle things happen in quick succession. Rod, then Tobias' mysterious attacker and finally George are ruthlessly killed and Wendy and "Stuff" disappear. Thurman sleeps through the night of terror as does Jasper. But when Jarper feigns a sleep-walking act, Bill accuses him of the murders. Jasper, who turns out to be a crafty maniac, is killed in the act of revealing the buried treasure. Then a government agent arrives to buy the island for a naval base.

CAST

Bill Martin ..... Dick Foran
Wendy Creighton ..... Peggy Moran
Tobias Clump .....Leo Carrillo
“Stuff” Oliver ..... Fuzzy Knight
Thurman Coldwater.....Lewis Howard
Rod Hogan ..... Ralf Harolde
George ..... John Eldredge
Stranger ..... Emmett Vogan
Arleen ..... Iris Adrian
Jasper Quinley ..... Hobart Cavanaugh
McGoon ..... Walter Catlett

Release date, March 28, 1941

A SHOT IN THE DARK (Warner Brothers)

Former Title—No Hard Feelings

Melodrama

Directed by William McGann.

SYNOPSIS

Peter Kennedy (William Lundigan), a reporter, and Bill Ryder (Regis Toomey), a detective, are in Phil Richards' (Ricardo Cortez) night club chatting with Dixie Waye (Nan Wynn), songstress. A farewell party, which is being given by Richards, who has sold out to George Kilpatrick (Theodore Von Eltz), is interrupted by “Slug” Schaeffer (John Gallaudet), racketeer. Schaeffer makes Richards an offer for the club and is refused. Schaeffer leaves.

Then Claire Winters (Lucia Carroll), ex-girl friend of Richards, threatens to shoot him because he is retiring to marry Helen Armstrong (Maris Wixon). Richards disarms her. Peter, in search of a story, goes to the airport to meet Kilpatrick, who is shot while talking to him. Schaeffer is arrested and Claire Winters the other suspect is found murdered in a hotel room. Schaeffer confesses to the murder but Ryder doesn't believe him. Ryder suspects Helen's supposed brother, Roger Armstrong (Don Douglas).

Ryder and Peter visit the “Armstrongs,” where they learn that Helen was once Kilpatrick's wife. Richards enters, gun in hand. The “Armstrongs” make their escape but after a gun duel and an automobile chase they crack-up and are killed.

CAST

Peter Kennedy.....William Lundigan
Dixie Waye.....Nan Wynn
Phil Richards.....Ricardo Cortez
Bill Ryder.....Regis Toomey
Helen Armstrong.....Maris Wrixon
Clare Winters.....Lucia Carroll
Roger Armstrong.....Donald Douglas
Al Martin.....Noel Madison
Schaeffer.....John Gallaudet
Naval Officer.....Frank Wilcox
George Kilpatrick.....Theodore Von Eltz

Release date, April 5, 1941

NORTH FROM THE LONE STAR (Columbia)

Western

Directed by Lambert Hillyer.

SYNOPSIS

“Flash” Kirby (Arthur Loft), leader of an outlaw gang, decides to invade the peaceful town of Deadwood. In the town is a law-abiding saloon keeper, Daggert (Eddie Cobb); Clint Wilson (Richard Fiske), a hot headed lad who owns the town's livery stable; Cannonball (“Dub” Taylor), friend of Wild Bill Hickok (Bill Elliott), and Madge Wilson (Dorothy Fay), sister of Clint.

Kirby and a henchman, Fenton (Jack Roper), ride into town and start gambling at Daggert's saloon. Unknown to Daggert the roulette operator is a confederate of Kirby's, who is enabled to win $32,000. Daggert can't pay and Kirby takes over the saloon. Kirby's men next move in on Clint and are about to take over the stable when Wild Bill arrives in town to prevent it. Wild Bill has himself made marshal and sets about ridding the place of Kirby. He is ambushed but with the help of Cannonball and Clint, who dies in the fight, wins out.

CAST

Wild Bill Hickok .....Bill Elliott
Madge Wilson .....Dorothy Fay
Cannonball .....Walter “Dub” Taylor
Clint Wilson .....Richard Fiske
Flash Kirby .....Arthur Loft
Fenton .....Jack Roper
Daggert .....Eddie Cobb

Release date, March 31, 1941

THE THIEF OF BAGDAD (United Artists)

Adventure Spectacle (Technicolor)

Produced by Alexander Korda. Directed by Ludwig Berger and Michael Powell.

SYNOPSIS

Abu (Sabu), the urchin-Thief of Bagdad, lives by his wits in the Arab city. Sent to jail, Abu steals the jailer's keys and releases Ahmad (John Justin), rightfully King of Bagdag, who has been betrayed by his Grand Vizier, Jaffar (Conrad Veidt). They seize a boat and sail to Basra, which is ruled by an aged Sultan (Miles Malleson). To look upon his daughter, the princess (June Duprez), is punishable by death but Ahmad secretly visits the princess in her garden and is enraptured. She in turn falls in love with Ahmad but flees her father's home when Jaffar comes seeking her hand in marriage.

Ahmad challenges Jaffar to a fight, whereupon Jaffer invokes a magic curse rendering Ahmad blind and changing Abu into a dog. The spell will be broken only when Jaffar holds the princess in his arms. When the princess, who has been sold to Jaffar, goes to the arms of Jaffar to break the spell, Ahmad and Abu seize a boat and follow Jaffar's ship. The small boat is wrecked and Abu, on a desert shore, comes upon a mysterious sealed bottle. He opens it and the monster Djinni (Rex Ingram) emerges. Djinni fulfills Abu's wishes, one of which includes a ruby—the All-Seeing Eye.

Abu rejoins Djinni and through the All-Seeing Eye they view Jaffar's campaign to woo the princess. The Djinni sets Ahmad down in Jaffar's palace. Jaffar orders Ahmad and the princess seized and Ahmad is thrown into a dungeon. Abu, enraged, throws the ruby at a rock and finds himself in a magic valley, honored guest of a fairy king, who presents him with a magic bow and arrow. Abu steals the king's Flying Carpet and flies to Bagdag. He slays Jaffar with the magic bow and arrow. Ahmad and the princess freed, Abu steps on his Magic Carpet and is borne off to further adventure.

CAST

Jaffar.....Conrad Veidt
Abu.....Sabu
Princess.....June Duprez
Ahmad.....John Justin Djinni.....Rex Ingram
Sultan.....Miles Malleson
The Old King.....Morton Selten
Halima.....Mary Morris
The Merchant.....Bruce Winston
Astrologer.....Hay Petrie
Singer.....Adelaide Hall
Jailer.....Roy Emerton
The Story-Teller.....Allan Jeayes

Release date, December 25, 1940

THE DEVIL COMMANDS (Columbia)

Melodrama

Produced by Wallace MacDonald. Directed by Edward Dmytryk.

SYNOPSIS

Dr. Julian Blair (Boris Karloff), college professor, has spent most of his adult life working to perfect a machine which registers people's brain waves and records them on a chart. The professor and Mrs. Blair (Shirley Warde) set out for the station to meet their daughter, Anne (Amanda Duff), returning from school. Mrs. Blair is killed in an auto accident. He tries to communicate with her through his brain wave machine but the experiment ends in Karl (Ralph Penney), his laboratory janitor, being rendered helpless.

The professor and his spiritualist helper, Mrs. Walters (Anne Revere), flee to a small New England town, where they arouse the suspicion of the natives. The professor accidentally kills Mrs. Walters. He forces his daughter to take her place in the experiment. However, the enraged townspeople are storming the house when, suddenly, the apparatus explodes and the professor is killed. His daughter is free to wed his former assistant, Richard Sayles (Richard Fiske).

CAST

Dr. Julian Blair.....Boris Karloff
Dr. Richard Sayles.....Richard Fiske
Anne Blair.....Amanda Duff
Mrs. Walters.....Anne Revere
Karl.....Ralph Penny
Mrs. Marcy.....Dorothy Adams
Seth Marcy.....Walter Baldwin
Sheriff Willis.....Kenneth MacDonald
Helen Blair.....Shirley Warde

Release date, February 3, 1941

Reviews of the five pictures on this page have appeared in* Motion Picture Herald *but synopses on them have not previously been carried in Product Digest. They are carried now for their reference value.

BUCK PRIVATES (Universal)

Comedy

Associate producer, Alex Gottlieb. Directed by Arthur Lubin.

SYNOPSIS

Slicker Smith (Bud Abbott) and Herbie Brown (Lou Costello), sneak into a theatre to elude Michael Collins (Nat Pendleton), a cop. The theatre, however, is a converted enlistment center and Slicker and Herbie are soon in the Army. With them bound for the training camp are The Andrew Sisters (themselves), who are hostesses; Randolph Parker (Lee Bowman), a rich boy with a superiority complex; Bob Martin (Alan Curtis), formerly Parker's chauffeur, and Judy Gray (Jane Frazee), also a hostess.

At camp, Slicker and Herbie discover their sergeant is an old enemy, Collins. Despite her fondness for Bob, Judy finds herself falling for Randolph, who is generally disliked by the other soldiers. However, in the war games Randolph saves Bob's life and is instrumental in gaining the victory for his outfit. Even Collins relents with Slicker and Herbie.

CAST

Randolph Parker, II.....Lee Bowman
Bob Martin.....Alan Curtis
Slicker Smith.....Bud Abbott
Herbie Brown.....Lou Costello
The Andrews Sisters.....Themselves
Judy Gray.....Jane Frazee
Sgt. Michael Collins.....Nat Pendleton
Major General Emerson.....Samuel S. Hinds
Sergeant Callahan.....Harry Strang
Mrs. Parker, II.....Nella Walker
Henry.....Leonard Elliott
Chef.....Shemp Howard
Announcer.....Mike Frankovitch

Camp Hostesses

Miss Durling — Dora Clemant
Jeanne Kelly — Elaine Morey
Kay Leslie — Nina Orla

Dorothy Darrell
and
The World Champion Boogie-Woogie Dancers as themselves

SPECIAL REMARKS

Songs include "Boogie Woogie Bugle Boy," "You're a Lucky Fellow, Mr. Smith," "Bounce Brother With a Solid Four," "I'll Be With You in Apple Blossom Time," "When Private Brown Becomes a Captain" and "I Wish You Were Here."

Release date, January 31, 1941

ARISE, MY LOVE (Paramount)

Comedy-Drama

Produced by Arthur Hornblow, Jr. Directed by Mitchell Leisen.

SYNOPSIS

The story tells of an American girl reporter, Augusta Lash (Claudette Colbert), in Europe, ever on the alert for a scoop, who stops at nothing to get one. Unknown to Tom Martin (Ray Milland), an American member of the Spanish Republican air force languishing in a Franco execution cell on charge of treason, Augusta poses as his wife, intercedes with the authorities and saves his life, all for the sake of a story.

They flee to Paris and arrive there as the European situation draws closer to the breaking point. When Augusta goes to Berlin as the Polish invasion is launched, Tom follows her there and they meet again. Escaping they return to England and are on the "Athenia" when it is torpedoed by a submarine. Rescued, Tom is pressed into service as a pilot of one of the rescue seaplanes and Augusta hurries off to the nearest telephone to inform her boss, Mr. Phillips (Walter Abel) of the sinking.

CAST

Augusta Lash.....Claudette Colbert
Tom Martin.....Ray Milland
Shep.....Dennis O'Keefe
Mr. Phillips.....Walter Abel
Pink.....Dick Purcell
Governor.....George Zucco
Father Jacinto.....Frank Puglia
Botzelberg.....Cliff Nazzarro

Release date, November 8, 1940

CONVOY (RKO Radio)

Melodrama at Sea

Produced by Michael Balcon. Directed by Pen Tennyson.

SYNOPSIS

A British cruiser, commanded by Captain Armitage (Clive Brook) arrives in port. Lieut. Cranford (John Clements) comes aboard with Admiralty orders for the cruiser to take charge of a convoy. Cranford, assigned to the cruiser, and Armitage are not strangers. Cranford had run off with Armitage's wife, then deserted her. The cruiser sails and picks up the merchant fleet.

One vessel is missing, the Seaflower, captained by Eckersley (Edward Chapman), who scorns the protection of the warship. Aboard the Seaflower is Lucy Armitage (Judy Campbell.) The Seaflower is captured by a U-Boat. A Destroyer Patrol sinks the U-Boat and the damaged Seaflower joins the convoy. Warning is received of a raider and when the Seaflower is unable to increase its speed Armitage orders Eckersley to scuttle his ship. Instead, he eludes the convoy in a fog and discovers the Nazi raider. He warns the convoy by siren and engages the raider. The Seaflower is sunk but the other merchant ships escape. Armitage gives battle to the raider. Cranford dies a hero's death. Armitage and his wife, who has been rescued, see hope for a new future.

CAST

Captain Armitage.....Clive Brook
Lieut. Cranford.....John Clements
Captain Eckersley.....Edward Chapman
Lucy Armitage.....Judy Campbell
Mabel.....Penelope Dudley-Ward
Mr. Matthews.....Edward Rigby
"Shorty" Howard.....Charles Williams
Commander Blount.....Alan Jeaves
"Dot".....Michael Wilding
Lt. Com'dr Martin.....Harold Warrender
Captain Sandeman.....David Hutcheson
Bates.....George Carney
Walker.....Charles Farrell

Release date, January 3, 1941

1940-41 FEATURES

In Sequence of Release
With Coming Attractions

COLUMBIA

Prod. No.	Title	Release Date
2201	Durango Kid	Aug. 15,'40
2032	Fugitive From a Prison Camp	Sept. 5,'40
2209	Prairie Schooners	Sept. 30,'40
2018	So You Won't Talk	Oct. 3,'40
2030	Nobody's Children	Oct. 17,'40
2202	West of Abilene	Oct. 21,'40
2038	Girls Under 21	Oct. 24,'40
2016	Blondie Plays Cupid	Oct. 31,'40
2210	Beyond the Sacramento	Nov. 14,'40
2021	The Lone Wolf Keeps a Date	Nov. 23,'40
2012	Escape to Glory	Nov. 28,'40
2024	Ellery Queen	Nov. 30,'40
2203	The Thundering Frontier	Dec. 5,'40
2031	The Great Plane Robbery	Dec. 9,'40
2033	Phantom Submarine	Dec. 20,'40
2101	Arizona	Dec. 25,'40
2211	Wildcat of Tucson	Dec. 31,'40
2005	This Thing Called Love	Jan. 2,'41
2204	The Pinto Kid	Jan. 9,'41
2029	Face Behind the Mask	Jan. 16,'41
2028	The Devil Commands	Feb. 3,'41
2212	Across the Sierras	Feb. 13,'41
2006	Adam Had Four Sons	Feb. 18,'41
2027	Meet Boston Blackie	Feb. 20,'41
2205	Outlaws of the Panhandle	Feb. 27,'41
2015	Blondie Goes Latin	Feb. 27,'41
2044	Missing Ten Days	Feb. 28,'41
2022	Lone Wolf Takes a Chance	Mar. 6,'41
2025	Ellery Queen's Penthouse Mystery	Mar. 24,'41
2213	North from the Lone Star	Mar. 31,'41
....	The Great Swindle	Apr. 10,'41
....	Penny Serenade	Apr. 17,'41
....	Under Age	Apr. 24,'41
....	Chain Gang	Apr. 28,'41
....	They Dare Not Love	Apr. 30,'41
....	She Knew All the Answers	May 15,'41
....	Naval Academy	May 22,'41
....	Fight For Life
....	And Now Good-Bye
....	Senate Page Boys
....	Her First Beau
....	Time Out for Rhythm
....	Texas
....	Return of Daniel Boone
....	Our Wife
....	Miss Madden Is Willing
....	Tonight Belongs To Us

M-G-M

Prod. No.	Title	Release Date
101	Dr. Kildare Goes Home	Sept. 6,'40
102	Wyoming	Sept. 13,'40
104	Haunted Honeymoon	Sept. 20,'40
103	Strike Up the Band	Sept. 27,'40
105	Sky Murder	Sept. 27,'40
106	Dulcy	Oct. 4,'40
107	Third Finger, Left Hand	Oct. 11,'40
109	Hullabaloo	Oct. 25,'40
108	Escape	Nov. 1,'40
110	Bitter Sweet	Nov. 8,'40
111	Gallant Sons	Nov. 15,'40
112	Little Nellie Kelly	Nov. 22,'40
115	Dr. Kildare's Crisis	Nov. 29,'40
114	Go West	Dec. 6,'40
113	Comrade X	Dec. 13,'40
116	Keeping Company	Dec. 27,'40
117	Flight Command	Jan. 3,'41
118	Maisie Was a Lady	Jan. 10,'41
...	Gone With the Wind	Jan. 17,'41
119	Philadelphia Story	Jan. 17,'41
121	Wild Man of Borneo	Jan. 24,'41
120	Land of Liberty	Jan. 24,'41
122	Come Live With Me	Jan. 31,'41
123	Blonde Inspiration	Feb. 7,'41
125	Trial of Mary Dugan	Feb. 14,'41
126	Andy Hardy's Private Secretary	Feb. 21,'41
127	Free and Easy	Feb. 28,'41
128	Rage in Heaven	Mar. 7,'41
129	The Penalty	Mar. 14,'41
124	The Bad Man	Mar. 28,'41
.....	Washington Melodram	Apr. 4,'41
...	Men of Boys Town	Apr. 11,'41
130	Ziegfeld Girl	Apr. 18,'41
...	The Stars Look Down
...	Billy the Kid
...	Love Crazy
...	A Woman's Face
...	Blossoms in the Dust
...	Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde
...	The Uniform
...	Lady Be Good
...	Dr. Kildare (Untitled)

MONOGRAM

....	Range Busters	Aug. 22,'40
....	Outsider, The	Sept. 15,'40
....	That Gang of Mine	Sept. 23,'40
....	Ape, The	Sept. 30,'40
....	Trailing Double Trouble	Oct. 1,'40
....	Drums of the Desert	Oct. 7,'40
....	Ole Swimmin' Hole	Oct. 21,'40
....	Take Me Back to Oklahoma	Nov. 11,'40
....	Phantom of Chinatown	Nov. 18,'40
....	West of Pinto Basin	Nov. 25,'40
....	Pride of the Bowery	Dec. 15,'40
....	Chamber of Horrors	Dec. 20,'40
....	Her First Romance	Dec. 25,'40
....	Rolling Home to Texas	Dec. 30,'40
....	Trail of the Silver Spurs	Jan. 4,'41
....	Dead Man's Shoes	Jan. 15,'41
....	You're Out of Luck	Jan. 20,'41
....	The Kid's Last Ride	Feb. 10,'41
....	Ridin' The Cherokee Trail	Feb. 25,'41
....	Flying Wild	Mar. 10,'41
....	Sign of the Wolf	Mar. 25,'41
....	Break the News	Apr. 10,'41
....	Forgotten Hero (re-issue) (Formerly "Hoosier Schoolboy")	Apr. 17,'41
....	Tumbledown Ranch in Arizona	Apr. 20,'41
....	Shadows in the Night	Apr. 25,'41
....	Widows of the Press	Apr. 30,'41
....	The Pioneers	May 3,'41
....	The Human Ghost	May 7,'41

PARAMOUNT

Prod. No.	Title	Release Date
4001	Rhythm on the River	Sept. 6,'40
4002	I Want a Divorce	Sept. 20,'40
4003	Rangers of Fortune	Sept. 27,'40
4004	The Quarterback	Oct. 4,'40
4005	Cherokee Strip	Oct. 11,'40
4006	Moon Over Burma	Oct. 18,'40
4007	Christmas In July	Oct. 25,'40
4008	Dancing on a Dime	Nov. 1,'40
4009	Arise My Love	Nov. 8,'40
4010	World in Flames	Nov. 15,'40
4050	Three Men From Texas	Nov. 15,'40
4011	A Night at Earl Carroll's	Dec. 6,'40
4012	Texas Rangers Ride Again	Dec. 13,'40
4013	Love Thy Neighbor	Dec. 27,'40
4014	Second Chorus	Jan. 3,'41
4051	Doomed Caravan	Jan. 10,'41
4015	Victory	Jan. 17,'41
4016	Life With Henry	Jan. 24,'41
4017	You're the One	Feb. 7,'41
4018	The Mad Doctor	Feb. 14,'41
4019	Virginia	Feb. 21,'41
4020	The Monster and the Girl	Feb. 28,'41
4021	Hard Boiled Canary	Mar. 7,'41
4052	In Old Colorado	Mar. 14,'41
4022	Lady Eve	Mar. 21,'41
4023	Las Vegas Night	Mar. 28,'41
4024	The Round-Up	Apr. 4,'41
4025	Road to Zanzibar	Apr. 11,'41
4053	Border Vigilantes	Apr. 18,'41
....	Power Dive	Apr. 25,'41
....	Reaching for the Sun	May 2,'41
....	One Night in Lisbon	May 16,'41
....	Caught in the Draft	May 30,'41
....	Pirates on Horseback	June 6,'41
....	Shepherd of the Hills	June 13,'41
....	Forced Landing	June 20,'41
....	Parson of Panamint	June 27,'41
....	Kiss the Boys Goodbye	July 4,'41
....	I Wanted Wings	July 18,'41
....	Nurses Don't Tell	July 25,'41
....	Aloma of the South Seas	Aug. 8,'41
....	Reap the Wild Wind	Aug. 29,'41
....	Skylark
....	The Great Man's Lady
....	New York Town
....	Hold Back the Dawn
....	Night of January 16th

PRODUCERS REL. CORP.

Prod. No.	Title	Release Date
101	I Take This Oath	May 20,'40
151	Frontier Crusader	June 17,'40
102	Hold That Woman	June 28,'40
157	Billy the Kid Outlawed	July 20,'40
152	Gun Code	Aug. 3,'40
103	Marked Men	Aug. 28,'40
153	Arizona Gang Busters	Sept. 16,'40
158	Billy the Kid In Texas	Sept. 30,'40
154	Riders of Black Mountain	Nov. 11,'40
105	Devil Bat	Dec. 13,'40
104	Misbehaving Husbands	Dec. 20,'40
159	Billy the Kid's Gun Justice	Dec. 27,'40
163	Lone Rider Rides On	Jan. 10,'41
107	Caught in the Act	Jan. 17,'41
160	Billy the Kid's Range War	Jan. 24,'41
106	Secret Evidence	Jan. 31,'41
164	Lone Rider Crosses the Rio	Feb. 28,'41
155	Outlaws of the Rio Grande	Mar. 7,'41
108	Federal Fugitives	Mar. 29,'41
109	Emergency Landing	Apr. 11,'41
110	South to Panama	Apr. 18,'41
161	Trigger Pals	Apr. 19,'41
111	Murder in Khaki	Apr. 25,'41

RKO-RADIO

Prod. No.	Title	Rel. Date	Min.
171	Ramparts We Watch	Aug. 16,'40
101	Men Against the Sky	Sept. 6,'40
102	Dreaming Out Loud	Sept. 13,'40
103	I'm Still Alive	Sept. 27,'40
181	Wagon Train	Oct. 4,'40
105	The Villian Still Pursued Her	Oct. 11,'40
107	Laddie	Oct. 18,'40
104	They Knew What They Wanted	Oct. 25,'40
109	Li'l Abner	Nov. 1,'40
106	Too Many Girls	Nov. 8,'40
111	Mexican Spitfire Out West	Nov. 15,'40
108	You'll Find Out	Nov. 22,'40
113	Remedy for Riches	Nov. 29,'40
182	The Fargo Kid	Dec. 6,'40
114	No, No, Nanette	Dec. 20,'40
112	Kitty Foyle	Dec. 27,'40
161	Convoy	Jan. 3,'41
110	Little Men	Jan. 10,'41
115	Let's Make Music	Jan. 17,'41
116	The Saint In Palm Springs	Jan. 24,'41
117	Mr. and Mrs. Smith	Jan. 31,'41
183	Along the Rio Grande	Feb. 7,'41
121	Playgirl	Feb. 14,'41
123	Scattergood Baines	Feb. 21,'41
118	Citizen Kane	Feb. 28,'41
120	A Girl, a Guy and a Gob	Mar. 14,'41
119	Footlight Fever	Mar. 21,'41
124	Melody for Three	Mar. 28,'41
...	Vivacious Lady (Reissue)	Mar. 28,'41
125	Repent at Leisure	Apr. 4,'41
122	The Devil and Miss Jones	Apr. 11,'41
184	Robbers of the Range	Apr. 18,'41
128	They Met in Argentina	Apr. 25,'41
129	Hurry, Charlie, Hurry	May 2,'41
....	Sunny	May 16,'41
....	Saint's Vacation	May 23,'41
....	Scattergood Pulls the Strings	May 30,'41
126	Tom, Dick and Harry	June 13,'41
....	Hang Out the Moon
....	Before the Fact
...	Reluctant Dragon (Disney)
....	My Life with Caroline
....	A Certain Mr. Scratch

1940-41 FEATURES

In Sequence of Release
With Coming Attractions

REPUBLIC

Prod. No.	Title	Rel. Date	Min.
071	The Tulsa Kid	Aug. 16,'40
061	Oklahoma Renegades	Aug. 29,'40
043	Ride, Tenderfoot, Ride	Sept. 6,'40
017	Girl from Havana	Sept. 11,'40
051	Colorado	Sept. 15,'40
062	Under Texas Skies	Sept. 30,'40
072	Frontier Vengeance	Oct. 10,'40
005	Melody and Moonlight	Oct. 11,'40
001	The Hit Parade of 1941	Oct. 15,'40
052	Young Bill Hickok	Oct. 21,'40
006	Who Killed Aunt Maggie	Nov. 1,'40
007	Friendly Neighbors	Nov. 7,'40
063	Trail Blazers	Nov. 11,'40
041	Melody Ranch	Nov. 15,'40
073	Texas Terrors	Nov. 22,'40
018	Meet the Missus	Nov. 29,'40
053	The Border Legion	Dec. 5,'40
008	Barnyard Follies	Dec. 6,'40
009	Behind the News	Dec. 20,'40
064	Lone Star Raiders	Dec. 23,'40
019	Bowery Boy	Dec. 27,'40
074	Wyoming Wildcat	Jan. 6,'41
054	Robin Hood of the Pecos	Jan. 14,'41
044	Ridin' on the Rainbow	Jan. 24,'41
010	Arkansas Judge	Jan. 28,'41
020	Petticoat Politics	Jan. 31,'41
075	The Phantom Cowboy	Feb. 14,'41
065	Prairie Pioneers	Feb. 16,'41
021	Great Train Robbery	Feb. 28,'41
011	A Man Betrayed	Mar. 7,'41
045	Back in the Saddle	Mar. 14,'41
012	Mr. District Attorney	Mar. 26,'41
055	In Old Cheyenne	Mar. 28,'41
076	Two-Gun Sheriff	Mar. 29,'41
066	Pals of the Pecos	Apr. 3,'41
002	Sis Hopkins	Apr. 12,'41
...	Rookies on Parade	Apr. 17,'41
....	Lady from New Orleans	Apr. 22,'41
...	Singing Hills

20TH CENTURY-FOX

Prod. No.	Title	Release Date
101	The Man I Married	Aug. 2,'40
104	Girl from Avenue A	Aug. 9,'40
103	Return of Frank James	Aug. 16,'40
106	Pier 13	Aug. 23',40
109	Young People	Aug. 30,'40
110	Charlie Chan at the Wax Museum	Sept. 6,'40
105	Elsa Maxwell's Public Deb No. 1	Sept. 13,'40
116	Yesterday's Heroes	Sept. 20,'40
107	Brigham Young—Frontiersman	Sept. 27,'40
108	The Gay Caballero	Oct. 4,'40
113	Down Argentine Way	Oct. 11,'40
114	Night Train	Oct. 18,'40
111	The Great Profile	Oct. 25,'40
117	The Mark of Zorro	Nov. 8,'40
102	Street of Memories	Nov. 15,'40
119	Youth Will Be Served	Nov. 22,'40
120	Tin Pan Alley	Nov. 29,'40
118	Charter Pilot	Dec. 6,'40
121	Murder Over New York	Dec. 13,'40
122	Jennie	Dec. 20,'40
123	Chad Hanna	Dec. 27,'40
115	Hudson's Bay	Jan. 3,'41
124	Michael Shayne, Private Detective	Jan. 10,'41
125	Romance of the Rio Grande	Jan. 17,'41
128	Tall, Dark and Handsome	Jan. 24,'41
127	Girl in the News	Jan. 31,'41
129	Ride Kelly Ride	Feb. 7,'41
130	Golden Hoofs	Feb. 14,'41
126	Western Union	Feb. 21,'41
132	Murder Among Friends	Feb. 28,'41
133	Tobacco Road	Mar. 7,'41
134	Sleepers West	Mar. 14,'41
135	The Outlaw	Mar. 21,'41
136	Dead Men Tell	Mar. 28,'41
131	Scotland Yard	Apr. 4,'41
137	That Night in Rio	Apr. 11,'41
138	Ride on Vaquero	Apr. 18,'41
139	Inspector Hornleigh Goes to It	Apr. 25,'41
....	Great American Broadcast	May 2,'41
....	Man Hunt	May 16,'41
....	Cowboy and the Blonde	May 23,'41
....	Blood and Sand	May 30,'41
....	A Very Young Lady	June 6,'41
....	The Great Commandment	June 13,'41
....	Eagle Flies Again	June 20,'41
....	For Beauty's Sake	June 27,'41
....	Bride Wore Crutches	July 4,'41
....	Belle Starr	July 11,'41
....	Breach of Discipline	July 18,'41
....	Charley's Aunt

UNITED ARTISTS

Prod. No.	Title	Rel. Date	Min.
....	South of Pago Pago	July 19,'40
....	Captain Caution	Aug. 9,'40
....	Foreign Correspondent	Aug. 16,'40
....	Kit Carson	Aug. 30,'40
....	Pastor Hall	Sept. 13,'40
....	The Westerner	Sept. 20,'40
....	Long Voyage Home	Nov. 22,'40
....	Blackout	Nov. 29,'40
....	Thief of Bagdad	Dec. 25,'40
....	Son of Monte Cristo	Jan. 10,'41
....	Road Show	Jan. 24,'41
....	So Ends Our Night	Feb. 14,'41
...	Cheers for Miss Bishop	Feb. 21,'41
....	The Great Dictator	Mar. 7,'41
....	Topper Returns	Mar. 21,'41
...	Pot O' Gold	Easter
....	That Uncertain Feeling	Apr. 20,'41
....	That Hamilton Woman!	Apr. 30,'41
....	Major Barbara
....	Broadway Limited
....	New Wine

UNIVERSAL

Prod. No.	Title	Rel. Date	Min.
5013	Argentine Nights	Sept. 6,'40
5006	Hired Wife	Sept. 13,'40
5051	Leather Pushers	Sept. 13,'40
5020	The Mummy's Hand	Sept. 20,'40
5046	The Fugitive	Sept. 20,'40
5061	Ragtime Cowboy Joe	Sept. 20,'40
5001	Spring Parade	Sept. 27,'40
5019	Diamond Frontier	Oct. 4,'40
5017	A Little Bit of Heaven	Oct. 11,'40
5062	Law and Order	Oct. 18,'40
5024	Slightly Tempted	Oct. 18,'40
5007	Seven Sinners	Oct. 25,'40
5052	Devils Pipeline	Nov. 1,'40
5036	I'm Nobody's Sweetheart Now	Nov. 1,'40
5063	Pony Post	Nov. 8,'40
5021	Sandy Gets Her Man	Nov. 8,'40
5015	One Night in the Tropics	Nov. 15,'40
5023	Meet the Wildcat	Nov. 22,'40
5048	Next Time We Love (Re-issue)	Nov. 22'40
5010	The Bank Dick	Nov. 29,'40
5026	Margie	Dec. 6,'40
5008	Trail of the Vigilantes	Dec. 13,'40
5025	Give Us Wings	Dec. 20,'40
5018	The Invisible Woman	Dec. 27,'40
5053	Lucky Devils	Jan. 3,'41
5030	Where Did You Get That Girl?	Jan. 3,'41
5064	Boss of Bullion City	Jan. 10,'41
5027	San Francisco Docks	Jan. 10,'41
5022	Six Lessons from Madame Lazonga	Jan. 17,'41
5011	Buck Privates	Jan. 31,'41
5002	Back Street	Feb. 7,'41
5032	Meet the Chump	Feb. 14,'41
5003	Nice Girl?	Feb. 21,'41
5040	Dark Streets of Cairo	Feb. 28,'41
5041	Mr. Dynamite	Mar. 7,'41
....	Double Date	Mar. 14,'41
5065	Bury Me Not on the Lone Prairie	Mar. 21,'41
....	Man Who Lost Himself	Mar. 21,'41
....	Horror Island	Mar. 28,'41
....	Man Made Monster	Mar. 28,'41
....	Lady from Cheyenne	Apr. 4,'41
5054	Mutiny in the Arctic	Apr. 4,'41
....	Flame of New Orleans	Apr. 11,'41
....	Model Wife	Apr. 25,'41
....	Black Cat	May 2,'41
....	Too Many Blondes	May 23,'41
....	We're in the Navy Now	May 30,'41
....	Men of the Timberlands	June 6,'41
....	Tight Shoes	June 13,'41
5057	A Dangerous Game	Aug. 22,'41
....	Unfinished Business
....	Hit the Road
....	Cracked Nuts
....	Sandy Steps Out
....	Sing Another Chorus

WARNER BROS.

Under 550 WB—Over 550 FN

Prod. No.	Title	Rel. Date	Min.
519	Calling All Husbands	Sept. 7,'40
554	No Time for Comedy	Sept. 14,'40
506	City for Conquest	Sept. 21,'40
502	Knute Rockne—All American	Oct. 5,'40
569	Father Is a Prince	Oct. 12,'40
511	Dispatch from Reuter's	Oct. 19,'40
561	Tugboat Annie Sails Again	Oct. 26,'40
570	Always a Bride	Nov. 2,'40
562	East of the River	Nov. 9,'40
513	South of Suez	Nov. 16,'40
552	The Letter	Nov. 23,'40
512	Lady With the Red Hair	Nov. 30,'40
571	She Couldn't Say No	Dec. 7,'40
525	Here Comes the Navy	Dec. 21,'40
551	Santa Fe Trail	Dec. 28,'40
503	Four Mothers	Jan. 4,'41
572	Case of the Black Parrot	Jan. 11,'41
510	Honeymoon for Three	Jan. 18,'41
556	High Sierra	Jan. 25,'41
520	Father's Son	Feb. 1,'41
514	Flight From Destiny	Feb. 8,'41
515	The Great Mr. Nobody	Feb. 15,'41
559	Strawberry Blonde	Feb. 22,'41
573	Shadows on the Stairs	Mar. 1,'41
509	Footsteps in the Dark	Mar. 8,'41
521	Here Comes Happiness	Mar. 15,'41
501	The Sea Wolf	Mar. 22,'41
568	Knockout	Mar. 29,'41
...	A Shot in the Dark	Apr. 5,'41
...	The Great Lie	Apr. 12,'41
...	Strange Alibi	Apr. 19,'41
...	The Wagons Roll at Night	Apr. 26,'41
...	Meet John Doe
...	Bride Came C. O. D.
...	Affectionately Yours
...	Kisses for Breakfast
...	Miss Wheelwright Discovers America
...	Shining Victory
...	Singapore Woman
...	Sergeant York
...	Thirty Days Hath September
...	Bad Men of Missouri
...	The Gentle People
...	Three Sons O'Guns
...	Highway West
...	The Nurse's Secret
...	Underground
...	Manpower
...	Dive Bomber
...	Navy Blues

1940-41 SHORTS

What They're All About
Who Made Them
Production Numbers
Release Dates

A GENTLEMAN'S GENTLEMAN (RKO)

Walt Disney Cartoon (14,102)

Mickey breakfasts in bed, served by Pluto. Pluto goes out for the Sunday newspaper and loses the money in a grating. By sticking gum on the end of his tail he succeeds in retrieving his dime. At the newsstand he inserts the dime in a slot, gets a paper and starts back. A gust of wind blows the paper into the air. Pluto grabs the sheets in various ways and in attempting to retrieve one lands in a mud puddle. Mickey, in bed, has just finished breakfast when Pluto bounds in and leaps on the bed, spreading the mud.

Release date, March 28, 1941 7 Minutes

POPULAR SCIENCE, No. 4 (Par.)

(Color) (JO-4)

How science is now increasing Oklahoma's quail population is illustrated in the first story of this issue. Filmed at the State Quail Hatchery, the hatching and breeding of quail is shown in its various stages. The second subject shows how science is creating a new world through chemistry, making America independent of other nations for rubber, sponges, fabrics, etc. Also shown is the operation of the 20-ton Stratoliner. The comedy angle is again represented by the amusing Professor Oakes.

Release date, Feb. 21, 1941 11 Minutes

HIGH SPOTS IN AMERICAN HISTORY (Univ.)

Color Cartoon (5247)

In this color cartoon Chris Columbus starts off the proceedings by sighting land. After an appropriate lapse of time, Paul Revere is seen a-riding. Brenda and Covina try to detour him into the kitchen, but with no success. Time passes and the cry, "The English Are Coming," is heard. Brenda and Covina try to detour them into the kitchen. The years go by. Men march in many armies. Brenda and Covina try to detour them into the kitchen. All their efforts fail.

Release date, March 31, 1941 7 Minutes

RED, WHITE AND BLUE HAWAII (Par.)

Paragraphic (VO-4)

About 2,000 miles southwest of California's Golden Gate is the Territory of Hawaii, mecca of tourist, and now the main Pacific base for the U. S. Fleet. Shown, besides the island's natural military position, are Hawaii's wealth of water, her fine soil—agriculture is the economic mainstay of Hawaiians and the pineapple industry.

Release date, Feb. 28, 1941 11 Minutes

COMMUNITY SING, No. 5 (Col.)

(2655)

Lew White, radio organist, makes his screen debut in this one of the series. The songs played and sung include "Beyond the Blue Horizon," "Walkin' My Baby Back Home," "You've Got Me This Way," "Beautiful Dreamer" and the current hit, "So You're the One."

Release date, Feb. 7, 1941 10 Minutes

Synopses Indexed

Page numbers on short subject synopses published in all the issues of the Product Digest Section to date are listed in the 1940-41 Shorts chart, Product Digest pages 93 and 94 of this issue.

SCREEN SNAPSHOTS, No. 6 (Col.)

(2856)

Larry Simms, the Baby Dumpling of "Blondie" series fame, is the youthful host who brings some well-known Hollywood comics to the screen in this issue of the series. First to be filmed are George Burns and Gracie Allen at the United States Naval training station in San Diego. Abbott and Costello, radio and screen comic team, do their chattering act.

Release date, March 14, 1941 10 Minutes

FISHING FEVER (Par.)

Sportlight (RO-7)

The reel opens with scenes of various types of trout fishing in the Pecos River of New Mexico, demonstrated by Bob Edge, Columbia Broadcasting System outdoor commentator. Then Ted Husing casts for trout, assisted by Betty Lawford, of stage and screen. Andy Devine, screen comedian, is seen bass fishing on Lake Meade, located above Boulder Dam. Frances Langford and her husband, Jon Hall, test their angling ability in deep sea waters and Mr. and Mrs. Guy Kibbee are seen catching rainbow trout.

Release date, Feb. 28, 1941 10 Minutes

SPLITS, SPARES AND STRIKES (Col.)

World of Sports (2805)

Bowling, which started out as a man's game, has been taken over by approximately three million ladies, who today boast of a Women's International Bowling Congress, which has a membership of over 100,000 women. Miss Tillie Taylor, featured in this subject, shows how an expert of the fair sex hits away at an almost endless succession of strikes.

Release date, Feb. 21, 1941 10 Minutes

TAKE IT OR LEAVE IT, No. 3 (Col.)

(2603)

With Bob Hawk firing the questions as usual, five contestants try their mental alertness at answering them. Mrs. Jane Andrews, a widow, answers to a quiz on precious stones, gets up to the $32 mark and falters on the $64 question. Joan Nelson, a model, goes for comic cartoons, doing fine with "Superman," but missing on "Flash Gordon." Fred Leonard, a golf instructor, takes sports and wins $64. Jimmie Madden, exterminator, mistakes a tapir for a wild hog. The jackpot question regarding states with two words in their names is won by Ruth Harris.

Release date, Feb. 7, 1941 11 Minutes

SPEAKING OF ANIMALS (Par.)

Animated Antics (HO-7)

Through trick photography and animation animals here are induced to speak. The commentator takes the audience down on a farm where a parrot, a flock of ducks and geese, a cow and a herd of horses are heard. Then there is a talkative hog, a humming bird, a dog, a skunk, a mule, a goat and an owl who get their opportunity to be heard. Finally a long-suffering sheep discloses a pet peeve, and a chipmunk ends the proceedings with an amusing commentary.

Release date, April 18, 1941 9 Minutes

FIGHT, FISH, FIGHT (W.B.)

Sports Parade (6405)

In New Zealand's Bay of Islands giant marlins and sharks are caught and then shipped on a 6,500 mile journey to the New York Museum where the skins will be redraped over plaster moulds and mounted. On the fishing trip are Michael Lerner and his wife, Helen. After cruising for some time, Mrs. Lerner gets a bite which turns out to be a 250-pound man-eating shark, which she lands. Mr. Lerner then lands a marlin. The fish and the fisherman fight it out to the finish and the fish, seven hundred and six pounds of it, is finally bested and hauled aboard.

Release date, March 1, 1941 10 Minutes

STRANGER THAN FICTION, 87 (Univ.)

(5377)

The subjects covered in this issue of the series are the Ave Maria Grotto at St. Bernard College near Cullman, Ala., where there are replicas of famous churches and buildings in and around Rome, Italy; an inventor of a clamp-like device to prevent cows from flipping their tails while being milked; a flaming well in Colfax, La.; a woman who works in a railroad roundhouse; old muzzle-loading guns being made in Cove Creek, N. C., and a trained Brazilian Bugler bird, which amuses itself doing somersaults and other tricks.

Release date, March 10, 1941 9½ Minutes

SUN FUN (Par.)

Sportlight (RO-9)

Photographed at Idaho's winter wonderland, Sun Valley, this Grantland Rice Sportlight shows sport and fun under the winter and summer sun. Audrey Peppe, figure-skating champion, shows her graceful art on the ice on the Fourth of July. Then there is shown a group riding pack horses, ski-joring and to climax the subject scenes of skiers in action, coming down the mountain at a fifty miles-a-minute speed.

Release date, April 25, 1941 10 Minutes

GOING PLACES No. 87 (Univ.)

(5357)

Here the audience is taken on a visit to Bar Harbor in Maine. The story in pictures of Bar Harbor, once a forbidding desert island, but today one of the richest summer playgrounds for the wealthy, is told from the palatial homes of the rich to the quaint lobster fishermen. Also shown is the colorful Acadia National Park.

Release date, March 17, 1941 9½ Minutes

RIDERS OF DEATH VALLEY (Universal)

Serial—15 Episodes

The title of this serial is taken from a mythical band of vigilantes in the days when the California gold fields of '49 were beset by a desperate band of claim-jumpers, bandits and other desperadoes. Jim Benton (Dick Foran) organizes the "Riders," a group which includes Tombstone (Buck Jones), Pancho (Leo Carrillo) and Borax Bill ("Big Boy" Williams), to make a cleanup of Wolf Reade (Charles Bickford) and his gang of terrorists.

The feud begins when Benton's henchmen break-up a phoney protective league which would result in giving the crooked combine controlling interest in virtually every important claim in the Panamint region.

Shortly after, Chuckawalla (Frank Austin), an old-time prospector, is carried into town, and tells Jim that he has discovered the fabulous "Lost Aztec Mine." They are partners in the venture since Benton has staked him, Chuckawalla asking Jim to turn his interest over to his niece, Mary (Jeanne Kelly), and then dying.

The story develops into a struggle for the map that leads to the lost mine between Benton and Reade and then in a series of battles for the mine itself, the chapters employing the formula of mounting action to climax each one. Hand-to-hand fights, wagon trains catapulted from sheer cliffs thousands of feet below, dynamite blasts and catastrophic landslides marking a few of the chapters endings.

CAST

Jim Benton.....Dick Foran
Pancho .....Leo Carrillo
Tombstone .....Buck Jones
Wolf Reade .....Charles Bickford
Butch .....Lon Chaney, Jr.
Smokey .....Noah Beery, Jr.
Borax Bill....."Big Bill" Williams
Mary Morgan .....Jeanne Kelly
Joseph Kirby .....James Blaine
Rance Davis.....Monte Blue
Tex ..... Glenn Strange
Dirk ..... Roy Barcroft
Trigger ..... Jack Rockwell
Rusty .....Ethan Laidlaw
Pete ..... Richard Alexander
Chuckawalla ..... Frank Austin
Rimrock ..... Charles Thomas
Gordon ..... William Hall

SPECIAL REMARKS

This serial, although having a national release date of July 1st is being pre-released in April. Directed by Ford Beebe and Ray Taylor.

CHAPTER TITLES

Episode One—"Death Marks the Trail"
Episode Two—"The Menacing Herd"
Episode Three—"The Plunge of Peril"
Episode Four—"Flaming Fury"
Episode Five—"The Avalanche of Doom"
Episode Six—"Blood and Gold"
Episode Seven—"Death Rides the Storm"
Episode Eight—"Descending Doom"
Episode Nine—"Death Holds the Reins"
Episode Ten—"Devouring Flames"
Episode Eleven—"The Fatal Blast"
Episode Twelve—"Thundering Doom"
Episode Thirteen—"The Bridge of Disaster"
Episode Fourteen—"A Fight to the Death"
Episode Fifteen—"The Harvest of Hate"

Release date, July 1, 1941

FROM SINGAPORE TO HONG KONG (Col.)

Tour (2557)

Taken here is a cruise to Singapore and then to the island of Hongkong, off the southern coast of China. Singapore, it is pointed out, although a bustling city with a population of Orientals numbering three-quarters of a million, is the scene of many ancient customs. Thousands of rickshas are still used as the principal means of transportation. Traffic police are Sikhs, bearded giants from North India. Hongkong was once the haunt of pirates and slavers. Other things of interest are pointed out by the commentator as the camera pictorially records the visit.

Release date, Jan. 10, 1941 10 Minutes

AUSTRALIA AT WAR (RKO)

March of Time, No. 8 (13,108)

In "Australia at War," the March of Time presents the story of Australia's war effort, into which the commonwealth's seven million people are today throwing their resources and manpower. Picturing British defense strategy in the Pacific area from Libya to Hawaii, the subject shows how the Anzacs are battling side by side with New Zealanders, South Africans and Britons, routing the Italian forces in Africa. The film also points out the role that the military and naval forces of her neighboring Pacific islands may take in cooperation to block Japanese expansion.

Release date, March 14, 1941 18 Minutes

SO LONG, MR. CHUMPS (Col.)

Three Stooges (2405)

The Three Stooges are looking for an honest man and find it a rather difficult assignment. A sobbing young lady tells them that her sweetheart, serving time in jail, is honest and could they help her get him out. To get into jail the Stooges have themselves arrested. In prison they meet the "honest" crook and try to set him free. After some hilarious episodes the Stooges find themselves doing a term for getting themselves falsely arrested.

Release date, Feb. 7, 1941 17 Minutes

BOB CHESTER AND ORCHESTRA (Par.)

Headliner (AO-5)

Bob Chester, a comparatively new name in the band world, and his orchestra climax this subject with a swingy performance of "Chesterwoogie." Other performers are Betty Bradley, who sings a novelty version of "On the Sunny Side of the Street," and Bill Darnell, who sings the spiritual "Deep River" against a montage background of swirling waters.

Release date, March 21, 1941 10 Minutes

MOVIE MAGIC (Col.)

Cinescope (2976)

The first part of this subject shows the latest methods employed by lip rouge manufacturers in turning out a "kissable" lipstick. The second part features Floyd B. Thayer, inventor and manufacturer of magical paraphernalia used by magicians. One of his greatest illusions is the famous trick of sawing a man in half, and another puzzling phenomenon known as the headless woman.

Release date, Feb. 22, 1941 9 Minutes

UNUSUAL OCCUPATIONS, 4 (Par.)

(Color) (LO-4)

The subjects are: the Max Berman, of London, collection of crowns and sceptres that were royal treasures of Europe; a hobby which consists of painting on linen; an iron horse built by a locomotive builder; a travelling beauty studio; a girl bull-fighter and Clifford McBride's dog, Napoleon, the inspiration for the cartoon artist's dog in his comic strip.

Release date, March 28, 1941 11 Minutes

WESTERN WONDERLAND (Col.)

Tour (2558)

In this, Andre de la Varre has filmed the beauties of nature's wonderland of the west. Among the places and things caught by the camera are the Grand Canyon and the giant Sequoia trees.

Release date, Feb. 28, 1941 10 Minutes

CLIFF EDWARDS AND HIS BUCKAROOS (W.B.)

Melody Master (6506)

Cliff Edwards and the boys run a dude ranch which is not doing so well. They hear that a group of easterners are coming out and they spruce up western style to create the right impression. A pretty girl arrives and Cliff and the gang serenade her with cowboy songs. Cliff, thinking he has finally met an heiress, is sorely disappointed when it turns out that the girl is the new cook. Songs include "I Can't Get Along, Little Doggie," "My Little Buckaroo," "Home on the Range" and "Song of the Plains."

Release date, March 8, 1941 10 Minutes

POPULAR SCIENCE No. 5 (Par.)

(Color) (JO-5)

Shown in this Popular Science subject are the Douglas Leigh electric sign on Broadway and its progressive drawings, how science has helped the housewife with its modern inventions, a microbe farm in North Carolina and a new air mail service for very small towns, wherein the pilot delivers mail and picks up local pouches without touching ground. The comedy is as usual supplied by the Wily Wizard of Waukesha, Professor Oakes.

Release date, April 18, 1941 11 Minutes

ICE CAPERS (Col.)

World of Sport (2804)

Irving Jaffee, Olympic skating champion, here demonstrates the ice-skating form which carried him through the Olympics undefeated. Mr. Jaffee reveals the technique of skating and shows how to handle one's self in speed skating as well as in simple skating, and also demonstrates the few simple tricks that every skater should know. Lessons on how not to skate are demonstrated by a character, Joe Flop. The subject is located on Grossinger's Lake, N. Y.

Release date, Jan. 24, 1941 9 Minutes

PROOF OF THE PUDDING

United States Health Service (Color)

This preparedness health subject is a story of the significance of nutrition in its share in the national defense program, presented with professional theatrical documentary technique. It pertains to the new order of world strife in which the whole people, not just armies, are involved. The subject was made by Paramount, supervised as to color by Natalie Kalmus, with the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company and the United States Health Service as producers. The picture is to be made available to theatres in advance of subsequent non-theatrical distribution.

10 Minutes

DELHI (Par.)

Fascinating Journeys (Color) (MO-4)

At Delhi, in Northern India, eight successive cities have been built by conquering invaders, and each, successively fell into disuse and decay. In this visit to the fabulous city the spectator is shown many remains of its romantic past-mosques, tombs, towers, palaces and sculpture. The city today, its customs and business centers also are depicted.

Release date, March 21, 1941 11 Minutes

MUSIC IN THE MORGAN MANNER (Univ.)

Musical (5227)

Russ Morgan and His Orchestra supply the music in this two-reel musical, which boasts a cast of Jane Frazee and Nina Orla, both in Universal's "Buck Privates"; Modie and LeMaux, dance team, Arthur Boran, Southern Sisters, and George Davis.

Release date, March 19, 1941 17½ Minutes

[Synopses continued on page 95]

1940-41 SHORTS

Production Numbers
Release Dates
Running Time

For Synopses of 1940-41 short subjects turn to the Product Digest Section pages indicated by the numbers which follow the titles and release dates in the listing. Product Digest pages are numbered consecutively and are separate from Motion Picture Herald page numbers. The Product Digest Section is published every other week, alternately with the Release Chart.

COLUMBIA

Prod. No.	Title	Rel. Date	P.D. Page
	SPECIAL (16 Minutes)
....	International Forum No. 1	2-22-41	..
	ALL STAR COMEDIES (Average 17 Min.)
2401	From Nurse to Worse... (Stooges)	8-23-40	..
2421	Pleased to Mitt You... (Glove Slingers)	9-6-40	18
2422	The Spook Speaks... (Keaton & Ames)	9-20-40	10
2402	No Census, No Feeling... (Stooges)	10-4-40	10
2423	Cold Turkey... (Langdon)	10-18-40	10
2424	A Bundle of Bliss... (Clyde)	11-1-40	..
2403	Cookoo Cavaliers... (Stooges)	11-15-40	26
2425	Blondes and Blunders... (Walter Catlett)	11-29-40	26
2426	His Ex Marks the Spot.. (Buster Keaton)	12-13-40	..
2404	Boobs in Arms... (Stooges)	12-27-40	..
2427	The Watchman Takes a Wife... (Clyde)	1-10-41	..
2428	Fresh As a Freshman... (Glove Singers)	1-29-41	95
2405	So Long Mr. Chumps... (Stooges)	2-7-41	92
2429	So You Won't Squawk... (Keaton)	2-21-40	..
2430	Yumpin' Yiminy... (El Brendel)	3-7-41	..
2406	Dutiful But Dumb... (Stooges)	3-21-41	..
	COLOR RHAPSODIES (7 Minutes)
2501	Tangled Television...	8-30-40	18
2502	Mr. Elephant Goes to Town...	10-4-40	18
2503	The Mad Hatter...	11-3-40	..
2504	Wise Owl...	11-6-40	27
2505	A Helping Paw...	1-7-41	51
2506	Way of All Pests...	2-28-41	..
2507	The Land of Fun...	3-14-41	..
2508	The Carpenter...	4-4-41	..
	PHANTASIES CARTOONS (Average 6 Min.)
2701	Schoolboy Dreams...	9-24-40	10
2702	Happy Holidays...	10-25-40	..
2703	The Little Theatre...	2-7-41	..
2704	There's Music In Your Hair...	3-28-41	..
2705	The Cute Recruit...	5-2-41	..
2706	The Wallflower...	7-3-41	..
	FABLES (6 Minutes)
2751	Farmer Tom Thumb...	9-27-40	10
2752	Mouse Meets Lion...	10-25-40	18
2753	Paunch 'n' Judy...	12-13-40	57
2754	The Streamlined Donkey..	1-17-41	95
2755	It Happened to Crusoe...	3-4-41	..
2756	Kitty Gets the Bird...	5-16-41	..
	CINESCOPES (Average 9 Min.)
2971	Hobby Lobby...	8-30-40	..
2972	Floating Elephants...	10-4-40	..
2973	Nice Work, If You Can Do It...	11-8-40	18
2974	Unusual Crafts...	12-25-40	57
2975	Feathers (Cosmocolor)...	1-31-41	..
2976	Movie Magic...	2-22-41	92
	WASHINGTON PARADE (Series 3) (10 Minutes)
2901	No. 1 (The Mint)...	10-25-40	..
2902	No. 2 (U. S. Military Academy)...	12-13-40	..
2903	No. 3 (United States Naval Academy)...	1-3-41	..
2904	No. 4...	2-28-41	..
	COMMUNITY SING (Series 5) (10 Minutes)
2651	No. 1 (Jolly Tunes)...	10-2-40	18
2652	No. 2 (Popular Love Songs)...	11-8-40	18
2653	No. 3 (Melodies That Linger)...	12-13-40	..
2654	No. 4 (Gay Tunes)...	1-1-41	..
2655	No. 5 (Fun with Songs)...	2-7-41	91
2656	No. 6 (Songs with Harmony)	3-14-41	..
	QUIZ REELS (Average 10 Min.)
2601	Take It Or Leave It...	12-5-40	26
2602	Take It Or Leave It No. 2...	12-25-40	57
2603	Take It Or Leave It No. 3...	2-7-41	91
2604	Junior I. Q. Parade...	3-7-41	..
2605	So You Think You Know Music No. 1...	4-3-41	..
	NEW YORK PARADE (10 Minutes)
2951	The New York Parade...	1-24-41	71
2952	Abroad at Home...	2-28-41	..
	HAPPY-HOUR (40 Minutes)
2441	Puss in Boots (Re-issue)	12-21-40	..
	TOURS (10 Minutes)
2551	Historic Virginia...	8-16-40	10
2552	Savoy in the Alps...	9-13-40	10
2553	Old and New Arizona...	9-27-40	..
2554	Islands of the West Indies...	10-25-40	18
2555	Sojourn in Havana...	11-25-40	27
2556	Beautiful British Columbia...	12-20-40	57
2557	From Singapore to Hong-Kong...	1-10-41	92
2558	Western Wonderland...	2-28-41	92
	20TH ANNIVERSARY SNAPSHOTS (10 Minutes)
2851	No. 1 (Ken Murray)...	9-6-40	10
2852	No. 2 (Don Wilson)...	10-18-40	18
2853	No. 3 (Ken Murrray)...	11-22-40	27
2854	No. 4 (Ken Murray)...	12-27-40	..
2855	No. 5 (Bob Hope)...	2-2-41	..
2856	No. 6 (Larry Simms)...	3-14-41	91
2857	No. 7...	4-25-41	..
	WORLD OF SPORTS (9 Minutes)
2801	Master of Cue...	10-4-40	10
2802	Hunting Wild Deer...	11-22-40	27
2803	All the Giant Killer...	12-27-40	51
2804	Ice Capers...	1-24-41	92
2805	Splits, Spares and Strikes	2-21-4	91
2806	The Jungle Archer...	3-28-41	..

M-G-M

Prod. No.	Title	Rel. Date	P.D. Page
	CRIME DOES NOT PAY (Average 20 Min.)
P-201	Eyes of the Navy...	10-26-40	..
P-202	You, the People...	11-30-40	26
P-203	Respect the Law...	1-4-41	..
P-204	Forbidden Passage...	2-8-41	80
	FITZPATRICK TRAVELTALKS (Tech) (9 Minutes)
T-211	The Capital City...	9-7-40	..
T-212	Cavalcade of San Francisco...	9-28-40	..
T-213	Old New Mexico...	10-26-40	..
T-214	Beautiful Ball...	11-23-40	26
T-215	Old New Orleans...	12-21-40	..
T-216	Mediterranean Ports...	1-4-41	57
T-217	Red Men on Parade...	2-1-41	83
T-218	Alluring Alaska...	3-8-41	..
T-219	Glimpses of Kentucky...	4-12-41	..
	PETE SMITH SPECIALTIES (10 Minutes)
S-261	Quicker'n a Wink...	10-12-40	..
S-262	Wedding Bills...	11-30-40	27
S-263	Sea for Yourself...	12-21-40	..
S-264	Penny to the Rescue...	1-25-41	68
S-265	Quiz Biz (Sepia)...	2-8-41	80
S-266	Memory Tricks (Sepia)...	3-15-41	..
	PASSING PARADE (10 Minutes)
K-281	American Spoken Here...	11-30-40	27
K-282	Whispers...	2-8-41	80
	MINIATURES (10 Minutes)
M-231	Rodeo Dough...	11-9-40	27
M-232	The Great Meddler...	12-21-40	41
M-233	Happiest Man on Earth.	12-28-40	..
M-234	More About Nostradamus.	1-18-41	57
	OUR GANG COMEDIES (Average 11 Min.)
C-291	Good Bad Boys...	9-7-40	..
C-292	Waldo's Last Stand...	10-5-40	..
C-293	Goin' Fishin'...	10-26-40	..
C-294	Kiddie Kure...	11-23-40	26
C-295	Fightin' Fools...	1-25-41	71
C-296	Baby Blues...	2-15-41	..
C-297	Ye Olde Minstrels...	3-18-41	..
	TECHNICOLOR CARTOONS (9 Minutes)
W-241	Lonesome Stranger...	11-23-40	27
W-242	Mrs. Ladybug...	12-21-40	..
W-243	Abdul the Bulbul Ameer.	2-22-41	..
W-244	The Prospective Bear...	3-8-41	..
	METROSCOPIX (7 Minutes)
A-100	Third Dimensional Murder...	3-1-41	80

PARAMOUNT

Prod. No.	Title	Rel. Date	P.D. Page
	SPECIAL (19 Minutes)
FFO-1	Raggedy Ann...	4-11-41	..
	ANIMATED ANTICS (7 Minutes)
HO-1	The Dandy Lion...	9-20-40	..
HO-2	Sneak, Snoop and Snitch	10-25-40	17
HO-3	Mommy Love Puppy...	11-29-40	27
HO-4	Bring Himself Back Alive...	12-20-40	34
HO-5	Pop and Mom in Wild Oysters...	2-14-41	80
HO-6	Twinkletoes Gets the Bird...	3-14-41	..
HO-7	Speaking of Animals— Down on the Farm...	4-18-41	91
	UNUSUAL OCCUPATIONS (Color) (11 Minutes)
LO-1	No. 1...	9-27-40	..
LO-2	No. 2...	11-29-40	27
LO-3	No. 3...	1-24-41	71
LO-4	No. 4...	3-28-41	92
	BENCHLEY COMEDIES (10 Minutes)
SO-1	The Trouble with Husbands...	11-8-40	..
SO-2	Waiting for Baby...	1-24-41	71
SO-3	Controlling the Nerves...	4-11-41	..
	FASCINATING JOURNEYS (Tech) (10 Minutes)
MO-1	River Thames, Yesterday	11-8-40	18
MO-2	The Sacred Ganges...	12-27-40	51
MO-3	A Village in India...	1-31-41	71
MO-4	Delhi...	3-21-41	92
	GABBY COLOR CARTOONS (7 Minutes)
GO-1	King for a Day...	10-18-40	..
GO-2	The Constable...	11-15-40	17
GO-3	All's Well...	1-17-41	51
GO-4	Two for the Zoo...	2-21-41	68
GO-5	Swing Cleaning...	4-11-41	..
GO-6	Fire Cheese...	4-25-41	..
	HEADLINERS (10 Minutes)
AO-1	Moments of Charm (Tech)	9-13-40	..
AO-2	Listen to Larry...	10-25-40	..
AO-3	Johnny Messner & Orch..	12-13-40	34
AO-4	Gene Krupa and His Orch	1-31-41	71
AO-5	Bob Chester and Orch...	3-21-41	92
	MADCAP MODELS (Color) (9 Minutes)
UO-1	Western Daze...	1-17-41	..
UO-2	Dipsy Gypsy...	4-4-41	..
	PARAGRAPHICS (10 Minutes)
VO-1	Nature's Nursery...	10-11-40	..
VO-2	Seeing Is Believing...	11-22-40	27
VO-3	Breezy Little Bears...	12-27-40	..
VO-4	Red, White and Blue Hawaii...	2-28-41	91
	POPEYE THE SAILOR (7 Minutes)
EO-1	Popeye Meets Wm. Tell..	9-20-40	..
EO-2	My Pop, My Pop...	10-18-40	..
EO-3	With Poopdeck Pappy...	11-15-40	27
EO-4	Eugene, the Jeep...	12-15-40	41
EO-5	Problem Pappy...	1-10-41	51
EO-6	Quiet Pleeze...	2-7-41	95
EO-7	Olive's Sweepstake Ticket.	3-7-41	..
EO-8	Flies Ain't Human...	4-4-41	..
	POPULAR SCIENCE (Color) (10 Minutes)
JO-1	No. 1...	9-8-40	..
JO-2	No..2...	11-1-40	17
JO-3	No. 3...	12-20-40	34
JO-4	No. 4...	2-21-41	91
JO-5	No. 5...	4-18-41	92
	SPORTLIGHTS (9 Minutes)
RO-1	Diving Demons... (Ted Husing)	9-6-40	..
RO-2	Sporting Everglades... (Husing)	10-4-40	..
RO-3	Motorcycle Stunting... (Husing)	11-1-40	18
RO-4	Marine Round-up...	12-6-40	26
RO-5	Feminine Fitness...	1-3-41	41
RO-6	Acrobatic Aces...	2-7-41	..
RO-7	Fishing Fever...	2-28-41	91
RO-8	Canine Sketches...	3-28-41	95
RO-9	Sun Fun...	4-25-41	91

PRODUCERS

AMERICAN HISTORY
(22 Minutes)

Prod. No.	Title	Rel. Date	P.D. Page
0.1	Our Bill of Rights	3-1-41	..
0.2	Our Declaration of Independence	3-1-41	..
0.3	Our Constitution	3-1-41	..
0.4	Our Monroe Doctrine	3-1-41	..

RKO

SPECIAL
(18 Minutes)

13,801	Growing Up	12-13-40	34

SPECIAL
(Average 11 Min.)

14,501	Eyes on Brazil	2-21-41	80
14,502	What's Happening in Argentina?	3-21-41	..
14,503	The Swastika in Chile	4-18-41	..

MARCH OF TIME
(Average 20 Min.)

13,101	On Foreign News Fronts	9-13-40	..
13,102	Britain's R.A.F.	10-4-40	..
13,103	Mexico	10-25-40	..
13,104	Arms and the Men—U. S. A.	11-22-40	..
13,105	Labor and Defense	12-20-40	..
13,106	Uncle Sam, The Non-Belligerent	1-17-41	..
13,107	American's All!	2-14-41	83
13,108	Australia at War	3-14-41	92

WALT DISNEY CARTOONS
(8 Minutes)

14,101	No. 1 Golden Eggs	3-7-41	68
14,102	A Gentleman's Gentleman	3-28-41	91
14,103	Baggage Buster	4-18-41	..
14,104	A Good Time for a Dime	5-9-41	..
14,105	Canine Caddy	5-30-41	..
14,106	How to Ride a Horse	6-20-41	..
14,107	Nifty Nineties	7-11-41	..
14,108	Early to Bed	8-1-41	..
14,109	Truant Officer Donald	8-22-41	..
14,110	Donald's Camera	9-12-41	..
14,111	Lend a Paw	10-3-41	...
14,112	Old MacDonald Duck	10-24-41	..
14,113	Symphony Hour	11-14-41	..
14,114	Chef Donald	12-5-41	..
14,115	Donald's Snow Fight	12-26-41	..
14,116	How to Ski	1-16-42	..
14,117	How to Become An Olympic Champ	2-7-42	..
14,118	The Sleep Walker	2-28-42	..

INFORMATION PLEASE
(Average 11 Min.)

14,201	No. 1 Anna Neagle	9-6-40	..
14,202	No. 2 Ruth Gordon	10-4-40	..
14,203	No. 3 Alice Marble	11-1-40	18
14,204	No. 4 Louis Bromfield	11-29-40	34
14,205	No. 5 Wendell Willkie	12-27-40	51
14,206	No. 6 Jan Struther	1-24-41	68
14,207	No. 7 Anna Neagle	2-21-41	80

SPORTSCOPE
(Average 9 Min.)

14,301	Quail Quest	8-30-40	..
14,302	Kentucky Royalty	9-27-40	..
14,303	Sportsman's Partner	10-25-40	17
14,304	Snow Fun	11-22-40	34
14,305	Snow Eagles	12-20-40	57
14,306	Mat Men	1-17-41	57
14,307	Caballero College	2-14-41	83
